Walkers, Johnson and Ellis Win In PCC Quarter-Finals

Progress on the new Student Union Building addition is progressing "very satisfactorily" according to Graduate Manager Gale Mix.

"Eighty-seven workmen were busy at one time in the building this week," said Mix, "most of them specialists."

The entire third floor is rapidly nearing completion, and tile is being laid in several rooms. One notable advancement was made yesterday when workmen painted the town women's room. The ceiling is green and the walls dusty rose. (What a place for a color blind person).

Actually however the green is a very light shade which gives a beautiful effect when blended with the light pink coloring!

Plaster Complete

Most of the plastering has been completed on all three floors of the structure. Mix said today that there was not any doubt but what the building will be entirely completed on or before the August 1 deadline at the present rate of progress.

Something needed for a long time at this school is now receiving action and from every indication will be in operation next fall. It is an orientation program for freshmen and new students, which is outlined in the lead story today.

Fresh Orientated

When a new student arrives on any campus to attend school it is difficult for him or her to "get around" without competent guidance. Everything is new and an aiding hand is always welcome.

Information on all phases of campus life and activities, sadly hard to obtain in the past, will be given the student upon first entering school. It will be an easy task for the student to decide what activities, outside of studies, he or she wishes to take part in, with all listed and explained.

Too often students never find this information until late in their college career—some too late.

Likened to Train

It could have an effect on the entire school spirit for activities are the criterion of student "life". Extra-curricular activities are like a train. If you get on at the stop—when school starts—it is easy to stay on. But if you wait till that "train" is rolling it is hard, if not impossible, to board it.

The orientation program will make that start in college life easier and make the new student feel like "belonging," in addition to providing the school with a better informed beginner.

Moscow's 1950 style show came to a very successful end Wednesday evening with the crowning of Miss Jean Ottenheimer "Moscow's Miss Coed of 1950."

Not "Idaho" Coed

Contrary to what seems to Jason to be a rather prevalent belief however, Miss Ottenheimer's title is not the same as "Miss Idaho Coed." (No offense intended at all toward Miss Ottenheimer).

Blot Magazine sponsored the latter contest last year and intends to do the same later this spring, says Marie Hargis, editor.

Winner of the Miss Idaho Coed title is entered in a national contest to choose a "Miss American Coed," whereas the Moscow title is strictly local.

Blot Sponsors

"Any misunderstanding on the part of the students in mixing up the two titles was not intended at all by the show committee," said Don Wilson, secretary of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce. "We selected our title at random from names submitted with no thought of confusing anyone."

So still another queen contest is in store for Idaho women when Blot soon chooses it's second annual "Miss Idaho Coed."

Get Acquainted Hour Featuring listening music and social dancing, a "get acquainted" hour is scheduled for the Cosmopolitan club meeting at 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the Campus club.

"Moscow's Miss Coed Of 1950"

Highlighting the annual style show in Moscow Wednesday evening was the crowning of Jean Ottenheimer as "Moscow's Miss Coed of 1950." Jean is an even 5 feet tall, senior majoring in English, and has blond hair and hazel eyes.

Pep Band Show Enjoyed By Audience; Ends Tonight

A near-capacity audience was attracted to the first of two performances of the 1950 Pep Band Show in the University auditorium last night. The final performance will be presented at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Show was enthusiastically received last night, and some tickets are still available at the student union bookstore, and at Hodgins drug store for townspeople.

The show opened with a 25-minute formal concert, and ended with a jazz panorama. During the intermission, the audience was entertained by several humorous specialty acts.

For the concert the stage was lighted in a dim blue cast. Student director John C. Sheeley conducted the music which included six well-known works as Bach's "Strom in Thy Strength" and "Dance from The Golden Age" by Shostakovich.

A humorous song and dance act by John Powell, a former Idaho student, provided laughs for the evening. He also proved to everybody's satisfaction that drums can take a beating.

James Varley, acting as narrator, followed the band through the history of jazz. The panorama opened with "Blues in the Night" by Harold Arlen and Johnny Mercer and "South Rampart Street Parade" by Bauduc and Haggart. Music for both numbers was arranged by John Sheeley.

"Thirties" Introduced Following was a series of music of the style-makers of the "thirties" such as Glenn Miller, Benny Goodman, Duke Ellington, and Stan Kenton.

A jazz version of the classics was presented in Jimmy Lunceford's adaptation of Chopin's Prelude No. 7.

"Song of the Volga Boatman," which Glenn Miller made so popular, was next presented in an arrangement by Bill Finegan.

Don Hannah's idea of the future of jazz was given in the finale, "1950 Jazz Suite" in three parts.

Reading and interp classes in the drama department are providing background voices for the fantasy "The Thirteenth Level." Named as play personnel for this one-act are John Miller, Young Man; Georgie Hemovich, Pauline; Tom Wright, Frankie; and Orval Hansen, Satan. More characters portrayed are Dale Kassel as Beezelbub; Joan Martin, She; Bob Bunting, Gaunt; Bette West, Woman; and Paul Tobin and Otto Leuschel, voices. The "Thirteeners" are Phyllis Larson, Carol Shaffer, Billy Leatham, and Eleanor Wilson, Nadine Tisdall is assistant to Colleen Christensen, director.

FCC Examinations Federal Communications commission will give examinations for commercial and amateur radio operator applicants Tuesday, April 25 in Spokane. Interested applicants should be at the Spokane Trade school, Room 20, 714 West 4th street, at 9 a.m., on that date to compete.

Idaho, San Jose Tied With Eight Points

CIVIC AUDITORIUM, SACRAMENTO, CALIF.—March 23 (Special) Idaho successfully opened their defense of the Pacific Coast boxing title here tonight with four wins to put them in a tie with San Jose State. Each team had eight points at the end of the first night's competition.

No other team scored a point during the evening due to the withdrawal of four schools which gave byes in all but eight of the evening's fights.

Two TKO's featured the evening's fighting, one of which was scored by Leonard Walker, Idaho, as the referee stopped his bout with Frank Duffe, Chico State, 33 seconds into the third round.

The other TKO was scored in the 125 pound class by Mac Martinez, San Jose State, one minute and 36 seconds in the second round over Larry McLaughlin, WSC.

Outstanding bout of the evening was between Don Ellis, Idaho heavyweight, and Jack Scheberles, San Jose State. Ellis jabbed and punched his way to a unanimous win over the Californian. It was Scheberles' first loss of the year, and the crowd, usually partisan against the defending champions, gave "Pug" a rousing ovation. Ellis was outweighed over 40 pounds.

Other Idaho winners were Norm Walker, 135 pounds, who defeated Pete Babin, UCLA, and Thane Johnson, 155 pounds, who narrowly defeated Gene Fixdal, EWC. Johnson scored a clean knockdown with a good left hand in the second round which gave him the margin. Fixdal previously defeated Johnson this season.

Four teams withdrew from the meet today before the matches. They were Idaho State, California Polytechnic, University of San Francisco, and University of California.

The remaining teams make this year's event a North-South battle with Idaho, Eastern Washington, Gonzaga, and Washington State representing the North, and UCLA, Chico State, California Aggies, and San Jose State carrying the South's colors.

Idaho's toughest contender for the crown this year will be San Jose State. These two are the only schools who entered full teams. In their only meeting tonight however, Idaho won. That was the Ellis-Scheberles go.

A crowd of 4,000 trudged through the downpouring rain, (yes this is California) to see the quarter finals.

Each team gets two points for tonight's victories, three for tomorrow night's semi-final wins, and five points for a championship Saturday night.

Pairings for Idaho fighters tomorrow night are as follows: 125 pounds—Frankie Echevarria, vs. Bob Coyle, UCLA. 130 pounds—DeForrest Tovey vs. Al Tafosa, San Jose. (Tafosa defeated Phil Largent, WSC, tonight). 135 pounds—Norm Walker vs. Ed Martin, San Jose. 145 pounds—Len Walker vs. Floyd Wilson, UCLA. 155 pounds—Thane Johnson vs. Stan Marcell, San Jose. (Marcell defeated Milt Wilson, WSC tonight). 165 pounds—Herb Carlson vs. Jack Small, UCLA. 175 pounds—Ted Diehl vs. Carl Maxey, Gonzaga. Heavyweight—Don Ellis vs. Hubert Christiansen, WSC.

Idaho Coeds Can Win Prizes In Big Story Telling Contest

The coed who wins in the Argonaut Liar's Contest is assured of prizes worthy of her very best efforts in irrational story-telling. The Gem Shop stands ready to award her a genuine Elgin American compact. The Parisian offers four dollars in merchandise, and Jackle Jewelry will give her a pair of earrings.

These are, in addition to a date with Carl Killsgaard and the other prizes announced last week, making an impressive total.

Besides helping Carl, Miss Helander, and the other contest winner with a steak dinner at Johnny's cafe, she also wins a pair of white nylon gloves from Ben Franklin's and a pair of Theme hose from Creightons. "A Desert Flower" dusting powder and cologne set from Wallgreens drug store is hers. And still more prizes are in prospect!

Whopper Will Win The Arg Society Editor has a suggestion for those who may be having trouble deciding what to lie about. Tell some stories about the excuses you'd have if you came in three hours late. You might even ask your housemother for some help. She should be good at it.

All entries must be in on or before March 31. They may be mailed to the Argonaut, or brought to the officers in the Student Union building on Monday or Thursday afternoons.

Judging of the lies will be based on (1) whoppiness, (2) cleverness, (3) originality, and (4) appeal to human interest or sense of humor.

A similar array of prizes will be awarded to the man who proves that he is the biggest and best male liar on the campus.

Halvorsen Starts Institute Building

Halvorsen Construction company, Spokane, started their first surveying and digging operations yesterday for the Idaho Institute of Christian Education. According to Dr. Oscar M. Adam, Institute director, the $50,000 building should be completed sometime this spring or early summer.

City Judges Select Jean Ottenheimer Miss Coed of 1950

Jean Ottenheimer, blonde Idaho coed, was named "Miss Coed of 1950" highlighting Moscow's second annual style show, "Ticks Tocks of Fashion" Wednesday evening in the Moscow high school auditorium. Miss Ottenheimer, a member of Alpha Phi sorority, was selected as Moscow's first campus beauty queen from eleven contestants chosen from each women's living group.

"Ticks Tocks of Fashion" was sponsored by the Moscow junior chamber of commerce assisted by the Jay-C-Elites. The university chamber of commerce directed the coed contest under the leadership of group president, Lawrence Peretti.

Coed Writes Script Script text in the form of a dialogue narration describing the various styles, was written and prepared by Aris Peterson for use in the fashion show.

Five other university students participated in the showing of spring styles by modeling the latest in fashion apparel. Elizabeth Fitzgerald and Henrik Juve represented Creightons, Allen Derr, Penny's, and Rosemary Fitzgerald and Colleen Christianson, Davids.

Women Complete Divided into five principal parts, the show displayed outstanding spring fashions from local stores, merchants featuring new Easter outfits as well as gowns for the bride. Men, women and children took part in "Ticks Tocks of Fashion."

General chairman of the second annual event was Paul Schamuel.

Women contestants competing for the Miss Coed trophy with Miss Ottenheimer were Carolyn Craddock, Coralie Hart, Sheila Darwin, Renie Sims, Alice Johnson, Mary Jo Nelson, Colleen Christiansen, Joan Litchfield, Maybelle Gardner, and Margaret Stewart. Each of the contestants received a gift certificate from the Chamber of Commerce with the gold trophy awarded to Miss Coed for display in her living group.

Aggies Will Draw For Show Animals

Ag students planning to enter the fitting and showing classes for the Little International show April 24-26 will draw for their animals Saturday. Drawings for sheep classes are set in the sheep barns, both at 2:30 p.m.

Beef cattle choosing is slated for 3 p.m. at the beef barns and light horse picking will be at 3:30 p.m. in the horse barn.

Students participating with the animal showings should be at the appointed places on time. Those present will be given first choice in drawing for the animals.

Dr. French Warns Phi Beta Kappas About Communism

"Democratic nations must remove from within themselves any practices and conditions upon which communism thrives," Dr. Burton L. French warned Idaho's Phi Beta Kappa chapter and guests at the annual initiation banquet Wednesday evening.

Dr. French, principal speaker at the banquet, is a former United States congressman from Idaho, having served from 1903 to 1933 except for two terms. A graduate of the University of Idaho in 1901, Dr. French is now professor of government, emeritus, at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio.

Honored Guests Listed Rafe Gibbs, toastmaster and president of the Idaho chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, introduced Dr. French. Also introduced was Mrs. John R. Chrisman, widow of General Chrisman, former head of the Idaho department of military science. Other guests included President and Mrs. Jesse E. Buchanan. President Buchanan is an honorary member of the Idaho chapter.

Prior to the banquet eighteen Idaho undergraduates were initiated into Phi Beta Kappa. The initiation and banquet were held at the Moscow hotel.

Has Club Theme An informal night club theme will be carried out in sessions one and two. Introduction of the orientation chairman, student body president, and executive board members will constitute the first program. Humorous student history of the university, and the Vandal fight song will also be taught the group along with rudiments of registration.

Student organization leaders will give a brief account of opportunities and activities offered in their groups in the second session. Medical policies and procedures on the campus will be outlined by the university doctor.

The Ball room of the new Student Union building will be the meeting place for both sessions one and two.

Advise Given Manners, morals, habits, and customs will highlight the last session. Dean of Men and the Dean of Women will give their respective charges advice and help on these subjects.

Isotope Research Projects Will Start In New Laboratory

Radio isotopes will assume an important role in Idaho research projects beginning next fall as construction of the new university isotope laboratory building is completed.

Utilizing space now temporarily occupied by the metallurgy department, the isotope lab facilities will be installed during summer months after completion of the metallurgy building.

Faculty members appointed as advisors for setting up and operating the laboratory are Dr. W. H. Cone, head of physical sciences; Dr. D. B. Camp, associate professor of physical sciences; Dr. W. K. Farrell, assistant forest soils specialist; Professor Joseph Newton, metallurgy; Dr. C. O. Reiser, chemical engineering; and Dr. J. V. Jordan, assistant agricultural chemist. Dr. Cone will act as chairman for the committee.

Parking Controls Made For Building Parking restrictions controlling space at the rear of the Administration building have been altered due to construction now underway on the new Ad building addition.

Only those staff members with offices in T. C., Architecture, Administration, and Engineering buildings and Women's gym and those living a mile or more from their offices will be permitted parking space. The only students allowed to park under new restrictions are polio cripples or amputees.

Eliminated by this ruling were approximately 35 students who live outside the city limits and 85 staff members living fairly close to the campus. Former permits of these drivers will be honored on other restriction areas on the campus.

"The Show Will Soon Go On"

Shown before their first performance last night the Pep Band is getting everything in readiness. Many people turned out for the first showing and a sell-out crowd is expected tonight for the final performance.

A Vet Looks At The Bonus

A bonus for Idaho vets? That question must shortly be answered by citizens of Idaho. Petitions now being circulated throughout the state propose to place the bonus question on the ballot for the general election this fall. The bonus issue raises several important questions.

How much of the bonus is political? Veterans constitute a sizeable bloc of voters and they are most certainly united in favor of a bonus. A candidate bidding for veteran votes at the polls must promise to support the bonus issue. It would appear then that political expediency will dominate the decision.

Can Idaho afford a bonus? Idaho is far from the richest state in the union. We need to build highways and schools. We need more and better qualified teachers. Can the interests of the state be best served by meeting these needs or by distributing millions as a bonus?

Is the bonus fair? There is no question but that many of those who served overseas for years at tremendous personal sacrifice are indeed worthy of any compensation we can give them. Certainly we can never repay those who gave up arms, legs, and eyes in battle.

But at the other end of the scale are countless others who made little or no sacrifice. Although this writer served overseas, his most direct contribution to the winning of the war was through the purchase of war bonds. In return he received a four year college education with Uncle Sam paying the bill. There is no question but that many others have been more than compensated for their trouble.

Another question we must answer sooner or later: When will the end of these benefits come? If we have a bonus next year, why not another in five years, and yet another in ten years? How long can we play Santa Claus while going bankrupt to do it? When will we close the public till?
 —O. H.

The Men Who Came To Dinner

Even though the West Point debaters they invited for dinner failed to show up the Kappas had Military guests last week.

The hushers donned a conglomeration of uniforms, ROTC and otherwise, and marched in to "take over the place."

Because the visitors felt the crowd was located there the leader of the crew decided to hold the debates at the dinner table.

The following questions were decided:

"From now on all sorority houses on the campus will be set up as boarding houses."

"The house Kappa Kappa Gamma will henceforth be known as 'Sprague hall.'"

The negative had no arguments at all so the affirmative won. (They couldn't get a word in edgewise.)

Toasts were drunk from a boot.

Oratorical Contest Slated Tomorrow

The American Legion high school oratorical contest for Idaho will be held in Moscow tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the Legion cabin. Participating in the contest will be six high school students representing Pocatello, Twin Falls, Jerome, Nampa, Lewiston, and Bonners Ferry.

Subject of the oration will be "Our Constitution—Ordained by Free Men, Sustained By Free Men." Winner of the State contest will go to Pocatello for the Northwest regional contest, April 11.

Contestants for this event will be guests of campus living groups during their stay in Moscow.

Cross Completes Flight Training

Midshipman Ralph Cross, USN, has recently completed the advanced air training phase as a carrier pilot at the Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas. Cross attended Idaho for the first two years of his Navy educational program.

On completion of his training, the former Idaho student will receive orders for a tour of duty attached to a fleet squadron as pilot of a F6F "Hellcat," Navy fighter plane.

Little International Committee

April 24 through 29 has been set for this year's annual Little International show at the university. The show is staged by the Ag club of the College of Agriculture. Committee chairmen preparing for the show are, left to right, Harry Isaman, program chairman; Ralph Hart, queen contest; Doug Weimann, features; LaMont Smith, assistant manager; David Thacker, manager; Don Brighton, parade; Floyd Gephart, properties; Don Wagoner, prizes; Gary Sessions, publicity chairman; Jack Lacy, assistant publicity chairman.

Graduates In Engineering Are In All Parts Of World

Idaho engineering graduates have made their mark in every phase of engineering activity and in every part of the world. Following is only a partial list of alumni who have achieved distinction in the engineering field since graduation.

Among early grads in civil engineering was James B. Hays, who left Idaho in 1911 to become active in irrigation and dam work. In 1918 Hays won the Collingwood prize, awarded to junior engineers for outstanding achievement. The coveted Thomas Fitch Rowland award came his way in 1947. Both honors are sponsored by the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Hays has been active in developing projects as TVA, the Gilbertville dam, Kentucky, and the Chickamauga dam in Georgia. After the war Hays went to Palestine to help write the Palestine Report on use of water, and later assisted development of power projects in Egypt. Upon his recent retirement from government service, Hays became project manager of the Morrison-Knudson Afghanistan company.

A charter member of the Idaho chapter of Delta Tau Delta, Donald E. Payne, 1922 graduate in chemical engineering, is now chief patent attorney for Standard Oil of Indiana. Following his graduation, Payne remained at Idaho to operate the testing laboratory for several years before accepting a position with the national patent office in Washington, D. C. While in Washington, Payne studied to earn a law degree and later began his career with Standard Oil of Indiana as a patent attorney.

One of the 1923 graduates in mechanical engineering was Henry B. Hodgins, better known as "Bud," from Moscow. Hodgins took a job with Westinghouse upon graduation, working in the east until construction of Grand Coulee dam began in Washington. At that time Hodgins was sent from Pittsburgh to manage the Spokane branch, and has since been promoted to head the Salt Lake branch of Westinghouse. His son and daughter are now Idaho students.

Walker R. Young graduated as a mining engineer in 1908 and joined the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation when this agency was in its infancy. He rose to become chief engineer for the bureau, and since his recent retirement is acting in an advisory capacity. Young supervised construction of Boulder dam and other major dam projects. In 1935 he returned to his alma mater to receive an honorary doctor of engineering degree.

Upon graduation in agricultural engineering, Mark Kulp also went into irrigation and reclamation work. He did work in Spain before the First World War. Returning to Idaho early in the thirties to join the ag engineering staff, he worked for a master's degree, earned in 1933. At present Kulp is reclamation engineer for the State of Idaho. In this capacity he has frequently represented the governor on interstate commissions concerning problems of irrigation and reclamation.

New Bookstore Plans Fast Service

By Orval Hansen

Flexibility and efficiency will characterize the new student union bookstore. The proposed new store, according to manager Chet Kerr, will be located on the first floor approximately in the present location of the cafeteria.

Total floor space of 2200 square feet will exactly double that of the old bookstore. This increased space will provide ample facilities to take care of bookstore needs for the entire year. It will not be necessary to use adjacent areas during rush, such as has been the practice in the past.

Install New Counters

Slated to be completely refurbished the store will be equipped with new fixtures from one end to the other. Counters and showcases will be of the same height and general pattern to permit their being shifted about easily. It is expected that they will be changed during the peak days of registration, the interest of greatest efficiency.

During the heavy days of book buying in the fall and between semesters the store will be able to handle more students per day than ever before. It is likely that lines to the bookstore may disappear altogether.

Open To Browsing

Office space for the manager is to be located in the southeast corner, near the east entrance. Book stacks installed along the south wall, will be open for students to browse through except during the rush season. In the center will be two sales islands. A counter and merchandise shelves will be located along the north side.

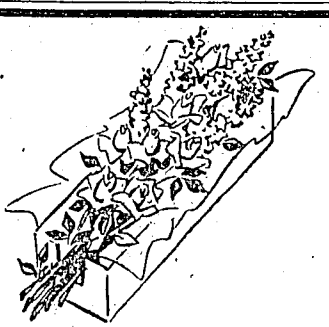

Storage facilities will be markedly improved in the new store. Unlike past years when books have been stored in five or six locations throughout the student union building and in nearby buildings, new storage facilities are to be concentrated and close at hand. Space at the west end of the bookstore, the present area occupied by the cafeteria kitchen, will be used. Books will also be stored in the area directly above.

Manager Chet Kerr has promised students that their new bookstore will be completely finished and ready to serve them by registration time this fall.

Professors Attend Research Meeting

Doctor Walter Harvey and Professor D. L. Fourt of the dairy husbandry department, and Professor W. R. Friberg of agricultural engineering left yesterday afternoon for Pendleton, Oregon.

They will attend a regional research and marketing products meeting. Representatives from Washington, Oregon, Colorado, and Utah will be at this meeting to discuss research projects, on dairy cattle housing and causes and prevention of breeding failure in dairy cows.

Seniors Take Test On English Ability

All Idaho seniors are, taking special tests this week to measure their knowledge of English expression.

This program, under the general direction of Charles H. Bond, student councilor, is to determine how Idaho seniors compare in knowledge of English, with other seniors across the nation.

Scores may be obtained by those taking the test the latter part of next week from the Deans of their particular college. Results will in no way effect grades in any course or graduation from the university.

Ag Engineers Hear Spokane Speaker

C. J. Hurd of the Spokane Hurd Electrical company was guest speaker at a monthly meeting of the American society of agricultural engineers Tuesday night. Student chapters from WSC and Idaho attended.

Centering his talk on what he expects of a man employed as an agricultural engineer, Hurd specifically emphasized the importance of salesmanship and a thorough knowledge of electrical farm equipment.

Chappell Meets With Navy Board

Capt. C. A. Chappell, U. S. NROTC dept. returned to the campus Tuesday evening after meeting with the Montana state Navy selection board in Missoula last week.

Several men were selected to attend the University of Idaho next year under the Navy college training program.

The Idaho state selection board will meet next Friday in Moscow for the purpose of interviewing candidates for next year's training program.

Sigma Chi Ball-Beau Party Complete Social Weekend

A buffet dinner was featured at the annual Sigma Chi upperclassmen's dance, which was held Saturday. On Sunday, Kappa Alpha Theta gave a "Beau Banquet." Initiates of Delta Gamma were honored at a banquet Sunday evening following the initiation ceremonies that morning. Kappa Kappa Gamma entertained at an all-girl fireside Wednesday evening.

Kappa Kappa Gamma
"School Daze" was the theme for the annual all-girl fireside held Wednesday evening. Guests included girls from all living groups on campus. Pam Gaut and Marilyn Pearson headed the entertainment committee. Becky Barline and Carol Peterson were in charge of refreshments. Joan Wittman entertained at the piano and Marilyn Pearson played several numbers on the ukelele. Following a selection presented by Pam Gaut, Jeanne Hammer, Nancy Magel, and Barbara Wahl, a school girl lunch was served to the guests. A reception in honor of West Point and Varsity debaters was held last week. Entertainment was furnished by Marilyn Pond, Jeanne Foster, Jo Peters, and Joanne Hopkins.

Sunday dinner guests were Phil Schnell, Boyd Barker, Hank Gandaga, and Ray Poitevin. Janet Gillispie, Northwestern, and Bev Kent, Spokane, were weekend guests.

Sigma Chi
The upperclassmen's dinner dance was held last Saturday in the chapter house. A buffet dinner was served at 7:30. Guests were seated at small tables placed throughout the dining room and living room. Jack Krehbiel was general chairman of the dance. Mrs. H. G. Magnuson and Dr. and Mrs. Ernest E. Hubert were patrons for the affair.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan French, Joanne French, Ron Baker, Donna Jean Frey, and Mr. V. G. Gerard were Sunday dinner guests. Guests for Wednesday dinner at the chapter house were Betty Biker and Mary Tobin.

Delta Gamma
Formal initiation ceremonies were held at the chapter house at 10 Sunday morning. Nancy Weitz, Corinne Lauriente, Patricia McGill, Bonese Collins, Bonnie Matthews, Betsy Jo Garber, Joan Wurdal, Marlene Hopkins, Patsy Pieser, Erlene Clyde, Marion Cook, Bernice Bauer, and Elizabeth Anne Wilcox are new members. At 6:30 in the evening, the annual initiation banquet was held at the Moscow hotel. In charge of arrangements were Phyllis Stricker, Jane Matthews, and Coralee Hart.

Bernice Bauer and Elizabeth Wilcox were awarded the diamond scholarship pin for making the highest grade points of the pledge class. Both had 4.0 averages. The Delta Gamma pledges were guests at a fireside held at the Gamma Phi Beta chapter house Tuesday evening.

A dance honoring initiates will be given next Saturday.

Trapp Family Sings To Large Audience Wednesday Night

A program of sacred, classical and folk songs was presented by the Trapp Family Singers in Bohler gymnasium at Pullman, Wednesday evening. The concert, next to the last of this season's community concerts, was presented to a good sized audience as a part of the family's tenth anniversary tour. Dr. Franz Wasner conducts the group.

Included in the first part of the Trapps' concert were the selections: "Regina caeli, laetare," by Aichinger; "Ave Maria," Mozart; "Vere pastor bonus," Lott; and "Sur-rexit pastor bonus," Lassus.

Yodeling From Alps
Three numbers comprised the second part of the program: "Now is the Month of Maying," Morley; "The Silverswan," Gibbons; and Mozart's "Freunde, lasset uns beim Zechen."

In their third group of selections were: "Le Rossignol 'en Amour," Couperin; Suite from Music of "The Fairy Queen," Purcell; "Silliana and Allegro," Handel; and "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," Bach.

The Trapps' final selections consisted of a group of folksongs and yodels from the Austrian Alps, arranged by the conductor Dr. Franz Wasner: "The Oak and the Ash," "The Farmer's Boy," "Youpe, sur la Riviere" and "Evening Prayer," from "Hansel and Gretel" arranged by Humperdinck-Wasner. The evening's program was complemented by three encores.

Change Of Schedule
It was announced on the program that the date of the next concert has been changed to May 6. This is to enable the artist, Elena Nikolaidi, to keep an engagement in Italy eight days later.

The Community Concert spring membership campaign will be held in Moscow and Pullman during the week of April 17.

Farm, Community Tree Planting High

A new all-time high in farm and community tree planting is in prospect for Idaho this year, predicts Vernon F. Ravenscroft, Idaho's extension forester.

State fish and game department is the biggest buyer of farm trees this year. Shrubs and trees are being planted on hundreds of sites acquired for wildlife habitat improvement. Most of the plantings are for game birds. Trees from the University nursery will also go into the erosion control and watershed protection plantings on the hills south of Pocatello.

Spring will mark the 39th anniversary of Idaho's farm tree program. "All told, approximately 5,000,000 trees have gone out to farms in the state," Ravenscroft said. The extension forester also states that "what we have seen in the past is only the beginning of farm and community tree planting in Idaho."

Crowning of the French club's "Eiffel Queen" will highlight the monthly meeting of the group in Hays hall Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m.

Students interested in French are invited to attend. An informal program with a social hour following is planned.

Swinebreeders Hold Program March 30

"Hell Week" will be the theme of North Idaho commercial and purebred swine breeders will meet at 10:30 a. m. next Thursday at the Latah County Grain Growers, Inc., building on West Sixth street. Discussions will concern various aspects of swine breeding problems.

A program has been arranged by Charles Tipler, president of the group; T. G. Taylor, Idaho Swine Producers association member; and Elbert McProud, secretary of the North Idaho group.

L. H. Scriver, Idaho experiment station veterinarian, will speak on better control of swine brucellosis and erysipelas. The Idaho Swine Producers association will be discussed by C. F. McNeely, Buhl, president. Future sales for the north Idaho group is also on the discussion agenda.

Alpha Zeta Taps Sixteen Students

Alpha Zeta, national, agricultural professional honorary, tapped 16 new members this week. Seniors tapped were, Kenneth Fredericksen, Bill Sweet, Duward Womack, Norman Haroldsen, Kenneth Marshall, Bill Williams, John Turnbull and Delno Moore.

Juniors tapped were; Owen Agenbrood, Byron Christian, and Gerald Weaver, Jim Baggett, William Meyer, Dale Everson, Doug Cook and Andrew O'Leary are sophomore men tapped.

Informal initiation for these new pledges will be held March 31, in the Dairy Science building.

Washburn, Black To Attend Conclave

The ASUI executive board recently voted to appropriate funds for transportation of two Idaho delegates to the national International Relations Club convention in Michigan, March 30, 31, and April 1.

Marvin Washburn and Sherman Black have been selected by IRC to represent Idaho at the convention. These men will attempt to secure the University of Idaho as the site for the 1951 conclave.

Soprano Beauty Presents Concert Saturday Night

Gladys Swarthout, glamorous mezzo soprano of Metropolitan Opera fame, will be presented in concert by the Pullman YMCA in Bohler gym Saturday night at 8 p.m.

Tickets for the concert are on sale in the bookstore and at graduate manager's office. Also on sale at the door, ticket prices are $1 for students and $1.50 for non-students.

Opera Star Sings
Nationally hailed as possessing one of the most beautiful mezzo voices of this generation, Miss Swarthout is making her second appearance on the northwest concert stage in her program this weekend before Moscow-Pullman audiences.

Miss Swarthout has appeared on the Metropolitan opera stage in lead roles of many of the foremost operas of this day. Music critics hail her most famous role as that of the title lead in "Carmen."

Power Committee Holds Meeting

Representatives of three northwest power companies attended the Idaho farm electrification committee meeting Wednesday, held to promote better relations among Idaho farmers, the three major power companies, and the University.

Earl A. Olson, Idaho power company sales manager; W. A. Hucks, Utah power and light sales manager; and A. G. Mayer, Washington water power farm development manager, were company delegates.

University ag school directors who also comprise the committee membership include J. W. Martin, agricultural engineering; W. H. Knight, farm electrification projects; Dr. J. E. Krause, associate director of ag experiment station; Dean D. R. Theophilus, school of agriculture; Dean A. S. Janssen, school of engineering; and L. C. Cady, research council executive secretary. Farm representatives also meet with this committee.

An item on Wednesday's agenda was the planning of the committee's silver anniversary.

Swordsmen Invite Thirteen Colleges To Compete Here

A sport which was widely recognized in pre-war minor athletics is undergoing a revival at University of Idaho.

Thirteen institutions possessing fencing teams have been invited to compete in the Northwest Intercollegiate Individual open foil fencing meet tomorrow at 1 p. m. in Memorial gymnasium.

Student Coach Bob Munson says the meet is one of several which have been scheduled to arouse interest in the sport.

During last year the swordsmen began grouping together for individual matches and this year several colleges in the northwest have begun recognizing fencing as a minor sport again.

Six Idaho men, including Munson, are preparing for tomorrow's meet. Included on the squad are Danny Bryan, Ontario, Oregon; Jimmy Oates, Gooding; Walt Ward, Lapwai; Lloyd Waters, Mountain Home; and Val Yurchenco, Bridgeport, Connecticut.

In their showing at a meet last week at WSC Idaho lost a match to Gonzaga 5-1. In the final match of the meet Idaho met the champion Cougars and lost a close decision 5-4.

Gymnasts To Have First Competition

Cougar and Vandal gymnasts will compete in a dual meet at 8 tonight in J. Fred Bohler gymnasium, Pullman. The meeting will mark first competition in this sport between the two schools.

This will be first intercollegiate competition for the Vandal squad which is coached by Dick Smith.

The Cougars are undefeated this year having won over University of British Columbia and Montana State college in dual meets.

Events which will be displayed during the meet are the long horse, side horse, parallel bars, tumbling and trampoline.

No admission is to be charged.

Time Out

By COSTELLO

After a short talk with track Coach Stan Hiserman, we find that Idaho track is in for a rejuvenating shot in the arm.

From now on track meets and practices are to be held on a new track at Neale stadium instead of at McLean field.

Though we, as spectators haven't thought much about it, a chat with Mr. Hiserman shows us just how poor conditions have been up to this time.

Reckless

First of all, wandering fans can now be driven to the stands where they belong. The mere danger of being mowed down by a flying discus or pinnned by a javelin has never been enough to keep people off the turf.

Also it should be easier to see everything from the stadium instead of from that little hill at McLean field.

As far as the tracks themselves are concerned, McLean track was the correct length, but that was about all that was regulation. It was too round to allow good times. Neale offers much more straight-way.

More Room

The old track had 8 lanes on the straight and four on the turn. The new has ten on the straight and eight on curve.

A few more advantages—Neale has a wooden curb the entire length; it will absorb water rather than form puddles; its springier and is thus much easier on trackmen's leg muscles. There will be no conflict with baseball practice.

One novel thing will be the way jumping pits are to be built. With exception of a broad jump pit, these landings will be above ground, removable, sawdust pits.

Weather permitting, this new course is to get its first sight of competition at the inter squad meet tomorrow. If the track isn't dry, however, the meet will be called.

April 15 University of Oregon visits Moscow. The track must be ready for use at that time. Two years ago the Oregon meet was called off because of small lakes on McLean field.

Let us pray . . .

"Is there a factory on that road?"

"No. That's lover's lane."

"Then why did she say she'd been through the mill?"

Style That Wins

Sports Reporter Describes Scene In Boxing Gymnasium

By KARL KLAGES

It was hot inside the Idaho boxing annex and the sunlight that flared off a white canvas sparring ring only intensified the heat. Sweat poured down the neck of a boxer as he ripped his gloves into a heavy punching bag.

On the far end of the training room Len Walker, 135-pound PCC and national champion, stood before one of the striking bag platforms that lined a wall of the annex. He blasted a kangaroo skinned striking bag and it swung crazily on its swivel, rattling out a steady, monotonous beat against the platform boards. With the Pacific Coast intercollegiate tournament but three days away, the mittmen were adding a finishing touch to their conditioning program.

Gym Kept Warm

Inside the locker room a sizzling radiator threw off heat like a blast furnace.

"You can work up a sweat in here doing nothing."

"Ya—and this ain't half as hot as Echevarria," someone said.

The Vandal's middleweight, Ted Diehl spoke up. "Franky has women chasing him right and left."

Echevarria, a short, stocky 125-pounder, smiled. "Hell, I got stood up again last night. That's the eighth one. I just got too many women."

Enter Ellis

Echevarria jerked his gear from a steel locker and pitched it on the bench. Don Ellis, a husky heavyweight, walked in from the training room and proceeded to sit down with a groan.

"Thane prett' near ruined me last night. I'm sore all over."

"You're just getting old Pug," chirped Franky, "getting kind'a delicate. You ain't had any resistance since Pein belted you around in Wallace."

Frank hoisted one shoe on the bench and laced it with snappy movements. "Boy, I'm hungry. All I had for dinner was a couple of pieces of bread and a glass of milk. I paid 46c for that. Then that crazy cook came in, sat down, and had nice fresh corn bread, fried bacon and eggs."

Might Be The Reason

"Well this time when you tell her off, don't make her cry," Diehl said as he shuffled through the door.

Ellis looked up. "Pein got beat down at Idaho State last week."

"You see," snapped Franky, "what do you got to worry about."

He switched his weight and went to work on the other shoe.

"How do you fellows feel just before you fight?" I said.

Herb Carlson, three-time PCC and two-time NCAA champion in the 165-pound bracket, chimed in.

"I'll tell you. You don't eat, can't sleep, nervous as hell and you can't wait until it gets started. But then, that's the joy of fighting first—right Franky?"

Jitters

"Ya, but it's sure hard to break the ice. You're butterflies all over. Once you start coming toward the ring though—and see it, then everything's all right. I was scared to death when I fought Steve Gremban (Wisconsin). Just the idea of him being a national champion. He's about the best boxer I've run into, but he's not too heavy a puncher."

Franky stood up. "I fought McLaughlin (WSC) twice and the second bout was a narrower decision than the first. He hits hard. And I was forced to use only my left hand the whole second fight."

Echevarria shook a wrapped-up right fist. "I hurt it when I ran a sled into a tree. Ya, that Gremban is the better fighter."

Never Cooled

"I've never been knocked out," Franky continued as he pulled on a tight-fitting pair of striking gloves,

Idaho Baseballers Look For Second Chance At Action

Assistant Coach Joe Grove's diamond men will try tomorrow to work in a couple of pre-season games with the Loggers from Lewiston before the weatherman steps in and takes over.

Grove's squad had a double header scheduled for March 18 in the "Banana Belt" city, but a rain-soaked NICE field late Friday afternoon caused postponement.

Benefit From Delay

The delay has given the Vandals several days needed practice. Unpredictable weather conditions have prevented extensive outside workouts especially needed for the moundmen.

Grove has arranged for 25 men to make the valley trip. Sophomore pitcher Lloyd Schiller received the nod for the mound with catcher Bob Link on the receiving end. Tentative batting order will be Tobe Masingill, second base; Glenn Darnell, center field; Rod Griddger, third base; Harold Hunter, left field; Don Harrison, right field; Bob Link, catcher; Herb Millard, shortstop; Charles Choules, firstbase; and Schiller on the mound.

Additional Support

Other Vandal hurlers making the trip are: Don Hunt, Ozzie Kanikkeberg, Cless Hinkley, and Bob Pritchett. Additional members making the trip are James Atchinson, Bill Brammer, Van Briggs, Melvin Brown, Jim Hatch, Richard Merrill, Everett Rice, Ed Riley, Joe Zavensky, and manager Frank Reich.

Game time will be 1 p. m. at the NICE field.

Frank James Back From South Idaho

Mr. Frank James, professional at the University course, returned yesterday afternoon from Pocatello.

A noted designer of golf courses, James has been in the Southern Idaho city laying out a course.

He will devote his time to direction of improvements being instituted at the university course. Once again weather conditions are promising useability of the course in a short time.

"but plenty of times I've come close. In the Olympic tryouts at Salt Lake City, I got the works right good. A guy knocked me clean out of my head and I didn't know what was happening. It's a funny feeling—just like a dream. You just kinda feel good—you're relaxed—he keeps hitting you and you don't feel a thing. In a way, you feel just like you do when you get out of bed."

"I don't know about this Martinez," (San Jose State), Echevarria went on. "He's only lost one fight in two years. That was in the finals of the nationals last year, and Norm says that one could have gone either way. So—if I meet him, I just don't know what to expect."

The little fellow moved out through the door and made a baseline for a gym mat. The other boxers were working with the bags and pull weights. Echevarria lay down, placed a medicine ball on his legs, and began a series of sit ups.

"You know," he grinned, "this is the worst part about the whole damn works."

Numerals Awarded Freshman Hoopsters After Great Season

By Bud Hagan

Twelve members of the University of Idaho's outstanding freshman basketball squad of this year were recently approved for letter sweaters by the ASUI Executive Board.

Freshman coach Steve Belko announced the men as follows: Wayne D. Anderson, Spokane; James M. Bergen, Edmonds, Washington; Gordon D. Kresher, Elk River; Hartly H. Kruger, Spokane; Roger A. Lillibridge, Coeur d'Alene; and William W. Mather, Spokane.

Bruce McIntosh, Lewiston; Horace D. Neeley, Aberdeen; Jerry L. Ogle, Spokane; James W. Price, Driggs; Phillip A. Roche, Arlington Heights, Ill.; and Homer E. Woolf, Idaho Falls.

Many Wins Recorded

Ending a near perfect season with a 39-31 victory over North Central High of Spokane, these players put away equipment for the last time this year with a long string of victories behind them. Coach Steve Belko classifies the team as one of the best frosh squads in history of the university. Wherever one goes, he hears nothing but praise for the boys who represented the class of 1953 on the basketball court. Fine record of this team includes fourteen wins against four losses. Perhaps their biggest achievement of the season was their four victories over one loss against WSC's Couababes, traditional rivals.

Coach Comments

Coach Belko says he is well satisfied with the team's performance this year and states he expects Jerry Ogle, Bruce McIntosh, Hartly Kruger, Bill Mather and Roger Lillibridge to give Idaho opposition much trouble in the future.

Big six foot seven inch center Hartly Kruger paced the team in scoring, making 271 points in seventeen games for an average of 16 points per game. He is followed by team mate Bill Mather who hit the loop for 183 total points or an average of 10½ per game. Bruce McIntosh scored 131 total points during the season followed by Roger Lillibridge with 94.

Team members say they feel more than satisfied with coaching they received, and agree that Steve Belko is to be commended for his excellent work.

Attic Club Shows Ist Of Art Series

Water coloring, crayoning, and chalk drawings of Miss Lydia Sloan, Lewiston high school art instructor, are on display in the Art building. This is the first in a series planned by the Attic club to show work of high school art instructors of Idaho.

Of special interest among Miss Sloan's work are the paintings done last summer in Carmel, California. Works such as "Abstraction Based on a Blue Tree Shadow" show design and color. Another aspect of the artist's work is the pleasant blending of realism through abstraction. These works will be displayed through March 26 from 9 till 5 each day.

On Sunday from 3 to 5 the Moscow Fine Arts club will be guests of the Attic club at a formal reception in honor of Miss Sloan. The reception will be held in the Art building lobby.

Netsters Benefit From Dry Courts Throughout Week

Coach Eric Kirkland's tennis squad has finished its first week's outside workouts, and Kirkland is well pleased with fast improvement the team is showing.

The squad has been bolstered considerably this year with the addition of four junior college transfer lettermen. These men—Jim Crane, EWCE; Jack Scull and Ewel Grossberg, both from UCLA; and Montford Brooks from BJC have been settling the pace on the court and are offering stiff competition for returning Vandal lettermen.

Net conference schedule has been completed, but pre-season games are still doubtful. A tentative meet has been announced with the Gonzaga Bulldogs but the official date has not been set.
