The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

(The first part of this column is being written today by the campus's foremost authority on good places to eat, Duncan (Hines) Do-er, by Jason's request.)

Tuesday evening we and the rest of the members of the ASUI Executive Board ate dinner at the Delta Gamma sorority, by invitation.

Upon entering the house, many fine ladies greeted us and led us to the living room where we were seated in soft chairs. The lovely co-eds then surrounded us, lounging comfortably and intriguingly, on the rug. The whole thing brought back old memories to us, memories of our days in China as an observer there — peeping in Peiping.

After observing, and talking for awhile, dinner was served and we were led to the downstairs dining room. We ate superbly cooked breaded pork chops, potatoes and gravy, salad, peas and cake. We don't know why the latter for we were content to look at the hostesses for dessert.

After eating such a meal, we conclude, as the foremost authority on places to eat on the campus, that the DG's set the best table at the University of Idaho.

Of course we haven't dined anywhere else, but . . .

Situation Normal
Nine weeks quizzes are nearly a week past now, and students are beginning to settle down again to rest before another session of serious studying when finals roll near.

Social life has picked up, with two all-campus dances this weekend, one each Friday and Saturday evening, plus numerous organization and living group dances.

But vacations seem the primary concern with everyone now. Only four shopping days remain till Thanksgiving, and 31 till Christmas.

No more home football games are left. The two remaining games, Boston university this Saturday and Arizona State at Tempe the following Saturday, are too far away for the average student to attend.

However basketball season opens December 1 against Idaho State college, and six home games are on the schedule previous to the start of the Christmas and New Year's holidays December 20.

Students will find little trouble keeping their leisure hours filled, even though nine weeks quizzes and home football games are past.

The Women Have a Problem
Serenades, it has been reported to Jason, occur almost any time of the night. The ladies, as is the custom, must get out of bed and appear on the fire escape, balcony, windows, or other appropriate place, which shows recognition of the serenader. Some times these good ladies have had to get up several times in the course of an evening to recognize the aggregation of melodious male voices singing in their honor.

These ladies, we have been told, would like to see something done about this situation, i.e., that only organized serenades which have notified the co-ed domicile they were coming should be given recognition. Also that a limit be set on how late these serenades could be given.

This, they say, would not prevent the males from singing to them any time. They say they like to hear them, but could do so while staying in bed, and would not have to get up to recognize unannounced serenades late in these cold winter evenings.

Realizing that the Argonaut is the students' newspaper, and desiring ideas and contribution from as many persons as possible, Jason has decided to make the submission of contributions easier. It is sometimes difficult for a student to find his way to the Arg offices, or to spare a stamp so a box will be placed near the main entrance of the Student Union building into which letters or any other contributions can be placed. How about using it?

Lockery Leaves For Caldwell Clinic
Glenn R. Lockery, associate professor of music, left last night for Caldwell, where he will serve as critic-judge at the Snake River high school music clinic.

Caldwell's music clinic will end tonight, and Lockery will return to the campus Sunday.

Recruiting Committee Organized

Plans for next summer's student recruiting are well under way recently stated Pat Duffy, Chairman of Student Recruiting Committee. This is the second year for such a committee at the university. As a result of the excellent work which was done last summer, the recruiting service drew praise from President Buchanan.

The purpose of this committee is to contact all graduating high school seniors throughout the state and sell them the idea of going to the University of Idaho.

This year's organizing committee is composed of Dave Lau, Bob Lee, Bob Stivers, Glenn Miller, Moire Charters, Connie Baxter, Allen Derr, Bob Burnham, Roger Swanstrom, Bruce Whitmore, Sue Jones and Betty Jo Garber.

The committee has chosen students representing most of the Idaho high schools. All of the student representatives will be contacted this week. A meeting is scheduled Monday evening at 7:15 in conference rooms A and B in the SUB. At this meeting they will be oriented as to what is expected of them in the way of contacting high school seniors.

They will also be given the names of the graduating seniors from their home town. After the meeting Monday evening the students will contact as many people from their home town as possible to help them.

This large group will then meet the second week in December at which time they will be given information comparing costs of the University of Idaho with those of other large schools in the Northwest.

The committee hopes that the students will have enough information concerning the university and other schools to be able to start contacting the high school seniors during Christmas vacation.

Commerce Meeting Planned Tomorrow

Members of the North Idaho Chamber of Commerce and government-elect Len Jordan will visit Moscow and the university today and tomorrow. Approximately 300 men commonly interested in "promoting mining, timber, agriculture, education and business in the area" are expected.

Business meetings will feature speakers covering a wide range of topics. Most of the talks will relate to Idaho, directly or indirectly.

Saturday, state legislators and new Chamber officers will lunch at the Student Union cafeteria. A tour of Idaho's new buildings will follow.

Rides Arranged By Travel Bureau

Idaho's Travel Bureau will act as a go between for drivers and riders for the Thanksgiving weekend.

Ag Bawl Features "Harvest" Theme

"Harvest Time" will be the featured theme of the Ag Bawl tomorrow night in the Student Union ballroom. Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. to the music of Carl Painter's orchestra.

Suits and good dresses will be classed as "strictly square" as cotton dresses, levis and plaid shirts will be worn by the dancing couples.

Prizes for the most original farmer and farmerette attire will be awarded during the intermission period. Patrons and patronesses will judge the costumes. Halftime activities will also feature square dancing with Ralph Wilder calling.

Tickets at $1.50 per couple are now on sale in all men's living groups and tickets will be sold at the door tomorrow night. Ag club president, Harry Isaman, is also selling tickets.

Floyd Rowberry is general chairman of the dance aided by Bob Schild, assistant chairman, Bill Ringer and Howard Shepherd are in charge of intermission arrangements. Committee heads for decorations and posters are Jim Wackington and Frank Cochrane.

Patrons and patronesses for the Bawl will be representatives of three college of agriculture departments: Dr. and Mrs. George W. Woodbury, horticulture; Dr. and Mrs. William E. Foltz, agriculture economics; and Dr. and Mrs. C. W. Hodgson, animal husbandry.

Initiation For Sigma Tau To Be Today

Formal initiation for Sigma Tau national engineering honorary pledges will be today at 5:30 in the Christian Institute.

Pledges selected from the junior class are Martin J. Ourada, George J. Figge, Louis T. Frohman, James C. Martin, James L. Henry, Ralph D. Hamilton, and Meredith S. Glenn.

Also from the junior class are George G. Hespelt, Robert L. Drexler, Joffre P. Meyers, John A. Keller, Arlan Webb, and Ray Weholt.

Selected from the senior class are Cliff Jensen, Don Nielson, Gene Coppinger, Kare Reed, and Vaughn Denning.

Banquet Follows
These students are selected on the basis of scholarship, practicality, and sociability. They must be in the upper one-third of their class.

Following the initiation, a banquet will be held in the Student Union building.

Rally Well Attended Despite Cold Snow

Regardless of the snow, the rally Wednesday evening was well attended. The usual route was followed and ended at the Administration building. Jim Chaband and Vern Baxter were the speakers.

Norm Green expressed the thanks of the yell leaders for the large turnout both Wednesday evening and Thursday morning. He also stated that the yell leaders are pleased with the spirit of university students. They attended a rally at Oregon State and reported that the Beavers had a small turnout and showed poor sportsmanship during game and the rally.

Students who remain at the university for the Thanksgiving holiday are requested to meet the team when they return on that Sunday morning.

Madrigal Singers To Appear Sunday

S. Keith Forney will direct the Madrigal Singers in a program to be presented Sunday at 4 p.m. in the university auditorium. In the group are sopranos: Shirley Fowler, Daisy Graham, and Joanne Peterson; altos: Loralee Epperson, Nancy Shelton, and Joyce Walsler; tenors: Dudley Carson and Rex Eikum; basses: Robert Lind and Gary Neffinger.

Infantry Chorus Will Present First Of Concert Series

Tuesday night the de Paur Infantry Chorus will appear in Memorial gymnasium as the first in the community concerts series for this year.

When America heard the de Paur Infantry Chorus for the first time, it welcomed this attraction that was the first important musical attraction to spring from World War II. Last spring, at the end of its third season, the Chorus had broken all existing performance records for a choral attraction, with an average of 175 concerts each year.

Part Of 372nd Infantry
This chorus was born in off-duty hours in a sprawling New Jersey training camp by a group of Negro soldiers who liked to sing.

During working hours they did their individual jobs as soldiers, but at night they met in mess halls, chapels or wherever they could to rehearse the songs they have since made famous.

The Chorus was part of the 372nd Infantry Regiment which was alerted for the Pacific in early 1944 and moved to a departure station in Arizona. At the same time, Captain Leonard de Paur, the noted conductor, and an infantry officer who had been on special duty with the Army Air Forces, was assigned to the regiment and placed in charge of the chorus.

Then the 372nd Regiment, including its chorus, sailed for the Pacific and to Hawaii where the singers were invited to give a program for the Pacific high command. The concert was a terrific success there as it had been in the United States.

When the war was over, the singers decided to stay together professionally under Captain de Paur's direction and last year made their third civilian concert tour. At their concluding concert in May, Frederick C. Schang, president of Columbia Artists' management, presented the chorus with a silver pitcher in commemoration of this record breaking season.

Idaho Student Sells Magazine Articles

Mrs. Audrey Stephens Lowrie, student at the university, is gaining national attention as a magazine article writer. The wife of Associate Professor Donald C. Lowrie, Mrs. Lowrie has returned to college studies to complete work for a B.S. degree.

While enrolled in the magazine writing course last year, Mrs. Lowrie sold two of her class assignments to national trailer magazines. Recently four additional articles were accepted by "Outdoor Life," "American Home," "Trailer-R-News," and "Trailer Life."

Spurs And IKs Schedule Exchange

Spurs and I.K.s, women and men's service honoraries, will meet for their "get acquainted" exchange tomorrow night at Willis Sweet hall. An annual affair, the exchange is scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Dancing will be the main attraction during the hour long meeting. The objective of the exchange is to give members of the two campus honoraries an opportunity to meet each other.

Ag Bawlers

Putting the final touches on arrangements for the annual Ag Bawl this Saturday night, are, left to right, Bill Ringer, Jim Walker, Jim Wackington, Howard Shepherd, Floyd Rowberry, Frank Cochrane, and Bob Schild. The dance, with the theme "Harvest Time" is an all-campus affair. Admission is $1.50 per couple.

Now We'll Know What To Buy Hmmh?

A radio mechanic in London claims to have invented a machine which reveals the sex of unborn children. What he says he was originally searching for was a machine which would tell the unborn's physical condition before birth. But it seems he slipped up and made another great discovery.

If the machine really works, think of the kick it will take out of having a new arrival in the family. No longer will dad's associates be able to bet with him on whether the young'un is going to be a boy or a girl. If dad wants a boy, and mom a girl, they will be having fights before the little tyke is even born. What a situation! There are enough family squabbles now.

This mechanic says the gadget does tell the unborn's state of general health. Seems healthy organisms radiate some sort of electrical energy which his machine can pick up from a distance of 21 inches. Those that are sick give off weaker radiations. All he does then is look on his radar screen and tell whether the child will be sick or healthy.

He won't reveal how the machine distinguishes boy from girl — probably in fear that some national betting combine will have some other genius develop a method of "beating a sure thing," and then placing bets with expectant parents, even giving them odds.

The biggest dread this machine brings is the thrill to which a nurse is entitled of running out of the delivery room and announcing to the proud papa that "it's a boy." The thrill of having him faint because it's twins has already been fairly well removed—please don't take this last pleasure away from the poor nurse!

Veterans Recalled Should Notify VA

Veterans recalled to active duty while they are receiving benefit payments should notify the Veterans Administration immediately of their recall, the VA said today.

The VA added that if a veteran receives such a payment covering any period after he has entered active duty, he should return it to the VA office which has his records. Otherwise, it will remain as an overpayment against him until he disposes of it.

Records Now Available By Idaho Vandaleers

By Sheila Jaussen
Selections by Idaho's celebrated Vandaleers, 60-voice mixed choral group, can now be heard on record players throughout the entire state.

This has been made possible through the combined efforts of the Vandaleers, the university Radio Center, and the RCA Victor recording company of Hollywood. They have issued an album of three record reproductions of Vandaleer selections which are now available at the SUB bookstore.

C. H. Peterson, director of the university Radio Center, tape recorded selections last year at the Vandaleer concert in April, although the recordings at that time were not originally planned for album use. However, the results of the April recordings were highly satisfactory, according to music department officials, so were thus used for the album.

During the summer months, the recorded tapes were sent to the RCA Victor company in Hollywood which reproduced them into regular records. These custom-made albums were received here about the middle of October.

According to recording experts, the quality of the Vandaleer discs is comparable to the regularly produced commercial records put out by various professional organizations. RCA Victor is one of the leading recording companies in the country.

Alfred Dunn of the university art department designed the white, rose, and black cover of the album. All art work in the album was sent from the university to California for final production. Broadway selections, Negro spirituals, sea songs, and songs of the church are recorded on the Vandaleer discs. Included are choral selections from the Broadway musical, Carousel and songs from "Sea Charm" by Frederick Picket.

Transparencies Are Needed By Gem

Color transparencies are needed by the Gem of the Mountains. Transparencies loaned to the Gem will be returned as soon as a color print can be made. Also the color print will be given to the donor, if desired, as soon as the Gem is finished with it. Please bring these to the Gem office after 4 p.m. any weekday.

All persons who missed their Gem picture appointment, or those who failed to arrange for an appointment, should make arrangements for a picture. All persons who wish to use their last year's picture in the 1951 Gem should call in person to notify the studio.

Women Journalists Are WSC Guests

Idaho's Theta Sigma group, women's journalism honorary, were guests of the WSC Theta Sigma Phi chapter Tuesday evening.

Dr. Buchanan, head of the WSC English department, spoke to the joint group about novels in 1950. He especially emphasized that journalists are entering the novel-writing field more.

Members of the Idaho group who attended are Harriet Walrath, Marilyn Petersen, Virginia Ostrom, Donna Jo Walenta, Mrs. Sarah Hutchinson, and Anne DuSault.

All-Campus Dance To Be Tonight At 9

"All-campus Sport Dance," sponsored by Alpha Phi Omega, national men's service honorary, will feature Dean Larsen's orchestra tonight in the Student Union ballrooms. Dancing will begin at 8:30 p.m. and end at midnight.

Tickets are on sale for $1.25 per couple at all men's living groups and will also be available at the door tonight. Programs engraved with the crest of Alpha Phi Omega will be given out at the dance. Attire as indicated by the dance theme, will be sport clothes.

During intermission, announcement of the campus chess tournament winners will be made. Three prizes of individual trophies will be awarded to the three top entries. Sixty students participated in the all-campus chess tournament which commenced November 5, and will end this afternoon.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance this evening will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Bond, and Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Abbott.

General chairman appointed to plan arrangements for tonight's dance, was Kenny West. Don Willis is in charge of the campus chess tournament. Planning the dance programs was Dave Lau, and Bob Kleffner handled publicity and posters.

Bucket May Close Unless We Dispose

Student Union committee members announced today that it may soon be necessary to close the cafeteria from 11:30 a.m. to 12 noon to prepare for serving lunch.

Students' failure to observe the rule that they must clear their own tables has caused luncheon customers difficulty in finding a clean table. This rule was made to eliminate additional help and enable the cafeteria to sell coffee for a nickel.

Unless students begin clearing their own tables, it will be necessary to close the cafeteria during the half-hour before lunch.

Uhlmann Award Open To Students

The Educational Advisory Committee of the Chicago Board of Trade recently announced that the Uhlmann Awards student contest is open to marketing students in the undergraduate and graduate divisions for the current school year 1950-51. All students in recognized colleges of the United States and Canada are eligible.

Cash awards are offered for the contest. These include first prize—$300; second prize—$150; third prize—$75, and four honorable mentions of $25. Duplicate prizes will be awarded in each division.

Rules of the contest and other information explaining essay competition are being distributed by the Education Advisory Committee to deans of colleges and to marketing professors. Students interested may obtain further information from instructors.

Grades Ready

Mid-term grades can be secured now at the academic deans' offices.

Sigma Delta Chi Delegate Finds Miami Confab Sunny

Florida sunshine and nationally prominent figures vied for the attention of Idaho's John Dillon during the 1950 convention of Sigma Delta Chi. Men's professional Journalism honorary. As president of Idaho's chapter and its delegate to this year's meeting at Miami, Florida, Dillon was in a position to enjoy both.

Editors, publishers, and reporters from the country's important newspapers, as well as leading military and diplomatic figures journeyed to Miami for the confab. Staying at the luxurious Sans Souci hotel, the delegates received Florida hospitality at its best. Governor Warren and Miami's mayor welcomed the visitors and placed the city at their disposal during the four-day meeting.

Spoke On Problems
The main question before the convention was how—and whether—the press is meeting its responsibilities in all its fields and mediums. Opinions concerning world affairs, and journalism's part in them, were presented to the group.

Dillon was especially impressed by speeches picturing the military position of the United States. Lt. General Alfred Gruenther, deputy chief of staff for plans, spoke on problems facing the nation today. He emphasized the importance of military strength in Europe and gave a broad picture of military problems.

Three prominent byline performers, John Crosby, Robert Ruark, and Inez Robb matched wits in a panel discussion of the newspaper columnist's trade. Ralph McGill, editor of the Atlanta Constitution, and Grove Patterson, of the Toledo Blade, also spoke to the convention. McGill, nationally known newspaper and magazine writer gave the principal address.

Bask In Sunshine
During business sessions of the fraternity, a proposed code of ethics was considered. John McClelland, Jr., was elected president of the group.

Between speeches and business sessions, delegates somehow found time to bask in the sunshine, attend a dinner, and witness the classic Orange Bowl football game.

Despite the obvious attraction of Florida weather, Dillon was glad to return to Idaho where he saw the first snow of his two week trip. Speaking of the convention he remarked that it was very enlightening. "The speakers were unusually fine," he commented, "and I consider the entire convention a success."

Huber And Forney Present Concert

Louis Huber, violinist, and S. Keith Forney, baritone, will present a concert in the Grangeville high school auditorium this evening.

Accompanists for the program are Marian Frykman and Hall M. Macklin. The concert is under the sponsorship of the Grangeville Kiwanis club.

The four music faculty members will return to the campus tomorrow morning.

Portland College Offers Awards

Cash prizes totaling $250 will be awarded winners of a playwriting contest which is being sponsored by the speech arts department of Lewis and Clark college in Portland.

Whitehead Attends Annual Conference

Dr. A. E. Whitehead, head of the Speech department, is attending the annual staff conference of the State department of Public Health in Boise.

"Psychology of Persuasive Speaking" was Dr. Whitehead's topic when he spoke before the group yesterday. He will address the general assembly this afternoon on "Conference Leadership and Participation."

In addition to the speeches, he is serving as critic for panel discussions.

"More emphasis is being placed on speech and panel discussions at this year's annual conference and I am to serve as an advisor and critic on this," Dr. Whitehead said.

AIEE Program Set For Saturday

Dancing, card games, and movies are on the program for a lab party sponsored by the student chapter of the AIEE, in Kirtley Electrical lab, Saturday night at 8:30 p.m.

Electrical engineering students and faculty who wish to attend, should sign the list on the EE bulletin board and indicate the number of guests invited.

Four-line Jingles Win Cash Prizes

As part of the national advertising campaign conducted with Lucky Strike's slogan, "Be Happy-Go Lucky," a jingle contest open to all college and university students in the United States has been organized.

Prizes of $25 in cash will be awarded to those students submitting winning jingles, and students can send in as many four-line jingles as they wish. Some of the jingles accepted have already appeared in the Lucky Strike ads in 275 college newspapers.

Contestants should mail their jingles to "Happy-Go-Lucky," P. O. Box 67, New York, N. Y.

Nielsen Tells Of Experience Abroad

Miss Elaine Nielsen, head of the Home Economics department, told of her experiences in France, Italy, and England last summer at the recent Home Economics club meeting. She particularly stressed topics in the field of textiles and clothing.

Second on the program Marian Eisenhower, an Idaho graduate, spoke briefly on opportunities for home economics in today's business world. Miss Eisenhower is now "Celia Lee," the Home Economist for Centennial Flour Milling company in Spokane.

Naida Whybark gave an account of the Home Economics college club conference last week at the College of Puget Sound in Tacoma.

More Support For KUOI

One of the other ASUI branches of the publications division has had difficulty in getting started this year. Off and on since school has started (mostly off, due to trouble with FCC about operating in the wrong frequency), radio station KUOI, the Voice of the Vandal, is at last clearing its throat and being heard—at times—over the campus.

Hard working members of the staff have voted to forego their wages, this same money to be devoted to improvement of the station through purchase of new and better equipment. It wasn't until last year that KUOI became an organ of the ASUI. If tentative plans develop, it will eventually step up from the six watt power it is now operating on, and staff members are hoping to get permission to build a station around a 250 watt transmitter.

In less than five years, mostly from work done by students interested in the field on their own time and at their expense, KUOI has built up a fine library of records, and broadcasts a fine program for those fortunate enough to get reception. The studio allocated them on the third floor of the new Student Union building is a great improvement over their last location—in the Engineering building shack.

But this improvement isn't sufficient compensation for those who believe and work for such a worthy cause. Smaller colleges than ours have more powerful stations. And if members of KUOI's staff are willing to donate their time free, it seems the least we can do is to provide more finances and better equipment for them.

Are Idaho Coeds Beautiful? Some Students Disagree

A short time ago, Jason, in his column, stated that Idaho was the home of the most beautiful women in the Northwest. Now, I am no judge of feminine beauty, but there are over 2,000 men on the campus who should know.

Therefore, I decided to find out if the boys agreed with Jason, and set off on my merry way, determined to accost a few unsuspecting males and wring from them an opinion.

Question: "Do you agree with Jason's statement that the University of Idaho has the most beautiful women in the Pacific Northwest, and what is the reason for your opinion?"

Don't Agree
I began my travels at the foot of Hello Walk, where I met Bob Gartin, Sigma Nu, who looked rather forlorn as he said: "Well, we're here and they're here, and we might as well make the best of them, regardless."

I left Bob and continued to the Ad building where I found two likely prospects. Harold Collett, Pine Hall, thought for a minute and decided, "No of course, beauty is only skin deep, and I don't know enough of the coeds to know how their inner selves are, but as for sheer beauty, I say no."

Seen Worse
Paul Araquistain, Phi Kappa Tau, refused to commit himself, as he stated, "I've seen worse, but I've also seen better." (His evasive answer acclaims his prowess as a politician.)

About this time, the bell rang, and as the students rushed out of the classrooms I caught two more opinion-givers.

Jerry Asker, Delta Chi: "No. Of course, I wear glasses and it may be that my eyes are just too good."
Verhob Bait, Beta: "I haven't been to any other colleges in the Northwest, but they could hardly be worse."

Reporter Doubts
About this time, even I began to doubt the truth of Jason's statement, but I remained undaunted and decided that I would go to the Nest. There I found an entire booth filled with overflowing Delta Tau Delta's, and I asked them the question of the week.

Elmer Peterson, Delta, regarded me with a cynical expression and answered briefly: "Hell no, I'm not blind. Nods of approval came from Russ Baum and Al Huggins. One Man Agrees

I really felt low by this time, but resolved to make one more attempt, regardless of how futile it might be. I turned and saw a group of likely looking Phi Deltas in the

Dances And Dinner Guests Are Subjects Of This Week's Social Life On Campus

"Seventh Heaven" and "Jungle Jug" were the themes of the pledge dances held by Kappa Alpha Theta and Delta Tau Delta respectively. Angels and clouds, and sketches of jungle animals carried out the themes.

Beta Theta Pi held a fireside last Friday evening. Plans are underway for the annual "Bowery Dance" by Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Kappa Alpha Theta
The annual formal honoring the pledge class was held in the chapter house last Friday evening. The theme for the dance was "Seventh Heaven." Carrying out the theme, the living room was decorated in blue with a replica of a pledge in front of the fireplace. Around the walls were angels on clouds of angels' hair. Each angel bore the name of a pledge. The dining room was decorated in white with twin silver stars on one wall. The archway from the foyer was decorated as the gates to heaven and the theme was written above the archway.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Mrs. Vera Binder, Mr. and Mrs. Newt Cutler, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Decker. Music was furnished by Art Woodberry's Quartet. The dance committee was composed of Tally Brown, chairman; Shirley Churchill, Jody Hutchinson, Martha Sue Neal and Janet Fulton.

The Brother-Son banquet was held Wednesday. Brother and son guests were Bill Briggs, Jim, Tom, and Ned Neal; Fred Van Engelen, Glen Miller, Charles Newhouse, Johnny McDonald, Rex and Bob Barstow, Johnny Hutchinson, George Henley, Bill Roden, John Martin and Tom Bucklin. Tally Brown, social chairman, and Rae Gentry were in charge of arrangements for the banquet.

Sunday dinner guests were Lester Saunders, Hazelton; Mrs. Frank Sample, Buhl; Adson Stroner and Bill Briggs.

Delta Tau Delta

"Jungle Jug" was the theme of the annual pledge dance Saturday night. The chapter house was decorated to portray a scene in deepest, dark Africa. Jungle animals were sketched on the walls with photographs of the pledges' heads taking the place of the usual animal heads. Francis Shultz and Dale Faylor were committee heads. Refreshments consisted of bananas, coconut, cookies, and fruit punch. Patrons and patronesses were Mrs. Kay Christiansen, Mrs. Underdahl, Dean and Mrs. A. S. Janssen, and Captain and Mrs. Rex Blewett.

Dinner guests Monday night were Lindy Walkington and David Thompson.

Kappa Sigma
Recent dinner guests at the chapter house were Mr. and Mrs. John Gladoff and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Torsen, Pasco.

Delta Gamma
Members of the ASUI executive board were guests at dinner Tuesday evening. Those present were Janice McCormick, Al Derr, Vern Bahr, Don Wills, Ralph Fothergill, Andy Christensen, Harry Turner, Jerry McKee, Rosie Schmidt, Hyde Jacobs, DeForest Tovey, and Mrs. Charles O. Decker.

Sunday dinner guests were Mrs. H. R. Laurie, Trail, B.C. Canada; Sue Beardsley, Weiser; Barbara Pickett, and Ann and Jean Royer.

Alpha Phi
Paul Araquistain was a dinner guest Friday night.

An exchange was held Wednesday with Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

Sigma Nu
Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson Overholzer, Sagle, Idaho were weekend guests.

Pi Beta Phi
Jerric Hogue, Mary McDonald, Ann Kimbrough, Barbara Reeves, Virginia Orazem, Jane Perly, Mary Ellen Stefanac, and Jackie Scott were Wednesday dinner guests.

Weekend guests were Norma See and Delores Morrison, Buhl; Gloria Maule and Eldine Wilson; Payette.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Robert Gronomy and Bill Sorenson were dinner guests Wednesday evening.

Plans are being made in preparation for the annual "Bowery Dance" to be held December 2. The sweetheart dinner will be held Sunday.

Beta Theta Pi
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Green were dinner guests at the chapter house last week.

Sunday dinner guests were Bill Simmons and Joyce Garner.

A fireside was held in the chapter house last Friday night.

"Did you keep the date with your girl last night in all that rain?"

"Naw, I waited for her for two hours, and she didn't come, so I stood her up."

WRA Hockey Team Leaves Tomorrow For Vancouver

Idaho's WRA field hockey team will leave tomorrow morning at 7 o'clock for Vancouver, British Columbia for the WSC team.

Schools participating in the Vancouver tourney in addition to Idaho and WSC are Oregon State college and WWCE.

Miss Natalie Wells, women's physical education instructor, will accompany the team to this tournament. Idaho team members are: forwards, Pat Berry, Linda Archibald, Joyce Killsgaard, Darlene Towery, Rae Sallsbury, Barbara Thurston, Jane Fisk, and Marya Parkins.

Return Monday
Halfbacks are: Barbara Dudgeon, Maybelle Gardner (captain), and Blanche Pelleberg; Fullbacks: Blanche Erickson, Colleen Hinchee, and Elsie Krey.

A banquet will be given in honor of the teams and there will be discussion of the rules and regulations of field hockey. The team expects to return to Moscow early Monday morning.

Baker-Thomas Tell Wedding Plans

December 27 was revealed as the forthcoming wedding date of Jody Raber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Raber of Boise to Eugene Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thomas, Salem, Ore., at a fireside at the Pi Beta Phi house Sunday evening.

Miss Raber, Pi Beta Phi house president, is a junior history major, and a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Sigma Alpha Iota, and former member of Vandaleers.

Mr. Thomas is a law student at Columbia university and a member of Phi Gamma Delta.

The couple plan to make their home in New York following their marriage at St. Mary's Church in Boise.

Decorations will depict a shipwreck, and music will be from records. Members of the NROTC and their wives will be patrons at the dance.

Harold Correll, president of Eagle and Anchor, is in charge of the dance arrangements.

Student Produced Play Receives Arg Orchids

By Ken Kyle

Last Tuesday evening's studio presentation of Sophocles' "Antigone" demonstrated very effectively that ages-old theatre, well done, can match quite nicely almost any modern dramatic offering.

In a word, "Antigone" was good. The interpretation was good, the scenes were good, and the over-all effect was good. It is to be granted that there were a couple of hitches, but that is to be expected even in professional productions. In all honesty, even the hitches were, in a manner of speaking, good.

Play Divided
"Antigone" is a tragedy, and tragic shows are difficult. The Studio cast overcame this inherent difficulty with noticeable ease. Down to the last man, the last chorus member, there was a surprising confidence in the lines and in the interpretive mode.

As originally staged, the action in "Antigone" is continuous. It would seem that this might make the play rather a drawn-out affair, but modern ingenuity triumphed. The play was divided into three parts, a gong sounding backstage between each part, and an entirely different cast appearing in each. This afforded the audience a slight break in the continuity while perpetuating the movement of the play, and also offered parts in the show to the maximum number of players.

Because of this division, certain players stand out among their fellows more easily. It is difficult to point to any one person as outstanding. The calibre of the acting was such as to prevent any opportunity. However, there are six cast members who deserve special mention for parts exceptionally well done.

Honors Given
June Schalkau, who appeared in the final division, was the light of the evening when she, as Antigone, explained to King Creon the reason for her burial of her brother, Polynices. Her tearful interpretation was moving and quite convincing. She deserves a good part of the credit for the show's success.

Ted Gallagher and Joan Coble should be singled out among those appearing in Part I. While they had the show entirely before them, they were as convincing a pair of Greeks as could be seen. Gallagher had the voice for his part as Creon, and Miss Coble the winsome charm that is Ismene.

Another Creon, the one of Part II, merits special mention. He is Hugh Burgess. With more maturity he could have been more convincing, but his acting is not to be disparaged.

Credit Given Group
In a different role, which he played exceptionally well, was Fred Burton, the prophet Tiresias. Burton handled the part of the aged seer with fine insight.

Particular credit should be given to the chorus and its director, Georgie Hemovich. Supplanting a narrator, this group was a stand-out of the play. Their lines were spoken with a warmth and feeling that is seldom found in group readings.

"Antigone" was entirely student directed. Part I was under the hand of Lorraine Cole, assisted by Ann Kettenbach; Part II was directed by Ken Goldsberry, assisted by Clyde Winters; and Part III by Marie Hargis, assisted by Greth Beck.

Chorus Listed
Additional members of the cast included Marian Davidson, Jerry Sparazzo, Mary Thompson, Margaret Stewart, Don Lawrence, Stowell Johnstone, Greta Beck, and John Kugler.

The chorus was composed of Robert Fullmer, Morton Grinker, Michael Hemovich, Rene Matthews, Shirley Pettijohn, Lois Troxell, and director Georgie Hemovich.

The cast, chorus, and student directors are to be commended for presenting a local audience with such a fine show, excellently done.

Henry Ford delivered a speech at a special welfare meeting, and in the course of his address said: "What more can we do to help suffering humanity?"

Came a voice from the back of the hall. "Put another spring in the back seat, Henry."

'I Am With You' Will Be Yours Soon

A mission film "I Am With You" is scheduled to be shown at Our Savior's Lutheran church Sunday at 7 p.m. The 75-minute movie is being sponsored by the Lutheran Students Association.

This film shows a young couple working in the mission field in Africa, and the hardships and tragedies they encounter. Although the movie is Swedish-produced, it now has an English sound track. By popular demand, the film was held over in New York for several weeks.

A free-will offering for Lutheran Student action (youth missions throughout the world) will be taken.

Vandals--Terriers Tangle Tomorrow In Beantown Tussle

The outcome of a football contest is as unpredictable as the weather around the Palouse area in November. You just can't forecast it correctly. One minute things can look brighter than sunshine and the next—darker than the inside of a cow.

Last week's pigskin picks were on the bright side for this gusser. I tried to forecast 21 games correctly—got 16 right and an average of .762 percent. Thus, out of 140 selections, an even hundred contests have fallen in my favor, 24 have gone the other way and six have resulted in knotted affairs.

Having squared myself with you leather lunatics, here's how I'm calling this week's games (and how you shouldn't).

Idaho over Boston U. by 6. This one is a mathematical selection on my part. First, the card operators and experts are tabbing Idaho a six to 13 point underdog. Point one in favor of the Vandals.

Secondly, Idaho has played the stronger opposition of the two institutions. Vandal opponents have won 19 contests, dropped 16 and tied five for a .475 average. Boston... opponents... have come out on top in 21 games, lost 19 and fought four draws for a final tabulation of .454 percent.

Point three in favor of Idaho is a statistical headache. Idaho has chalked up 105 first downs to her opponents 80. Boston U has run up 77 FD's to the opposition's 82. On the ground the Silver and Gold has run up a total of 1512 yards rushing to the Vandal opponents 1060. The Scarlet and White has ground out 1,071 yards to the Terriers' rival total of 1123 yards.

Idaho has pitched 100 passes, completing 45 for a net total of 650 yards. Vandal opponents have propelled 132 aerials, completing 68 for a final gain of 886 yards. Boston university has launched 105 passes, completed 75 for a net total of 449 yards. The Terrier opposition has thrown 96 heaves, completing 51 for gains of 628 yards.

In the punt return department (you can figure the speed of the ends on this one) Idaho has held her opponents to a total runback of 151 yards. The Vandals themselves have gained 254 yards on punt runbacks.

Boston university has permitted her rivals to carry punts back for 235 yards, the Terriers boasting a 218 return mark for their own efforts.

All in all—it looks like win number three for Dixie's men tomorrow afternoon.

The Rest In Hash House Order Oregon State over WSC by 7. Flipped a coin and it fell tails for the Beavers.

Colorado over Oregon by 6. Colorado is the best team in the country for three quarters.

Washington over USC by 7. Could be the day's big upset.

Army over Stanford by 14. Guns shoot farther than arrows.

Iowa over Notre Dame by 1. Irish victory string of two straight gets clipped.

Illinois over Ohio State by 6. This is the blue chip battle of the Midwest. It's a game with every ingredient a gridiron classic requires. The Rose Bowl title and the pot of gold looks like the fighting Illini's.

Indiana over Marquette by 7.

Michigan over Northwestern by 14.

Purdue over Minnesota by 6. Kansas over Kansas State by 34. Oklahoma over Missouri by 13. Victory number 29 for the Sooners.

Texas A & M over Rice by 14. SMU over Arkansas by 14. The Mustangs will snap their two game losing streak.

Texas over TCU by 13.

Navy over Columbia by 14.

Pennsylvania over Wisconsin by 7. Only because of the Badgers bruising Buckeye battle.

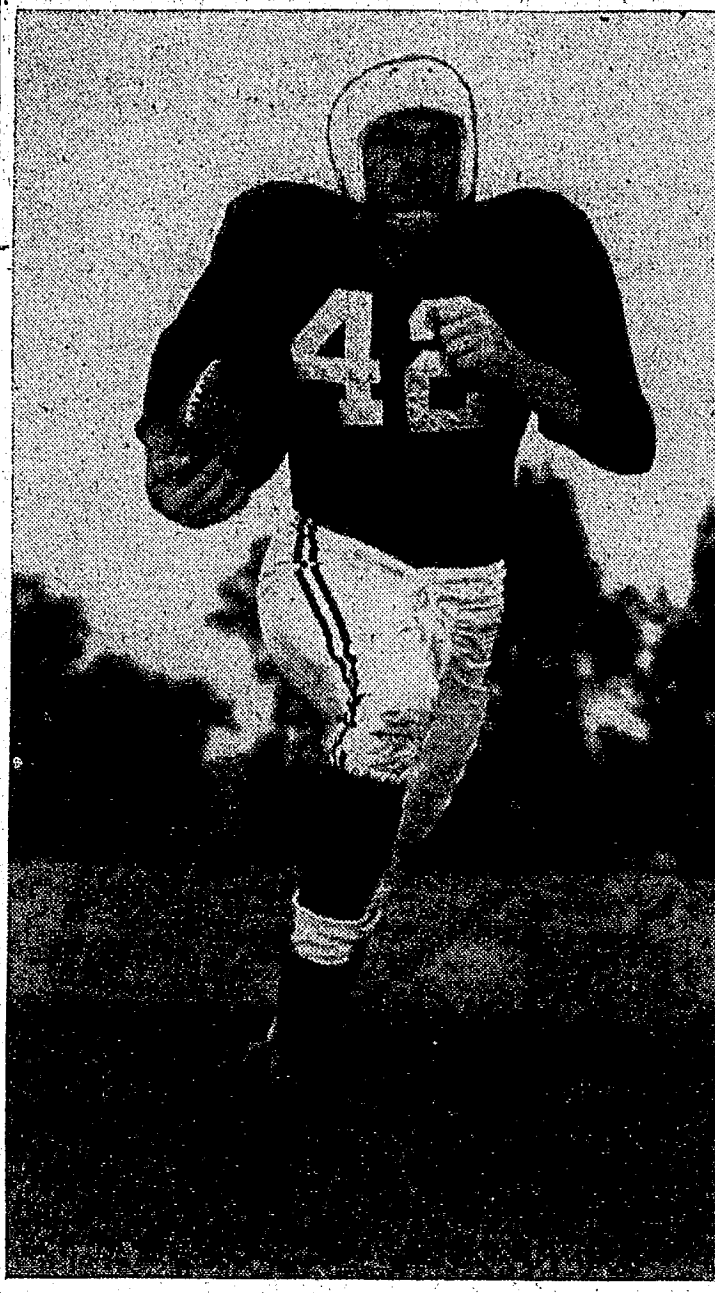

Alabama over Georgia Tech by 14. Looks like the Tide is in for awhile.

Tennessee over Mississippi by 20.

LSU over Mississippi State by 20.

My top selection of the week—The Shippensburg State Raiders over the Slippery Rock State Rockets by 14.

Terrier Touchdown Trampling Threat

Boston's Bob Whelan, a fleet senior maulcarrier who last fall was a unanimous All New England halfback, is one of the deerfooted Scarlet and White gridders angling for a win over Idaho at Fenway Park tomorrow afternoon. Whelan established a new Boston university scoring record last year when he tallied 60 points in eight games. In the Syracuse game last season he gained 240 yards on the ground, reeling off touchdowns runs of 79 and 72 yards on a muddy field.

Basketball Magazines Eye Seven Vandal Hoopsters

Two senior members of Idaho's basketball team, Nick Stallworth and Bob Wheeler, have been mentioned as outstanding players on the Pacific coast, by two magazines that recently ventured forth with their pre-season choices of the best teams and individuals to see maple court action in 1951.

Arizona Wildcats On 1951 Turf Schedule

The University of Arizona will be a new opponent for the 1951 Idaho football team. A contest has been scheduled with the Wildcats for November 17 at Tucson. This announcement was made yesterday by Idaho general manager Gale Mix. Arrangements made with the Border conference school call for a home-and-home series with the Arizonans scheduled to make an appearance at Moscow in 1952.

BROADCAST

Radio stations KRPL, Moscow, and KREM, Spokane, will carry a direct play-by-play broadcast of the Idaho-Boston university ball game Saturday from Fenway Park. Game time is scheduled for 10:30 a. m. PST.

IM Volleyball

In what may have decided the League I volleyball championship, SAE defeated ATO Wednesday evening, 8-15, 15-9, 15-11. ATO, last year's champs rushed SAE in the opening set, but SAE retaliated with the aid of Jerry Rockwood's clutch playing to settle the issue in the final pair. 7:30 games last night: Idaho Club No. 1 over FAC No. 1—15-9, 5-15, and 16-14. Lindley Hall No. 2 over Christmas Hall No. 2—15-11, 12-15, and 15-6. Willis Sweet Hall No. 2 over Campus Club No. 2—15-6, 5-15, and 15-11. FAC No. 2 over Pine Hall No. 3—15-12, and 15-10. 8:30 games: ATO over LDS for forfeit. SAE over KS, 15-3, and 15-9. PDT over DST, 15-11, and 15-11. TRE over TMA, 15-10, and 15-7.

Idaho Footballers Travel 33 Strong; Brogan Set To Go

The University of Idaho football squad, coaches, and university officials were scheduled to arrive in Boston, Mass., last night via United Airlines to begin preparation for tomorrow afternoon's battle with the Terriers of Boston university.

Coach Dixie Howell, headman of the Vandals, mentioned Wednesday evening that the team of 33 members was due in at Boston at 8:00 p.m., Thursday. This morning the squad took a tour of the city and immediately following lunch a practice was scheduled to be held on the site of tomorrow's fracas.

Latest reports from Howell reveal that the Vandals, with the exception of the regular offensive fullback King Block, will be at full strength in all backfield spots. Halfback John Brogan is scheduled to go against the New Englanders. Howell believes that the Coeur d'Alene lad has completely recovered from his ankle injury sustained in the Washington State contest three weeks ago.

Not since 1940 have the Vandals invaded the East coast. Ten years ago the Idaho squad moved into Boston to meet one of the east's greatest grid elevens in Boston college, and were battered 60 to 0. Boston college was coached by Frank Leahy that year. The site of tomorrow's contest is in the same Fenway Park.

George Macinko, John Mack, Bob Maays, George McCarty, Billy Mullins, Dave Murphy, Buck Nelson, Jerry Ogle, Don Ringe, Evan Richey, Jim Tallant, Dick Zyzak, and Glen Christian.

Idaho will board their plane for a return trip west to Phoenix, Arizona from Boston at 10:00 a.m. on Sunday. Arrival in Phoenix for preparation of the Arizona State at Tempe contest next Saturday will be at 7:00 p.m. Sunday evening.

Enthusiasm has been high on the campus and especially on the football squad ever since it was announced that Idaho would go East to battle Boston college on the gridiron. But it was at a peak Wednesday evening just 10 hours before Dixie Howell's Vandals departed on the Eastern flight.

One such unit of excitement was the Idaho Club, room 10. Occupants: Marv Beguhl, tackle; Vern Baxter, center; a couple of spectators and Jerry Ogle, brilliant Idaho sophomore end.

The boys couldn't figure the best way to save space and weight and include the necessary items for the 11-day cruise. Beguhl threw in a couple shirts, a fist full of ties and a BOOK. Baxter contributed a few pairs of socks a light jacket and TWO BOOKS. Ogle who was munching on his fifth piece of candy could see that he wasn't going to have room for his luggage, so he stepped back from the candy and remarked, "Men, why don't we limit ourselves to the bare essentials, fold and pack them in a neat manner and if we have any room left, throw in a book or two." All gave Ogle a vote of confidence and admitted that he was a good man.

Jerry is that kind of guy, especially when it comes to athletics. The 19 year old end will be one of the best wingmen to ever wear the Silver and Gold if he improves in his two remaining years of varsity competition like he has the past season.

Jerry claims Coeur d'Alene as his home, but spent his four glorious high school years at Rogers of Spokane. The 175-pound P.E. major was selected All-American high school end, All-State baseball catcher, All-State cinderman and All-City basketball. What more could a coach ask for? Jerry concentrates on football however, and he has been mentioned by sports writers as one of the sophomores to watch from the Pacific Coast.

Glue-fingered Grabber

End Jerry Ogle

"My, sonny, doesn't that little boy swear terribly?" "Yes'm. He knows the words all right, but he don't put no expression into 'em."
