

SOPHOMORES PLAN HOLLY RALLY FOR TOMORROW

Vandaleers, Orchestra Will Give Candlelight Concert Sunday Night

A one-night performance of the Vandaleers' Christmas Candlelight concert will be presented in Memorial gym Sunday at 8 p. m. Members of the University symphony orchestra will make up a special orchestra as an accompanying group. Professor Carl Claus will conduct the orchestra which will also present special numbers on the program. Originally the Candlelight concert was given in the auditorium in two night performances to accommodate the crowds. The gymnasium, remodelled a year ago and now including a beautiful stage complete with curtains, backdrop and full lighting effects, has made this change possible," said Hall M. Macklin, head of the music department.

He said the department expects to accommodate even larger crowds on the one night performance.

Special Decorations
The mixed choral group of more than 60 voices will have the traditional candle-lighting procession as usual. Special decorations for the entire Memorial Gym are being handled by a special committee of Vandaleer members.

Glen R. Lockery will supervise the entire concert. Lockery is in his sixth year as director of the choral group, and during his tenure has developed the Vandaleers into one of the outstanding organizations in the country. Mr. Lockery is a former member of the Robert Shaw professional choral groups.

Carols From Tower
A brass ensemble made up of members of the University bands, in New York City. under the direction of Warren T. Bells, will play Christmas carols from the Gothic tower of the Memorial Gym preceding the concert. Bells, former assistant director of bands at the University of Michigan and director of bands at Wisconsin State college in Milwaukee, is director of band organization at Idaho.

Several outstanding soloists from the Vandaleers' membership will be featured in solo spots in the choral program.

Holly Week Rally Uses Hillbilly Theme Tomorrow

"Holly Hillbilly Hop and Holler" is the theme for the 1952 Holly week rally which will be held in the center ballroom. The rally will begin at 8:30 p.m.

and a full evening of fun has been arranged by the rally committee. High on the list of entertainment will be the voting for the queen of the Omega Upsilon Tau house. This lovely queen will be chosen from the beautiful girls comprising the Holly Hillbilly Harem.

The three lovelies, Miss Hillbilly Hogwash, Miss Hillbilly Hagheart and Miss Hillbilly Horseface, will display their special talents before the votes are cast. The queen and her attendants will sell kisses for a worthy charity.

Vic Trola and his record scratchers band will furnish music for the dancing at the rally. Good mixing dances will be featured so it will be possible to have a wide variety of partners.

Dorrell Waller has announced that a short song practice will be held in preparation for the serenade which will follow the rally. Mr. Forney, of the Idaho music department, has consented to lead the sophomores in their singing.

Each and every sophomore must attend the rally to make the program a success. One of the main purposes of the rally is to become better acquainted with the members of your class. So lets get with it. And girls, be sure to wear warm clothes.

The serenade will start at approximately 10:45 p.m. and will sing about the campus. Sophomore girls have late permission and will be served hot chocolate by the freshmen girls in their living groups when they return from the serenade.

The pre-Christmas serenade is a traditional yearly event.

Holly Queen Candidates To Model

The eleven Holly Queen candidates will participate in a style show sponsored jointly by the Holly Week publicity committee with the cooperation of David's store. The girls will model in David's front window Wednesday, December 10, at 4:00.

The models include Vonda Jackson, Pi Beta Phi; Velma Wilson, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Nan Nelson, Alpha Phi; Diane Richards, Tri Delta; Jane Wimer, Delta Gamma; Jean Sorenson, Alpha Chi Omega; Pat Miller, Gamma Phi Beta; Elinor Coleman, Kappa Alpha Theta; Karen Hinckley, Forney; Eunice Spalding, Hays; and Connie Brookins, Ridenbaugh.

The style show will show the clothes worn on the Idaho campus. Outfits include sports wear, ski togs, and formals.

Due to a slip-up in last week's Argonaut the style show was reported to be Friday afternoon instead of Wednesday.

Bus May Go 'Through' To South Idaho

Travel Committee attempts to charter a bus for students going to Boise for the holidays have been thwarted. However, Jim Mansfield, chairman of the committee, indicates a possible solution.

Bus company officials agree that if a bus is filled with ticket-bearing student travelers, the bus will be sent straight through to Boise, or Twin Falls as the case may be. The bus is scheduled to leave at 3 p.m. on December 19.

Round trip tickets to Boise will cost $18.13 and tickets to Twin Falls will cost $24.15. Both prices include federal tax.

The idea is to get tickets early and have the bus filled with people from Idaho who are going to the same destination. By this means, the bus driver will be able to skip the intermediate transfer points and make a straight run.

NROTC Exams

An NROTC entrance exam for college and high school students will be given Saturday at 8:30 a.m. The examination will be of Washington, Seattle 5, ing lecture room.

Registrar D. D. DuSault says that an unusually high number of students will be taking the examination, which is being given throughout the state.

Potlatch Forest's Award Granted To John Huber

John J. Huber, Jr., of Cataldo has won a $100 scholarship to the University of Idaho school of forestry offered by Potlatch Forests, Inc. The selection was announced today by Dwight S. Jeffers, dean of the school of forestry. The alternate is Ethel J. Millage of Winchester.

Four young people were also chosen to receive Potlatch scholarships to the 4-H short course at the University next June. They are Ronald Terrill, Dubois; Larry J. White, Filer; Beverly Farmer, Moscow; and Ethel Millage. The alternate for the short course is Bill Huber, brother of the principal winner.

John Huber has spent eight years in 4-H club work. He has completed 38 projects, including four divisions of forestry. For two years he has been a junior leader of his club. He is a freshman at the University of Idaho.

Both the Huber boys were 1952 state winners in 4-H work. John was first in entomology. Bill was first in beautification of home grounds.

Miss Millage is a junior at Winchester high school. She has completed 15 4-H projects with two years of forestry.

Regional Conference Held At WSC Last Weekend

The Northwest Regional NSA-sponsored Press Conference met Friday and Saturday at WSC. The meeting concerned the role of editors, student body presidents, station managers and business editors in relation to campus activities.

At a banquet Friday night Dean Cleveland, dean of Students at WSC spoke on student government and its relationship to the administration.

Dr. Eckert, traveling expert on group dynamics from California, gave a demonstration and talk on group dynamics. The meeting lapsed into small groups which talked on student apathy, using the techniques Dr. Eckert demonstrated.

The techniques used were role playing, interviewing, and panel discussions.

General Meetings
Saturday morning there was one general meeting of all groups. Discussed was the relationship of student communications to student government. The problems were: should national politics be given a place in student newspapers and radio programs and endorsement of student political candidates by student officers.

Gladys Lawther spoke at lunch Saturday about the World Student Service Fund, one of the organizations that is contributed to under the Campus Chest at the University.

Varied Topics
The student government group discussed the campus chest, orientation, student unions, corporations, and finances and budgets.

The press group discussed the responsibility of editors, apathy on the staff, campus political campaigns, and control and censorship of the publications.

The radio groups discussed power, paid advertisements, political advertising, and TV for colleges.

The meeting was concluded Saturday night with a talk by Dr. Steffens, Dean of the Idaho Graduate School who spoke on student government and student life.

Curtain Club Taps Two

Kim Kimerling was tapped for membership into the Curtain club after the Saturday night performance of "Blithe Spirit." Another new member, is Paul Matthews, who was tapped following the fall musical, "Sing Senator, Sing."

The Curtain club's annual Christmas party has been scheduled for Sunday. Mary Thompson, Curtain club president, says all members are invited to the affair which will be held at Miss Collette's home.

Thursday there will be an important meeting in the University Hut Green room at 5 p.m. All members are asked to attend. An informal party was held in the Green room by Curtain club for all interested non-members. Dramatic readings were given and coffee and cookies were served.

Cattle Raisers In Joint Conferences Here This Week

Conferences were held on the University campus yesterday among leaders in Idaho's beef cattle industry. The Idaho men were here for a one day conference and will be joined today by cattlemen from Montana, Oregon and Washington for an idea exchange session.

Staff members of the University of Idaho were present at yesterday's meetings in the Ag Science building. Problems of cattle raising were discussed and the conferences reviewed the University animal husbandry program. Inspection of the cattle herds was conducted and feeding studies at the various experiment stations were gone over.

The Idaho cattlemen will be joined today by representatives of the other three groups which make up the Northwestern section of the Cattle Raisers association. Meeting has been reported. The phone calls are scheduled to be held in the Moscow hotel. Topics due for discussion include disease control, association problems among the four states, and brand registration.

The Idaho cattlemen were represented by Seth Burstedt, Challis, president; Van Ness Wallentine, Paris, and Milford Vaught, Brunau, vice-presidents; Leon Deeks, Boise, secretary; R. J. Hawes, Twin Falls, and Joe Nettleton, Murphy, past presidents of the association, and Walter Schodde, Burley, chairman of the bull sale committee.

Debate Tourney Is Postponed

It was announced last Friday, after the Argonaut had gone to press, that the men's triangular debate tournament to have been held Saturday, December 6, had been canceled.

Four Idaho teams would have participated in this event. These included, Herbert Pendergast, Fred Williams, Andrew Field, Fred Kopke, James Costley, Ken Kornker, James Kruger and, Lee Anderson.

Plans are currently being made to set a new date for the tournament.

Board of Regents Accepts Research Grant for Cancer

A $6,284 grant from the National Cancer Institute, a division of the U.S. Public Health Service, for cancer research at the University of Idaho has been formally accepted by the board of regents of the institution, President J. E. Buchanan announced today.

Under this grant, Dr. Sidney M. Beck of the department of bacteriology will study the mechanism of purine metabolism in special purine-decomposing bacteria.

Purines are important constituents of all living cells. They are involved in systems which liberate energy in the cell, systems which carry the genetic mechanism of the cell, and also in some excretory systems.

"This work is a study in normal metabolism," explains Dr. V. A. Cherrington, head of the department. "In many problems dealing with living systems, the knowledge of normal cell function is not well enough known for research workers to fully understand abnormal growth and function."

"Since cancer is an abnormal cell development, research in problems dealing with cancer is often delayed until the normal function of the cell is more fully understood."

This grant, President Buchanan indicated, is for the first phase of a study expected to require several years. It is the second major grant for cancer research at the University of Idaho.

Four years ago the Department of Agricultural Chemistry received a grant of $18,000 from the Idaho division of the American Cancer Society for special cancer research. This study involved the role of amino acids in cancer developments.

Instructors Course Given in First Aid

Memorial Gym will be the scene of a first aid instructor's course which will be taught December 9, 11, 15, and 17, in room 109. The sessions will be instructed from 7 to 10 p.m.

Persons having a standard Red Cross card will qualify to take this course to receive their instructor card in first aid.

Scheduled for a mock crowning Wednesday night at the Holly Rally are these three lovelies who comprise the Holly Hillbilly Harem. The cutie in the black sweater is Miss Hillbilly Hogwash, she of the flowing tresses is known as Miss Hillbilly Horseface, and the balding lassie with the cigar is identified as Miss Hillbilly Hogheart. DEAR JASON

Dear Jason:
Being a feller just in from the country I'm naturally not too well up on the proper manner of approach—when it comes to getting a date with the "attractive coeds" you mentioned in your column last Tuesday.

After carefully studying said column, my courage was at a new high. Nothing to it, I said to myself—plenty of girls sitting around wasting lipstick on the gby on the cover of the latest True Confession, etc., wishing this was the good ol' days when there was a waiting line every night and they could send Dear Jason saddle home anytime and still get a few laughs. I could visualize some gorgeous hunk of plunder sitting by a phone covered with oobwahs with the rest of her sorority sisters while away the evening playing Russian Roulette while the male members of the Campus sat around being like you said in your column—"Fed Up."

Yes sir Jason you brought me hope, a new light was lit, my ego which had groveled in the dust picked itself up. I set out with my date book to conquer the world, and secure a date for the "Willis Sweet Cabaret."

My first afternoon out started with a bang. I managed to capture a madly beautiful young thing and after dining her on donuts and plying her with Pepsi Cola I approached her on the subject of going to the Cabaret.

"Oh well," I said to myself as I walked home, "it was just an accident that she already has two dates Saturday night (one until 10:00 and one after) she's an exception to what Jason was talking about. She did go for a Coke with me, that proves you don't have to fall for and handsome, own a yacht or use Chlorophyll toothpaste to get a date."

That night after fortifying myself with one of those delicious home cooked meals served only at Willis Sweet, I got on the phone (soot of hard to do since it hangs on the wall) and decided to give some sweet young thing a break.

One hour and thirty minutes and 11 phone calls later I slowly got off the phone and sat down in the hall and wept. You had let me down Jason, down lower than the dark depths of lower B floor.

After sitting in my puddle of tears nearly an hour I made up my mind not to go down to defeat. With a copy of your column clutched tightly in my tear stained fist, I called across the state line to the Cow College where pastures were sure to be greener. Shirley, Polly and Ann, the only souls between me and ruin were also like the last 11 calls I had made—"I'm going steady, I've got a date, I'm glad to only get a date, I'm married, got two income tax deductions, I've got BO!"

I hung up the phone and slowly stole away. My Hooper rating had reached an all time low, to be deceived by a true friend such as you, Jason, and then to be given the shaft 14 times was more than I could take. I now believed the old adage that some young girls grow into lovely women and others become sorority sisters.

I'm well now Jason, and my four year hitch in the Foreign Legion doesn't start until next month, so please, before I sail would you give me your word of honor that before you write another column on the subject of women, you will take one apart and see what makes her tick, find out what the situation is, and let the fellers do the prancing on taking them out (they seem to be doing a good job). It isn't that we don't appreciate your efforts, we just hate to be disillusioned by you, our last friend.

If you know any other fellow who was turned down at least 12 times, would you ask him to write so, we could get together. Maybe we could break out a bottle of Air Wick and go on a binge. Well I must get back to my Stamp collection.

Theater-Goers See English Comedy

Last Friday night's ASUI production of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" afforded local theatre-goers the opportunity to view some scintillating English comedy. While Friday's presentation was not exactly scintillating, it was an enjoyable presentation, generally.

The entire first scene, taking place in the sumptuous living room of Charles Condomine (Gary Leaverton), was almost as dead as the body of Condomine's deceased wife Elvira (Leah Jensen). Timing, pick-up on cues, and general stage business was a bit fumbling.

J Then, surprisingly, something happened. What it was, this corner has no idea. But, through some device or another, the second scene started the play rolling. From then until the end, except for a few minor spots, it moved along comparative ease and grace.

Generally, the acting was of high calibre. Sharon Henderson, as usual, turned in one of her sterling performances. Her inflections were for the most part excellent. However, her voice tended to rise to an hysterical level in many of the "fight scenes," a proclivity to be guarded against because it spoils her voice projection to the audience. Miss Henderson easily carried the weight of the show, picking the movement up whenever it tended to drag and adding polish and brilliance with her very fine stage mannerisms.

Leaverton Can Improve
The male lead, Gary Leaverton, is a newcomer to the Idaho stage. For a newcomer he did surprisingly well. This writer was particularly impressed with his intonations and vocal inflections, both of which were of outstanding quality. Mr. Leaverton must endeavor to correct his highly unpleasant posture and hand gestures, however. We had the feeling that his performance would have been of almost professional calibre if he just hadn't had to watch him. It is to be realized, though, that a new performer is often highly nervous in his first major role, and we feel certain that such was the cause of Mr. Leaverton's difficulty.

Another newcomer, Shirley Lent, played the part of Madame Arcati, the bumbling medium, with a comic savoir-faire and hilarity that is seldom seen—anywhere. True, she may have tended to pound lines in place, but the generally high calibre of her performance easily overshadowed it. This corner hopes to see more of Miss Lent in future comic roles. In short, she was just plain side-splitting.

Leah Jensen, in the role of Elvira, the "blithe spirit," wasn't quite blithe enough for her part. Her interpretation of Elvira wasn't as frivolous as could have been expected. However, she played a creditable role, was confident and charming throughout, and acted with commendable grace and ease.

Shocked and Innocent
Mary Lou LeFors, taking the part of the harried domestic, played with just the right amount of shocked innocence in the denouement. From the quality of her portrayal, it is hoped that she will have a larger part in her next, and second, role.

Completing the cast were Rosemary Rowell and Stowell Johnstone as Dr. and Mrs. Bradman. Miss Rowell made a fine, demure, English gentlewoman, while Johnstone was a good picture of the smug, rather pompous medico.

Stage Set Outstanding
Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the ASUI production of "Blithe Spirit" was the excellent stage setting. The local set was easily as fine and pleasing to the eye as any constructed for a Broadway presentation, and a full measure of credit goes to technical director Edmund Chavez and to construction crew head Paul Matthews.

Director Jean Collette gave Idaho audiences one of the most laughable plays in years this past weekend. It was also one of the more pleasing shows. Thank you, for a most enjoyable evening.

Ag Engineering Opportunities Are At All-Time High

"Never have I seen so many agricultural engineering jobs going begging," declares J. W. Martin, head of the Department of Agricultural Engineering at the University of Idaho, citing reports on the national shortage of trained engineers.

"Opportunities for students in this field are far greater now than at any time during my 20 years in the profession."

Reports from the American Society of Agricultural Engineers indicate that the shortage of agricultural engineers is particularly acute in the western states.

"Many of the farm machinery companies have indicated a desire to take agricultural engineering students for summer employment," Martin continues. "They are willing to give them vacation-time experience in the hopes of securing their services upon graduation. Many large companies that have not been employing agricultural engineering graduates in the past now find they must add this type of engineer to their staff."

Martin believes that the acute shortage of agricultural engineers will continue for at least another five years. Tremendous mechanization in all phases of agricultural production in the interest of lower-cost production makes the role of the agricultural engineer a permanent one.

Seven Accidents Listed in November

Dancers Schedule Annual Pre-Christmas Program

Annual Christmas program of the Orchestras modern dance honorary will be presented in the Women's gymnasium Thursday at 7:30 p. m. No admission will be charged and late permission has been granted for freshman women.

The theme of the show, "I Remember Christmas," is built around the thoughts of an old man and how he views Christmas today in comparison with his conception in young years. As his dream progresses he becomes disillusioned and lonesome for the good old Christmas he used to know. He finally finds peace just when he is near to concluding that the modern Christmas is devoid of the true Christmas spirit.

Ten dances will be presented during the show.

Eleven students took the Selective Service deferment exam last Thursday morning at the Forestry building.

They were Melvin Dyer, William Graue, Eugene Hamblin, Charles Holt, Dudley Homer, Clyde Wilson, Paul Littenecker, William Mahlik, Richard Nelson, Dean Pearson, and Ronald Robbins.

Registrar D. D. DuSault conducted the test for the Educational Testing Service.

STUDENTS ABROAD: ENGLAND
Cambridge university is considering a report from the Senate Council which recommends admitting more women students. Last year 609 women attended the university, which gave the men a 10 to one ratio over the women.

At Oxford the proportion is six to one. Both schools are hampered by lack of accommodations for the girls.

Campus Brown-Out Asked

Candescent and fluorescent illumination constitutes the predominant utilization of electrical energy on the campus of the University of Idaho.

This realization is significant in view of the fact that the federal Defense Electric Power administration has requested conservation of the energy during the current acute areal insufficiency.

In compliance with the entreaty of the Operations Council has decided to forego the aesthetic splendor of electrical illumination with respect to Yuletide ornamentation this year. The decision is applicable to the evergreens adorned in previous years and to signs which have previously been in holiday evidence atop domiciles upon the campus.

These contributory measures should be supplemented by individual concern for the conservation of electrical energy. Instructors have been asked to extinguish lights when leaving classrooms or laboratories. Students may do their portion via concern for unnecessary illumination in their residences.

Marilyn Monroe's Voice Chills Him

(We wouldn't want to keep anything from you and this Jerry Belcher (Spartan Daily) seems all right—Ed.)
I suppose it's about time to catch up with the world of events. For as colleagues we should keep abreast of things.

For instance there is Miss Marilyn Monroe and there is an English gentleman who advocates beatings for teen-age girls to keep them in line.

Miss Monroe is an interesting phenomenon and deserving of serious study because it appears that the American Male has gone completely off his rocker for her. Now I, too, once thought highly of Miss Monroe.

I thought she was a most fetching damsel, not the type I would care to bring home to mother, but interesting, very interesting. That was before I saw Miss Monroe in action. In a motion picture, that is.

The United Press, catering to the current crop of Monrophiles, is running a series of articles on "The Life and Loves of Marilyn Monroe." The second in the series tells how Miss Monroe's voice got that way.

Now her voice is exactly what disappoints me. That and her toes. Her toes don't seem to do a thing for me. But then no one has gone mad with passion for my pedal digits either.

Just to get back to the voice, though, Miss Monroe's acting ability is just keen as long as she merely stands about trying to throw her left hip out of joint. She drives strong men to clawing up the upholstery and weak men into swoons. Then she opens her mouth.

According to the U.P., Miss Monroe has a "bedroom voice," which is a result of being "uninhibited and free inside." Authority for U.P.'s statement is Miss Natasha Lytess, a voice coach.

Well, I suppose Miss Lytess knows more about that sort of thing than I do. But Miss Lytess is a woman and I am a man. And Miss Monroe's voice leaves me cold.

Dr. Kraus Will Be Committeeman

New western representative on the experiment station committee of nine for the Research and Marketing Act of 1946 is Dr. J. E. Kraus, associate director of the University of Idaho, agricultural experiment station.

This committee consists of two experiment station representatives from each of the four regions and one official from the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Its function is to administer and make recommendations for use of regional funds allocated to the states for cooperative research.

On this committee, Dr. Kraus replaces Albert Curry of the New Mexico station. Other western representatives is Director Paul Sharp of the California station.

Dr. Bowers Speaks On Anthropology

Dr. Alfred W. Bowers, assistant professor of anthropology and sociology, left Moscow Wednesday to attend the conference of the western division of the American Anthropological association in Palo Alto, Calif.

Dr. Bowers, Idaho's anthropologist, appears twice on the program. First, as an after dinner speaker, he will present an illustrated lecture on "The Culture of an Indian Group of Interior Alaska."

Dr. Alfred D. Kroeber, professor emeritus of the University of California, will speak on that subject also.

Dr. Bowers will show movies he took during the summer while in central Alaska engaged in field research. Mrs. Gladys Lawther Talks To Campus Chest Group

Mrs. Gladys Lawther, regional secretary of the World Student Service Fund, spoke Monday evening to Campus Chest committee members.

The purpose of WSSF, she explained, is to support all efforts of students and professors to further education in all parts of the world.

WSSF seeks to realize this objective through better understanding without prejudice through the extension of aid from those countries who can give help to those who need the allocations, and also through the sharing of knowledge of problems in education in the different countries, she pointed out.

Idaho Donates
Last year Idaho gave $451.30 of the total contribution from the Northwest which was $8,998.74. This was 15 per cent of the total Campus Chest fund.

Mrs. Lawther, whose home office is in Portland, said that the emphasis in most drives is placed on getting allocations for local needs. She said that WSSF should receive more emphasis because it is a need that is close to all of us who are interested in education.

"What happens in Korea happens to us," she said.

Campus Chest contributions last year went to the North Idaho Children's home in Lewiston, the National Society for Children's home at Boise, Religious Emphasis week, Cancer, Polio, the Emergency fund, and WSSF.

Movie Scheduled
Ruth Dimond, chairman of the Campus Chest drive, said there will be a movie on WSSF shown prior to the Campus Chest drive. The purpose of the movie is to explain the way WSSF aids education in those countries which need the funds.

A series of stories on all Campus Chest beneficiaries will appear in the Argonaut before the drive, which is from March 9 to 13.

Christmas Theme For Many Parties; Cabaret And Bowery Dances Held

Christmas is really arriving in a hurry this year. Almost all the living groups have been having social functions in connection with the Yuletide season. These include dances, parties, and firesides.

Idaho Club
The Idaho club held its annual winter dance last Friday evening. The theme was Christmas with decorations of Christmas trees, pine boughs and holly. Music was by Wayne Hall of WSC.

The patrons and patronesses were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Young, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Glasscock and Mr. and Mrs. Eric Kirkland. Forney Hall

Dinner guests for the week included Kenny Wright, Bob Campbell, and Jerry Smith. Weekend guests were Cecilia Montague, Wanda Wolfram, Evelyn Behler, Ruby Mayo, Clarice Lavin and Arlene Jaegen.

Those celebrating birthdays during the week were Blanche Pellegrini, Ruth Brede, Margaret Tear and Dorothy Felt.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Due to unseen difficulties it was found the SAE's annual Bowery at Steve's Amusement Emporium would be unable to be held on December 13 as planned. Big Ed and Steve decided at the last minute to hold it the 6th. Reports say that the dance was a great success and even the chaperones had a good time.

Kappa Alpha Theta
A pre-Christmas fireside was held at the Theta house Sunday evening. Dancing, a truth or consequences program, and a piano duet by Ann Pool and Darlene Duff provided the evenings entertainment. As refreshments, popcorn balls and coffee were served.

The house is all dressed up for the Christmas holiday with a trimmed tree and mantelpiece, done by the pledge class.

Special dinner guest was Mrs. H. F. Garrett.

Plans are underway for a dinner fireside Sunday with the Delta Chi.

Thursday, December 18, is the date set for the Theta formal Christmas banquet. Florence Garrett and Rosella Kelly are in charge of the food. A pajama fireside will be held that night and Santa Claus is scheduled to arrive for the festivities.

Delta Delta Delta
The annual Christmas party for the children of the alumnae was held last Saturday under the direction of Barbara Basler. The skit depicting Rudolph the red-nosed reindeer was sponsored by the pledge class.

Thursday is the date set aside for the Dean's dinner, which is an annual house social affair.

Kathryn Davis was a dinner guest Sunday. This coming Wednesday's exchange will be with Delta Sigma Phi.

Pi Beta Phi
The annual Christmas Wassail hour, December 7, was the major event of the week at the chapter house. Many guests were present to share a beginning to the festivities of the campus Yuletide spirit.

A large decorated tree added to the atmosphere of the time.

Joan Redford is recuperating in the Caldwell hospital from head injuries received in a car accident on the return from Thanksgiving vacation. Bobby Pratt was a house guest this weekend.

Kappa Kappa Gamma
Mr. and Mrs. Winner, LaRae Wood, David Banks and Mary Patano were dinner guests last week. The winners will be leaving for Afghanistan soon and their daughters, Mary Kay and Christine, plan to join them there sometime next summer.

The annual Christmas dinner exchange is scheduled for this coming Wednesday. Sally DuSault and Susan Banks are co-chairmen of the entertainment committee.

Mrs. Myrtle Holmes, housemother, was honored at a birthday dinner last Tuesday night.

Willis Sweet Hall
Over 150 couples packed Willis Sweet's annual Cabaret Saturday night. The "Bal de la Rue" (street dance) theme was carried out by simulated brick and stone walls with awnings overhanging sidewalk tables.

Each candlelit table featured cheese and a loaf of French bread. Refreshments were served by white-clad "Garcons."

A striking feature of the decorations was a three-dimensional mural centered by a 5 foot model of the Eiffel tower. A luminescent moon glowed behind the tower. Winking stars in a blue artificial sky, window boxes and a "French Pias" added to the effect.

Gardenia corsages were presented to each girl as she entered. Sponsors for the dance were Dr. and Mrs. Darwin Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Smith, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard R. Bennett. Music was provided by Dick

University Water Department Aware Of Water Situation

If you happen to have noticed that the water in your dorm looks like the orangeade served at the Bucket, you have the assurances of the University water department that they are not unaware of the situation.

According to George Gagon, University engineer, the water department is doing all that it can to minimize the discoloration in the water. However, the University has certain problems which they haven't been completely able to overcome.

Ground Iron
It seems that the ground water in this area is rich in iron content. If the excessive iron isn't removed or kept in solution it will sometimes oxidize with the air and turn red.

Another factor resulting in discolored water is the presence of a bacteria which, although harmless to humans, lives on the iron in the water. When the bacteria dies it leaves a black deposit.

To combat this double barreled trouble the water department chlorinates the water to kill most of the bacteria.

"I" Tank Is Cause
According to Gagon, the discoloration may be a little worse this year because of the disruption caused during the installation of the new "I" tank. Some of the mains had the water running through them in different directions at various times. This stirred up the iron which had settled out of the water.

The University flushes out its mains twice each month to remove such accumulation. In the process, the water system is stirred up.

A Letter From Afar

Nov. 27, 1952
Mr. J. E. Buchanan
President, University of Idaho
Dear Mr. Buchanan:

It is a somewhat "historic" moment in which I am writing this letter to you. For it was only a few minutes ago that I took a seat in an auditorium of the University of Regensburg.

Naturally, my thoughts are wandering back to the time when I was sitting in an instruction room at the University of Idaho for the first time to start my academic education. And it is with pleasure that I look back to this time, for I have certainly received a good education there. Now I shall continue in my home town the studies I had the privilege to start at your institution.

Therefore, it seems to be fit at this moment to thank you, as the president of the university, and the entire faculty of the University of Idaho, for the admission to your institution and the fruitful studies I was allowed to carry on while attending it.

Very truly yours,
Hubert Bucher,
Regensburg, Germany

Top Hoop Movies Feature In Free Basketball Clinic

Basketball fans are in for a treat tonight! A special hoop clinic, free to the public, is on tap at Memorial gym starting at 8 o'clock.

Chuck Taylor, special representative for the Converse Rubber Company and former pro cage star, will be featured in a demonstration of expert ball-handling, shooting, dribbling and passing.

In addition sound movies of last year's championship basketball games will be shown. Vandal varsity players will assist in showing the crowd fundamentals of the game.

Famous Man Taylor's clinics, which have been attended annually by more than 200,000 persons, are regarded as among the most informative in the country.

Each year he makes hundreds of appearances all over the United States, Hawaii, Canada and Mexico. His clinic in this area is being sponsored by the Outdoor Shop of Moscow.

Invitations have been extended to all high school and college coaches and players in this section to attend the clinic and a good turnout is anticipated.

Feature Movies Tonight's special feature movies include the La Salle-Dayton title game of the National Invitational meet, the battle between Kansas and Southwest Missouri State for NAIB honors and the pro Minneapolis Lakers fighting the N. Y. Knickerbockers for the National Basketball Association title, as well as the East-West NBA classic.

The film also includes the Kansas U. quintet engaging the Peoria Caterpillars in the Olympic try-outs and the famous Harlem Globe Trotters going against the College All-Stars.

All of tonight's films were assembled under the personal direction of Mr. Taylor. Many of the college All-Americans shown in these pictures made the Converse All-American Basketball Selections, the famous poll supervised and conducted by Chuck for the past 20 years.

Taylor has originated many firsts in the field of basketball play and clinic demonstrations. He was the first to use the one-handed pass and the first to perfect the art of one-handed shooting.

Coast Conference Meeting Opened; Full Agenda Told

Graduate Manager Gale Mix, Dean Kerr and football coach Babe Curfman, are Idaho's representatives at the semi-annual meeting of the Pacific Coast Conference which opened yesterday at Pasadena, California.

In attendance at the Huntington Hotel are faculty athletic representatives, directors of athletics and football coaches of the nine Conference schools.

Dean Orlando John Hollis of Oregon is the conference president who is presiding at the sessions, virtually all closed-door meetings.

Agenda Revealed Commissioner Victor O. Schmidt reveals the agenda. First to be discussed is a report from the athletic directors on football schedules for 1952 through 1955 on a new formula tentatively adopted at the Spring 1952 Conference meeting.

Under this plan, each California team would play a minimum of six Conference games and would travel to the Northwest each year in addition to the home-and-home agreement with the University of Washington.

California schools would not have to play Idaho and wouldn't be asked to travel to both Washington and Washington State in any one year.

The athletic directors were asked to draw preliminary schedules under this formula for a four-year period so the Conference could view its over-all effect.

Another agenda item proposes a Conference rule requiring students to maintain a C-average in their studies to be eligible for intercollegiate athletics.

More Items Other items: Report of a committee studying possibilities of a Conference-wide basketball schedule.

Reports of a committee studying recruiting problems and allied matters.

Report of a committee studying activities of organized alumni groups.

Report of the Conference Rose Bowl Committee.

Removal of the present rule against alumni transporting prospective athletes to the campus.

Discussion of grants-in-aid as to the number allowed and the amount of assistance. Under Conference rule, grants-in-aid are for tuition and fees only, are based upon student's need and are not conditioned upon athletic participation.

Discussion of limitations on football films on television. During 1952, delayed TV films could not be shown on Fridays, Saturdays or Sundays.

Formula for determining divisional representatives for Conference basketball and baseball playoffs in case of divisional ties. Neutral site for Conference basketball playoffs. Discussion of summer basketball.

Study of length of basketball schedules.

Proposal that the Conference Athletic Code not apply to intercollegiate boxing.

Montana Is Spanked 70 to 50

Flynn Stars On Maplecourt; Weekend Series Faces Squad

Two up and two down is the scratching on the Vandal varsity basketball record after "Cheerful" Chuck's crew sank the visiting Montana Grizzlies 70-50 Saturday at Memorial gym.

There's no rest in the Idaho camp, however, as Finley pushed his charges through a tough workout again last night. Looking ahead to this weekend the Vandals are putting on the pressure in preparation for a brace of games with the Whitman College Missionaries and the Gonzaga Bulldogs.

Gonzaga and Whitman Coach Bob Burgess has eight lettermen and a junior college transfer to bolster his Missionary hopes. The Vandals host the Walla Walla quintet Friday evening.

Saturday Gonzaga Coach Hank Anderson will bring his hoopers down from Spokane with intentions of upsetting the Silver and Gold.

Comparison between Idaho's two opponents can soon be drawn. Whitman and Gonzaga battle in an Inland Empire game at Spokane tomorrow night. The Zags lost last weekend to WSC 69-64 in a nip-and-tuck affair at Pullman.

Silvertips Stopped Against Coach G. P. Dahlberg's Silvertips the Vandals showed fans a net-like defense that virtually smothered the Missoula club's fast break. At the same time the Vandals displayed an offensive attack that showed streaks of mid-season form.

"Spider Legs" Tom Flynn had the rooters goggle-eyed with his blanket defense of Montana's ace scorer, Chuck Davis. At WSC Davis had swished 28 counters but Flynn held him to a single free throw for the night.

Davis, however, was hampered by an infected toe and the officials. He labored under the handicap of three personal fouls for most of the first two periods. He finally left with five personals early in the second half. The infected toe was so bad after the game that Davis made a trip to the infirmary.

Lead Mounts After a free throw by Flynn, the Vandals took the lead 9-8 and Montana never caught up. A five point margin at the first quarter was built into a 35-23 spread at half-time.

Coach Chuck Finley used the same starting lineup of Morrison, Mather, Kruger, McIntosh and Flynn which he used in his opening game of the season.

After that he substituted freely. Eleven men saw action and all but two netted at least one point.

Varied Offense Idaho's attack was mid-way between a control and fast break type of ball. When the occasion presented itself the Vandals were speeding down the court for a three-on-two score. At other moments they methodically set up the plays.

Center Dwight Morrison potted 15 points on six baskets and three free throws. Dale Johnson was high for Montana with 11.

Vandal Hoop Babes Start Scrimmage

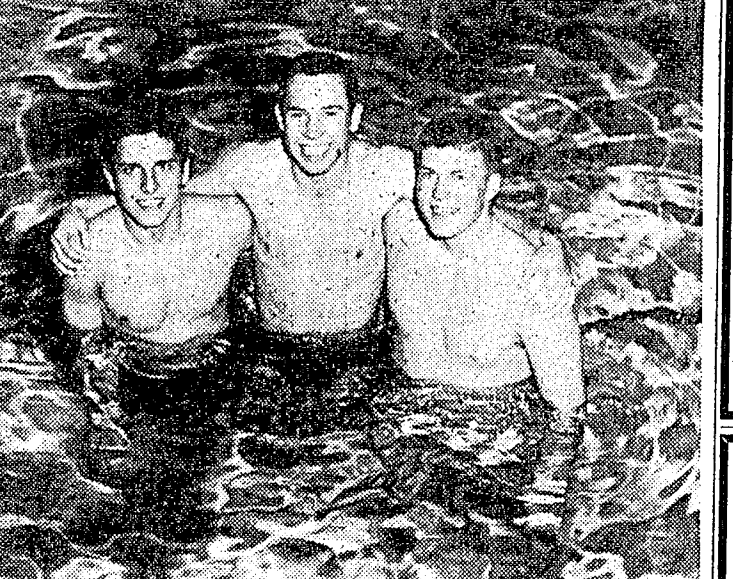

The freshman basketball team has started scrimmaging in preparation for its first game this week. Coach Art Smith will unveil his future Vandal prospects in a preliminary game this Friday against the Moscow Merchants, a local outlaw team. This game will precede the varsity game against Whitman college and will get underway at 6:30.

The squad is one of the fastest and most enthusiastic groups ever turned out here and even in their practices they have shown a great will to win. Idaho fans will be in for some fine ball games once these boys get under way.

To date only seven games have been lined up for the freshmen. Of these, four are scheduled with the Washington State frosh which should tend to throw a little light on the futures of the schools' varsity ball games.

The Cougar Babes apparently have a powerful club this season.

'Mural Medley Relay Champs

A victory smile is flashed by the Phi Delt medley relay team after they set a new intramural record of 1:32.5. Members of the winning trio are Jim Stanton, Rich Bradbury and Bill Bennett. The Phi Delt won the intramural swimming crown earlier in the season.

Walker Bros. Take Leave; Visit Idaho

Recent visitors to the Idaho campus were former Vandal boxing greats Len and Norm Walker. The slugging brother combination is on leave from the army and last weekend attended the Idaho-Montana basketball game.

The Walker brothers of Wallace left Idaho for the service after boxing for four years under Frank Young.

Len was two-time national and Pacific coast boxing champ while Norm gained the PCC crown his senior year.
