The cast for "The Intruder" includes Marv Alexander, Charles LaFollette, Dave Burgess, Mary Thompson, Bonese Collins, Joan Coble, and Joan Henry.

The other two plays are being done in arena style, called "in the round," and will be presented in the South ballroom. Jo Magee will direct "The Doctor In Spite of Himself" by Moliere, Rod Greening is the director for "Box and Cox" by Morton.

Executive Board Discusses Elections And Constitution

ASUI elections for president and Executive Board were set for Wednesday, April 30, at Tuesday's Executive Board meeting. At this time nine board members will be elected. A proposed amendment to the ASUI Constitution allowing the KUOI station director an ex-officio seat on the board will also be on the ballot.

McMullin Named Managing Editor Of The Argonaut

Graham McMullin, junior journalism major from Nelson, B. C., has been named to the managing editorship of the Argonaut, following unanimous approval of the ASUI Executive Board Tuesday evening.

McMullin was nominated to the position by the publications council at a meeting Tuesday morning. His appointment fills a position on the Argonaut left vacant since the start of the second semester.

Also approved by the Executive Board were two appointments to the business staff of the paper. Liane Love will serve as business manager, and Jim Kavanaugh as advertising manager. Both appointments were made for the remainder of the semester.

A Sigma Chi, McMullin has served for the past year on the Argonaut news, night, and copy staffs. A tall aimable red head, he graduated from Nelson high school in 1944. Prior to entering journalism, McMullin studied electrical engineering.

GLASSES ARE FOUND

Several pairs of glasses are among the lost and found articles in the Information office in the Administration building. Students or others who have lost glasses are requested to call and see if any of those turned in belong to them.

Track Remains Same

After lengthy discussion about lowering requirements for track letters, the Board moved that track requirements remain at eight points for a letter.

A proposed constitutional amendment which would allow the losing ASUI presidential candidate an automatic seat on the Executive Board, and the election of eight additional Board members was discussed at Tuesday's meeting. The Board decided to take no action on this matter.

Hyer, Sharon Henderson, Kim Kimmerling, Dick Parsell, Ron Baker, Margie Faulkner, Bev Alger, Frank Miles, and Paul Matthews make up the cast.

"Box and Cox" is an English comedy based upon a mix-up in a 19th century rooming house. Shirley Pettijohn, Tom Butera, and Roger Styner compose the cast.

The production staff for the plays includes Hugh Burgess, stage manager; Jack Rudfelt, technical director; Kim Kimmerling and Blair Allen, lights, and Rose Hyatt and Carol Blocher, costumes.

Also on the crews are Tom Sawyer and Jerry Sperrazzo, props, and Andy Tozier and Ida Mae Collett, publicity.

Bev Alger, Carol Blocher, Fred Burton, Larry Hyer, Janice Rockwood, and Mary Thompson make up the stage crew.

Save That Blood

Idaho students are requested not to give blood in the Moscow blood drive during the last part of March, said Jim Dunham, student blood drive chairman.

The goal for the ASUI drive April 22-26 is set at 2,000 pints. Dunham reported, and all student donors will be needed at the campus blood center to attain this number.

Red Cross Winds Up Conference

The Red Cross training program for Idaho coeds ended last night with an explanation of the mechanics of blood drives. The three-day seminar was attended by approximately 90 University coeds who are now partially trained for Red Cross volunteers and future chapter leaders.

Two hours of practical Red Cross work in addition to the course will enable the women to work as a staff aide or volunteer anywhere in the organization.

The history of national and international Red Cross movements was introduced to the group Tuesday night as part of an orientation program. Speakers for the first evening were members of the Latah county chapter of the American Red Cross, Dr. George Tanner, executive secretary; Mrs. Milford Laney, past chairman; and Ford Peterson, vice-chairman. Barbara Fort, Washington Water Power home service representative, discussed the role of the international Red Cross in war camps.

Exhibit Equipment

Practical demonstrations were the subject of the Wednesday night meeting. A resuscitator, used in flood and polio crises, was demonstrated by Leon Sodorff who used one of the few breathing rubber dolls in the United States. Other speakers were Dawn Magee, Mrs. Agnes Schuldt, Dr. George Tanner, and Mrs. Earl (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

A spectacular fire completely gutted the northwest wing of the Industrial Arts building on the University campus early yesterday morning. Damage has been estimated at $20,000 by Moscow fire chief Carl Smith and a company inspector who investigated the area yesterday afternoon.

The blaze was discovered at approximately 2:20 a.m. by Johnnie Jabbara and his wife as they were leaving their cafe at 226 West 6th. Flames could not be seen from the cafe, but the sky appeared hazy. Jabbara, a member of the city's volunteer fire department, investigated and found the blaze was well underway.

The fire is believed to have been caused by a steam radiator which stood close to the wall in the northwest corner of the building. The continued heat of the radiator against the combustible wall appeared to be a logical cause.

The industrial arts department is one of the newest fields offered on the University's curricula. The building is located in the rear and slightly east of the new Home Economics building, and was formerly used as the engineering drawing annex.

Loss Of Power Tools

George Radcliffe, head of the department, said the fire loss included all power equipment used in the building, including planers, drills, saws, and numerous hand tools.

The least damaged section contained only a conference and classroom, and some of the projects of laboratory students. Classes will be moved to the Ad building for the present with laboratory plans yet to be worked out.

Forty-two of the fire department's fifty-man volunteer force put all four of the city's trucks into action and employed 1500 feet of two and one half inch hose to fight the fire.

Date In April Set For Military Ball

The annual Military ball, to be sponsored by the three military societies on the campus, has been scheduled for April 19 and will feature the orchestra of Al Reeves, Jim Oates, general chairman of the semi-formal affair, stated that invitations to the ball are being sent to dignitaries throughout the state and on the West coast.

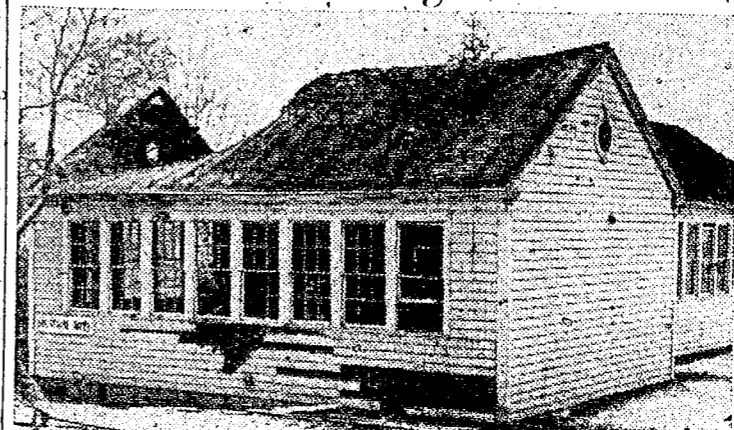

Members of the Arnold Air society, Scabbard and Blade, and Eagle and Anchor hope to put this event on a level with other all-campus functions and with the Military balls of other schools. Oates commented. In accordance with this plan, the ASUI Executive Board has declared the night closed to other functions.

Tickets On Sale

Tickets for the Military ball are now being sold by the three military societies. A booth will be set up in the lobby of the SUB for tickets sales in the near future.

Members of the ROTC groups on the campus will wear uniforms to the dance. Air cadets may wear a dress white shirt and black bow tie with Air Force uniforms. Navy men are to wear dress blues. Non-military students and guests who attend the ball may wear regular semi-formal attire.

The Morning After

Above is an exterior view of the Industrial Arts building which was partially destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. The northwest wing of the building shown here, was almost totally destroyed. Classrooms in the rest of the structure were damaged only by smoke. The building is located just south of the new Home Economics building, near Ridenhaugh hall.

Here Are The Answers

A few students have been asking questions about the operation of the University student bookstore. The most frequent of current interest seems to be: How do prices compare with those of other stores?

The answer is relatively simple: Textbook prices are the same as in other stores. They sell for the list price as issued by the publishers. The retail price accounts for a standard markup from cost of 20 per cent or in some cases 10 per cent. This markup seems to be reasonable in the meeting of overhead costs.

Prices on fair trade items are, of course, set by the manufacturer. These items, then, sell for a set price at the bookstore as they would anywhere.

On all other items, according to Chet Kerr, manager of the bookstore, prices run generally below the "recommended" list price.

The University student bookstore, in addition to providing a convenient purchasing location for students, has paid $15,000 annual rent since the Union began operating. This money, other SUB income, and student fees allotted for the purpose, pay the operating expenses and meet bond payments on the SUB.

Thanks

I would like to express my thanks to those who made the 1951-52 Campus Chest campaign a success. It is gratifying to know that we can help in some small way to better the world in which we are living.

Special thanks to my committee members: Richard Hall, Ron Baker, Nancy Magle, Nancy Weitz, Ann Royer, Earl Dawson, Marv Jagels, and Roger Williams. Bouquets, too, to Ray Cox and his band for donating their time and talents and to the individual solicitors who were the mainstay of the organization. My biggest thanks, however, to all who contributed.

Sincerely,
Ted E. Torok,
Chairman.

Blood drives concerned the coeds Thursday night. A movie was shown which treated the subject of survival in atomic warfare. Jean Carter, Gritman hospital technician, explained the matching of blood types to the group. The mechanics of a blood drive was discussed by Jim Dunham and Duane Lloyd.

The program is the first of its type to be initiated on the Idaho campus.

Thanks

The officers of the Freshman class wish to extend their thanks to all those who worked on Freshman week. The spirit of cooperation brought about in the living groups by the Fresh council representatives and the work and support of the committee contributed greatly to the success of the whole week.

Pat Miller and Dorothy Wahl are to be especially commended for their planning and organization. The King and Queen were well chosen and ably reigned over the "Shamrock Isle."

Sincerely,
Flip Kleffner,
Freshman class president.

Idaho Grad Noted For Fast Thinking

Ed Albany, Idaho graduate in 1937, is now handling entertainment for Flying Training Air Force's special services division. Ed looks just like any other person, but he discovered one day in April, 1938, that he could think 180 times faster than any other average human.

The "average" person who was tested with Ed at the Palmer School of Chiropractics in Davenport, Iowa, was the head of the psychology department of St. Ambrose college.

Ed's act includes repeating what someone says within a sixteenth of a second after they say it. T-Sgt. Albany has had numerous jobs since that day in April as a result of his amazing ability.

He was master of ceremonies at Earl Carroll's famous restaurant, gave double-talk performances in the Ziegfeld Follies premier, appeared several times on Bob Ripley's Believe-It-Or-Not radio show, and did character parts on the Fred Allen show in New York.

Season's Greetings

Ah, spring. It wove its tender magic over the campus yesterday... a howling, screeching, fouling turmoil of clouds and wind and snow and hail and frost and... bless my soul, sunshine!

You missed the sunshine? Poor unfortunate. It touched the campus no less than twice for a period of no less than five seconds a touch. How could you miss it?

In spring a young man's fancy turns to thoughts of... "where in heck did I put that down filled, lined, reinforced, superwarm, all-wool overcoat?"

Spring is a time of flowers. You can get them at any greenhouse which is well insulated against the gentle touch of spring.

Spring is also a time of songbirds. A flock of robins arrived the other day in anticipation of spring. One opened its beak to sing and swallowed a quarter-inch hailstone. Another tried it only to be drowned by a deluge of rain.

All the remaining robins headed south fast except for one sturdy soul who insists he will sing tomorrow for sure. Give up, brave bird! Next on the list is a duststorm. Your poor little pain-wracked body will probably be buried under seven inches of breeze-tossed mantle before the day is over.

Leave now, while you can still take advantage of that 40 knot wind out of the North. But come back in two or three weeks. Things can't stay this bad for very long... we hope.

—K. L. K.

DEAR JASON

Dear Jason,

We offer the following reply to the letter by Carl Crisp in the last issue of the Arg.

Dear Carl,

In reply to your letter, we would like to say that we take no particular objection to the caucus system as such, although we do feel that we have an argument that it is more democratic to give every student the right to have the candidate of his choice voted on in an open assembly and in his presence.

In your comparison of methods, and the questions you ask, however, we feel that you have a misconception of our party, one that you probably share with others. You ask why our party came about, and in the same breath, if we couldn't have gotten nominations in another party.

Our answer is that the party came about as a result of a growing dissatisfaction with the idea that our politics were settled for us when we moved into a living group. We didn't feel that it was right that we automatically became a member of a political party the day we moved into a house or a dorm. We didn't like the idea of the spring elections being pretty much settled in the fall when the registrar passed out the figures as to who lived where. We felt that we could better prepare ourselves as voting citizens by basing our politics on a more solid foundation than where we lived.

Those of us who felt that way formed the party last fall, and we have been steadily recruiting members who felt the same way. Members who joined the party and who also had been candidates in former elections specifically declined to run as Third party candidates when their friends offered to nominate them, just because they didn't want people to get the idea you seem to have: that the party was composed of a group of "fly by nights" who were seeking only to disrupt some particular party. Our list of candidates will be published soon, and you will have an opportunity to judge then whether or not they strike you as a bunch of "fly by night" "howlers". We ask you to look them over carefully, talk to them if you can, and then make your decision.

We take no offense at your letter, Carl, and we hope we have answered your questions. If they were honestly put, we think we have. In closing, let us ask you one question: When you vote this spring, will you cast your vote for the people you think most qualified to govern you, and who represent the party that has the greatest number of issues which appeal to you, regardless of whether those people are Independent, Greek, or Third party? If you do, then you are one of us, for you will be doing exactly what we are working toward — a party that advocates the right of a student to cast a vote for a candidate, an issue, or a party on its merits.

Sincerely,
Erlene Clyde

"What's wrong about integration? It's the way I operate, too!"

Many businessmen have made comments like this: "The way I figure it out, this 'integration' you big companies are attached for is just a matter of doing more than one part of a job. So what's wrong about that? It's the way I operate, too!"

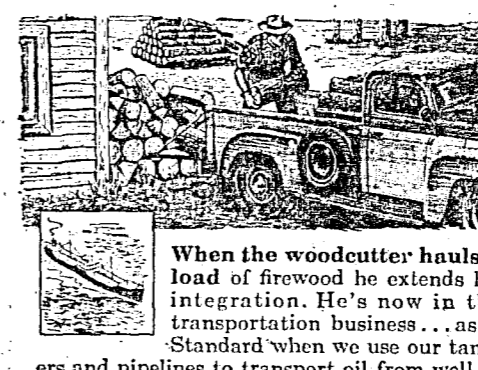

In answering this question let's consider first what the word means. "Integration" means simply carrying a job through several steps. Integration can't make a good company bad. It's a method any business may use as it competes for your patronage, increasing its efficiency and benefiting you by keeping prices down. Let's look at the similarity between our operation and that of another integrated fuel-producer whose system is centuries old:

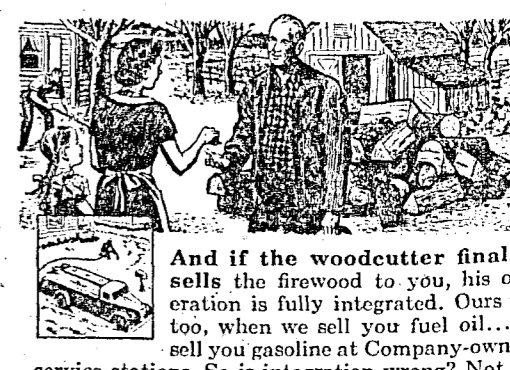

A woodcutter goes into a forest and fells trees. Standard drills into the ground and brings up oil. If the woodcutter sells the logs then and there... and if Standard sells the crude oil to some buyer at the well... there's no integration. Each has performed only one part of the job.

Now if the woodcutter takes the next step and cuts the logs into fire-place size, he has become an integrated business. Like him, Standard works to turn the product into the form you use. We refine our crude oil into gasoline, lubricants, fuel oil, and other products. So we're integrated, too.

When the woodcutter hauls a load of firewood he extends his integration. He's now in the transportation business... as is Standard when we use our tankers and pipelines to transport oil from well to refinery, and the refined products from there to areas where they'll be used.

And if the woodcutter finally sells the firewood to you, his operation is fully integrated. Ours is, too, when we sell you fuel oil... or sell you gasoline at Company-owned service stations. So is integration wrong? Not at all. And we make best use of it to bring you better products at low cost.

Sideline Chatter

By Boyden

With the balmy entrance of spring over the snow-laden Palouse hills, it isn't hard for anyone to realize that basketball is still clinging to the remnants of a well-worn season. Tonight, four NCAA regional tournaments commence to determine the quartet of teams to compete for NCAA honors next Tuesday and Wednesday at Seattle.

In the past, it hasn't been my policy, or the policy of the sports staff for that matter, to predict the outcome of basketball contests. Too many factors — home team, height, injuries, offense and defense averages, previous records, etc.—have to be considered. Even then, the best results of prognostication would probably come from the flip of a coin.

But for the sake of curiosity, I'm going to try to pick the NCAA games all the way through the championship contest at Seattle next Wednesday night. The probability of coming out with the right solution must be about one chance in a few million, but what's there to lose? Here goes.

At Raleigh, North Carolina, KENTUCKY will whip PENN STATE and ST. JOHN'S will upend the upset-seeking wolfpack of N. C. STATE. At Chicago, ILLINOIS should stop the NIT finalists, DAYTON, and DUQUESNE will hold that Tiger, PRINCETON. TCU will upset KANSAS, and ST. LOUIS will cut the NEW MEXICO A & M chances short at Kansas City. Meanwhile at Corvallis, UCLA will luck by an eager SANTA CLARA five, and WYOMING will send OKLAHOMA CITY back to its oil wells.

Boyden Picks Illinois
Now, here's where probability even picks the opponents. KENTUCKY, by virtue of its win over PENN STATE will top ST. JOHN'S to cop the Raleigh regional title. Similarly, ILLINOIS will topple the Duke of Duquesne, TCU will add to its string of upsets with a win over ST. LOUIS, and WYOMING will shower the UCLA forces with farewell kisses. Thus we have Kentucky, Illinois, TCU, and Wyoming in the finals at Seattle.

ILLINOIS meets Kentucky in the initial battle at Seattle and squeaks by the Wildcats of the blue grass country in a thriller. WYOMING stamps fins to the upset string of TCU by toppling the Horned Frogs in an equally thrilling battle. Why quit now? ILLINOIS captures the title by stopping the WYOMING Cowpokes, and KENTUCKY grabs third place honors by shellacking the TEXAS CHRISTIAN outfit. Why listen to the games?

"Hold on there a minute."
"What do you want, Klages?"
"Boyden, here's proof that you're a liar (proof that you can't spell liar, Klages)."

Klages Picks Kansas
"Here's what's going to happen. KENTUCKY will defeat PENN STATE, NORTH CAROLINA STATE will outrun ST. JOHN'S, ILLINOIS will humble DAYTON, DUQUESNE will stop PRINCETON, KANSAS will NOT be upset by TCU, ST. LOUIS will shell NEW MEXICO A & M, UCLA will top SANTA CLARA, and OKLAHOMA CITY will NOT return to its oil wells after digging a hole for WYOMING, after which NC STATE will slip past KENTUCKY, DUQUESNE will sabotage your champs, ILLINOIS, KANSAS will stop the Billikens of ST. LOUIS, and OKLAHOMA CITY will prevail over UCLA. Thus my tournament finals will find North Carolina State, Duquesne, Kansas, and Oklahoma City fighting it out for top honors. An entirely different foursome than yours, Boyden."

"That isn't all. NORTH CAROLINA STATE and KANSAS will move to the finals by whipping DUQUESNE and OKLAHOMA CITY, respectively. Then, then, then — KANSAS FLOODS (yuk, yuk, Kansas floods) NORTH CAROLINA STATE to win the championship. I don't pick third place winners."

So there you have the results of the NCAA basketball championships from two birds' eye views. Ed Diddle, famous basketball coach at Western Kentucky, was running a coaching school for youngsters one year. On the first day of school, a fine-looking bunch of high school all-stars ran onto the court to report to Diddle. As the youngsters crowded around him for instructions, the coach backed away.

"Hold it, boys," he shouted briskly. "Get back there against that wall and line up in alphabetical order and according to height!"

Cindermen Raise Curtain On 1952 Track Season

Vandal thinclads will lift the lid on their 1952 track and field season tomorrow when they compete in the 10th annual Washington State Intercollegiate Indoor track meet at Pullman.

Other teams definitely entering the invitational contest besides host WSC and Idaho are Whitman, Eastern Washington college, and Central Washington. All members of the Evergreen conference have been invited and more of these schools may enter.

Coach Stan Hiserman had this to say about Idaho's chances: "We may end up far behind in team strength but I do expect some good individual performances. The squad will be under a definite handicap since the weather has prevented our getting the roadwork and conditioning we need."

The track men were hard hit this week when Bruce Sweeney came up with a severe ankle injury. He is now a doubtful starter in both the 70-yard high and low hurdles and high jump.

Competition will start at 11 o'clock, Saturday morning with the javelin, discus and broad jump. Starting at 2:30 that afternoon will be the preliminaries in the 70-yard dash and the low and high hurdles at the same distance. Finals will begin at 3:30 starting with the 1000-yard run.

Here are Idaho entries in the meet:

- 70-yard dash — Dick Newton (San Fernando, Calif.), Merlin Powell (Idaho Falls) and Pat Duffy (Nampa).
- 70-yard low hurdles — Dalby Shirley (Sugar City).
- 70-yard high hurdles — Shirley.
- Pole vault — Dave Martindale (Oakley), Bob Parish (Filler) and Roger Behre (New Providence, N. J.).
- 1000-yard — Emerson Clark (Twin Falls), Bob May (Oak Hill, N. Y.).
- 600-yard — Ron Baker (Lewiston), Bob Thornton (Eden), Jack Riddlemoser (Boise), Walt Meukow (Idaho Falls) and Larry Day (Twin Falls).
- 300-yard — Ted Nowak (Los Angeles) and Harry Boyd (Wendell).
- 1 Mile and a half — Chuck Weimann (Lewiston), Lou Gourley (Idaho Falls) and Luther Fitch (Pottlatch).
- 1 Mile relay — Newton, Duffy, Nowak and Gary Dixon (Coeur d'Alene).
- Javelin — Bruce West and Bud Fisher, both of Idaho Falls.
- Discus — Dar Cogswell (Coeur d'Alene), Larry Elsner (Gooding).
- Broad jump — Newton and Parker Compau (Spokane).
- High jump — Martindale.

Washington State recently had its annual intrasquad indoor meet. Here are some of their best marks:

- Richie Richardson's 51.1 in the 440 on a 220-yard track, rates up with outdoor times; and Louis Montoya's 16-lap mile race in 10:03.5 is not bad. Freshman Gary shipped over the 70-yard lows in 7.3 and Roninen shoved the shot out 45 feet 3/4 inches. Skip Picley, freshman from Spokane's Lewis and Clark high school, was second in the shot. The pole vault went to Anderson at 13 feet.

Sigma Chi Annexes 'B' Basketball Title By Defeating PDT

Brian Williams' basket in the last minute of a two-minute overtime period gave Sigma Chi No. 1 a 22-20 victory over Phi Delta Theta No. 3 for the intramural "B" basketball championship last night at Memorial gym.

Horace Neely paced the Sig Chi attack with eight tallies while Bob Crawford of PDT topped the losers with seven. The Phi Dels held a 15-12 command at the half, but SC came back to knot the count, 20-20 as the final gun sounded. Then Williams popped in the crucial two-pointed in the overtime period for the win.

Sigma Chi's championship trail was blazed by capturing the League III, Division A title in the regular season, and by edging ATO No. 2, 19-18, and Kappa Sigma, 23-18, in playoff contests prior to last night's title tilt.

Kappa Sigma stopped Pine Hall No. 1, 30-23 to capture third place; BTP topped LCA, 26-25, for fifth place; SN No. 3 grabbed seventh place as ATO No. 2 forfeited; and PGD dropped CH No. 2, 39-18 to capture ninth place.

Thus the top ten teams were—SC No. 1, PDT No. 3, KS, PH No. 1, LCA, BTP, SN No. 3, ATO No. 2, PGD, and CH No. 2. Intramural director Bill Eimers stated that 55 teams played 159 games during the regular scheduled season and 63 play-off contests for a grand total of 222 games.

COMPREHENSIVE SURVEY
A Utah doctor returning from a Chicago medical convention brought back a very interesting story on the "doctor's smoke 'Whammo'" advertising gag. All doctors entering a building were complimented with a pack of "Whammo" cigarettes. As they emerged a survey revealed that doctors "prefer" "Whamos" multi to one.

Gymnasts Invade Cougarville For Meet With WSC Tumblers

The University of Idaho gymnastic group under the direction of Dick Smith will travel to Pullman tonight for a meet with the Washington State gymnasts at 7:30 in Bohler gymnasium.

Heading the group of invading Vandals will be Captain Bill Shaw, who grabbed scoring honors with 16 points in the dual match with the Cougars last month. Smith expects Shaw to at least equal his previous effort if not surpass it.

Six events will highlight the evening's card: parallel bars, long horse, side horse, flying rings, tumbling, and trampolines.

Vandals entered in the parallel bars event are George Peterson, Captain Shaw, and Bill Perry. Shaw, Perry, and Gerald Ames will combine talents in the long horse while Peterson, Perry, and Willard Kimmerling compete in the side horse. The flying rings will be tackled by Shaw, and Shaw, Ames and Dave Buising will enter the tumbling event.

Closing the meet will be the trampoline event with Skip Knapp, Bob Barber, and Gerald Ames the Idaho entries.

Tonight's meet will be a warm-up event for the Gymnastic club show to be held in Memorial gymnasium next Friday evening at 7:30.
