United Party Capture Fifteen Of Sixteen Class Offices

The GOLDEN FLEECE
by Jason

We were sitting at our desk the other day when a little man suddenly appeared over our shoulder. "Why don't you wake up and look around," he said. "You don't know what you have been missing. The campus is loaded with beautiful women. They have already chosen three queens, with many more to come. Look around boy." So we started looking, not that we hadn't noticed it before, but we looked more critically now. Sure enough he was right. First we looked again at the queens, all three of them, which students have taken time out from the routine tasks of academic work to pick already. We doubt that any other school has already picked more than three queens. But that is immaterial.

Homecoming Queen

Looking them over, in the order selected we came first to Homecoming queen Joan Rowberry, auburn haired, green eyed senior. We could use a lot of words telling about her, but Bill Johnston, managing editor of the Lewiston Morning Tribune, has summed up our sentiments in a few words. Mr. Johnston was writing of the usual sort of queen selected, and he wasn't in favor of them. He admitted exceptions, however, and went on to point out: "One of them was the queen at the University of Idaho homecoming. She was pretty. She acted like a queen. She gave the best speech of the halftime program, in fact."

Joan Rowberry

SAE Fresh Queen

Next we saw the SAE freshman queen, Jan Morgan. Jan is a brown-eyed brunette, here for her first year. She is also pretty. She has a twin sister in school too. Both Miss Rowberry and Miss Morgan were publicly and widely proclaimed as queen for the first time.

Jan Morgan

"Why don't you stop talking about these girls," our friend over our shoulder said. "Words can't express their beauty, why not put their pictures in the paper so everybody can see?" So we did.

Abundant In Beauty

Some of them will win contests yet this year, and be crowned, (we believe that is what they do). There are many more such contests coming up. Many others will not get their pictures in the paper as being a member of the royal family, but their beauty remains. We saw it. "We're sure glad you told us about the women on this campus," we told the little man. "We've looked around on other campuses too since you spoke, and WE BELIEVE WE HAVE THE MOST BEAUTIFUL WOMEN IN THE PACIFIC NORTHWEST RIGHT HERE AT THE UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO."

Jackie Taylor

"You're right," said the little man on our shoulder. We looked around, to double affirm our statement—but he was gone.

Election Reported "Quiet;" 1854 Votes Cast Wednesday

United party candidates captured 15 of 16 class officer positions in class elections Wednesday. Ballot-counting was supervised by Bev Benson, Jerry McKee, and Dario Toffenetti, along with the recently appointed election committee. The new officers will assume duties soon. Evan Ellis, senior treasurer, was the only independent elected.

Dads And Gridmen Honored Tonight At Last Grid Rally

Dads will be honored guests at the rally tonight at McLean field. The procession will start at 6:45. Participants will carry torches and signs for the last home game rally before the Wyoming game. Senior members of the football team will speak before the assembly. The cheer leaders request all the living groups to bring their signs on to the field and hold them up facing the group.

Route Directed

From Pine hall the rally will proceed to Willis Sweet picking up students from the Idaho club and Campus club at Sixth and Line. On Idaho avenue, the procession will turn east, stopping at the corner of Elm and Idaho for the Deltas, Lindley hall, Sigma Chi, Beta, Kappa, Delta Gamma, Phi Deltas, Tri Deltas, Alpha Phi, Alpha Chi, and Sigma Nus.

Continuing on Idaho avenue to Deakin the procession will pick up ATO, Pi Phi, Phi Tau and Delta Sigma Phi. On University avenue, LDS, SAE, and Theta will join the rally. At University and Blake, the Fijis, Delta Chi will enter the parade. As the rally continues up Blake, Kappa Sigma, TKK, Gamma Phi, Hays hall and Forney hall will enter the rally. Students are urged to fill the card section. Dads may sit in this section with their sons and daughters. The only stipulation for sitting in the card section is that all who sit there wear either white shirts or sweaters.

Who Claims Women Are Weaker Sex?

Idaho students are asked to keep in mind November 7 and 8, which are scheduled for donations of blood for armed forces use in Korea. Students and townspeople wishing to donate a pint of blood can do so on these days in the Middle ballroom of the Student Union building.

According to Duane Lloyd, chairman of the drive, only 200 students have signed to donate blood which is considerably below the number of donors needed. Lloyd also stated that more women have signed to donate their blood in proportion to the number of campus male donors.

Secure Blank
The donations are being handled by skilled technicians and a doctor from the Boise Regional Blood Center of the American Red Cross. Blood will be taken directly from Moscow to Boise for processing, and then be flown to Korea. Donations will be taken by appointment only. These can be arranged through living group presidents or by securing a blank from the general manager's office. Appointments should be made in advance and must be kept. Giving a pint of blood is painless and no after effects are felt. The general process is as follows:
1. A local anaesthetic is injected (Cont. on page 3, col. 2)

During halftime of the Idaho-Wyoming game tomorrow afternoon, card tricks performed by the student card section will welcome Dads to the Idaho campus. The university band and twirlers, the Moscow high school band, and a presentation of an honorable membership to President Jesse E. Buchanan, by the Arnold Air Society, will complete the halftime activities.

Members of the agricultural consulting council will be at the university Saturday for a conference are expected to attend. The council is composed of representatives of state agricultural organizations.

Dear Jason

(Ed Note: The recent attempt on the life of President Truman by two Puerto Ricans has brought their strife close to home. We feel indebted to Mr. Bou who gave us this information on his country's situation. Mr. Bou is a senior in education from Puerto Rico. His campus home is Pine hall.)
DEAR JASON
The purpose of this letter is to make clear the cause and by whom the revolution in Puerto Rico has been initiated. In Puerto Rico there are three political parties—the republicans, nationalists, and independents. The republicans want statehood for Puerto Rico. The independents and nationalists are two-unrelated parties seeking the same cause but by different methods. The independents want their freedom from the United States through legislative action and the nationalists are seeking freedom by force. The revolution in Puerto Rico isn't lead by communists, but by Albizus Campos, nationalist leader, who not long ago served 20 years in prison for the same cause. (I hope that he will go back to Atlanta where he belongs.) After serving his sentence he was released from prison in 1947. He then started the movement that occurred in the University of Puerto Rico. At the time of his arrival to Puerto Rico, the students had denounced the United States flag by tearing it down and then replacing it with the colors of Puerto Rico. A man who poisons the minds of good citizens with revolution doesn't belong in a peace-loving community. His followers are in minority as compared with the other parties and I hope that by the time the revolt is over the U. S. government will erase this political party from the island. As long as Albizus Campos was in prison the people of Puerto Rico were living in a peaceful democracy. I don't want any Americans to judge his fellow citizens from Puerto Rico by the actions of a very-small minority. Jose Roberto Bou, U. of I. student from Puerto Rico.

Just A Line To.....

Dearest Dad,
 We're so glad to hear you're coming up. We have a wonderful weekend planned for you. Of course for us the biggest moment will be your arrival. From then on, we will be out to show you a grand time.
 One of the main features of your stay will be seeing our Vandal's upset the U. of Wyoming. As you know from your sports page, Dad, they are rated 18th in the nation. But we have one of the finest teams in the nation, and feel sure you will witness the best football game in the nation.
 But we aren't going to let football be your only great spectator event. We can take you over to see the unveiling of our new Ag science building. You helped pay for it, Dad, and we think it will be worth every cent of the $1,000,000 it cost. We haven't taken you on a complete tour of our Student Union yet, either. We'll show you all the features of that.
 Many, many other things will crop up, Dad, which we haven't the time to warn you of—but which we feel sure you will enjoy. Maybe we'll slip up at the end of a long day, to the "Pop Hop," just one more little thing we're having in your honor. See you soon, Dad.
 All our love,
 Son 'n Daughter.

Want Lower Cleaning Prices?

We attended a meeting of the Student-Businessmen's Council Wednesday night. The topic of the evening was dry-cleaning prices in Moscow. The exceptionally large student attendance intimated that the problem concerned "hit the student where it hurts most—the pocketbook."
 Two factions were present—the student and the businessman or those who wanted cleaning prices lowered and those that didn't.
 First of all Jim Ingalls and Bill Hollingsworth, United party and Independent caucus presidents, respectively, presented the student side of the question, which was that we would bring in an out-of-town firm with lower prices if Moscow firms didn't lower their prices.
Can't Lower Prices
 The committee tossed this about for awhile. Then Robert Weisel, chairman of the council, who is a salesman stated: "We like students and we want them to like us" and then went on to hint that students don't realize some of the problems concerning business. Yes, Mr. Weisel, we are young, but we're learning.
 Don Wilson, secretary of the Moscow Chamber of Commerce, then slyly suggested that Moscow could get on very well without the University of Idaho, by quoting multi-facts and figures. The crux of this report was that the University, combining students and faculty, comprised only one-seventeenth of Moscow's total income—$1,900,000 out of $17,000,000.
 Then Marvin Burton, Moscow Steam Cleaners, who has carried the brunt of the cleaners and laundry firms in Moscow (as the rest haven't even been present at meetings to date), was somewhat cooperative, but speaking as a spokesman for the other firms stated that they could not come down on their prices. Then he asked if students were trying to cut down on recreation and activity expenses as well as dry-cleaning expenses.

He was immediately informed that due to the lesser number of vets (who were subdivided), students have less money this year.
 Then Dean H. E. Latig, director of student affairs, who until the latter part of the evening had been quiet, and who evidently (?) was behind the students all the way, had one observation to make. "One-third of the students at the University of Idaho are still operating cars."
 What corollation this had to the business at hand, we are unable to fathom, but we are sure it was wholly for the student benefit.
 The business faction had its mind made up before the meeting even began, but going along with social custom and polite parliamentary procedure, the evening was spent reassuring each other that "no love would be lost" not matter what the outcome of the meeting would be. Then after some donuts and coffee donated by Cash and Carry Markets and the Nobby Inn, everyone parted with handshakes, each group no farther along than when the meeting started.
Bring In New Plant.
RESULT: A dry-cleaning firm will be brought in from out of town with considerably lower prices, ranging around those of the Valet Cleaners (which by the way, is the only firm in Moscow that didn't raise its prices this fall, and which, consequently, wasn't invited to the meeting). It is justifiable that this new firm should come in since no agreement was reached with Moscow firms, who remained staunch with their price raise.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT JASON

The Bet Fulfilled
 Washington State college and the University of Idaho football teams played in the rain last Saturday. The score ended 7-7. And because of the tie, the student body presidents and newspaper editors of both schools walked Wednesday—in the rain.
 ASUI President Vern Bahr and Jason left Moscow at 2 p.m. in a drizzling downpour. ASSC President Bill Green and Evergreen editor Charlotte Friel, left a little earlier from Pullman. Both parties met at a point 4.8 1/2 miles from each town where a fire warmed us, donuts revived us, and a host of gifts pleased us.
 We, from Idaho, carried part of our gifts with us. Included among these was a flashlight with which we were to show the Cougars, "the light."
 A party was held for all at our new Student Union building after the walk.
Funniest part of the whole affair was Jason's horoscope on Wednesday. For April 5 birthdays it read:
 "Meet others half way."
 We did.
 And the WSC president and newspaper editor had to walk—the first time that has happened since the traditional bet was inaugurated.

They Are Yours Too

Mr. Bright was a comedian. He delighted in amusing everyone. Everyone laughed at Mr. Bright. His was a peculiar sense of humor.
 After years of amusing all the people who came near him, he finally ran out of funny things to say. He had to start doing funny things. One night in order to amuse his neighbors, he set fire to his home and burned his wife to death. The neighbors didn't laugh at Mr. Bright. Mr. Bright had gone too far to be funny.
 We have some "Brights" on the campus it seems; they lack the abilities necessary to make fun on a verbal level. These "Brights" have to resort to destroying their own property in order to amuse their neighbors.
 Posters are placed in the SUB for your information. Please stop defacing them. Also persons who have scheduled conference rooms in the SUB must use those rooms unless they get permission from the management to change.

Can You Be Trusted?

Life is simple. It is a shame people have to complicate it. Not many years ago, people stood upon their own two feet. They depended upon themselves. What they did in a situation determined whether or not they lived or died. Our fathers did the things they believed to be right; they died for what they believed was right.
 Today things are different. People are interdependent, not independent. What one person does affects others. We have organized. We do things collectively.
 Collective effort is strong effort. Collective effort is good effort, so long as it reflects the good intentions of the organization and it is bad effort when it defeats the purposes of the organization.
 Let us not misuse our collective efforts. Examinations are coming up. Do we want an honor system?

Studio Cast To Present Greek Play

Theatre-goers are in store for a unique program when the Studio Players present Sophocles' "Antigone" November 13, 14, and 15.

Greek drama holds a unique and lofty position in the theatre. Unique in that it is grossly dramatic; lofty in its adept portrayal of ancient theatrical concepts. "Antigone" will be presented in the classic Greek style, and the audience should be prepared to witness something quite unlike any present-day production.

Space Limited
Highly dramatic gestures and speeches are abundant in all Greek theatre, comic or tragic. The Greeks were adverse to the Stanislavski school of the drama. Their interpretations could perhaps be classed as melodramatic. In comparison, something like our "Little Nell" would best fit the Greek school of the drama. It is not supposed to be rigidly convincing. It is inspiring, but not boring; it is unusual, but not much so that it does not leave room for the working of the audience's imagination.

An audience should be highly appreciative of "Antigone." It throws everything in the book, as it were, to the audience. There is a prophet, a love interest, a king, in short, the epitome of a Lone Ranger serial in Greek.

Seating space in the Studio theatre is limited. Reservations can be made on a first-come-first-serve basis by calling the Drama department in the U Hut.

Reception Honors Music Students
New music students were honored Sunday afternoon at the annual fall reception sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, women's and men's national professional music fraternities.

The program was presented by several members of the music faculty. Included on the program were Norman Logan, baritone, William Davidson, pianist, and a string quartet composed of Eleanor Mader, violin; Louise Huber, viola; Mariam Little, cello; and Marian Frykman, piano.

Refreshments were served following the program. Sunday evening, SAI serenaded all women's living groups on the campus.

No living group is limited to a quota of donors. As many students as possible may donate their blood.

Also needed are about 8 nurses, aides and 3 good typists who are willing to aid in the actual operation of the blood drive on Tuesday and Wednesday. Anyone else willing to help will be welcomed.

Lloyd, originator of the blood drive idea, stated that "We have over 3000 students on the campus, yet less than 10 per cent of these are willing to take a few minutes to donate a pint of blood to the wounded soldiers in Korea. To a wounded man a pint of blood from the Idaho campus may mean the difference between life and death. Some wounded men need as much as 20 pints."

To this end was I (Jesus) born, and for this cause came I into the world, that I should bear witness unto the truth. —John 16:37

Blood Donors Never Fear Home Ec Revivers Near

Home economics seniors at Idaho are not only volunteering to give blood to the armed services, but they are also volunteering information on how to best revitalize donors.

When an all-campus drive was announced for November 7 and 8 to obtain blood from Idaho students and faculty members, these seniors promptly began checking on the best methods of rebuilding the blood supply. They figured it was important to keep the students strong, especially with nine-weeks quizzes coming on.

Need Good Nutrition
The home economists found that good nutrition is highly important in rapid regeneration of blood, and bad effects from donating blood seldom occur.

The original volume of blood in the body is restored within 24 to 48 hours after the withdrawal of one pint. But the quality of the blood must be restored, too, and that's where recommendations of the home economists come in.

Eat Lots of Iron
Findings from nutritional research show that a donor should eat additional quantities of foods rich in iron and protein. Doctors and nutritionists recommend that donors refrain from eating a lot of fatty foods before donating blood.

Donors should go heavy on foods as milk, eggs, beef, liver, and green and yellow vegetables.

Committee Lists SUB Regulations

Regulations for using SUB facilities were formulated recently by the student sub-committee of the Union committee, headed by Hyde Jacobs. These deal with reserving conference, dining and ballrooms.

Students may not reserve conference rooms more than two weeks in advance, nor can they reserve rooms for conventions less than three weeks in advance. Convention meetings will have preference over student groups.

Decorations Must be Approved
When reserving ballrooms for dances all decorations must be previously approved by Mr. Bowlby; no smoking will be allowed during dances and all food must be eaten in the same rooms that it was bought.

Dining rooms can be reserved from Mr. Bowlby and food arrangements should be made with Mrs. Hoffman, dietician. A specified number of plates must be guaranteed when ordering special meals; this should be done at least three days in advance.

Short orders and milk shakes will be served at the Blue Bucket in addition to full meals at noon.

WRA LIST

WRA will have a field hockey tournament at WSC on November 11. Twenty co-eds will represent Idaho at this meet.

New Ag Building Begins Expansion

Although the new Ag Science building, being dedicated tomorrow, looks lonely now, it won't in a few years, according to President J. E. Buchanan.

Under the university's long range building program, the president explained today, the Ag Science building will be near the center of the university's College of Agriculture facilities, and conveniently located to dormitories, classrooms, and athletic fields.

The proposed plan calls for a new men's dormitory, to be built on the other side of Sixth street. A road, or athletic playfield, will be centered from the tower of Memorial gymnasium, through where the Campus club now sits, to the tower of the new men's dorm.

Other dormitories and Ag units will be constructed near the Ag Science building, removing any sense of loneliness from the structure.

President Buchanan said that the new dormitory has precedence on the construction list.

Perfect mildness? You bet. Scientific tests, confirmed by three independent consulting laboratories, prove that Lucky Strike is milder than any other principal brand. Rich taste? Wyoming's Highly Touted Cowboys Play Idaho Tomorrow In Dad's Day Game

Final Home Contest For Thirteen Seniors

I got in hot water with last week's predictions, but I needed a bath anyway. Fourteen correct decisions, four incorrect selections and two ties showered me with a (you supply the adjective) 700 percentage. Thus, my total pigskin average in 99 games is 69 right—24 wrong and four ties—an average of .698.

This week, in order to put more light on the subject and at the same time brighten up my average, I laid aside the crystal ball in favor of an electric lamp bulb. Got good connections this time.

Wyoming and Idaho at Neale stadium tomorrow. In comparing the Vandals and Wyoming one fact stands out, the opponents of Idaho have been stronger than those of the Cowpokes. Idaho opponents have won 11 contests, dropped 13 and tied five for an average of .458. Please note, Wyoming's opponents have won 15 while losing 19 and tying three for an average of .441. A tremendous .017 IN FAVOR OF IDAHO.

Since 1908, Idaho has played 25 Skyline Six contests against four of the conference members (Utah, Utah State, Denver U and Wyoming). Out of the games played with the "mile high schools", Idaho has walked off with 12 wins, suffered 10 defeats and fought to three scoreless ties. AGAIN THE EDGE IN FAVOR OF IDAHO. I pick Wyoming by 7 over Idaho in an upset.

WSC and Oregon. This could be a battle for the Coast cellar position. Both teams have three PCC toughies remaining on their schedule. The Cougars to give the Ducks goose-pimples with a 13 point advantage.

UCLA and Oregon State. Two single wing clubs meet in this fracas. The Los Angeles bunch is potent and operates smoother. The result will be a sad Beaver tale. UCLA by 21.

Washington and California. The Huskies are hunting Bear bound Bowl boosters. Pappy hasn't got a quarterback — Washington has. The boys from the north by 7.

Stanford and USC. The Indians don't like Trojans at Palo Alto. Washington only increased Stanford's dislike for outsiders. The Indians by 14.

Pennsylvania and Army. Physicists say one million women are overweight; these of course are round figures. So are most of Army's scores—big round figures. Michigan and Illinois. The Illini is beginning to sniff the fragrance of California roses. Hope they don't forget to sniff the odor of the Michigan Wolverines first. Illinois by 1.

Michigan State and Indiana. Both clubs have beaten Notre Dame. So what. Tomorrow Michigan State will beat Indiana. The Spartans by 14.

Notre Dame and Navy. Stay with the champion until he fails. That's a good adage—but what is a fellow supposed to do with the champ when he falls—three times at that. In the Irish's case, the adage should read—stick with a consistent loser until he wins. Notre Dame over Navy by 1.

Minnesota and Iowa: I flipped a coin on this one—it stood on end. Minnesota by 7.

Ohio State and Northwestern. A crow is a bird who never complains without caws. Ohio tallied an astounding 131 points in routing Minnesota and Iowa. The Buckeye's by 27.

Wisconsin and Purdue. Purdue is about due—they haven't won since they beat Notre Dame. Maybe next week for the Boiler-makers but not tomorrow. Wisconsin to subdue Purdue by 7.

Nebraska and Missouri. Nebraska has been consistent in scoring—Missouri has just been consistent in appearing at the field on time. They don't score. Nebraska by 20.

The Rest In Short Order. TCU over Baylor by 7. No explanation.

Rice over Texas Tech. Everyone agrees that there are too many crimes, but nobody knows what the ideal number should be.

Texas over SMU by 6. Fleet ponies against tough Longhorn linemen.

North Carolina U over Tennessee by 7. Just label this one upset.

Duke over Georgia Tech by 13. LSU over Mississippi U by 6. Alabama over Georgia by 7. Georgia boasting three wins and three ties might as well get a loss to complete its record.

The second renewal of the football series between the University of Idaho and the University of Wyoming will be staged on the Vandals home grounds tomorrow afternoon with the Dad's Day kickoff coming at 1:30 p.m. In the only previous meeting between the two state universities, Idaho defeated Wyoming 31-3 back in 1921, and regardless what happens tomorrow afternoon, it's safe to say that history won't repeat itself because in that 1921 meeting the Vandals' Neil Irving placekicked a 40-yard field goal and the Cowboys' Bob Fitz dropped kicked a 48-yard field goal.

Rank Higher Than Notre Dame The Cowboys, presenting their greatest football eleven in the school's history, will be bringing with them to the Idaho campus one of the nation's leading squads in many of the statistical departments. The Associated Press poll of last week, ranked the undefeated Skyline Six team 18th among the nation's top eleven. Believe it or not, they actually do rate higher than Notre Dame—a team earlier in the season picked by scribes to rule the gridiron in 1950.

First of all, the Cowpokes have in tailback Eddie Talboom, the nation's leading scorer—who in six games has annexed a total of 86 points on ten touchdowns and 2 conversions. His nearest competitor on the national scale is Nebraska's Bobby Reynolds who has tallied 81.

Last weekend, the high scoring Cowpokes under the guidance of Coach Bowden Wyatt, stomped on and branded the University of New Mexico Lobos to the tune of 44-0. Coach Dixie Howell's fast-moving Vandals held the favored Cougars of Washington State to a 7-7 tie last weekend—thus giving them the confidence lacking in previous years gone by. Previously the Vandals had lost every contest to the Cougars, dating from the fall season of 1928.

The Idaho squad has given the indication that they are heading towards their best conference record since 1927 when Wyoming's Director of Athletics, Glenn Jacoby, was a star Vandal halfback. It was three weeks ago that Idaho thumped a favored Oregon squad—their first victory over the Ducks since 1925—14-0.

Coach Howell of the Vandals describes the outcome of Saturday's game like this: "It is definitely a question mark whether our triple-threat halfback John Brogan will see action tomorrow." Injured in the Washington State fray last Saturday, his swollen ankle has not as yet responded to treatment. Howell stated that the Coeur d'Alene flash has been unable to run on it all week.

Howell also mentioned that the weather conditions of the past week have hampered the Vandal drills. All practice sessions have been limited to a small section of the field house. Yesterday, the head man felt certain that the squad would work out on the practice field, with the stress on pass defense.

The Cowboys worked hard and long Monday and Tuesday of this week before leaving Wednesday noon for Moscow and the long ride. A light practice was held Wednesday morning before their departure from Laramie. A session was slated yesterday in Boise and this afternoon a dress rehearsal will be held on the Idaho practice field.

VANDAL VIEWS RIGGERS...

Tomorrow afternoon Coach Dixie Howell's Vandals will line up against one of the toughest teams in the nation, a team rated 18th in the nation in the weekly Associated Grid poll.

The home team has two advantages however; in that they will be playing on their own field, and they will have twelve battle tested seniors who are determined to make their last home performance a top one.

Center Vern Baxter, three-year veteran for the Idaho Vandals will be one of the twelve seniors making his last home appearance. Vern hails from Salinas, Calif., and has spent a lot of time on the

Block And Christian Leaders In Coast Scoring Parade

Idaho's football squad maintained its position as one of the leaders in the Pacific coast conference statistics department after its 7-7 tie with Washington State Saturday. The muddy battle of the Palouse failed to slow down the Vandals' ground offensive, which now stands at 251.4 yards per game.

Despite the fact that Idaho's passes have netted them an average of only 81.4 yards a contest, they still managed to place third in total offense with 1664 yards. This is an average of 332.8 yards for five tussles.

The punting of halfbacks Johnny Brogan and Bob Mays in Saturday's game contributed greatly to the fact that the Vandals average 38.2 yards per kick. UCLA leads in this department with a 39.1 average.

Defensively Idaho has sacrificed a total of 1314 yards, 750 on the ground and 564.0 by passing.

In the individual scoring department King Block and Pete Schabarum of California are tied with 36 points apiece. Glen Christian is fourth with 26.

Block is also a leader in rushing with a total of 347 yards. This gives him an average of 5.1 yards per carry. Brogan placed eighth in total offense with a sum of 406 yards or 4.1 yards per carry.

The 200 pound physical education major, played high school ball for Salinas, where they were league champions in 1947. Baxter was nominated by his teammates gridiron.

Talboom is a remarkable football player; who has twice led conference scores, and twice been named all-conference.

Although Talboom is the team's best scorer, he is only one of many backs. Royal McMullen, versatile senior who has played for two years behind Eddie, has shown a lot of drive and football knowledge this year and is a hard boy to stop. In fact it is unusual about Wyoming's scores. From week to week, no one can tell who is going to make the touchdowns, and in most games the Cowboys will have six or seven touchdowns, all scored by six or seven backs.

Talboom & Squad Perform Saturday

Inland Empire fans will have the opportunity to see one of the top teams of the nation in action tomorrow afternoon when the hard running Wyoming Cowboys square off against the Idaho Vandals.

The Cowboys have a good all around team, especially in Eddie Talboom, their 157 pound tailback. Ed strolled down Wyoming way from Notre Dame territory and most of the Cowboys' opponents wish he was back helping Frank Leahy and his oft-beaten Irish.

Vandal Yearlings Meet Utah In Final Contest Of Season

Twin Falls will be the scene tomorrow night of the final quest for victory by the 1950 Idaho freshman football team where it tackles a potent Utah university aggregation in a game set for 8:00 p.m. The local squad winds up its season with the contest, and many of the squad members will be playing their final game before a home crowd.

The Vandal squad is made up of several southern Idaho boys, and this trip will be a general homecoming to them. However, their opponents in the ball game are not expected to be too hospitable.

The Paposes from across the line have exhibited tremendous power in their only outing, a contest which saw them romp over the Brigham Young university yearlings by a 53-6 count. The locals are expecting them to be as rough tomorrow. The Utah coaching staff had this to say about their team: "It is the greatest frosh squad in our school's history."

The medicine that coach Art Smith will find hard to take is the appearance in the game of five Idaho boys who will be wearing the colors of the opposition in the contest. Some of the finest talent in the southern part of the state is expected to provide a major part of the offense for the Utes.

These men include Don Rydatch, a needle-threading passer from Sugar City, Dick Bubak, a Jerome boy, who will make himself felt from his left end position, Jack Cross, a rugged fullback who hails from Twin Falls, tackle Chuck Grant, a 280 pound American Falls product, and halfback Clyde Griffin from Preston.

The 32-man traveling squad which Smith is counting on to stop these boys includes: ends, Walt Hardin, Bruce West, Jack Smiley, Arnold Huber, Joe DeMarsh, Larry Ricks, and George Slavins; tackles, Blaine Simpson, Norman Thomas, Aldred Ames, Jack Eggers, Hal Solinsky, and Leo Netzel; guards, Ray Faraca, Darwin Brown, Dale Matthews, Don Wright, and Dee Reichstein; centers, Gordon Adams and Joe Kemmer.

Backfield men include Bob Cruickshank, Walt Dell, Herb Slezak, Lynn Nichols, Bud Fisher, Tom Jeffers, Ted Katsanes, Dalby Shirley, and Mel Dyer. Injured men who will make the trip include Jerry Leigh, Tom Falash, and Gus Pastos.

Coach Howell Named On Southeast Team

The Associated Press included on their all-time Southeastern conference football squad Coach Dixie Howell, former Alabama All-American and Bowden Wyatt, Wyoming coach who formerly played at Tennessee. Howell was picked on the backfield of the second team and Wyatt was chosen end on the third squad.

Wally Schmidt is the new president for the Vandal Flying Club. Other officers elected are George Peterson, vice president; Bob Nixon, secretary; and George Gable, treasurer.

Semi-finals will be held on Wednesday and finals will be run off on Thursday.

Names of qualifiers for the semi-finals and finals will be posted immediately after the preliminaries. Intramural managers should see that their swimmers are ready for events in which they qualify.

Entries must be filed in the intramural office, Memorial Gym, not later than Saturday, November 4. No substitutes will be made after that time.

Willis Sweet No. 2 Mural Grid Champ

Willis Sweet No. 2, defending intramural football champion, made another killing Tuesday by whipping Sigma Nu, 8-6, to annex campus honors. Willis Sweet had to come from behind in the final period on Dex Linck's touchdown.

WSH had opened scoring early in the game on a safety, but SN tallied on a pass play to Bob Frink.
