

Students Send Telegram To UN General Assembly

Displaying the energy and originality that has since become famous throughout the nation, 275 Idaho students, in celebration of United Nations day have signed their names to a special congratulatory telegram which was read this morning before the UN General Assembly session now meeting in New York.

Exec. Board May Change Scheduling

At their regular meeting Tuesday night, the Executive Board discussed a new policy in scheduling all-campus functions and operation of the Election Committee.

Jim Costley was appointed to the Borah Committee to serve with Jack MacEvoy, previously selected.

Petitions for class elections must be received by 5:00 today in the Argonaut office, the Board decided.

Some of the ASUI closed functions will be scheduled on Friday nights. This policy will leave some Saturday nights available on the calendar for living group social functions.

Executive Board will investigate specific requirements to be followed year after year by the Election Committee. In the past each year's committee has established its own regulations.

PLCs were considered with the yell leaders for the WSC-Idaho pre-game rally.

Pianist Gives 1st Concert Here Wed.

Pianist Gina Bachauer will be presented Wednesday night in the first Community concert of the year in Memorial gym. Friday night the Angelaires, a harp quintet, will give a concert in Pullman at Bohler gym.

Further concerts in the series are December 4 — Paganini Quartet at Pullman; March 1 — Vienna Boys Choir at Pullman; March 4 — James Melton, tenor, at Moscow; April 15 — Isaac Stern, violinist, at Pullman, and April 21 — Ray and Gomez, dancers, at Moscow.

A native of Greece, Gina Bachauer made her American debut in Town hall October, 1950. She studied in Athens with Waldemar Freeman, one-time two piano partner of Rachmaninoff, and finally with Rachmaninoff himself.

The Angelaires are an ensemble of five lovely young women who organized the group in 1949. Their program ranges from Bach and Handel to original compositions and arrangements of songs by Richard Rodgers. They have appeared on the Paul Whiteman and Frank Sinatra shows.

Sing, Senator, Sing, Reaches Midway Of Four Nite Run

"Sing, Senator, Sing," reached the midway mark of its four night run at the auditorium Thursday evening. It continues this evening, and ends with the Saturday performance.

The production is a revival of an original musical comedy written and composed on the University of Idaho campus and first produced in 1947. The mixed fare of varied songs, dances, and dramatic action made the first auditorium production of the year different from anything seen on the campus in recent years.

Much Cooperation

To stage the show, cooperation of the departments of music, drama, and physical education was necessary. Among the leading players were Charles LaFollette as Senator Singleton, Phyllis Ralstin as his daughter, Bob Nixon as a riding instructor, Tom Wright as the senator's secretary, Bonese Collins as a giddy guest at the dude ranch where the action was laid, Ann Tremaine as the proprietor of the ranch, Leah Jensen as a Hollywood siren, and Harry Titus as a political plotter.

Considerable rewriting since the original production resulted in the addition of three lobbyists and in timely illusions to mink coats, deep freezes, and trips to Florida.

The telegram reads as follows: "To the United Nations: Congratulations and all good wishes to you on United Nations day. We, as students at the University of Idaho, Moscow, Idaho, want you to know that you have our whole-hearted support, particularly in this seventh session of the General Assembly. God bless you in your deliberations."

The telegram idea, hatched by ASUI proxy Ray Cox and International Relations co-chairmen Jim Costley and Ken Kyle, took form Wednesday morning, when letters urging the support of United Nations day were mailed to all living group presidents, urging students to sign the message.

In addition, the actual celebration of United Nations day, today, will take the form of a panel discussion of the topic: The United Nations and Russia's East-West Attitudes; Are They Compatible With World Peace? This panel will be presented in conference rooms A and B, SUB, at 4 p.m. this afternoon. ALL STUDENTS AND FACULTY MEMBERS ARE URGED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE DISCUSSION. On the panel will be Dr. Boyd A. Martin, chairman of social sciences, Dr. Robert E. Hosack, head of political science, Dr. H. H. Caldwell, professor of geography, and Dr. J. Paul Castleberry, chairman of political science at Washington State college. Moderator will be Dr. E. Malcolm House of the Idaho history department.

During the past week, posters advertising United Nations week have been distributed on campus, with announcements of the panel being mailed to the greater part of the faculty and to all house presidents.

Rules Announced For Intramural Debate Tourney

Rules for the forthcoming intramural debate tournament were announced Monday afternoon. It has been decided that each living group be given the option of entering one or two teams. If one team is entered it must debate both the negative and affirmative case; if two teams are entered each will debate one side of the question.

Debates will be run according to Oxford rules, allowing ten minutes for each constructive speech and five minutes for the rebuttal. Students who have participated in intercollegiate debate are ineligible for this tournament.

Teams participating must have registered either with Dr. Whitehead at his office in TC2 or with Fred Kopke, tournament chairman, at the Beta house by 12 noon on the Thursday prior to each tournament, and a $1.00 entrance fee must be paid at this time.

The question is "Resolved, that the Federal government should adopt a compulsory fair employment practices program."

The women's tournament will begin Saturday morning, November 1, at 8:15 a.m. in the SUB. The men's competition will be held on November 15 at 8:15 a.m. in the SUB.

Living groups represented at the rules meeting were: Phi Kappa Tau, Phi Gamma Delta, Beta Theta Pi, Sigma Chi, Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Idaho Club, Alpha Chi Omega, Delta Gamma, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Ridenbaugh Hall, Gamma Phi Beta, and Alpha Phi.

Full Support To Blood Drive

Giving their all in a hearty chorus of "Go, Corpuscle, Go" and "15 for plasma," these students packed the patio of the Student Union Building during the blood rally Monday night. Backed by the Pep Band and seeing "red," they gave full support to Yell King Bob Spero and his assistants.

Ballroom Now Bloodroom

The transformed interior of the SUB center ballroom saw near 1600 students fill and refill these cots as the student body gave full support to the blood drive. Nurses from the blood unit and volunteer registered nurses and nurses aides from Moscow worked side by side during the three days.

Bill Gray Receives Medal For Heroism In Korea

An item of interest to many University of Idaho students who knew Bill Gray, class of 1951, is related in the following letter from his father, Charles Gray, also a University graduate now residing in Spring Valley, California. The letter was written to the commander of Sigma Nu fraternity of which both Bill and his father were members on the Idaho campus.

"Enclosed is a letter from Headquarters 45th Infantry Division, APO 86.

"By direction of the President, the Bronze Star Medal with Letter 'V' device for heroic achievement in connection with military operations against an armed enemy is awarded to Second Lieutenant William W. Gray, Infantry, U. S. Army, Company L, 179th Regiment, 45th Infantry Division.

"He is cited for heroism in action against an armed enemy on June 15, 1952, near Karkyau-ni, Korea. Lt. Gray was in charge of organizing and leading litter teams of Korean service corpsmen in assisting in the evacuation of wounded from hill 191, during a night attack by a regiment of Chinese aggressors.

"Made Three Trips
"The citation continues—'vicious hostile artillery and mortar fire fell along the three mile route from the main line of resistance to the battle area, and many parts of this approach also under constant observation and direct fire. Nevertheless, Lt. Gray made three trips through this perilous area, unheeded

Show Moves Smoothly At Second Performance

Despite a late curtain, Wednesday night's performance of the musical comedy "Sing, Senator, Sing" started with a bang and continued to move smoothly and easily to the final scene.

The play takes place on a ranch in Idaho and concerns the struggles and problems of Senator Singleton's campaign for re-election. During the process the Senator's daughter falls in love with one of the ranch hands, and the Senator's secretary falls in love with one of the guests.

The romance of Judy Singleton and Steve the ranch hand, takes place against the main plot of the play concerning the villains conspiring to stop the Senator from singing on a telecast and thereby to lose the election. The plot fails and the Senator wins the election for the traditional happy ending.

Started Well
The first scene was excellent, though it tended to be slightly stiff as most first night, first acts are. The music was a little on the overloud side and the song "Come to a Ranch in Idaho" was difficult to understand as were the words to "Sing Senator, Sing" and "That Shouldn't Happen to a Dog."

The action in the second scene speeds up somewhat as the plot thickens and the villain first shows his true colors by enlisting the aid of Margot, the Senator's singing partner. She agrees to help keep the Senator from making his telecast by spreading around gold-enrod to give him hay fever.

Again Phyllis Ralstin as Judy and Bob Nixon as Steve sing together, and the song "Moonlight in Sun Valley" is done well, although not all of the words are clear.

Phil and Gladys
Scene two is also the scene in which Phil and Gladys sing. Phil and Gladys, the secondary heart interest, not only sing, but steal the show and take it with them as a personal triumph. The song "The Cowboy and the Wench" is one of the "cleverest" songs in the show and should be hummed on the campus for many a week.

Final Surge Of Donors Fails As Drive Falters Near Goal

Mosman Releases Air Force ROTC Enrollment Figure

Lt. Colonel O. J. Mosman, professor of air science and tactics, recently released the Air Force ROTC enrollment figures for this school year. They are as follows: Air Science I (freshmen), 258; Air Science II (sophomores), 182; Air Science III (juniors), 83; Air Science IV (seniors), 123; a total of 646.

Compared with last year's enrollment the total represents a decrease of 24. However, the senior output of 123 indicates an increase of 36 over last year. Official word has been received that the non-veteran Air Science IV cadets, who graduate and receive their commissions in February, 1953, will be called to active duty in early spring. No announcement has been received regarding the calling to active service of the June, 1953 graduates.

Of the 123 seniors completing their air science requirements this year, 31 have indicated their desire to enter the Air Force Flying Training program, and 10 have expressed their desire to enter the U. S. Air-Force Institute of Technology and continue work in their respective fields of study leading to graduate degrees.

Beginning with the 1953-54 school term the air science curriculum will undergo considerable change. The present policy of offering Air Force instruction in specific career training options such as administration-logistics, communications, and flight operations will be abolished. A generalized course of study will be inaugurated which will offer courses covering broader fields of Air Force operations.

1600 Ruby Pints Donated By Idaho Blood-Letters

The University of Idaho's 5th campus blood drive hit 1600 pints last night in a sustained effort that kept students and Red Cross personnel going until 8 p.m.

The total pints drawn in three days lacked only 58 pints of equaling the number taken in the University's four day drive last spring.

Exact percentages haven't been figured yet, but well over half the student body moved through the SUB ballrooms before the nurses shut the doors last night.

Total number of pints drawn each day were Tuesday, 531; Wednesday, 464; and Thursday, 605. Tuesday's and Thursday's marks broke all previous one-day drawing records for the mobile unit. It was the first time they had ever gone past the 500 mark.

Twenty-six campus living groups ran their thermometers up to the 100 per cent mark. Almost-there marks were made by other groups and by the Vets villages, who weren't represented by a thermometer.

First man through the line at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning was Bill Schurr, junior, Sigma Chi from Pottlatch. Last man through the line at 8 o'clock Thursday night was Jerry Botts, freshman, a Pine Hall man from St. Maries.

Rejections for the three days totaled 185—almost enough pints to have hit the 1800 goal.

Nurses Worked
The blood-letting ardor of the Idaho student body was matched day by day by Dr. E. E. Sestero and the mobile blood unit staff from Boise. The group worked through the lunch hour Thursday and stayed each night until donors stopped coming.

"We couldn't have done a thing without the wonderful cooperation we've had from everyone," said drive chairman Don Mitchell.

Everybody Worked
Spurs and Iks worked every day of the drive to register donors and to load and unload the blood cases and trucks. Nurses aides under the direction of Mrs. Ma-Gee, and volunteer registered nurses under the direction of Mrs. Buchanan, helped in the actual taking of the blood.

Fruit juice, coffee, and cookies, were served to donors at the end of the line by the faculty women. Harriet Holtor, and Mary McDonald were in charge of the scheduling and appointments.

The University Dames club took charge of the organization and signing up of vets village donors. Don McCabe was assistant drive chairman and Hazel Tomlinson was secretary.

College Freshmen Most Oppressed Minority In U.S.

College freshmen are the most oppressed minority in the United States in the opinion of some people. Comes now a first year student to back up that statement. George Butler of East Providence, Rhode Island, landed at a Chicago airport without a cent. He spent the night in a police station and worked for his free lodging by telling the police the story of his trip. The freshman said that 10 Columbia university sophomores in New York kidnaped him after classes. They tied and gagged him, then bandaged his arms and head. The students put Butler aboard a plane bound for Chicago — told the stewardess he was a "horribly burned" medical case who was going to Chicago for medical treatment. The students left him there. Butler's contortions attracted a fellow passenger who freed him — in mid-air. Butler told police that this is "legal kidnaping week" at Columbia — a period in which the sophomores just about own the freshmen. He believes they picked him because he was a big man in his class. As Butler tells it — "I was the best one in the class at climbing the greasy pole."

Thanks, All Of You

Thanks Don, thanks for leading our blood drive. Thanks kids, for the much needed blood. And a special thanks to all others who helped make this drive a success. We have formed a fighting team here at Idaho. A team out to make this world a better place to live in. Next time you hear someone say that college kids are going to the dogs, show him your blood pin, and chances are he won't have one. Remember—you may have saved a life. . . . —F.D.W.

What Is A Library For?

It is comparatively easy to attract students to the library, but it is less easy to explain to the students proper use of the library. Manners and common courtesy play as vital a part in the use of the library as they do in the classroom, or home. The reading room is as much a place to display good breeding as is the girl-friend's living room. Most men remove their hats in such a place. Demonstrations of affection might be in better taste if done in the car, or in the lobby of the dormitory, and not in public places such as the library reading room. Since chairs have straight backs, they might be more comfortable if the spine were upright, and not draped over the chair across the table. Likewise, library chairs were designed to rest on four legs and not to be rockers. College students should be beyond the age of the rocking horse and not yet ready for the rocking chair. The library has little of the appearance of a snack-bar, yet some of the students feel that a surreptitious "under-the-table" sandwich, cracker, or cookie is not out of place. It is difficult also to believe that the student must litter the floors and tables with paper, gum-wrappers, etc., or squish hundreds of gobs of gum on the underside of the table tops. Thoughtlessness, is of course, the answer to the actions outlined above. The offenders (and fortunately they are a minority) would hardly behave as they do if they thought a little of the other students who use the library. The library personnel say that they do not wish to enforce a morgue-like quiet. They want the students to feel as if the library were really theirs for general reading, for study, for research, for browsing, and even occasionally a place to cinch a date, but the librarians do not look upon the library reading room as the proper place for the student to take his date, to carry on loud bull sessions, or for public seminars on the chances of the Vandals against the Cougars.

It's United Nations Day

As is mentioned elsewhere in this issue, today is United Nations day. In comparison with other campus activities, this is perhaps a sobering thought. Yet we must consider that the more animated campus activities in which we indulge would not be possible in this country or any other were it not for the efforts of statesmen who display the foresight to work toward world peace. The tool with which they work today is the United Nations. We realize that there are still a lot of "bugs" in the United Nations machinery. However, what other international body, working under the tensions present in the modern day is capable of building a better world? The United Nations has proved itself the most advanced means for building international harmony yet realized. Perhaps this organization is nly a start, perhaps it is at its median point, but surely an international body that is attempting to stop aggression, that has the courage to act as mediator in economic and social disputes, and one that has assumed the task of promoting unalienable human rights is deserving of our entire faith and hope. —K. New Way To Cross English Channel

Crossing the English Channel is a challenge. Some cross it by boats and risk getting seasick, some cross it by plane—it's faster. Submarines can do it, too. And then there are those who like to get across under their own power; some by swimming, one even by floating across on a mattress. Here's a new way. George Monneret, a Frenchman, has done it by motor scooter. Starting from Paris, he headed for the channel, where he drove right in. The scooter was amphibious. When he hit England, he kept right on going toward London. He plans to return the same way. Monneret wants to be remembered in this world as the first man to make the Paris-to-London-to-Paris trip—on a scooter.

Deadline Set!

Remember — Friday, October 25, at 5 p.m. is the deadline for having pictures taken for Student Activity cards. There are still 12 people who have not had their pictures re-taken. This is your last chance to take advantage of this service. Don't be left out because of negligence.

If She Still Remains True She Must "Belong To You"

By Phyllis Harding
Are you one of the poor romantic souls who innocently started going steady last spring without a thought of what the fall would bring? If so, you're probably faced with the age old problem, "How can I get away from this creature?" Here are some suggestions which may make your situations less miserable or even rid you of your troubles completely. 1. Ask her out to dinner; but insist upon eating both of your orders; if she doesn't laugh at your antics, tickle her on the nose with a French fry. 2. Ask her roommate to your pledge dance. If this arouses no signs of anger, try taking out the cook. 3. If she will consent to go on a sneak date with you, grease the fire escape ladder. When she falls off the ladder, scream excitedly, roar your engine, honk your horn, then noisily drive off. 4. If your sweetheart is the feminine type, make her hike, play football, and box with you. If she is a PE major insist upon her putting on your coat, opening the door for you, and occasionally ask her if she would mind carrying you. 5. If she is a rowdy girl, firmly demand her to accompany you to church, youth groups, and even choir practice. Hold conferences with her frequently concerning her character. 6. On the other hand if she is religious, or the more sedate type, take her to every dive in town insisting at each joint that she should lead the gang in boisterous songs. 7. If she says anything even remotely humorous, slap her on the back and guffaw loudly. Drink your beer out of the pitcher spout. If she doesn't laugh at this, stuff pretzles in her ears. Still no laughs? Then pour the beer over her head. It couldn't hurt her; she's a wet blanket anyway. A word to the wise: If throughout this treatment she remains true Face it son, "She belongs to you."

Idaho Alum Finds Success In Voice

Anne Bollinger, who attended the University from 1936 to '39, and became the toast of New York this week as Violetta in the opera, "La Traviata" started out to be a chemist. A check today on the records of Miss Bollinger, who is from Lewiston, revealed a letter she had written the registrar in transferring from Ward Belmont School for Girls at Nashville, Tenn. It read: "I started out majoring in chemistry, but I didn't precipitate well in that subject. I think my future lies in voice. . . ."

DEAR JASON

Dear Jason: We would like to take this means of thanking all students for their fine support in signing the United Nations day telegram. All of us realize that the United Nations is today's paramount hope for peace and international harmony. Only by showing them that they have strong public support and the buoyant enthusiasm of American college men and women can the United Nations have confidence in their own deliberations. Red-Letter Day Marks End Of Drive

At all times and in all places we should attempt to see ourselves as we would see others. In this innocent parody that follows we hope that no one has stepped on nor any feelings injured. We and the author are proud to be a part of the University and honored to share in its triumphs. Ed. By Al Diefenbach
All day long, for the past three days, the loaded tumbrils, reminiscent of French Revolutionary days, have rumbled along campus streets bringing their cargo of corpse carriers to the milking station. Starving vampires hung from every tree trying to sate their appetite on sparrow plasma. Band aids were selling like band aids during a blood drive. An air of joviality hung over the antiseptic odors in the main blood extracting arena as loyal Vandals of all sizes and shapes attempted to set a record for mass bleeding. Hemoglobin was at a premium. The waiting lines lengthened as each class period ended and the mass production system was pressed to handle the enthusiastic throng. Pumps Manned
The white-uniformed staff manned the pumps with a will and the brimming mason jars were smiled upon as they were carted away. There were no traces of sadism among the needle-jabbers, although they tried a bit of farce in attempting to replace the drawn blood with such ersatz liquids as fruit juice and water. Faint-hearted students were dragged from cellars and attics by their zealous comrades. The Goal had to be reached. We had to set a record. Everyone had to help. You did your part. The siphon-equipped attendants did their part (and how). And even the sun went down bloody red, an appropriate color for Idaho's red-letter day.

Cooley To Speak To Young Demos

Congressman Harold D. Cooley from North Carolina is to be featured speaker at the University Young Democrat meeting, October 29. Chester Graham, president of the club, said Mr. Cooley will be a guest of the club for the whole day. Cooley will end the day with an appearance at the Moscow Grange Hall at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

WET TRADITION

A fellow named Joe Raff, who writes a column for the North Carolina Daily Tar Heel, is intrigued with a Wellesley college tradition. "There is a beautiful symmetrical garden," writes Raff, "designed by a math professor whose love was thwarted for a president of Wellesley (the presidents there are always women). It is said that if a Wellesley girl walks her beau around the lake and this garden three times without proposal, she has a perfect right to push him in the drink. "The flaw in this custom is that not enough young men know the story and often have their spirits dampened. When going with a Wellesley gal, remember men, that third trip around the lake may be your first up the river."

Korean Veterans Asked To Choose Careers Carefully

Veterans planning to train under the Korean GI bill should give careful thought to their choice of a training program, for under the law they will be allowed to change their course no more than once, the Veterans Administration officials in Moscow have announced.

The purpose of the new GI education and training program is to help a veteran reach a definite, identified goal. The goal may be purely educational, such as obtaining a college degree; professional, such as becoming a doctor; or vocational, such as training to be a carpenter.

Veterans who are not sure what they want to do, or about the type of training to take, are advised by the VA to talk over their problems with educators, businessmen, professional people and other qualified persons.

Or, if they wish, they may apply to the VA for advisement and guidance, consisting of tests and thorough interviews given by trained vocational counselors.

If a veteran makes his single change of course before his deadline for starting training under the new GI bill, he will have to show the VA that it was not because of his own misconduct, neglect or lack of application.

If he wants to change courses after his deadline — and has never made a change before — he will need the VA's approval. This may be granted, under the law, if the VA finds that (1) he has not been making satisfactory progress in his present program through no fault of his own, and the program he wants to change to is more in keeping with his aptitudes and previous training, or (2) the program to which he wants to change is a normal progression from his present program.

Deadline for starting — for a veteran discharged from service before August 20, 1952 — is August 20, 1954. Other veterans discharged later, will have two years after their release from active duty in which to begin.

Boxers Start First Workouts at Annex

The slug fest season is on and the Vandal boxing squad is almost starting from scratch.

A large turnout of freshmen has reported for equipment and it is probable that many of the upper classmen will check out their gloves as soon as football season is over.

Coach Frank Young is looking forward to a highly successful season for the Frosh sluggers. They will box against the Cou-Babes from WSC shortly after Thanksgiving. Other matches have not been arranged as yet.

Four returning ringmen are all that have reported for the varsity. They are Monte Edwards, sophomore, Lynn Nichols, junior, Fred Bowen, junior, Harold Solinsky, junior.

A list of thirty-four enthusiastic freshmen leather slingers are trying for a spot on Young's fighting squad.

Potential boxers are: Clayton Lisle, Dee Hall, Lyle Cole, Bill Griffin, Ron Titus, Thomas Howard, Ken Wright, Larry Shupe, Noel Shuldberg, Ken Connell, Dave Darby, Glen Erickson, Don Nye, James Saad.

CUES FOR CLOTHING

A recent article in Collier's magazine called "Campus Cues for Clothing" has shocked the suspenders of the University Daily Kansan.

Here, says the Kansan in hurt tones, is what Collier's expects a student to have in his closet: four suits, a tuxedo, two sport coats, eight pairs of slacks, two sweaters, 12 dress shirts and 10 sport shirts, 16 neckties, four pairs of shoes, and 13 pairs of shorts.

Concludes the editorial: "A Collier's representative is invited to inspect the closets at KU for a reappraisal of his sartorial guesswork."

Return Of The Collegian

(Ed. note: Stolen from somewhere . . . we don't remember)
There comes a time in every collegian's career when he must desert the halls of learning, at least temporarily, and return whence he came.

Theoretically the occasion should be one of joy, what with fond parental greetings and the renewal of old friendships. But actually it is often somewhat of an ordeal. There are pitfalls, and collegians are notorious fallers-into-pits.

The underlying reason for most such journeys, being extreme deflation of the money-belt, the returnee usually doesn't have tuppence, let alone bus-fare. The age old art of hitch-hiking is the only resort.

Almost invariably the only persons to give you a ride are characters out of "Tobacco Road," or "Tom Swift and His 1000-Mile-An-Hour Horseless Carriage." Either you find yourself snuggled between a bale of alfalfa and a prize brood sow, or covering in a cockpit next to an aspiring Sir Malcolm Campbell.

Suppose you survive the ride; then there is that first sentimental scene. There are wet kisses and warm embraces, all of which seemed just neat a few years before after you returned from two weeks at Cub Scout camp. But now you go to college. You have heard of Freud and you are sophisticated.

After the emotional atmosphere has cleared a bit, your mother steps back and surveys you with a critical eye. "Have you been eating right," she asks with concern. "You look peaked. You haven't been taking your vitamins, now have you, you naughty boy?"

Despite the fact that you have gained five pounds and feel capable of killing giants, it is impossible to convince the good lady that you have not been on a hunger strike for the past two weeks. The only way to placate her is to gorge yourself on homemade apple pie and hang an asafetida sack about your throat.

The Old Man is not as solicitous. He straggles in after a hard day at the grist-mill and greets you with, "How much this time? And what the samhill happened to that fifteen bucks I sent last week?"

Now it is time to return to the haunts of yore. Trying to give off the slightest aura of collegiate savoir faire, and at the same time trying not to appear snobbish, you saunter into the old confectionary. Therein slouches the Old High School Gang.

"Hi," you say with shy expectancy.
"Hiya," is the laconic reply.
"Yes sir, it sure is good to get back home!"
"You been away? . . . Whadaya, get drafted or something?"

Brass bands and cheering crowds you had hardly expected, but there are limits. With simple dignity you state, "I've been away at college."
"Yeah. One of them rah-rahs. Tell me, just whatta you guys learn down there? How high is Mount Ararat? How many tons of beef exported by Argentina in 1916? Who designed the Taj Mahal? Tell me that if you're such a wise guy."

Aside from the home-grown intellectual, there are other types to be encountered.
There is the socially envious one, whose cry goes like this: "Geez! Parties all the time. Swallowing Gold fish! Did you ever join up one of those party-rats. Geez! All the time playing ukuleles and everything. It must be the Bee's knees! Where's your racoon-skin coat?"

Of course there is the Classmate Who Has Made Good All On His Own. His patter, in energetic whoops, goes something like this: "Well, well. O! Whatchamacallit. Used to copy offa you in English all time. Har! Har! Whatcha don't these days, boy? Still goin' to school? Har! Just kiddin' of course. Wish I had time to fool around myself. Your folks still sendin' you to schol? Myself, I'm pretty independent now I swung that big garbage contract. But you just keep pluggin', Whatchamacallit, you may go places someday."
Finally there is the Married Classmate who sidles up, winks slyly and asks, "Tell me, is it true what they say about them coeds?"
At this you swing your knapsack over your shoulder and set your compass on the campus azimuth. For you are a collegian, and a Seeker After Truth.

Argonaut Writer Captured By Mars Man

By Joe Corless

(Note: This article floated in the Argonaut office window ensconced in an old beer bottle.)

There really are Martians. I know, I'm one of the few people who've seen one. It all started about two days ago when I was sitting at my typewriter. The little man had to stand on the table to talk to me. (Martians are only two feet high, although some who are nearly two-and-one-half feet high play a game called zdsids, which when translated probably means basketball.)

I didn't notice the little guy until the paper in my typewriter started to burn. At first I thought it was just something I'd written which the Argonaut prints on asbestos and sells secretly. However, it was only a regular Argonaut joke. Sorrowfully I started to reach for the nearest glass of . . . water, when a green fist clenched itself under my nose.

Away With You

In slightly garbled English he said, "My name is Soil Hsub, and you are a (censored by McMullin) Argonaut reporter. We on Mars receive a mail subscription of the (censored by McMullin) and it is not) Argonaut. To improve the quality of this rag we shall individually train each staff member at the Mar's school of journalism under Gnuoyw. Since your (censored by McMullin) and it is, too) writing is the worst, we have decided to start with you.

"Oh, no," I stuttered to myself. "And the worst of it is that I probably can't get an academic excuse." Academic excuse: that's a legal way of cutting classes.

"All you have to do," went on the Martian while alternating the closing of each of his three eyes, "is be at the nearest beer tavern at midnight. By that time one of the students there will believe it when he sees a flying saucer."

And There I Was

Of course, I had no intention of obeying the walking dill pickle. However, one thing led to another, and I found myself seated in a machine shaped like the bottom of a bottle. Apparently this machine or space ship could go through walls and other things. One student thought that someone had devised a new method of getting out of paying one's bill.

I just happened to think. There isn't enough oxygen on Mars for breathing. Help. Let me outta here. When I had calmed down I decided to record by experiences for posterity and my loyal readers. I am writing this final literary work in blood. (After a copy is made this may be added to the blood drive). All I have to put the article in is an old beer bottle. Earth is already dwindling to a round ball in space so must hurry and throw out the bottle, hoping that somebody finds it.

I asked the Martian who would be next to come to Mars. He said some (censored), and I am not) character who edits the paper.

1953 Music Meet To Be In West

The National Association of Music Executives in State Universities will do the unusual in 1953 by holding its annual conference in the West, for the second consecutive year.

Professor Hall Macklin, head of the University of Idaho music department, announced today that the association had decided to meet next October for two days at Idaho, and for two days at the University of Montana in Missoula.

This year the conference was held at the University of Oregon, and normally the association members would not be expected to come West again for five years. There, are, however, special attractions on the Idaho and Montana campuses which are beckoning the music executives from throughout the nation — the new Music building which was recently completed at Idaho, and the new Music building now under construction at Montana. Both are considered outstanding models of modern facilities for music training.

Co-hosts and chairmen of the 1953 conference will be Professor Macklin and Dr. Luther Richman, dean of the school of music at the University of Montana.

Still Tickets!

Contrary to reports, tickets for "Sing Senator Sing" are still on sale both in the bookstore and at Hodgins Drug downtown. However, no student card will be honored at Hodgins Drug. Those tickets are for town people only.

Mrs. Wilkie Visits Campus Comedy

Mrs. Edward Wilkie, sister-in-law of the late presidential candidate, Wendell Wilkie, was a guest at the performance of "Sing, Senator, Sing," Wednesday night at the University.

The musical show is all about politics, but there is nothing political in the scheduled visit of Mrs. Wilkie, it was explained today by Professor Hall Macklin. Macklin, who composed the music for the show, said Mrs. Wilkie is just a friend of the Macklin family.

Wilkie himself was once on the verge of coming to the University. He was considering a teaching job.

"What's a Grecian urn, Daddy?" "I dunno; I guess it depends on what he does."

Student Of 1902 Wants Records

Ira Schuh of Elk River contacted Guy Wicks recently and stated that he wished to obtain certain records from the years he was in attendance at the University. Mr. Schuh, who is now in his eighties, first registered at the University in 1898 and it is believed that he graduated in 1902, although he is not certain that he did his college work in successive years.

Most of the school records for this period were destroyed when the Administration building burned and the only information that could be found was a copy of an old catalogue in which Mr. Schuh's name was listed and photostatic copies of two registration cards filled out in his freshman year. However, it is not certain that the cards were actually filled out by the man himself as he was not certain that the hand writing was his own.

In talking to Mr. Wicks, Mr. Schuh stated that he and G. P. Mix, father of Gale Mix, took part in the first boxing match held at the University.

Japanese Prints Now On Display

A collection of Japanese color prints by contemporary artists is now on exhibit at the University Art building. The works of 15 noted artists are represented, ranging from landscapes and birds to portraits of actors.

Of particular interest are prints by Hasui Kawase, who is considered the foremost living Japanese landscape artist.

All of the prints are produced from hand-engraved wood-blocks, a process which requires great skill and patience.

The prints will be on display until October 30, and will then be offered for sale to any interested members of the public.

Student Of 1902 Wants Records

Ira Schuh of Elk River contacted Guy Wicks recently and stated that he wished to obtain certain records from the years he was in attendance at the University. Mr. Schuh, who is now in his eighties, first registered at the University in 1898 and it is believed that he graduated in 1902, although he is not certain that he did his college work in successive years.

Most of the school records for this period were destroyed when the Administration building burned and the only information that could be found was a copy of an old catalogue in which Mr. Schuh's name was listed and photostatic copies of two registration cards filled out in his freshman year. However, it is not certain that the cards were actually filled out by the man himself as he was not certain that the hand writing was his own.

In talking to Mr. Wicks, Mr. Schuh stated that he and G. P. Mix, father of Gale Mix, took part in the first boxing match held at the University.

Japanese Prints Now On Display

A collection of Japanese color prints by contemporary artists is now on exhibit at the University Art building. The works of 15 noted artists are represented, ranging from landscapes and birds to portraits of actors.

Of particular interest are prints by Hasui Kawase, who is considered the foremost living Japanese landscape artist.

All of the prints are produced from hand-engraved wood-blocks, a process which requires great skill and patience.

The prints will be on display until October 30, and will then be offered for sale to any interested members of the public.

Idaho To Battle Santa Clara Tonight In San Francisco's Kezar Stadium

Buhler Is Doubtful Starter; Squad Is Rated As Underdog

Idaho footballers will trot onto Kezar stadium grass tonight at San Francisco as definite underdogs against the powerful Santa Clara eleven. It will be the first football game in history between the two schools.

Doubtful starter for the Vandals is kickoff return artist Jay Buhler. The sophomore from Hailey banged up his knee in practice Monday night and has been limping ever since.

The Broncos will be gunning for their first win of the season while Idaho will be fighting for its third straight victory.

In four games Santa Clara has lost to Stanford, 13-28; Kansas, 9-21; Tulane, 0-35, and California, 7-27.

Coach Mack Flenniken who scouted the Bronco's latest setback with mighty California last week, came away impressed with Santa Clara football ability.

"That will be the best team we've played up to now," said Flenniken. Coach Babe Curfman said "Their passing is good and the running is better. They operate from a regular T-formation but sometimes switch to a spread. It could give us trouble."

The Broncos will throw a small but potent backfield combination against Idaho. All four men are experienced seniors.

Three of the first-stringers behind the line are only 5 feet 7 inches tall and average 170 pounds apiece. They are: Jack Kaplan, left-half; Melvin Lewis, Negro right-half from Santa Monica; and Joe McCarger from Los Angeles.

Quarterbacking Coach Dick Callagher's squad will be Duane Louis, the biggest man in the quartet at 6 feet and 183 pounds. He was second-squad last season but has now come into his own.

Number one receiver for Louis is end Gern Nagler, called "Snag" by his teammates. Gern is being pushed for All-American honors by some reporters in the Bay region.

Nagler caught 27 passes as a junior last season with a team that won only three games, lost five and tied one.

He has an enormous pair of hands and is the second fastest man on the Bronco squad, running a shade behind Jack Kaplan.

With the exception of Buhler, the Vandals are almost in top condition mentally and physically. Bob Holder and Vernell Neese should be ready to go after two and one week layoffs, respectively.

If Buhler isn't ready to go Larry Morrison will probably take over the conversion duties. In practice Tuesday night at Recreation park, Larry was getting away some good ones.

Santa Clara is also hurting in the injury department. End George Montgomery, a Hawaiian pass catcher who teamed with Nagler at the flanks, broke his leg in the Tulane game.

Halfback Billy Gil is still ailing with pulled ligaments and Fullback Frannie Hare has had trouble with finger fractures.

Four weeks of "guess and by gosh" football predictions have left me with 68.58 per cent for 80 games. It isn't earth shaking but the big-time prognosticators aren't far ahead OR behind.

The crystal ball for this week is really cloudy. A lot of top games are as tricky as a pigskin on kick-off.

Take the Idaho-Santa Clara game. Good judgment says pick the Broncos since Jay Buhler is hurt, it's a home crowd and the Vandals' first night ball game this season.

Sentiment (never should follow it) and pride makes me pick Babe's boys by a hair in a knock-down, drag-out affair under the stars.

Bronco Stars Might Trouble Vandals

Duane Louis, Santa Clara starting quarterback, has been top passer for his team this season. The husky senior from Alameda, California, will be aiming for favorite receiver Gern Nagler. (Right) Ken Mirch, 6 foot, 200-pounder will be one of the defensive linemen out to stop the Vandal running machine.

National Statistics Place Heinrich As Offensive Star

Washington's ace passer, Don Heinrich, jumped back into the lead of the national race for total offense in football. The Husky senior leads in yards gained by virtue of his magic arm plus some good receivers.

Willis Sweet Hall Captures Intramural Football Trophy

Willis Sweet hall grabbed the campus intramural football championship when they downed Phi Delta Theta, Greek champs, Wednesday night on the Ad lawn.

It was the first intramural title decided this year. A crowd of over 50 people watched the Independent nine win the honors by the narrow margin of one penetration after the score was tied 6-6 at the end of regular playing time.

Rules say that in case of a tie game, the number of penetrations, (within opponent's 15 yard line) will decide the winner. If that is tied the number of first downs is the deciding factor.

Sweet scored first on a sleeper. Bob Sell, standout passer for the Independent champs all afternoon, tossed to Dick Johnston for the score. A pass for the extra point was good.

Late in the second half the Phi Deltis began to move. With two minutes remaining Bud Fisher flipped a pass toward the end zone. It was deflected into the air and came down into the arms of Jim Howard, Phi Delt.

The score then stood at 6-6 but the Greek squad was ahead. There were no penetrations but the Phi Deltis led three to one in first downs.

A series of passes and short runs by Willis Sweet hurriedly set up the winning play. Sell passed to Denny Goddard for the penetration.

The Phi Deltis stopped their opponents short of a touchdown and desperately tried to grab the championship from the fire. An interception by Willis Sweet in the final seconds ended all hopes.

Standout players for the winners were Bob Sell in the backfield and Mel Dyer on the line.

Bud Fisher and Walt Meukow helped the Phi Deltis on passing and running while Dwight Morrison caught numerous passes.

Playoffs between League 1 and League 2 for final Greek standings resulted in the following scores:

League 1	League 2
KS-6	SC-15
SN-6	DTD-0
PGD-30	DC-8
PKT-6	ATO-12
DSP-0	E&A-20
BTP-7	PDT-24
SAE-20	TKE-8

LCA and LDS were double forfeit. Tennis Quarterfinal matches in intramural tennis were as follows: Rushfeldt (DTD) downed Richardson (WSH); Rust (E&A) over Moss (DC); Smith (WSH) over Crawford (PDT); and Schultz (DTD) over Clemohs (PDT).

Basketballers Hold First Workouts Of 1952 Season

Basketball season at Idaho opened officially Monday evening when 20 players reported for the initial practice session.

Many of the stalwarts from last year's near-championship team have returned, together with several players up from the junior varsity and two transfers, C. W. Totten from BJC and "Foot" Fulton from Arizona.

Totten played for the Coeur d'Alene high school team in 1949 when they won the state championship.

The roster thus far includes Tom Flynn, Bob Falash, Bruce McIntosh, Lefty Melton, Dwight Morrison, Jim Price, Bill Mather, Hartley Kruger, Skip Domke and Walt Meukow.

Others are James Howard, Bill Mahlik, C. W. Totten, Jim Sather, Bud Nelson, Don Munson, Roger Lillibridge, Tom Keith, Dodel, and "Foot" Fulton.

This, along with the fact that the Vandals are picked as co-favorites with the Suskies to cop the Northern Division championship, should be ample reason for "Cheerful" Chuck Finley to wear a big smile as he watches the team run

Frosh Hoopmen To Start Drill Soon

Forty-one frosh showed up at a meeting held by Freshman Basketball Coach Art Smith last week.

Thus far 24 hopefuls have drawn their equipment in preparation for practices scheduled to open November 3. They include Jay Webb, Walter Petersen, John Booth, Keith Hall, and Bill Bausden.

Others are Jim Cothorn, Bill Burton, Allen Dalberg, Gale Mell, Maurice Benble, Frank Moore, Jere Burke, Dick Seubert, Harold Bell, and Jim Hanzel.

The first opportunity that Idaho fans will have to see the team in action will be December 6, when they will meet the Montana Grizzlies here in Moscow.

Needs, Dick Ensminger, Chuck Abenath, Marvin Cox, Walt Bratton and Chuck Hardy complete the list.

THESE HANDS ARE PRICELESS!
They protect the American way of life... our homes, our freedoms, our future.

These Hands, sensitively trained to respond acutely to the commands of an alert mind and courageous heart, are the hands of a United States Air Force Pilot.

The skillful touch of these hands attunes the blasting speed of modern jet aircraft to effective missions in discouraging any enemy. These hands are supremely capable of flying and fighting these machines with devastating effect.

These Hands belong to young, spirited American men (not supermen) who desire to live unmoored in a free America... who want to enjoy the same rights and opportunities open to all real American people.

These Hands belong to our sons—yours and mine. Youths who must decide today how they can share in defense of our nation and also better themselves. To insure greater chances of their success, today's college men should be encouraged to complete their education and then serve their country best by enlisting as Aviation Cadets in the U. S. Air Force.

Theirs is the choice of becoming either a Pilot or Aircraft Observer. After graduation as Second Lieutenants in the U. S. Air Force, they wear the silver wings of flying executives and begin earning nearly $5300 a year.

These Hands represent a man ready to qualify for this tremendous task because he is between the ages of 19 and 26½ years, unmarried, and in excellent physical condition, especially eyes, ears, heart and teeth. He possesses at least two years of college and the inherent urge to fly.

These Hands shape the destiny of America... the difference between our survival and oblivion. The U. S. Air Force needs the hands, the minds and the hearts of young Americans who desire to make the American way a greater way of peace and happiness for all.
