Five living groups have contributed 100% towards the Campus Chest drive according to Bus Hall, head of the soliciting committee. Delta Gamma, Sigma Chi, Delta Chi, Phi Delta Theta, and LDS have reached that figure in the first day of the drive.

More than $250 went into the "chest" at the drive-sponsored "taxi" dance last Friday. Winners of the competition for the most dance tickets collected during the evening were Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta, and Alpha Chi Omega, in that order.

Ted Torok, general chairman of the drive, expressed his thanks to Ann Royer and Nancy Wietz, co-chairmen of the dance; to the junior class; and to Ray Cox who donated the services of his orchestra that night.

Solicitors Named
Solicitors groups for the Campus Chest were named last week.

The first group includes Les Mathews, head; assisted by Bob Allison, Pine Hall; Dean Skinner and Donald Oloason, Idaho Club; Gerald Ames and Arlin Knight, Campus Club.

Ralph Townsend is in charge of the second group. He is assisted by Danny Warfield, Verl King, and Phil Ard, Lindley; Don Hodge, Bob Spalding, and Terrell Davis, Willis Sweet; and John Tovey and John Thomas, Chrisman.

Donna McKee heads another group. She is assisted by Rhea Gerber, and Ronnie Miller, Ridenbaugh; Dorothy Weston and Doris Crisp, Hays Hall; and Margaret Teare, JoAnn Johnson and Jean Moran, Forney Hall.

Dale Daniels is assisted by Ben Nicholas, Delta Chi; Charles Bartholomew, SAE and David Beck-Tri Delta; Shirley Vorous, Alpha Phi; and Grace Bowman, Alpha Chi.

Hazel Bell heads another group assisted by Donna Bray, Pi Phi; Dorothy Wahl, Kappa; and Joanne Carpenter, Gamma Phi.

Dick Rogers is in charge of a group composed of Jim DeChambeau, Phi Delta; Stan Swanson, Sigma Nu; and Jim Guthrie, Beta.

Another group is headed by Alan Huggins. He is assisted by Darrell Maule, Delta Tau; Kenneth Slusser, AFO; and Ted Torok, Delta Sigma Phi.

The last group is composed of Don Runner, chairman, assisted by David Martindale, TKE, and Dave Porter, Kappa Sigma.

Engineering Profs Write New Textbook

A new textbook, titled "Engineering Problems," has been authored by two University professors in the college of engineering, Carroll A. Curtis and Frank S. Junk. "The material is so presented that it will help the beginning student determine his aptitude for the basic engineering subjects, and will assist his orientation within the field of engineering," say the authors.

The book teaches use of the slide rule, and gives problems in all phases of engineering.

Humorist Speaks Here Tomorrow

Ogden Nash, noted writer of light verse, will appear at the University in a public events assembly at 11 a. m. tomorrow in Memorial gymnasium.

In "Midway Through Nash," his lecture at the University, Nash will recite a number of his verses and comment on the turn of events in his life that brought about their creation. Nash's particular brand of verse began while he was employed in the advertising department of Double-day Page Publishing company.

He was for a brief time in 1931 editor of New Yorker magazine. "Parents Keep Out" is the latest of several books of verse published by Nash.

In one of his books, "Versus, or Let's Not Climb the Washington Monument Tonight," Nash discusses his own arriving at middle-age, describing it as the time when "Nobody will speak loud enough for you to hear, and you go to the ball game and notice that even the umpires are getting younger every year."

Nash's appearance at the University is open to the public without charge.

Holyoak And McDevitt Win Debate Meet To Gain Invitation To West Point Tourney

Frosh Assembly Wednesday Will Name Royalty Finalists

The freshman-sponsored Irish invasion of the Idaho campus began last night with the "Shamrock Week" kick-off, a freshman assembly in which competitors for the title of "Sovereigns of Shamrock Isle" were introduced by Flip Kleffner, frosh president. Plans for the week, scheduled March 10 to 15, were outlined and include an all-freshman mixer, a freshman serenade and an all-campus formal dance.

Third Party Votes For Candidates

Third Party candidates for the 1952 Spring elections were chosen in a party primary and general assembly last Saturday afternoon. Third party nominees will be made public three weeks before the ASUI elections in accordance with the ASUI constitution.

The general assembly heard the reading of the party by-laws as previously stated in the Argonaut and accepted them with the words "need for change" corrected to read "need for improvement."

Party policy and platform as listed in the Argonaut was read to the assembly. Among those planks adopted by the group were inauguration of the petition system of appointment to committees, implementing the advisory referendum system to put crucial issues before the student body, and extension of the student's use of the placement bureau.

Members of the vote counting committee as selected by the assembly were Barbara Pennington, and Cleon Kunz. Professor Clifford Dohler was the third member of the group.

The steering committee, to be composed of all interested students, will meet today in Conference Room A of SUB. The purpose of this committee is to determine campaign procedure and carry it into effect.

Dancing Continues
Dancing lessons will be taught in the middle ballroom of the Student Union building every Tuesday and Thursday from 4:10 p. m. to 5 p. m. starting today.

Under the supervision of Lane Ruud the lessons feature the fox trot and tango. Ruud is teaching the dance steps in cooperation with the recreation committee and the Student Union officials.

Ogden Nash places, he was voted a highlight of the year. The United States today has few humorists of the class of Ring Lardner, George Ade or Will Rogers. Nash is one of them. For years he has been adding his tongue-in-cheek touch to such publications as The New Yorker, Saturday Evening Post and Collier's. But more important to University students this week, is the fact that he is just as fast with the quip on a lecture platform as he is on a typewriter, according to other writers.

Dean Holyoak and Chuck McDevitt topped senior division debaters of five Western states at McMinnville, Oregon, Saturday to earn an invitation to the national West Point tournament.

The Northwest district selection committee gave the team five out of six first place votes to represent the district in the April 23 to 26 contest.

Willamette university and Pacific Lutheran college were listed to complete the three schools invited. Idaho State and St. Martins are alternates. The three teams attending will represent Wyoming, Idaho, Montana, Washington and Oregon.

West Point annually hosts 32 teams from 8 national districts in its tournament. Teams stay on the post during the contest. This is the sixth year for the tournament. Idaho has not been nominated to attend previously.

Holyoak and McDevitt, who won junior division honors last year, overcame a defeat by the University of Utah in a preliminary round to meet St. Martins in the semi-finals. No team reached the finals undefeated.

Met Utah In Finals
Willamette won over Utah to meet Idaho in the final round. Results were announced at a banquet Saturday night when the Idaho team was awarded a 24-inch gold trophy.

Dr. A. E. Whitehead attributes an "outstanding forensic" record over the past two years" to the two debaters. "We feel honored to be nominated for the tournament and hope that Idaho can be represented," he said.

Eleven speakers and Coach Whitehead made the trip to Linfield college for the speech and debate tournament Wednesday through Saturday. Results were: Senior division debate: Holyoak and McDevitt won 7, lost 1; Kent Lake and Meredith Glenn won 4, lost 2; Fred Kopke and Ken Kornher won 2, lost 3, one bye.

Junior Division
Junior division: Jim Costley and Eldon Johnston won 3, lost 3; Dick Johnston and Bob Huntley won 1, lost 5.

Charles Oldham, member of last year's state high school champion team, entered one man debate. His record was 3-3.

The subject considered was permanent wage and price control. All teams argued both the affirmative and negative.

Extemporaneous speeches were on American education. Impromptu dealt with college curricula and extracurricular activities. Interview contests, acting, and other contests were also held.

Holyoak and McDevitt have won four regional tournaments in the last two seasons, not counting triangular meets. They are the Linfield college tournament last year and this, the Inland Empire Junior tournament and the Pacific Forensic League tournament at Stanford last year.

The winning pair proved quite effective on the wage and price control question. Holyoak has a full, mellow voice and an excellent command of economics. McDevitt can put over material with overpowering conviction that brings comments from judges and audience alike, Dr. Whitehead said.

Holyoak is a senior in business, McDevitt a junior law student.

Foresters Feature 'Husband Calling'

A "husband-calling" contest was featured entertainment during In-termission of the Foresters' ball, Saturday night in the SUB. First, second, and booby prizes were awarded.

Near Paul Bunyan's cabin in the south ballroom were displays presented by the departments in the school of forestry, wild life management, range management and wood utilization. Various types of saws, axes, loggers' boots, snow shoes, and many other types of woodmen's equipment were shown.

Dave Parsons and Bob Oehmeke were artists in charge of decorations. Delmar Vail was general chairman of the dance. Other committee chairmen included: Larry Young, tickets; Bob Lieurance, decorations; Red Andrus, orchestra; and Warren Crabb, publicity.

Hugh Oriard's five piece orchestra and vocalist Donna Rhodes from Spokane presented music for the ball.

All campus students may attend the dance which will be of an informal nature with students attired in date clothes. Refreshments will be served.

A $25 defense bond will be awarded as a door prize and the talent show winners will be presented as intermission entertainment for the dance.

Tickets for the dance are on sale for $1.20 a couple from all Newman club house representatives.

Plays Own Music
Music by Templeton makes up the final section of the concert. Templeton will play "Blithesome Reel," "Berceuse in G Minor," "A Roam with Jerome," "Back Seat Jiver," "Improvisation on Five Notes in the Style of the Composers," "Gnats to You, from the Insect Suite," and finally "Improvisations on Four Melodies."

Since the beginning of "Help Week" two years ago, 75 ATO chapters along with many other fraternities have substituted it for the hell weeks. ATO is the first fraternity on the Idaho campus to use a "Help Week."

The experiment proved very successful and it looks like "Help Week" is here to stay, according to ATO committeemen. John Burroughs was chairman of the committee. Working with him were Richard Kline, Ken Slusser and Ed Johnson.

Letter Of Commendation

Fraternities which meant it when they chose "Help Week" instead of "Hell Week" have been doing the community a lot of good this semester. The following letter to ATO was released by ASUI president Hyde Jacobs for publication:

Fraternity of Alpha Tau Omega
 Wally Schmidt, President
 Moscow, Idaho
 Gentlemen:

The Executive Board wishes to express their appreciation to the fraternity of Alpha Tau Omega for your recently initiated "Help Week" in lieu of the traditional "Hell Week." Your action in turning a week which at times has brought discredit on our living groups and student body is very commendable.

We should also like to encourage other fraternities and living groups to follow your lead because we sincerely feel that such an action would have its effect in increased good will for the University all over the State.

Yours very truly,
 HYDE S. JACOBS,
 ASUI President.

Need A Higher Stack

Roll in that coin. The campus chest is in full swing. Already four or five living groups have gone over the top with 100 per cent contributions. The quota is one dollar per person. Of course greater amounts per head will not be rejected.

You probably haven't realized that a stack of silver dollars only 28 feet 4 inches high would put the whole campus over the top. The campus chest quota is $2000. Right now, if the contributions were all converted to silver dollars the stack would be 2 feet 6 inches high.

Two feet six inches is a good start, naturally. But that still leaves us 25 feet and 10 inches of silver dollars to stack up by next Saturday. That's quite a stack in anybody's language.

The money gathered will go to seven worthwhile funds and institutions. No other campaign will solicit from each student this year. Hence the campus chest eliminates the need for several separate drives.

Try your darndest to scrape up a dollar for the campus chest drive. Give more if you possibly can. Do your best for the campus chest.

K.L.K.

Blood When Needed

With the spring ASUI blood drive coming up before too long it might be well to keep in mind the following comment from an Idaho alum who served in Korea. It is an extract from a letter received by Jim Lyle, Idaho alumni secretary.

"I would like to add my congratulations to the many the University has already received on the blood donation response of its students. Among many others, I know and appreciate what it means and just how important just one of those pints can be."

A simple little statement. Not flowery, not long. But only a person who has seen a real need for blood can appreciate what it would mean if it weren't there. Plan to give.

Other Schools Have Troubles With Multitudes Of Queens

By Ken Kornher

Browsing through a formidable stack of exchange papers this afternoon I was punched in the retina by the pictures of four comely cuties on the front page of the February 22 Daily Utah Chronicle.

These girls were obviously queens — it turned out that two were only attendants. But the situation was well contrasted by the headline which read, "King David Set for Tabernacle." "King David" turned out to be a symphonic psalm. That was a relief.

Two attendants were robbed. They should have been pictured with the queen who was pictured without attendants. The other two attendants were pictured with the queen who was pictured with attendants. But at least they got their names on the front page.

Nine other queen candidates were really robbed. They got their picture in the paper, but were buried on page three. For a queen candidate to be buried on page three is a cardinal sin for any college newspaper. It's a wonder the editor didn't lose his job over that one.

A Baker's Dozen

Altogether there were 13 queens, attendants, and queen candidates in the issue, not counting the attendants who were partially robbed. So I sat down at my little typewriter and wrote a gentle four-line comment to be buried in the Argonaut. But two minutes later, in the February 25 edition of the Utah Chronicle, I was punched in the retina by a very interesting letter. The letter made this story too good to be buried in a four line comment.

Here it is:

Dear Editor—

What kind of a newspaper are the students of this campus paying for? In the last week the Chronicle has looked like the Police Gazette with more girls than a Broadway show.

Queens, queens, queens. I don't feel bad if boys don't ask me out. I don't feel bad if boys don't dance with me. I don't like to wear low-neck dresses. And I'm not interested in taking a deep breath for the photographers.

Friday, February 22, the Chrony printed the pictures of 12 girls. Isn't that going overboard? Now I expect the thing to shift. With the Spinsters Spree coming up Friday, here'll be even more. It'll be boys, boys, boys.

If I want girls, I'll read the Gazette; if I want boys, I'll whistle. If I get what I want I'll have to do it myself.

JUST AND OLD FUDDY DUDDY.

Father: "My boy, I never kissed a girl until I met your mother. Will you be able to say the same thing to your ..."

Junior: "Yes, Dad, but not with such a straight face."

Press Story Suggests Proof Of The Love Of Fellow Man

Recent eruptions of Klan actions in the south may have stirred up the old issue of race hatred, but a single act of heroism involving a negro and a group of southern whites has shown how close the human race is together.

The following appeared on the Associated Press wire February 19:

A giant Negro walked out of the night on the highway 10 miles northwest of Houston early today, saw a man trapped in the cab of his smoldering truck-trailer and ripped the cab apart to save the driver.

The trapped driver was Roy Gabby, Jr., 26, Houston.

He was driving a loaded truck to Houston when he ran out of gas and telephoned his wife to bring some gasoline. She had brought the gas and was driving the family car ahead of him when an apparently drunk driver forced her off the right side of the road. Her husband's truck was forced off the left. The truck telescoped, trapping Gabby inside the flaming truck.

Driver Trapped

Officers, trucks and a wrecker congregated, but the men couldn't budge the crushed metal.

The giant Negro appeared.

"Can I be of help?" he asked. Then he walked up to the cab, placed his hand on the door, and wrenched it off. He climbed into the cab, planted his feet on the floor and his neck and shoulder against the top.

"You could hear the metal give," an onlooker said. "The top bowed out, the seat buckled down and the dash broke under the pressure."

"I saw the Negro's shirt sleeves rip open as his muscles bulged." In the excitement of rescuing the driver, still unconscious, no one thought to thank the Negro or ask his name.

He walked off into the night.

Challenge

The University Ag club, whose members are possessed of superior physical prowess by the very nature of their calling, do hereby challenge the (and we hesitate before mentioning the name) anemic adherents of the legal profession, whose vocal cords only are physically superior, to a basketball game at 4 p.m. on Friday, March 14th, in Memorial gymnasium. Always willing to give the underdog a chance to prove himself, we will graciously and even generously consent to play our fifth string, if the occasion so demands, in order to allow the opponent an opportunity to make a better showing.

Veterans Warned NSLI Dividend May Not Be Paid

The 1952 dividend on National Service Life Insurance will not be available to eligible veterans in cash or for use as premium payments before the anniversary date of their policies in 1952, the Veterans Administration has warned.

The VA said many veterans are under the mistaken impression the dividend is already due them and is being applied to their premium payments immediately because they did not request cash payment.

The VA announced that in March it will pay a regular dividend of $200,000,000 to approximately 5,000,000 policy holders whose policies were in force under premium paying conditions for three months or longer between the 1951 and 1952 anniversary dates of their policies.

Policy holders who wish to receive their 1952 dividend in cash must so notify the VA on the special card recently mailed them. If cash payment is not requested the dividend will be used by the VA to pay the premiums becoming due after the policy anniversary date on which the dividend is payable or the policy holder may request the VA in writing to apply his 1952 dividend as an advance payment on premiums falling due after the 1952 anniversary date of his policy.

Entomologists Due For Region Meet

Rats, mice, and assorted insects of the Pacific Northwest will be the unwilling center of attraction at a three-day meeting here beginning March 31 when pest control operators of the area gather for their third annual conference.

Entomology departments of the University and Washington State college will act as dual hosts for the conference this year according to plans announced today by H. C. Manis, University entomologist.

Manis said entomologists of the two schools expect a good attendance of operators, insecticide and rodenticide dealers and manufacturers, and representative of pest control associations from several sections of the nation.

Chief problems to be taken up at the 1952 conference are various insecticides and rodenticides, fly and rodent control, control of pests on ornamental plants, termite control and the best methods of controlling insects and rodents attacking stored grain.

Present plans for the conference include a banquet for the evening of April 1.

Blood Drive Planned

Plans for a student blood drive late in April are now in progress, according to drive chairman James Dunham.

To avoid the long lines of the past, a four-day drive with two bloodmobiles is planned. Since the student drive follows so closely after the town drive in March, Dr. Sestero, administrator for the Blood Center, has requested that students wait to give blood until the student drive the week of April 22.

Students Tackle Fishing Problem

Two Idaho students with a flair for research—and fishing—have taken on a problem which easily could pay off in better angling in Idaho farm ponds.

Why are some farm ponds excellent fish producers while others, often close by, lose their fish every year and must be restocked?

Tackling that puzzler in farm pond management are Ernest Snyder, junior in forestry, and Cecil Martin, junior in zoology. They are carrying on their work under the supervision of Virgil Pratt, assistant professor of fishery biology on the University's cooperative wildlife research unit staff.

Cooperating on this study are six Latah county farmers who are interested in having good fishing at their back doors.

During the remainder of the winter and spring period, Snyder and Martin will estimate fish population in each of the ponds, measure physical, chemical and biological factors that affect survival of the fish during the critical winter season when a thick layer of ice and snow keeps what sunshine there is from reaching the water plant organisms and stirring them into producing the oxygen so necessary for the fish.

Naval Officer Will Meet With Senior Students

Campus men who graduate this June will have their last opportunity tomorrow to apply for commissions in the U. S. Naval Reserve. This applies to all men who are not enrolled in the ROTC, AROTC or NROTC senior course.

A representative of the Office of Naval Officer Procurement in Seattle will be in the lobby of the Student Union building from 9:30 a.m. until 9 p.m. to accept applications for direct commissions in nearly every specialty as well as general service.

These programs do not necessarily involve preliminary naval training or assignment to active duty in the foreseeable future. Applicants who are physically qualified and under 27 years of age and holding a four-year college degree may be considered for such specialties as supply, aerological engineering, intelligence, communications, civil engineering, electronics, ordnance engineering and naval architecture.

Men whose draft status is 1A, 1C, 1D, 2A, 2C, 2S, 3A, 4B, 4D and 5A are eligible to apply for these programs.

Captain T. C. Thomas, professor of naval science at the University, emphasized that no further naval commissioning interviews will be given this spring in this area.

The University of California is now offering an extension course in child psychology — via television. Other television courses have been offered at the University of Utah and at Western Reserve university.

Draft Law Is Clarified For Students

Major General Lewis B. Hershey, director of selective service, recently issued a statement clarifying the draft law, complete with 1951 amendments, as it pertains to college students. Here, briefly, is how things stand:

There will be no more postponements, only deferments. That is, students who get called for induction will be deferred until the end of the academic year. But students in this situation are granted only one deferment — after that they must enter the service.

Gen. Hershey says a student who gets his induction orders shouldn't get panicky. All he has to do is ask his dean to tell the local board that he (the student) is doing satisfactory work, and that this work began before he got his induction notice.

But remember: Enrollment, acceptance and registration don't count. The important thing is actual attendance at classes.

The classification described above is called 1-S. There is also a 2-S classification. This deferment may be renewed each year, thus permitting the student to finish college before "going in." A 1-S deferment, on the other hand, is a "one year" deal.

How does one get a 2-S deferment? Well, getting a score of 70 or better on the Selective Service college qualification test helps a lot. So does being in the upper portion of the class. Draft boards take both these points into account when passing out classifications.

Gen. Hershey says students who meet one or both of these qualifications can appeal to their state appeal board if they don't get a 2-S rating. Furthermore, 1-S deferments may be switched, in some cases, to a 1-S at the end of an academic year.

What about enlistments? The Army, Navy and Air Force have agreed not to accept any man for enlistment after he has been called for his pre-induction physical. Most students, says Hershey, completing their academic year in 1952 will have ample opportunity to join the service of their choice.

Designing Contest Is Announced By Furniture Institute

Two thousand dollars in cash awards will be given for the most original and practical designs for an office desk and chair in the nation-wide student design contest announced by the Wood Office Furniture Institute.

The problem is to design a desk and matching chair, primarily of wood, for general all-around office work. Entries will be judged on originality of design, utility, and economy, and feasibility of production. It is suggested that participants make a preliminary study of current furniture designs in the showrooms of local furniture dealers. Also, some analysis should be made of general office deskwork and layout, as related to office furniture design.

Contestants' drawings should be 30 inches by 40 inches in 2 foot 1 foot scale. Drawings should include top plan, front, and side elevations, and at least one perspective. Detail drawings should be included when needed to explain design or construction.

Students Are Eligible
Students enrolled in accredited schools of architecture, industrial design, art, and technical studies within territorial United States are eligible for the contest.

Designs should be identified by an accompanying sealed letter. Each entry should be accompanied both by the contestant's signed statement saying that the work is original, and a statement from the instructor or dean stating that the student is enrolled in the school.

Competition is open until April 15, 1952. Contest winners will be announced on May 18, at the NOM convention in San Francisco.

For more information and contest folder blanks, write Wood Office Furniture Institute, 730 11th Street NW, Washington 1, D. C.

California Deal Offers Auto Tours For Foreign Travel

Travel in Western Europe by private car will be within reach of American students again this year as a result of the preparations made by Student Travel Overseas Program (STOP) of Berkeley, California.

Participants in the educational, all-expense tours sponsored by this organization will travel in new American Ford sedans for as little as $862, including the trans-Atlantic transportation.

Accommodations for overnight stops will be in moderately priced hotels, inns and pensions so that the total cost to each member of the tour remains within students' budgets, even though nearly all meals and considerable entertainment are also included.

To students with more elastic budgets, STOP is offering tours of 45 days in Europe, for $1142, or two months in Europe including Scandinavia, for $1427. STOP is offering similar low-cost trips to Hawaii, Japan, Mexico, and South America.

Free folders describing in detail all these trips may be secured from STOP, Berkeley, Calif., or from local travel agents.

Many Interested In Certificates, Survey Indicates

A total of 718 students now in attendance at the University are interested in teaching, according to a survey conducted by Registrar D. D. DuSault. Of this number 664 will seek teacher's certificates.

Undergraduate students in other divisions of the University looking to teaching careers number 164 in the college of letters and science (the liberal arts division); 53, college of agriculture; 5, college of engineering; 2, college of law; 1, school of forestry, and 16, school of business administration.

Of the 164 teacher-minded students in the college of letters and science, the greatest number are home economics majors — 86. The 53 students in the college of agriculture are all taking specialized training to become teachers of agriculture.

Of the 460 students in the school of education, 425 are undergraduates and 35 graduate students. They are specializing in the following fields:

Idaho To Sponsor European Tour For This Summer

The University campus will be broadened this summer to take in seven foreign countries as plans were completed recently for students to study and travel in Europe under the direction of Dr. Robert E. Hosack, chairman of political science.

The supervised-study tour will start at New York City June 19 and end there August 23. Landing at Naples, the students will proceed through Italy, Switzerland, West Germany, Holland, Belgium, England and France. They will sail for home from Genoa August 12.

Lectures will be given by Professor Hosack in such "classrooms" as the national museum in Naples; Renaissance palaces in Rome; League of Nations palace, Geneva; Peace palace, The Hague; Parliament building, Paris. Students will have an opportunity to talk with governmental, industrial and labor leaders of the various countries. Besides observing today's developments in Western Europe, they will trace the development of the Renaissance.

Will Receive Credit
Although the students will be far from home, they will be on familiar ground when they make out reports and take examinations. University extension credit will be given students meeting academic requirements. The trip will be an all-expense tour, one fee covering everything from boat and train travel to food.

The trip will be Professor Hosack's first to Europe since 1939 when he and Mrs. Hosack cycled through France on a delayed honeymoon. They also visited England and Norway. A member of the University faculty since 1943, Hosack recently received his doctorate degree from Duke university after completing studies on comparative governments.

VASSAR PUBLICITY

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y. (UP)—Vassar college is trying to break down the following popular stereotypes in its contacts with people outside the college: That Vassar is for snobbish, rich girls; that Vassar is radical; that Vassar students are all "greasy grinds," according to Mrs. Anthony Michaels, head of the office of public relations.

To combat these popular misconceptions, her office stresses in its press releases educationally exciting campus activities. That Vassar offers a liberal arts education in a simple residential community is the aspect of the campus scene that the college wants to emphasize to the general public.

Sideline Chatter

By Boyden

It seems to be the opinion of many cage fans that Seattle's Johnny O'Brien is going to find it tough-sledding when it comes to racking up points against the eastern powers in the National Invitational hoop tourney. Though very possible, it would seem quite improbable that such misfortune should strike the diminutive basketball bombshell in the Garden proceedings.

First of all, defense is as much a factor in a majority of the eastern quintets' game as a rolling pin is a part of a carpenter's tool kit. A look at the national defense (basketball, that is) standings would find, that among the NIT entries that only Duquesne and St. Bonaventure are represented in the top 20. Duquesne ranks No. 17 and the Bonnies rest in the 20th spot. As for Seattle's first NIT opponent, Holy Cross, I don't believe the Crusaders have taken in breath in the defensive standings in many a moon. They are, however, a potent, point-producing aggregation which was definitely favored over the invading Chieftains in last night's encounter.

(The game was not yet completed when we went to press last night.)

All-American

However, the probability of the Crusaders being able to stop Johnny O. seems very remote from this corner. He is ranked by a majority of sportscasters, sports-writers, and coaches as one of the most skilled hoopsters in the nation. He is an all-American, a rating so seldom received by a west coast cager, but he got it. The team most likely to succeed, so to speak, should be Duquesne, Seattle's opponent providing the Chieftains squeak by Holy Cross. According to the statistics and the Boyden index (sum of offensive and defensive rankings divided by two), Duquesne is second only to Kentucky as the best balanced quintet in the nation. Therefore, Duquesne possibly might hold the Seattle lad under 25 points. First of all, Seattle must beat Holy Cross. Well, we'll soon see.

The statistics also give a very good indication of the type of ball that is played in the different sections of the country. For instance, in the team offense standings, there is only one team west of the Mississippi ranked in the top 30. That sole candidate is Kansas State, which ranks 17th. The remaining 29 quintets, predominantly from the northeastern quarter of the country, are the teams that display the running, shooting type of play that builds up the boxcar scores. These teams have racked up scoring averages ranking from Kentucky's leading 83.2 points per game to Pennsylvania's 30th ranking 72.5.

Defense

On the other side of the ledger, seven teams west of the Mississippi dominate the defensive ratings. The top six are from the Southwest and the seventh is the University of Washington. All in all, 18 of the quintets listed are west of the Mississippi while 12 teams are located east of the muddy waters. Five of the seven-team Southwest conference quintets rank in the top 16. Texas A&M boasts the third best average, 48.3, while Texas Christian and Texas rank fifth and sixth with 49.5 and 49.9 respectively.

Actually the Pacific Coast conference seems to lack both offense and defense according to the stats. Washington and Washington State are named among the top 30 defensive quintets, but that is where the list ends.

Individual marks follow the same pattern. Only seven of the 50 scoring leaders toss them in for colleges west of Old Man River. Likewise, the eastern players dominate, the rebounding averages with only Stauffer of Missouri trespassing the top fifteen. All fifteen leaders in assists are eastern players.

More All-Americans

What does this all prove? All it really indicates is that wide-open basketball provides higher scoring, more opportunity for rebounds and assists, and more all-Americans. Lovellette, Groat, Darling, Workman, Dukes, and Meinke, to name a few, are all high men on the statistic totem pole. One man is high on the list from

Coach Ike Deeter's WSC fighters split bouts with the Gonzaga mittmen at Pullman last week but lost the dual meet by virtue of a pair of forfeits. Coach Deeter's men have been gaining valuable experience through the current season and expect to give the Vandal boxers a rough go come Thursday night.

The opening bout on Thursday's card is slated to get underway at 8:15 p.m.

Thursday's Pairings

- 125—F. Echevarria vs. Larson
- 132—J. Echevarria vs. Conley
- 139—Nichols vs. Inada
- 148—Jenkins vs. Chad
- 156—King vs. Hahn
- 165—Moyer vs. Gladson
- Hwt.—Solinsky vs. Kalafat
- 175—Idaho forfeits. Exhibition between Manderville and Dahlin.

Frankie Echevarria at the moment appears to be the University of Idaho's sole survivor of the parade of boxing champions. Saturday night, Echevarria added the Intermountain tourney 119-pound crown to his ever-growing collection of mitt titles.

The Battling Basque of Black foot opened his title quest with a clear-cut decision over UCLA's Sammy Moreno in the opening night's festivities at Pocatello. Frank then came back in Saturday's closing fracas to catch the nod over Gonzaga's Johnny Jaeger.

Didn't Fare As Well

The Vandals' other two finalists, Lynn Nichols and Larry Moyer, didn't fare as well in their bouts. Nichols for the second time found the rock-like punches of San Jose's Chuck Atkins more than he could withstand, and the Spartan mauler grabbed a two victory over the game but overpowered Nichols. Nichols actually saw only one night of action as he drew a bye in the first round of the tourney.

Larry Moyer seems to be finding the 165-bracket a nemesis of some sort. A victory and a pair of losses is the count against last year's 175-pound NCAA finalist in the lower bracket. Both these defeats were mustered out by a bulldozing Bulldog from Gonzaga, Roy Kelley. Kelley notched the initial win over Moyer in a dual match in Spokane a week ago.

In the tournament last weekend, Moyer fought his way to the finals as he handed Darrel Dukes of San Jose a resounding setback in Friday's opening round. Then Killer Kelley showed up in the opposite corner for Saturday's final bout and Moyer again found the Gonzagan a little more than he could handle as Kelley gained the decision.

Broken Nose

The other two members of Idaho's mitt cast, Johnny Echevarria and Fred Bowen, bowed out in the tournament's opening card. Echevarria was decimated by Idaho State's Russ Lundgren in the 122-pound class, and Bowen was hammered in the nose to such an extent by Gonzaga's Kelley that the fight had to be halted with the Vandal 165-pounder retiring with a fractured snout.

Team honors in the two-day event were shared by Idaho State and San Jose State.

Saturday's results:

- 112—Vic Kobe, Idaho State, dec. Ernie Paremo, San Jose State.
- 119—Frank Echevarria, Idaho, dec. John Jaeger, Gonzaga.
- 125—Don Klamp, San Jose State, dec. Perry Smith, Gonzaga.
- 132—Russ Lundgren, Idaho State, dec. Ken Hansen, California.
- 139—Chuck Atkins, San Jose State, tk0 over Lynn Nichols, Idaho.
- 147—Jerry Stern, San Jose State, dec. Pat Coleman, Idaho State.
- 156—Ellsworth Webb, Idaho State, dec. Tom Keys, Gonzaga.
- 165—Roy Kelley, Gonzaga, dec. Larry Moyer, Idaho.
- 178—Mike McMurry, Gonzaga, dec. Bob Blanton, Idaho State.

Heavyweight—Marvin Gregory, Santa Clara, knocked out Norman Carter, San Jose State, 10 seconds of 1st.

the PCC and that's Houbregs. O'Brien is tops in the small college listings. This twosome along with Utah's Glen Smith, who is ranked slightly higher than Houbregs in scoring, composes the West's meager all-America crop.

Thus it would seem that the all-Americans are selected according to statistics with little regard for an individual's performance in varying styles of play. Maybe not, but the evidence seems to indicate so.

Pasture Pitcher

Whipping in the spheroid for the Vandal baseballers, this spring will be moundman Cless Hinckley. For the full story on the pitching star, lover, and what have you, check the story in column five.

Hinckley Shows No Love For The Man With A Stick

By Stan Riggers

To the average Idaho student, the word "study" is probably the most repulsive and unpleasant noun in the student's vocabulary. Nevertheless the final conclusion always boils down to the fact that a certain amount of studying must be done to get a degree. Well, I think most of us can study if we have to, but did you ever try studying in a room filled with carbon-monoxide fumes?

To describe the situation briefly, this writer plus his roommates, occupy and "study" in a room one story below the level of the ground. To make it more clear, the drive way around the house is on the same level as that of our windows, and every night Cless Hinckley, whom this article concerns, parks his lovenobile directly in front of the window and leaves the motor running while saying good-night. The result, carbon-monoxide fumes.

Oh, I suppose one could list numerous solutions to this problem, but the text of this chapter is mainly baseball so enough on the lighter side of life.

Love of Baseball

Whether love of baseball, pitcher Cless Hinckley does OK. The 21-year-old varsity letterman has an interesting history behind his baseball career.

The blonde, good-looking chap credits most of his mound knowledge to his father and high school coach. His father romped the sand lots of Southern Idaho in the semi-pro circuits during his career, and distinguished himself as an ex-university star in the early 1930's. Athletic inheritance ran in the family, and consequently, to Mr. Hinckley's satisfaction, Cless took up where his father left off.

Sticks to Baseball

The senior, dairy husbandry major, sticks to baseball now, but in his high school days at Preston, Idaho, the 6'1" forward took his share of the basketball and gridiron chores. He was a regular member of the Preston squad that lost a 32-30 thriller in the state class "A" championships to Lewiston in 1948. Cless recalls that both Bob White and Bruce McIntosh, presently members of Idaho's court crew, played on that Lewiston team.

Despite the mounder's ability on the gridiron and court, the diamond drew most of Cless' attention. He proved the honor of being named captain of the 1948 Preston

Look Puts Kruger Vandal Ski Team On District 8 Five Wins Third Place In Nordic Events

Hartly Kruger, Idaho's sky-scraping pivotman and leading point-producer, was named by sportscasters and writers of the nation to the Look magazine District eight basketball team. Kruger netted a total of 366 tallies for the Vandal basketballers during the 1951-52 season and tallied a 193 count in northern division play. As a sophomore last season, Kruger potted 187 counters. Hartly was also named to the coaches' all-ND team recently.

Accompanying Kruger on the mythical district team are Washington's Bob Houbregs, Seattle's Johnny O'Brien, Ken Flower of Southern California, and Don Johnson of UCLA.

Houbregs was also named to Look's second squad, all-America, and Johnny O'Brien was awarded a spot on the third quintet, all-America.

Named to the Look all-American first quintet was an impressive group of cagers including Dick Groat of Duke university, Mark Workman of West Virginia, Walter Duke of Seton Hall, Chuck Darling of Iowa, and Rod Fletcher of Illinois.

It was a wet and miserable day, and the Notre Dame backs were having a hard time handling the soggy and slippery pigskin. The field captain called time and sent a back to the bench.

"What's the matter?" snapped coach Hank Anderson. "We need rosin in there!" gasped the back. Anderson leaped to his feet and his eyes swept up and down the bench. "Where's Rosin?" he barked. "Get that guy in there!"

Moore, Relay Team Score Swim Points

Diver Jim Moore and the Vandal 300-yard medley relay team scored Idaho's only points in the northern division swimming and diving championships at Corvallis Saturday night.

Moore finished fifth in the 3-meter diving behind Hodges of Washington; Charlton of Oregon, and Kruckenberg and Moore of Washington State. The relay team trailed the four other division schools, Washington winning the 300-yard churn in 3:03.6.

University of Washington swimmers won the ND title with 137 points. Washington State gathered 105 markers for second-place honors. The Cougars were followed by Oregon with 69 points. Oregon State finished fourth with 23 points and Idaho picked up 11 counters.

One-Hitter

During the 1950 summer season, in a daylight tangle with Logan, the blonde chucker took over mound chores and threw a one-hit 6-0 win for his team. As far as the other eight teammates were concerned, they might as well have spent the afternoon at the swimming pool because his fast ball set 23 swingers down via the strike out route.

Later in the same season, Hinckley showed this same whiffing form by sliding the pill past 21 would-be runners in a night contest against Smithfield. He recalls that one ending 5-1 in his favor.

This kind of talent is not common around area ball parks. There is also a large quantity of newcomers in other positions for the Vandals' 1952 club, and from pre-season indications, this nucleus may develop into something for the ND Vandals this year.

WERE YOU BORN IN MARCH?

Then your zodiac sign is Pisces (2 Fish, I going upstream, I down). Prof. E. Sze, noted astrologer, says you are generous, have charming manners and an interesting mind, but cannot decide on important matters. There's no harm in charm, but it will get you no date if you everlastingly wait to decide on which fish to use it for bait!

IT WAS IN MARCH,

1889, that the Washington Water Power Co. was organized by a group of pioneer citizens. This month marks the 63rd year of trail-blazing service by the Company, to bring a richer life through better electrical living, at low cost, to the people of the Inland Empire.

Racquet Men

There will be a meeting for all those interested in varsity tennis, at 4:00 tomorrow afternoon in room 109, Memorial gymnasium.

WILLPOWER vs. SUICIDE Dr. Victor Frankl, a professor at Vienna university, thinks there are less suicides during hard times. He believes human will-power toughens under pressure.

"In Sweden and Switzerland," he says, "both holding the longest peace records in Europe, suicide rates have been for many years the highest on the entire continent."
