Big Mother's Day Weekend Highlighted By May Fete

Mother's Day weekend festivities were highlighted by the forty-first annual May Fete presented before hundreds of mothers, guests, and students on the east Ad lawn Saturday afternoon.

In the past few weeks much literature has crossed our desk concerning the proverbial "birds and bees."

Perhaps Spring has something to do with that. Or is the nation becoming more morals conscious? First was the advance on the forthcoming report by Dr. Kinsey concerning the sexual behavior of the American female. Then came "inside report" on the activities of college students in that line, written for a national publication. These were OK we guess.

A True Insult

But the one received today is downright insulting to the male population of ours and other campuses. A publication called "Stag", which Jason frankly has never heard of before, charges that college men are sexually inferior.

In an article by a purportedly famed authority, Milton Leekoff, Stag presents the theory—backed by scientific fact finding they say—"that the non-college man makes the best sexmate, probably because of some indefinable quality in his makeup, a quality that is not distilled out by an overabundance of refined campus sex conversation, and too little action. Also broadly hinted at is the fact that many women, some of them married to college men and college grads, realize this inadequacy in their husbands, and have been known to seek release from their enthusiasms elsewhere.

Perhaps?

"... it is an undeniable fact," says Leekoff, "that collegians do more petting—and talking—than any other class of men, but when it comes to actual activity, well... "Is it any wonder," he asks, "they are sexually maladjusted and inferior and, as a result, make incapable and inefficient husbands?" If Mr. Leekoff's arguments are correct, it may be assumed that college students are the most moral class of people. That may be so. However, his line of reasoning, in effect, says that immorality helps to make a man a better mate for a woman.

Women to Blame

He is blaming college women and other girls that we semi-educated men choose to date for our, what he calls "unfortunate" condition. We don't believe you Milton. But who knows? You MIGHT be right.

Madrigal Vocalists Will Sing Sunday

The University Madrigal Singers, unique vocal group, directed by Mr. S. Keith Forney, will appear in their spring concert in the auditorium at 4 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

Appearing in a medieval setting, typical of those in which the first real madrigal groups performed, hundreds of years ago, the student group will present two sections of their program by 16th and 17th century composers.

Brahm's "Love Song Waltzes", Op. 52, will comprise the Madrigal Singers' second group. This is a performance of 18 short love songs accompanied by two pianists, Helen Rice Herzinger and Mary Jasper Johnson.

Executive . . . . . Board

Agenda for the ASUI Executive Board meeting tonight includes the following topics: Homecoming Committee assistant Chairman. Student Activities Board revision. Handbook discussion. High school student recruiting program.

Song Fest Winners

Twelve living groups entered the song fest finals Sunday afternoon, held as part of Mother's Day celebrations. Kappa Kappa Gamma, below, won first place in the women's division and Beta Theta Pi, above, garnered top honors in the men's competition. Second for the women was Kappa Alpha Theta and for the men, Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Students designated as Distinguished Military Students are eligible to receive a Regular Army Commission upon graduation provided they are declared Distinguished Military Graduates and can pass the required physical examination.

Gowns For Night

What are styles coming to these days? Especially in the line of Formals. One little girl has her ideas. Walking by a group of Spurs, dressed in Formals for the May precessional Fete Saturday, a four year old visitor, Linda Shields, remarked: "What are all those girls doing with their night gowns on?"

Military Honorary Elects Officers

ROTC Holds Open House For Armed Forces Day

A military atmosphere will pervade the Idaho campus and down Moscow this weekend when the army, navy, and air force ROTC units will stage a joint observance of national Armed Forces Day. Beginning with a navy open house at 3 p. m. Thursday, the program will end with a joint open house at Memorial gym Saturday at 3 p. m.

With the object of familiarizing the public with the nation's defense team, Armed Forces Day was proclaimed by President Truman to be May 20. He called upon all citizens to display the flag of the United States on that day, and to participate in exercises expressive of our recognition of the skill, gallantry, and uncompromising devotion to duty characteristic of the Armed Forces in carrying out their missions.

This is the first year in which one day has been officially designated to jointly honor the Armed Forces. Prior to this year, each arm of the service was honored on a separate day. "Teamed for Defense" has been chosen as the slogan for the day's festivities.

A highlight will be the parade on Saturday at 10:30 a. m. through the business district by units of army, navy, and air ROTC of the university, including the ROTC band, and from the city the national guard, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Campfire Girls, Organized Reserve Corps and the Moscow high school band.

The complete program for the weekend is as follows: Navy open house, Navy building, Thursday from 3 to 6 p. m. and from 7 to 10 p. m. Joint army-air force ROTC review (annual federal inspection,) Neale stadium, Friday from 4 to 5 p. m. Military band concert at Engineering lawn at 6:45 on Friday. Joint army - air force open house, Memorial gymnasium, Friday from 7 to 10 p. m. Parade through Main Street of Moscow at 10:30 a. m. Saturday. Precision drill team competition, Neale stadium, Saturday at 1 p. m. Joint army-navy-air force open house, Memorial gymnasium and Navy building, Saturday from 3 to 6 p. m. Students, faculty members, and general public are invited to attend any of the above events.

Job Outlook For Journalism Grads Is Slightly Hazy

New graduates who seek to enter newspaper reporting are likely to face stiff competition for jobs in the early 1950's, according to a study by the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics. The reporting field, always highly competitive, is likely to become more overcrowded in the next year or two. There were nearly 3 times as many journalism graduates in June 1949 as in any of the last few years before the war; the number will probably be still higher in 1950 and then drop somewhat. In contrast, openings on daily papers have been declining. Experienced reporters have shown less tendency to leave their jobs for other employment, thus limiting the number of new entrants needed as replacements.

Related Fields Absorb Some

Fields related to newspaper work, such as advertising, radio, and special publications, have been able to absorb a good many people with journalism training or experience. Even so, some new graduates, and perhaps even some experienced reporters, will be unable to find jobs with newspapers or in related fields during the next few years. Opportunities with country papers, trade papers, and house organs are expected to be better than with the dailies.

Employment of reporters and editors on daily newspapers will probably not increase much in the long run, though there will always be some openings owing to turnover. The use of syndicated material and the increasing proportion of space devoted to advertising may reduce the need for reporters on dailies. On the other hand, some expansion in employment is expected with the labor press, religious press, foreign language papers, trade association papers, and country papers.

13 Million Checks To War Veterans

The Veterans Administration and the Treasury Department announced this week that thirteen million checks have been mailed to this country's World War II veterans in payment of the special dividend on their G.I. insurance policies. More than 350,000 veterans living in the Pacific Northwest have already received their dividends, out of the 500,000 who are eligible.

Checks Finished Soon

While the vast majority of veterans who applied for the special dividend have by now received their checks, there are several million more still waiting for their dividends, the VA said. It was pointed out that it is not expected that the job of paying the dividend will be completed until the end of June, in spite of the outstanding progress that has been made so far. Payments began January 16.

Not Bombs

If anyone hears a loud noise Thursday or Friday, erase all fears from your mind about a bombing raid. It will only be a report from a 105 Howitzer gun which will be fired on the practice football field Thursday at 11:15 p.m. and again on Friday at 4:15 p.m.

Using blank ammunition, the gun will be part of the retreat ceremony for the annual federal inspection of the University army and air force ROTC units.

Seniors Accounts Must Be Cleared Soon-Registrar

The Registrar has issued a notice that clearance of all University accounts is necessary prior to graduation. This includes board, room, infirmary, library or other departmental charges. Board or room accounts may be paid at any time.

Miscellaneous departmental charges, such as chemistry breakage, library charges, P.E. and Military department equipment losses, will not be received by this office until May 30. Therefore it will be impossible to definitely ascertain account balances and make final clearance prior to June 2.

Return Books

All unpaid fines for overdue books and any charges for lost books should be paid at the library by May 29. All books are due on or before May 29, even though some later due date may be stamped in the book. June 2 is reserved for making a quick final check on all account status. The Cashier's Office in Ad 109 will be open until 5 p.m. on Friday June 2 and from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Saturday afternoon June 3.

Moscow Contractor Submits Only Bid

John E. Thomas, Moscow, entered the only bid today on the general contract for alterations to the original section of the Student Union building. His bid was $13,245.

C. M. Wilderman company was low on the mechanical contract at $8,885. Also bidding was Powell Plumbing company, $9,168. On the electrical contract, Lighthouse Electric, Pullman, was low at $8,400. Spence Electric bid $8,415, and Moscow Electrical company, $8,750.

Business Manager Kenneth Dick said all bids would now go to the board of regents for review. Remodeling of the original section of the Student Union building will make it conform to the new three-story addition now nearing completion.
