

ANNUAL BORAH PEACE CONFERENCE OPENS TODAY

The Borah Peace conference opened this morning — a two day session of ideals and ideas, formal lectures and informal seminars. It is fitting that such a conference be conducted on a college campus, we suppose, but does it accomplish its purpose?

Supposedly, the ideas that students pick up during such a conference will regenerate in fertile minds and be disseminated to the less learned. We wonder how one is to go about pulling these fertile minds away from text books, dates, draft boards, and all the other facets that make up college life, long enough to really concentrate on discussions and lectures about world peace.

A conference is an amazing thing. It brings together people who (for one reason or another) are of like interests. These people listen — talk a little — and forget the whole thing a few hours later. There are a few exceptional persons who drag the most out of any conference, but chances are they are speakers or record keepers.

More Dynamic

From past attendance at Borah conferences we are forced to conclude that not many students are interested enough to put in an appearance. We do not say that conferences are no darned good, but we do believe that most people (yes, even those who claim to be intellectual) want something more dynamic.

In this world of fast moving events, we have come to dislike the staid and slow moving conference. We are used to pushing a button and have things happen. It is an age of little causation for great effect.

If conferences are to accomplish their avowed purpose, people must realize that somewhere along the line a slow beginning is necessary to lay the foundation for great things. The time honored conference will have to become a bit more dynamic in its approach, and the public must learn to take time out to think.

Student Lawyers Will Argue Case In Practice Court

Students from the University's practice court class will participate in the case of John Doe vs. the United States of America, beginning Thursday at 2 p.m. in the courtroom of the federal courthouse, according to Frank B. Campbell, Jr., instructor of the class.

A three-judge court comprised of Federal District Judge Chase Clark, the Hon. Abe McGregory Goff, former Congressman from Idaho and Prof. George M. Bell of the faculty of the College of Law will hear the appellate arguments in the case.

Attorneys for the defendant are Reginald R. Reeves and Robert B. Lyons and for the Government Joseph E. Zavasky and Robert C. Galloway, all senior students in the College of Law.

Convicted Last Semester

Doe was convicted of being in contempt of the U.S. Senate in a trial court proceeding held before Prof. W. J. Brockelbank last semester. He was sentenced to imprisonment for one month and fined $100, on a charge of having refused to testify before a duly constituted committee of the Senate.

Appellant contends that the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution grants him the privilege of refusing to testify, if the testimony sought to be adduced would tend to incriminate him.

It is the contention of the Government that the privilege accorded by the Fifth Amendment extends only to criminal proceedings. They continue, that in any event the defendant failed to properly exercise the privilege if one does exist.

Ag Queen Finalists

One of the three coeds shown above will be queen of the Little International show during the week of April 21 through 26. The three finalists in the queen contest are (left to right) Nancy Leek, Pat Miller and Betty Anderson. The queen will be selected by members of the Ag club, and will be announced April 18 in the Argonaut.

Ag Queen Finalists Told At Annual Club Banquet

Events as varied as grandma's rag rug were presented before approximately 160 faculty members, guests and Ag club members at the annual Ag banquet Saturday. Entertainment, presentation of awards and queen finalists, extemporaneous speaking, and stunts filled up the evening's agenda in the Ad Club.

Little International queen finalists announced were Betty Anderson, Forney hall, Pat Miller, Gamma Phi Beta, and Nancy Leek, Tri-Delta. These three coeds were chosen from a semi-formal group of six candidates and the queen will be chosen from these three and announced in the April 18 issue of the Argonaut. The finalists were introduced at the banquet.

Professor C. W. Hickman, animal husbandry, was presented with the 25-year plaque by Bill Meyer, president of Alpha Zeta, agriculture honorary. The plaque is presented annually by the honorary to a man or woman who has served the state and the college of agriculture for 25 years or more.

Winning Speaker
Bill Leatham was declared the winner in the final extemporaneous speaking contest also conducted at the banquet with his expounding on "Price Stabilization on Potatoes." Harold Johnston was the other final speaker in the contest on "Control of Foot and Mouth Disease." Judges for the speaking contest were Dr. A. E. Whitehead, C. I. Seely, and Dr. W. P. Lehrer.
Awards for membership in various judging teams were given by Dean D. R. Theophilus to Floyd Gephart, Marvin Jagels, Joe Hall, and Dr. W. H. Harvey for dairy

Forestry Week Features Comprehensive Program

The utilization of Idaho's forests, conservation of fish and game, and an intensified program of range management will come up for discussion when Idaho State Forestry Week gets under way April 13.

The people from Idaho have the privilege of being able to hunt and fish a greater variety of wildlife than the residents of any other state in the union, according to Forestry Week officials at the University. A publicity release from Bill Luscher, Forestry Week committee man, points up the fact that installation of pulp mills at Lewiston as well as in other parts of the state has greatly increased the value of Idaho's timber resources.

A comprehensive publicity campaign capped by Forestry Week activities is expected to drive home the importance of a statewide effort to conserve Idaho's forests.

A tree planting program for the youth of Idaho is expected to educate future citizens in the aims and purposes of Idaho Foresters.

Rehearsals Underway For Drama

Rehearsals have been continually in progress for the ASUI spring production, "Ladies of the Jury," to be presented April 25 and 26 in the University auditorium. Production staffs are also busy in preparation for the play according to Jean Collette, drama head.

Members of the stage crew have begun work on the sets for the show, in an effort to complete them before Easter vacation. Both of the sets are inside a courthouse; one in the courtroom itself, and the other in the jury deliberating room. They will be conventional in style and build.

Costumes will also be contemporary, and although modern costumes are readily available, the costume crew will still be faced with the problems, according to Miss Collette. It will be necessary for them to find costumes which will be compatible with the color and lighting schemes used in the show.

New Presentation

This production will be presented in an interesting, unusual way, according to Miss Collette. The curtain will not be closed when the audience enters the auditorium at the beginning of the play. There will be small gates on either side of the stage in front of the curtain to separate the court from the spectators.

Members of the audience will actually serve as the courtroom spectators. The lawyers and witnesses during the trial will make their entrances through the audience.

Military Retreat Is Planned Prior To Military Ball

Plans for the Military Ball, to be held in the SUB ballroom April 19, were described today by Erstad, chairman of publicity for the tri-service event. Preparations are well under way to restore the event to the prominence it enjoyed eight or nine years ago, he said.

The old military custom of retreat will be revived at 5 p.m. Thursday, April 17. Participating in the retreat will be the competitive drill teams of the three services. The ROTC military band will furnish music. The ceremony promises to be both colorful and impressive, according to Andy Christensen, general director of the observance. All interested students are welcome to witness the ceremonies, he said.

The Navy glee club under the direction of Jerry Goecke is planning a serenade of all women's living groups April 15. New songs are being prepared for the occasion, Goecke states.

Personnel of the Army and Air Force ROTC units will not be required to wear uniforms the week of the dance. They will thus be allowed time to have uniforms properly cleaned and pressed for the dance. Erstad pointed out. Permission for Navy students to omit wearing the uniform is pending, he said.

Libe Hours

Hours for the University library during the Easter recess will be as follows:
Thursday, April 10 — 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Friday, April 11 — 8:00 a.m. to 12 noon.
Saturday, April 12 — 8:00 a.m. to 12 noon.
Sunday, April 13 — Closed.
Monday, April 14 — 7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Before one country acts its should find out what the other country is thinking. This was given as the key to better international relations in 1952 by Dr. Max Savelle of the University of Washington, rated one of the nation's top diplomatic historians, in the opening address this morning at the University of Idaho's two-day Borah Peace conference.

The conference, which has drawn educators from 12 universities and colleges in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana, was officially opened by President J. E. Buchanan of the University. Buchanan pointed out that "perhaps it is true that there is nothing new in the world, but there are constantly new variations. And the world today sorely needs new variations on the ideas for peace."

Savelle's talk will be followed by major addresses by Dr. Gordon A. Sabine, University of Oregon; Dr. H. Frederick Peters, Reed college, who is the founder and former director of the American Institute at Munich; Ralph M. Hagen, associate director of the American Institute of Public Opinion (the Gallup poll), Princeton, N. J.; and Dr. Edwin Moore, University of Idaho.

In the opening address, Dr. Savelle declared: "The time is past when one country—although it may be supported by the public opinion of that country—can settle any significant world problem without consulting the opinion of all the other countries involved."

Opinion Heavily Weighted
"With all the uncertainties in the public opinion of the present time, it is probably safe to say that never before in the history of civilization have rulers felt it so necessary to consult with, or to determine public opinion in order to have its support in their enterprises, whether national or international. No longer is it possible to get away with the deeply secret diplomacy of the pre-1941 variety because the people of the world are increasingly interested, even from day to day."

Deciding what constitutes world public opinion poses a major problem, Dr. Savelle pointed out. "How are we to define world public opinion?" he asked. "Is it one opinion held by all peoples, or a sort of federation of national opinion? And does nationalism constitute one of the aspects of world public opinion? What about opinion, in a given country, which is dictated by government?"

Because of the many types of public opinion in the world today it is hard to tell what impact they have upon world problems, Dr. Savelle stated. He said: "Recognizing all the obstacles, world peace must be built upon a public opinion founded on faith in the individual human being, mutual confidence, equality of all nations in the councils of the world, and willingness to modify our own positions under the impact of the public opinion of the world."

Accomplished In Two Ways
"In the last analysis the achievement of world peace may be accomplished only by one of two ways: by the imposition of peace by force, or by a voluntary organization for peace that will rest upon the approval and support of the public opinion of all peoples—or at least a majority of them. This is the method of democracy."
"Even without the completely democratic functioning of government in any of the separate nations (Continued on Page 3, Col. 4)"

'Beat B C' Is Slogan For Drive

"To beat the University of British Columbia's record" has been the goal set for Idaho students in the spring blood drive, April 22 through 25. The University of British Columbia collected 3004 pints in six days from a student body of 5500, which is 54.61 per cent.

The University of Idaho's blood drive will be in conjunction with "Idaho Blood Month" March 25 to April 26, inclusive. The state's quota was set at 4329 pints, including the quota of 2000 pints set for the University.

This quota will be an increase of 986 pints over the record of 1014 pints set by the school last fall. This sum was collected in only a three day period however, and was 33 per cent of the student body.

75 Donors Per Hour
The bloodmobile will be able to take care of 75 donors per hour and 600 per day, according to Jim Dunham, chairman of the drive, and enable the University to make its goal of 2000 pints.

Dunham stated that the same procedure for the most part will be followed as in last fall's drive. No one will be turned away during the four-day drive, he said, and waiting lines will be cut to avoid crowding. The exact procedure will be printed in a later issue of the Argonaut.

Dr. E. S. Sestero will handle the extractions again through the Boise regional blood center and bloodmobile. Nurses' aides will be from the University and various townspeople will assist with nursing and refreshment serving as in the past. Typists will also be from the University.

Little International Preparations Made

In preparation for the Little International show, agricultural departments have been contacted to prepare floats and booths.

Arrangements have been made to show films of the 1951 Little International show to the Moscow chamber of commerce on April 9. On April 15, the film will be shown to the Grangeville high school and chamber of commerce. The Little International fitting and showing demonstration for swine, beef, and animals was held last Saturday.

Vacation To Begin Thursday Complete With Easter Bunny

By Ken Kornher

Moscow, Idaho, April 7, 1952, AP (Argonaut Press) Flash! Four days of restful, relaxing, inviting, invigorating, wonderful, welcome, vivacious vacation will sweep away the woes of mid-terminated students at one second after 4 p. m. Thursday.

The exhilarating moment may come as a bit of an anticlimax to the dozens of students who are already gone. Many apparently thought that Easter vacation began March 31.

More than a few students will stay on the campus to study. In addition to the library (see the page 1 box) excellent study facilities will be available at the tennis courts, the golf course, and at various picnic grounds.

Churches in every city and hamlet of the countryside will no doubt be crowded Sunday as regular attenders are augmented by those who gave up church for Lent.

Travelling Bunny

Students will be waiting eagerly for the arrival of that funny bunny of Easter fame with his basket of eggs. How many of his rounds he will be able to make this year is a matter of some doubt, for the Easter bunny finds travel a hare-raising experience in modern times.

Men fruit comes to something over 40 cents a dozen, so poor bunny practically has to burrow into Fort Knox to finance his annual supply.

Bad eggs and bad yeggs add to the fuzzy friend's problems. Big bad yeggs are always stealing good eggs from good little egghunters. The good eggs the bad yeggs steal from the good little egghunters leave bad eggs for the good little egghunters. Bunny wonders who eggs on the big bad yeggs that steal eggs.

THIS IS SO FUNNY I'M ALMOST LAUGHING.

Crossing the highway is always a problem to the Easter bunny. Have you ever tried to cross a traffic lane walking on your hind paws in the dark carrying two baskets of eggs? Well, you're not a rabbit.

Lost His Basket

Last year the bunny lost a basket, got his tail run over thirty-seven times and smashed 176 colored eggs. He said a naughty word, too.

Fashions take the spotlight for Easter parades. Men will be wearing brand new smooth tailored suits that they bought for the occasion five years ago. A few will even dare to knot on one of the ties that Aunt Effie sent for Christmas.

Women's fashions will be as resplendent as ever. An amazing paradox may be noted this year: both the oldest and the newest thing in ladies' hats will be heads. Over and above the heads anything goes, and so must I. So long.

A Fine Pickup For Shoppers...

After a day of Easter shopping, you'll find that a cup of VARSITY Coffee will go a long way toward giving you a "pickup" that you'll never forget. We grind our own coffee... just the way you like it.

For April Travelers

And what is so rare as a day in... April. Easter vacation is upon us, which means that many students loggy with the load of laborious learning will scatter like a shattered eggshell for a four-day vacation.

A few hints have been drifting in from intrepid travelers which may save outgoing traffic some trouble, time, and money.

Roads in several directions from this monument of learning are pitted with the perennial spring breaks. A little extra vigilance plus observance of "slow" signs may save those old tires a ruinous beating.

On the long road south a certain community is said to be lowering the boom with large $10 whacks on passing speeders. The strict interpretation of the statutes is designed, no doubt, to promote the cause of traffic safety. But those good intentions don't make it any easier to peel off that old green stuff.

A victim of the vigilant law in the town testified (with possible exaggeration) that a "foot high" stack of tickets was waiting to be paid when he got nicked.

Moral: you won't pay ten if you slow to twenty. From the Arg staff to everybody: HAPPY EASTER.

K.L.K.

Don't Stop Now

"Oh, I'm not going to give blood this time; after all, this thing is getting out of hand." This seems to be the view of a good number of students about the campus. It is true this is the fourth blood drive we have had at the university. However, it is probably by no means the last.

We have taken an obligation upon ourselves with the acceptance of the first blood drive, and we have increased that obligation with each succeeding drive. The obligation is much the same as the oath of allegiance a service man takes. He has taken a solemn oath to do his utmost to defend our way of life. We in turn have accepted an obligation not to turn him down.

As over 1000 people on the campus know, it is not a hard thing to give blood. It requires little effort, no risk, and no pain. To give a pint of blood the only thing required is a little push to get to the Student Union building. If all the people who gave blood last time would give blood again and bring one friend with them who has not donated, the old U. of I. would again be the nation's bloodiest campus.

Kefauver Favored Over Taft In ACP Student Opinion Poll

Estes Kefauver has a slight edge over Robert Taft as presidential choice among college students, according to results of the ACP National Poll of Student Opinion. The Poll indicates that Kefauver has his best support from students in the South, and that he and Taft are about even in the Midwest.

In the West neither candidate seems especially strong, with students in that section casting more "no opinion" votes than students anywhere else in the nation.

As a senior from New Mexico Western college puts it, "Anybody but Taft, but not particularly Kefauver." Students across the nation were asked: If Robert Taft and Estes Kefauver oppose each other in the coming presidential election, which man would you prefer to win?

The results:
2. Taft 38 per cent
1. Kefauver 45 per cent
3. No opinion 17 per cent

"Taft, I think, is too radical in his views," is what a pro-Kefauver freshman at Kansas City university says. And a sophomore coed at Mundelein college, Illinois declares, "Taft's isolation would ruin the country in two years."

In a poll taken before President Truman announced he would not run again, students were asked to state their choices on Truman vs. Taft and Truman vs. Warren.

Results show a slight plurality for Taft (but a gain for Truman over his vote three months ago).

Cindermen Top Whitworth; Face Cougars Saturday

The University of Idaho thinclads copped 13 out of a possible 15 first places to outscore a game track squad from Whitworth college by an 88-42 margin. The dual meet, the first for both squads, marked the first time that the Vandals have been able to romp in the revamped Neale stadium with its loose, wet oval.

Bruce Sweeney, a five-foot nine inch junior with springs in his soles, turned in a stellar performance for the afternoon by annexing first places in four events — the high jump, broad jump, and high and low hurdles.

Sprinter Dick Newton looked strong in topping both the dashes for Idaho. He traveled the 100-yard course in 9.9 seconds and breezed through the 220 in 22.7. Newton also copped a second in the broad jump.

Wins By 50 Yards
Freshman Lou Gourley won the two-mile event moving away from last year's ND champion Chuck Weinmann. Leather-lunged Gourley dragged the champ for six laps and then spurred to win by some 50 yards.

Whitworth's two wins were in the field events. Ken Peach topped the field in the shot put with a heave of 49 feet, and Ken Reardon flipped the discus 135 feet, 11 inches to annex that event.

The Vandals open Northern Division competition next Saturday against the highly touted WSC thinclads here at Moscow. Jack Mooberry's Cougars looked strong in defeating Whitworth the previous weekend by a wide margin, although the Vandals should match them in over-all team depth.

Golf Candidates Paced by Campbell

Qualifying rounds to determine team members for this year's University of Idaho links crew find Bob Campbell and Phil Weitz leading the field of 20 after 54 holes.

Campbell posted a total of 221 for his first three rounds to top the lead while Weitz follows closely with a 224 total. Dale Faylor chalked up the top score for a single round with a 70, which included an eye-opening 33 on the front nine.

Good rounds were also turned in by Fred Stringfield, John Drips, Sam Jenkins, and Ivan Stone. Also high on the list are Gary Farmer, Jack Perry, Bob Rayburn, Bob Noble, and Dave Powell.

Other candidates attempting to push their scores within the qualifying range are Rod Davidson, Dick Hardan, Wendell Coombs, Monte Brooks, Dale Chaney, Dan Cresswell, and Tom Wharton.

Golf coach Frank James feels that he has a very successful turnout with interest and rivalry being very keen.

The Vandal linksmen will open their season April 18 with an 18-hole match with Whitman. Following on Saturday, April 19, will be a 36-hole battle with the Washington State Cougars.

FRANK ECHEVARRIA—Idaho's top prospect for a place on the U. S. Olympic team to Finland. After winning his NCAA championship he is now eligible to fight in the final Olympic tryouts at Kansas City, Missouri, June 16, 17 and 18.

As a senior this season, Frank's record is 13 wins and a single draw. His overall score for three years of varsity campaigning is 32-5-1.

Echevarria Cops NCAA Title, Named Top Tourney Boxer

Idaho fans can write Franky Echevarria's name down among the all-time greats in Vandal boxing if they haven't already done so. He ranks along with the Kara brothers, Rolly Shumway, Laune Erickson, Herb Carlson, and Len Walker after his showing at the NCAA championships at Madison, Wisconsin.

Not only did he win the 119-pound crown in impressive fashion but he walked off with the John S. LaRowe trophy. This award is annually presented to the athlete whose sportsmanship, skill, and conduct perpetuate the finest attributes in collegiate boxing.

Idaho's Ted Kara won the trophy the first year it was presented in 1941 and Herb Carlson qualified in 1950. This makes it twice in the last three years that a Vandal mittman has been named the top college boxer.

Idaho has now had more individual winners than any other school. Wisconsin has copped it twice while Chuck Davey was rated the class of the country three years in a row for Michigan State.

As a team Coach Frank Young's squad fell victim to the rugged competition from 19 colleges and universities. The Vandals ended up in a four-way tie for fifth spot in the standings.

Things looked comparatively bright after the first night at the tournament. Sam Nichols upset Jerry Stern of San Jose; Franky won over Bill Lewis, Howard; Veri King lost to Tom Keyes, Gonzaga; and Larry Moyer got a bye.

Baseballers Test Whitman In Double Bill Tomorrow

"Play ball." This will be the cry of the umpire tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 when Coach Chuck Finley's University of Idaho diamondmen take their positions on McLean field and the first Whitman batter steps to the plate. The well-known cry will initiate the first of two seven-inning contests between the two ball clubs.

Whom coach Finley will send to the hill in the season's opener is anybody's guess, probably Finley's also as he has several capable veterans and a bevy of eager rookies ready to toe the slab in tomorrow's curtain-raiser.

Cless Hincley, Wayne Anderson, or Buck Schiller, may be one of the veterans to get the call; or it may even be Harlan Melton, Dick Dodel, Dewey Good, Ed Comas, or Ken Hallett from the list of first-year men.

Expected to get the nod for backstop duties is Jerry Ogle with Flip Kleffner covering the first pillow, Dennis Goddard taking second, Earl Huffman filling the gap at short, and brother George flagging the scorchers at the hot corner.

The trio most likely to get first crack in the outer pastures should be Bob Huffman in left, Bruce McIntosh in center, and H. A. Butler in right.

Coach Finley will also have a large crop of bench jockeys, each of whom will undoubtedly get the call to action sometime during the afternoon's twin bill. In addition to the hurlers already named, infield reserves Dwight Morrison, Mel Brown, and Bud Nelson will be available for duty in the field.

Outfield reserves include Dick Merrill, who can also take a whack at the catching chores; George Letters; Ted Fischer; Bob Sell; Bill Stollman; Reggie Frazier; John Puckett; and Ralph Lehman.

The Vandals will play host to the Seattle university baseballers, led by cage great Johnny O'Brien, in another seven-inning twin bill.
