Saturday Parade to Highlight Little International Activities

Judging Ends Competition With Awarding Of Prizes

Tomorrow with traditional pomp and pageantry the Ag club of the university will bring its 24th annual Little International agriculture show to a gala climax. Tomorrow marks final competition in all events with grand prizes to be awarded at the show's close in the evening.

To get the show under way, the Little International parade will begin at 1:45 and travel through town and the campus. Always a colorful event, this year's parade promises to have even more spectator appeal than those of preceding years. Along with prize cattle and horses shown in the parade, this year will see a number of comical and educational floats. Marching units, bands, and queen Carol Korvola, accompanied by her court princesses, Ruth Wood and Erlene Clyde, will add additional color to the pageant.

Rules Are Clear

Lee Bath, election board chairman, reports the heaviest voting took place in the morning. He said that throughout the day, however, election board members had considerable trouble with persons attempting to cast someone else's vote. In one five minute period he reported, "seven out of eleven persons coming through the line were attempting to vote fraudulently." The rules say that a person must cast his own vote and may not delegate that privilege by letting another use his ASUI book.

One interesting statistical side-light shows that the loser of this year's presidential race received more votes than last year's winner.

The new student governing body will take over in the new offices in the Student Union building addition which will be the permanent home of student government for many years. The departing officers had just moved into the new quarters two months ago.

On another subject a student presented an interesting viewpoint in a letter to Jason today:

Dear Jason:

How about loyalty oaths for University of Idaho professors? Why shouldn't we, too, strike a blow for freedom and force our teachers to "sign or resign?"

Let's do it, too, before it is too late and the communists have taken over the country. A glance at the papers will tell us that they are ready to move in almost any day. Indeed, we are in grave danger.

The board of regents of the University of California has courageously taken the lead and forced its faculty to sign loyalty oaths. Unless we surrender to this hysteria and start our own red hunt we just won't be up with the times.

As college students we are much too immature to be exposed to communist doctrines. We must look to our instructors to protect our tender minds from undemocratic ideas.

It is unthinkable that a communist would profess to be a loyal American. Therefore, to administer a loyalty oath would permit us to drive the communists out of their holes and thus sweep the campus clean in a single stroke. To make the program work, however, we must encourage our students to turn in teachers and our teachers to turn in each other if we suspect they have communist leanings.

Maybe we can have investigations, too, and make the headlines across the nation as did the University of Washington. Even if we can't prove communist sympathies, we will succeed in making the professors in question social outcasts. We will have dragged their names through the mud and made their friends afraid to associate with them. They will be blackballed in schools throughout the country and will carry with them the stigma of their sin. That will teach them!

Then we will have struck a blow for freedom by crushing those we

Students Set New Records; Independents Place Five

Election workers, pressed all morning by record crowds of voters, completed determination of victors at 9 p.m. Wednesday. Vern Bahr, independent candidate for president, won the office with a 347 vote margin over Paul Araquistain, United party candidate.

Executive board members for the 1950-51 school year are Ralph Fothergill, DeForest Tovey, Rose Ellen Schmid, Richard Reed, Hyde Jacobs, Andy Christensen, Sonnich Sonnichson, Harry Turner, and Donald Wills.

KUOI Issue Passed

Only six ballots were disqualified for improper voting procedure. One write-in vote was cast for president and one for executive board. Nine students made no choice as to president.

The amendment to the constitution which provides that KUOI be placed under the auspices of ASUI was passed by an overwhelming vote, 1681 students in favor and 39 dissenting. On this issue 451 preferred not to express themselves.

Vern Bahr, next year's ASUI vrex, has been active during his three years in the campus. Vern was chairman of NSA, a member of the Independent caucus all three years, and served as its publicity chairman. He was chairman of Freshman and Holly week, and of one of the 1949 homecoming committees. A member of the college of agriculture student-faculty committee, Vern is also a member of Blue Key, Alpha Zeta, and Scabbard and Blade. He was Phi Eta Sigma president and I club secretary.

Annual 'Campus Cleanup Day' Scheduled For Tomorrow

Blue Key's annual "Campus Cleanup Day" will be held tomorrow morning. "The cooperation of all students is requested," stated John Barinaga, general chairman.

Students living on the campus are requested to park their cars on the opposite side of the one-way-parking streets tonight, so that the city street cleaner can begin cleaning the streets early tomorrow morning. Cooperation of the Moscow police department and the office of student affairs has been generously given so that no automobile will be ticketed for parking on the wrong side of the street.

No Tickets Given

Immediately following the street cleaning machine, students will be asked to move their cars back to the side of the street where parking is permissible. Cooperation in this one matter will be particularly appreciated.

Areas to be cleaned by living groups in addition to their own areas are as follows: Hays hall, Forney hall and Tau Kappa Epsilon, the center tennis courts and the music cottage; Ridenbaugh hall, area around Engineering building; Gamma Phi Beta and Kappa Sigma, area on both sides of the road between the two houses.

Named as finalists were Pat Terry, Shirlee Vorous, Hazel Bell, Norman Green, Jim LaGrone, and Ronald Huffer.

Seniors!

Graduating seniors must have caps and gowns ordered from Davids' department store by the May 1 deadline. Announcements may be ordered from the bookstore.

Laundry Reduction Expected By Fall

"A price reduction in laundry articles, at least shirts, may be expected by University students returning next fall," stated Marvin C. Burton, owner of the Moscow Steam Laundry, Wednesday evening at a Student-Businessmen's council meeting.

Laundered shirts now cost students 27 cents apiece, but through an expected larger volume of business, Burton believed that he could bring the price down to 25c. This would not go into effect until next fall, although Mr. Burton had thought of instituting a new price range this year. However, a new shirt crease pack increased his production costs and he was unable to increase quality and decrease price at the same token.

Dorms To Replace Wood Frame Trio

Dormitories to house 360 students have been approved at the university by the board of regents.

The state board of education, sitting as the board of regents, Tuesday afternoon announced the approval.

University President J. E. Buchanan said construction will start this year on two of the dormitories in an initial phase of construction costing an estimated one million dollars. He said a third dormitory will be built later. Each of the structures will house 120 students.

Although it is not yet decided whether they will be used for men or women students, they will be constructed in the established university dormitory areas.

Replace Frame Trio

They will replace three present frame structures. They are the Campus club and Idaho club, both erected during the 1930s, and Pine hall, a war surplus dormitory moved to the campus in 1945 as emergency housing to accommodate the influx of war veterans.

Campus and Idaho club each have a capacity of 118 men. Each and alumni of the forestry school were entertained last night at the Ad club as the annual foresters banquet started forestry week.

The banquet is the kick-off for forestry week, April 30 to May 6. During that week the state will be made "forest conscious" by special teams of foresters from ISC, University of Idaho, and Boise Junior College. The University will send forestry students to high schools from Grangeville to Bonners Ferry to speak to the students on forestry problems and other forestry subjects.

Symphony Orchestra Gives Concert; George Michael Conducts Program

A novel and interesting program will be under way when Conductor George Michael raises his baton before the University Symphony orchestra at 4:00 p.m. Sunday, in the Auditorium.

The program consists entirely of concertos and arias for various student soloists with orchestra accompaniment. It is the first time a concert of this kind has been presented on the campus since 1942.

Feature Top Talent

"Such an array of student talent is seldom found on one program," stated Hal Macklin, head of the music department. "Some of the most talented music students at the University will be heard Sunday afternoon."

Comic Photos Due In New Contest For Homely Ones

Comic photographs of candidates for the Ugly Ike Gaudy Gert contest, sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega should be ready for collection Saturday. Members of APO will go to the various living groups during the day to gather the pictures, five by five in size.

Running from May 5 through May 19, the Ugly Ike-Gaudy Gert contest will conclude with an all-campus sport dance, according to Bob Kleffner, contest chairman. Silver cups for the candidates having the most votes will be awarded during intermission of this dance.

Photos of each candidate will be attached to a receptacle and placed in the Bucket. Each cent deposited under a picture will count as a vote for that person. Money raised through this contest will finish payment for the war memorial plaque to be put in the Student Union building.

Campus Included In Census Survey Of Moscow Area

Census takers should complete enumeration of Moscow next weekend and the rural areas of Latah county in mid-May, according to estimates today by R. Bruce Carlson, county crew leader.

Over 60 percent of Moscow's population will have been enumerated through today, Carlson guessed.

Although exact figures were not available, Carlson said that over 11,000 persons in Latah county had been enumerated through Thursday night, and that over 7,300 of these were Moscow residents.

On the basis of that and earlier estimates, Moscow's 1950 population is expected to reach 13,000—an increase of about 115 percent over the 1940 population of 6014 persons.

Latest population will include University of Idaho enrollment, apportioned in previous decades among home towns of students. This source, including wives and children of married students, is expected to account for a gain of at least 4,000 persons.

Permanent population has been estimated now at about 9,000.

Not all parts of Moscow have been canvassed, while in other cases return calls are still necessary. Some sororities, fraternities and other campus living groups have been counted, others have not Carlson said.

About 12,700 persons were among the 1940 rural population of Latah county. Only a fractional increase is anticipated for the ten years.

Boise Firm Takes Music Hall Bids

C. B. Lauch Construction company of Boise entered the low basic bid today for the first unit of a new music building at the University. The bid was $369,986.

Low bids for plumbing and heating, and for electrical wiring went to C. M. Wilderman Plumbing and Heating company, Moscow, $53,333, and Spence Electric, Moscow, $35,741. All bids will now go to the university regents and the state board of examiners for review, President J. E. Buchanan said.

The new three-story music building, of Gothic architecture to conform with other buildings on the university quadrangle, will face the Administration building from the east side of the campus. The new building will house a recital hall with a capacity of more than 350 persons as well as offices for music staff, practice rooms, music library, and band rehearsal rooms. Several small temporary cottages used by the music department for nearly half a century will be used for other purposes or razed. The building is scheduled for completion not later than April 30, 1951.

Students Vote

Many students crowded to the polls Wednesday to elect their new student officers. Part of the rush is shown here at the tables where election committee members distributed and cancelled ballots.

Students Judging In Special Class

Nearly 200 Idaho students in three animal husbandry classes attempted to outguess judges in a light horse judging school at the field house. Classes represented in the school were horse production and animal industries, taught by W. P. Lehrer, Jr., and advanced livestock judging, instructed by C. W. Hodgson.

Vandal Riders, headed by Edwin Stuart, showed the 21 light horses. Judges were Art Hannum, manager of the Spokane Driving and Riding club and L. R. Armstrong, Olympia, president of the Washington State Horse Breeders association.

Horsewoman Performs
Both the official judges and the students rated the various classes according to their own decisions. After placing the animals, the judges explained in detail their reasons for each classification. Mrs. Pearl Jenkins, Fairfield, Wash., presented an exhibition in riding and showmanship as an afternoon feature.

Allocate Materials
Although the board of education concluded its formal meeting, members met informally to discuss allocation of war surplus property at the former Farragut naval training station. Budgetary problems of all state institutions and the state department of education were heard by the board during its two-day meeting.

Extinct Social Organization Leaves Lingering Impression

Yesterday a fellow was sitting on a curb weeping softly, and looking dejectedly at his shoe laces. Now and again he mumbled a few barely audible words which sounded like "Friday Afternoon Club."

To Suppress Sadness
Those words brought back fond memories of the days when 3.2 was not thought of as being a grade average, and when Friday afternoon was looked forward to with glassy eyes by all loyal rednecks of the mighty order of "Friday Afternoon Clubbers."

For those of you who do not know of such things, the "Friday Afternoon Club" was established by a group of stout hearted college students many years ago for promoting happiness and the suppression of sadness of all Idaho students. Through the years the club gained membership and prestige, and became an indispensable part of the lives of many of us.

When the club was in session despondent members gained a new will to live, 3.2 flowed freely, and the "to hell with everything" philosophy was the order of the day. In short, Friday afternoon was what most of us lived for.

And now the club is a thing of the past. It died a mysterious death last year, and several hundred students went into mourning for dear departed "dead soldiers" who had served them so well. Things simply haven't been the same since.

But somewhere a ray of hope must be shining. The spirits cannot be denied for the memory of those afternoons lives on in the hearts of those loyal fellows who were members of the club.

With perseverance and hard work, a new organization may be founded and once again happiness may be found by weary students.

'Tis better to burp and bear the shame Than to swallow the burp and bear the pain.

Straight 'A' Grades For Idaho Grads

Two Idaho graduates have completed their first semester of graduate work at the University of Illinois with straight "A" grades. Dr. William H. Cone, Chemistry department head, announced this week.

The two men, Merland Grieb, and Harold Hughart, entered the University of Illinois last fall. Grieb, working toward his doctorate, received both his bachelor of science and master of science degrees at Idaho. He received his master's degree in 1949.

Hughart received his bachelor of science degree from Idaho in 1948 and is now working toward his master's.

6 Students Attend NSA Convention

Six Idaho students left this morning to attend the regional NSA convention at Marylhurst college, near Portland. Bob Moulton, ASUI president; and Rosie Schmidt, new Executive Board member, are going as representatives of the ASUI.

Members of Idaho's NSA group who are attending include Jerry Haegle, Ruthella Evans, Vern Bahr, and Marv Jagels. Jagels was recently elected eastern vice president of the NSA northwest region.

Delegates from all schools in the Pacific Northwest will be at the convention. Discussions will center on student government, activities, organizations, and other phases of campus life.

Rodeo Team Chosen By Vandal Riders

Choice of a rodeo team to be sent to Montana state university, and Washington state college will highlight activities at the Vandal Riders meeting Tuesday at 6:45 p.m. in Morrill hall. New officers for the coming year will also be selected.

Plans for the Vandal Riders picnic May 7 will be arranged. Anyone who is not a member, but wishes to attend should come to Tuesday night's meeting.

Why Saturday Cleanup?

Saturday morning, a campus "face-lifting" operation will take place. This is Idaho's annual campus clean-up sponsored by Blue Key.

There are several significant reasons why Blue Key has set the date for the clean-up for this Saturday.

First, with the big day for the Little International and many guests being here to attend the show, the campus should be looking its best.

Second, with All-University Day coming up the following Saturday, the May Fete the following weekend, there was no other available date which could be used to gain the co-operation of the living groups.

Third, with the important events coming up for the next two weekends beside this weekend, the campus should be looking its best for all of the prospective students who will visit on May 6 and for all of the mothers who will be visiting sons and daughters May 13 and 14.

The purpose for this drive more than justifies its being carried out. Let's make the campus look as beautiful as possible. If we clear out all of the leaves, rubble and dead branches, etc., Mother Nature will do the rest. —B. H.

Thanks

We, the United Party candidates for ASUI offices, would like to extend our thanks to those students who gave us their support in the elections.

Those of us who were elected will do our best to fulfill the duties of the position to which we were named, with impartiality and no prejudice.

University Heights Start Road Work On Wednesday

Wednesday will mark the first actual work on University Heights when road grading of the building project will begin. Duncan Construction company of Moscow entered the low bid and received the contract. The firm will start work on four streets in cooperative home building area. After grading has been completed the corporation will call for bids on surfacing with crushed rock. Approximately one mile of road is covered by the four streets.

Received Choice

A quick completion of street work will enable construction equipment to get into the area. Eighteen members have chosen locations and hope to have homes finished by September 15. Actual work on these homes will be started as soon as contracts have been approved.

Because of his time and effort donated to University Heights, Thomas Walenta, law professor at the university, received his choice of lots.

Water and sewage mains will be laid as soon as possible. It is planned to run the sewage pipes along the road cuts in order to save time and expense of digging another trench.

Streets Named

The new residential district, located south and west of the main portion of the University campus, will include an overall area of about 25 acres of the John King farm. Access may be gained by traveling south on Taylor avenue to the approach past the University golf course on the upper arbutum road.

The main thoroughfare of the project, which will form the principal arterial approach from Taylor avenue, has been named Walenta Drive, in honor of the corporation president, Thomas Walenta. A short side street to the east from Walenta drive will be named King place, after the former owners, Mr. and Mrs. John King. Upon the plateau of the proposed sub-division, and laying south of Walenta Drive, is a large U-shaped street. The east portion of this street will be named Sarah avenue and the west portion, Alpowa street.

Directors Listed

The sub-division, to be constructed at an estimated cost of $400,000, will provide a "test case" for similar future projects. The purpose of the corporation is to provide homes for 44 shareholders in a community of single houses built at a cost of between $8,000

Grade Teaching Field Open For Education Graduates

Graduates trained for elementary school teaching should find a wide choice of employment opportunities in most states this spring. On the other hand, prospective teachers at the secondary level will find a highly competitive employment situation in all but a few subject fields.

Last year, only one student completed training for elementary teaching for every three who were needed; this year, the shortage will be nearly as acute. The number of students completing preparation for high school teaching in 1949 was four times as great as the demand; the oversupply in 1950 is expected to be even greater.

Last year, only one student completed training for elementary teaching for every three who were needed; this year, the shortage will be nearly as acute. The number of students completing preparation for high school teaching in 1949 was four times as great as the demand; the oversupply in 1950 is expected to be even greater.

The need for teachers in elementary schools will continue to increase over the next several years. According to a recent study by the department of labor's bureau of labor statistics, enrollments in grades 1 to 8 will probably rise sharply for the next 7 years in most states and then level off. The number of new teachers required annually will be greatest about 1953, the year when the sharpest increase in enrollments is expected.

Many more new teachers are required each year as replacements than for new positions, even in the current period of rapid growth of elementary school population. On the basis of a conservative rate of 7 per cent, it is estimated that over half a million elementary teachers will be required in the next 10 years to replace those who die, retire, or leave the classroom for other reasons. In addition, a sizeable number will be needed to replace some of the persons now teaching on emergency certificates.

such that keen competition would develop.

It is likely that education and experience requirements will be raised, in line with the prewar trend. Students taking training for high school teaching should plan to get a master's degree in order to qualify for the best employment opportunities.

Enrollment Decline

Enrollments in grades 9 to 12 are expected to decline until about 1952. Therefore, the need for high school teachers will be limited largely to replacements for the next few years. After 1952, enrollments will probably rise slowly for the following 3 years and then increase rapidly into the 1960's.

Over the 1950 decade, close to 85,000 new teachers may be needed to handle increased enrollments. In addition, from 17,000 to 20,000 replacements may be required each year during the 1950's. However, unless high school enrollments are considerably greater than seems probable on the basis of past trends, a training rate as high as that in 1949 would continue to produce an oversupply of secondary school teachers even in the years of greatest need.

Nine out of ten women who come to college have a mission in life. The tenth intends to get married, too, if she can.

Conditions Vary

The number of young people taking training for elementary teaching will depend, in the future as in the past, chiefly on the other employment opportunities available and the relative salaries offered. If general economic conditions should become less favorable and there should be considerable unemployment, the supply of elementary teachers might become

DuVal Foundation Offering Awards

Students of finance show a realistic grasp of sound investment principles, according to the Pierre A. DuVal foundation which is offering three awards in finance to students.

Approved by college deans and administrators throughout the country, students are competing for awards of five hundred, three hundred and two hundred dollars each on the basis of the best "investment" of a theoretical 25,000. Greatest appreciation and best dividend returns in a one-year period are the determining factors.

Student Compete

More than 250 students from 50 colleges and universities are competing for the awards, according to Pierre A. DuVal, president of DuVal's Consensus, the "Reader's Digest of Financial Advisory Services."

A careful study of the first reports made by students indicates that the majority possess more than a theoretical knowledge of investments. Their selections and the reasons for such choices indicate a realistic grasp not only of economic theories but of changing business conditions as well, DuVal said.

Idaho Selects Four Outstanding Men To Be Awarded Honorary Degrees

An outstanding leader in each of the four fields—engineering, agriculture, forestry and mining—will receive honorary doctorate degrees at University of Idaho commencement exercises June 5, it was announced today by President J. B. Buchanan.

To be honored are Harry W. Morrison, Boise, president of Morrison-Knudsen Company, Inc.; E. J. Iddings, Moscow, University of Idaho dean of agriculture, emeritus; James W. Girard, Portland, Ore., forestry consultant with Mason, Bruce & Girard, and former assistant director of the U. S. Forest Survey; and Stanley A. Easton, Kellogg, president of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating company. Morrison and Girard will be awarded honorary doctor of science degrees, and Iddings and Easton honorary doctor of letters degrees.

World Wide Organization
Morrison was elected by the university last year to receive an honorary degree, but could not attend the 1949 commencement because business duties called him to Ceylon. Without benefit of formal engineering education, Morrison organized in 1912 at 27 the partnership construction firm which has become world-wide in scope. His organization of six companies, Inc., which in 1935 completed construction of Hoover (Boulder) dam two years ahead of schedule, is but one outstanding milestone in his career. Throughout the years, he has also played a leading role in civic affairs.

Dean Iddings started serving the University of Idaho — and state — in 1910. His guidance was a major factor in the state's rapid agriculture growth to a point where it now directly or indirectly supports two-thirds of the population. He pioneered in the development of the state-wide Agricultural Extension Division, which carries new knowledge and helpful information directly to the farms and homes of Idaho. In 1919, he introduced to Idaho the first Suffolk sheep to graze west of the Rockies. In 1945, he retired as dean of the college of agriculture, becoming dean emeritus. On the fortieth anniversary of his graduation from Colorado Agricultural college, he was selected by his alma mater as "honor alumnus of 1947."

Living Legend
A living legend of the woods is "Jim" Girard. In 1892, at 15, he quit school in Tennessee, and headed for the tall timber. It has been hope to him ever since. Most of his life has been spent with the Forest Service, where he was famed as a cruiser and ace trouble-shooter. He has taken more than a quarter-million sample trees for volume table purposes and graded more than a million sawlogs in standing trees. He is the author of the National Forest Stumpage Appraisal Manual, the appraiser's bible. From 1934 to 1945, as assistant director of the Forest Survey, he was largely responsible for the development of the general field procedure used in the survey, and is credited with having "done more for the profession of forestry in training foresters than any other man."

Leading Miners
Easton, one of the nation's leading mining figures, served the University of Idaho as regent from 1921 to 1931. He is at present a member of the board of overseers of Whitman college. Active in Boy Scout work, he served three terms as President of Idaho Panhandle Council of the Boy Scouts. He has also taken an active part in church, school and civic enterprises of his community. In addition to being president of the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining and Concentrating company, he is president of the Sullivan Mining company and the Caledonia Mining company, and chairman of the board, Pend O' Reille Mines and Metal company. A graduate of the University of California school of mines, he has received honorary doctorate degrees from the University of California and Whitman college.

Fourteen Fly In NROTC Plan

Navy ROTC indoctrination flights were flown Saturday and Sunday from the Moscow-Pullman airport in three Beechcraft planes from the Spokane Naval Air Station.

Lt. Comdr. Anderson of the Spokane base was in charge of the flights which are a regular part of the NROTC training. Fourteen men were taken up on each of the flights which were flown over the local area for approximately 30 minutes.

Business Classes Visit Crescent Store

Members of the university retail merchandising and retail advertising classes took a field trip to the Crescent department store in Spokane last Wednesday.

R. A. Paterson, president and general manager of the Crescent, conducted the tour. The work of the various departments of the store was discussed by the department heads during the trip.

A complimentary luncheon featuring a spring style show, was served to the sixty-five students in the Crescent tea-room.

Charles E. Marshall, professor of business administration and instructor of the two classes, led the group.

Railroad Agents To Arrange Routes

Passenger agents for five major railroads will be in room 108 of the Navy building next Tuesday, to arrange travel routes for the NROTC midshipmen.

Although this service is preliminary for the midshipmen, all students and faculty members of the University are invited to utilize this service in arranging travel for the summer vacation.

The railroads represented will be: Northern Pacific; Great Northern; Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific; Union Pacific; and Southern Pacific.

Midshipmen To Participate In Cruise With U. S. Fleets

The University NROTC unit will have midshipmen participating in the summer training cruises with both the Atlantic and Pacific fleets, and with the relief expedition to Point Barrow, Alaska.

Several members of the unit will also receive training with the Marine Corps at Quantico, Virginia.

Midshipmen Jerry Rockwood, Robert Fossum, George Mueller and Theodore Ingersoll will receive assignment to the Navy relief expedition to Point Barrow on the basis of their high scholarship and outstanding aptitude for the Naval service.

Midshipmen Cruise
Point Barrow is located well inside the Arctic Circle, and is the scene of Navy petroleum research and development. Since it is frozen most of the year, supplies can be taken in only once a year. The midshipmen making their cruise will act as junior officers, and upon crossing the arctic circle, will be initiated into the "Royal Order of Bluesoeses."

The remaining senior midshipmen will cruise this summer with first class men from the Naval Academy in junior officer billets of the Atlantic and Pacific fleets. This will be the first time since 1917 that this procedure has been followed in the summer training cruises for midshipmen.

Assignments Given
Summer assignments for these seniors are as follows: On the aircraft carrier Stetley: Wendell Gladish, Jacob Kertz, Theo Nowak, Justin Quackenbush and John McQuillan. Others are Robert Waddell and Donald Wills.

Serving on the destroyer Chandler will be: James Baker, Donald Dirkse, and Daniel Piraino.

Damsels Need New Traps For Snaring The Wary Male

Let's face it, damsels, we aren't being too bright in our current attempt to snare the stupid, the wary male. We do our damndest to develop personalities, we spend long arduous hours grooming ourselves to be devastatingly beautiful, and wot happens?

The dopes at the first sign of Spring immediately take to golf courses and tennis courts in droves. On a recently completed survey, it was discovered that 87% of all college males actively take part in outdoor leisure sports of one form or another. Think of it, gals! We are only really concentrating on 13 out of every 100 men with our present tactics. Of the sports named, hunting, fishing, golf, and tennis emerged as the men's favorites.

Be Outdoor Gal
A further interesting fact discovered from the poll is that fellows adore exhibiting their prowess in these sporting events to admiring females. The obvious answer to this problem is simple enough. You don't hunt penguin in the Belgian Congo; go where the game is; if men insist on being outdoors, take to the golf course and tennis courts!

You don't know how to play golf or tennis??? You don't want to let your current heart-throb know what a raunchy player you are? You can't afford to pay for professional instruction? Stop feeling sorry for yourself. At good ole U of I you can get good, free instruction in a multitude of leisure time sports through the Women's Recreational Activity program.

Through this organization, the modern women can develop a basic understanding of many games, and could with a fraction of the time she devotes to her grooming develop enough skill so that she could be a true companion to any athletically minded colleague man. This is one method by which a little preparation in advance can really pay off in large dividends. Why be a golf widow? Turn out for WRA!

Idaho's Sixty Voice Choral Group

Vandaleers Present Final Concert Before Large Audience Last Night

A Capella Choir Of BJC Receives Grand Applause

Performing before a capacity audience in the university auditorium, Idaho's Vandaleers presented their final concert of the 1949-50 season last night. Directed by Glen R. Lockery, this concert climaxed a series of performances during the spring tour throughout southern Idaho and Orofino for the 60-voice choral group.

Enthusiastic approval greeted the A Capella choir of Boise Junior college as they concluded their concert in the auditorium Wednesday morning. The group has been touring parts of Northern Idaho and Eastern Washington for the past two weeks, singing at Emmet, Cascade, McCall, Cottonwood, Lewiston, Moscow, and Palouse, Washington. Their final concerts will be heard today at LeGrande and Fruitland in Washington.

The 40 voices, directed by C. Griffith Bratt, blended harmoniously into a varied program. Music for Part I of this program consisted of religious numbers of the 17th century including "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Thee with Tender Care," and "All Breathing Life," all Bach selections.

Others in this group were "Regina Coeli," Gregor Aechinger, and "Hodie Christus Natus Est," J. P. Sweelinck. The audience was captivated by the final number of this group, a gay little echo song by di Lasso in which a section of the choir played the part of a saucy echo mocking the singing.

Folk songs featured in the program included "The Bonnie Lass She Smiled," J. Bottomley; and continued with "The Sound of the Silver Horn," an old English folk-song arranged by Arthur Hall and concluding with a mastery in dynamics, "Hospodi Pomilui" (Lord, Have Mercy On Us), S. V. Lovovsky.

Music for Part III featured both religious and folk tunes, beginning with a soprano solo by Joan Cutler in a plaintive choral hymn "Listen to the Lambs" by Nathaniel Dett. Others included "Mary

Concluding the Vandaleer concert were four choruses from Arthur Sullivan's comic opera "Patience;" "Brindisi" (a toast), from "La Traviata," Giuseppe Verdi; and choral selections from Richard Rodgers' musical play, "Carousel."

No soloists appeared with the Vandaleers in their final concert. Accompanists were Ellomae Holden and Greta Beck.

What keeps her out of the Mayflower Society?

There were no cows aboard. There wasn't room. As a result, the Pilgrims who came over on the "Mayflower" had no milk, butter or cheese the first winter.

Because of this lack—plus the scarcity of other foods and the rigors of the climate—there was a 50 per cent mortality rate, including every child under two years of age!

Enter "Charity"

Then, in 1624, the good ship "Charity" arrived with three Devon cows, and the mortality rate began a steady decline.

Since then, milk has played an unbelievably important part in the well-being of this nation. For children and adults alike it is our basic food!

Oregon State Baseballers To Meet Vandals Twice; Play Today And Tomorrow

The Oregon State college nine will unload their bats at McLean field diamond this afternoon for the first of a two game conference series with the University of Idaho. The Corvallis crew holds a two game edge over the Vandals, having twice dropped Finley's outfit on the OSC campus, 14-5 and 9-4. The play ball sign will be given at 3 o'clock.

Should rain necessitate postponement of today's nine inning bill, a double-header will be played tomorrow, the first game starting at 1:15.

Northern Division Standings:

W	L	Pct.
Washington State	4	1 .800
Washington	5	2 .715
Oregon State	3	1 .650
Idaho	1	5 .167
Oregon	1	5 .167

Infielder Leads Batters

Tobe Masingill, Idaho second sacker, boosted his batting average Tuesday when he got two hits in four trips against WSC. That performance gave Tobe a .375 mark in six games. Joe Zavesky, Vandal right fielder, dropped from .308 to .294 Tuesday when he hit one for four.

Oregon State's Beavers are loaded with sophomores who have displayed tremendous batting power in the first four OSC conference encounters. Five Beaver batters are currently blasting the ball above the .300 mark. Pete Goodbrod, center fielder and catcher, has rapped out nine hits in 17 times at bat for a hefty .539 average. Goodbrod has seven runs batted in.

More Power Hitters

Second baseman Don Fawcett, another sophomore, is pacing Goodbrod with eight for 17 and a .470 mark. Shortstop Gene Tansell is hitting .385, Ray Snyder is hitting .333 and Bob Christanson is blasting a .313 average. Snyder, incidentally, has knocked three homers, tying with Gordy Brunswick of WSC, and leads the Northern Division with nine runs batted in.

Washington State's Leo Dolquist won his third conference game Tuesday afternoon when he beat Idaho 7 to 3. The Vandals found Dolquist for eight hits but the Cougar hurler kept them well scattered. He allowed Idaho to score only in the last two innings.

Two Fatal Innings

Cless Hinckley started for Idaho and pitched a beautiful ball game, limiting the Baileymen to six hits. Hinckley worked himself in to a hole in the fourth and seventh when he became liberal with his free passes to first base. Three walks and three singles were his undoing in the fourth frame and three passes, a hit batter and a double by Don Paul gave the Idaho sophomore all his trouble in the seventh. With the exception of those two innings, Hinckley pitched flawless ball.

Ozzie Kannikbeberg relieved Hinckley in the ninth and retired the side in 1-2-3 fashion after giving Ted Tappe a triple.

Pritchett Hot

Bob Pritchett had a big day at the plate when he smashed three singles in four appearances. The rest of the batting order did not have their sights zeroed in, however, and couldn't hit the ball until eighth inning.

Don Harrison opened that frame in place of Hinckley and drew a base on balls. Bill Simmons went in to run for Harrison and moved to third when Masingill lined a 3-2 pitch into left field. Hal Hunter worked Dolquist to the full count, then smacked one into a double play that killed Masingill at second. Simmons held up and scored moments later when Rod Grider sent a bouncing ground ball down the third base line. Joe Zavesky and Pritchett followed with singles, Grider scoring on Pritchett's blow. Nick Stallworth sent a high fly into center field for the third out.

Idaho pushed its third run over in the ninth. Bob Linck walked and then scored on a whistling double by Jim Atchison who pinch hit for Glen Darnell.

Vandal Portraits

By STAN RIGGERS

"Every time I ran across a clothesline or a fence around the neighborhood I would try and vault over it. I was always trying to go a little higher and most of the time I found myself flat on the ground for forgetting to throw my trailing leg over the line at the last minute.

The first time I tried the regular pole vault, I hit the bar on the way up and broke it. The high school varsity track squad ran off the field and told me not to hang around if I couldn't do anything but break the equipment. That made me mad, so I stuck around until the varsity went to the showers and I tried it again. This time I had a little more luck and managed to clear nine feet."

According to Dave Martindale, Vandal pole vaulter, that little episode during his freshman year in high school was his first experience with the sport. The coach decided to take him on the next trip and his performance was enough evidence to issue Dave a uniform. In remaining meets of his freshman year Dave took first place in each and was set to become a four year letterman in track when the three day measles caught up with him a day before the last meet of the season.

Born in Long Beach, Calif., in 1929, Marty moved to Oakley, Idaho one year later. There he played end on the high school eleven and was a regular in the center slot for the basketball team for three years.

Dave has a hard record to beat in the vaulting line by admitting defeat only three times in his career. Two of those have been this season, because of a sprained ankle. Dave was well known in state high school meets during his junior and senior years by taking a first place both years in the pole vault and a first his senior year in the high jump by clearing the bar at 5'10".

Freshmen Netsters To See First Action

The Vandal freshman tennis squad opens the season this afternoon at 2 p. m. against John Rogers high school of Spokane on the university courts. Several promising players for next year's varsity are scheduled to see action. Leading the fresh parade will be Bob Gleason, Skip Pierce, Saylor Jepson, Bill Taylor and Fred Thompson.

With The Experts

Linksters To Host Orangeman Sextet At Idaho Course

There will be more Northern Division golf action on university links this weekend. Coach Loris Baker's Oregon State College Beavers will be on hand tomorrow to try their luck against Idaho coach Frank James' squad.

The Beavers are meeting defending champion Washington State College today. The orange came in third in Northern Division standings last year. They along with the Cougars and Vandals have already met defeat at the hands of the seemingly undeniable Oregon Ducks.

Number one man for OSC is captain Dick Yos two who has just flown to the Palouse country joining his team mates after playing in the Oregon Open tourney. His team is composed of Bill Macomber, Bill Paul, Lee Lindquist, Keith Osborne and Tom Perry.

John Drips is captain for the day on the Vandal lineup. He is followed by Bill Ames, John Miller, Fred Stringfield, Dick Iselt and Chase Barbee. Idaho has one win over Montana State University plus the Oregon loss.

Softball Continues To Be Number One Mural Activity

The intramural softball schedule was postponed for last night because of rain soaked fields. However, results of games played the first of the week are:

Monday, April 24th: Fijis staged a last inning rally to down the Betas, 12 to 8. The Tekes received credit for a win when Trailer Village announced a forfeit. Phi Delta Theta added a mark to their win column by virtue of a forfeit from LDS.

Tuesday afternoon, Pine hall's team No. 2 took measure of Chrisman hall and set them back with a 13 to 6 defeat. The other Pine hall team, No. 1, was not to be outdone by their wing neighbors and allowed the Idaho club only 3 points while chasing 10 of their men across the home plate. Campus club No. 1 managed to keep in front of Lindley hall No. 1 all the way and post a 10 to 7 victory, and Willis Sweet No. 1 had little trouble in downing Pine hall No. 3, 17 to 2.

Wednesday, the 26th, Campus club No. 2 doubled the score on Lindley hall No. 2 by a 6 to 3 count. Lambda Chi had 19 men across home bag for their team but were not too sure of their victory until the last inning as Sigma Chi racked up 14 points. Willis Sweet No. 2 and Pine hall No. 4 played tight ball to end day's games with a 2 to 0 victory for the Sweeters.

Idaho, Washington Face Cal Tomorrow

Coach Stan Hiserman and a team of twenty-one Idaho trackmen will fly from Moscow to Seattle tomorrow morning. They are scheduled to compete in a triangular meet with universities of Washington and California. Immediately after the meet the Vandals return to Moscow by air arriving at 7 p.m.

Tomorrow's meet was originally scheduled as a two way affair between the Vandals and Huskies. When California asked Washington for a dual meet date, it was found that the only one possible had been allotted to Idaho. When Idaho officials became aware of the problem, it was suggested that the meet could become a three-way session.

California's Golden Bears are favored to take every first place when previous performances are considered.

Vandal Threatens

Idaho's Dave Hiner is the only Vandal in the field with a strong chance of upsetting the dope. He has thrown the discus 142 feet 8 inches, just 8 inches short of the best effort of the Bears' Bob Cook.

California has men with records among tops on the coast in the 100 yard dash, 220 yard dash, 440 yard dash, 880 yard run, mile run, two mile run, 120 yard high hurdles, 220 yard low hurdles, broad jump, and javelin. In fact the only events which are comparatively weak are the shot put, high jump and pole vault. In these "weak" events the Bears have at least one man with a better record than any on the Vandal or husky roster. The high jump is the only exception. Washington's Olson has jumped 6 feet 2 inches to Cal Garret's 6 feet 1 1/2 inches.

Washington Stars

Other strong threats on the Washington team are Jack Hensley, who has run the 880 just a couple of seconds slower than the Bears' Tom Clark—and Jack Burke, whose past performance shows he may give the Californians' Tademaker a fast chase.

University of Washington is undefeated along with University of Oregon. Other Northern Division meets will see Washington State at home to meet Oregon State college which last week defeated Idaho, and University of Oregon is sending a small squad to the Drake relays. Montana is idle.

Idaho men selected to make the Seattle trip are:
Sprints — Glen Christian, Cal Sparks, and Dick Newton.
Quarter mile — Dick Armstrong,

SAE Patron Saint, Patty Murphy Dies

Patrick I. Murphy, Sigma Alpha Epsilon's Patron Saint, has passed on to the chapter eternal. After seventy-five years of faithful service to his brothers, Patty, in all his glory, turned over on his death bed and said:

"Phi Alpha brothers," before closing his eyes for the last time.

Patty took sick suddenly on his yearly visit to the Idaho chapter house and steadily became worse. Many famed doctors were called in from all parts of the country to try to aid the patient, but on Patty's request only a doctor "in the bonds" could treat him. Last rites were given to Patty by Deacon Jerome Stevenson. The funeral will be held at 1:00 P. M. Saturday.
