High School Journalists Hold Conference On Campus

Today is Friday, the 13th. Tradition, or superstition, has it that on this day Lady Luck goes bad. Go to it, Lady. After all, it is spring.

Speaking of spring, now we all know that in the spring a young man's fancy turns, but what in the world happens to a young woman? Jason asks this because as he was writing this column, six lovely Alpha Phis came (?????) abreast down the street by the Arg. office. (Jason inserted the question marks because he didn't dare define the dance step which they were demonstrating. Someone said it was an elephant dance, but that wouldn't be fair). Crazy with the heat, hmmm?

Jason wonders if that beautiful black eye that Margaret Alley is sporting can also be attributed to spring?

Evidently spring affects individuals in different ways. The other night some of the "children" around the campus threw a bottle through one of the big windows in the Student Union Building.

What this crude type of individual has against the SUB and their own pocketbook (SUB, you know), Jason will never know. If students would only realize that it is their building, they might bring themselves to rightfully report a "destruction artist."

Jason cherishes the hope that perhaps it was not an Idaho student who threw the bottle. Washington State was represented here on the campus that night. Yes, sir, it is the few that ruin a good thing for the many.

Get With It
Campus Cleanup Day is tomorrow. Living groups are assigned work areas in a news story on this page. If everyone digs in and helps, it shouldn't take a "hot" minute to get the old camp in shape. Next week we play host to multi visitors and it doesn't hurt a bit if we look a little clean.

Well, the Lewiston Tribune is still as intent as ever on blasting the University of Idaho and throwing as much mud as they can dig up. Why? An answer to that one could probably be traced back to the last few days of the 1951 state legislature. But then again that still would not answer the question.

Jason has always admired the editorial courage of the Tribune, but of late that courage has almost turned to distortion. (No intention of quoting Governor Jordan).

The three column spread in yesterday's Tribune concerning Dixie Howell's "side of the story" smelled of a slight tinge of sour grapes with a mixture of "news twisting" by the Tribune.

Shishkin Replaces Greene As Principal Speaker For Borah Peace Meet

Boris Shishkin, director of the European labor division of the Economic Cooperation Administration and economic advisor for the American Federation of Labor, will replace William Green, AFL president, as principal speaker of the Borah Peace conference.

Shishkin will deliver the opening address in the three-day conference on April 17 replacing Green in the field of labor. Dr. Boyd Martin, chairman of the conference, received a telegram from Green who sent his regrets saying that new commitments arising out of his appointment to an advisory committee of the office of price stabilization would prevent him from speaking here.

A graduate of Columbia university, Shishkin has been economic advisor to the AFL since 1933, 1933 to 1935 and was a member of the president's commission on fair employment practices from 1942 to 1946.

Confab Presents Experts
The three-day conference—April 17, 18, and 19—will include speakers who are experts in the field of business, agriculture, and government as well as in the labor field.

Another member of ECA, Gordon C. Record, executive secretary of the organization, will represent the field of business with his address on Tuesday afternoon.

Agriculture will be represented by George H. Wilson, member of the board of directors of the American Farm Bureau with which he has been associated since 1916. Wilson, now a successful California farmer, was chosen one in a group of 23 leaders of American organizations to accompany the "American Town Meeting of the Air" on a world tour. Wilson's talk is scheduled for Wednesday morning.

Excuses From Classes
John O. Bell, director of the international security affairs office in the U. S. Department of State, will discuss America's efforts to

Entire Campus Prepares Equipment For Thorough Cleaning Tomorrow; Living Group Assignments Announced

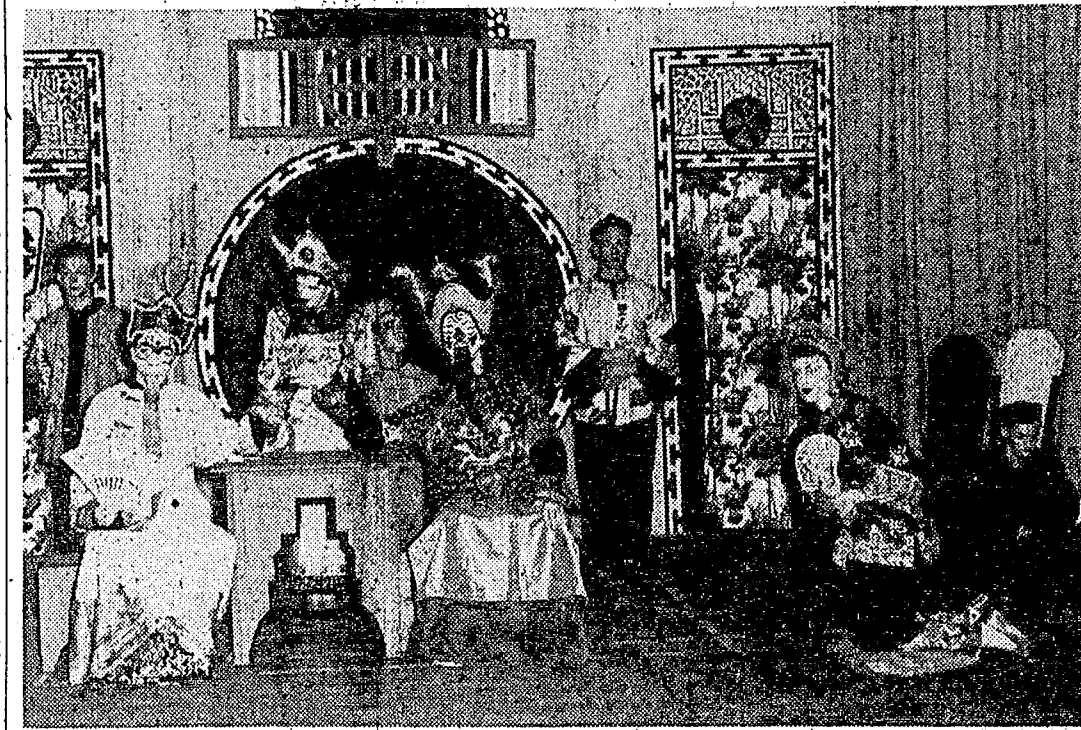

"Campus Cleanup Day" sponsored annually by Blue Key, is scheduled for tomorrow morning with the entire campus to undergo a thorough cleaning by the students, under a well-organized system of assignment. Paul Araquistain is general chairman, assisted by Jim Chadband and Ron Hyde.

It is hoped that students will enter into the clean-up campaign with enthusiasm and get the job done thoroughly, especially because of the many visiting groups expected to be on the campus in coming weeks.

All debris from areas should be raked near the street so that the Blue Key truck may conveniently pick it up not later than 10:30 a.m. when the campaign should be finished.

Clean Own Yards
Included in the respective areas are the parking zones in that area. Living groups are expected to be labor advisor to the NRA from clean their own grounds in addition to their assigned area which are: Hays Hall, Forney Hall, and

Yellow Jacket Tonight

Tai Fah Min (Bob Gartin) and Wu Sin Yin (Ted Gallagher), Chinese Mandarins, discuss the fate of the first wife with Due Jung Fah (Iris Fisher), the second wife, while her maid, Tso (Doris Moore) eavesdrops. The attendants, Norm Jones and Earl Moulton, the Chorus, Marv Alexander, and the property man, Andy Tozier, wait patiently for the end of the scene which will be seen in tonight's production of THE YELLOW JACKET in the University auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

LeClair, Hayes And Lee To Receive Honorary Doctorate Degree Awards

With distinguished careers as their graduate accomplishments, two men and one woman will be awarded honorary doctorate degrees by the University of Idaho at commencement exercises June 4.

Pygmalion Changed
George Bernard Shaw's famous satire, will be shown in the new 400-seat Agricultural Science lecture room, instead of the Borah theatre as planned. The late Leslie Howard stars in this English movie, which is scheduled Wednesday, April 18 at 4 p.m., 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Admission will be 25 cents.

Foresters Arrange Details For Week's Celebration

University foresters are working hard this week to complete final details for Idaho's Forestry week April 15 through 21. Proclaimed by Governor Len C. Jordan, all organizations and individuals are asked to devote particular attention to studying the timber wealth in Idaho and its preservation.

Several forestry students are being sent to high schools throughout the state to present problems that arise in forest management and other phases of forestry. The delegations go in groups of two, with one person speaking to the students and the other showing a film-strip about Idaho forests.

Bob McMahon is general chairman for the Forestry week, with Ken Knoerr, Claire Letson, Howard Bonnett, Jack Larts, and Hank Gilbertson assisting him.

Plant Trees
One of the main features of the 1951 Forestry week will be the planting of approximately 50,000 seedlings in northern Idaho under the supervision of the University's Associated Foresters.

Various timber groups in Idaho will cooperate with the University foresters during the coming week's projects. These include the Forest Service, the Timber Protective Associations, and the Idaho State Foresters at ISC in Pocatello.

Displays are being arranged all over the campus and related films are scheduled during the Forestry week. A field day with competitive events between WSC and Idaho forestry students is also slated, including a baseball game for forestry faculty members.

Idaho Newspapermen Talk On Possibilities Of Field

Budding journalists from approximately 15 Idaho high schools will be on the campus this weekend for the 5th annual High School Press conference.

A full schedule has been arranged for them beginning at 9:30 a.m. Friday, and ending at noon Saturday. Speeches and discussions will be conducted in the conference rooms in the Student Union. A banquet is planned for Friday night, and arrangements have been made for the visiting students to attend the ASUI play, "The Yellow Jacket," and the Idaho-Oregon State college track meet.

Economical IFC Ball Tomorrow

Everything is formal tomorrow night as the Interfraternity Council ball swings into action. Park Enders and the Melody Men will play for the dance, which starts at 9 p.m. in the main ball room of the Student Union building.

Since tuxedos cost a tidy sum along with the other accessories necessary, many of the college men couldn't afford to pay much for a ticket, the reduced price of $1.25 per couple. With this lower rate, everyone's pocketbook should be able to stand the gaff.

Order No Corsages
Further cost-cutting caused the officials to ban corsages for women. With the saving on this score, in comparison to past IFC balls, this one is practically scot-free. (Tux, cleaning bills, shirt, studs, socks, probably lost since the last one) and other minor necessities, just don't add up to a cent.

Decorations will be composed of fraternity pin replicas spotted throughout the ballroom, according to decorations chairman Jim LaGrone.

Committee chairmen for the ball are Jim Aston, publicity; and Chuck Bottinelli, co-chairman of decorations.

ASUI Plans 2nd Drive For Blood

"Idaho students are again being called upon to demonstrate their generosity by giving a pint of blood," announced Duane Lloyd, chairman of the second ASUI blood drive.

He explained that the Red Cross mobile unit is coming from Boise for three days, April 24 through 26, and will be set up in the middle ballroom of the Student Union.

Make Appointments
The procedure to be used in this drive will be much the same as used in the previous drive. The presidents of each living group will give appointment forms to all interested students, which are then turned in to the general manager's office. Appointments will then be assigned and each person notified by mail.

All house presidents are urged to attend a meeting today at 4:30 p.m. in Conference Room A, Student Union, to pick up forms for their living groups. The program will also be further explained at this time.

All persons under 21 must have legal releases signed by one of their parents before they can give blood. The house presidents will have these forms Monday, so that students under 21 can air-mail them home in time to have them by the blood drive.

Today:
All living group presidents meet, 4:30 p.m. SUB conference room. A Blood drive information and forms will be given out.

Saturday:
Yell team members meet 10 a.m. SUB conference room B for Gem pictures.
Rally committee members meet 10 a.m. SUB conference room B for Gem picture.

Sunday:
Social meeting of Cosmopolitan club 2:30 p.m. SUB conference room A. Very important.
Monday:

Lets Do It

We don't want to make this sound like a greetings from Uncle Sam, but you are informed that this is cleanup day. Anyhow, with or without greetings, you should know that this is the day that Idaho wants to put on the dog for all the visiting firemen who will be appearing on the campus from now until the end of school.

It's the time to make the appearance of the campus match the freshness of spring, and to clean up the junk and debris that has been piling up all winter. Think of the excitement of attacking a pile of trash to find out what is underneath. Who knows what you might find?

If it isn't enough to clean up the campus for our own sake, there is much good incentive to clean it up for the many visitors who will be streaming over the campus for the rest of the year. Not only that, but it would be nice to uphold the tradition of having the most beautiful campus in the Northwest.

This clean-up day is being sponsored by Blue Key honorary, and the cooperation of everyone will be greatly appreciated. On the front page of this issue is a schedule of the area to be cleaned up by each living group. If each living group will turn all-out effort to the area assigned to them, the clean-up procedure should be a short and easy task.

We are quite sure that all of you can appreciate the value of having a clean, good looking campus. Let's polish up the campus so that we can show it off with pride. There are a lot of future University students that we would like to "sell" on the glories of Idaho, as well as many parents and just plain visitors whom we would like to impress with our University.

If you will all cooperate, we know that this clean-up day will be a great success, and we hope that each living group will do its best to beautify the campus. Here's to cleaner living.

—D. H.

Welcome, Journalists

This morning at 8 o'clock the annual high school journalism conference began with students coming to the campus from high schools all over Idaho. The conference serves to help these students with their journalistic problems, and to show them the advantages of journalism as a profession.

We of the Argonaut wish to extend a hearty welcome to you visitors to our campus. We hope that all of you will feel free to visit the Arg office, and to roam about the campus to your hearts' content. And, in the last place, we hope that many of you will see enough of the University to want to become students here.

Glad to see you on the campus, and hope you have a nice time.

—D. H.

Jason

Really wasn't your idea to play that defensive game, was it?

Dixie told the Tribune and we quote, "... In fact, I now believe my contract would not have been renewed for a year last December had it not been that we had a comparatively successful football season. I guess they feared the public reaction if, at the end of the season, they fired the coach whose Idaho team had defeated Oregon and tied WSC for the first time in 25 years."

Jason has a suspicion that "the public reaction" might not have been so strong as Dixie would like to imagine had he been fired last December.

Also men as firm in their convictions (Jason personally has reason to believe this) as President Buchanan and others here at Idaho, probably would not have hesitated a minute had they felt that Dixie should go.

Little Round Ones
Personally, as far as Dixie's "side of the story" is concerned, Jason thinks that he is full of the well-known substance known as prunes.

Howell also intimated that Idaho's football material would be nil this year. Well, 73 players donned uniforms this week, many of which never turned out before during the Howell regime. It would indeed be ironic if Idaho's supposedly worthless 1951 football squad suddenly became endowed with the old "college doctrine spirit" and would make Mr. Howell gibber at his words by coming through with a good season next fall. Go to 'er, men.

"So Long, Dixie, It's Been Good to Know You."

Here's More About—LeClair

ious other engineering organizations. Recently he was featured on the cover of Electrical World magazine.

While at the University, LeClair was vice president of the Associated Engineers and president of Sigma Nu, social fraternity. He was a member of both the Glee club and University quartet.

Leads Nation's PTA
Mrs. Hayes, who will be granted an honorary Doctor of Literature degree, has long been noted for her interest in education. Following her graduation from Southern Idaho College of Education in 1904, she began a teaching career at that institution which was terminated with her marriage. Her interest continued, however, and she became active in PTA work when her twin sons induced her to attend meetings so that their room could retain a bowl of goldfish for a month. In later years, this mother of four children held parent-teacher offices in the congresses of Idaho and Colorado. Before being named head of the national organization, which has a membership of 5,500,000, Mrs. Hayes performed various duties from historian to chairman of the legislative program committee.

In 1942, she gave impetus to a scholarship award made by the Idaho PTA, which is known as the Anna Hansen Hayes Scholarship fund. That same year she was presented the Twin Falls Junior Chamber of Commerce community service award, and was named an honorary member of the University of Idaho Alumni association.

In 1945, she received the American Legion special citation for child welfare work.

Serves As Justice
Lee, who will receive the honorary doctorate degree, LL.D., has served as a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission since 1939. In 1934, he was chairman.

A native of North Carolina, Lee was graduated with an A.B. degree from the University of Idaho in 1903, and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honor. Receiving a law degree from National University in Washington, D. C., in 1906, he returned to Moscow and practiced for many years as a member of the firm of Orland and Lee.

In 1923-24, Lee was an associate justice of the Idaho supreme court, and in 1926-30, chief justice. He left this position to become a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. A former captain in the Idaho National Guard, Lee served in World War I with the Quartermaster Corps.

Several foreign students have entered their work in this year's event. Po Wing Wong, an exchange student from Hong Kong, China, and Humfredo Maceodo from Lima Peru, will enter the competition.

Livestock judging has attracted more competitors than any other division of the show. About 70 Idaho students will enter this section.

Flower Contests, Too
Dairy products judging will get the show underway at 1 o'clock Monday afternoon. Scheduled for the dairy science building, this event will be followed at 3:30 by a horticulture transplanting contest in the greenhouse. An arc welding contest at 4 in the ag engineering shops will conclude Monday's schedule.

Seed identification and judging in the agronomy building at 1 will initiate the state of activities for Tuesday. This will be followed by soil identification in the agronomy building and tool identification at 4 p.m. in the ag engineering shops.

Grade Commercially
Commercial grain grading and marketing will begin at 1 p.m. Wednesday in the agronomy building. Room 106 of the entomology building will be the scene of the entomology identification contest scheduled for 3 of that afternoon. Acetylene welding will follow this at 4 in the ag engineering shops. Vegetable seed identification at 9 in the ag science building heads Thursday's schedule. Horticulture

The date of the annual Attic Club Card Party has been changed from Friday, April 13, to Friday, April 27.

"I called her and asked her if she was doing anything that night, and she said she wasn't. So what did you do then? I took her out and sure enough she wasn't."

Idaho's Little International Marks 25th Anniversary Of Northwest Exhibition

Five weeks of preparation will come to an end Monday afternoon when the dairy products judging contest opens the 1951 edition of Idaho's Little International.

This year's show which marks the 25th anniversary of the annual event, is a gigantic one when compared with the first show of 1922. The pioneer exhibition, which initiated this kind of show in the Northwest, embraced only one short day of events. The 1951 show will include 27 contests and will last six days.

The divisions of the show are to be judged by Northwest men prominent in the respective fields. Winners of the 1950 Little International will supervise the events in which they were entered.

Students Lead Groups
John Thomas will head the beef division; Bob Heidrich, dairy products; Everett Heidrich, poultry; Don Sova, sheep; Frank Morrison, swine; and Jack Pfeiffer, light horses.

Several foreign students have entered their work in this year's event. Po Wing Wong, an exchange student from Hong Kong, China, and Humfredo Maceodo from Lima Peru, will enter the competition.

Alumni Join With Thetas To Burn Bond

Fifty-seven alumni of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority were in Moscow last week-end to participate in the Bond burning activities.

Members of Beta Theta chapter traveled from Washington, Montana, Oregon and all parts of Idaho to take part in the ceremonies.

A tour was arranged by the Moscow alumni to acquaint the past members with the changes that have taken place in the town proper as well as in the University district.

Of the original number, nine chapter members of the local Chi Delta Phi, which in 1920 became Kappa Alpha Theta, returned for the occasion. These charter members are: Ernestine Brown, Seattle; Mabel Paterka Angel, Walla Walla; Georgia Oylor Rowell, Salem, Oregon; Edna Harrington, Spokane; Helen Cochran, Boise; Pearl Hadley Green, Spokane; Manilla Reed Gibbon, Payette; Eunice Keller Merrill, Orefino; and Olive Merritt Edmister, Spokane.

A banquet was given Saturday evening at the Student Union Building. Mrs. Rowell acted as toastmistress, telling interesting happenings in securing the charter to Kappa Alpha Theta. Marie Hoganson Gossett, Bremerton, Washington, told of the building of the present chapter house, along with a brief resume on the original dwelling. Glimpses into the future, as to expansion and re-decoration were cited by the active president, Janet Fulton.

The alumni and actives returned to the chapter house for the actual bond burning ceremony which was supplemented with a portion of the ritual from formal initiation exercises.

Mrs. Dan E. Warren and Mrs. Eugene Thompson with the aid of the Moscow alumni group were responsible for the arrangements.

Forum students should start looking around for a date, either with the group or outside of it. Since a square dance works better with an equal number of fellows and girls, the dance is to be a date affair.

All the students interested in going should meet in front of the Christian Institute at 7:30 p.m. on April 20.

This Sunday at 5 p.m. the forum will go to the Baptist church for worship, and food to be provided by the Baptist students. Don Clayton will be speaker for the evening.

Water Fights And Romance Set For Saturday Morning

By Harvey
Saturday is the day—and it's Saturday morning. That's the day when the Idaho students will get together behind Blue Key and clean up the unsightly trash which forgoes to melt with the snow when spring came forth to take its turn.

Remember last winter when you covered those cigarette and gum wrappers with snow so as to keep our campus beautiful? Now we have to pay the penalty—or is it a penalty? Some will remember having a pretty good time last year when we did the same thing. In other years, what started as a campus campaign developed into other things, some of them very interesting. For instance there is the story about a campus couple that is closely analogous to the song about Rita, the clamdigger's sweetheart.

A bashful boy was conscientiously doing his duty, picking up trash and debris and carefully putting it into piles for the Blue Key men to gather in their trucks. A bashful—bashful but still cute—little girl was doing likewise.

Romance
Now it just happened that their assigned territory was the same. So inevitably—some people call it fate—their paths came together. This cute little girl was gathering gum wrappers and other odd little bits of paper. But alas! she came upon a cigarette wrapper, and was too heavy for her to pick up. But fortunately our hero was nearby. Seeing the sweet young thing in distress, he gallantly went over and picked it up for her. Naturally, she was grateful. He liked the graceful manner in which she worked. Then Lon Green announced that coffee and doughnuts were free at the Perch.

Nature being kind, as she sometimes is, they lived happily ever after. At least they were happy at last reports. Louella Parsons may dig up something different any time, though.

Other interesting things happen, too, sometimes. Once some Theta's got wet. Naturally, they accused the Delta Chi's of starting a water fight, and to prove it, they started a waterfight themselves. Several years ago, an Alpha Phi was initiated into the silent, mysterious murky depths of Paradise Creek.

Another time, up by Forney hall, the students forgot that Blue Key was coming with trucks, and they hid all the debris they gathered up in the fire escape. Imagine what happened when it was time to go on sneak that night. The moral of this story is: Put the trash in an accessible place near a road where the Blue Key men can find it, and have it piled by 10:30 a.m.

And Duty
Most of the campus will be out in force. If you're not you'll be missing a good time, and also you'll be shirking! Would you like to have this writer write a story about you, hiding away from your job while your fellow students are working? I'll be looking for you!

Groups Entertain
Housemothers, proctors, and hostesses for campus living groups attended a luncheon in the Moscow Hotel at 1 p.m. yesterday. Mrs. Lenore Scott and Mrs. Edith Magnuson were hostesses. Bridge was played following the luncheon.

The Brains Behind the "Electric Brains"

How Du Pont Research engineers apply electronics to chemical manufacture

When you hear that a scientist works for a chemical company, it's natural to assume he is a chemist. Oddly enough, the Du Pont Company employs about as many engineers as chemists for normal technical work. Many are chemical engineers. But when it comes to basic research on instrumentation—a very important activity—both chemists and chemical engineers are in the minority.

This fundamental work is largely carried out in a laboratory of the Engineering Department, where electrical engineers, physicists and other scientists are deeply involved in electronics studies. They have some amazing devices to their credit—devices for monitoring industrial operations continuously and automatically.

Some of their ideas are spurred by a need in an existing plant. But the design of a new one may also lean heavily on novel instruments. Take, for instance, a new Du Pont plant that uses cyanides. Of course, these compounds are very poisonous. So

The term "research engineer," by the way, is a loose one. It may refer to an electronics engineer working on a new photo-multiplier circuit—or a physicist using his optics and spectrophotometry in designing a color-matching instrument. It may cover the activities of a physical chemist developing a continuous turbidimetric analysis—or a mechanical engineer evaluating a pneumatic servomechanism.

For the versatile young scientist, instrumentation research offers a fine opportunity to turn his talents into faster, better and safer production in the chemical industry.

While Du Pont is the largest manufacturer of diversified chemicals in the U.S., its share of the total chemical business is only about seven per cent. It has one to fifteen major competitors for all its major product lines.
