Howard Davis Will Deliver 1951 Commencement Address

Whew! Last issue. The old ship Argonaut ("to use a time-worn cliché") has come through another year as has the Idaho campus. There were times when the ship struck a few "crags", carried an April 1 stowaway, and had a "near-mutiny." But here we are with a full crew saying "so long, it's really been good to know you."

At this time every year each Jason sings some sort of "swan song." However, Jason never did have a very good voice so he will spare what few readers he has left that agonizing experience. He will say, though, that he has enjoyed working for the Associated Students of the University of Idaho very much and will be back September 21 for the first fall issue.

There will be some changes in the crew for next year. Tom Mitchell, managing editor, claims that law and Argonaut just don't mix and has decided to "abandon ship." Seriously it has been a pleasure working with Tom and the ship will miss him next year. Thanks, Tom.

By God, "Thanks" Jack Mosman, business manager, has put in his "year before the mast" and is leaving also. Jack has done a good job as business manager for which Jason is very grateful.

Also leaving and graduating is Mary Ellen Stefanac, circulation manager. Mary Ellen has worked on the paper probably longer than anyone else on the staff and with the exception of part of this year, has done a real fine job. Actually, though, Jason will miss her very much next year. Merce, Mary Ellen.

Last, but certainly not least, Harriet Walrath deserves a well-earned editorial "round of applause." She has been night editor for the past year, and has had to put up with Jason and his night crew whose nerves were pretty ragged by 8 or 9 p.m. She has done an excellent job.

To the rest of the staff who will be back next year, Jason says "Thanks a million. The Arg would never come out without you. Jason hopes he sees all of you next fall."

If you've noticed the pictures next to this column, you will see that Miss Joan Rowberry and Vern Bahr were given the annual Argonaut award. To them Jason says "Congrats" for he really believes the staff made a good choice.

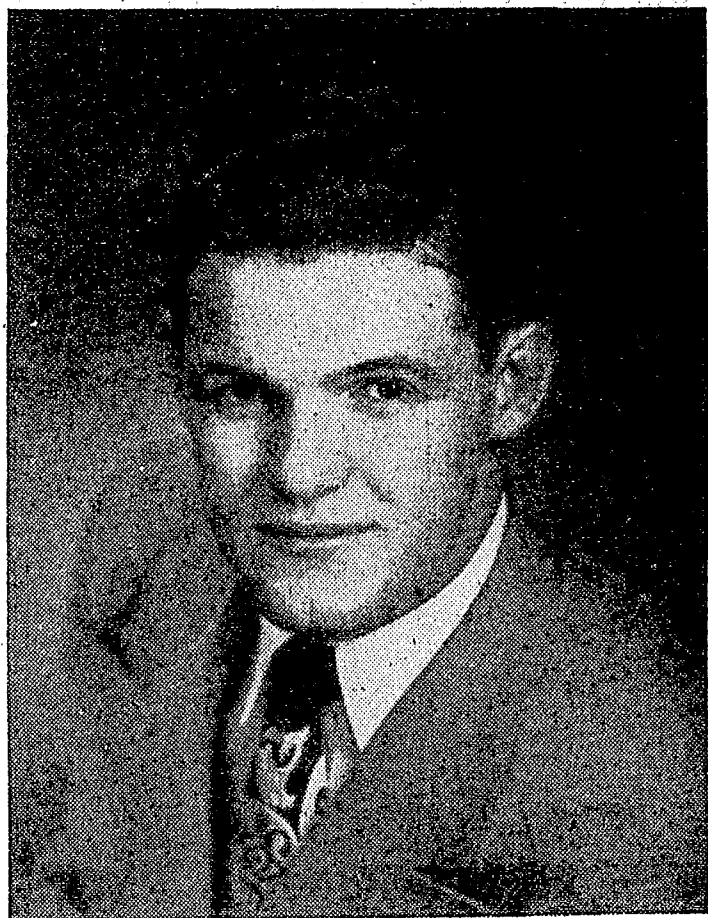

Vern, as you all know, was ASUI prexy during this year. And a very good and competent one, we might add. He watched ASUI grow and adjusted himself to its growth which was no small job. As Jason said before, the many long hours that Vern put in will probably never be realized by most persons nor appreciated. Vern is a member of Blue Key and Silver Lance, also.

"Miss" Rowberry (as she has become known since her engagement) is probably one of the best known and most-liked gals on the campus. As one fellow said, "It's too bad there aren't more gals like Joan around here. I wonder if Bill Gartin realizes what a swell wife he's getting." She was Homecoming Queen this year, a member of Mortar Board and all in all a real "Irish dollin'". Congrats and good luck, Joan.

One Last "Mudball" Jason hates to dirty up his last issue with a slight "thrust" at anyone, but there are five guys from WSC that aren't exactly on the top of Jason's hit parade. This quintet stole Jason's hubcaps and probably accessories from other Idaho cars. They were caught by an alert campus night watchman, however.

Joseph H. McCauley, Richard Lee, John Alfaro, John Raymond Stotler, and Ronald S. McHugh are the five that we should all look up to—five potential leaders (Cont. on page 3, col. 4)

Arg Selection For Outstanding Graduates

Pictured above are Vern Bahr and Joan Rowberry, the Argonaut's selections for outstanding man and woman graduating seniors. Their names will be engraved on a plaque that hangs in the Argonaut office to be remembered by all who knew them. Bahr was ASUI prexy during the past school year and Miss Rowberry was Homecoming Queen. Both have been very active during their four years at the University.

"Those Wonderful Wives" To Receive PHT Degrees

By ALLEN DERE

Next Monday morning approximately 150 wives of married students will receive P.H.T. (Putting Hubby Through) degrees, announced Ralph Fothergill, chairman of the ASUI Executive Board degree committee.

The P.H.T. degrees which were first issued last year by the Associated Students of the University of Idaho are presented to wives of graduating students. They will be presented to the wives following the regular graduation exercises. Tables will be placed near the main entrance to the gymnasium and all those who applied for the degrees are requested to pick them up after the graduation exercises.

Here's the story of how the P.H.T. degree became to be:

At the 1949 commencement exercises President J. E. Buchanan of the University of Idaho stated that such recognition as the P.H.T. degree was "in order" for the wife who had sacrificed so much in order that her husband could get an education. A national publication took notice and came out that fall in favor of President Buchanan's idea. Also taking up the idea as a good one was the University of Idaho student governing body, the Executive Board. It voted to actually award such diplomas.

Meet Troubles

It was then that the difficulties always encountered in starting a new project began to present themselves. First the diploma had to be drawn up. After studying many samples the Board finally decided on a 6" by 8" scroll—the same size as degrees awarded to the husbands.

Then came the bevy of students signing up for their wives. Some were worried because their wives were pregnant and did not want to cross the stage in front of the audience. One was getting married June 2, and wondered if his wife would be eligible.

Countless wives even came into the Graduate Manager's office where applications were received and confidentially asked—not to tell hubby, but—"If he doesn't pass all his courses so he can graduate can I still get a P.H.T. degree?"

These questions, and more, needed working out. A committee composed of ASUI general manager, Gale Mix, ASUI president, Bob Moulton and John Mast, representing the husbands, went to work.

Solve Problems

They first tackled the problem of presentation so the wives would not have to cross a stage or appear conspicuously before the public.

It worked this way: Alphabetically aligned booths were situated outside the door of the Memorial gymnasium where regular commencement exercises took place. When these regular ceremonies were over President Buchanan gave a talk commending the women. They rose in a body to be recognized by the crowd, and picked up their diplomas on the way out.

Only the wives of those who actually graduated were eligible for the degree. The wife of the student who was married June 2 did receive her recognition document, for it was decided that anyone married up until the time of the Academic procession was a bona fide P.H.T.er.

The University of Idaho rates as the first institution in this area to call "these wonderful wives" front and center to give them recognition public sentiment has agreed they deserve.

Bieber Is Chosen Spur Of Moment

Ruth Bieber was recently chosen "Spur of the Moment" by the Idaho Spur group.

Ruth, a sophomore music major, is from Big Timber, Montana, and affiliated with Pi Beta Phi.

President of Spurs this year, Ruth is a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, scholastic honorary, and Sigma Alpha Iota, women's music honorary. She has also been a member of University Singers and worked on the Dad's Day dance.

NROTC Seniors Receive Orders

Naval ROTC senior midshipmen who will receive their commissions in the Navy at commencement exercises June 4 have all been ordered to active duty at sea following a 20-day leave period.

One of the new officers will serve on an attack transport, another in a minesweeper, and two will serve in large aircraft carriers. Others will serve on destroyers now on active duty with the Pacific fleet.

Midshipmen to be commissioned in the Marine Corps are awaiting orders to further training at the Marine Base, Quantico, Va. From there they will be sent to field commands.

ASUI Sets Date For Summer Films Beginning In June

This summer, for the first time, the ASUI Film committee has booked films for the Summer Cinema series.

Three tentative bookings have been announced.

June 19 is the date set for the showing of "Kismet", produced in 1928 starring Otis Skinner, leading Hollywood actor during the silent days.

Opera Coming

"H.M.S. Pinafore", a recent color production of the Gilbert and Sullivan light opera, is scheduled for July 10.

The final summer film will be shown on July 24. This will be "Courier of Lyons", made in France in 1935.

These films will be shown in the SUB Borah room in the evenings only. The usual 25c admission will be charged.

Vandaleers To Sing At Grad Exercises

For University Baccalaureate on June 3, the Vandaleers, directed by Glen Lockery, will sing "Day of Judgment," A. Arkhangelsky; and "Praise to the Lord," P. M. Christiansen.

On the Commencement program June 4 the University Singers will sing, "Pilgrim's Chorus," from Wagner's "Tannhauser." "And Here We Have Idaho" will be sung by the Vandaleers at Commencement.

Three Honorary Doctorates To Be Presented In Morning's Ceremony

Advanced ROTC Students To Train During Summer

Seventy members of Idaho's first-year advanced Infantry and Engineer ROTC students will attend training camps this summer, Colonel Charles F. Hudson, PMST, has announced.

University students reporting to Fort Lewis, Wash., for the five-week course include:

More Will Train

Verdon Hockett, Jr., Donald Lindsay, James Wommack, Kiyooki Hori, Floyd Iverson, James Oates, Miles Walbrecht, Charles Lawson, James Martin, Kenneth Stringfield, Jr., David Murphy, Alex Nielson, Murray Numbers, James Olmsted, Kent Paynter, Gordon Scott, and Stanley Storey. John Sullivan, Arthur Sutton, Philip Soulen, Hyrum Sweat, Chester Takatori, Ronald Sullivan, Kenneth West, Robert Wilkinson, and Bob Zimmerman.

Roy Eastman will report to the Signal ROTC camp at Fort Monmouth, N. J., and Bruce Wormald will attend the Engineer ROTC camp at Fort Belvoir, Va.

Taylor Is Elected Ag Club President

Wallace Taylor was recently elected president of the Ag club for next year assisted by Dale Everson, vice president; Doug Cook, secretary; Floyd Rowberry, treasurer; and Howard Shepherd, historian.

Manager of the 1952 Little International will be Bill Choules assisted by Don Mitchell and John Thomas.

Activities for the University's 56th annual commencement will begin June 2 and continue through June 4 with more than 800 students receiving diplomas at Commencement exercises Monday.

Singers Rehearse

Rehearsal of University Singers and Vandaleers for commencement will be held at 1 p.m. June 2.

Placement Office Offers A Chance For Summer Work

The University placement office announces several new jobs, both summer and full-time. Summer and year-round positions are available with the Military Sea Transportation Service in the North Pacific area. Good salaries plus generous bonuses are offered. A large variety of jobs are open, ranging from able-bodied seamen to radio operators.

Requirements for these positions are as follows:

1. Possession of a U. S. Coast Guard endorsement for position applied for.
2. Sea experience in position applied for.
3. Shore experience related to one of the positions offered.

Need Investigators

The Retail Credit Company has two openings for full-time insurance investigators. These positions are in their offices at Pasco and Walla Walla, Washington.

"The Reporter," a fortnightly magazine of facts and ideas, would like to hire a student representative for next fall to sell subscriptions. The student would receive 40 per cent commission plus bonuses.

A representative will be here May 31 from the Lowry Air Force Base and 3415th Technical Wing at Denver, Colorado. He will interview graduating engineers, physicists, mathematicians, and chemists. Students who are interested may arrange appointments for the interview in the placement office. Also see the office for further information concerning these jobs.

Lattig Wins Contest

Mrs. H. E. Lattig was named as a prize winner in a recent contest sponsored by McCall's magazine. Honorable mention was awarded for Mrs. Lattig's contribution to the "My Living Room Contest."

Commencement And Baccalaureate Speakers

The Rev. Marcus E. Lindsay, left, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Boise, will give the baccalaureate sermon at graduation exercises of the University at 11 a. m. Sunday, June 3. A pioneer Idaho clergyman, Rev. Lindsay is a trustee of the College of Idaho and a director of the Idaho Presbyterian Foundation.

Howard Pierce Davis, noted political philosopher and analyst, will deliver the Commencement address Monday at 10 a.m. following the academic procession at 9:45 a.m. Davis will come to Idaho from his home in Bolton, Mass.

Degrees will be presented after Davis' address in the Memorial gymnasium. Graduates will form in the academic procession in front of the Ad building to begin at 9:45 a.m. Awards and scholarship honors will be presented during the Commencement program.

Honor with Doctorates

Honorary doctorate degrees will be presented to Mrs. John E. Hayes, Titus G. LeClair, and William E. Lee.

Mrs. Hayes, Twin Falls, is president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers and will be awarded an honorary Doctor of Literature degree. She recently presided over the annual National Congress of Parents and Teachers convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

LeClair will receive an honorary degree of Doctor of Science. He is president of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers and is a 1921 graduate of the University.

An honorary doctorate degree LL. D. will be granted William Lee, a member of the Interstate Commerce Commission. He was a chief justice of the Idaho supreme court and a 1903 graduate of Idaho.

Accompanied by the university symphony orchestra, a 160 voice chorus, composed of Vandaleers and University singers, will sing Wagner's "Pilgrim's Chorus" from "Tannhauser." The performance will be conducted by Carl Claus, director of the orchestra.

Lindsay Gives Sermon

The Rev. Marcus E. Lindsay, pastor of the Boise First Presbyterian church, is scheduled to give the baccalaureate sermon Sunday at 11 a.m. The Rev. Mr. Lindsay is a trustee of the College of Idaho and a director of the Idaho Presbyterian Foundation.

The baccalaureate academic procession will begin from the Ad building at 10:45 a.m. for the Memorial gymnasium. The University orchestra under the direction of Carl Claus will provide professional and recreational music. The Vandaleers, conducted by Glen R. Lockery, will give their last appearance during the baccalaureate services Sunday morning.

Also scheduled for Sunday is a luncheon for the Board of Regents and official guests at the Student Union followed by the dedication and inspection of the new engineering buildings at 3 p.m.

Reception Sunday
Included in the special events Sunday is an informal University reception to the Class of 1951, their parents, the Board of Regents, the faculty, alumni and university friends with the university Faculty Women's club as hostess.

At 5 p.m. the University concert band will present a concert on the university lawn, followed at 8 p.m. with a vesper recital presented by the department of music in the Auditorium.

For the vesper program, Mary Jasper Johnson and Jeanne Foster will present their own compositions.
Activities June 2 will be continued on page 2 col. 3

Executive . . . Board

Pep Band Comes Home

The Pep Band is still alive, and it is back under the wing of ASUI. We have been waiting a long time to hear that news, and we have also spent some anxious moments wondering whether the music department could retain its stranglehold on the band.

A five member investigating committee presented its report to President Buchanan a short time ago, and those recommendations were approved. We have not won a complete victory, but the arrangement as it now stands is equitable and fair to all concerned. We thank the committee and President Buchanan for being open-minded and fair about the whole question.

The accepted recommendations are as follows: "A) That the Pep Band be continued. B) That the Pep Band shall be under the direction of a student leader and a faculty adviser, the faculty adviser to be a member of the music department and approved by the University administration. C) The membership shall be determined by the Pep Band leader in consultation with the faculty adviser after suitable tryouts have been held. D) That the membership of the band be built up to a maximum of 35, if and when suitable talent is available. E) That the final decision as to the suitability and preparation of music performed shall rest with the faculty adviser who shall then advise the Executive Board and the University President. F) That the student leader be selected by the members of the band subject to approval of the ASUI Executive Board. G) That the student leader shall be responsible to the ASUI Executive Board and ultimately to the University for conduct of the members of the band. This covers all rehearsals, appearances, and performances. H) That the Executive Board must approve all programs for concert appearances or shows in consultation with the student leader and faculty adviser. I) That the members of the Pep Band must be members of the University Band. Any exceptions to this ruling must be approved by the head of the music department and the student's academic dean. J) That all itineraries must be approved by the ASUI Executive Board and the University administration."

The whole thing adds up to a compromise between the Executive Board and the music department, but the best parts of the two plans have been rolled into one. This arrangement may not be the best, but it will be one heck of a lot better than the way it has been running for the last couple of years.

At least the Pep Band once again belongs to ASUI—there is no question about that. We think it is about time the organization was returned to its rightful owners, and the power of a certain group curtailed.

It's -30- For Another Day

Well, this is it—the "thirty" mark for another year at our dear college on the hill, and the last blast of bated breath from these inner-chambers. In a few more days you will go galloping over the hills in all directions for home—then there will be the deathly silence after the battle, and the vultures will hover over the scene of desolation. They will cast a hungry eye to the ground and watch closely as remaining professors and staff members begin to move slowly to reconstruct the wreckage.

Yep, it's been quite a year—nothing exceptional or outstanding—just another year. And now we are about to put the paper to bed and crawl back into our cocoons for another summer. During that time we will reflect on our misdeeds, pat ourselves on the back for the good deeds (if any), and think what we will do next year.

Of course there are those of you who will gallop over "them thar hills" for the last time as a student. To you we say, so long—it's been good to know ya, you lucky characters. There will also be a large group of alumni returning to the campus in the next few days. We hope they will let down their hair and have beaucoup fun while they are recapturing the spirit of college days.

While we are covering everything in this line of guff, we might as well say a kind word about our instructors who have made life so beautiful during the year—"A kind word." There, we said it and we'll probably flunk.

We hope that during this year we have done a reasonably good job of reflecting your life in the pages of the ARG. Your many successes have been registered in these pages, as well as your days in the infirmary and the other moments that have not been so good. But in looking back over the year, most of that reflecting seems to have been good. You are not a bunch of angels, nor are you ranting monsters—you are just normal American young men and women, and that is why those reflections have been good.

You have cussed at us, and you have agreed with us on occasion—that too is the American system. All in all, it has been a mighty fine year for the Argonaut, and we hope it has also been good to you. We will say a final good-bye to the graduating seniors, and a temporary so-long to all the rest of you.

So that about does it for the 1950-51 year. We will put the paper to bed, and add the final "30".

We Don't Use Tricks Here

Not long ago you freely gave your blood to help replace the blood that is being spilled in the Korean dirt. And now a bulletin comes to this office that tells how important your blood donations are. The bulletin originates from General Matthew B. Ridgway, commanding general in the Far East, and it offers a heart-felt thanks to the people over the nation who have given their blood.

The general says that the Red Cross and the American people have met all blood quotas set by the armed forces. He goes on to say that "every American who has given blood to the Red Cross can and should feel that he personally has directly contributed to the saving of the life of an American boy."

You have also been thanked for your donations by the Red Cross in a letter to George S. Tanner, executive secretary of the Latah county chapter. The letter is from Red Cross headquarters of the Pacific Area in San Francisco, and reads as follows:

"Needless to say we have been amazed at the success of blood procurement efforts at the University of Idaho. We know that much of the credit is due to the leadership of Mr. Lloyd, student blood program chairman, but we also know that he must have had an excellent organization including all of the elements that insure success.

"Both national headquarters and our office would like to be able to share the University of Idaho plan with other colleges and universities. We wonder if it has been put into writing. If so, we should like to have a copy or several copies, if available, together with any samples of special devices that were used for publicity or recruitment purposes."

Well now, that letter is quite a tribute to all concerned in the last blood drive on the campus, but we would like to say that we do not believe any special tricks were used to get you to give blood. Instead, we are quite sure that the University of Idaho student is more benevolent than the characters who live on other college campi throughout the nation—we have proven that in two blood drives, and will do it again this fall. No, dear Red Cross, you do not need a bulletin of the methods used in our blood drives—instead you need more people like those here at Idaho. D.H.

More Books

A plea for more books, especially textbooks, has been issued again for the World Student Fund drive to send books to the University of Dacca in Pakistan. Dario Toffenetti, WSSF chairman, is asking students to donate they would otherwise sell or throw away to this drive.

Novice Skiers Don't Get Hurt

Ski accidents in the United States are not increasing despite the fact that almost half the skiers in the country now are novice at the sport. E. F. Taylor, Denver, director of the National Ski Patrol system, recently stated.

As a result of the patrol's annual survey, a skier can figure that he stands half of one percent chance in 100 of being hurt while skiing. However, this injury can run all the way from a minor facial bruise to a leg fracture, Taylor said. Sixty percent of the accidents this past season were sprains and about 25 percent were fractures of all types. Few skiers found winter weather hard to take, weather casualties being only 0.7 percent.

Only 1.4 percent of all accidents occurred in competitive skiing. It was found that downhill racing accounts for the greater part of these accidents. The more spectacular ski jumping accounted for less than 20 percent of all accidents which happened in competition.

Displays will be set up by three departments including an historical exhibit with maps showing developments of Moscow, the University and the state in the library.

Here's More About—Howard Davis

cerned mainly with alumni activities including the alumni luncheon and annual association business meeting at 12 noon in the Moscow hotel. A "Blind Bogey" golf tournament on the university golf course is slated for 1:45 p.m. The alumni dinner and class reunions at the Student Union are scheduled for 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

Open house will be held in the art department showing all phases of activity in the department during the year. The third exhibit will be the annual flower show by the university botany department in Science hall.

For Men Only

I saw her swimming in the brook
A moment swift and fleeting
And from the shock of that brief look
My heart almost stopped beating.

I worked my way around the trees
To where the view was clearer
And then on trembling hands and knees
I edged a little nearer.

I never saw such perfect lines
As she was there displaying
Beneath the shade of spreading pines
In languid splendor playing.

Her twists and turns were full of grace
Her body smoothly molded
I know that joy showed on my face
As each new charm unfolded.

And when she floated with the stream
The sight was most entrancing
Her wondrous body seemed to gleam
From sunbeams softly glancing.

I yearned for her with heart and soul
And then I fell to wishing
For I had neither hook nor pole
And TROUT are caught by fishing.

Obscene "14" Leader Tells of Engagement

The engagement of Jean Marie Hammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess W. Hammer of Boise, to Richard Stuart Vandenberg, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Vandenberg, Boise, was announced at a dinner honoring the seniors at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house Monday evening.

The ring was displayed in the center of a nosegay composed of pink roses and white daisies. The table was decorated with yellow and white snapdragons and carnations.

Miss Hammer is a graduating senior majoring in Spanish. Vandenberg is a graduate of Whitman College at Walla, Walla where his major was economics. He is a member of Tau Kappa Epsilon.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Miss Hammer is leader of the famed "Fatty Fingers" and her Obscene Fourteen."

APO Announces Top Chess Players

Alpha Phi Omega, under the supervision of W. B. Abbott and Charles Decker, has completed its eighth year on the campus.

The Chess tournament was the last project this year. Trophies were presented at the last meeting by president Kenny West. Winners were Don Willis first; Herbert Pendergast, second; James De Leve, third; Roy Eastman, fourth; and John Schober, fifth.

The first project next year will be to assist with the Homecoming parade and festivities.

Campus Interviews on Cigarette Tests

Number 21...
THE PELICAN

"How much do they think I can swallow?"

OUR easy-going, big-billed friend has learned to say "No" to these hurry-up, one-puff, one-sniff cigarette tests! "Why," says he, "they don't even give you time to finish the cigarette before you're supposed to decide which is mildest!" Millions of smokers have come to the same conclusion—there's just one real way to test the flavor and mildness of a cigarette!

It's the sensible test . . . the 30-Day Camel Mildness Test, which simply asks you to try Camels as a steady smoke—on a pack-after-pack, day-after-day basis. No snap judgments needed! After you've enjoyed Camels—and only Camels—for 30 days in your "T-Zone" (T for Throat, T for Taste), we believe you'll know why . . .

Less Society, More Exams, Bless 'Em!

The year ends with social events being sacrificed for last minute cramming; however Sigma Nu managed to squeeze in their annual Sweetheart dinner and their picnic at Spalding Park.

The last remaining activity to be indulged in now is sneak dates so we leave you by way of the fire escape.

Sigma Nu
The annual Sweetheart Dinner was given at the chapter house last Sunday. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. John Black, Mrs. Bonnie Davis, Joan Kaeser, Martha Sue Neal, Joann Hutchinson, Charlotte Pennington, Nancy McIntosh, Margaret Lau, and Pat Albertson.

The house picnic was sponsored Sunday at Spalding Park. House guests this past weekend have been Joe Edgett and Jim Barron, Buhl.

Hays Hall
Sunday dinner guests included Miss Newcomb, Mr. and Mrs. George Murphy, Bruce Wormald, Will Lange, and George Fitzgerald. Evelyn Bergdorf, Spokane, was also a guest.

Forney Hall
A week-end guest from Kellogg was Dorothy Lee Biotti. Guests for this week are Frances Butler and Margaret Faust who will receive their diplomas with the 1951 graduating class. Sunday dinner guests included Ray Lockert, Joyce Powers, Barbara Line, Frank Cochrane, Herb Dunsmoor, and Dale Everson.

The last closed fireside of the year was given Sunday night. Jane Fisk was in charge of the program.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Sunday guests for Pin Dinner were Nadine Drake, Challis, and Jane Jenkins, Richland, Washington.

Photo Contest Is To Be Sponsored By Life Magazine

LIFE magazine is sponsoring its first photography contest with cash awards totaling $15,000. Full details of the contest may be found in the May 21 issue of LIFE with a deadline for entries set for September 15, 1951.

In the contest for young photographers, pictures may be submitted in two prize divisions—individual pictures, with two pictures submitted, and picture stories which is a series of photographs telling a story or depicting upon group presentation for effect. Four pictures must be submitted in the division. One hundred cash awards will be presented in each division.

Show In Life
Winning pictures of the top-ranked photographs in each division will appear in LIFE. Preliminary judging will be done by the staff with final judging by a panel of photography experts.

All pictures must be black and white and printed on 8 by 10 or 11 by 14 paper. Prints must be mounted individually and trimmed flush with the outside margins of the photographs. They must be made directly from single negatives.

Correspondence should be addressed to LIFE's Contest For Young Photographers, Box 10, New York 46, New York.

Students Present Recital Monday

Yesterday afternoon a student recital was presented in the University auditorium. "Song of the Pines," Irons, was played by Laurence Vieths, trumpeter. Contralto Joyce Fisher, accompanied by Joan Parks, sang "In the Silence of the Night," by Rachmaninoff.

"Andante and Allegro," Barot, was played by trombonist Fred Schmidt, who was accompanied by Jack Perciful. Pianist Mary Gerard played Debussy's "Reverie." Clarinetist Arthur Woodbury, accompanied by Jack Perciful, played "Fantasie Caprice," by LeFebvre.

Daisy Graham accompanied contralto Marie Rowberry as she sang Schubert's "Der Lindenbaum." "Morceau de Concours," Savad, was played by Richard Atwood, cornetist, who was accompanied by Jack Perciful. Pianist Bonnie AlLee played "Four Visions Fugitives, Op. 22," by Prokofieff. Concluding the program, pianist Frances Misson and violinist Louis Huber played River's "Concertion for Piano and Viola."

The initiates included William Brown, Richard Coulter, Rex El-kum, Robert Goss, Frank Haglund, Howard Humphrey, "Kenneth Kyle, Charles La Follette, Horace Nealey, Kenneth Pope, Warren Sheppard, Bruce Sweeney, and Richard Westgate. The Simfonians will initiate Donald McCabe at a later date.

Kinney-Hanigan Planning Nuptials

The engagement of Jeanne Kinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Kinney, Payette, to Dick Hanigan was announced recently at the Pi Beta Phi house. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hanigan. The news was revealed at a surprise fireside when Eleanor Wilson sang appropriate words to the tune of "Sentimental Journey" giving clues to the couple's identity, without revealing their names. The dining room doors opened to show a table centerpiece of a miniature maypole with streamers of pastel colors. Atop the maypole was a nosegay of sweet peas and a rose which held the ring. The couple's names "Dick and Jeanne" appeared on engraved cards on the refreshment trays.

Hanigan is a senior, majoring in business, and a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity. Miss Kinney is a freshmen physical education major.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Coach Finley Learns Ropes In Professional Leagues

By KARL KLAGES
Buzz Finley, the coach's four-year old son, aptly summarized the situation Saturday afternoon as he sauntered from the MacLean field diamond with a disheartened expression wiped across his face. "Ah, we didn't win any games."

Idaho had just been calcimined in Northern Division baseball play, ending the league loop with no wins and fourteen defeats. The Washington Huskies had supplied the finishing touch by slapping on a 9 to 3 setback in the final conference contest.

All the sympathy available in the sports pages for a team that finishes in the cellar is practically nil, and absorbing fourteen consecutive lacerations wasn't the simplest task in the world for Coach Chuck Finley. It wasn't even easy for Buzz and the team. The Idaho players had matched wits, wears and willows with their conference opponents, but they hadn't mustered the wins.

There are several factors which can account for Idaho's winless ways. The lack of equipment and facilities, the lack of depth in player ranks, and an insufficient number of pre-conference games, coupled with adverse spring weather conditions, are but a few of the major chronic maladies inflicting baseball at Vandalville.

But an expert coach with a knowledge of the game from A to Z is the one item that Idaho doesn't lack. In Coach Finley, the Vandals have a mentor who has ridden the roller-coaster of baseball.

Never Been Thumbed
Finley is a big man. Smart. Resourceful. The keenest of strategists. He is significantly reserved and quiet. Never says much unless spoken to. Yet, he has more color than a summer sport shirt. He has humor. He has a vast popularity with everyone—even the umpires. Chuck has never squawked so vehemently that he has been banished from a ball park.

Writing about Finley is akin to trying to paint a landscape on a postage stamp. His meteoric career got its real start at Northwest Missouri State Teachers college in 1932 where, under the tutelage of the re-nowned Hank Iba, he captained the 'Bearcats' into the finals of the national AAU basketball tournament.

In the spring, Finley handled the gateway sack for the Northwest Missouri baseballers. He would then continue with the first baseman chores during the summer months by playing semi-professional baseball with the American-Canadian Clowns, a farm club of the Cleveland Indians.

Finley has a sharp wit and a great volume of yarns which he can tell with finesse and very often at his own expense. "A fellow by the name of Lefty Becker was the only pitcher we had on the American-Canadian club. The others were all throwers," Finley recalled. "We acquired him by paying a ten dollar fine to bail him out of jail in Fargo, North Dakota."

Becker, a portly gentleman, was a veteran of 43 years, but he possessed incredible pitching prowess. "Whenever we wanted to win a game we'd call on him—which meant he pitched every other day and relieved in between. The rest of us were just beginners or has-beens who had seen the top and were now starting out."

No Speed Merchant
Some of the former major leaguers on the squad were outfielder Bill Rumlter who had played three seasons with the St. Louis Browns, and shortstop Roy Massey who rendered his services to Boston's Braves for a season. "The guys couldn't run bases but they had good hitting power. Our third baseman, Chase Followler, would have gone into major league ball but his legs would tie up on him everytime he got a hit over a single and had to run. I was never any speed merchant on the bases myself," Finley concluded.

The American-Canadian Clowns traveled in two large, seven-passenger Hudsons. "We played through south Idaho and swung up to Lewiston," Finley recalled. "We practically starved going through here."

"Just to show you how remarkable Becker was," he continued, "Lefty could never straighten out his pitching arm because he had a growth on his elbow. But whenever we'd have a flat tire on one of the Hudsons (and they were numerous) Becker would grab hold of the rear bumper—lift the car up, baggage and all—and hold it while we changed the tire."

For several years after graduation Finley divided his time between professional basketball and baseball. He is prone to soft peddle his own diamond ability, but his batting could be compared with that of Ty Cobb's, the Georgia Peach who for 12 years was the American League batting champion. Cobb batted .240 his first season, the only time that he failed to hit better than .300. He finished with a lifetime batting mark of .367.

Finley, in his first year with Grand Island of the Nebraska State league, hit 229, the only time that he failed to bat under the charmed .300 mark. His best batting average was also .367.

Coach Cheerful Chuck Finley

"I batted .220 my first season and never hit under .300 thereafter."

Finley played professional baseball under an assumed name. He spent some time with Grand Forks of the class C Northern League, then jumped to the Topeka club in the Western association where he alternately played first base and donned the "tools of ignorance." "I didn't have the timing to hit that long ball," Finley said, "and never had a good enough arm to catch."

The best pitcher he ever batted against was Jerome (Dizzy) Dean, the great hurler of the Cardinals who was as colorful a performer as the National League ever produced. Dean at that time was playing for the last-place St. Joseph club in the Western Association but he still won 17 games.

From the Western loop, Finley switched to Clovis in the West Texas-New Mexico league where he maneuvered on the first base sack. His last season in organized ball was in 1945 when he caught for Parral in the Mexican International League. That same year he was basketball coach and athletic director at New Mexico Mines. He came from there to Idaho.

To watch Finley in the field and on the bench, he is like a mild-mannered Sunday-school boy. Wearing uniform number 32, and grinning from chop to jowl, he throws handfuls of baseballs in bat-

by BILL BOYDEN
The hapless University of Idaho baseball nine capped the 1951 season last Friday and Saturday by dropping a two game series to the Washington Huskies, 5-1 and 9-3.

Both contests revealed the continued plot of inept fielding and brainwork on the part of the Vandals. However, the Idaho bats added little to the story as they boomed out a meager tune of five hits in each battle.

Wayne Anderson was the unfortunate Vandal chucker in Friday's game. He had the Huskies eating out of his hand on a diet of one single in the first five frames. That one hit came in the fourth and coupled itself with the flimsy field folly of the Idaho infielders to net two Washington tallies.

The Huskies added their final three runs in the seventh on three of their four hits in the game. However, every tally came after an error erased a chance for the third out.

Cless Hinckley mounted the slab for Idaho on Saturday. He too felt the lack of fielding support, but the Huskie batters also nicked him for a dozen bingos. Another dozen Huskies, however, found Hinckley's offerings slipping by for strike number three.

Washington State hammered the Huskies, 13-5, yesterday to enable the Oregon State Beavers to back into the division championship. Although the Huskies and Cougars are but ½ game behind the Orangemen, the winner of today's contest would still remain several percentage points behind the OSC nine's .714 average.

Bahr-Jacobs Return From Utah Meeting

Vern Bahr and Hyde Jacobs, ASUI president-elect, returned yesterday from Salt Lake City where they represented the ASUI at the Pacific Student Presidents' Convention. Over 110 old and new student body presidents were guests of the University of Utah for this annual gathering. Bahr served as a member of the executive committee in charge of the convention and also as a discussion leader on Freshman Orientation. Officers elected by the group for next year were: President—Jim Davis, president-elect of UCLA; vice president—John Naisbitt, president of the U. of Utah; and host for next year's convention—Marv Durham, president of the University of Washington studentbody.

Who was the greatest ball carrier of all time?

a. Wilson, b. Ben Lee, c. Jack Strop.

What do Chuck Finley and Buck Bailey have in common?

a. Neither one of them holds the world's record for the 100 yard dash.
b. A love for umpires.
Which major league baseball team has lost the least number of players to the draft?
a. The Brooklyn Dodgers.
How long are furlongs?
a. Some soldiers get furlongs for as long as 30 days.

What was the real name of George Herman Ruth?

a. Babe, b. Fals-Waller, c. Louisville Slugger.

Which fly is the most successful lure?

a. Royal Coachman, b. The Tetsue fly, c. Spanish fly.
In major league baseball, who circled the most bases in 1934?
a. Dizzy Trout, b. True, c. False.

You're not a bad looking sort of fellow.

You'd say that even if you didn't think so.

Well, we're square then—you'd think so even if I didn't say so.

COOL ENOUGH TO DRINK

Our delightfully sheer Frosted Fruit Plaid Gingham with a full, full skirt and tiny ball-fringe at the boned bodice. The bolero jacket adds just enough for cool evenings.

The Home of Famous Brands

BELIEVE IN YOURSELF!

Don't test one brand alone...compare them all!

Unlike others, we never ask you to test our brand alone. We say... compare PHILIP MORRIS...match PHILIP MORRIS...judge PHILIP MORRIS against any other cigarette! Then make your own choice!

TRY THIS TEST!

Take a PHILIP MORRIS—and any other cigarette. Then, here's all you do:

1 Light up either cigarette. Take a puff—don't inhale—and s-l-o-w-l-y let the smoke come through your nose.

2 Now do exactly the same thing with the other cigarette.

NOTICE THAT PHILIP MORRIS IS DEFINITELY LESS IRRITATING, DEFINITELY Milder!

Remember... NO CIGARETTE HANGOVER
