Big Rally Tonight Opens Homecoming Weekend

Pajama Serpentine Leads Students To MacLean Field

A half hour display of fireworks will climax the pre-game rally which officially opens the Homecoming weekend activities tonight. The traditional pajama serpentine will begin at 5:45 p. m.

All freshmen and transfer women students are required to join the serpentine which will form in front of the university heating plant. Members of the Spurs, sophomore women's honorary, will assist with this event. The serpentine will wind over the campus through all men's living groups and on to MacLean field for the rally.

The rally is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p. m. Gary Netzger, rally chairman, said that the yell team, the Pep band, and student entertainers will comprise the program for the rally.

WSC Representatives
During the program, Wes Foss, WSC student prexy and Bob Barry, Evergreen editor, will be introduced to the crowd by Bob Moulton, ASUI president, and John Martin, Argonaut head. These student dignitaries are the participants in the annual walkathon challenge on the outcome of the Idaho-WSC game. Before coming to MacLean field, the group will attend the WSC rally in Pullman.

Serpentine Travels
The itinerary for the pajama serpentine will begin at the heating plant. From there the group will go to Pine hall and back to the Idaho and Campus clubs. Next the girls will go through Christian and Willis Sweet halls, Lindsey hall, Delta Tau Delta, and Sigma Chi will be the next stops of the serpentine. After this the procession will go to the Beta house, Sigma Nu, and SAE, going up Deakin, the serpentine will wind through the TKE, Kappa Sigma, and Delta Chi house. Last stop will be the Phi Gamma Delta house. After this the group will go to the rally at MacLean field.

Netzger has asked that one one break into the line of the serpentine. Each group visited should join on to the end of the group.

On We Go
Jason had hoped to devote the entire column to Homecoming in this issue, but as the good dear said, "The class will continue." So too with the ASUI executive board.

Next week the board will again open the placement card register. These cards are filled out by the students who list their choice of activities which they care to participate in. Last spring the board initiated these cards to select all ASUI appointees.

Second Chance
The purpose of reopening the files is to allow all new and transfer students a chance to file a card and allow those who have previously made up cards to make any changes which they deem necessary.

Anyone interested in extra activities should make certain that they fill out a card during next week. In Tuesday's Argonaut a list of where the files will be located and when they will be opened will be printed.

MARRIAGE SOURS
Shirley Temple, 21 year-old actress and her movie star husband, John Agar have decided that their marriage is a mistake. Divorce papers are being drawn up by her attorney. The couple were married in 1945, and have one child. The grounds for divorce have not yet been determined.

Friendly Chat
Coaches Phil Sarboe of Washington State (left) and Dixie Howell of Idaho appear on friendly terms as they meet half-way between Moscow and Pullman. But such undoubtedly will not be the case when the two coaches next meet at Neale stadium Saturday afternoon. The annual Homecoming battle between teams coached by the two men is one which "means a lot" to both mentors

Homecoming Queen 1949

Miss Beatrice Helander, Homecoming queen of 1949, is a freshman from Lewiston and a pledge at Gamma Phi sorority. She will be officially crowned at half-time of the game tomorrow by Governor C. A. Robins. She was chosen Monday night by a ballot of the men's living groups after an afternoon kickoff dance. The four other candidates will act as princesses.

Welcome Back Home

Fellow Alums:
We all know that a "change of pace" is as important off a football field as on it. But too often the pace of living and of making a living is not altered during the year, and the individual suffers for it in the long run.

It is gratifying to me to learn then from our alumni secretary, James Lyle, that this year the greatest number of University of Idaho alumni in history will be changing their daily pace to take time out and participate in Homecoming—to sit in the stands and watch their favorite football game, to walk again on familiar campus paths, to visit old friends.

Also gratifying is the fact that modern age travel facilities make feasible the return to the campus of so many more alumni. They are coming from every section of the state. And far beyond its borders, too. To mention a few, there will be John Hutchins of Minneapolis; Richard Beier, Lakewood, Ohio; Paul Stump, Rochester, Minn.; Judge Arthur Guerin, Los Angeles; Robert Bonomi, Des Moines, Iowa, and I. Ace Griffith, Tucson, Ariz.

The alumni are coming by car, by train, by bus, by plane. Actually, although we are proud of the fact that Moscow is ideally "isolated" for providing wholesome educational facilities, it is still within 6 1/2 hours by air from any major town in Idaho and 72 hours from any point in the world. The globe has now come down to Homecoming size.

Each year we hope more of you will return. And to those of you here this year, we want to say again, "Welcome back home."

J. E. BUCHANAN,
President.

Capacity Crowd Expected At Stadium For Kickoff Of Palouse Grid Classic

Twenty-five thousand Idaho alumni and friends are expected to arrive on the campus this weekend. Homecoming officials announced this morning. General Manager Gale Mix stated that tomorrow's game gate is expected to surpass the record-breaking crowd of two years ago. That year 23,500 fans jammed Neale stadium to watch the Idaho-WSC grid battle. Mix said that 22,000 duets have been sold for tomorrow's game and 3,000 more will go on sale prior to the kickoff.

Parade Change

The main course to be taken by the Homecoming parade Saturday morning has been slightly altered so that it will go before the hospital and back onto main street for the benefit of the patients there. The course to be followed will be down Main to 8th st., down Jackson and back to West 6th.

Sophomore Men Pledged By IK

Twelve new sophomore men were pledged at the last meeting held by the Intercollegiate Knights' Wednesday, Oct. 12. They include Jim Betts and Harold Henrie, Lambda Chi Alpha; Jack Nelson, Elwyn Larson, Gene McNea, and Don Mitchell, Willis Sweet hall; Fred Matzner and Dick Pfiff, Pine Hall; Richard Fisher, LDS; Clayton Harmsworth, TMA; Ben Nicholas, Delta Chi, and James Wilson, Sigma Chi.

Intercollegiate Knights, whose members will be present at the Homecoming game, is a national service organization of the University of Idaho campus. Members are chosen for their outstanding abilities in both scholastic and extra curricular activities and for a desire to serve their alma mater.

The I. K.s have in the past performed such tasks as ushering, selling programs, running the timeblock at football games, ushering at basketball games, collecting donations for the campus chest fund drive, and helping with the fireworks at the Homecoming rally.

In conjunction with the Spurs, their sister organization, they annually sponsor an intramural boxing tournament.

ANNAPOLIS APPOINTMENTS
Students who are interested in securing an appointment to Annapolis should contact Dean Lattin's office within the next week. The University has been asked to nominate men to take the examinations which will be held next spring.

Seattle Orchestra Plays
Tickets for the dance have been on sale in all living groups for the past week. Chairmen of the dance Clint Peterson and Marvin Jagles announced that duets will be sold at the door Saturday night.

The Homecoming queen and her court will be presented during the dance intermission. Homecoming trophies will be presented at this time.

Homecoming Auto Situation Most Critical In History

"The parking situation at this year's Homecoming game will be the most critical in the school's history," according to Idaho Graduate Manager, Gale L. Mix.
A construction program last summer added additional room to the parking areas, but still only 6,500 cars can be accommodated for the 25,000 expected fans. "Everyone who can is requested to park away from the stadium," said Mix. Moscow people are urgently requested to leave their cars home.

Capacity Enlarged
Traffic from Lewiston and south can turn off onto Sweet Avenue on the outskirts of town and proceed past the SAE and Kappa Sigma houses to the parking areas in back of the Administration building and on MacLean field.

People driving from the north will proceed through Moscow to the parking space at the north of Neale stadium just off College Avenue.

Sixteen state patrolmen under Lieutenant Love of the state police force, Latah county sheriff's office under Sheriff Moody, and the Moscow police force under Chief Lange will be on hand to direct traffic to the proper parking areas. "We are equipped to handle 1,000 more cars than ever before," said Mix, "but the congestion of pedestrians and traffic will present a big problem." Everyone is urged to cooperate and follow the parking directions.

Homecoming Dance Plans, Decorations, Completed

A large, colorful mural depicting landmarks on the campus of the University of Idaho will be the main feature of the 1949 Homecoming dance to be held in Memorial gym tomorrow night.

Co-chairmen Mary Jane Breier and Herman McDevitt are in charge of all arrangements for the final event of the weekend. This year the decorating has been done with the cooperation of all living groups. Each group provided ten workers and points were given toward the traveling trophy.

Ten-Foot Vandal
All decorations will be centered around the "Idaho" scene. Included in the scene is a ten-foot Vandal football player, the Ad. Building, "hello" walk, and the "T" tank. Jane Blakely drew the blueprint for the backdrop, which will hang behind the band. Also included in the decorations will be tributes paid to the Idaho alumni, the state, the Idaho potato, and the Vandal team. Multi-colored, twisted crepe streamers will cover three sides of the gym.

Wyatt Howard's orchestra will begin playing at nine and continue until twelve. Patrons and patronesses will be Dr. and Mrs. Aldon Tall, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wicks, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lyle. Honored guests will be President and Mrs. Jesse Buchanan and Governor and Mrs. C. A. Robins.

100 Students Vie For Rifle Rivalry

Col. Chas F. Hudson, PMS&T, reports that over 100 students turned out during the last two weeks to try out their shooting eye in an effort to qualify for the University of Idaho Varsity and Army and Air ROTC Rifle Teams.

Col. Hudson stated that the Varsity Rifle team is not limited to ROTC students but is open to any male student registered in the University who can qualify for the team.

Coaching the Rifle team this year will be Capt. Conrad R. Underdahl assisted by 1st Lt. Rex Blewett, M/Sgt. John Rundall and Francis Rutledge and Sgts. 1st class, Darril Quigley and Robert Moore.

Girls Rifle team will begin practice on Monday, Oct. 17, between 2 and 5 and will be instructed by the men's coaches. All girls desiring to turn out for the Girls Rifle team should contact Mrs. Mary Swenson at her office in the Women's gym.

Those Wonderful Wives

(Editor's Note: The following article appeared in the October issue of Collier's Magazine as their lead editorial.)

A lot of articles titled G.I. Joe Goes to College, or words to that effect, have been published since the war. Many of the earlier ones carried illustrations which showed the wives and children of student veterans lining the routes of academic processions at graduation time. Such scenes were unprecedented in America's collegiate history, and for a time this new background in the traditional picture attracted a good deal of attention. But somehow the student veterans' wives have remained right where they were then—in the background.

Now President Jesse Buchanan of the University of Idaho would like to bring them front and center. He has proposed that an honorary "P.H.T." degree (which stands for "Putting Husbands Through") be conferred upon the G.I. brides who shared a life which definitely wasn't the life of Riley while their husbands got their academic degrees. We'd like to second the motion, for it's time they got the credit due them.

It's not that we begrudge the student veterans any of the praise and publicity they received. They deserve all of it. As a group they cashed in on their educational opportunities in a way that amazed the most skeptical professors and politicians.

Their answered charges of extravagant pampering with an impressive display of serious purpose and diligent application. They not only quieted fears that the horrors of combat would make them incapable of concentrated study, they set a competitive example for non-veterans which raised the whole national level of scholastic accomplishment.

Meanwhile thousands of student veterans' wives were "sweating it out"—to employ a slightly inelegant term from their husbands' former occupation—while the boys were being educated. Most of them set up housekeeping in trailers or Quonset huts or converted barracks. The $105 a month that came from the government—or $120 if they had children—was welcome. But it wasn't the kind of money that allowed much margin for indulging love's young dream of vine-covered cottages or smart apartments.

Yet we didn't hear many of them complain. We didn't happen to meet up with any veterans whose impatient wives had forced them out of school and into the first job that came along. We did know of a good many G.I. brides who, with a few scrimped dollars and a lot of ingenuity, converted bare and cheerless dwellings into something resembling a home. They put up with a lot and they did a lot, organizing nursery schools and community groups, and generally providing a maximum of domestic stability with a minimum of money and equipment.

These are the wives of what is probably the best-educated college generation in our history. In 15 or 20 years its members will be the leaders of this country. And if someday we hear those leaders say that they "owe it all to the little woman," we'll believe them. But we don't think the girls should be made to wait that long for recognition. We are in favor of giving them Mr. Buchanan's P.H.T. right away, and a good loud cheer besides.

Change Of Pace

Hammers pounding, the resulting of crepe paper, spilled paint cans, signs, trucks and autos receiving "face-lifting" operations have all become familiar sights and sounds in the past few days.

The campus has changed over from its slow pace to a veritable beehive of activity.

House decorations and floats are the order of the day—many students casting aside books for the weekend for work—burning the midnight oil to get those decorations up—the floats being prepared for tomorrow's "never-to-be-forgotten" Homecoming parade.

This year, student spirit in Vandalville has reached a new high, both on and off the gridiron.

The house decorations and floats of last year were termed "the best ever." This year's edition of this phase of the Homecoming celebration will make last year's look pretty sick, say "authorities."

The competition between the various living groups will be "tougher" than any previous year. May the most original and unique decorations and floats win the prizes.

The spirit shown by all living groups, in their co-operation thus far, is to be highly commended.

Being optimistic, the Argonaut predicts that alums returning to their homes after leaving Moscow will be saying to themselves and friends, "This was the most 'high spirited' and cordial Homecoming celebration that has ever been staged at the University of Idaho."

Governor To Signal Gridiron Victory

If you hear a cannon's boom Saturday afternoon, it'll be Idaho's Governor C. A. Robins doing the honors at the firing ceremony. He'll be signalling a break in WSC's 24-year winning streak in their annual grid games with Idaho.

Ordinarily cannoning is pledge work, but this football game is something special, and victory will be something extra special. So the TKE's decided the firing should be done by somebody special, and invited Governor Robins to make the big boom.

Foreign Students At IRC Meeting

Foreign students were introduced at the first meeting of the International relation club held at Hays hall lounge last night. Michael Sater introduced the eight Norwegian students, and Ten-Yuan Lee introduced the four Chinese students. Representing Iceland was Tomas Tomanoss and here on an exchange scholarship for England was Kenneth Parkin, who addressed the group. Other students who attended represented Canada, Hawaiian Islands, and South America.

The program for next week will concern the devaluation of currency in the sterling areas. Dr. William Folz of the University economics department will be the speaker.

Rehearsal Intensity

Rich Pennell as the harassed son in the October 28-29 production of "The Glass Menagerie" openly rebels against his mother, Lorraine Cole, in this highly dramatic sequence from the third scene. Looking on is Colleen Christensen, the fragile crippled sister.

Sharp Nostalgic Feeling Attacks Grads Annually

ONCE A YEAR the "old grad" stops thinking of his troubles, stops pushing little ducks into the water, and probably even thinks his wife looks as beautiful as the day he met her. For this is the time when news reaches the grad that his Alma Mater is busily and happily preparing for Homecoming week end.

Once a year the "old grad" stops thinking of his troubles, stops pushing little ducks into the water, and probably even thinks his wife looks as beautiful as the day he met her. For this is the time when news reaches the grad that his Alma Mater is busily and happily preparing for Homecoming weekend.

Then and there our hero is enveloped in the nostalgia of the big game and all of other homecoming events. He relives his college days and thinks of his old buddies, whose names he probably doesn't remember, and resolves to get a ticket to the game and return to his old stomping grounds.

For convenience's sake we will say that he gets his ticket (which will probably seat him opposite the goal post or behind a large pillar) and, leaving his wife at home, he returns to the beautiful campus where he spent the best years of his life.

With quickened pulse and sharpened senses the alum retraces his steps of five, ten or even twenty years before. He tells everyone that the old place looks just the same as when he was going to school, but he thinks to himself that things just aren't the same as they were in "the good old days." Returning to his old living group on the campus, the grad runs into a group of older men standing about, smoking expensive cigars, and making terse comments about the "strodle" market or the big game of '29.

With much loud talk and back-slapping our hero is welcomed into the group under the assumption that he must be a member of their respective classes. Conversation probably runs something like this:

"Hey you old son-of-a-gun, how ya been?"
 "Why you old side winder—how's the kid?"
 "Not bad, how's yourself?"
 "Fine, how you?"
 (Pause)
 "Well how h...o things been with you?"
 "Oh great, how's it with you?"
 "Never been better."
 And so the conversation dwindle. Finally the men part, each thinking how the other has changed.

After the grad has seen the homecoming parade, the big game, and has been entertained at banquets, parties, and dances, he probably feels that he is getting a bit too old for such a mad whirl. He returns home wishing for a good night's sleep, and mumbling something about the "good old days." But when homecoming time rolls around again he will feel just as eager to return to the Alma Mater as when he left home.

Homecoming Slogans Result In Numerous Catchy Themes

"Axe the Quacks," "Roast the Ducks Brown," "Welcome Grads," "Let's Go Now," are some of the Homecoming slogans of the past which have given rise to many original and novel ideas for decorations and floats.

Gamma Phi and the Sigma Chi had the novel ideas and won the house decoration trophies in 1946. The Gamma Phi glamorized the Vandal cook house showing a chef delivering some juicy roast duck. Sigma Chi constructed a large plaster-of-paris duck. The duck was shown reading an Idaho game law folder showing the opening of duck season October 26, Homecoming day, while a Vandal was giving the duck a hot-foot.

1947 Winners
 In 1947, Hays hall had a "stinker" of an idea. Their house decoration portrayed a team of skunks on the football field after completely knocking out Butch—no description needed. The Deltas took the trophy for the men's living groups with an enormous "Columbia" record with scores of all the previous WSC-Idaho gridiron contests with a sign posted below, "Let's Go Now—Break That Record."

Novel Ideas
 Pi Phi and Ijis walked off with the decoration honors last year. A gigantic cracker box with the slogan, "We've got the Quackers in a Box," while a wire recorder in the background continually gave out with the quacks. Fiji decorations depicted an Idaho Vandal squelching the efforts of a Duck who wanted to paint "Oregon" on a miniature "I" tower.

Airplane Meet Is Reset For Sunday

The model airplane meet that was scheduled for last Sunday at Recreation park was postponed because of poor flying conditions. The meet is rescheduled for Sunday afternoon. If bad flying weather is again encountered it will be held in the WSC field house.

New Rush System Proves Success

The new rush system set up by the Panhellenic council proved to be successful both for the rushes and the sororities, according to Jean Ottenheimer, Panhellenic president.

The system was devised to provide for four one-hour parties on the first day and fewer parties on the following days of rush. Calling hours were introduced for the rushes to visit the houses informally. No decorations were allowed at the parties and food was limited to a certain price for each guest.

Officers for this year include Lucille Driggs, vice president, and Norma Whitsett, secretary. The organization continues to support a French War Orphan and plans to send her a birthday gift.

The upper crust is often the toast of the society.

New Unit Provides Quarters For Campus Christian Home

Construction of the first unit of a Campus center to provide new quarters for a Protestant school of religion and campus religious activities of evangelical student foundations at the University of Idaho has been authorized by Idaho Institute of Christian Education trustees, Dr. Oscar M. Adam, Institute director announced today. Estimated cost of the building, equipment and other expenses is approximately $50,000.

New plans, revised to conform to city ordinances governing property lines, were approved by the trustees on the recommendation of the Institute building committee consisting of Rev. Donald W. Clayton, chairman, Charles Paul, Elmer Sonville, A. E. Jahn, all of Moscow, and Albert Kienholz of Pullman.

Modern Design

The building committee recommended conversion of the present building into rental apartments and auxiliary Institute rooms for denominational use after the new unit is completed, but decision on this recommendation was deferred until it becomes necessary.

The unit to be constructed as soon as the present building can be moved will be of modern, functional design, one story on the Elm Street level and two stories at the rear and will provide a lounge a combinational chapel, classroom and meeting room which will open into the lounge, a kitchenette and offices on the street level and a two bedroom apartment, recreation room and furnace and storage rooms on the ground level. The lot will be filled on the Elm street side to provide a plaza approach to the building.

Funk, Molander and Johnson, architects and engineers of Spokane, drew the plans.

To provide additional funds needed to cover the $50,000 estimated cost of the project, the Institute trustees have authorized an intensive renewal of the expansion fund campaign started in 1946. This campaign will reach its climax in the autumn of 1950 when the twentieth anniversary of the Institute will be appropriately observed.

Honorary's Mum Sales Increasing; Girls Work Hard

Mum sales by the Idaho Mortar Board are scheduled to be held in several places Friday and Saturday, according to Shirley Tappner, president. Spurs will assist in Mum sales at the alumni registration desks at the Ad club, the Elks club, and the Moscow hotel Friday afternoon and Saturday morning. Members of Mortar Board will also sell Mums at the gate of Neale stadium during the game Saturday afternoon.

Publicizing their Mum sales, Mortar Board women visited all the men's living groups on the campus and those women's groups in which they have no Mortar Board representative to sing a ditty about the Mums. In other women's halls and houses Mortar Board members are taking care of Mum sales personally. This year Mums are selling for $1.50 apiece.

Breakfast

An annual breakfast for Mortar Board alums is first on Saturday's agenda. All Mortar Board alums are invited to this breakfast in the Moscow hotel at 8 o'clock Saturday morning. Towards the end of the breakfast, Dean Louise Carter will deliver a short talk as the keynote of the program. Gay Deobald and Bette West are in charge. To finish

Mortar Board Point Plan Will Distribute Activities

A wider distribution of campus activities among campus women is the aim of the Mortar Board point system adopted by the AWS this fall. The plan which has been in preparation for nearly two years will limit the number of activities in which any girl can participate.

Under the new system every campus activity will be given a certain number of activity points. Each coed will be allowed only a set number of points.

Barbara Schaff, AWS council member, has been appointed point-system chairman with Joan Rowberry and Carol Bowly also from the AWS council and Shirley Tanner and Aris Peterson, representing Mortar Board, as her assistants. It will be the duty of this committee to keep on file the activities of women students and to advise them when they acquire too many points. A representative from each women's living group will submit weekly reports to the committee on the activities of the coeds in their respective groups. Lists from various campus organizations and clippings from the Argonaut will provide a cross-check so that no woman's activities will be overlooked.

Grades Maintained

The system is set up so that a woman may have a maximum of one major, one intermediate, and one minor activity; or two intermediate, and two minor activities; or any number of minor activity points (5 for a major, 4 for an intermediate, and 1 for a minor activity) not to exceed ten for upperclassmen, and six for underclassmen. No upperclassmen will be allowed two major activities. Points are given on all activities which require weekly hours of work. A scholastic average of 2.0 is required for participation in all activities.

If a coed wishes to carry more than the specified number of activities, she may petition the Point System committee for permission. The committee is composed of the chairman who will hold a seat on the AWS council, the five other AWS officers, and the Dean of Women or her representative.

Points Listed

Below are the activities and their ratings, according to major, intermediate, and minor categories.

Major activities (5 points): the president of AWS, Argonaut editor, president ASUI, station manager KUOI, Gen editor.

Intermediate activities (4 points): House Presidents' Council, other AWS officers, president of any other organization, Gem staff, Argonaut staff, member of ASUI executive board, ASUI handbook editor, Blot editor, Students Activities Board.

Minor activities (1 point): chairman of campus committees, class officers, and any of the following organizations: Mortar Board, Spurs, AWS council, Pan-Hellenic, WRA, Women's I club, Home Economic club Phi Upsilon Omicron, Argonaut, Gem, Blot, Yell queens, S.A.I., Delta Sigma Rho, Delta Mu, Curtain club, Attie club, Phi Chi Theta, Theta Sigma, Hell Divers, Vandaleers, University orchestra, University singers, religious groups, Interchurch council, Alpha Lambda Delta, Orchestra, I. # Ancient Rivalry Renewed; Year's Success At Stake

This is it as far as the University of Idaho is concerned, tomorrow afternoon the Idaho Vandals will square away against their oldest football rival, Washington State college, Neale stadium at 2 p.m. This game will mean either a fine season for the Vandals or just another effort in their climb toward the sun in Pacific Coast Intercollegiate conference football play. The Vandals are determined, even hopeful, they can break the 24-year string of Washington State victories on the gridiron. Whether or not Vandal hopes are worth while will be borne out on Neale stadium's fine turf tomorrow.

The game must mean much to the Cougars as well. This team was earlier hailed as one of Washington State's best, but has bowed on successive Saturdays to U.S.C., and to Oregon. A victory over Idaho would put WSC back on what might promise to be a surge toward the top of the conference ladder.

Morale High
Both teams have stated their will to win was at the peak but Idaho has had to bounce back after a pair of crushing defeats in the last two games. They lost to Oregon 41-0 and then were crushed by the 55-7 trouncing at the hands of Texas. But the Idaho lads claim they have learned much in the two defeats and intend to turn in a capable effort tomorrow.

The Vandals may be without the services of Max Herrington, 215-pound tackle, who was injured in the Oregon game. His back injury has been slow to come around. Herrington has been under study to Idaho's captain and great tackle, Carl Kilsgaard, a real Coast star in every way. In the Texas game Kilsgaard had to play 52 minutes of the game in the heat, but after the contest was over the Texas coach, Blair Cherry said he wished he had Kilsgaard on his ball club and that he was the best tackle Coach Cherry had seen this year.

Thus the Vandals after an idle week-end will be rested and ready for one of their key games of the season. Another casualty may creep into the Idaho roster with Coach Dixie Howell suffering from a bad cold. He was under a doctor's care Wednesday and Thursday but did not miss a Vandal workout. Thursday and Friday the squad tapered off for Saturday's contest.

Record Crowd Foreseen
The largest crowd in Idaho history, athletically or for any other purpose, was promised by an advance ticket sale of better than 20,000 by Thursday noon. It was announced an additional 6000 general admission tickets would be sold at the game Saturday beginning at 11:30 a.m. It has been assured that every ticket applicant will be able to see the contest.

The weatherman gave assurance, too, of a good football day with slightly warmer weather with intermittent sunshine but no rain. This was hailed as good news, for both teams would be hampered by wet weather; perhaps the lightest Vandal would be hardest hit by slippery going.

Rally Scheduled
Tonight a monster rally has been planned for the huge advance Homecoming throng, and a full program is in session for tomorrow. The rally will be at MacLean field at 7:30 p.m.

The officials for the game were announced as follows:
Referee—Lee Eisan, San Francisco.
Umpire—Allen Williams, Pasadena.
Head Linesman—Louis Conlan, San Francisco.
Field Judge—Harry Lenz, Stockton, Calif.
Alternate Official—Hueston Loderback, Spokane.

Blind Bogie Meet Scheduled In Golf
An intra-mural WRA golf tournament will take place on the University golf course October 22. Scheduled to begin at 9 a. m. the journey will run on a living group basis. Total scores for each house will be averaged according to the number of entrants from each group.
The tourney will be blind-bogie, and women will select their own handicap. All women are urged to take part, even though they are beginners, because the nature of the contest allows them equal opportunity to win.

Idaho-WSC Series Much The Same Since 1925

Tomorrow afternoon, the University of Idaho football squad will be seeking its first victory since 1925 over its arch rival the Washington State college Cougars. Since 1925 the Vandals have tied the Cougars once, in the 1927 contest, Washington State since that time has compiled 20 victories.

The highest score ever rolled up by the Vandal came in the 1903 fracas when they trounced the Cougars 32-0. Washington State gained revenge in 1915 by rolling up a 41-0 victory over the Vandals. Idaho has been held scoreless by the Cougars on 26 different occasions. Washington State registered a goose egg only six times.

Intramural Program Outruns Campusology In Vandalville

Campusology has been relegated a second spot in Idaho extra-curricular activities. Intramurals are the big business at present in Vandalville. Last year 1179 men participated actively in intramurals and not half that many in campusology.
Since Leon Greene assumed the position of intramural director three years ago the popularity of the program has increased by leaps and bounds, keeping pace with the "new look" in Vandal varsity sports.

Proving Ground
Several outstanding athletes have come from the ranks of the intramural participants in past years including football star Billy Williams, outstanding track and football players Glen Christians, and Keith Bean, to mention only a few.
As the school year opens at Idaho touch football holds the limelight as different teams play hard and clean, upholding the high traditions of American sport, for the glory of their respective living groups. Last year 633 ambitious young students took part in touch football.

Idaho's Yearlings Meet Utah Next

The University of Idaho frosh football team will meet the University of Utah freshmen in their third game of the season at Twin Falls, October 28.
Frosh coach Steve Belko and head coach Dixie Howell believe this year's freshman squad is as good as the outstanding aggregation of 1947. However, Idaho yearling coaches don't predict victory as reports from the Redskin homeground have the future, candidates for Utah grid glory rated as a power laden outfit.

The game will be sponsored by the Twin Falls boosters and will give Magic Valley grid fans their first taste of college football at home this year.
Win Bishop, who played three years at guard for the Vandals and is now serving as assistant frosh coach, will return to home stamping grounds for the game. Bishop, who considers Twin Falls his home, is a senior in vocational guidance and is helping Coach Belko round the yearlings into shape. Another assistant, Bob Briggs, will also have a home following. He is from nearby Hailey.

Idaho-WSC Mentors, Sarboe And Howell 'On The Block'

When the University of Idaho and Washington State college gridlers meet Saturday afternoon in Moscow for their annual "battle of the Palouse" most of the 25,000 expected fans will be concentrating on two football teams, but many of those fans will be looking at two football coaches.

Both Millard F. "Dixie" Howell, Vandal head coach, and Phil Sarboe, Cougar chief mentor, will be "under the gun" as their teams clash in Neale stadium. At the beginning of the season both avowedly had "great teams." Sarboe openly declared that the team that beat WSC would go to the Rose Bowl this year, and Dixie Howell maintained he had the best squad Idaho has had in 25 years. So far this season both teams have lost two games, none of them by close scores. Idaho opened the season impressively by downing Willamette 70 to 0 but on successive following weekends lost to Oregon, 41-0 and Texas, 66-7. WSC also began their season creditably by dropping Utah State, 33-0, but the next Saturday narrowly squeaked past little regarded Montana U. 13 to 7. Their next two encounters met defeat as they lost to USC 35 to 7, and to Oregon, 21-0.

Intramurals
Spectators at the freshman game between the Idaho Vandal babes and the WSC Cou babes are in for a real treat at the half time. A new sport has just been entered on the intramural calendar.
The cross country race was described in the last issue of the Argonaut. Mentioned was the fact that the winner of this race would receive a turkey. Second prize was a duck, third prize a chicken, fourth prize a dozen eggs and the last man to come in, one measly egg.

There are more than just individual prizes given however. To the living group who has four men finishing the race in the least possible time will go a trophy.
Leon Greene, intramural manager, said that many of the individuals who are going to participate in the race are already training. He encourages others to do the same as it may be a grueling race.
Following intramural football this year will be swimming. All men planning to turn out for their living group teams should begin practice as soon as possible.

Swimming
The pool is open for men from 2:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Mixed swimming hours are from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. on Saturdays. The pool will be closed for special events which take place in the gymnasium.

Football
Bad weather last week caused many of the intramural football games to be cancelled. This week, however, was perfect for the sport and all games scheduled have been played off. Three living groups have been dropped out for Sarboe, both mentors coached at junior colleges, Dixie in Arizona, and Phil in Washington. Both served as physical education instructors during World War II. Following his release from the army, Sarboe coached at Lincoln high school, Seattle, guiding his team to the state title. Howell was backfield coach at Alabama after his discharge from the service.

Sarboe has been at WSC two years longer than his nine-mile-away opponent Dixie Howell, having come to Pullman as head coach in 1945. Howell took over the helm at Idaho the fall of 1947. Both coaches are pretty well matched (physical stature and age included) and so are their teams. They will bear watching.

Vandals Nickname Originated In 1918

You can give the 1918 basketball team credit for the traditional Idaho nickname, Vandal. The team that year stomped on larger teams of the country and newsmen temporarily called the outfit a "wrecking crew." Liberal arts dean of the day, Edward Maclin Hulme, compared the Idaho team to Norsemen of old. Lloyd "Jazz" McCarty, then Argonaut sports editor, condensed the suggestion into a shorter "Vandal." In 1921 the football team took on the name and since then all Idaho teams have been called by that nickname.

Of the sport this year. Those are the Idaho Vandal, Trailer Villing and the Town Men's association.

Results of the games played were as follows. Monday Willis Sweet beat the number one Pine Hall team 6 to 0; Lindley Hall beat Chrisman Hall 21 to 6, and Willis Sweet team number two trounced Pine Hall team number two 47 to 0.

On Tuesday Lindley Hall went on to win over Chrisman hall 12 to 7, Tau Kappa Epsilon nosed out the LDS team 12 to 6 and the ATO squad beat the Kappa Sigis 19 to 0.

Wednesday saw Delta Tau Delta with a victory over the Delta Chi squad by penetrations. The Sigma Nu team beat the Sigma Chi's 6 to 0 and the Fijis won over Lambda Chi Alpha 15 to 0.

Tradition Remains Same After 20 Homecomings

By ORVAL HANSON

Homecoming at the university has a long and colorful history. For the most part Homecoming activities and traditions have remained unchanged for the past twenty years.

The year 1921 saw the first Homecoming Day which was publicized as such. In that year WSC defeated the Vandals by a 20 to 3 score. The next three homecoming games were also with WSC. Many traditions such as a serpentine of women winding through the men's living groups, a pajama parade through the town and campus, a pre-game rally and bonfire had been built up around the annual Idaho-W.S.C. game. These functions were taken over by homecoming as it gradually evolved in the early 1920's.

1925 Plans Elaborate

Homecoming really came into its own on the Idaho campus in the year 1925. That was the first year elaborate plans were made. In that year houses and campus buildings were decorated with prizes going to the houses with the outstanding decorations. Despite the enthusiasm of this first full dress homecoming the Vandals suffered their worst defeat in a homecoming contest, losing to the U.S.C. Trojans by a 51 to 7 count.

In its early years and almost up to the present all homecoming activities were under the direction of Blue Key with assistance from the Spurs and Intercollegiate Knights.

The homecoming dance after the game in 1928 marked the opening of the "new" Memorial gymnasium. Neale stadium was dedicated in a ceremony prior to the homecoming game in 1937.

Biggest and Best

This year's homecoming is not the first time Idaho has planned the "biggest and best" in the school's history. The same was said of the 1921 homecoming which attracted 6,000 fans, and the 1928 homecoming which, under the direction of Allen Janssen, present dean of the college of engineering, attracted a record 12,000.

Down through the years there has been little change in pre-game activities. The most notable exception being the discontinuance after 1935 of the freshman bonfire. In that year the freshmen, anxious to outdo all previous frosh classes, secured six trucks and built a pile of fuel and rubbish fifty feet high. As it happened, however, all in the pile was not rubbish. The result was a big expense to the school and no more bonfire.

Bonfire Out

Since that time a fireworks display at MacLean field has replaced the bonfire. The serpentine and the pajama parade have been combined in the last ten years and have been taken over as a function of the Spurs. Now the serpentine is made up of women clad in pajamas running through the men's houses and halls during the dinner hour.

The oldest homecoming was probably the one in 1938. The Vandals played the Cougars in a blizzard and on a field drifted with several inches of snow.

The last big pre-war homecoming came in 1941. The next year house decorations and fireworks were eliminated from the program. During 1943 and 1944 Idaho dropped football and consequently there was no homecoming in either of those years.

Post-War

Homecoming came back strong in 1945 with all its pre-war trimmings. The 4500 attendance was below normal but the 45 to 0 score with which Idaho subdued Montana was certainly above normal. The influx of veterans that hit the campus in 1946 gave homecoming a shot in the arm. In addition to all the previous pre-game activities the 1946 homecoming featured the first float parade which has since become an established part of the homecoming program.

New Records

Post war attendance has also shattered all records. In 1947 22,000 fans filed into Neale stadium to watch Oregon whip Idaho 26 to 0. It is expected that upwards of 25,000 will be on hand when the Vandals and the Cougars clash again Saturday.

Of the 26 homecoming games since 1921, the Vandals have won five, lost 20 and tied one. They have met W.S.C. in 14 homecoming contests, three of which were played at Rogers field in Pullman. In all of those 14 contests Idaho fans have been confident of victory. In that respect this homecoming is no different from those in the past.

Halls To Sponsor Saturday Party Rotating System

Idaho Independent halls have made plans to inaugurate a "Rotating Rendezvous", a system to provide open house to replace the dance room in the Bucket on Saturday nights, according to Dan McDevitt, Independent caucus prexy.

Each Independent living group will be expected to sponsor one open house every nine weeks and to provide the music and entertainment on the Saturday night for which they are scheduled. McDevitt stated that the system will go into effect immediately and a list of dates will be published soon.

Caucus Officers

Vice president Sonnich Sonnichsen has been appointed social chairman in charge of the "Rotating Rendezvous." Francis Flerchinger was recently selected to head a committee which will publish the Idaho Independent. George Hemovitch was elected secretary of caucus to fill the position vacated by Betty Peters.

The next meeting of the caucus is scheduled for 7 a.m. Tuesday evening when Independent class candidates will be chosen.

Idaho Professors Attend National Forestry Meeting

Two Idaho university foresters were prominent in the Society of American Foresters national meeting Wednesday and Thursday in Seattle.

Dr. Paul Dalke, leader of the Idaho Cooperative Wildlife Research unit, is program chairman for the Forest-Wildlife Management Division of the society. Professor Ernest Wohletz led the convention session on forest economics and took part in discussions of private forestry.

Jeffers Prexy

Idaho's school of forestry also holds all top offices in the national honor society, Xi Sigma Pi. Dean D. S. Jeffers was named national president of the 41-year-old organization for the 1948-50 term, while the vice-presidency was filled by Idaho's forest pathologist, Dr. T. S. Buchanan. Professor Ernest Wohletz, associate director of the forest, wildlife and range experiment station, is the secretary.

Others of the Idaho faculty participating in the national society meeting are Dr. Merrill Deters, Prof. E. L. Ellis, Prof. A. W. Slipp, and extension foresters Vern Ravenscroft and Vernon Burlison.

4-H To Celebrate Achievement Week

Members of 4-H clubs looking forward to celebration of achievement week November 5 to 13 were complimented this week by Charles F. Brannan, secretary of agriculture, on their 1949 results.

The message was passed on to the groups of farm boys and girls throughout Idaho by Dan E. Warren, state 4-H club leader.

"Achievements of 1949 have exceeded those of any previous year," Secretary Brannan said, "and through them you have made a very real contribution to better living for a better world."

"You have demonstrated in a practical way how we may have better living for ourselves, how we may share our better living with the less fortunate, how we may prepare ourselves to be better citizens and make this a better world. You have also gained much through your experiences in putting new discoveries of science to work in your demonstrations and in practicing good citizenship in your programs."

Post war attendance has also shattered all records. In 1947 22,000 fans filed into Neale stadium to watch Oregon whip Idaho 26 to 0. It is expected that upwards of 25,000 will be on hand when the Vandals and the Cougars clash again Saturday.

Of the 26 homecoming games since 1921, the Vandals have won five, lost 20 and tied one. They have met W.S.C. in 14 homecoming contests, three of which were played at Rogers field in Pullman. Miss Beatrice Helander was caught by the photographer as she did some last minute preparation before leaving for Spokane yesterday to attend a joint Idaho-W.S.C. alum rally. Idaho's 1949 Homecoming queen was accompanied by President Buchanan, Mr. James Lyle, and several ASUI officials.

Ski Champions Meet This Year In Colorado

Aspen, Colorado, will be the scene of downhill and slalom races for the 1950 World Ski Championships, the biggest skiing contest ever to take place in this country. Considered even more important than the Winter Olympic ski races, the Aspen Championships are sponsored by the Federation Internationale de Ski (FIS), world ski governing body. This group is made up of the ski associations of 81 nations.

Hosts to the champion skiers invited from these countries are the National Ski Association of America, the Southern Rocky Mountain Ski Association and the Aspen Ski Club.

Open To All

The Aspen races are "open," under FIS rules, not only to top ranking amateur skiers but also to perfectionists and ski instructors.

As a result, the 1950 titles won at Aspen will in every sense be true championships of the world. American men skiers have never taken an international skiing title, but hopes are running high for 1950. A squad of America's best skiers will be coached by Barney McLean, ex-Olympic star. The ten best women skiers will also participate in the downhill and slalom events.

The international importance of these races will spotlight the attention of the sports world on a little Rocky Mountain village that has, in its day, been Colorado's roaring silver queen and an almost lost, remote ghost town. Now Aspen reaches for top place in the winter sun with a skiing terrain that many experts consider second to none in the world. Aspen boasts the world's longest chair lift. . . it carries skiers' up not one but two mountains.

Prince Invited

An invitation to Crown Prince Olav of Norway to attend the 1950 championships has been extended by Governor Lee Knos of Colorado. The Crown Prince, who is an ardent skier himself, made an unofficial tour of the United States several years ago. Since Norway is the birthplace of the Federation Internationale de Ski, and because the Prince's senior advisor is the president of the FIS, the invitation was appropriate.

This is the first time a World Ski Championship has been held in the United States or outside of Europe. The secretary of the Colorado Alpine races recently stated that the courses have been put in shape and that the only thing need for readiness is snow.

SOCCER

Soccer tournament for the world cup will be held in Brazil in 1950. About 35 national teams will compete.

Past Opponents Are Numerous And Colorful

By KARL KLAGES

Whether it's win or lose against Washington State Saturday afternoon, the University of Idaho will have played its 245th football game. Thirty-six university and college eleven, four service teams, four athletic clubs and two high school football squads make up the colorful list of Idaho's opponents, a list that starts with the cross-state rivals from Pullman.

During the 56 years of gridiron competition, Idaho teams have registered 140 victories, lost 180 contests and tied 19. Only during the war years of 1943 and 1944, when the crop of football players was thinner than a night-club singer's gown, did Idaho fail to field a ball club on the greenward.

Many California Teams

Sixteen coaches have led the Idaho teams against opposition from 12 states and the Territory of Hawaii. California heads the line, Idaho having played seven institutions from the Golden Bear state. The schools are UCLA, University of Southern California, Stanford, St. Mary's University of California, San Jose State and Fresno State.

The Vandals have met six Washington schools — Whitman college, University of Washington, WSC, Gonzaga, Puget Sound university and Eastern Washington.

Five Oregon institutions include the University of Oregon, OSC, Portland U., Willamette and Pacific university.

Four Idaho Schools

Opponents from the home state have been Lewiston State Normal, College of Idaho, Albion State Normal and the University of Idaho Southern Branch.

From the mountain states, Idaho has faced the University of Montana and Montana State college, the University of Utah, Utah State Aggies, Denver and the University of Wyoming.

In the mid-west, Creighton university (Omaha), North Dakota university and North Dakota State college offered the competition. Other college opponents have been the University of Nevada, Boston college (remember the score on that one), Marquette, St. Louis university alumni (Honolulu), the University of Hawaii, and the University of Texas.

Council Requires Eligibility Check

All students participating in extra-curricular activities should be certified for eligibility in accordance with university regulation "N" before participation, Academic council announced.

Section "N" states, "In order to be eligible to represent the University or any other organization in any extra-curricular activity, a student must:

1. Be carrying at least twelve credits.
  2. Have passed in at least 10 credits in his last semester of residence previous to participation.
  3. Have passed in at least five times as many credits as those in which he has failed, as shown by his previous record . . .
  4. Not be on probation.
- "It is the responsibility of the faculty advisor or coach of each activity to see that the eligibility of all candidates is certified by the Registrar's office before participating," council added.

Classes Shortened Saturday Morning

Shortened periods for the morning of Saturday, Oct. 15, have been approved by the academic council in order to allow students and faculty members to view the Homecoming parade and take part in Homecoming activities.

Class periods will be observed as follows:

- 1st period—8 to 8:20 a.m.
  - 2nd period—8:30 to 8:50 a.m.
  - 3rd period—9 to 9:20 a.m.
  - 4th period—9:30 to 9:50 a.m.
- The library will be closed at noon Saturday for Homecoming activities, according to Lee Zimmerman, librarian.

North America has 30 major zoos—in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Captains Chosen For Field Hockey

Class captains were chosen yesterday for the WRA field hockey tournament scheduled to begin October 25.

Marya Parkins will lead the freshman and Yvonne George has been chosen by the sophomore group. Other captains are Pe Berry, juniors; and Ella Bahr, seniors.

Class teams will begin practice next week on the women's athletic field.

Stop Fires Week Ends Tomorrow

October 9-15 is Fire Prevention Week — but fire is an ever present danger from which everyone loses, so why not make every week fire prevention week?

Here are some instructions which everyone on the campus could do well to keep in mind; in case the need should arise and you discover fire in a building:

1. Call the Fire Department, dial 2100.
2. Find a safe exit.
3. Have a fire extinguisher handy.

To prevent fires, report such hazards as: Accumulations of rubbish, papers or rags, defective electrical wiring or outlets, and leaking gas or oil. Remember, "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure."

TRADITIONS ENFORCED

In 1934 the "I" club enforced the old university traditions such as the wearing of green caps by freshmen. No dates to football games and the wearing of "I" caps by upperclassmen were also enforced by the club.

Jason's pictorial tour behind the scenes which appear over the campus on Homecoming Day will undoubtedly bring back memories of old to the thousands of Idaho alumni who will gather on the campus tomorrow.

Perhaps no campus activity has as much summer work as Homecoming preparations. First stop on the itinerary was the summer office of committee chairman, Morgan Tovey. The 1949 planner is discussing operations with Francis Flerchinger, publicity man, and Secretary Donna Jean Broyles.

After the ball starts rolling, publicity must begin. Two coeds assist Tovey in placing bumper signs on an Idaho fan's automobile. Of course trophies enter into the picture. Last year's queen, Marilyn Heinrich, eyes the awards which will be presented to this year's winners.

Alumni Secretary Jim Lyle is the coordinating link between the student groups and the alums. Besides writing thousands of letters and attending meetings over the state, Lyle finds time to take an active part in the summer planning for Homecoming.

Jason was content to stay at the bottom when the cameraman mounted the I tower to catch the committeemen painting the traditional campus symbol. As usual the midnight painters from Cougarville scrawled a puny WSC on the fresh I. Thinking this a good indication of the relative standing of the two schools, student officials have decided to leave the work for all to see.

No Homecoming is complete without hotdogs. The members of the I club who will operate the concessions at tomorrow's grid battle are making certain all is in readiness at the Dairy Science boilers.

Many a midnight requisition of materials and labor go into the completed house and float decorations. Although the plans might change several times during the construction these boys will undoubtedly come out with a vicious Vandal.

Feeling confident that 1949 is the year that the Idaho eleven will turn the tables on the boys from Cougarville, Argonaut Editor John Martin and Student Body President Bob Moulton were only too glad to accept the annual walkathon challenge of the Cow college dignitaries. The Vandal men are making preparations to meet the WSC hikers at the Sixth street bridge next week.

Jason, who by the way is bothered with bunions, has been keeping close tab on the football team. The gridsters gave him assurance that he will have ample time to soak his feet while waiting for the Cougars to pay off their walkathon wager.

Three Major Building Projects Break Campus Skyline

SUB And Ag Science Building Scheduled For Aug. Completion

Completion of the Agricultural Science building is officially scheduled for about August 1, 1950. Concrete is already being poured for support of the second floor of the structure.

"University agriculturists have served the state well, from finding ways to boost potato, wheat and bean yields to controlling disease in livestock," said President J. E. Buchanan. "With modern facilities, we hope to serve the state's farmers better. Such service is highly important in Idaho where most of the population is directly or closely associated with agriculture, and about 70 per cent of the state's new wealth comes from farms."

Continue To Serve

After some renovating, Morrill hall will continue to serve the school of forestry, permitting that division to discontinue use of two overflow frame structures. To serve the agronomy department, the university has just completed renovating the old Dairy building at a saving of more than half the cost of a new building, and the same process will be applied within the next year to the old Metallurgy mill building to make it a usable metallurgical laboratory capable of serving Idaho's important mineral industries.

SUB Renovated

Third major building at present under construction is an extensive, three-story addition to the Student Union building. This is a student-financed project, with $850,000 in 3 per cent revenue bonds to be paid off by student fees and earnings. The original Student Union, built in 1936 when enrollment was 2,900, has become inadequate for the present 3,500 to 4,000 students.

"By incorporating the original building into the present addition, every dollar of original investment and every square foot of existing space was preserved," said Gale Mix, general manager of the ASUI.

Ticket Sales High

The addition will include an enlarged ballroom and cafeteria, bowling alleys, lounges, and offices for student publications and activities. The structure is scheduled for completion about August 1, 1950.

Parts of the building may be ready for use in the spring. Mix's office is now in the student lounge of the present structure, and the bookstore has been moved to a ballroom. These makeshift arrangements, however, have not cut down ticket sales for this fall's football game, Mix commented. The advance sales are the heaviest in the university's history.

EARLY EXAMS

All Duke university juniors will take the Junior Remedial English examination early this fall. Those who fail will be required to take a course in remedial English for as long as the instructor thinks it necessary.

Sorority Helps Blind Student

Harry Turner, a blind student enrolled in pre-law at the University of Idaho, is benefiting from a project of Delta Gamma sorority.

Each day sorority members read his lessons to him, usually spending six hours for the courses he is taking. Reading times are split, with two and one-half hours of study in the afternoon followed by three and one-half hours in the evening.

Two Building Bids Will Be Called Before Year Ends

Bids will be called soon for an addition to the Administration building, and for a new music building. The administration building unit, which will be the fourth addition to the original building, will provide needed elbow room for the colleges of letters and science, law, education, and business administration.

The Music building will provide the first central home for the department, which is now housed on various parts of the campus in five frame cottages, some of them more than a half-century old. As many of these old buildings as possible will be withdrawn from service to avoid disproportionate maintenance costs. Construction on the two buildings is expected to start early in 1950.

Modern Design

Architectural design of all the new buildings is modern, except that of the Music hall. It will be done in Gothic to conform to the Administration building, which it will face.

Meanwhile, long-delayed attention is also being given to the university's utility needs. Now being completed is renovation of the central heating plant, including the installation of a large, high-efficiency boiler to replace two coal-gouging installations more than 30 years old, and the installation of mechanical coal and ash handling equipment.

Well Started

To relieve an acute water shortage, drilling operations on a new well have been started. This well is expected to supply more than 1,000 gallons of water a minute. The present university well, drilled in 1916 when the university boasted 562 students, has a capacity of only about 500 gallons of water a minute, which has necessitated borrowing from the city. Also to be constructed is an outdoor, electric power and switching station to replace the old underground, station, now inadequate and incapable of enlargement. Other improvements include shop and warehouse facilities for the department of buildings and grounds.

TALENT CITED

Black masks are presented as membership tokens by the Curtain, dramatic club. Outstanding workers in dramatics are recognized for participation in various ASUI productions. This honorary sponsors an annual picnic in the spring.

Secret Building Completed; Will Be Unveiled Saturday

The university Board of Regents announced today that contractors have just completed a major building which will be unveiled immediately following the Idaho-WSC football game Saturday. The program, begun shortly after the legislature appropriated $3,000 for modernization of the campus, has been kept secret for security reasons.

Jess Buchanan, university president and chairman of the Board of Regents, refused to reveal the location of the building project upon the announcement of its completion this morning. One member of the board did hint that the location was probably outside and to the rear of Memorial gymnasium where some activity has been noticed.

The nature of the building was not officially disclosed but rumors indicate it will be a necessity following the game, and will better relations with our cross-line neighbors, who are going bankrupt. It will also be utilized as a part of a training program. It will, in one way, partially resemble the new Buick, although the lines will be along old, well established customs. Instead of being a three or four hole-r as the Buicks, it will be a one hole-r.

Following diligent lessons in the eating of grass—for economy's sake—the building, gossip has it, will be a resting place for "Butch." The construction will be done away with as soon as he is taught manners. His training at Washington State has been incomplete. He knows no better than to "eat and run."

The cost of the building will be reimbursed to the state by the fish and game commission as bounty on the 11 cougars slated for slaughter in Neale stadium tomorrow.

Buildings Take Shape—Although both the new agricultural science building (top) and the addition to the student union building (below) are far from completed, what the finished products will look like. Concrete walls have been raised to second story levels, and eventually will be three stories high at each building. The ag science building, located just east of Rayburn between Sixth and Idaho, is expected to cost about $1,000,000. The student union addition will approximate costs of $600,000.

Campus Ground Cleared For Erection Of Engineering Classroom Building

Newest phase of the University of Idaho building program is now underway with the removal of three buildings on Line and Urquhart streets to clear the site for a new $450,000 Engineering Classroom building. Three forestry buildings were moved to new sites across from the central heating plant to clear the way for the new construction.

"Another old landmark, the Engineering building, will have to go," says President J. E. Buchanan. The building was condemned as having doubtful structural safety by the State Department of Public Works as early as 1924. Meanwhile the building was reinforced to minimize risk until it can be abandoned. Now under construction is the addition to Kirtley laboratory for electrical engineering, and the building is scheduled to be completed in Jan. 1950, for use during the second semester of the year.

Old Must Go

With the addition of the Engineering Classroom building which is now getting underway for the first time, facilities for engineering training should increase to the point where the old Engineering building can be razed. With both increased interest among Idaho's youth in engineering and increased demand for engineers, enrollment of the college of engineering has doubled in the last decade. About 700 young engineers now receive training. The original unit of Kirtley laboratory, built in 1941, is now utilized hydraulic, chemical, and mechanical engineering laboratories.

"Catching Up" Step

Although enjoying one of the highest academic ratings in the nation, the University of Idaho has lagged for many years in its building program. The present projects comprise a major "catching-up" step. Totalling about $3,688,000 in costs, the projects are financed by an investment of $2,960,000 authorized last February by the Idaho state legislature, by revenue bonds, and by current budgets.

In his presentation to the legislature committee, President Buchanan stressed the fact that the State of Idaho built eight major structures at the university during its first 20 years—but only four during its last 40 years. College enrollment at the end of the first 20 years was 267. Enrollment for the last school year totaled 3,912—an increase of more than a thousand per cent.

"In the absence of permanent buildings, this increase could only be accompanied by temporary expedients costly to maintain and operate," said President Buchanan. "The present building program is to replace some of these expedients—old residences, CCC-type buildings and war surplus structures. It is strictly a replacement and modernization program—not an expansion program. The students to be served are already here."

"We're like a man deeply in debt. His hope of recovery is to lay out a practical time program and get himself out of debt by a systematic series of regular payments. Using the same approach, the university has laid out a practical 10-year building program designed to catch up on existing needs, and do it by providing first relief where it will do the most good for the most critical situations."

More Crowding Ahead
"All major needs cannot be met in a year," said President Buchanan. "We think they can in 10 years. This 10-year modernization program cannot be allowed to lag."

Administration Of Campus Housing Is Perplexing

(Editor's Note: The following article is reprinted from the fall issue of the University of Idaho Reports.)

By J. E. Buchanan.

President of the University Today the University of Idaho has the following student housing facilities:

Dormitories
Women—Permanent....	Capacity 288
Men—Permanent Capacity	444
Men—Temporary Capacity	598
Family Housing
Permanent.....	Capacity 25
Semi-permanent....	Capacity 20
Temporary.....	Capacity 245
Trailer—Temporary....	Capacity 100

(About 100 of the university's student family housing units are temporarily used by faculty and staff members while the community housing shortage is being overcome. It is not a policy of the university to provide housing permanently for faculty and staff members.)

Despite the facilities shown above, it is necessary each year for 500 to 700 single men students to find private rooms in town, and for 400 to 450 married students to find family housing in town. The demand for married student housing shows few signs of diminishing, notwithstanding the decreasing percentage of GI's in the student body.

New Postwar Trend

This anomaly arises from the fact that many non-veteran students are refusing to deter marriage until after graduation from college. This is a new trend to postwar conditions. Sociologists for years have advocated marriage while in college, but not until now have any substantial number of students elected the undertaking. How will it work out and what will be the future trend?

These questions are being pondered by Your University now as it is developing plans for its future housing construction program. Without question, however, is the fact that Your University faces the necessity of floating bonds to construct permanent dormitory capacity for the 596 single men now in temporary quarters consisting of two depression expedients accommodating 236 men and one war-surplus unit housing 360. These three buildings are near the end of their useful lives besides being expensive to heat and maintain. Dormitory construction for 596 would merely be replacement. An additional problem is how much capacity beyond 596 should be provided to serve the 500 to 700 not now accommodated.

No Decline In Enrollment

Many persons believe that as the veterans finish school, college enrollment will drop back to pre-war levels. This unjustified conclusion fails to consider the fact that college enrollments have been more than doubling every 20 years.

Quota System Used

There is another phase of dormitory operation that is perplexing to administer. With modern permanent buildings alongside older and less modern buildings, questions of student preference inevitably crop up. It is, of course, impossible to put everyone in the modern quarters. With insufficient capacity to house all students who want in the dormitories. It becomes necessary either to use a quota system combined with preference for incumbents, but if has not been universally satisfactory. Many parents and educators feel that where university-operated dormitories cannot accommodate all students preference should be given to entering freshmen. The theory is that newly entered students need the orientation and introduction afforded by dormitory living, whereas older students, having had this experience, are better able to carry on in private quarters.

Family Housing Problems
A decision must soon be made regarding our future married students housing program. Our 100 trailers are rapidly nearing the end of their service life. They did war service at Hanford before being moved and installed here. If married students in college are going to decrease to prewar proportions, it will simply be a matter of retiring family housing units as the needs fall off. If, as many think, there will continue to be a substantial percentage of married students in the university, either we must plan our housing construction program to meet that need or we must limit our student housing policy to single students, leaving the married students to shift for themselves as in prewar days.

High Cost Prevents Rates
Prewar dormitories of brick, concrete and steel construction cost from $1,000 to $1,500 per student accommodated. They now rent for $3 per week per student or $54 per semester or $108 per year. Postwar dormitories of similar construction are costing $2,000 to $4,000 per student. Obviously they cannot be self-liquidating and rent for the same low rates as prewar dormitories unless the construction cost is subsidized by grants or rental rates are equalized and a disproportionate amount used to amortize the postwar construction.

Now that the GI bulge is largely accommodated we may expect a relatively little change in enrollment during the next 10 to 12 years, perhaps an increase of 5 to 10 per cent barring war or major economic catastrophe.

By 1959 or 1960, the trend should again be sharply upward because by then the war babies who presented a birthrate about 50 per cent above normal will be of college age. Meanwhile, in 1946, and for a year or two thereafter, we should not be surprised if enrollment dropped off a bit, not primarily due to the depression days of the thirties. These years are no reaching college age.

Over 40 high school students attended the third annual convention of the Idaho High School Principals Association held at the university this summer.

Annual Idaho-WSC Gridiron Classic Has Been Part Of Palouse History

By ALLEN R. DERR

Football, the great American sport! It is woven through the history of American college life. And at the University of Idaho and Washington State college it takes on a new impetus each fall, which has gradually increased with each victory by a WSC grid squad over an Idaho opponent for the last 24 years.

To many fans of both schools the records of the past 24 years—since 1925—is old history. Some even remember back to 1893 when competition between the two institutions began, and the 50 games since then of which the Cougars from Pullman have won 34, the Vandals 13 and three ties. The record books tell us that.

Old Timers

But these alumni remember other things too. They speak of the game itself and the days when the WSC and Idaho football teams engaged in weekly gun fights. It was the custom of the time, say these alumni, for the two teams to meet, accidentally of course, every Saturday night, alternating between the towns of Moscow and Pullman. A member of one of the teams usually started things by huffing an insult at the opposing team, and then the shooting would begin. "They did everything but kill," said one former football player who attended the University of Idaho not long before World War I, "and I'm still carrying a bullet in my right arm as a remembrance of those days."

Gale Mix, present graduate manager for the University of Idaho tells of early Idaho football as recorded by his father, Gub Mix, also former Idaho student, and football manager who saw every Idaho game from the kick-off in 1894 through 1942. Mr. Mix tells of early rivalry between Idaho and Washington State College.

Rugby Too

In 1893 WSC had a Rugby team and Idaho a football team. They compromised when they met that Spring in Moscow and played a combination of Rugby and football. Idaho winning 10 to 0. There were no eligibility rules, anybody could play and suits consisted of baseball pants and an old shirt. Padding was taboo as the players figured the quickest way to keep from getting hurt was to knock out his opponent, so he stripped for action. The teams played old style, mass formation, center rush, three downs to make five yards.

The two teams got their seasons straightened out and played again in the fall of 1894. The game was played in Pullman, and consequently, Idaho lost 10 to 0. Everyone was fond of fighting and a controversy arose after the game among the spectators who protested each team's slipping in a few extra players above the eleven allowed. Idaho was outnumbered and hurried aboard their train for Moscow.

WSC notched her second victory over the Vandals (not really Vandals until 1921) in 1895 defeating them 10 to 6.

Everyone Goes

A game wasn't scheduled again until 1896 when the Idaho team, entire student body, faculty, and a large number of townspeople boarded a special chartered train consisting of one steam engine and coach, and chugged into Pullman. When they arrived not a sign of life could be found. Up on the hill, school was going on as usual and no one seemed to know about the game. In spite of letters produced by the Idahoans the WSC captain said his team was in no condition to play and the WSC president said his students were in no condition to be released from classes. So the Idaho team lined up in front of the college building, ran through a few signals and declared the game forfeited to Idaho. The Idaho delegation gave the college yell and went home.

Neither team would apologize and the next year was spent in writing letters. Finally WSC apologized and a game was scheduled for the fall of 1898 to be played in Moscow. By that time Idaho had an athletic organization consisting of all students who joined at fifty cents per person, who were intent as present day supporters on beating WSC. From out of the country they brought big Ed Snow, who weighed 210 pounds stripped, and from the Nez Perce Indian Reservation they recruited Chief McFarland, half-back of All-American calibre.

Just Like Today

An eligibility rule stated that players had to be enrolled in the college, so Snow and McFarland were registered in the school of Agriculture.

The WSC team arrived as per scheduled for the game which looked as if it would be a good one until McFarland started limbering up on punts. He kicked the ball from one end of the field to the other. No one had ever seen such punting. WSC immediately declared both Snow and Mc-

Former Idaho Coed

A transfer from the University of Idaho resigned last week over Idaho State College's homecoming. A sophomore, Rae Pharris won over three other candidates for the honor, most coveted on the ISC campus.

The Jerome Co-ed was crowned by Mayor W. W. Halsey at the coronation exercises and presented a white evening cloak, a corsage of roses and the first loving cup to be awarded by ISC for such an affair.

Flip Of Coin Once Decided Tilt

A call of "heads" on the flip of a coin once lost the University of Idaho a football game against Gonzaga university. It all happened back in 1922, Robert L. (Matty) Mathews' first year as Vandal coach.

Sib Kieffner, Boise business man and quarterback on the great Idaho elevens of 1922, 1923, and 1924 relates the story. Idaho had the pigskin on the five-yard line midway in the second period of a scoreless game. The Zag back fumbled the ball and Kieffner recovered over the goal line. The rules in those days said that the ball would be moved to the 20-yard line and the recovering team given possession, according to Kieffner. That's when the fireworks started.

The Gonzaga player protested that he had carried the ball over the goal line, and it should count as a touchdown. The argument is said to have run 15 or 20 minutes before Gonzaga Coach Gus Dorais suggested the flip of a coin to decide the issue.

Mathews, although reluctant to settle that way when he knew he was right, finally consented and lost the flip, so Gonzaga gained the touchdown.

The game was resumed and Gonzaga was on the long end of a 10-7 count at the end to win the game. The only game of football on record won by the toss of a coin.

Hungerford Reads Student's Work

Perhaps the most enthusiastic reader of the September 15 issue of "Higher Education," an official publication of the federal office of education, was Dean C. W. Hungerford of the University of Idaho graduate school.

Now a specialist in Near and Far Eastern Education in the U.S. office of education, Dr. Sassani received both his bachelor's and master's degrees from the University of Idaho in June, 1937.

"The American Institutions of higher learning in the Near East, which started their pioneer work

Farland ineligible and after some argument by both teams—during which time the gate keeper skipped to the bank with the entire $500 gate receipts—the Pullman team and spectators decided to go home. The Idaho team lined up in front of their special train, went through a few signals, gave the college yell, and once again declared a game forfeited to Idaho.

Not until 1901 did the two schools resume gridiron competition. They have been constant rivals since that time; although the game of football is now a refined game compared to what it was in the roaring nineties.

"It's different now than it used to be," said Mr. Mix in his notes. "They've got a sod field now, rooster caps, a pep band, and cheer leaders who can turn handsprings to music."

Three Idaho Grads Who Edited Arg. Talented Writers

Two Idaho graduates and former Argonaut editors were recently appointed to managing editorships on two separate major publications. Another former Arg. editor was appointed to head the Associated Press bureau in Spokane at the same time.

Former Argonaut editor Cecil Hagen has been named as managing editor of the farm trio—Idaho, Washington, and Oregon Farmer—published in Spokane.

Hagen, graduate of Idaho in Journalism in 1930, edited the student publication in 1928 and 1929. Following his graduation he worked with O. A. Fitzgerald in the university publications office until 1943 when he moved to Spokane to become assistant editor of the Idaho Farmer. He replaces Fred Clemens, well known editor with the Idaho Farmer for 35 years.

Johnston Bill Johnston, 1940-41 Argonaut editor was named managing editor of the Lewiston Morning Tribune in Lewiston, Idaho. Johnston graduated in 1941 from Idaho and served with the Clearwater Tribune, the Lewiston Morning Tribune, the Salt Lake Tribune, and the AP bureau in Spokane before his appointment.

Named to succeed Johnston as head of the Spokane Associated Press bureau is Dick Eimers who edited the Argonaut in 1946-47 and has worked with the Spokane AP bureau since.

Writing Lawyer's Book Is Selected

When the Junior Literary Guild of New York named the book "Great-Grandfather in the Honey Tree" by Sam and Zoa Swayne, of Orofino, as its selection of the month, it was the second time in less than a year that a book by University of Idaho alumni was chosen.

The first book, selected last spring by the guild, was "Bob Clifton, Elephant Hunter," by W. O. "Doc" Hogue, of Pocatello. Carrying a stamp of authenticity, Hogue's book was written from material gathered while he worked on a rubber plantation in Liberia after his graduation from the University of Idaho in 1935.

The books by the Swaynes, written by the Orofino lawyer and illustrated by his wife, is a "tall tale" of pioneer days in the old west handed down to Swayne by his father who still lives in the remote area of the Clearwater, 40 miles southeast of Orofino. Receiving his law degree, Swayne was formerly prosecuting attorney of Clearwater county.

in 1863, constitute some of the finest examples of constructive philanthropic enterprise in the world," Dr. Sassani declares. "For more than three-quarters of a century these institutions have been rendering an indispensable service to that area."

Idaho's Biggest Homecoming

The 1947 Homecoming on the Idaho campus rates as the biggest in the history of the university. It is due to be eclipsed tomorrow, however, as 25,000 people are expected to jam Neale stadium to see the Vandals and the Cougars tangle. Idaho and WSC were the opponents in 1947 too when this crowd of 23,500 filled the stadium to near capacity.

1949 Homecoming Schedule

- FRIDAY:
12 to 5 p. m.—Registration at the Ad Club and Moscow Hotel for all alumni.
5:45 p. m.—Pajama serpentine through men's living groups and ending at MacLean field where a rally will be held.
8:30 p. m.—Alumni mixer at the Ad Club.
- SATURDAY:
10 a. m.—Parade through downtown Moscow and the campus.

Value of yacht club properties in the U. S. is estimated to be between $10 million to $20 million.

Green Hats May Again Adorn Heads Of Idaho Freshmen

The possibility of a come-back of the green lids that once belonged solely to the underprivileged undergraduates—the frosh—and all the things that went with them once more stalks college freshmen. The old freshman traditions—initiations and subjection of freshmen by upperclassmen—went out during the war in most schools, sooner than that in some, after many years of precedent.

With the return of veterans to college after the war those traditions still remained dormant, because of the maturity of most of the students who looked upon such things with indifference after their wartime experiences.

The veteran population of college campuses is decreasing now, however, and with a freshman enrollment of new high school graduates the badge of the freshman is returning. Several campuses on the coast already require the lowly frosh to wear a green cap and take part in spirited "initiations."

Others Have Them

Gonzaga university, and Northern Idaho College of Education require their freshmen to wear the traditional badge of the novice—the green horn's greenie, (sometimes better known as beanie). University of Washington upperclassmen also enforce such a rule and several other close colleges are fighting to reinstate this tradition. Washington State college students are about evenly divided on the question and may decide to adopt an "orientation" program soon, according to reports.

Not much has been heard about the situation in Idaho, but it was the rule of the campus once to welcome the frosh with a set of enforced requirements, including the green lid, and may well be again. The wearing of green hats in Vandalville used to be the climax of an annual feud known as the Hulme Fight, between sophomores and freshmen.

Sophomores Decried It

It was an organized battle, complete with rules and judges, but emerged victoriously and always decreed that the losing frosh wear green caps for one year. In 1934 an unusually eager freshman class turned the tables and defeated the sophomores. Since then the green beanies have been extinct on the Idaho campus. We might see them before we graduate. We won't have to wear them and anyhow, as one Gonzaga frosh recently said, "Heck, the beanies aren't so bad. Most freshmen seem to like them."

THESE AVERAGES

The requirements of a C-average for graduation from Illinois Wesleyan university has been changed so that a student is now required to have a C-average in all work after the opening of the semester or term in which the student begins his last 90 hours before graduation.
