

New Dormitory Named For Former Regent

The new women's cooperative dormitory, now nearing completion on the University of Idaho campus, will be named the Ethel Steel house in honor of the former regent, Mrs. Ethel K. Steel of Parma, it was announced today by President J. E. Buchanan.

We've talked to any number of you who have complained at one time or another that there was "nothing to do here." Well, we agree that pacing sedately down to the show with the frost gnawing at your nose is not the best way to spend an evening with or without a date.

We also realize that for some, the burden of not being 20 is almost too much to bear, especially with the advent of television. They say that even the "dipper" loses some of its glamor with the passing of time. Something on the order of familiarity and contempt going hand in hand.

Things have been done to alleviate this situation and they're being done again this evening. Our all-campus dance band is going to provide the music for the second all-campus dinner and dance.

This time it will be part of a night set aside to honor a football team that has been one of Idaho's best. Incidentally, the Idaho-U of Washington basketball game will be broadcast over the SUB intercom system.

Our best advice for those who plan to tear themselves away from their books tonight only to spend the evening at the wailing wall is to wander up to the SUB ballroom. We haven't said so before but we think they play a pretty fine brand of dance music.

The value of the numerous organizations on the Idaho campus is a subject that has been debated from one end of the campus to the other. Come to think of it, we do have just about everything from the Royal Order of the Jaegered Splinter to the Movement for Shorter Yo-Yo strings.

Our special appreciation though goes out to an organization that is taken as much for granted as next semester's eight o'clocks. We had a request from the Associated Collegiate Press to take a campus poll. We mentioned that it might be a fine gesture if the Spurs would take care of it for us. They did.

We aren't implying that only those who help us personally are worth while, but the Spurs and HCs are two groups that really keep things moving when the campus is hosting something or other.

One gang on the campus that has reason to use their crying towel as well as any they can borrow is the one that's staffing KUOI.

They have the latest in news, (courtesy of their teletype), all the modern recordings, a capable staff, and a dearth of listeners. At least Paul Revere had his horse for an audience.

You'll hear more about this later. That's a promise.

We've had several (well, two or three) written requests from servicemen in Korea asking for letters from Idaho coeds. As a matter of fact we've printed them in the letters to the editor column. Give them a break. That could even work both ways.

Kellogg Mining Company Begins Scholarship Fund

Establishing the first permanent scholarship endowment fund exclusively for the school of mines at the University of Idaho, the Sunshine Mining company of Kellogg has given the University a new gift of $3,500, President J. E. Buchanan announced today. The fund is to be a memorial in honor of the late A. E. Larson, former president of the mining firm.

In 1938 the Sunshine Mining company originally gave to the University $1,500 in honor of Mr. Larson as a loan fund for senior mining students. Loans were made throughout the years from this fund, and always paid back, leaving the fund intact plus $44 gained in interest. This fund of $1,544 is now to be incorporated in the new scholarship fund, making its total $5,044.

The fund will be invested, and annual income will be utilized to provide scholarships for students in the school of mines.

"The Sunshine mining company gift is to be commended as direct aid by industry to encourage and assist students who can become assets to the industry," said President Buchanan. "Currently, the mining industry has a shortage of thousands of university and college trained men. Aid to students is a constructive means of bringing more trained men to the Serving three terms as a regent, Mrs. Steel was on the board from 1933 to 1946. During the depression years, she was active in promoting cooperative dormitories at the University, in which students share the work to cut down living costs.

The University of Idaho was a pioneer in this collegiate movement for both men and women, and Mrs. Steel was one of its leading advocates. She now operates with her son, John, the family fruit farm at Parma, and has maintained an active interest in the University through cooperation with its Parma experimental farm.

The new dormitory, financed by a bond issue to be paid off from revenue, will provide living quarters for 58 women students. A four-story structure, the building incorporates such modern devices as an automatic sprinkler system in case of fire.

When occupied, the Ethel Steel house will replace Ridenbaugh hall as a dormitory for women. Erected in 1902, Ridenbaugh hall was also named after a regent, Mary E. Ridenbaugh, who served from 1901 to 1907. One of the oldest buildings on the campus, the hall will continue to serve by providing music practice rooms.

TV Problem Is Studied

Methods for installation of master antennas for television users in University of Idaho housing—dormitories, villages and South Hill homes—are being studied by University engineers, President J. E. Buchanan announced today.

"Master antennas are said to result in better television service and since it would keep University housing from being cluttered with many types, it is requested that staff members and students do not put up antennas on University buildings until the problem is studied," President Buchanan said.

However, President Buchanan added, persons in South Hill homes and the villages might use temporary "in-the-yard" antenna installations until master antennas could be erected. Persons wishing to put up such installations should see Warner Cornish, director of family housing, for clearance and advice.

Song Fest Lists Being Prepared

The song list for the May Day song fest is now being made up. If any song leaders have special preferences, they are asked to contact Dick Coulter, Sigma Nu, or a member of Phi Mu Alpha or Sinfonia, or to leave the necessary data with the secretary in the Music building.

A copy of the song must be included with its price and where it may be obtained. If the information is left with the secretary at the Music building, the name of the song leader and his house must accompany the music. Only under these conditions will suggestions for songs be accepted.

Suggestions will be accepted until the beginning of the second semester, February 4.

Escape Or Education?

Monday morning the faculty and student body will have a rare opportunity to share in the knowledge of an expert in international relations of the Western hemisphere. Unfortunately some 2000 of these so-called seekers after education will probably not be in attendance.

The gentleman featured Monday, Carlos Fallon, will appear in the University auditorium at 11 a.m. His remarks will be backed by a lifetime of experience which is his unique possession. Those who think that a cup of coffee or an hour's sleep is more important than hearing this expert are entitled to their opinion. But if this is their attitude they should also reflect upon the values they are deriving from a college education.

The assembly is one of several presented throughout the year in the Public Events series. Speakers and entertainments are carefully selected to provide a variety of interesting programs. Every student and faculty member should take advantage of these valuable opportunities to absorb knowledge—probably much less painfully than usual.

Vacation Life Told In Coed's Diary

The following comments are from the diary of an Idaho coed from December 19 to January 4. Ah, vacation!

December 19. Hooray, we're on our way home! The car is a little crowded with five people and ten suitcases, not to mention three trunks, but we all got in. When I get home I'm going to sleep for two days. Maybe I can catch up on all I missed this fall.

Dec. 20. Sleep, ha! My little sister got me up at 7 o'clock to take her sleigh riding.

Dec. 23. Bet I've got Christmas cookies sprouting out of my ears. I should have—I've baked 25 batches of them since I got home. Does my family intend to live on them all year or something?

Dec. 25. My cousin Albert is about as dumb as they come. He gave me a box of candy because he couldn't imagine what I'd want. So then he turned around and gave my sister a cashmere sweater. He should be drowned in his own Tom & Jerries.

Dec. 26. Tomorrow I'll start writing those three term papers.

Dec. 27. Ditto.

Dec. 28. Ditto, again.

Dec. 29. To heck with them, I'll write them at school so I can type them up before I forget how to translate my notes.

Jan. 1. Happy New Year? I haven't opened a single book since I got home.

Jan. 2. I opened one today. Then I shut it again.

Jan. 3. Can't study, got to pack. I'm sure going to sleep when I get back to school. I've averaged four hours a night since I got home. Oh well, you can't have everything.

Be It Hereby Resolved.... To Bust These By Friday

By ROGER CONTOR

Be it hereby known to my friends and associates that during the year of 1953 I firmly resolve to maintain the following resolutions:

- I shall continue to complain about Willis Sweet food, regardless of quality, in the most obnoxious-vociferous manner possible.
- I will never play Russian Roulette with Dr. Boyer.
- I promise to hate all basketball referees regardless of race, creed, color, or proficiency.
- I shall continue to crowd crippled children and old women out of line at the Kenworthy theater on Sunday nights.
- I will never exercise the prerogative of a senior over my kind, sweet, enduringly thoughtful roommate who has emptied the ashes from the crematorium every time I have offered a freshman to Thor.
- I will not call stupid freshmen women between 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. on weeknights.
- I will engage myself in no athletic activities involving more energy production per hour than college professors commonly generate every 21 days.
- I won't wear stained orchid tennis shoes with a burlap tuxedo.
- I will date no senior women majoring in home economics unless they are married.
- I will not take Kodachrome pictures of red-headed nudes.
- I will refuse to buy apples, pencils and shoestrings from the alumni during football games.
- I will not mix potassium chlorate, red phosphorus, and manganese dioxide in a closed room.

Teacher: Give me a good example of coincidence.
 Pupil: My mother and father were married on the same day.

Students Attend Religious Meet

Six University students attended the Western Study conference at Stanford university, December 27 to January 2. The interdenominational religious conference was sponsored by the United Student Christian council.

The students who attended from Idaho were Joa Parks, Dave Williams, Frank Muller-Karger, Bud Skalsky, Jim New and Haacoh Haga.

Once in four years, Christian student leaders are called together for a week of study on an interdenominational level. Two other religious conferences were held simultaneously in the East and the Midwest designed to achieve a new clarity and a new unity in the understanding of the Christian Faith and of its present relevance.

Competent leaders presented their ideas in addresses, discussions, and informal conversations. An outstanding leader at the Western Study conference was Dr. Arnold S. Nash of the University of North Carolina.

Small groups met daily at the study conference to study both the Bible and special problems concerning church, university, and world struggle. Worship and reading periods were also a part of the crowded but interesting daily schedule of the conference. Study was taken at a leisurely pace, making it possible for ideas to be pondered and friendships to be cultivated.

She was so dumb she thought Einstein was an order for one glass of beer.

Most old maids would rather be wronged than president.

DEAR JASON

Dear Jason:

Down here among these ridge runners who would just as soon court up a storm as brew a batch of Mountain Dew, we two "Dog Faces" would like to tell you how much we enjoy reading the Argonaut. Although we miss the cup of coffee in the Bucket which usually accompanied the Arg, it's still our favorite paper. Our love for the University hasn't diminished with the miles separating us, and this glimpse into the activities of the campus is very much appreciated.

On bivouac it seemed like an extra special friend. It not only supplied us with excellent reading material, but the texture proved to be especially suitable for use as an insulator between our sleeping bags and the ground. (Fooled you, didn't we?).

Keep the Argonaut sailing to Arkansas, Jason. Every bit of cargo which it carries is savored by these two trainees. Thanks, Sincerely and Homesick, Pts. DeForest & John Tovey P.S.—Buy Bonds and Give Blood, and men, be sure to keep your grades up in R.O.T.C.

Dear Jason:

The candlelight march of the University of Idaho Vandaleers was beautiful as they sang the quiet procession, walking with their lighted candles—last year! Why was the tradition changed? Why didn't the Vandaleers sing as they marched? They looked like walking minims quiet as the tomb.

Also, why must women persist in wearing hats to concerts? Emily says mustn't do, you know. Hats are tabu at concerts, etc. I didn't exactly enjoy seeing the handsome features of such Vandaleers as Ted Fisher, Rex Elkum, or Bob Huntley screened by a feather!

Enough onions. Rostes to the soloists and to the brain that dreamed up closing the curtain on the last Christmas hymn!

Sincerely,
 Coedu Cational

Dear Student Editor,

I've heard a lot about your school from a friend of mine who was stationed here with me. Suffering from a lack of mail, I had the bright idea that a letter to you might bring results. Letters and pictures from attractive coeds would raise spirits over here immeasurably. Letters would be appreciated, answered immediately, if not sooner.

Sincerely yours,

Dear Jason:

I want you to know that I just adore your little paper. I have been holding back a long time but the truth must out. Ordinarily I don't write letters like this, but your work is so outstanding that I am forced to say something nice. My mother always told me there was no such thing as a nice editor, but I am sure you're nice. Could you verify this?

Gail Masters Featured In Recital

Gail Graham-Masters was featured in a senior recital presented by the music department last night at the Music building recital hall.

The program was composed of four parts, the first consisting of selections from J. S. Bach's Book I, The Well Tempered Clavichord. Prelude in E Flat Minor and Prelude and Fugue in C Sharp Major were given.

Chopin's Scherzo in C Sharp Minor, Opus 39 and Scriabine's Etude in E Major, Opus 8, No. 5 made up the second quarter of the recital.

Part three of the program was Debussy's Suite, "Pour le Piano." The Prelude, based upon a rapid martellato, closed with a light, unexpected harp-like cadenza. The second section of part three was the Sarabande in which is employed seventh and ninth and is considered one of Debussy's most serene works. Tocatta, a highly colored work, with decorative arpeggios and an adventurous exploration of sonorities, closed out the third part.

The first movement of Rostropovich's Concerto in C Minor, Opus 18, was delivered as the closing number of the recital.

Mrs. Masters, a candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Music, June 1953, was assisted by Hall M. Macklin, head of the music department who played a second piano to cover orchestral parts.

Schrom-Taylor Wedding Held

Lucille Schrom and William B. Taylor were married in the Grangeville Community church December 28 in a double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Schrom and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles Flanigan.

Mrs. Bernard Fischer, sister of the bride, was matron of honor and Miss Catherine Church was a bridesmaid. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miles Flanigan was best man and Marvin Schrom, Bob Rawlins and Bill Meyer ushered.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement. The guest book was presided over by Billie Stefens, Alpha Chi Omega sorority sister of the bride.

After a short wedding trip the couple will be at home in Moscow where they will complete their senior year at the University of Idaho.

Mrs. Taylor is affiliated with Alpha Chi Omega and the groom is affiliated with ATO.

World Student Services Fund Aids Many Needy Students

Ever hear of the WSSF or the World Student Service Fund? Well read on and we'll tell you a little about it.

It is a program that was formed to enable students to help needy students throughout the world. Recently in Japan they went to work in affiliation with the Japanese Student Relief committee to help raise $20,000 for the construction of the first student TB sanatorium to be built in Japan.

Dr. Kiyotsuma, a leading Japanese health authority, recently publicized that it is probable that three of six percent of all students in Japan are suffering from TB and there are absolutely no special hospital facilities for these young people. Some authorities say there are some 15 to 20 thousand Japanese students ill with TB.

Although many can continue their studies with adequate rest and health aids, three to five thousand should be hospitalized. Forced to interrupt their education, seriously ill, what could these young people do? Students with TB are usually not eligible for government compensation if they require medical care.

Many students work their way through college—for them there is no way at all to cover hospital expenses. But now through action on the part of WSSF, steps are being taken to combat this dire need.

Next March the campus will witness another annual Campus Chest drive. WSSF is on the list of organizations that the Chest will contribute to—so comes March you'll be able to do your part in helping to support this program of WSSF.

Dean Winner Will Take Ag Position In Afghanistan

For the next two years, H. A. Winner, assistant dean of agriculture and head of the department of agricultural education at the University of Idaho, will be helping Afghanistan develop its own agricultural extension program. He left Monday, December 29, for his new headquarters in Kabul, the country's capital.

Dean Winner stopped two days in New York City to meet with the representative of the U. S. department of state who is in charge of the technical cooperation program for Afghanistan.

Helping Afghanistan

One of the major objectives of the Afghanistan aid program, Winner indicated, will be to set up a school to train Afghans for agricultural extension work on newly developed irrigation projects. The new farms will get their water from dams now being built by an Idaho construction firm, Morrison-Knudson company of Boise.

Sponsoring institution for the education work in Afghanistan is the University of Wyoming. It is being carried on through the technical cooperation administration of the department of state. Winner thus will go abroad as a member of the Wyoming technical staff, with the title, "Agriculturist, Extension Advisor."

Marshall Moves Up

During the time Dean Winner is on foreign duty, Dr. Don A. Marshall of the department of agricultural economics will serve as acting assistant dean of the college of agriculture, Professor Dwight L. Kindschy will be acting head of the department of agricultural education.

Accompanying the University man on his two-year assignment will be Mrs. Winner. The Winner daughters, Mary and Kristine, will remain at Moscow for the present. They are freshmen students in the University. Later they may join their parents in Afghanistan.

Dean Hart Tells Reasons For New Exam Schedule

For the first time at the University the two-and-a-half hour exam schedule will be tried this semester. Under this system there will be three exams in one day.

According to Dean D. J. Hart, chairman of a special committee on the exam schedule, one reason for the experiment is to allow more time between the closing of exams and registration so instructors may get their grades in.

Dean Hart said the schedule will also allow more time to the students. If the experiment is satisfactory to instructors and students, it will no doubt be continued, he said. One possible disadvantage of the new system is that in some four-credit courses it may be hard for the teacher to give the exam in two and a half hours.

Final examinations will begin Saturday, January 24, and end the following Friday. The three exams each day are from 8 a.m. to 10:30 a.m.; 12 noon to 2:30 p.m.; and 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Dinner will be served in the Dipper Friday evening from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. Sandwiches will be served from 8 p.m. until after the all campus dance.

Student Engagement Announcements Hold Post-Christmas Holiday Spotlight

The holiday season this year must have been a very gay one for as many of the students on campus became engaged over the vacation. Listed below are the engagement announcements that have come into the Arg office already this week.

Most of the engagement parties featured lovely flowers and a display of the ring in various novel situations.

ENGAGEMENTS
Forsman-Kinney
Miss Delores Forsman announced her engagement to Bill Kinney on Wednesday at the Alpha Phi house during dinner.

The table was decorated with individual silver bells with double clappers with the names "Dee and Bill" on both.

The ring was presented on a red satin pillow seat on a white miniature sleigh, carnations being nestled in the bottom.

"Winter Wonderland" was sung during the dinner hour to follow up the theme "Bells Will Ring."

Guests for the occasion were Mrs. L. L. Miller of Lewiston, Mrs. Bob Benscater of Spokane, aunt and sister of Miss Forsman respectively, and Mrs. Ralph Lehman, former sorority sister of Miss Forsman.

Miss Forsman is a sophomore music major from Clarkston, Wn. Kinney is a junior chemical engineering major from Sandpoint and lives at Willis Sweet hall.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Wright-Nichols
Sharon Wright announced her engagement to Lynn "Sam" Nichols at a luncheon given in Idaho Falls during the Christmas vacation.

The news was revealed by a verse placed inside each napkin which read, "Lynn has a new sparring partner. The bout will be announced later."

The ring was displayed on a pink carnation which was floating in the punch bowl.

Sharon is affiliated with Delta Gamma sorority and Nichols lives at the Idaho club. He will continue his studies at the University next year.

Tolbert-Anderson
The engagement of Barbara Tolbert, Moscow, to Arvon Anderson of Lindley hall was announced at a dinner January 7 at Ridenbaugh hall.

The dinner was in candlelight with a small card at each place which read, "The North and South have met, no date has yet been set, wedding bells will ring, sometime in the spring." Barb and Andy.

The ring was displayed from the center of a daffodil. It was in a small blue basket which contained other spring flowers and heather.

Guests at the engagement dinner were: Betty Lou Hillman, Clarence Bloomster, and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Pickett.

Miss Tolbert is a junior in home economics and Mr. Anderson is a senior in agricultural education.

Clyde-Bond
The engagement of Isabel Clyde to John Bond was announced at the Delta Gamma house this Wednesday.

Pink carnations and pink candles decorated the table and place card, with "Is and John" told the secret. Ice cream and cake wedding bells carried on the theme.

Dinner guests included Mrs. Earl Clyde, Mrs. John Bond, Miss Agnes Peterson, Mrs. Macintosh.

Spokane Couple Donates Pipe Organ To University

The University of Idaho's new Music building, which has had chambers waiting more than a year for a pipe organ, will now have a specially-built, three-manual instrument as a gift from Mr. and Mrs. George Frederick Jewett of Spokane, it was announced today by President J. E. Buchanan.

The gift was made by the Jewetts as a memorial to Mr. Jewett's mother, Margaret Weyerhaeuser Jewett, and the organ will be named in her honor.

When the University's $600,000 Music building was constructed in 1931 chambers were provided in the recital hall for an organ, and a room on the lower floor for power plant and blowers. Funds were not available, however, for the organ itself. When the Jewetts visited the campus recently, they saw the void in the University's musical education program.

An Inspiration
"Recognition by the Jewetts of the cultural importance of music to youth in this mechanical age is an inspiration to education generally," said President Buchanan. "It is an inspiration particularly to the University of Idaho, for we felt it might be many years before those chambers were filled."

Widely known throughout the Northwest for their civic-minded activities, the Jewetts have made many significant contributions to community, educational and cultural enterprises. Jewett is chairman of the board of Potlatch Forests, Inc., and a director of the Northern Pacific railway. Mrs. Jewett is on the national boards of the YWCA and the USO, an overseer of Whitman college, and a trustee of Wellesley college.

Made To Order
Professor Hall Macklin, head of the University's music department, said that the Margaret Weyerhaeuser Jewett Memorial organ would be among the finest in schools of music. It will be similar to those installed at Illinois and Northwestern universities. To be built to University of Idaho specifications by one of the world's largest organ concerns, the instrument will have 1,690 pipes, grouped in 28 separate sets.

"Our first concert with the organ will probably not be before a year from now," said Professor Macklin. "The organ must be designed, constructed and tested in the factory, then taken apart and shipped to Moscow for assembly."

Hell Divers Meet

There will be an important meeting of the Hell Divers Monday, January 12 at 8:30 p.m. Roll will be taken.

Plans for tryouts and the water show will be discussed. There will be no free swimming Monday, but the life-saving class will meet at 7 p.m. for its final lesson.

Those who should be there for the lesson are Ken Fisher, Jerry Light, Elliot Light, Bob Stivers, Keith Robinson, Glen Casebolt, Al Lewis, and Frank Moore.

Infirmary

Admitted to the infirmary this week were Carolyn Edminston, Russell Hanson, Roger Groth, Dwight Thomas, Lynn Hart, Michael Cygler, Ambrose Sicinski, Hazel Jacoby, William Robert McBirney, Morgan Shealar and Roy Cox.

Discharged were Russell Hansen, Dwight Thomas, Michael Cygler and Carolyn Edminston.

The main speaker for the week, Dr. Olds comes from the University of Denver, Colorado, and will base his talk on the topic "Doomed to Death." The rest of the week will be devoted to seminars and bull sessions in the different living groups.

IN THE SOUTH, EIGHT RESIGNATIONS
Eight faculty members of the University of the South, Tenn., have resigned in protest over a decision by the trustees not to admit Negroes to the Theological school.

The resignations leave only one seminary faculty member, the Rev. Bayard H. Jones, who did not resign and took no part in the protest. Resignations are effective at the end of this academic year.

Air Force Commissions Now Available To Seniors

This is an extract of a personal letter sent to President Buchanan by the commanding officer of the 4th Air Force. It applies to any young man who wishes a commission in the Air Force and can meet the qualifications for the appointment.

The United States Air Force urgently needs young officers with sound educational backgrounds in the engineering, scientific, and technical fields. Direct appointments are authorized as Second Lieutenant, Air Force Reserve, to qualified college graduates who have majored in chemistry, mathematics, physics, or engineering.

Students who have completed a minimum of 3 1/2 years' work toward a degree in one of these fields may apply and have their applications processed toward this appointment. Upon receiving their degree, they would be ordered into active military service. All such applicants are required to furnish a request, and be available for immediate active military service.

After a basic training course at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, it is planned that these officers will be given further training in the military aspects of their educational major and then be given an assignment. They would thus be fulfilling their military obligations, be gaining valuable experience within the scope of their educational major, and be contributing directly to the efforts of the United States in keeping a strong military force for the maintenance of world peace.

To qualify for an appointment as a Second Lieutenant, Air Force Reserve, under this program, an applicant must meet the educational requirements outlined above, must be 18, but less than 27 years of age at the time application is made, be of good moral character, and must be physically qualified for general military service.

Applicants may be either married or single, and are not required to have had prior military or technical experience. Reservists of other branches of the Armed

European Study Tour Approved By Regents

The University of Idaho will again have "branch classrooms" next summer in various corners of Europe.

President J. E. Buchanan announced today that the regents had approved for the second consecutive year a University study tour that will take students to Germany, Holland, Belgium, England, France, Switzerland and Italy. The tour will start June 26 in New York City when the students board an airliner for Europe to study both ancient and modern developments on the continent.

Lasting two months, the tour will provide opportunity for students to earn approximately a full summer school's credit in the social sciences applicable to graduation. The students will hear lectures and take examinations, and extension credit will be given all those meeting academic requirements. The trip will be an all-expense tour, one fee covering everything from transportation to food.

Named to supervise and instruct the Idaho students abroad is Dr. E. Malcolm Hause, assistant professor in political science and history at the University. Professor Hause is widely known as an authority on the British Commonwealth of Nations, and will be on

2. In 1951 Union Oil made a total net profit of $27,295,971. Of this, $15,851,712 was plowed back into the business to meet the expanding needs of our customers. $11,444,259 was paid out in dividends to our shareowners. What did these dividend payments average per common shareowner?

3. How much investment in "tools" does it require to provide an average job at Union Oil Company?

Check one:

$755 $3,100 $70,920

4. In 1910, Union Oil did an annual volume of $12 million. This represented 23% of the total oil business in the West. Today we do an annual volume of over $275 million. What percentage of the total oil business in the West do we have today?

Check one:

Answers:

- The same. The reason: Under our American profit and loss system, U. S. oil companies have the incentive to compete for your business. Because of this constant incentive they spend millions of dollars every year on research and development to put out the best possible gasoline at the lowest possible price.
- $285 per shareowner. $11,444,259 is a lot of money but it was divided among the 40,093 shareowners of Union Oil Company. And our largest single shareowner has less than 1% of the stock.
- $70,920. That's why in most industries today you have to pool the money of a lot of people under legal agreements known as corporations. Very few individuals could finance the "tools" required by heavy industry.
- 13%. We do over 22 times our 1910 volume. But we have a smaller percentage of the total business—mainly because the oil industry is far more competitive. There are many more oil companies competing for the business today than there were in 1910.

First Semester 1952-53

(Two and one-half hour examinations—three examination periods per day)

October 15, 1952 (Approved October 22, 1952)

Regular classrooms will be used for the examinations unless instructors make special arrangements through the Registrar's office. Examinations in courses not included in the schedule will be arranged by the individual instructors during scheduled examination week. Examinations in courses comprised of lectures and laboratory periods may in most instances be scheduled according to the sequence of either. Announcement of time and room should be made by the instructor. Rooms should be reserved in the Registrar's office for "arranged" examinations in order to avoid conflicts with scheduled examinations. For those courses in which a two and one-half hour examination period is not considered adequate, the final class hour or laboratory period could be used for additional examination purposes.

Novel By Williamson Delves Into Theory Of Were-Wolves

By Joe Corless

I read a most morbid book the other day that scared the deuce out of me. It was fiction, of course; but somehow the author's speculations were almost too logical, as fantastic as they were.

The novel, "Darker Than You Think" by Jack Williamson, is a fantasy connecting witchcraft and lycanthropy with such solid sciences as psychology, genetics, and the various studies concerning the human mind.

Lycanthropy requires an explanation. According to the dictionary lycanthropy is a form of insanity in which the person imagines he is a were-wolf or other were-being. It also is the assumption of the trueness of the old folk-tales concerning were-creatures.

Can You Imagine

Homo-lycanthropus really exists, says Williamson. Can you imagine people you know turning into were-wolves or other creatures at night to gorge themselves on some innocent victim? Picture a madness, an ability to turn into one of the creatures, inherited from a time eons ago when our ancestors were fighting the advancing wall of the Ice age.

On the Gobi desert homo sapiens are able to survive. High in Tibet another group of primitive men find themselves trapped. To survive they develop the powers of the mind of which we know so little. They are able to form new mind webs away from their bodies to hunt animals for food. Eventually they come upon true man and conquer him. This explains many ancient archeological finds.

In Your Blood

Finally, men revolt. Their weapons perhaps included silver which folk tales tell us was poison to the were-wolf. However, homo-lycanthropus inter-married with homo sapiens: the Greek gods took common wives. Today, then, there is the possibility that despite genetic dilution there may be some were-creatures.

Where is the logic? Read the folk lore of almost all peoples. They all tell of various were-creatures in the form of the fierce animals prowling through the night and attacking people. Explain the eternal conflict in the human soul by the "black blood" of homo-lycanthropus struggling for release in your body. Explain why you just don't like someone for no reason at all. You perhaps feel the presence of a hidden something. Is it the black strain?

Scared?

Explain why a dog will suddenly start to howl for no visible reason. Folk lore has it that dogs could detect the passage of the were-form even though invisible to you. They remain invisible until they attack and must take advantage of the possibilities of chance. Take that steep curve you might go over if you're not careful.

Do you have an answer for the extra-sensory-perception existing in some people as demonstrated by Harvard researchers. ESP involves control of chance such as the role of dice and of mind extension and telepathy.

When, next you hear a dog howl mournfully to be joined by others down the block, think about these ideas. Perhaps a were-creature is going by, flitting right by you.

Vandals Battle Washington In Crucial Hoop Series Tonight And Saturday On Seattle Floor

Must Stop Houbregs To Win; Melton Is Out Of Both Games

NORTHERN DIVISION

	Won	Lost	Pct.
Washington	2	0	1.000
IDAHO	1	0	1.000
Oregon State	1	1	.500
Washington State	1	2	.333
Oregon	0	2	.000

Idaho and Washington, rated the two basketball teams most likely to succeed in the Northern Division hoop race, clash head-on tonight and Saturday in a crucial two-game series at Edmondson Pavilion in Seattle.

The Huskies, under capable Coach Tippy Dye, are currently tabbed number six team in the nation in the AP poll. Idaho is in 18th spot.

Washington is sporting a 9-1 record for the season having only lost to UCLA in the second of two games with the California school. Idaho has an 8-4 mark for the year.

Both teams are undefeated in Division play. The Huskies have taken the Oregon Ducks into camp twice in high scoring affairs while the Vandals captured one from the Cougars of WSC.

Stop Houbregs
Big job of the famed Idaho defense will be to somehow bottle up famed hook shot artist, Bob Houbregs. Houbregs has a 26-point average for two Division games and has been dunking better than 22 counters a contest over all the season.

A certain cinch for All-American honors if he continues his fine play, Houbregs is called "the greatest pivot man in college basketball," by his coach. Other mentors around the country have been almost as vocal in praise of the 6-1, 210-pound center.

Washington's high-striding offense (77.5 points a game) will be up against Idaho's heralded defense. Finley's squad is rated fifth in the nation in the stop department.

Traveling Squad
A 12-man Idaho traveling squad, plus manager Ron Siple, Bill Bowlby and Coach Finley arrived in Seattle yesterday in time for a workout on the Husky floor.

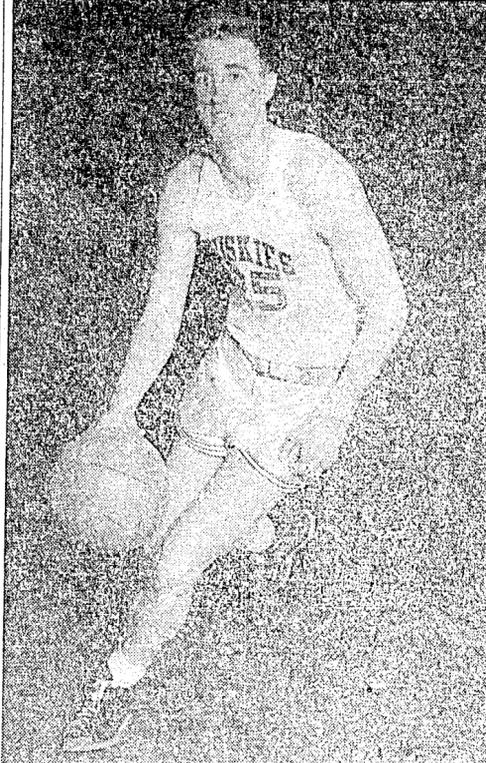

Making the trip were Bill Mather, Dwight Morrison, Hartly Kruger, Bruce McIntosh, Tom Flynn, Bob Falash, Olin Fulton, Roger Lillibridge, Don Monson, Jim Sather, Jim Price and C. W. Totten.

Harlan Melton, flashy sophomore forward, stayed at home nursing the chipped bone in his ankle that has put him out of action since the Western Kentucky game. It's likely that Melton will be ready for the Oregon series at Moscow next weekend.

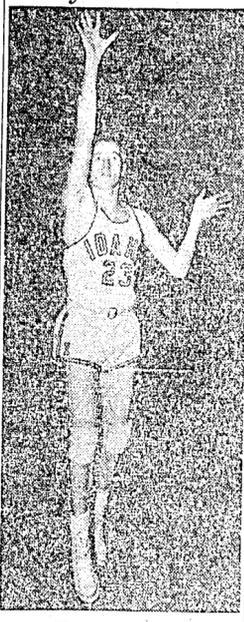

Starters
Washington will probably start Houbregs at center; speedy Joe Cipriano and Charlie Koon at the guards; and Doug McClary and squad Captain Mike McCutcheon at the forwards. McCutchen is second to Houbregs in the scoring column.

Idaho will likely counter with its usual starting five composed of center Kruger, guards Flynn and

Meet An All-American

Flynn Scores

Tom Flynn, junior guard from Lewiston, leads the Vandals in shooting baskets from the floor. The best all-around player on this year's squad he has a .556 average which is among the best in the nation. Tom will probably draw the assignment of checking speed merchant Joe Cipriano or clever Mike McCutchen tonight at Seattle.

McIntosh and Morrison and Mather in the forward slots.

Vandal Scoring
The five members of the Vandal starting lineup are the five scoring leaders of the team. Led by Hartly Kruger, who finished last season as Idaho's leading scorer, the Vandals have rolled in 708 points.

Opposition in the 12 games to date, has been held to a mere 51.5 points per game.

Kruger, in 11 games this season, (he missed the Whitman tilt) has averaged 12.7 points per game in rolling up 140 counters. He has scored 52 baskets and 36 free throws.

Tied for second in the scoring race are Tommy Flynn and Dwight Morrison, each with 106 points.

Flynn continues to lead the team in field goal percentage with a .556 average, which still ranks him well up among the nation's leaders. He has connected on 40 of 72 shots.

Bob Houbregs is rated one of the best pivot men in the business. Washington's ace center and scorer has a deadly hook shot that UCLA's All-time All-American Johnny Wooden says is "better than that of George Mikan." A two-year letterman majoring in physical education, Bob is pictured on the cover of the 1952-53 official NCAA Basketball Guide, the first time a Pacific Northwest eager ever has made the cover.

Football Is Dropped By Idaho Foe

University of Santa Clara, once a national power, has quit intercollegiate football because it costs too much.

Idaho had already scheduled the California school for 1953 and will have to find a fill-in center.

Officials of the Jesuit school, last of the Pacific Coast's Catholic colleges to succumb to the financial strain, said the school lost about $50,000 this season on the sport and $72,000 in 1951.

The Broncos had scheduled seven games besides Idaho: Stanford, Texas, Rice, California, Miami, San Jose State and College of Pacific.

Santa Clara's head coach, Dick Gallagher, had resigned last month to rejoin the professional Cleveland Browns as scout. Three assistant coaches now have jobs.

Many Catholic schools have found football increasingly expensive. St. Mary's and Seattle U. gave it up two years ago. U. of San Francisco and Loyola of Los Angeles quit after the 1951 season. Georgetown also abandoned the sport.

Gale Mix And Babe Curfman Attend National Meetings

The executive committee of the National Collegiate Athletic association settled down this week to pick its tournament dates, thereby starting a week-long tussle with the nation's college sports problems.

The meeting is being held in Washington, D. C., and will end this weekend.

Representing Idaho at the conference is General Manager of Athletics at the University, Gale Mix. Accompanying Mix on his trip back east is head football coach Babe Curfman.

Curfman is attending the American Football Coaches association meeting being held in conjunction with the N.C.A.A.

Some of the questions which are under consideration are:

1. Should strict curbs be kept on televising football games? Or should all centers be dropped as suggested by Notre Dame and Pennsylvania.

2. Should bowl games be banned? Or are they an important part of the college picture which should be continued?

3. Should the NCAA constitution be tightened so that those who violate NCAA rules can be punished quickly and effectively?

Meanwhile, members of the American Football Coaches association, holding separate sessions, talked over the legislation to outlaw the so-called "sucker shift" exploited last season by Notre Dame and some other college grid teams.

over Christmas vacation but should be in fair shape for the forthcoming meet as the next two weeks practice will do a great deal as far as conditioning is concerned.

The line-up for the EWCE meet is as follows:

270 and 440: Richards, Lewis, Medley.

Cougars Are Nipped In ND Contest

The Washington State Cougars nearly upset the apple-cart when they held Idaho to a 50-19 win at Pullman last Saturday in the opening Northern Division game for both clubs.

C. W. Totten, sophomore guard for the Vandals, dropped in the winning free throw with just 12 seconds remaining in the game.

A fighting crew of hoopers under the able direction of Cougar Coach Jack Friel made an unexpectedly close contest of it. They led 26-25 at the mid-way point. Starting the final frame it was tied at 42 all.

Center Hartly Kruger led the Vandals with 15 dunkers followed by Dwight Morrison with 10. WSC's agile Pete Mullins took honors for the evening with 13 points.

Field goal percentages: Idaho .512; WSC .353. Free throw percentages: Idaho .421; WSC .674.

50 and 100: Crawford, Dell, Robertson, Johnson.

Backstroke: Bradbury, Martin. Breaststroke: Light, Stanton. Ind. Medley: Warren.

Diving: Richards, Bell.

Harlan Melton with 15, and C. W. Totten with 13 counters were tops for the Vandals.

Tulsa
(Dec. 27) The next night at Tulsa the score stood 29 apiece at half-time. The lead changed hands several times in the third quarter but in the final period the Golden Hurricane pulled away to win 65-56.

Hartly Kruger again paced the Vandal attack with 16 points.

Western Kentucky
(Dec. 29) An unheralded Idaho

quintet upset a highly favored WK squad in convincing fashion 75-60 at the All-College tournament at Oklahoma City.

Leading the nation in defense at the time, the Vandals clamped down on the Hilltoppers. WK led at half-time 32-31 but Idaho picked up in the last two stanzas to win going away. Kruger tied with Western Kentucky's Tom Marshall for scoring honors with 15.

This was the game in which Harlan Melton hurt his ankle but not before he had dunked 10 markers.

Wyoming
(Dec. 30) Never in much danger the Vandals rolled to a 39-22 half-time lead then coasted into a 66-53 victory.

It was a repeat performance of last year when the Vandals ousted Wyoming in the same tournament. Idaho won that one after making up 17 points in the third quarter.

Guard Bruce McIntosh set the Vandal scoring pace with 13 points. Forward Dwight Morrison and Guard Tom Flynn were close behind with 12 each.

Oklahoma A&M
(Dec. 31) The Oklahoma Aggies came from behind with a blistering second half drive to defeat Idaho 51-49 and win their 10th All-College tournament title.

The Aggies had to fight back to overcome the Vandals' first half lead, 30-25, and then stay ahead in the neck-and-neck battle down the stretch.

Idaho had a desperation chance to tie the score as the gun barked but Bruce McIntosh's set shot was wide. Kruger and Roger Lillibridge got 13 and 9 points each for Coach Finley's club.
