

Kappas and Delts Awarded Scholarship Trophies Today

The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Well, by now we have probably all seen "Leave My Little Girl Alone," that highly controversial movie that played here in Moscow the past few days. As on other campuses, the movie was met with quite a wide and varied reaction.

Some students liked it and thought it portrayed the subject excellently. Others disliked it and thought that it was falsely malicious in its portrayal of sorority life. Still others seemed indifferent and some exclaimed a "yeah, but so what?" attitude.

Not having lived in a sorority, Jason doesn't feel up to testing the merits or demerits of sorority life. It is like arguing religion with a person when you know nothing about his denomination, nor he about yours.

Jason supposes it is also similar to the subject of marriage. If you haven't been married, you can't really say anything pro or con. The late George Bernard Shaw who married late in life was continually plagued by people asking his impressions of marriage. He developed a stock answer that went something like this:

"Marriage is like free-masonry. Before you are pledged you don't have the authority to say anything. And after you sign, you are pledged to eternal silence."

(Personally, Jason would go along with Monty Wooley when he said, "The only marriage that I ever approved of was that between my father and mother.")

Exaggeration—Yes

To get back to the movie, many persons thought that it was highly exaggerated. But to get a point across, aren't all movies, plays, books, etc., exaggerated? Actually Jason believes that the movie could possibly have been a good portrayal of sorority life (now don't get ruffled, girls) . . . anywhere but the Northwest and especially Idaho.

Maybe Jason is simply dazzled, but to him Idaho is the last frontier as far as neighborliness and friendliness is concerned. There are certain parts of this state where neighbors still help a man build a house. And in most parts of the state everyone at least knows his neighbor. The Eastern system of "cut your friend's throat before he cuts yours," hasn't quite found a foothold in most parts of this state and the surrounding vicinity.

With a heritage and background like that, snobbish just doesn't seem to fit in here at "the melting pot of the state of Idaho." Jason doesn't believe that a person could be a complete snob here at Idaho and get along with anyone. For that matter, Jason doesn't think that anyone here at Idaho would know how to be a complete snob.

Another reason that Jason believes that the movie wouldn't pertain to Idaho is that there isn't social pressure exerted to a great degree in differing between Independent and Greek men and women.

Here at Idaho a woman goes out with a man because of himself and not because of where he lives, at least Jason hopes so. And hopes that it remains that way.

Also people choose the place they live, mostly on their own volition. For instance, if a man or woman decides to live in a dormitory, it is usually of his own accord, rather than not being accepted in a fraternity or sorority. The campus spring elections, for the past six years provide ample proof of that.

We Get Along Fine

Likewise a man or woman may choose a fraternity or sorority because they like the persons connected with that group and that is a good point to consider. After all, four years can be a long time.

Also, a certain amount of individualism, even in this day and age, still persists here at the "big I." Jason believes that it is strong enough so that most students do not have to resort to "idol-worshipping"—whether it be in the form of a tin god or a wooden house.

Now Jason is really and truly not attempting to pan one form of campus living, nor place one above the other. "Live and let live" is the byword. It should be strictly up to the individual. All Jason has tried to do in this article is point out that we here at Idaho enjoy a unique situation and that the "Dallas" of the aforementioned movie are few and far between. Jason sincerely hopes that he isn't looking at this campus through rose-colored glasses.

Sonk of the Week: "I May Be Wrong, But, I Think You're Wonderful."

Campus Is Getting A Super Polish Ready For Influx Of Visiting Dads

Idaho Dads will be honored guests on campus this weekend as Dad's Day activities get under way Friday and Saturday.

The pre-game rally is slated for Friday night at 6:45 o'clock as students will start from Pine hall to the Ad building followed by Ridenbaugh to Gamma Phi. The rally will then proceed to Bet to Pi Phi and end at the Student Union where coaches and captains of the football team will speak.

Students in the card trick section may sit anywhere in that particular section and must dress in white shirts and blouses and "I" hats, weather permitting. Eight tricks honoring Dads, visiting high school bands and coaches will be given.

Those participating in the card tricks which will be presented at game halftime Saturday are to be in the section designated at 1:30 p.m. for instructions and practice. Students in the card section are urged to save the cards used in tricks Saturday for use during the Homecoming game.

Living groups with 20 members to be in the card section include: Alpha Chi, Alpha Phi, Tri Delta, Gamma Phi, Theta, Kappa, Pi Phi, Campus club, Delta Chi, and Teke.

Twenty-five members of the following groups are to participate in the card section: Delta Gamma, ATO, Beta, Chrisman hall, Delta Tau, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta, Phi, SAE, Sigma Chi, and Sigma Nu.

Forney, Ridenbaugh, and Hays halls will participate with 40 members each, while other totals include Lindley, 50; Pine hall, 30; Willis Sweet, 36; and Idaho club, 15.

Ten members will sit in the card section from Delta Sig, Lambda Chi, Phi Tau, and LDS.

Spurs and Iks will help with the card section with Bill Shaw and the cheerleaders in charge. Students are urged to save the cards and to be in the section promptly at 1:30 p.m. Game time is 2 p.m.

Representatives in each men's living group will be selling tickets for the Dad's day dance which is scheduled for Saturday night in the Student Union. Benny Ackerman and his 11-piece orchestra from WSC will furnish the music for the dance which will start at 8:30 p.m. Tickets for the all-campus dance are also to be sold at the door Saturday night.

Agenda for the Executive Board meeting, Tuesday, October 15, 7 p.m., is:

- Appointments to: Orientation committee, Rally committee, Student Events committee
- Reports from: Questionnaire committee, Dad's day committee, Student Recruitment committee, WSC Arrangements committee, Use of Activities Cards.

President Buchanan Presents Honors At Scholarship Awards Assembly

Scholarship cups honoring the University of Idaho living groups with the highest scholastic average for the 1950-51 year were awarded to Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Delta Tau Delta fraternity at the annual awards assembly today by President J. E. Buchanan.

The Beulah Gerrard Dale scholarship cup was presented to Kappa Kappa Gamma for the highest women's average of 2.94 out of a possible 4.00. The Alumni scholarship cup went to Delta Tau Delta for the highest men's average. Their average was 2.65 out of 4.00.

Other women's living groups in the top five scholastically include Kappa Alpha Theta, 2.855; Pi Beta Phi, 2.854; Forney hall, 2.84, and Delta Gamma, 2.78. Men's groups included Lindley hall, 2.60; Phi Gamma Delta, 2.58; Chrisman hall, 2.53, and Phi Kappa Tau, 2.49.

Other awards, presented to groups and individuals, include:

Alpha Zeta
A pen and pencil set was presented by the agricultural honorary to Bryan Stone, as the college of agriculture student to gain the highest average during his freshman year. His average was 3.51.

American Institute of Chem. Eng.
Each year the institute provides a student membership and a pin in the organization to the student who maintains the highest average during his freshman and sophomore years. Winner this year was Elmer Waters, with an average of 3.91.

Boyer Plaque
The name of the woman majoring in physical education with the highest average during four years of school is engraved on the plaque. Pamela Gaut, 1951 graduate, was honored this year.

Delta Sigma Rho
The organization presents debate cups each year to the living groups winning the intramural debate tournaments. Winners for 1950-51 were Alpha Phi sorority and Sigma Chi fraternity.

Interfraternity Council
Phi Gamma Delta fraternity received a cup presented by the organization for the men's group with the highest average during the previous semester. The chapter had an average of 2.71 for the second semester of last year. The group also presents a plaque to the fraternity with the highest average for the entire year. For the 1950-51 year, it was awarded to Delta Tau Delta.

Mary E. Forney Cup
The name of a woman student living in Forney hall who is outstanding in scholarship, leadership, integrity and social development is engraved on the Mary E. Forney cup. Honored this year was Virginia Orazem.

Maudie Cocho Houston Plaque
The name of the University of Idaho freshman woman with the highest average through her first year is inscribed on the plaque donated by Mrs. Houston. Diana Jennings won the honor with a 4.00 average.

Mortar Board
Outstanding sophomore woman is recognized on a plaque by the senior women's honorary. In case of tie in scholarship, the award

Ministry Students
Students interested in full time religious work, such as the ministry, missionary work, and direction of religious education, are requested to get in touch with Dr. Oscar M. Adam, director-chaplain of the Idaho Institute of Christian Education in the Campus Christian center.

Different Courses
The Intercollegiate Press recently announced several innovations in colleges throughout the country. The University of Portland now offers a course, required for many administrative posts in the student council, in student leadership.

Argonaut Rated First Class By Associated College Press

First class rating was given the 1950 second semester Argonaut by the Associated Collegiate Press scorebook, following a critical analysis of last year's issues of the paper.

This rating is equivalent to an excellent. Highest rating given by ACP is All-American or superior. The Argonaut has never received the superior rating. The Idaho paper is placed in position for consideration and comparison with other papers in its own group according to size, number of students, and facilities.

In analyzing the paper, critics look into consideration special problems, particularly those which were explained on an accompanying sheet with the issue. The judges gave criticism and suggestions for improvements.

New Type Stage Sets Introduced

Edmund Chavez, new technical director for Idaho's drama department, is introducing a new type of set to the university stage. The set will be seen in Idaho's production of "The Main Line," or "The Figure in the Foreground," November 2 and 3 at 8 o'clock in the University auditorium. Miss Jean Collette is director of the show.

The period of the play, the 1890's was a period of realism, with the melodrama taken very seriously during that time by both audience and players. Stage settings—or sets—coincided with the period and were also realistic. Mr. Chavez, however, is using a type of set called stylized constructivism, which demands audience imagination to complete its purpose.

This particular type of set grew in the Moscow Arts Theatre from lack of funds to build realistic sets.

Portable Settings
The set for the first act of "The Mine Line" reveals the basic frame of a house and its interior. The house—a railroad station—is on a movable platform. For the second and third acts it is merely turned around to give the audience the feeling of having crossed the tracks.

The fourth act set becomes the parlor of the station master's house. Behind-stage actors are not completely shielded from the audience; therefore, specific timing of cues must be enacted to conceal the actors until their entrances.

Throughout the play audience imagination is an important part of the set.

A.S.U.I. Cards

All ASUI activity cards should be picked up this week in the General Manager's office. Pictures to be retaken must be done this week and will not be available to those neglecting to have them taken during this time. A pink registration receipt or the registration number is required to obtain cards or pictures.

Pledge Dances Top Weekend Events; Esquire Girl Candidates Entertained

"Autumn Leaves," "Capp's Capers" and "King for an Evening" served as themes of the various pledge dances sponsored during the last weekend.

Phi-Delts celebrated with a pajama "Hey-Day" at the Pullman Country club. Seems as if everyone from Adorable Jones to the infamous Scragg Brothers attended the Kappa Sig comic strip dance.

Kappa Sigma
Characters rating from Adorable Jones to the notorious Scragg Brothers attended "Al Capp's Capers" in the chapter house Friday evening. Music for the dance was furnished by Bernie Ackerman, Pullman. Patrons and patronesses were L.A. Commander and Mrs. Mackie, Mr. Ray McCollom, and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Hoffman. Mr. Dwight Thomas, Sr., and son, Frank, were Saturday luncheon guests.

Formal initiation was conducted Sunday for Roy Mossman, Jim Peterson, Hal Prickren, Morgan Johnson, Billy Mullins, and Thomas Neal.

Weekend guests were Hal Stivers, Richland, John Ager and Holly Crosby, College of Idaho.

Delta Gamma
Mrs. Carleton Banker, Delta Gamma national treasurer, was a guest of honor at an informal coffee hour last Thursday. Later in the evening Mrs. Banker was introduced to guests at a formal reception given in her honor at the chapter house.

Dinner guests included the Delta Gamma Corporation board, the Advisory board, and Mrs. Banker.

Tau Kappa Epsilon
Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Robinson, Lois Geddes, Ruby Felter, and Lloyd Marsh.

Idaho Club
Newly elected officers of the Idaho club include Larry Hart, president; Gerald Denning, secretary; Lynn Nichols, treasurer, Bob Perkins, intramural manager, Chuck Evans, assistant manager, Donald Vandervort, social chairman.

A dance is scheduled for November 3.

Alpha Phi
Initiation into Alpha Phi Saturday was for Shirley Buxton, Carolyn Clark, Dolores Lindfors, Marlene Monroe, Joan Officer, and Phyllis Ralstin.

A guest dinner was sponsored Sunday for alumnae. A big and little sister party was enjoyed last Tuesday night.

Val Whitmore Wendle, Spokane, was a week-end guest.

Beta Theta Pi
Dinner guests Thursday, October 11, were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lyle and daughters, Nancy and Carol; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Smith. Guests Sunday were Judge and Mrs. Chase Clark, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Kalbfleisch. And of particular significance was Sunday's impromptu guest, the 1951 Rain Queen, Miss Carla Brodd.

Weekend guests were District Chief of the 23rd District of Beta Theta Pi, Judge Ralph P. Edgerton and son, Douglas.

A fireside Saturday was with Stan Tate and Lou Mendiola providing a bit of the extraordinary in entertainment.

Open house to show off the recent remodeling job will highlight Dad's Day.

The annual Pledge dance is scheduled for October 26, 1951.

Delta Delta Delta
The Tri-Delts sponsored a formal dance last Saturday night to honor new pledges and initiates. Initiates included Hazel Tomlinson, Helene Fletcher and Ida Mae Collette.

The theme of the dance was "Autumn Leaves" and the entire ballroom was decorated in fall colors. Cider and doughnuts were served.

Chuck LaFollette and his orchestra provided musical entertainment.

Patrons for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. Max Jensen. Louise Longo and Jean McGrath were in charge of decorations, and Pat Reilly and Faye Sargent supervised refreshments.

New officers of the pledge class are: Shirley Robson, president; Jerry Manning, vice president; Pat Rutledge, secretary, and Nancie Edwards, treasurer.

Delta Tau Delta
The Delt house was turned into a broadcasting studio Saturday, October 13, to lend atmosphere to the pledge dance theme, "King for an Evening."

Pledges were pictured as contestants on a quiz program and pledge Doug Rushfeldt was elected King. Sixty-five couples danced to music by Ray Cox, among comic advertisements and billboards of the make-believe theatre.

Patrons and patronesses for the evening were Mrs. Mae Christman, house mother; Dean and

IRC Will Launch Program Series With UN Theme

The International Relations club will launch its 1951 program series Wednesday, October 24, with a program designed in honor of and in cooperation with "United Nations" week. Tentative plans for this UN program include talks by foreign students from countries currently aided by UNESCO and other affiliate organs of the UN. IRC is an organization of both students and faculty who are interested in current problems of national and international importance. Discussion groups, panels, debates, films, and visiting speakers will highlight this year's agenda. Political, economic, and sociological studies, as well as cultural developments form the basis for program planning.

Learn Of The World
Current problems are the general rule, but if students wish to change the agenda, such changes can be arranged to meet with the desires of the group. All students are welcome to attend and actively participate in the IRC meetings. Membership is in no way restricted, and IRC presents an available means of keeping abreast with world events. IRC meeting has been changed this year. This year the club will convene on Wednesday evenings, at 7:15 o'clock. Each meeting will be announced in the Argonaut.

J.D. Group Plans First Meeting

Delta Mu, the collegiate Job's Daughters group, will meet today at 4 o'clock in conference room B of the SUB to plan activities for the coming year. On the agenda is the discussion of plans for the society's annual get-together with the Moscow Job's Daughters chapter. All Job's Daughters are invited to attend the meeting.

Home Economists Display Fashions

Home economics displays are showing a variety of this season's newest and most popular fabrics in keeping with the fall trend for deep textured materials. The colorful display is in the hall outside the home economics department. Especially fashionable this year is "poodle cloth," a new textured material of rayon and nylon with a soft, deep nap. One of the most unusual materials is millium, a metal insulated fabric so widely advertised for linings of coats. Also featured in the display is a soft suede cotton cloth which is water repellent. Velvetly shadefinished fabrics are so woven as to give dimension and depth. These cloths are popular for sportswear as well as dressy fashions. All the new materials appear in a wide range of the season's latest fashion colors.

Johnson As Prexy Honorary Chooses

Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, elected Ron Johnston president at the first meeting in the home of Dr. Edward Moore.

Other officers elected at the Wednesday evening meeting are Jim DeLeve, vice president, and Joan Price, reporter. Dr. Moore was reelected secretary-treasurer, with Prof. Sverre Scheldrup re-named faculty advisor.

All faculty members of the executive committee were reelected, including Dr. Boyd Martin, Prof. James DeVeau, Dr. F. C. Church, Dr. Moore, Professor Scheldrup, and Dr. Harry Harmsworth. Ron Johnston and Shirley Rae Longteig were named new student members of the executive council.

Forestry Students Enjoy Steak Fry

Associated Foresters had their annual field day and steak fry at the Moscow Mountain ski area last Saturday. The event was attended by about 75 members including students and faculty of the School of Forestry.

After consuming the picnic menu, including 35 pounds of steak, the men participated in various field events.

These consisted of log sawing, log chopping, pole climbing, pacing, log hauling and a tug of war between classes. The winners of the events will be presented with prizes at a future meeting.

Civil Service To Give JPA Exam

The United States Civil Service commission has announced a Junior Professional assistant examination to be given December 8. Deadline for the receipt of applications for the test, the first of its kind since 1949, is November 13.

The JPA exam is for the purpose of recruiting young people for development into high-grade professional workers. Optional positions of bacteriologist, economist, geographer, geophysicist, social science analyst and statistician will be covered by the examination. Appointments will be made at Civil Service grade GS-5 at $3,100 a year.

Open to Grads
The test will be open to persons who have completed, or expect to complete by June 30, 1952, a four-year college course leading to a bachelor's degree in the appropriate specified field. An alternative qualification is a combination of pertinent experience and college study equivalent to a four-year college course. Candidates for the positions must pass a written general abilities test before other qualifications are evaluated.

Local Dairymen Meet Tomorrow

Improving dairy practices will be discussed at a meeting of local dairymen on the Idaho campus tomorrow, D. L. Fout, head of dairy husbandry, announced recently.

Arrangements have been completed for a tour of Idaho's dairy department and a showing of dairy films during the meeting.
