

The GOLDEN FLEECE

In a few days many of us will be saying good-bye to the University for the last time as students. The long haul over four years is for all practical purposes, over.

The graduating class will be leaving something behind at Idaho, but chances are they will be taking much more. Because, after all, you can't spend four years of your life in one place and not remember it when you leave.

Those who leave will soon forget the rough spots of college, and probably remember the fun they had. The good times are always easier to remember.

It's a sad commentary on world affairs that so many men of the graduating class will be going into the service. But perhaps one day in our lives we will be able to have a world untroubled by thoughts of war. At least we hope so.

But wherever they go and whatever they do, the people who are leaving schools across the nation will find plenty to keep them busy. They can do a lot for the world if they want to, and from our corner we know they will.

The Argonaut extends its congratulations to the graduating class, and good luck. When the class meets again as alumni ump-teen years from now they will look a bit different, but we are willing to bet the spirit will still be there.

What is that spirit we speak of? Well let's just say that it's the type of push that enables a person to get through four years of college. Nuff said?

Following a custom several years old, the Argonaut staff has chosen an outstanding man and woman graduating senior of the year. The staff met this week and voted Virginia Orazem and Hyde Jacobs the outstanding seniors.

We salute these two people who have found time to take part in so many activities during their four years at the University besides a considerable amount of studying.

Seems a bit strange that the year is so near over. For the last two weeks there has been a dearth of activity on campus (with the exception, of course, of the party raid). In the week remaining relaxation will be for the seniors, and books for the rest—then the summer lies ahead.

Looking back, we think it's been a great year. There has been a lot of work and a lot of fun, but most of all we have learned something—part of it from books, and part of it from human nature.

The Argonaut has done its best to reflect and interpret the goings-on during the year. At times we have blasted and at others we have praised, but at all times we have tried to be fair and impartial.

At any rate, we have certainly enjoyed having the privilege of putting out the paper. Come heck or high water it was still fun.

When school resumes this fall, the Argonaut will be headed by Graham McMullin. With a few shifts in position, the staff will be much the same as it has been this year. To that staff, this writer wishes the best year ever. The Argonaut is being left in good hands.

Becoming a bit personal, this writer would like to thank all the staff members who have worked so hard to make the Argonaut a success. Yours truly greatly appreciates the opportunity he has had to edit this newspaper—it has been truly a great experience.

So until next fall, we sign "Thirty" to the last edition of the Argonaut of 1952. So long, good luck, and whatever you do, try to find a little happiness in life.

Car Washing Area Is Now Available

A new car washing area, complete with four separate decks and hoses, has been completed for student use, George Gagon, University engineer, announced today.

The decks are located south of Pine Hall, near Paradise Creek and are for student and faculty use free of charge. Individual car-washing accessories are all that the person needs to bring.

"The area, was set up so that students would not need to drive their autos on University lawns when cleaning them," Gagon said. "Car washing on lawns has caused several costly replanting jobs in the past."

The area is intended for use of all students, those in fraternities and sororities as well as those in dormitories, Gagon added.

Outstanding Grads

Hyde Jacobs and Virginia Orazem, pictured above, have been chosen by the Argonaut staff as this year's outstanding male and female graduating seniors. Miss Orazem has worked on the Argonaut, Gem, and has been active in many other campus activities. Jacobs has been ASUI president for the past year, and served last year as a member of the Executive Board. Miss Orazem, a resident of Forney hall, is an education major and a journalism minor. Jacobs, a married veteran, is a major in agriculture.

Baccalaureate And Exhibits, Concerts Fill Weekend Slate

Commencement week at the University of Idaho's 57th commencement, Monday, June 9, at 10 a.m.

The Commencement invocation will be by the Rev. Harold T. Mast, of Our Savior's Lutheran church, Moscow. The academic procession from the Administration building to Memorial gymnasium where the diplomas will be presented will begin at 9:45 a.m.

Deans of the various schools will announce their school and the degrees to be received and Registrar D. D. DuSault will hand the sheepskins to the graduates.

Honorary degrees will be presented to two former graduates of the University. Lewis E. Hanley, Wallace, class of 1900, and W. C. Perkins, Omaha, class of 1914, will receive honorary doctorate degrees. Hanley is chairman of the board of directors of the Hecla Mining company, and Perkins is chief engineer of the Union Pacific railroad.

Rev. Herbert E. Richards, D.D., First Methodist church, Boise, will speak at Baccalaureate services on "Proof Through the Night." The services will begin at 11 a.m. Sunday, June 8, in Memorial gymnasium following the Academic procession from the Ad building which begins at 10:45 a.m.

Invocation will be by George S. Tanner, director of LDS Institute on the campus.

Reception Slated

An informal reception for the class of '52 will be held at the SUB at 4 p.m. that Sunday afternoon. Parents, the Board of Regents, faculty, alumni, and other friends of the University are invited to attend. Hostesses will be members of the Faculty Women's club.

The University band, directed by Kermit F. Hosch, will present a concert on the University lawn at 5 p.m. Continuing the activities at 8 p. m. the music department will present a Vesper recital in Recital hall in the Music building.

Several annual exhibits will be open to the public on Saturday and Sunday afternoons between 2 and 5 p.m. The Flower show, prepared by the Botany department will be in the Science hall. The department of art and architecture exhibit will be in the Art building, and the University library will have a display in the Administration building.

Rehearsal Times

Commencement rehearsal will be held Saturday at 9:30 p.m. In order to organize alphabetically degree groups graduates will meet with their deans in the following places: Letters and science, Memorial gym, northwest section; agriculture, Ag Science 108; engineering, Engineering 104; law, Ad 320; mines, Mines 101; forestry, Forestry 335; education, University auditorium; business administration, Science 110; graduate school, Memorial gym, southeast section.

After the groups have been organized they will proceed to Memorial gym for complete rehearsal.

New Guild Constitution Accepted

The constitution for the Radio-TV Guild was accepted by members attending the meeting held last Tuesday in the Radio Center and has been turned over to Dean Lattig to be presented to the Academic council at their next meeting.

Club officers for the fall semester were also elected at the meeting. They were as follows: Bob Baggs, president; Jac Caward, vice president; Eleanor Anderson, recording secretary; Rita Schroeder, corresponding secretary; and John Sheridan, treasurer.

Four faculty members were chosen to act as "advisors of a whole" for the forthcoming year. They are: Bob Tracy, Leon Lind, Tom Hopkins, and Carl Burns, who are all associate members of the club.

Three Groups

The club's membership, as designated in the constitution shall be composed of three groups: active, associate, and honorary members. Active members will be those registered in the University, associate members will be from the faculty or other active participants not registered in the University, and honorary members shall be those voted so by two-thirds of the active members.

Charter Members

All charter members, those who have already joined the organization, will become honorary members upon their graduation. John Fornsberg was the first to receive this honor. He has been active in the unorganized group's activities this semester, a charter member of the new club, and is a graduating senior this spring.

Included in the guild's plans is a desire to help the station produce radio programs of a professional caliber that will create interest in the University among high school students and alumni. Investigation of television is also one of the Guild's plans.

Jody Ennis spoke to the group Tuesday evening about the Homecoming radio show, to be released early next fall. The program will be produced this Friday at 4 p.m. in the Radio center. Anyone with ideas for a better Homecoming show are invited to bring them to the center at this time, or contact Miss Ennis, who is in charge of arrangements.

Clear Accounts!

Before a student is eligible for a degree all accounts pending at the cashier's office must be cleared! June 6 and 7 is the deadline that has been set by the cashier's office for attending to the debts. Diplomas will not be awarded to students whose accounts have not been cleared by noon, June 7.

School Isn't Over Yet For Summer School Students

To some the end of school will herald the start of the summer's vacation but to about 700 students who will attend summer school it will just be a break before the start of school June 16. Another 800 people will attend the different short conferences planned by the various departments. Students will find that they will have a total of 214 different courses that they can take this summer. New courses have been added to the summer school curriculum for the first time.

Teacher training and elementary education will be emphasized during the summer school. The 1952 child guidance clinic, held at the University for the seventh consecutive year, will afford an opportunity for teachers who already have had some training in their training in caring for student problems in reading and speaking.

Practice Teaching

Practice teaching at the elementary level will be provided in the demonstration school, operating during the first six weeks of the summer school.

The annual University conference of school administrators is scheduled to meet July 26 and 27 to consider the regulation of student extra-curricular activities. Other special clinics and conferences scheduled for the 1952 summer include a coaching clinic (both at the University and at Boise), a home economics workshop and an art methods workshop.

NROTC Seniors Have Assignments

The NROTC Unit graduating seniors have been assigned their first duty as commissioned officers.

Twelve seniors are reporting to the Amphibious Training Command at Coronado, Calif., before joining their ships; two are reporting to heavy cruisers in the Pacific; and three are reporting to aircraft carriers, also in the Pacific. Four seniors have not as yet received their orders.

The Marine graduates will all report to the Marine Corps School, Quantico, Va., for 20 weeks basic training.

Gem Staff Rushes To Finish Yearbook

Gem staff members and editors are working busily to meet the publication deadline so the Gem can be ready shortly after registration next year. Organization heads who have not yet arranged for a picture are urged to do so immediately.

Editor Jerry McKee said the key of this year's Gem is integration. Presentation of the book has been rearranged from previous years to "present a truer perspective of student life," according to McKee.

Senior Art Student Wins First Place In Design Contest

Donald Dirks, senior in the department of art and architecture, hit pay dirt in the recent Indiana Limestone Institute competition when he won first prize with a community church design.

The prizes totaling $500 were a gift of the Institute to the University and Dirks received $250 for his contribution to the competition among the seniors in the department.

A second prize of $150 goes to Rodney Grider and a third prize of $100 was split between Charles Buchanan and Richard Meyer.

Fifteen problems were turned in for the competition which was judged by three Spokane architects, Royal McClure, Tom Adkins, Lawrence Evanoff, and two professors in the art and architecture department, Charles Bartell and Clayton Page. The design class is under the direction of T. J. Prichard, head of the department.

The winning projects will be on display at the commencement exhibit of the art and architecture department.

Orazem and Jacobs Said Outstanding

Virginia Orazem and Hyde Jacobs, University graduating seniors, were chosen this week by the Argonaut staff members as the outstanding graduates for 1952. Each year the staff chooses the coed and male senior whom they think have contributed the most to the school scholastically and in activities throughout their four years.

Miss Orazem is a member of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, and was a former member of the ASUI Executive Board. A resident of Forney hall she received the Mary E. Forney cup last fall as the outstanding resident of the living group.

An English major with a journalism minor, Miss Orazem worked for seven semesters on the Argonaut as rewrite editor and news editor, until last February. She also served as associate editor on the 1951 Gem of the Mountains.

Other Activities

Miss Orazem was a former editor of the Idaho Independent and a member of LSA, Ski club, Theta Sigma and Lambda Delta Sigma. She is a former Spur and was secretary of the ASUI Executive Board during her term last year.

Jacobs, who has just unshouldered the duties of the president of the student body, has also served a year on the ASUI Executive Board and three years on Independent Caucus.

A married agriculture major, Jacobs has been chairman of the student union committee and treasurer of his freshman class. A member of Alpha Zeta, national agriculture honorary, he is also a member of Phi Eta Sigma, underclassmen's scholastic group, and Silver Lance, senior men's honorary.

Former president of Lambda Delta Sigma, he worked on Religious Emphasis week for two years and has held various offices in the LDS house.

Senior Art Student Incoming Students Get Scholarships

Four scholarships totaling more than $550 were granted this week to Idaho high school seniors planning to attend the University next fall, Dean H. E. Lattig, director of student affairs, has announced.

Esther Anderson, Rockland, has been awarded the Sears-Roebuck home economics freshman scholarship of $200. Three scholarships of $120 each have been awarded to seniors planning to enroll at the University in music. The scholarships are granted by the department of music and cover applied music fees.

Students to receive the music awards include Wynnefred Mae Bacon, Boise, piano; Virginia Sturgess, Orofino, violin, and Darlene Dickers, Coeur d'Alene, voice.

Review Of Past Year's Activities Shows Records Set, Prizes Won

With commencement and school year is almost history, watched things happen that will also have seen things that will forever bear repeating.

Students at the University are cramming for the same finals that students have always crammed for, and throughout the year the 10 a.m. cup of coffee and cigarette have provided the same attention as they did in years past.

Records Set

The students at the University set one blood record last fall, and when it fell before a determined bid by the University of British Columbia, Idaho students calmly set another one which topped them all. A total of 2,672 pints was donated during the two drives.

Another first was chalked up when accounts and pictures of the latest thing in pajama parties hit the wire services.

The powers that be saw things a little differently this year and Thanksgiving meant just that with a four day break from the rigors of attending classes. Along with Christmas and Easter vacation, finals upon us, the 1951-52.

The college on the hill has will soon be forgotten but it this break provided a good formula for avoiding the text book blues.

Looking over the sports picture, something we should leave to the sports staff, the Vandal basketball team placed second in the Northern division while the grid men almost scared the WSC cougar out of his hide.

National Champion

Frankie Eschevarria brought glory to his school in battling his way to the National championship. Idaho has always been noted for her boxing teams and this year was no exception.

This spring marks the first time to our knowledge that homecoming candidates have been selected so in advance, but even with the shortage of time, plans call for a celebration that will be second to none.

If the weather man can be persuaded to behave next year and the Oregon Ducks are at all cooperative, the alums have a homecoming well worth the return trip.

Apple Polishing

Erlene Clyde was the coed's choice for AWS president and Mary Hansen took over as vice president. Apple polishing became legalized on the campus as undergrads found relations with the instructors improved if well mixed with coffee.

Aside from the Music festival which saw high school students descend on the campus in unheard of numbers, life was pretty much the same. The Campus Chest collected $1,500 during their annual drive and enrollment dropped very little. The Alma Mater sung by the Vandaleers is still the most nostalgic song known to students and we'll be looking forward to the Lockery-directed Candle Light Concert again next year.

Blue Key Names Duffey President

Pat Duffey was elected president of Blue Key, national men's service honorary, for the coming year with the following officers assisting: Bill Taylor, vice president; Bill Boyden, secretary-treasurer; and Bill Shaw, corresponding secretary.

Initiation for six new members of the group was held last week. The new initiates are Bill Taylor, John Burroughs, Fred Kopke, Don Hardy, Arlen Webb, and Wayne Jeppson.

A picnic was held by the honorary last weekend.

VETERAN DIVIDENDS

Veterans who do not request their 1952 service insurance dividend in cash before it is due will be notified by the VA of the dividend amount, placed on deposit to their credit.

WON A WAVE

A pre-med student at Syracuse university recently entered a mystery song contest. A few days later he got a letter from the radio station, telling him that he'd won a "free permanent wave" — good anytime.

Heavy Schedule Planned For Annual Alumni Day

Alumni Day has been set for Saturday, June 7, this year, according to Alumni Secretary James Lyle.

The annual association business meeting will be held at 12 noon in the Moscow hotel. That afternoon on the University golf course, the "Blind Bogey" tournament will begin at 1:45 p.m. All alums interested may participate or observe. This is one of the annual alumni affairs that usually has a large and enthusiastic turnout.

At 6:30 p.m. the alumni dinner will be held in the Student Union building. L. R. Pugh, St. Marjes, president of the Alumni association will preside as master of ceremonies. Following the banquet class reunions will be held.

Reunions Featured

Reunions of classes ending in "2" or "7" will be featured. The class of 1927, celebrating its 25th anniversary, has scheduled the largest number returning. Jay V. Thompson, Moscow, is chairman of the activities for the class.

Judge James Alexander Coffey, Jamestown, N. D., class of '97 is the oldest alumnus expected to attend. Others from "early" classes of the University will be Mrs. Margaret McCallie Moore, '98, of Spokane; Miss Marie Cuddy, Boise, and William Clair Mitchell, Rupert, '02.

Mrs. Clara Ransom Davis, class of 1898, her daughter, Mrs. June Davis Wickard, '27, and her son, Bruce Wickard, '52, will make up the first three-generation group ever to take part in Alumni day celebrations. They are all from Moscow.

The Board of Regents and official guests will gather at a special luncheon in the Student Union building at 12:15 p.m. Sunday.

Will Lead Argonaut

New "wheels" to take over the Argonaut helm next fall were named recently by the Executive Board. Graham McMullin, (left) junior journalism major, will edit next year's paper, with Don Theophilus (right) as sports editor. Lois Bush, (center) will assume duties of the news editor during her fourth year on the Arg.

Wives To Receive Their Own Degree

For the third consecutive year, wives of graduating seniors will receive the PHT (Putting Hubby Through) degree this spring during commencement festivities.

This award is presented "in recognition of the wives' praiseworthy and successful effort, in spite of privations and hardship, in helping their husbands to achieve an educational aim."

As the wives leave the gym, on graduation day, the Intercollegiate Knights will hand them the award. Gale Mix stated that, "The women are more proud of their own degree than of their husband's."

Idaho was the first school to award the "Putting Husband Through" honor. Last year about 25 other schools had followed suit. To receive the award, wives of seniors need only apply to the General manager's office. Their names will be engraved on the diploma. There has been a great deal of interest in this program, according to Mix. Last graduation the PHT was given to 200 women.

The reason these awards are presented is because, as Gale Mix put it, "The wife does just as much as the husband, and is entitled to something."

She was built like the First National Bank—everything deposited in the right place.

So Long Sweet Sal

Yes, it's almost over. For the freshmen—a big first year in college. For the sophomores—a familiar story and probably the infamous sophomore slump. For the juniors—the top of the heap next year. And for the seniors—"We're through!"

There's a big, wide, wild world out there waiting for this year's crop of grads. More than a few of the men will find a home with Uncle for a while. Men and women alike will be scattered from Tanjore to Thun (see, you still have more to learn).

Looking back over it all is going to give most of the finishers a good feeling. Remember the time a bunch of young Dillingers snatched Butch? And the games and dances and picnics and parties—even classes once in a while. Those instructors that held the hatchet for so long suddenly become human beings again (and they might have been all along). Egad, what school would have been without them! (?)

A lot of us will be back next year to continue the climb. And there won't be a class of '52 to harass all the "underlings" with their wordy knowledge. But, you know, the grads actually do find their way around the old campus pretty well. We can admit it now that they're leaving.

A crew of survivors will be on hand to launch the Argonaut anew about the middle of next September. Jason (McMullin) will be in command.

If the next cruise is the great sport that this one has been, there'll be no danger of scuttling.

To the sheepskinners: Congratulations! Good luck, and drop back for a visit the first chance you get —K.L.K.

Students Are Sorry To Leave School

This is the final week of classes. University students are evidently taking this final opportunity to clutch at straws and attend school in hopes of retrieving disastrously falling grade points.

All of which means that social functions, impromptu bull sessions and the like are pretty much at a minimum. One thought paramount in the minds of students is the fact that school is just about over—at last.

In this light we take a final swing around the campus to sample student opinion before antiquity and dementia precox take their toll and the whole business comes to a sickening, collapsing halt.

The final question, to wit, is (oh, our cleverness sometimes amazes even us): "What is your opinion about leaving school?"

Kelly Katz, ATO: "I'll be glad to leave, but I'll miss the old crowd."

Carolyn Goodwin, Tri-Delt: "No, I can't say I'll really be glad to leave. I hate to leave all the friends I've made, and, believe it or not, I'm sorry that classes are all over, too!"

Campus Visitor Is On Tour Of States

A University of Idaho visitor this week has been Bhakta Bahadur Rayamajhi, secretary of the minister of food and agriculture for the kingdom of Nepal, in the Himalaya mountain country between India and Tibet.

Rayamajhi is on a four-month tour of the United States to see agricultural research, teaching, and extension at work and to get ideas which may be adapted to agriculture in his home country.

His main interest in coming to Idaho, explains Dean D. R. Theophilus of the college of agriculture, was to study production of potatoes, beans and other horticultural and field crops; irrigation on both small farms and highland areas.

Before coming to the campus, Rayamajhi visited the U. S. sheep experiment station at Dubois, Idaho, to observe work on range sheep and wool improvement. Assisting the visitor in seeing Idaho agriculture and meeting University personnel in the fields in which he is interested is G. T. MacAlexander, northern district extension agent. From Idaho, Rayamajhi goes to California.

Porter Is Elected Dairy Club Head

At the last regularly scheduled meeting of the Idaho Collegiate Dairy Science club the following new officers were elected to serve during the 1952-53 school year: Mac Porter, president; Ben Huggins, vice-president; James Kunkel, secretary; Stanley Storey, treasurer; and Gordon MacKay, reporter.

It was requested that all graduating seniors in the dairy department leave their home and future addresses in the office of the Dairy Science building so that they may be included in the final newsletter which will be sent to all past graduates of dairy husbandry.

Sigma Chis Plan Annual Lake Cruise And Seniors Are Honored At Dinner

Willis Sweet hall and Phi Kappa Tau honored their senior members at banquets during the week while Sigma Chi members are making preparations for their annual cruise on Coeur d'Alene lake Sunday.

Concluding social events for the year, Sigma Nu members honored 17 couples at a "girlfriend" dinner last Sunday. Softball was the order of the day Monday for Ridenbaugh hall and Lindley hall.

Wednesday dinner guests were Lou Ann Jones, Denise Jones, Thursa Winget and Donna Bauer.

Sigma Nu and Alpha Chi pledges had a picnic Saturday afternoon. Chaperones were Thomas West and Miss Lou Fields.

A picnic with Delta Chi is planned for this coming Sunday.

The final weekend of social activity for Sigma Nu was climaxed last Sunday when 17 couples attended the annual girl friend date dinner in the chapter house.

The Sigma Nu candidate for homecoming queen, Pat Dyson, Delta Gamma, was a dinner guest at the chapter house or Thursday evening.

David Baum, regional chapter visitation officer from LaGrande, Oregon, was a guest at the chapter house Thursday noon.

Ben Doty and George Hollett were selected as the two delegates to attend the 35th Sigma Nu Grand Chapter in August at Mackinac Island, Michigan.

Ridenbaugh Hall Monday night Ridenbaugh hall and Lindley played their annual softball game. According to reports, "The hot contest was decided in favor of Lindley hall in a three-inning game with Ridenbaugh coming out on top with the score tied 33-33." Draw your own conclusions; at any rate it must have been quite a tussle.

Mrs. Elanta Vajda and her daughter-in-law were Wednesday dinner guests. Mrs. Vajda just arrived from Tokyo.

Gamma Phi Beta Peggy Densow, chapter president, will leave June 19 to attend the 45th bi-annual convention of the international sorority.

Miss Densow will represent Xi chapter at the convention to be held in Coronado, San Diego, California, June 23 through 29.

Among her activities at the convention will be participating in round table discussions concerning the philanthropic projects of the sorority.

Willis Sweet Wednesday night Willis Sweet seniors were honored at a banquet. Dr. Edward Moore, head of the philosophy department, spoke on the "know why" of education.

President Dale Andrus was the master of ceremonies. Fred de Francesco was general chairman of the banquet.

Kappa Alpha Theta Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herman, and Bill Mather were dinner guests.

Ann Nilsson, Alice Compton, Bill Boyden, Tom Gooding and Bob Campbell were dinner guests at the final dress dinner on Wednesday.

Phi Kappa Tau Maury Guerry, Glen Hanson, Bob Nelson, Gene Easton, Boyd Caudill, and Phil Battaglia, departing seniors, were honored at dinner Wednesday evening. Each gave a short talk reminiscent of his college life. They entertained after dinner.

A formal initiation was held for Dick Wartena last Sunday.

Delta Tau Delta Dinner guests Wednesday evening included Donna Bray, Homecoming Queen candidate; Beverly Shear, Shirley Newbold, Jean Royer, Eunice Spalding, Kathy Cook, and Fred Van Engelen, who graduated from the University last year.

Sigma Chi Bill Luscher was recently elected consul of the local chapter of Sigma Chi to serve during first semester of next year. Other officers include Bob Stevenson, pro-consul; Bud Hagan, annotator; Bruce Whitmore, quaestor; Bob McCaslin, assistant quaestor; and Charles McDevitt, magister.

Other officers are Richard Rogers, assistant magister; Donald Chambers, historian; Richard Hall, tribune; Gary Thomas, associate editor; and Merlin Powell, ustos.

Recent dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Rafy Gibbs, Mr. and Mrs. Hall Macklin, Ken Hardin, Joan Kaeser, and Madeline Meltvedt.

Formal dinner was held Wednesday-in honor of the Sigma Chi graduating seniors. Stevg Douglas was presented with the annual Outstanding senior Athletic award, and Harvey Bickett was presented a gold intramural manager's key for his work as house intramural manager during the past year.

Last minute plans and preparations are being made for the annual Sigma Chi cruise which will be held at Coeur d'Alene lake Sunday.

Navy Sets Plans For NROTC Men In Summer Trips

The Navy has completed plans for the summer training of the NROTC Regular and Contract Midshipmen. This year the Idaho junior and freshman regular NROTC students will make a European cruise.

They will leave Norfolk, Virginia, July 18 and visit two European ports before conducting gunnery practice at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba. They will return to Norfolk September 5.

The sophomore midshipmen will be given aviation-amphibious training. First they will report to the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas, June 30 for three weeks aviation indoctrination. From Corpus Christi they will travel by troop train to Little Creek, Virginia, for three weeks indoctrination in amphibious warfare technique, completing their training on August 8.

The junior contract midshipmen will make a Caribbean cruise, leaving Norfolk on August 9 and conducting gunnery practice at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, on the return trip. They will debark at Norfolk on September 5.

The Marine NROTC students will take Marine Basic Training at the Marine Corps Schools, Quantico, Virginia, June 23 to August 15.

Dietetics Students Appointed Interns

Six home economics students at the University, graduating in the fields of food and nutrition, have received dietetic intern appointments in hospitals approved by the American Dietetic association, Professor Margaret Ritchie, head of home economics, announced today.

The training includes one year of residence at the hospital with experience in administrative and therapeutic dietetics.

The appointees, all to receive their degrees June 9, are Martha Allison, Ancker hospital, St. Paul, Minn.; Nadine Buswell, King County hospital, Seattle, Wash.; Alice Henry, Christ hospital, Cincinnati, Ohio; Maralee McReynolds, New York hospital, Cornell Medical unit, New York City; Margaret Sullivan, Harper hospital, Detroit, Mich.; and Carolyn Webb, University of California hospital, Berkeley, Calif.

Hardin is a member of Sigma Nu fraternity and is from Sandpoint. Miss Wendle is from Spokane, Wash.

Ogle-Nelson Joan Ogle, freshman coed, announced her engagement to Bill Nelson at Wednesday night dinner at Hays hall.

Daisies and sweet peas formed the centerpiece and a nosegay of roses and sweetpeas formed a frame for the ring. Individual cards at each table announced that "We have been engineering this for a long time. Joan and Bill."

Miss Ogle, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Ogle, is a home economics major, and Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Nelson of Montpelier, is a junior in agricultural engineering. Wedding plans are tentatively scheduled for this summer.

Workshops Stated High school students will be on the campus for three weeks during the drama and music workshops. Students will study band, orchestra, and choral groups. A concert on the last night of the workshop will be presented by the students with a party to follow. Drama workshop students will present one-act plays and study the various aspects of stagecraft.

Nineteen visiting faculty members will augment the regular University staff. Visiting staff members will come to the University from all over the United States and from England. The English visitor will be Dr. Monica Cole, from the University of North Staffordshire, who will be visiting professor of geography.

North Dakota Prof Visits Law School Visiting professor in the college of law this summer will be Keith W. Blinn, professor of law at the University of North Dakota, Dean E. S. Stimson has announced. At Idaho Prof. Blinn will teach Municipal Corporations.

Professor Blinn received his AB degree from Kansas and his LLB degree from Marquette. He was a Sterling Fellow at Yale and for a number of years was an attorney for the United States Government specializing in labor-management relations.

He is a member of the Order of the Coif and is listed in Who's Who in America. During the war he was associated with the Judge Advocate General's department of the Army.

Serious Problem Faces Students Taking Finals

By Ken Korner At this time of year there is always a serious problem on the minds (the word is used loosely) of them which is taking finals. "How can I pass?"

That being a fair, unbiased, common, legitimate and stupid question, I have undertaken research of methods available. They include:

- 1. Study
2. "Cooperation"
3. Clairvoyance
4. Outguessing
5. Be practical

1. People say that studying enables one to pass finals. But after all there's a limit. Let's look for a less radical solution.

2. "Cooperation" means that you have a buddy help you. The first step is to build a radio sending and receiving set that would fit neatly into a wrist watch. Work hard, you may finish by August. Of course the darned thing probably won't work after you get it made.

Talk Fast Another possibility is to strap a "brain" to your back and convince the instructor that you are Siamese twins. If you can talk that fast don't bother to finish school. Go into politics.

3. Maybe clairvoyance would work better. In this system you determine via mental telepathy what the test questions are going to be. This is undoubtedly the most practical solution to test passing. Now all you have to do is become clairvoyant. If you figure this one out let me know — fast.

4. Outguess the instructor. For example, if you have had multiple-choice questions all year, prepare for an essay question. Read every 56th or 57th page in the text. The questions may come from those pages. If repeated intelligently 56 or 57 times this system nearly always works.

5. Be practical. First go on a picnic. Then take the test. Then sign up for a second try.

Theta Sigma Taps Journalist Coeds

Four new pledges were tapped by Theta Sigma, women's journalism honorary Wednesday night during the dinner hour. Tapped were Mrs. Beverly Knapp, Barbara Pickett, Virginia Jones, and Eleanor Anderson.

Initiation ceremonies will be held Saturday at 5:30 p.m. followed by a banquet in the Syringa room of the Student Union building. Joyce Becker, president of the group, will be in charge.

Mrs. Gladys Swank of Lewiston, president of the Idaho Press Women, will present that group's award for the outstanding Idaho woman journalism graduate of 1952 to Maribel Schupfer, senior coed.

Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, also a senior journalism student, will be awarded the Sigma Delta Chi certificate of scholarship for attaining the highest grade point of a journalism graduate this year.

Wayne F. Young, advisor of Theta Sigma, and Mrs. Young will be present at the banquet.

Display Scheduled By Student Artists

Student art exhibits will be on display during the commencement weekend to students, friends, guests, and the general public in the Art building.

Times for the exhibits are as follows: June 7, 2:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.; students and friends; June 8, 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., general public; June 9, 12 noon to 5 p.m., commencement guests.

Exhibits will include drawings, paintings, design, architecture, commercial art, photograph, and ceramics.

ENTERS LOW BID

A Boise construction firm, C. W. Watkins and Son, entered the low bid at the University this week for the construction of an office building at the Caldwell Branch Experiment station. The low bid and two others will go to the regents for review and contract action.

STEVENS TO NEW YORK

Keith Stevens was recently selected by the Idaho chapter of Alpha Phi Omega national agricultural honorary, to represent the local group at the national biennial convocation next fall. The convocation is slated for September 2 through 9 at the Hotel New Yorker in New York City. Approximately 40 chapters from all over the nation will be represented.

Baseballers Shatter All Huskie Title Hopes With 9 to 8 Victory

Sideline Chatter

By Boyden

Another day, another issue, and another year has gone by. With the completion of today's page, the sports department tosses its typewriter against the wall and says farewell to a year well spent.

We've seen just about everything there is to see in the sporting field. From one sport to the next, the Vandal athletes have fared very well, just so-so, or maybe not so hot. Nevertheless, next year will offer newer and possibly better opportunities in each sport.

The football road definitely indicates improvement, and the same can be said of basketball, boxing, baseball, track, and the rest. The boxers will be especially intent upon recapturing the Pacific Coast crown. They won't sneeze at the NCAA title either.

Next year must certainly be the year for Vandal basketball. A second place finish was predicted and obtained by this year's quintet; but a well-rounded, experienced squad will be out there next season gunning for the top spot. Vandal athletic teams appear to be younger than ever. That should definitely indicate a rosy future.

My thanks are extended to the supporting members of the sports staff — Don Theophilus, Bob Heatterly, Dick Kugler, Al Lewis, Karl Klages, Stan Riggers and Ron Johnson — for their help and co-operation throughout the year. The staff as a whole would also like to thank the coaches and players for their co-operation in making the stories possible.

With Tuesday's baseball victory over the Washington Huskies, this makes two years in a row that the Vandals have more or less given the Oregon State Beavers the Northern Division diamond title. Washington's loss to Idaho deadlocked the Huskies and Beavers with a 10-6 record, but the Beavers were awarded the opportunity of meeting Southern California for the PCC championship because of their 3-1 record over the Huskies this campaign.

Last year, Moscow's environment was actually the responsible factor as rain washed out the two Idaho-OSC tilts and enabled the Beavers to edge the Washington State nine a few percentage points.

Maybe the Vandals are just paying the OSC athletes back for their good turn of 1946. That was the last ND championship season for the Idaho cagers. However, the championship wasn't Idaho's until Oregon State topped Oregon in the last game of the season while the Vandals were defeating Washington State.

Dick Merrill Smashes Winning Blow In Ninth-Inning Rally

NORTHERN DIVISION STANDINGS (Final)

Team	W	L	Pct.	GB
Oregon State	10	6	.625	—
Washington	10	6	.625	—
Oregon	9	6	.600	1/2
Washington State	6	10	.375	4
Idaho	4	11	.267	5 1/2

Idaho's Vandal diamondmen played the perfect role of spoilers in their last Northern Division game of the season as they thumped the Washington Huskies right out of the championship with a five-run ninth inning. The final count read Idaho 9, Washington 8, with the Idahoan far from being finished even though the game was over.

For eight full frames, the contest was a nip-and-tuck affair. The Huskies opened the scoring with a single tally in the top of the third, but the Vandals popped right back with two in their half of the frame to grab a 2-1 advantage. Another solo counter for the Huskies deadlocked the count at 2-2 in the fourth.

Seemingly following a pattern, Washington added another run in the top of the sixth, Idaho bounced back with two in their half of the inning, and the Huskies again deadlocked the score with a single tally in the top of the seventh. This the scoreboard registered a 4-4 count as the ball game entered the decisive ninth stanza.

In the top of the ninth the Washingtons grabbed a seemingly impassable four-run lead. As was the usual occurrence in previous contests, all four of the tallies were unearned. With this four-run bulge, the Huskies appeared to have their title packed and ready for shipment back to Seattle.

Then the Vandals stepped to the dish for their last chance. Chuck Magnuson was fresh on the mound for the Huskies after relieving Bob Bell, winning hurler for Washington in Monday's 17-4 rout. George Huffman and Flip Kleffner opened the inning with a double and single, respectively, and the Vandals had one of their runs back. Both Huffman and Kleffner belted their safeties after a second chance offered them by Huskie catcher Sam Mitchell. Sam circled under a pair of pop fouls like a Navajo medicine man praying for rain and failed to make the grab in either instance. His fielding efforts throughout the series were of equal remarkability.

Bobby Falash then cracked out another double, moving Kleffner to third, and when Jerry Ogle walked to load up the sacks, Magnuson was junked in favor of Jim Rothaus. Rothaus wasn't long for this ball game, however, as Mel Brown lashed out a two-run single to narrow the margin to 8-7 with Ogle, the tying tally, resting on second. Bill Reams made a trip to the mound long enough to walk Earl Huffman and reload the

Racquetmen Show Improvement Over Teams of '50, '51

The Northern Division finals at WSC wound up the Idaho tennis squad's 1952 season. A not too impressive record, but one that surpassed that of the '50 and '51 squads; met the squad as they came off the courts for the last time; with a two win record being set by the Kirkland pill-pushers.

The Northern Division finals turned a dull eye on the Idaho players with the squad drawing a blank on every match, both singles and doubles; Kuelpman, I, losing to Oregon, 6-1, 6-3; Schober to Day of O.S.C., 6-0 7-5; Zimmerman to WSC's Cummings, 6-2, 6-3; and Idaho's Bob Rowles bowing out to Carter of OSC, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3.

In the doubles end of the meet, Day and Carter of OSC won over Idaho's Kuelpman and Schober, 6-2, 4-6, 4-6; and Zimmerman and Rowles lost to Wick and Kiril of Washington, 6-2, 7-5.

Eric Kirkland, Idaho's tennis coach, named two players as the most consistent of the season, Dick Schober and Bob Rowles; both of these men won 4 out of the 8 matches they played.

Bob Rowles, an Idaho sophomore, was listed as the most improved player of the '52 season; Bob held down the number 5 spot on the squad and as the season progressed became more adept at wielding a racket against opposing squads.

When two team-mates, Dick Schober and Darrell Kuelpman, teamed together they formed a hard to beat pair with a 6 won, two lost record for the season. Both these boys did fairly well in their singles matches, but when it came to doubles they made a team that was rarely beaten.

Idaho's chances for the 1953 season, are fairly good with the return of two of this year's first string freshmen. Other men returning are Max Nunenkamp, who sustained an injury in mid-season and so lost out on the last few weeks of play; Darrell Kuelpman who was one of this year's better men.

Four other returning players are Fred Thompson, one of this year's better freshman players; Dwight Kleine, Mark Smith and Jim Townsend. These men plus the talent that next year's freshman class should bring in should combine to be one of Idaho's better squads.

Never trust a man who says he's boss in his own home. Chances are he'll lie about other things, too.

Spring Letter And Sweater Awards Number Forty-One

Honor awards for baseball, track, golf, and tennis were announced at the University of Idaho today with 41 letters and sweaters on the list. Baseball awards totaled the largest number followed by track, golf, and tennis in that order.

The baseball awards — Cless Hinckley, Preston, and Lloyd Schuller, Weiser, third awards; Bruce McIntosh, Lewiston; Jerry Ogle, Coeur d'Alene; Mel Brown, Caldwell; Dick Merrill, Orofino; and Wayne Anderson, Spokane, second award. First year awards went to Horace Butler, Beaumont, Texas; Earl Huffman and George Huffman, Coeur d'Alene; Dave Paulson and Flip Kleffner, Boise; Dick Dodel, Dick Riggs and Bill Stellmon, Lewiston; Mel Reynolds, Castleford; Harlan Melton, Middleton; and Larry Morrison, Walla Walla, Wash.

Track letters went to Dave Martindale, Oakley, and Dick Newton, San Francisco, Calif., third awards; two-time winners, Theo Nowak, Los Angeles, and Bruce Sweeney, Lewiston. First year awards went to Emerson Clark, Twin Falls; Darwin Cogswell and Gary Dixon, Coeur d'Alene; Lou Gourley and Bruce West, Idaho Falls; and Bob May, Oak Park, Illinois.

There were three golfers to pick up their third awards. These were Dale Faylor, Nampa; John Drips, Twin Falls; and Fred Stringfield, Caldwell; while first year letters went to Bob Campbell, Boise; Phil Weitz, Caldwell, and Sam Jenkins, Denver.

Bob Zimmerman, Nampa, won his second tennis award, while other first year awards went to John Schober, Temple City, Calif.; Darrell Kuelpman and Bob Rowles, Spokane; and Max Nunenkamp, Caldwell.

Martindale Enters NCAA Track Meet

By Don Theophilus, Jr.
Idaho's Pacific coast conference pole vault champion, Dave Martindale, will represent the Vandals at the NCAA track and field championships at Berkeley, California, June 13 and 14.

This meet has been designated as a U.S. Olympic semi-final try-out meet and as a result, will be composed of the same events that will be included on the Olympic program in Helsinki this summer. For example, instead of the mile run at the nationals next weekend, there will be the 1500 meter run.

Bruce Sweeney will not represent the University at the NCAA meet. His specialty, the 220-yard low hurdles, will not be run under the Olympic standards and there is no equivalent race. Bruce placed fifth in the lows at the PCC meet.

Martindale, who won his coast crown with a 14 foot 2 3/4 inch effort, is now owner of the second best jump in college circles this season. Coleman of Illinois is first with 14 feet 5 inches. Coleman is one of the few outstanding Negro vaulters in history.

Coach Stan Hiserman and Dave will leave for the Berkeley meet sometime next week. Both are optimistic about chances for placing.

The first six U.S. citizens to place in the meet will qualify for the final Olympic tryouts at Los Angeles, June 27 and 28. Also eligible for the final tryouts will be the first six qualifiers from the national AAU meet, June 20, 21, and the Inter-Service track and field championships, June 6 and 7. This field of 18 men for each event will be narrowed until the final qualifying race when the first three men will be chosen for the Olympic team. Brutus Hamilton of the University of California is head coach for Uncle Sam's Olympic track and field men. Here is the program for the NCAA meet:

100-meter dash.	200-meter dash (1 turn).
400-meter dash (2 turns, lanes).	800-meter run (4 turns).
1500-meter run.	5000-meter run.
10,000-meter run.	110-meter hurdles (highs).
400-meter hurdles (lows, 2 turns, lanes).	3000-meter steeplechase.
High jump.	Broad jump.
Pole vault.	Hop, step and jump.
Shot put.	Discus throw.
Javelin throw.

The meet will be held at Edwards stadium at the University of California. This stadium is one of the few in the country which is constructed especially for track.
