

Campus Welcomes Cream Of High School Conferences

Jason would like to extend the University "hand" and welcome basketball players and fans from the Class A conferences all over the state. Park your grips, fellas, and make yourselves at home.

If you ever find a little free time on your hands when you're not playing or yelling for your respective schools, you might look around the University and campus. We're kind of proud of it and we would like you to be also.

Besides University facilities that are open to you, you might drop down to the Student Union Building. We would recommend a dance that is going to be given Friday night in the large ballroom of the SUB. Don't worry about a date, cause the dance is strictly stag for everyone on the campus. It will be just a big "funfest" for everyone.

Too bad about the weather. In years past it has always been nice about this time of the year. But this year the weather man slipped us the "purple shaft."

This probably sounds like a lot of malarky, but believe me, everyone here at the U. of I. is interested in you. So again, "Welcome."

"Once Upon a Time . . ." I knew a man once who weighed 150 pounds. He tried to tackle by the printed word about a 625 pound creature called woman (5 absent women with an average weight of 125 pounds). Well, sir, it so happened that before it was all over, he was up against a 6500 pound creature also called woman (52 women, most of which he never had a complaint for, with an average weight of 125 pounds).

Now, 6500 pounds of womanflesh is beaucoup. Ordinarily 125 pounds of woman is enough to outdo, out-talk, and even out-fight a mere 150 pound man. So you can imagine the position this man found himself in with 6500 pounds throwing weight around. He did the only thing that any man could do—he held up the white flag of truce.

"Talking Is A Woman" Now this man made a statement after it was allowed that Jason would agree with entirely. He said, "Show me a man that ever got the last word with a woman, and I'll show you a liar."

Jason also would like to wave the flag of truce with the Kappa Kappa Gamma house. If he ruffled a few more feathers there than he intended to do, he is sorry.

However, the Argonaut is published for the benefit of the entire student body. In fact the ASUI is Jason's publisher or boss. It is for every single student at the University of Idaho that Jason works. So, don't be too harsh with Jason when he tries to do his job and put out a paper. And if he holds an organ of the entire student body in a more important position than one house initiation, don't hang him in effigy even though your house initiation is the most important to you.

There is a saying that "a person never cries for something until it is taken away from him." Well, Jason "cried" for those absent members of the staff last issue. They are an integral part of the staff and are hard to get along without. So if Jason yells at them, maybe it is from them that he expects the most.

Real Logic One "thoughtful" person said to Jason concerning his remarks in the last issue, "That was a direct slam against the whole Greek organization, which you so love to do since you are an independent." Now that's real logic. Since Jason is an independent, he loves to blast the Greek organization. If that is true, it is news to Jason.

If anyone can show Jason where he has purposely held one party in precedence over another party, he will gladly hand in his resignation. For then he has failed and failed miserably in attempting to represent the Idaho student body. Happy hunting.

Eight Hoop Teams Vie For Top Billing

By Phil Johnson

Eight of Idaho's finest high school basketball teams invade Moscow and the Idaho campus today and Wednesday to do battle during the balance of the week for the Idaho Interscholastic Class "A" basketball championship.

All students in the four-day tourney with the exception of Sandpoint and Moscow, were the respective champions of their individual district.

From district one, better known as the Panhandle conference, come the Kellogg Wildcats and the runner-up team, the Bulldogs from Sandpoint. District two will be represented by Lewiston, completed with the appearance of Moscow, the district's second place club.

Games Schedule
Schedule of the games for tomorrow and Thursday are as follows:

Wednesday Night, Mar. 14
7:00 p.m.—Nampa vs. Sandpoint
8:30 p.m.—Idaho Falls vs. Lewiston

Thursday Night, Mar. 15
7:00 p.m.—Kellogg vs. Preston
8:30 p.m.—Burley vs. Moscow
(Consolation play will begin Friday afternoon at 2 p.m.)

Brown Coaches Nampa
The districts from the southland will feature the champions only and no runner-up teams will compete. Representing district three rather capably will be the State's defending champion and favorite, Nampa. Coached by J. A. "Babe" Brown, former University of Idaho basketball and football coach, the Bulldogs have lost but one regular game in the past two seasons.

Performing for district four will be the Burley Bobcats coached by (Continued on page 2, Col. 1)

A journalist of international repute, van Paassen's topic at Idaho will be "A New Day Will Come." This will deal with the German rearmament, French opinions, Italian reactions, Formosa, Israel and the forces and personalities involved. "A new principle of peace, not a new remedy, should be introduced into men's thinking" says van Paassen.

During the last 20 years, van Paassen has served as foreign correspondent for such newspapers and syndicates as the Toronto Globe, the old New York Evening World and the North American Newspaper Alliance. His best selling book "Days of Our Years" has sold over a million copies, and has been translated into 18 foreign languages.

Open Letter To High School Ballplayers And Fans

Hi, fellows:
 I would like to extend a personal invitation to all of you to attend All-University Day scheduled for April 21 on the University of Idaho campus. This day has been set aside for all high school seniors in the state to look over the University. The entire campus is holding "open house" and everything is geared to show you a good time. You might pass the word along to your friends and "come up and see YOUR university."

Sincerely yours,
All-University Day Committee

Welcome To Our Campus

We wish to welcome to the Idaho campus members of the eight basketball teams who will participate in the state class "A" high school tournament this weekend.
 The University is happy to be host to the tournament, and we hope the visiting players will enjoy their stay on the campus. We of the University will enjoy this chance to watch high school basketball at its best.
 We wish good luck to each of the teams, and are looking forward to much good basketball during the week.

Opportunity Knocks - Answer

In a short time the school year will draw to a close, and we will all be a step closer to that time when we will put our formal education behind us. To those of us who have not completed it, it might be wise to put this question: "Are we getting everything out of our schooling that we ourselves reasonably can?"
 Notice that the term "we" is used; that the question is put in the sense of our having a privilege here, as opposed to an obligation. The opportunity, and not the obligation, is the theme under discussion here. Most of us are by now familiar with the obligations that confront us; but let's look at our education from a standpoint of being allowed to get something.
 For instance, there are on this campus numerous facilities offered, and numerous courses offered that fall into the definite category of privilege for most of us. To cite an example, let us assume that John Doe is here at school, majoring in political science. He by now realizes his obligations; he must take those courses which directly relate to his subject, in order to graduate. However, John Doe is also permitted to either enroll or participate in numerous other activities.
 He may do radio work by the mere asking, thereby getting a great deal of experience in radio speaking; he may join the Argonaut staff, and learn how to express his views publicly through the press; barring a few restrictions, he may also take courses in other schools entirely, gaining those things he deems important to himself. He may join in the government of his school; may become active on any of a number of committees.
 Now, John Doe will not be forced to do any of these things. And yet, they are here for him, to do if he has the ambition to REALLY educate himself. These outside activities will not show on his degree. He can get it without them. They will, however, show up very brightly in the work he does after he gets his degree. Knowledge is never confined to any single subject, and he who has a brilliant knowledge of his subject, PLUS the general ability to know and comprehend the intricacies of other fields, will enjoy a much richer life. Let's not cheat ourselves. We owe it to ourselves to take advantage of the many privileges available to us here at the University.
 R. C.

Here's More About—Eight Hoop

Rulon Budge and district five will be represented by Preston's Indians.
 The team traveling the farthest distance, Idaho Falls, will participate in the tournament as a representative of the sixth and final district.
Four Played Last Time
 It is interesting to note that four of the eight teams competing in this state tournament, played in the last state play-off that was staged in Moscow in 1940. Lewiston, Moscow, Idaho Falls and Burley were those teams. Emmett, a member of district three, was the recognized state championship squad that season.
 Team members from Idaho Falls and Nampa pulled into Moscow early last night. Preston and Sandpoint are expected to arrive sometime today; while the remaining two traveling squads plan to pull in sometime tomorrow.
Pine Hall Houses Players
 Approximately 80 players will be housed at Pine hall on the university campus. The Idaho Falls quintet has made reservations to

Requirements Eased For Navy Reserve

College students may now apply for Naval Reserve commissions 21 days prior to graduation and receipt of a degree.
 Educational requirements for General Line reserve commissions have been eased. Six hours of physics is no longer required. Mathematics through trigonometry, if completed in an accredited college, university, or secondary school will suffice.
 Applicants for General Line and Supply Corps commissions who have received Selective Service orders for pre-induction physicals must be actually attending school and be considered under educational postponement.

The young lady whose attractive terrain is pictured above is Christine Collins, a shapely (as any myopic eye can plainly see) native of Detroit, Mich. Reason Christine's here is that she says, in a new magazine, that she'd like to hear from people who'd like to have new friends to write to.
 Christine tells all about herself in the magazine and so do forty others (young women AND young men)—all looking for new letter-writing friends.

None But The Lonely Hearts Should Be Interested In This

By Don Hardy
 If you have romance problems, relax, kid, your troubles are over. The lonely hearts business has taken a new wrinkle where all frustrated lovers have a chance to meet new friends.
 A new publication, which we will describe as "different," found its way into the Arg office yesterday, and caused no small uproar among the staff. It was so interesting that we must pass the information along to all you people with unsettled love lives.
 The magazine in question is called "The Girl Friend and the Boy Friend." The words "Girl Friend" appear in large, bold-faced letters, and underneath it, if you look closely, are the words "Boy Friend," which, if you have any imagination, should give you an idea of the type of magazine we have on our hands.
Let's Get Acquainted
 Publishers of the mag say its purpose is to print letters, pictures, and vital statistics of lonely people so that they may write to each other and perhaps get chummy. They (the publishers) are also careful to explain that the people in their magazine are real people. (Well, at least the pictures look real - wow!) We must explain at this point that the publication does contain pictures of both men and women, but the gals are given a much better display.
 Dozens of beautiful dolls are pictured lounging in bathing suits. If they are lonely, they had better switch their brands of tooth paste, because there is so other visible reason why they should sit at home nights. Most of the men in the mag are of the atlas type, and also with no visible reason why they should be lonely.
Are You Really Lonely
 Sincerity is given as a necessity for those who write to the mag, but we still wonder how those in this issue could possibly be lonely.
 The publication apparently makes money only on their circulation, so we wonder just what the deal is. Maybe it's just a new idea cooked up to play on the public's zany interest in the lonely hearts fad.
 Anyhow here is another chance for all you lonely people to find a friend, but we don't see how these romances by mail can work out. However, if you can accept the postoffice department as a middle man in your love life, you might as well give it a try.
 She: Don't you love an evening like this?
 He: You bet; but I generally wait until we get a little farther out in the country.

St. Luke's Credited For B.S. Degree

Idaho will give credit to students taking training in medical technology at St. Luke's hospital in Boise, President J. E. Buchanan recently announced.
 With the training program approved by the American Medical association, St. Luke's will become affiliated with the university's department of bacteriology. Professor V. A. Cherrington, head of the department who recently inspected St. Luke's hospital, reported that "the institution, particularly with facilities now being added, should afford excellent opportunities for training medical technologists. Training must be under a qualified pathologist, and St. Luke's is fortunate in having on its staff Dr. John C. McCarter to handle this work."
 A student may complete resident requirements in bacteriological studies at the university in 3½ years, then obtains 16 additional credits to finish work for a B.S. degree. He will become a registered technologist by serving a year's internship at an affiliated hospital. Deaconess and St. Luke's hospitals in Spokane are also affiliated with the university.

French Club Meets To View Three Films

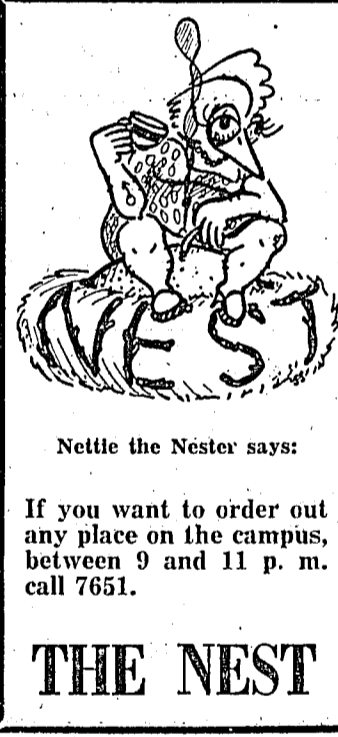

Three films will be shown to members of the French club Wednesday at 7:30 in Conference rooms A and B of the SUB.
 The films, entitled "Rome," "Lourdes," and "Flight to the French Riviera," will be English sound track and colored.
 Paul Lonardo and Joe Zelnick will present a scene from "Bourgeois Gentilhomme" following the showing of the movies. Any students interested are invited to this meeting.

Defend Yourself From Hornet Attacks

Bee-ware the wasp, the yellow-jacket, the hornet!!! He may not be so cold as you figure he is during the days of March. Bee-ware especially if you are working out in one of the sheds where he had his nest last summer and you have a fire in the vicinity.
 He may warm up enough to make a short flight to the fire and succeed in making a one-point landing on the back of your neck and thence to one of those unattainable spots between your shoulder blades. He may end this exodus between your skin and your heaves, and there will be trouble.
Try To Do Something!!
 Anything can happen when this occurs. You may turn from what you are doing and unjustly flog the tar out of one of the kids for putting a coal of fire down your neck. You may swear that you have been stabbed and bleed to death before you find out the real trouble. You may go through the side of the shed without bothering to open the door.
 And what can you do about it? Well, not much. H. C. Manis, entomologist at the University, says the wasp, the yellow-jacket, and the hornet are three insects for whom he has the greatest respect. The fire-tailed divers-bombers carry a wallop, and they can take it as well as dish it out. Cowardice is an unknown virtue in them, and enough of them get through the winter every year to replenish the brood the next spring.
 They are almost immune to most of the insecticides that have been brought to bear on them. They fall victim to DDT and chlordane if they get enough of either, but it takes a lot. They often nest in attics or barns where there is enough heat to get them through the winter. They build clever nests and see to it that all wandering animals keep off their property.

Must Be An Easier Way To Earn A Letter

Frankie Echevarria just connected with a jolting left hook to the button of bantam-weight Gordon Simington in the second round of the varsity curtain-raiser last night and then neatly slips the Bulldog's blind left-hand counter-smash. Boxers Tie Gonzaga 4-4

Echevarria And Len Walker Register Clear-Cut Decisions

Coach Frank Young's Idaho ring-warriors battled to a 4 to 4 deadlock with Gonzaga's "spoilers" last night at Memorial gymnasium before approximately 4200 fistic fibbers. The card between the co-national champions was the final home bout of the season for Idaho and the second time this season that both clubs have fought to a four-all stalemate.

Idaho had a two-point lead going into the matches. Verl King won the 165-pound bracket by forfeit and sophomore, light-heavy, Larry Moyer won his class in the same manner. Flashy little Frankie Echevarria, in the best shape he's been this season, and two-time National champion, Len Walker produced the other two Vandal verdicts.

Idaho had a 4-3 advantage moving into the heavyweight bout between 220-pound George McCartney, a 6 foot-5 Vandal football tackle, and the Bulldog's Joe Havlovick. The Idaho southpaw, one of the best heavyweight prospects Coach Young has had a chance to school in a long time, has only been turning out for a week. Nevertheless, he made a fair showing in losing to Havlovick who wrestled him to the canvas twice during the fight. McCartney packed heavier artillery but exhausted himself in his desperate efforts to commit mayhem. Judges scored the bout 28-29, 27-28 and 29-28.

Cool, methodical Frankie Echevarria had too much class for Gordon Simington in the 125-pound match and waltzed off with a one-sided win. Frank moved in with his punches, crossed beautifully with left and rights, and often landed three or more blows in rapid succession inside before he side-stepped and danced away. He caught a right hook on the cheek that raised a "mouse" in the second heat but never was in any danger and turned in one of his strongest matches of the season. Judges scored it 30-25-30-27 and 30-26.

Len Walker and Dave Smith were as companionable as cat and goldfish in their 145-pound scrap. Walker accosted Smith confidently and showed little concern over being hit with a few left pokes as long as he could get in close enough to open up with both fists. Len started slow but rained leather on Smith in the third session and won decisively, 30-26, 30-28 and 30-26 on the judges' cards.

Norm Walker lost a hairline decision to PCC champion Jim Reilly in the 135-pound match. The bout was close enough to go either way and the judges favored Reilly in a split decision—27-30, and 30-28.

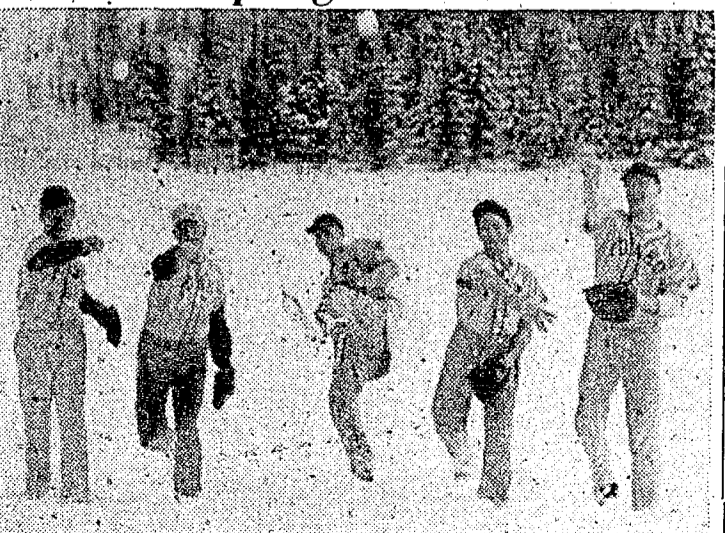

Wes Langford, fighting his first bout this year for Gonzaga, left-hooked his way to an easy win over Herb Jee in the 130-pound match. The doll-faced Spokane fisticuffer stowed away the verdict 28-30, 27-30 and 26-30.

The "little bull," Al Poole, won his sixth varsity bout for Gonzaga with a TKO over Frank Fletcher in :12 seconds of the second round. Fletcher took an uncharted journey to the vanes for an eight-count in the first round and was dropped face-down on the deck in the second, prompting Referee Dale Fitzpatrick to halt the proceedings.

In non-decision exhibition matches, Verl King ran into a body-puncher named Tom Keys at 165-pounds. Keys worked effectively inside and all-in-all, made it a rough evening for Verl. Keys earlier in the season lost a one-point verdict to Chuck Speiser, Olympic champion of Michigan State.

Larry Moyer and Roy Kelly bulled and blasted each other in a rousing 175-pound match. In freshman exhibition matches. At 145-pounds, Dave Powell defeated Sam Nichols in a good match where defense was the word.

Nampa's Defending Champs Kick-off Memorial Gym Action Wednesday Against Sandpoint

The scene is set for the 32nd annual Idaho state class A basketball tourney which will begin tomorrow evening in Memorial gymnasium and continue through Saturday. Eight potent prep teams have arrived in Moscow and are in the process of acquainting themselves with the large Vandal court. First round action will get underway tomorrow at 7 o'clock when the defending champion and heavily favored Nampa Bulldogs square off against Sandpoint. Play will continue at 8:30 when Idaho Falls and Lewiston tangle.

On Thursday Kellogg-Preston and Moscow-Burley are scheduled to provide the casaba entertainment. Consolation play will start Friday afternoon with a double-header. Saturday night's affair will be the championship.

If Nampa cops the crown it will mark the first time since 1934 that a class A prep team has won the honors twice in a row. The Moscow Bears, coached by Gale Mix, now ASUI general manager, ran away with the trophy in 1933 and 1934. Moscow incidentally has won the championship on seven occasions, while Pocatello is next in line with five crowns. In the 1934 affair Moscow played three games and only amassed a grand total of 40 points in the process of taking the championship.

Former Vandal mentor J. A. (Babe) Brown will be bringing his ninth team to the tourney. The Nampa coach entered Moscow three times, Lewiston twice, Burley once, and now Nampa for the third time. The Bulldogs have lost only one game in two years, and their win total numbers 53.

Preston has the next best record, having suffered only three losses in 20 starts. Idaho Falls has an 18-7 record, and is expected to use their blistering fast break to advantage on the large Vandal court. They provided Nampa with many rough moments in meetings earlier this year.

Burley figures as the tourney dark horse. The Bobcats have picked up speed as their sophomores and juniors gained experience. They have won 17 and lost nine.

In the north Kellogg, Sandpoint and Lewiston are the main contenders. Kellogg has won 21 and lost five, while Sandpoint has a 20-6 record. Kellogg is the district champ. Lewiston met tough opposition all year and was beaten often, but the Bengals have plenty of tourney experience from past years.

Moscow could come up with a few surprises also. The Bears have an advantage by playing before a home-town crowd, and are very familiar with Memorial gymnasium. They boast wins over Kellogg and Lewiston.

Student ticket price is 50 cents per session and can be obtained at the Owl Drug store, or at the door of the gym.

A practice schedule has been arranged for the quintets to use the gym floor today and tomorrow. The practice slate for this afternoon follows:

2 p.m.—Idaho Falls; 4 p.m.—Sandpoint; 7 p.m.—Nampa; 8 p.m.—Idaho Falls; 9 p.m.—Preston; Wednesday: 2 p.m.—Kellogg; 3 p.m.—Preston; 4 p.m.—Burley.

Thus far, Washington State, Idaho and Whitman college are the only entrants in the 16 event meet. The discuss and javelin competition will launch competition Friday afternoon at 12:45. The running events will start at 2:00 o'clock. No admission will be charged for the meet.

Athletic Committee Rules Out Garden

The University of Idaho faculty athletic committee has ruled New York's Madison Square Garden as "out-of-bounds" for Idaho basketball players for the 1951-52 season. The committee's proposal was approved by university President J. E. Buchanan.

Idaho's ruling against Garden competition only included the 1951-52 season but stated that "further developments will await NCAA or Pacific Coast Conference action after more thorough investigations into the bribery scandals which have clouded the brightly lighted sporting palace."

An ox is a cow that can't have babies.

Wash. Finmen Win Coast Tank Title

The University of Washington swimmers splashed to a record breaking score in winning the Northern Division championship meet at Seattle last week-end.

The Huskies amassed 164 points to by pass the previous high of 100, rolled up by Washington State, last year. Oregon placed second with 73, followed by WSC 66; Oregon State, 19; and Idaho 17.

It was the fastest ND swim match ever witnessed. Three records fell and another was equalled in the finals. The Huskies copped all but one of the events.

Highlighting the match was Washington's Pete Salmon. The flying fish swam the 50-yard freestyle in a sizzling 22.4 seconds during the championships. It was the fastest time for that distance ever swam in the ND, and 3 of a second short of the 22.1.

Coach Eric Kirkland's Vandals made a great showing considering the situation from all angles. The Idaho squad could have finished well ahead of O.S.C. had they been able to take enough boys to compete. All but one of the ten man squad including coach, trainer, and baggage managed to contribute to Idaho's efforts. Diver Jim Moore lead the Idaho attack with a 6 point total grabbing third place in low board competition and a 5th place in high board action.

In the four man speed relay, Idaho's Keller, Valda Warren and Gentry, placed 5th. In the medley, team captain Dick Wartena with anchor help from Gentry and Hoblet registered a 5th.

The Vandal's wound up the regular season with a four lost, three won record. Idaho victories were at the hands of O.S.C. and Eastern Washington twice.

Open Letter

Dear Editor:

The people of Moscow are well aware of the capabilities of the University of Idaho student body and probably have more appreciation for the students than the ASUI realizes, but there are times when Moscow's citizenry humbly makes a request of its students.

One of these occasions is approaching this week when the university and the citizens of Moscow will be hosts to eight of the best high school basketball teams of the state. Needless to say, the cooperation of the university students is a must to make this year's state basketball tournament a success.

But the seed for cooperation from the university students goes much deeper, probably deeper than most students realize.

For the first time since 1940, our university is being given an opportunity to show a great collection of high school students what our university has to offer... not only athletically, but scholastically and in every other way.

Here is an opportunity for us to make the most of a great opportunity.

It has been advocated for years that the University of Idaho was the logical site for such a state tournament... not just once in awhile, but annually.

There are interests elsewhere in Idaho who disagree... and probably justly so. Moscow is located a long way from the south's populated areas, to be sure, but we have certain advantages which can be offered nowhere else in the state. We have facilities here which cannot be matched elsewhere in the state.

Our only chance, however, of gaining a talking point in favor of returning state tournaments to our university on an annual basis, is for townspeople and students alike in Moscow to make certain this year's state tournament is a success... financially as well as otherwise.

Therefore, we are issuing a request which we hope will be considered in good faith by the ASUI:

Help the people of Moscow by attending every session of the state tourney this week that you can; do everything in your power to make the visit of these high school athletes a memorable one on the Idaho campus.

Your cooperation will go along way toward accomplishing the primary purpose for our interest in these state tournaments.

AL F. BARACKMAN, sports editor The Daily Idahoian, Moscow, Ida.
