Cavallaro, Carols, And Crown To Highlight Holly Week

The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Chet Kerr, student union bookstore and cafeteria manager, will go to the former Naval Training station at Farragut, Idaho to inspect bowling alleys which have been allocated to the State of Idaho. In Spokane, Kerr will be joined by a recreational supply specialist.

The pair will look at six bowling alleys which have been given by the War Assets Administration to the state. University officials requested that the alleys be checked to see if they will be satisfactory for use in the new Student Union building.

As yet no action has been taken by any officials, either state or university, to sub-allocate the alleys to any state institution. However, university officials have decided to check the alleys. If they are of a quality which will meet the standards wanted by the students for the building, steps will be taken to try to get them allocated here.

Senior Exam Hearing
Another news item originating in the Ad building concerns the action which was taken by the Academic Council on reviewing the 1950 commencement action taken recently.

Wednesday night the Council discussed the problem considerably without arriving at a favorable plan for reconsidering the student inquiries on the question. Last night the Council met again to set up some means of hearing the student comment and applying it to the problem. At press time no information was yet available. A full statement of the action of the meeting will be printed in Tuesday's Argonaut.

Across the Campuses
For some time readers have besieged Jason to get more news from other western campuses into the Arg columns. In this issue Arg reporters gleaned the papers from all western campuses to attempt to get the news. Jason will be interested in getting any suggestions which readers have on these stories.

Another Score For Idaho

Wearing the double 00, Bob Wheeler is in the clear as he goes up for two points against Eastern Washington Savages last night in Memorial gymnasium. Wheeler was the leading scorer of the game last night, making 16 points. Tonight the Vandals take on the Gonzaga Bulldogs.

Young Irish Tenor Sings At Memorial Gym Monday

Christopher Lynch, young Irish tenor who appears here in a Community Concert Monday, December 5, in Memorial gym at 8 p.m., has become nationally famous since the fall of 1946 when he made his debut as star of the "Voice of Firestone" over the NBC network.

Attic Club Sells Christmas Cards

Atticards, Christmas cards designed and made by the Attic club, will be on sale starting next week in the Art building, announced Harold Gerber, Attic club president. The prices will range from two for a nickel to 15c each. A wide variety of cards will be available in four distinct types: wood and linoleum cuts, silk screen, etchings, and lithographs. Names may be printed on cards in orders of more than $2.50.

Money collected will go into the furniture fund which is built up and donated annually to the university for the purchase of contemporary furniture. Orders for the cards may be made in person at the Art building where they will be on sale or phone, No. 8356.

Kiilsgaard Garners Additional Honors

Carl Kiilsgaard, Idaho's 220 pound right tackle from Bonners Ferry, was given an honorable mention on the Associated Press 1949 football squad. The 6' 2" senior, completing his fourth year of football at Idaho, was unanimous choice on many all-opponent teams as well as gaining a first string berth on the Associated Press All-Coast eleven.

University of Texas' Longhorns named Kiilsgaard on their all-opponent first team through his excellent play while competing at Austin earlier in the season. Although the Vandals lost this game 56-7, Kiilsgaard was by far the outstanding lineman on the field.

Oregon State, in selecting its 1949 all-opponent squad, named Carl Kiilsgaard by unanimous vote to the first team. Kiilsgaard polled more votes than did any other player chosen. Many Idaho fans are keeping their fingers crossed, hoping that Carl will be named to help represent the West in the annual East-West Shrine game in San Francisco, December 31.

"Kampus Key" Sales Roll; Price Will Go Up Monday

Students who wish to purchase a copy of "Kampus Key," student and faculty directory, at the special 35c student rate will have to act before Saturday noon, according to Allen Derr, distribution chairman. All sales to students after noon Saturday will be at 50c, in the Graduate Managers' office.

Six-hundred copies of the 80 page guide to the campus edited by Orval Hansen have been sold but there is an adequate number still available. Sales began Tuesday with representatives of Blue Key, sponsors of the book, contacting every living group. Yesterday a booth was set up in the Administration building where sales will continue until Saturday noon.

Prior to all three ball games this week books are being sold at the entrance of Memorial gymnasium.

May Repeat Project
"From every indication, especially after the first of the month checks came in, sales are progressing satisfactorily," according to Derr.

Blue Key president Morgan Tovey announced today that if the sale of the guides continue at the present rate throughout the week the project may be judged successful in which case a similar publication will be assured for next year.

Hansen included in the publication all the information which appears in the mimeographed student and faculty directories published by the registrar's office plus additional information about students, organizations, and events that are important to those attending or otherwise connected with the university.

According to plan all students have been or will be contacted before the end of the regular sale Saturday noon. Those missed may obtain a copy at the Graduate Manager's office at any time.

"A guide for every student" is the motto of the sales campaign. Committee members handling the distribution of the guide are John Martin, Del Klaus, Phil Schenell, Ken Briggs, Ken McCormack, Dave Thacker, Bob Finlayson, Dean Mosher, Al Denman, Clint Peterson, Jim Farmer, Cal Long, Morgan Tovey, Bill Sweet, Bill Gartin, and Vernon Bahr.

Family Favorite

After giving recitals in much of Ireland, the tenor went to Italy for a winter of coaching from Carlo Morelli. Since his arrival in this country, Lynch has been working with the famous veteran singer, Giuseppe DeLuca, master of the classic art of Bel Canto.

Christopher Lynch's fame has been spread throughout this continent by concerts, radio and recordings until his name has become a household word in America today.

Shipwreck Dance Scheduled Friday At Old Vet's Club

Eagle and Anchor club of the Idaho NROTC unit, departing from the customary semi-formal dance, will hold a shipwreck party in the former Vet's club above the Idaho First National Bank tonight at nine o'clock, it was announced by George Tanner, president of the group.

The party is a costume affair and midshipmen and dates will wear appropriate costumes denoting shipwreck. The hall will be decorated as a remote isle with suitable tropical growth. Music for dancing will be furnished by the "Varsity Crew". Decorations committee is headed by L. J. Burrows, and Bill Stemple is in charge of programs. Bob Wadell is in charge of the refreshment committee, and the entertainment committee is under the direction of Jerry Rockwood.

"Poet Of The Piano" And Orchestra To Appear On Campus Next Friday

Soft strains of Christmas carols will be heard drifting throughout the campus Tuesday evening marking the beginning of the traditional Holly Week sponsored annually by the sophomore class. Later in the week more music will be heard in Memorial gym in the form of the "Poet of the Piano," Carmen Cavallaro.

Scholars from the class of '52' have scheduled the annualuletide serenade to begin at the south side of the campus near Ridenbaugh hall at 10:30 p. m. and will serpentine through the rounds ending at Pine hall. Serenade co-chairmen Lonnie Renfrow and Virginia Barton announced that there will be a song practice an hour before the actual serenade, 9:30 on Tuesday night at Science 110. Norman Logan, music instructor, has donated his services to direct the group.

Old Custom
The custom of serenading the living groups with carols was first originated in 1923 by a sophomore class led by Dean French, then

Lighting will form an intricate part of the mood of the play and will emphasize certain scenes. A portion of the costumes to be worn in the production are being designed by Maran Featherstone, assisted by Mrs. Kern. Heading the costume crew is Jeanne Miller.

Student Direction
The December presentation of "Everyman," a morality play, will be given three nights in the U hut theatre. It will also be given before the Fine Arts club in Moscow. First continuity rehearsal was held last night in the hut under the student direction of Harry Dalva and Neal Christensen.

Cast members will make a radio recording Saturday afternoon on 1 under the direction of Mr. Kern.

Good Music
Carmen Cavallaro, one of the few musicians in the country belonging to the mythical "Million Club", will appear with his orchestra Friday, December 9, at Memorial gym from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. Plans have been made for the gala event to house a capacity crowd, according to Marvin Jagels and Dick Newton, dance co-chairmen. This affair will bring to an end Holly Week, 1949.

Queens' Too
Queen candidates will be voted on Wednesday night in all men's living groups at dinner. The results will be published in the Argonaut the following Friday. Due to lack of facilities, there will be no sophomore assembly this year. Those vying for the crown are Pat Hankins, Marilyn Evans, Delma Gilbert, Christy Sargent, Shirley Molen, Pat O'Conner, Beverly Benson, Jackie Scott, Marianne Tufts, Helen Daniels, and Jo Ann Nelson. Janet Fulton and Marilyn Evans are in charge of arrangements for the queen contest.

Chairman
General chairman Paul Arquistain stated that arrangements for the festivities prior to Christmas are in full swing and that "a pleasurable week with a tinge of the real Christmas spirit is expected to be had by participants in and recipients of the occasion alike."

Senator Taylor
Speaks In Moscow
Senator Glen Taylor was guest of honor at a luncheon in the Moscow hotel Thursday. President Jesse E. Buchanan, faculty members, students, and townspeople attended. Senator Taylor was introduced by Woody Frisbie, a member of the Idaho International Relations club.

Senator Taylor led a discussion last night in the Science hall. Now taking his annual speaking tour of Idaho, he plans to return to Washington before Christmas. This luncheon was sponsored by the Moscow Democratic organization.

Round table discussions were held and professors from schools in the Pacific northwest presented discussions on significant problems of this region.

Wildlife Meeting Draws Professors

Dean Jeffers, Dr. Paul D. Drake, and Professor K. E. Hungerford, of the forestry department, will attend a wildlife meeting at McCall December 3 and 4.

Three alumni of the University forestry school on the Idaho campus during the week were Dr. Johnathan Wright, Morris Arboretum, and Gilbert Doll.

Morris Arboretum is working with the North-Eastern forestry experimental station and is devoting his time to the science of crossing trees. Arboretum graduated with the class of '38.

Doll, who was noted for his basketball playing in the years of '37 and '38 is now assistant superintendent of forestry at Reno, Nevada. He is a graduate of the class of '39.

"Kampus Key"

Monday night the "Kampus Key" rolled off the presses to make the first complete student and faculty directory for the University of Idaho since the registrar's office-sponsored one similar in 1944.

This 88 page booklet is being sponsored by the Idaho chapter of Blue Key, national service fraternity for upperclassmen. The book contains everything about the university from students and faculty names, addresses, year in school, major courses, telephone numbers, and home addresses, to a complete schedule of athletic events for this year.

Such a worthy project should not go by without a few bouquets tossed to those connected with the success of the directory.

Orval Hansen gathered and edited the information, weeding pertinent from irrelevant information. He spent many long hours reaching decisions on which were the most important subjects, from the many suggestions which he had received. Trying to please as many as possible of our 3500 students was not going to be an easy job. Orval realized this in arriving at his decisions.

In addition to the main feature, that of a student and faculty directory, the book contains such other information as the presidents of the campus living groups, AWS officers, heads of the ASUI publications, community concert schedule, proctors and hostesses, housemothers (both men and women's groups), the Board of Regents, University administrative staff, the deans and coaches.

This directory is very complete for the amount of time which Blue Key had in order to get such a project underway and still be able to get it in the hands of students, faculty and businessmen before the school year was too far along.

Even with more time, it is doubtful if a more complete job could have been accomplished.

Allen Derr has organized the sales force and has enabled the book to be made available to every interested person almost before the ink was dry on the final copies. Any member of Blue Key will sell copies to any interested parties. These are also on sale just inside the main entrance to the Ad building.

The "Kampus Key" has proven itself by the number that have been sold to date, in spite of that "end-of-the-month-financial blues" which are so prevalent on this campus.

To Blue Key for backing the idea and "bringing home the bacon" so to speak, and to Orval Hansen for the splendid job of editing, the Argonaut wishes to say thanks for a job very well done.

Two More Beauties Will Join Procession Of Campus Royalty

By RED EYE
 It is said that once a queen always a queen. Next Weekend two new queens will be taking their place in the Vandal royalty parade. During the next week the campus will choose the Holly queen from among 11, sophomore lovelies selected by their various living groups. Saturday night the boys at the Sigma Chi house will come forth with tears and cheers as another Sweetheart of Sigma Chi takes the spotlight.

Imagine how many women, young and old, will find a tingle down deep inside as the crowning of a new queen brings back thoughts of other years when smiling beauties of another era were surrounded by handsome collegians and proclaimed the fairest of them all.
 Tears will creep into the corner of eyes from Maine to California as thoughts arouse sentimental dreams of years gone by when the flash and dash of college life swirled and danced around their faces.

Hearis Leap Up
 Many coeds have come and gone, some are now forgotten, others will always be remembered. But the thrills that accompany the crowning of a new queen will always live on in a reverie of dreams that capture some of the fondest and most cherished memories of college years.
 In just a few days the pangs of eager anticipation will be eased. Two new lovelies will take their place among the queens of yesterday to be flanked in time by beauties yet to come. Some will forget in time. However, the thrill of being crowned a queen will always be locked in the hearts of two, regardless of what the future holds. Yes, once a queen, always a queen.

Two representatives from each Protestant church group meet at Interchurch Council to promote good fellowship and friendship on the campus.

Jaycees Plan For Style Show

Tentative plans were discussed at last night's weekly meeting of the Junior Chamber of Commerce or the annual presentation of a city-wide style show.
 The business session was held at Johnnie's cafe and the program was highlighted by football film shown by Idaho Coaches Gene Harlow and Bill Godwin.
 The annual style show will be held sometime in the spring. It was announced, with Paul Schanuel again named general chairman. Proposals to include a beauty contest were discussed without definite action taken. Named on the committee were James Rockey, Tom Sawyer, Harland Lyons, Fred Davis and Robert Burris.
 William Chaney, chairman of the Jaycee Hoover commission committee, reported his committee had had one meeting and will have several more before a local program is adopted. He said preliminary plans call for an education program to start within the Junior Chamber.

Jay Gato, James Goller and Harry Mossman were introduced as new members.

New Point System
 Promoting recreation, Alabama college has recently added a new point system; each dormitory receives a certain amount of points for active participation in the campus recreational program culminating with a final award at the end of the year to the dormitory having the largest number of points.

Deferred Sorority Rushing

Ed. Note: Deferred rushing and deferred pledging are topics of much concern on the several campuses in the Northwest. Oregon State college is the scene of considerable discussion on the issue. After scanning publications of nearly all western colleges, the following pro and con articles on the plan which appeared in the OSC BAROMETER seem to be the most complete and understandable.

The situation at Oregon State is somewhat different than at Idaho in that there all fresh women, pledged or not, must live in university halls during their freshman year. Most of arguments presented can apply to the situation here, also. Pat Guerin, independent, and Carolyn Cramer, sorority, wrote the editorials. Both women are associate editors on the Barometer.

Pro

Freshmen women who pledge sororities are not allowed to move from their dormitory to their houses until the end of the year. Major reasons given why freshmen women may not move is so that they can become well acquainted with their fellow freshmen, solve their common problems together, and avoid the cliquishness which could develop from immediate segregation. Women affiliated with a house have their interest in it. They are expected to and look forward to attending and preparing for that house's functions. Since one house or one dormitory has enough activities to keep an average student busy, it is true that most pledges go only to their house functions, and only if they have leftover time, to their form functions.

Pledges have been required in some recent cases to attend independent functions. Coercing anyone to attend anything is wrong and in those cases did nothing but createullen and resentful attitudes among the pledges which ruined the spirit of the entire functions and of the independents who were obliged to associate with those conditions. However, it certainly knocks a hole into a living organization if only one-third of one-half of its membership participates in its affairs.

Many freshmen women, pledged or not, have charming manners. Many are insecure and have not gained that poise. It is to their discredit that some women feel that pledging sets them apart and a pace ahead of nonpledges. Some tend to draw apart and exude that exclusive attitude. That attitude, no matter what its source, is depressing and dampens considerable the morale of the other women. It is true that some pledged women contribute much to their living organizations and their spirit is good in the hall, but they are among the small minority of the pledges.

Deferred rushing is the solution to these problems. Women would learn to know most of the other freshmen women just as well as they are supposed to now. Their freshman year could be devoted to settling down to study and getting along with others at true instead of face values. They could examine the sorority women and be able to choose a house by its congeniality to their own characters. They would learn about the Greek system and understand what it involves instead of galloping madly into the first house that accepted them for fear they would be left out.

Independent freshmen women could live in a calm home (their home) atmosphere instead of Getta Mu Beta or Alpha Beta Delta frenzies. As it now stands in some halls—you might as well be dead if you're not an Eta Chi.

Deferred rushing is the preferable solution but immediate removal of girls when pledged would be the next-best solution to consider. (P.G.)

Con

Elsewhere on the page appears an editorial on the "pros" of deferred rushing until after the freshmen year. It does, however, give the reasons against deferring rushing until winter or spring term of the freshmen year.

The primary reason for not deferring rushing would be the tension among freshmen women during the term or terms preceding rushing. Most girls would have a constant feeling of being watched by sorority girls in and out of classes and the tension created would be as bad or worse than that during rush week. Also, both the girls and the houses would have a continual sense of rushing all term or terms.

If rushing were put off till winter or spring term it would work a financial hardship on houses with a small number of girls returning the beginning of the year. Other handicaps would also be placed on houses with small memberships until there are pledges to round out the number.

Good Greek-Independent relationships now existing on the campus are due partly to living in the residence halls together during the freshmen year. If rushing were deferred, it would also encourage "dirty" rushing between the houses. Sorority "dirty" rushing is not a big problem at present and should be kept at a minimum.

Complications would arise when girls moved back into the dorms after pledging for a year if they did not make their grades. Freshmen women who pledged winter term would move into the houses fall term of their sophomore year. If they did not make their grades, they would be required to move back to the halls. Dorm presidents admit that these girls present a problem to the halls.

Good Greek-Independent relationships now exist. They can be improved by working more closely with the dorms and encouraging pledges to participate in dorm activities. This requires keen cooperation between sororities and resident halls but may be the answer to the problem. Both groups are quick to admit there are two sides to the question and are willing to work together to maintain a happy relationship between the Greeks and Independents. (C.C.)

Interfraternity Council, composed of two representatives from each fraternity, discuss fraternity problems at their meeting.

Dear Jason

Dear Jason:
 My patience is exhausted. I look forward each Tuesday and Friday to sitting down and reading the Argonaut. So far this semester I haven't been able to find one issue capable of holding my interest over three minutes.

Tuesday, November 29th was the pay-off. Four pages of newspaper and here is what I find: An equivalent of more than two pages devoted to advertising; An editorial that doesn't remotely concern Idaho students (they can buy their cigarettes here); A news item about the sale of the campus guide (Also the same information was covered in an advertisement); And a story about Carl Killsgaard.

I doubt if any interested party hasn't already known of Carl's selection for all coast honors. It's a good man, a good cause, and also a good way to take up good space!

If the next issue of the Argonaut doesn't have items of greater interest, I suggest:
 1. Don't publish it.
 2. Or if you do, print one less. I don't want any!

Economists Speak

"Home Equipment" was the topic of talks by Miss Frances Alexander, home economist with the Bendix company, and Miss Peggy Lewis, home economist with Harper-MacGee in Spokane when they spoke to the Home ec class Thursday.

"That Which We Call Moscow By Any Other Name Wouldn't"

By JERRY KINSEY
 The name won't make a town, but it can add color and enhance its publicity. In that respect Moscow is singularly fortunate. Next to the town called Christmas, Moscow's name has probably created more publicity for the town than any other city in the United States.

For instance, there was the time a national weekly magazine ran a story about some enterprising eastern college students who started a tie swapping agency. The high spot in the story was about the man from Moscow, Idaho, who sent in five ties and was slightly bitter, in an inoffensive sort of way, when he received in return five flaming red ones.

Files, Communists
 Another bit of cheap but valuable publicity presented itself when a research department at the university couldn't find the files they needed for some experiments. They advertised for some, but got no response from the surrounding area. "No flies in Moscow" was published over the nation, and created considerable interest. Finally an incredulous community in West Virginia wrote that since we had "no flies in Moscow" we'd surely have a surplus of fly-swatters, and would we please send them some, because they were perpetually in the middle of a huge swarm of them.

More recently came another suggestion that Moscow change its name so that it could not so easily be compared to the headquarters of the communist regime. What a golden opportunity for the local chamber of commerce or other civic group to publicize a claim that the citizens of Moscow and their guests at the university rate this fair town as being far superior to, and more important than, any collection of houses and self-appointed big wigs the communists have in Russia.

If duplication of names causes so much trouble that one of them has to be changed, it'll be announced in the Pravda long before the Idaho Argonaut gets the news.

A recommendation of Dean Weltzin and Harlow Campbell that the regulation which now allows 32 semester hours earned through correspondence courses be changed to allow 32 hours earned in correspondence courses or a combination of correspondence and extension courses.

Rounds And Toes; Mylander-Newell Tell Engagements

Alpha Chi Omega was the scene of two engagements early this week. Monday dinner brought forth the announcement of Carol Rounds' betrothal to Dick Toews, and at Tuesday dinner Verda Mylander displayed her ring from Bob Newell.

Carol Rounds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Rounds of Pocatello, announced her engagement to Dick Toews on Monday at the Alpha Chi Omega house. At each place was an official report of the engagement entitled "Experiment X". The ring was displayed in a corsage of red roses and white carnations. Mrs. John L. Toews of Ephrata, Wash., was a dinner guest.

Miss Rounds is a senior majoring in chemistry. Toews, also a senior, is an engineering major. He is affiliated with Sigma Chi fraternity.

December 20

The engagement of Verda Mylander, daughter of Mr. W. J. Long of Deer Lodge, Mont., to Bob Newell, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Newell of Ola, was announced at the Alpha Chi Omega house on Tuesday. Red and green were the predominant colors, typical of a yuletide wedding. A white place card with red and green ribbons and a silver bell were at each place. The engagement ring was attached to a bouquet of red and white carnations complimented by green holly.

The engaged couple are both seniors, majoring in education and business. He is affiliated with Delta Chi.

The wedding date has been set for December 20 at the Episcopal church in Moscow.

Neckline Down; Hemline Up This Fall

Hem lines, first too short and then too long, have settled to a happy medium and new fall clothes are nothing short of smooth.

Corduroy skirts, jackets, vests, and jumpers are in the fashion limelight with tweeds and glen plaid vying for second. Skirts and sweaters are still a leading school costume, but a change has come over the sweater. The old sloppy joe sweater has given way to a neat fitted sweater which looks just right worn with one of the new skirts with the accent on the buttons or pockets.

Swishing taffeta is news for date dresses and the plunging neckline in modified form is being seen more and more on this type of dress.

Wool jersey dresses, blouses, and skirts are coming into their own and are so practical for school, as they never seem to wrinkle. Nice for evening wear too.

Of course an outfit, no matter how nice, it is never quite right unless worn with the correct accessories.

Jewelry this year is less "flashy." Scatter pins, or one small pin worn at the neck of a sweater are popular. The waist line is being highlighted by metal belts of gold and silver. Pearls are still popular and many girls are wearing the long strand of rope pearls and knotting them in various ways.

The trend seems to be going away from jewelry worn at the wrists. Saddle shoes are still in style for school wear, but crepe soled shoes, and shoes with straps are also in vogue.

In general, the fall fashions are neat, and nice to look at.

Down Under Wit Digs Professor From Idaho

When Professor Howard Stough of the university zoological department visited the University of Sydney, Australia, engaged in six months research work, he was made the subject of Aussie humor. The Sydney Sunday Herald published this bit of doggerel:

"My dear Professor Stough, Would you kindly tell us hough We should address you nough? Perhaps a nervous cough Could fob matter ough? With nine bob for dollars, though, You won't go short of dough."

SKIING

Vandal Ski school reports so many enthusiasts, that three lesson periods a week will be held. However only one lesson a week will be given to each person at his assigned time.

He became nationally known when he starred in the radio program "Voice of Firestone."

A Ride Home For Christmas? Just Sign The Dotted Line

So you want a ride home for Christmas? Or maybe you have an empty car and want to take some passengers who are going your way? These old problems have been solved!

Associated Students has set up two card files in the general manager's office located in the Bucket. One file contains cards for the use of students who own automobiles, and the other is for those who need rides. These cards are to be filled out by the students, and not by the general manager's office. That office has offered its facilities as a clearing house, and the rest is up to the individual.

Cards List Info
Cards for car owners should have the following information: name, number of passengers, campus address, phone number, destination and route.

Prospective passengers may either fill out a card with their name, campus address and destination or check the "passengers needed" list and contact a car owner.

Sounds Good
In the past many students driving home with partially loaded cars would have been glad to give rides to anyone going their way. Other students have paid bus or train fare home who would have had transportation if they had contacted the right people.

Laura McVicker, daughter of Mrs. Helen McVicker of Boise, announced her engagement to Bruce Faul Monday. The announcement was made at a Christmas party at the Tri-Delta sorority house. Christmas packages at each place contained the names of the couple. A large Santa Claus in the center of the table held the ring, tied in a rosette of white lace and cetered with red streamers.

Miss McVicker, a senior majoring in business, is president of her sorority. Faul is also a senior majoring in business at the university.

CURFEW LIFTED

At a standards committee meeting at the University of Washington a unanimous vote was cast to extend the Homecoming curfew until 2:30 a. m. It was greatly emphasized that this regulation would be in effect only for this occasion. ASUW president, being a married man, deplored the conservative action of the committee. "My heart bleeds for you guys," he said as he remembers his battles of bachelorhood.

Vandals Grab Season Opener With 60-39 Win Over EWCE

Finley Substitutes All 15 Players As Score Grows

In the first game of the 1949 pre-conference schedule Idaho's Vandals romped over the Savages from Eastern Washington College of Education 60 to 39. A partisan Memorial gymnasium crowd watched their favorites play three complete fives against an undermanned Cheney squad. At no time after the third quarter were the Vandals less than 12 points ahead. Largest lead held by the Vandals was 24 points when three and one half minutes remained in the game.

Though 33 fouls were called it was not a rough game. Cheney's fast breaking style of play kept action so fast that fouls were unavoidable. Idaho's was a fast game, too, though Coach Finley's "Missouri style" play appeared consistently throughout the contest.

Wheeler Tops Scorers

Bob Wheeler, 6' 5" Vandal center, gave fans an exhibition of how the hook shot should be executed and came out of the action as high point man with 16 points. Bob Pritchett, consistently scoring Idaho forward, was second in the game with 11. Vandal George Rey was next with 10. Dick Luft, outstanding Savage guard, scored 9 as did Nick Stallworth, Idaho's towering first line center.

Geisler Started

Dick Geisler, starting at guard, led off the scoring for the Vandals seconds after the start of the game, with a field goal. During the first eight minutes of play the Savages from Cheney were held to three free throws by the close checking Idaho men. At the end of the first quarter the score stood, Idaho 20 EWCE 8. The half time score saw Idaho ahead 33-18. At the end of the third quarter the Vandals led 48-30.

The Cheney men, coached by "Red" Reese, missed only five of 22 free throws for 17 — nearly half — of their points.

A crowd of nearly 4,000 packed Memorial gymnasium for the game.

Veterans

Veterans enrolled at the University of Idaho for the first time as veterans should check at the Registrar's office immediately regarding military and P.E. credits in order to receive credit for their military service.

Time Out

By COSTELLO

Let's take a look at what other northern division basketball teams are doing while Idaho goes through its big three days at Moscow.

Oregon State college is pulling the cutest trick of the week-end. They played Portland university at Portland last night and now are heading for Buffalo, New York to play Canisius TOMORROW.

Cougars To Dazzle Foes

At Pullman Coach Jack Friel is pitting an alleged "dazzling array of height and speed" against Whitman college tonight and tomorrow night. Speaking of the Cougars it's interesting to note that Friel has inherited four men who have played quarterback for the football squad. They are: Frank Mataya, Bob Gambold, Leon Mangis and Scott Foxley. These boys were bitterly disappointed earlier in the year when a promised trip to the Rose Bowl was called off but they have now been assured that Kansas City tickets have been bought. They'll be used after WSC wins the Pacific Coast basketball race.

Double Header

Salt Lake City has a generous share of top basketball action starting tonight. Oregon and Southern California will appear in a weekend double header. Tonight the Webfoots meet Utah State while the Trojans play Utah. Tomorrow the coast teams switch opponents.

The only remaining northern division team, University of Washington, is idle until December 21 and 22. The Huskies will need extra practice time because they meet Minnesota for two games then.

Tallest Of The Vandals

Much of the Vandal airpower may be attributed to three centers above, (left to right) Nick Stallworth, six foot six, Bob Wheeler, six foot five, and Ken Barker, six foot six. All three should see lots of action before leaving Idaho, since Stallworth and Wheeler are juniors and Barker a sophomore. They are wearing their new, black travelling uniforms in the picture.

Vandal Two Dangerous Visitors Portraits In Moscow This Weekend

By Stan Risgers

Basketball has suddenly become a chief topic of conversation on the Campus. With the Van-

Gonzaga university and the University of Portland will each offer Coach Chuck Finley's Idaho quintet pre-conference opposition this weekend at Memorial gymnasium. The Boone avenue five from Spokane will meet the Vandals tonight at 7:30.

The Zags, one of the top Catholic teams in the nation last year, have four of their starting five back again this season.

Gonzaga Has a Win

In a Tuesday night season opener, Gonzaga presented new Coach Bill Underwood with a 60 to 54 triumph over Central Washington College of Education. Captain Rich Evans, Bulldog hot shot, poured 17 points through the hoop for scoring honors.

The University of Portland started its 1949-50 season off on the right foot Monday night by defeating Pacific Lutheran 53 to 48. The Pilots met OSC at Portland last night.

Pilot Center Stars

Most impressive Pilot against the Pacific Lutheran squad was lanky Jackson Winters, 6-foot 3-inch center, who paced his mates with ten counters. Portland plays here Saturday evening.

Pilot coach, Jim "Mush" Torson, expressed delight in the defensive showing of his club in its opener. Portland employed a tight man to man defense.

BROADCAST

Station KUOI will be the only station broadcasting freshman games this year. Varsity games and freshman games will both be handled by the campus station this weekend.

Also handling varsity games will be KRPL Moscow and KREM Spokane.

Preliminary Game To Feature First Test Of Idaho-Zag Frosh

It will be the first test of the year for both squads tonight when the University of Idaho and Gonzaga frosh meet in Memorial gymnasium. The game will begin at 5:45 and will be the preliminary to the two schools' varsity match.

The Vandal greenies currently have 20 prospective players out for the team—Coach Steve Belko having cut that number out of nearly 60 original members.

Taller Than Varsity
Belko said today that his team has the height the varsity lacks but that it is still slow and lacks a lot of know-how. "Our starting five will average 6' 2" in height," he said.

As probable starters Belko said he would call on Wayne Anderson, 6' 1" at guard along with Homer Woolf, 5' 7", Idaho Falls. At forwards will be Bruce McIntosh, 6' 3", Lewiston, and Bill Mather, also 6' 3", from Spokane. At center will be Hartley Kruger, 6' 7", Spokane.

Squad Is Deep

As replacements Belko has several other outstanding players including Jerry Ogle, Spokane, 6' 1", forward; Roger Lillibridge, Coeur d'Alene, 6' 5", center; Dick Zyzak, Pittsburgh, Pa., 5' 10", guard; Melton Bertrand, Memphis, Tenn., 6, forward; and George Crnkovich, Mullan, 5' 10", guard.

Ten others are listed on the roster and will be called on often to aid the team. "We really haven't had time to work out the best players yet," said Belko, "all of them show promise and any one of them may be our star."

Saturday night the Vandal frosh will meet the Newport high school aggregation as a preliminary to the Idaho-Portland U. game.

Nearing completion, the Memorial Union building of the University of Washington had cost nearly $1,300,000.

Women Win Places On Rifle Squad

Twenty-five women at the University of Idaho have won positions on the 1949-50 women's rifle team, Captain Conrad R. Underdahl, PSM&T and captain of the team, announced today.

Elimination matches were set up to select team members from 60 women originally entered in competition. Team members are:

Ann Brooks, Donna Melis, Betty Hudson, Pat Suiter, Willa Schumann, Martha Allison, Ronell Hillman, Joyce Ann Merrill, Martha Tuller, Shirley Longteig, June McHone, Virtona Douglas, Shirley Anderson, Helen Dragseth, Dorothy Lipp, Jacquelyn Lee, Maxine Seeley, Patsy Lee, Acel Purdy, Clara Crom, Arlene Ralph, Carolyn Webb, and Beverly Schupfer. Lou Carlson was chosen team captain.

The U. S. Army has added a bagpipe band and among its members are soldiers Chatel, Logan, Orenstein, Diduc and Katzman. Typical Scotsmen.
