Schuldt, Lockery Featured In Faculty Recital Tonight

Agnes Crawford Schuldt, pianist, and Glen R. Lockery, tenor, will be featured in a faculty recital this evening in the recital hall of the Music building. The recital is scheduled for 8 p. m. and Hall M. Macklin will be the accompanist.

Sometime we wish we did know all the answers. Sometimes we wish we could just sit down and contentedly tell ourselves we know exactly what goes on in every student's skull. Once in a while we get a moody streak and ask ourselves if it makes any difference what the little jewels are thinking.

We remember a fond promise we made to ourselves last year. The freshman class was going to be observed closely and anything that even looked like a suddenly acquired air of sophistication was going to get the severest of reprimands. Ah, yes, great plans for the guidance of the youth of our institution.

We were going to tell them that they ought to go on being friends with the old hometown pal, even if they did end up in different living groups. They were going to get the best of advice about boys and girls who got a taste of college life and promptly thought they had a down hill pull. Y' know, the type that figured a short stay in a university automatically made them a candidate for bigger and better things.

They were going to hear all about the tiny world they now lived in, how much apart college life actually was from the grim business of earning a living, and how misleading their society of Coke dates, gab-fests, and English themes had become.

On looking around, it seems that an explanation of the differences between the play-boy, the book-worm, and happy medium are unnecessary. Everyone seems to know that the last mentioned has friends, grades, and an assured future.

So we'll discard our crusade. We'll trust to luck and go on believing that a year at college won't unjustly inflate egos. We'll go on believing that two years of college hasn't disillusioned young minds nor shattered any dreams. And no one will ever convince us that juniors haven't seen the errors of their younger days or that seniors are all cynics.

Cadet Receives Army Appointment

Cadet Colonel Ted L. McDaniel Jr., commander of the Army ROTC's corps of cadets, recently received a recess appointment from the president of the United States as a second lieutenant in the Regular Army today, subject to later confirmation by the U. S. Senate.

McDaniel's appointment brings to seven the number of Idaho men appointed to career commissions during the current year, highest or at the University.

McDaniel's appointment brings to seven the number of Idaho men appointed to career commissions during the current year, highest or at the University.

According to Lieutenant Col. A. E. Blewett, Idaho professor of military science, McDaniel's appointment will become effective shortly after the end of the current semester. The Elmhurst, Illinois man will complete his requirements for a degree in business administration at that time.

McDaniel, an SAE, is former head of KUOI.

Previously, six cadets had been named to regular commissions effective next June. They were Anthony Dombrowski, Earl Dawson, Benjamin Doty, James Oates, Edward Lungren and James Olmsted. McDaniel's appointment is in the Infantry.

Idaho Grad Named Army ROTC Head

An Army officer who received his commission through the University of Idaho ROTC unit is now the commanding officer of the University's Army ROTC program.

The appointment of Lt. Colonel A. E. Blewett as professor of military science and tactics was announced today by University President J. E. Buchanan, following approval of the board of regents.

Blewett has been acting in the position since July when Colonel Charles F. Hudson, former head of the unit, was assigned to active duty as commanding officer of Camp Cobe, near Yokohama, Japan.

Following graduation from the University of Idaho, where he received his degree in agricultural education, Colonel Blewett, then a second lieutenant, served for three years in the Aleutian islands.

He was assigned as an instructor at Fort Benning, Ga., for nearly two years. During that time, Blewett's brother, Rex Blewett, went through the officer candidate school and sat in several of his classes. Captain Rex Blewett was recently wounded in action in Korea. The brothers are formerly of Kendrick.

For three-years prior to his appointment as assistant professor of military science and tactics at the University of Idaho in 1950, Colonel Blewett was with the European Command headquarters in Frankfurt, Germany, doing ground work for the famed Berlin airlift.

All those who are taking French or are interested in the French language and culture are cordially invited to attend.

Collections Of Books Accepted

Two book collections have been formally accepted by the regents as gifts to the University of Idaho, President J. E. Buchanan announced today. Donors are Harry W. Marsh, Boise, and Alfred Robinson, Moscow.

The Marsh collection contains rare volumes on the early history of the West. Included are "Report on the Construction of a Military Road from Fort Walla Walla to Fort Benton," Captain John Mullan, 1863, "Beyond the Mississippi, or Life and Adventure on the Prairies, Mountains, and Pacific Coast," Albert D. Richardson, 1869, and "The Undeveloped West," J. H. Beadle, 1873. Also included is a set of photographs depicting Idaho's early mining history.

The Robinson gift is composed of the writings and publications of his father, the late Dr. Frank B. Robinson, who founded Psychiana, Inc. Twenty-two books and pamphlets were published by the founder of the religious organization, which recently closed its Moscow headquarters.

Program Given For Radio Show

"Here We Have Idaho" for this week will feature the Moscow high school choir, Ray Cox and his band, and the Sigma Chi quartet for musical highlights.

An original radio script, "Klagg and the Draft" by Fred Williams will be given, along with talks by Margery Hatton, who will discuss her 4-H sponsored trip to Norway last summer, and Guy Wicks, the University field agent.

The show can be heard at 8 p.m. on Wednesday over KRPL; and at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday over KRLC, Lewiston.

Idaho Graduate Is Representative

When the new Congress convened in Washington, D.C., another University of Idaho alumnus was a member: He is Sam Coon, class of '25.

Coon, who came to the University from Boise, received his B.A. degree in 1925. Engaged in the cattle business in Oregon for many years, he was elected a representative from that state in November.

Moscow Botanist Gives Collection To University

Results of 32 years of combing the Western forests for rare plants and different types of fungal growth came to the University of Idaho today. President J. E. Buchanan announced that the regents had formally accepted the specimens collected by C. R. Stillingner, Moscow, to be housed in the department of biological sciences.

The specimens, carefully identified and indexed by Stillingner, total 5,900. In addition, Stillingner turned over to the University several hundred journals and reference books in the field of mycology.

The Moscow botanist said he had no idea how many hundreds of hours of spare time went into making the lifetime collection. For 32 years, he worked for various government agencies in fighting white pine blister rust, and during evenings and week-ends he rambled through the woods of many states seeking particularly specimens of different types of fungi.

Now retired, Stillingner is one of Moscow's oldest residents. He came here at the age of three in 1893. In 1913, he was graduated in botany from the University, and received his master's degree in 1915.

"I also attended the old prep school at the University," said Stillingner. "The University served me for a total of 10 years, and I thought now I would be of a little service to the University."

The University of Idaho football team was honored at the second Night Club dance of the year Friday night at the SUB. Each member of the varsity squad received gold keys with a small football on the front and their initials and the year engraved on the back.

Mrs. Babe Curfman, representing her husband, received a substitute football trophy for the one Babe will receive, reading "To Babe from a grateful student body." The trophy will be a desk calendar with a small football figurine on it. Curfman intends to return from Washington D.C. late this week.

Miss Haberly Fills Extension Position

Promotion of Miss Mildred Haberly to the position of state home demonstration leader with the University of Idaho agricultural extension division was announced by President J. E. Buchanan following formal approval by the University regents.

Miss Haberly, a graduate of Oregon State college, with her master's degree from the University of Washington, joined the Idaho agricultural extension staff in 1941 as a home demonstration agent. Since 1944 she has been state extension nutrition specialist.

In the new post, which she assumed January 1, Miss Haberly succeeds Letha Christensen Poncia, who served in an acting capacity following retirement last June of Miss Marion Hepworth.

Fallon Discusses Western Hemisphere

Quick wit woven into his talk on the Western Hemisphere was enjoyed by students and townspeople listening to Carlos Fallon yesterday morning in the University auditorium.

Fallon, who was born in Colombia, South America, said the reason there aren't more South Americans in Korea is because they aren't interested in fighting for the United Nations. Unequal representation and restraint of the weak countries are their objections to the United Nations:

Fallon explained the five permanent members of the United Nations are chosen for power and material physical force. These countries, Russia, China, United States, France and Great Britain, who were also considered mature democracies, are now fighting among themselves, he pointed out.

Reorganization of the United Nations with one member from each nation and delegates according to population would be a better plan, the speaker felt. He said the chief objective of the UN should be: 1. peace, and 2. freedom on the basis of justice and not might alone.

"I Wonder"

Fallon said his anthropologist father had often explained the complexities of stating one's race so when he was filling out a questionnaire in the United States he was stumped when he came to the 1/4-inch square marked race. His father explained that in the United States it was best to put just "W" for "white" and to ease his conscience he would know it stood for "I wonder."

The symbols of American Democracy the Flag, Mothers, and the Statue of Liberty, Fallon said were emotional concepts not as convincing as bread and butter. He said the people should define more tangible representatives of Democracy as flexibility, adaptability and ability to change policies without bloodshed.

No Class Distinction

In Latin America, Fallon explained, there is no class or race distinction. Orientals, Negroes, Indians and Whites can stay in any hotel and eat any place they want to. Originally there was class distinction but in 1816 Simon Bolivar freed the slaves and ruled against it and now there is no sign of that prejudice.

"Latin Americans," said Fallon, "believe tolerance is being tolerant of other people's prejudices." He said Latin Americans feel the United States should have no criticism of their Democracy.

The basis of liberty and democracy as defined by Fallon is that everyone is equal before the law. He said the people of Latin America thought "we" shouldn't be too critical of each other; the laws should be different for different people who are familiar with their own cultures. A common ground between the people in North and South America is the aspiration to give children a more peaceful world.

Peeling Rhubarb

On the lighter side Fallon said when he first got to America, his mother told him he should be in uniform like everyone else, and said, "The best thing for you to do is present yourself before the draft board and the government will pick out the job you are best suited for." He explained he ended up peeling rhubarb.

In summing up his background the speaker mentioned Officer Candidate school and referred to it as a "degenerate kindergarten" which brought an appreciative roar from the ROTC students in the audience.

Permits to register for the second semester will be ready beginning Monday, January 19. Please call at the Registrar's office for your permit.

Curtain To Rise Tonight On Shakespearian Plays

Tonight at 8:00 the U Hut curtain will rise on the first of three performances of the studio theater production, "Scenes from Shakespeare." The plays include scenes from "The Taming of the Shrew," "Othello," and "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Stags Asked To Come To New Dances

The second of a series of Night Club dances was held in the main ball room of the Bucket Friday night.

The dance was well attended but few stags ventured to come. Ray Cox wishes to stress "that these campus dinner-dances are not necessarily date dances. The main object of these dinner-dances is to provide entertainment. Groups of fellows and girls are urged to have dinner and attend the dance as well as couples."

Intermission entertainment was led by the Sigma Chi quartet singing "Mississippi," "Old MacDonald" and "Dry Bones."

The Night Club dance is a newly organized idea on the Idaho campus. The SUB 15-piece band provided the music.

The next dance is scheduled for the night of the WSC-Idaho basketball game here.

Shaw Named Council Prexy

Bill Shaw has been appointed president of the Idaho Air Force ROTC Cadet Executive council according to Lt. Col. O. J. Mosman, professor of Air Science and Tactics at the University. Other appointments were Bill Gleaves, recorder, and Edmund Fisher, Arnold Air Society member on the council.

There are also two members of each academic class and a second member of the Arnold Air society on the council, all of whom are elected by the popular vote. Elected by the cadets are Roland Prade, Charles Martin, James Price, John Pickett, William Parsons, Johnny Echevarria, John Parker, Dennis Hayden and John Mix.

The purpose of the council is to represent the Air Force ROTC cadets in matters affecting the cadet wing as a whole, and to make appropriate recommendations to the professor of air science and tactics for any suggested changes in the program.

AFTER MANY AN OATH

The famous California loyalty oath, fought over, passed and amended, is again under fire.

One oath, which the University of California board of regents tried to impose on the faculty, was successfully beaten down; but another called the Levering act, is still in force.

Cast in the "Taming of the Shrew," under the direction of Mary Thompson, are Mary Lou LeFors, Nancy Leek, Tom Starr, Claude Hanson, Pat George, Raymond Arte, and Keith McClellan. The play is concerned with two daughters of opposite personalities and their suitors who come to seek their hand in marriage.

Under the direction of Sharon Henderson is "Othello," the story of a man's plot against Othello to discolor the chastity and faithfulness of Othello's innocent wife. The cast includes Tom Wright, Pat Miller, Larry Hyer, Lucy Spencer, Bill Hassler, Dick Croly, Bob McBride and Paul Matthews.

Two Plays

Boness Collins is director of the third scene, the Interlude from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which is truly a play within a play. The Interlude portrays the rehearsal and performance of the workers for the wedding celebration of Duke Theseus and Hippolyta. The cast is made up of Stowell Johnston, Ed Hargis, Hugh Hamilton, Blair Allen, Joe Frost, and Jack McCreight.

Executive director of the plays is Jean Collette with Edmund Chavez acting as technical director.

The production staff includes stage manager, Fred Scheibe; production manager, Leah Jensen; lights, Betty Westberg and John McDermott; costumes, Kim Kimerling, Rosemary Rowell, Billie Yancil, Susan Banks, and Sally DuSault; paints, Sally Mace, Becca Ruby, and Barbara Anderson; props, Sally Landers and Gary Leaverton; publicity, Sharon Henderson, Jane Querna, and Shirley Smith; building and stage, Margaret Fox, Ernie Gohrband, and Charles Lent; and make up, Blair Allen, Kim Kimerling, Rosemary Rowell, Mary Lou Lefore, and Paul Matthews.

Plastic Set

The U Hut stage provides an effective background for the plastic unit set which has been constructed. The set is plastic in the sense that it can be molded or arranged to form a backdrop for any situation.

Students and faculty members are reminded to call 8542 for seat reservations or come into room 103 of the U Hut for seats. No admission will be charged.

DEAR JASON

To The Student Body:
 The members of the football team want to thank all of you for the token of appreciation that you gave to each of us at the football appreciation dance.
 Your spirit and enthusiasm at every rally and game is still fresh in our memory, and these medals will enable us to recall that memory in future years.
 You have been the finest student body that we have had a chance to play for. We realize this along with the fact that we weren't a championship team or a Rose Bowl winner. Our only wish is that we could have had a better record for you.
 We know that we will remember our games, and the men who played alongside of us. The medals that you gave to us will also remind us of you, a student body that was behind us all the way; win, lose, or draw.
The Football Squad
Dear Jason:
 As of January 5, courtesy of my local draft board, I leave my graduate studies to begin two years of service in the U. S. Army.
 So what? ? ?
 Well, maybe I'll be needing some of that famous Idaho Blood and maybe I won't, but there will be a lot of boys who will need it — and need it badly. As an Idaho man, a member of the Army, and as originator and former chairman of the A.S.U.I. Blood Drives, I wish to protest the action of the Executive Board making the Blood Drives a function of the Junior class. Furthermore, I wish to request the members of the Executive Board to reconsider their action.
The Blood Drives will remain most successful if kept a function of the entire student body with chairman, leaders, and workers drawn from those students with a vital personal interest in the drives—regardless of class membership.
 It is a well-demonstrated principle that humans do best those things done because of interest and real desire. The acts performed because of obligation, duty, etc., are very often done slothfully, halfheartedly, or poorly — seldom at top efficiency.
 By making the Blood Drive an obligation of a class and its elected officers (who may have little or no interest in and practically no training for conducting the drives) you endanger the success of the drives and the very commendable reputation of the best student body in the nation—IDAHO. Our school has been leading out and showing the way to schools all over the nation. For the sake of those whose lives depend upon that leadership and that blood, Idaho cannot risk such a chance of slipping. Remember that one Red Cross man estimated that every pint of blood given at Idaho is the inspiration for at least 25 pints given at other schools in the nation.
 From the very beginning A.S.U.I. Blood Drives have been sparked by and have thrived upon the love, devotion, and free enterprise of vitally interested volunteer workers from all classes. . . . Please, let's keep it that way!
 Sincerely yours,
 Duane Lloyd, '52

Exams Scheduled For California Job

Senior civil engineering students who would like to work in California after graduation can qualify through a civil service examination to be given on a nationwide basis February 28. Applications must be in the hands of the California State Personnel board, Sacramento, by January 31.
 Graduates can go to work at once on California's giant highway program, the board said. Mid-year graduates may apply for temporary appointment and qualify by examination later.
 Positions exist in nearly all parts of California, the board said. The beginning rank is junior civil engineer, with a starting salary $341 a month, and a top of $395. Frequent promotional opportunities occur.

The examination will be given at or near all campuses where there are qualified applicants. Descriptive bulletins and applications for the California exam are available from the campus placement officer.
 I think that I shall never see
 A girl refuse a meal that's free,
 A girl who won't forever wear
 A bunch of junk to match her hair,
 A girl that looks at boys all day
 And figures ways to make them pay,
 Girls are loved by jerks like me,
 'Cause who would want to kiss a tree?

Idaho Graduate Given Appointment

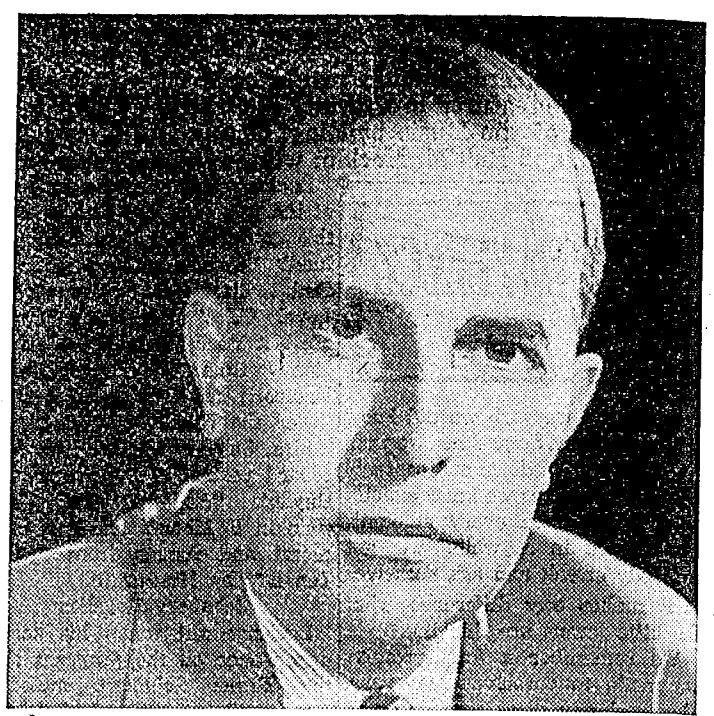

George M. Dean, formerly of Lewiston and a University of Idaho graduate, class of 1924, has been appointed vice president and general manager of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. In this position he will head the company's operations in Washington and Northern Idaho.
 Dean attended grade school and high school in Lewiston. He is the son of Mrs. Susan Dean, 321 Second Avenue, Lewiston. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity and Alpha Kappa Psi, honorary.
 In his previous position Dean was assistant vice president of Pacific Telephone in the Washington-Idaho area with headquarters at Seattle. He started with the company in San Francisco in 1924 as a commercial engineer, transferring to Seattle in 1926 in the same capacity. After successive promotions in the commercial department, he was appointed assistant vice president in 1947.
 During World War II he served as a Colonel in the U. S. Army as Chief in the Armored branch headquarters of the Army Ground forces. He was a member of the staff of the Commanding General in the European Theater of Operations and received high decorations from both the American and British governments.

The World And Oil Is Discussion Topic

"A powerful force in these difficult times"

says FRANKLIN D. MURPHY
 Chancellor, University of Kansas
 "In these days when much is said about 'adult education,' we too often forget that a great deal of adult education is daily carried on by such instruments of public information as The Reader's Digest. In my judgment, The Reader's Digest is one of the powerful and useful forces shaping the thinking of our people in these difficult times."

The articles in each issue of The Reader's Digest cover a broad range of subjects: from travel and politics to science and history, from humor and personal inspiration to headline news. Forty or more articles and a host of short subjects, carefully chosen from hundreds of publications, bring Digest readers more varied and more concentrated information than can be found in any other magazine.

In January Reader's Digest, you'll be interested in The Way It Is in Korea—James Michener reports the facts of war in Korea today; 24-page book condensation: People of the Deer—Farley Mowat's experiences in the Arctic with a lost tribe of Eskimos; More Work With Less Fatigue—facts from experts to help you accomplish more, tire yourself less.

Squirm, Book-worm

The other day a prominent campus committeeman accosted an editorial writer and asked him a couple of questions about campus politics. For example, "Who's going to win the presidency next spring?"
 Admittedly the weather has been good, but after all this is only January. And if the Argonaut had a real old time soothsayer the whole crew would probably quit and take off for the Santa Anita race track.
 Anyway, an interesting discussion ensued about the quality of leadership exhibited by "up and going youngsters." The consensus of opinion was that some of the kids are showing promise. (The conversation involved seniors and to these sage observers even a sophomore is a "kid.") Others of high potential don't seem to be making the splash they should.
 Maybe these lads had the wrong slant, but they think that a lot of scholars would be better off to slip down to a lowly 3, and get in a few campus activities. A surprising and increasing number of employers are revealing the same opinion in job interviews.
 It's very easy for a good student to get so buried in the books (particularly in a technical field) as to have little time for anything but good grades. Vitally important as good grades are, the leadership experience of campus activities should not be overlooked as a part of higher education.
 Idaho is especially well endowed in this respect, having one of the most respected student governments in the nation. But the best student government in the world won't do any good to students who are content to remain onlookers. In this kind of activity you've got to give to get.
 Also it's very easy to grumble in a subdued voice about the "monopoly of jobs." But anyone who really wants to go to work in an ASUI activity need only surrender to some insider and whisper, "Can I help?" It's that simple. K.L.K.

Man On Campus Phones His Girl

"Buzz! Buzz!" goes the telephone on the other end of the wire—our hero can hear it. Campus suitor is calling his girl friend.
 Finally!
 "GoodeveningThetaGammafirstfloor!"
 "Hello," says Joe. "May I speak to Marie Haggblebrow, please?"
 "Sorry," is the slow, demure reply, "but she'safreshmanandisn'toffstudytablyet!"
 "Oh, well thanks, anyway." Joe is about to hang up when the voice continues.
 "Isthereanymessage?"
 No Message
 "Oh, no," replies the young gentleman. "No message."
 "It wouldn't be any trouble at all for me to take a message. This is her roommate, Irma Floperlip. I'm a sophomore, five foot ten and no, I don't have a date for Friday night."
 "Still no message," says Joe firmly and shakily places his finger in the phone cradle, shutting off the purring voice. Minutes later Joe dares to lift his finger from the little black button, places the phone in the cradle. Then, hero of heroes, he runs!
 Try Again
 But Joe, being a courageous suitor, is finally dragged out of the garbage can and back to the phone at 9:30 by his roommate Mac. (No reference to McMullin).
 "Buzz! Buzz!" Joe starts to hang up the phone but is grabbed by Mac.
 Suddenly a voice!
 "Helloooo! This is the Whata Gamma House. May I call someone for you, hmmm?"
 "Uh, Marie Haggblebrow, please."
 "All right, big boy—just a little minute, and I'll call her."
 After ten minutes and forty-one seconds, Marie answers the phone.
 "Helloooo!"
 "Is this Marie?"
 Hello, Honey
 "Yes—Honey, who is this?"
 Joe answers—Mac is holding a knife in his back by now.
 "This is Joe."
 "Oh, hello, Joe."
 "Where were you for so long, Marie?"
 "Hum? Oh, I was down on the first floor phone talking to my boy friend."
 "Oh! Well, I just called to see how you were."
 How Are You
 "Well, I'm fine! Did you have anything in particular in mind tonight, Joe?"
 "Well—" (Joe just called to chat, but he is a man who realizes a spot

Chesterfield Opens Predicting Contest

One carton of Chesterfield cigarettes, regular or king-sized, will be given away to the lucky winner of the new Chesterfield Basketball Contest, Saturday, January 17, at the Idaho-University of Oregon game, according to Jane Querna, campus representative.
 You may enter the contest now, and try for a free carton of Chesterfields. The rules are simple. Drop your prediction of the final score of the Idaho-University of Oregon game in the ballot box in the Student Union building.

 You may submit as many predictions as you have Chesterfield wrappers.
 The contest will run for four weeks. One game each week will be chosen for predictions. All entries must be in the ballot box at the SUB by game time Saturday, the 17th, for the first contest.
 This contest is being run by Chesterfield campus representatives Bob Gibbs and Jane Querna, and is being sponsored by the Campus Merchandising Bureau, Inc.

MEET YOURSELF—10 YEARS FROM NOW
 Ever wonder what you'll be like when the class of '53 holds its 10th reunion? If you started to work for one of the Bell System telephone companies after graduation, here's a pretty good idea.
POSITION IN THE WORLD: On the way up! A Commercial Manager, the company's representative and spokesman to as many as fifty thousand customers. A Transmission Engineer, helping to provide the telephone needs of an entire state. A Supervisor in the Traffic Department, responsible for the speed and quality of local and long distance service in several cities and for the personnel relations of a large number of employees. In the telephone company, jobs such as these are held by relatively young men and women.
FUTURE: Unlimited! The Bell System continually progresses and expands and its personnel grows with it. In the past 25 years, the number of telephones has almost tripled. In the past 5 years, telephone companies have introduced such things as network television-transmission, radiotelephone service and dialing of Long Distance calls. And the best is yet to come.
FRAME OF MIND: Confident and proud! You'll be satisfied because you have a rewarding job... not only in pay and security... but in service. You'll be proud of your share in helping provide and develop a telephone service vital to the country's social and economic life.
 Like the picture? For further information see your Placement Officer. He will be glad to give you details regarding the opportunities for employment in the Bell System.

Forney Holds Annual Winter Dance; Five More Engagements Revealed

Things in the social world on campus are beginning to throb again after the long holiday vacation. Starting off the first weekend of the post-Christmas season was Forney hall. The girls at Forney had their annual winter formal with the theme "In a Chinese Garden," featuring a snorting dragon. Sigma Chi

A house exchange which was sponsored by the pledges, was held with the Gamma Phi's on Wednesday night. Refreshments were served during the evening. Brent Ballif was a guest at Sunday dinner.

The annual Forney hall winter formal was held Saturday night with the theme "In a Chinese Garden". A fierce dragon glared and snorted disapproval at the dancers.

Decorations for the dance were purchased in Chinatown, San Francisco, during the Christmas holidays. Jesse Powers was decoration chairman.

Punch at the dance was red and hot and was served during intermission.

Chaperones were Capt. and Mrs. Lonnie G. Williams, Jr., and Mrs. John Nikcevic and Mrs. Ord Christman.

Week-end guest of Pat Stewart was Marlys Jackson of Coeur d'Alene. Visiting Paulene Lamson was Gloria Peach of Spokane, and visiting Maxine Pell was Lenore Thor of Lewiston.

Dinner guests Sunday were Janice Gwartney and Pat Jones of Hays, Betty Jester of Ridenbaugh, Jane Blomquist from the DG house and Earl Goiss, of Fairchild.

ENGAGEMENTS

Rowan-Wright
Another engagement announced over the holidays was that of Joyce Rowan to James E. Wright of Lansing, Ill., with plans announced for an early June wedding.

Wright, a senior horticulture major affiliated with Delta Sigma Phi fraternity, will graduate in June. Joyce is majoring in business education.

Kraft-Whiting
Carolyn Kraft announced her engagement Sunday at Hays hall to Jerry Whiting of Ione, Washington. Carolyn is from Grand Junction, Colorado.

A bell-shaped card announced the engagement by presenting the information "Cupid Edition, Jan. 11, 1953, Society section 'Bells ring out the news of the engagement of "Key" and Jerry". Under a section called "Vocational Briefs" were the majors of the couple — elementary teaching and mining engineering.

Decorating the table were blue candles and blue and white snapdragons. The ring was mounted in a blue and white carnation nosegay.

Guests at the party were Bryce Johnson, Dick Johnston, Ron Braun, John McDonald, Roy Parker, Ken Korner, Rosemary Gilpin, and Delphine Trupp.

Fisher-Schmidt
At dinner Wednesday at the Tri Delta house, the engagement of Iris Fisher to Wally Schmidt was announced.

Spotlighted on a table at the entrance to the dining room was a miniature log cabin in a mountain setting with pine boughs and artificial grass. The ring was displayed as the door knob of the cabin. A "For Sale" sign was replaced by "To Be Occupied June 21, 1953." A little yellow car was parked in front of the cabin.

The centerpiece at the head table was a stack of six ice cream logs topped with wedding bells and a white dove holding a wedding ring. The tables were decorated with boughs and pine cones. Small pine boughs attached to cards saying "Wally and Iris" told of the engagement.

Miss Fisher is a senior sociology major and is affiliated with Delta Delta Delta. Schmidt, a member of Alpha Tau Omega, is a senior in business administration.

Guests included Mrs. W. F. Schmidt of Lewiston, and Wilma Schmidt.

Basler-Wilder
Barbara Ann Basler, Delta Delta Delta, announced her engagement to Ralph Wilder, Willis Sweet hall, during the Christmas holidays. Tentative plans are being made for a summer wedding.

Miss Basler, a senior home economics major, transferred to the University a year ago. Wilder is a senior in pre-veterinary science.

Mays-Thatcher
Thursday dinner at the Tri Delta house the engagement of Anne Mays to Richard E. Thatcher of Arco was announced.

The ring was displayed amid delicately blue-tinted carnations at the head table. Favor's were miniature butane gas tanks, each presenting the message, "North-west Butane company — Auuc

WSC Wins Debate Trophy Saturday

Idaho came in second with five wins and Montana placed third with one win.

The traveling trophy was held by Idaho last year and if any school wins three times in succession they gain permanent possession of the trophy.

Student Tells Of Norwegians

For Norwegian youngsters, Home on the Range is a better Yankee trademark than the national anthem.

Marjorie Hattan, Moscow student at the University who spent several months in Norway during the summer, said she was amazed at the number of American songs the young Norwegians know.

"I remember a boy at the first farm I visited," she said. "He was about eight years old. He liked to come down to the orchard to watch me work. One day he came and stood by me and started to whistle. He would whistle a little, stop, and then whistle the same thing again. I recognized the tune of 'Home on the Range.' I decided he wanted me to sing. I sang and he whistled. When I left he could whistle all of the tune. My great concern was that a Norwegian was destined to go through life whistling 'Home on the Range' off key."

Top Pivot Ace Sets Records; Washington Heads Division

By Bill Boyden

Coach Bill Borchers' University of Oregon Ducks, hot off a two-game sweep over the Washington State Cougars, will invade Memorial gymnasium this weekend for a pair of Northern Division tilts with the Idaho Vandals.

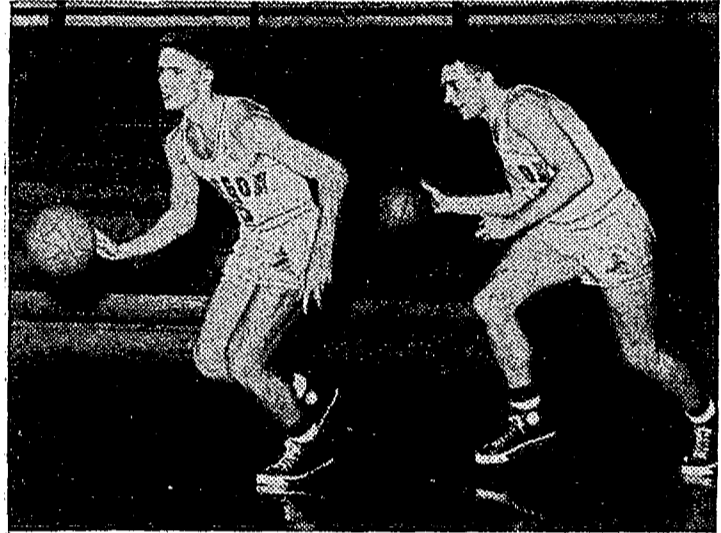

The Vandals, on the other hand, found Seattle as hot as a Houbreggs hook last Friday and Saturday as they bowed to the dashing Dyemen in two encounters.

Hooking Bob Houbreggs personally plastered the scoring columns beyond capacity as he poured 35 tallies through the hoop in Friday's contest and added an "improved" total of 49 in the second game.

pretty well knocked the Washington State Cougars for a loop last weekend, 74-49 and 75-61.

Heading the Duck parade will be their 6-7 center Chet Noe, who is averaging better than 15 points per contest in four ND battles to date. Other standouts in the Oregon lineup will include forwards Keith Farnam and Ed Halberg and guards Barney Holland and Ken Wegner.

Oregon Ducks' Double Trouble

Guards Bob Hawes and Barney Holland will be bringing the ball down the floor for the Oregon basketball team when they invade Moscow this weekend. Hawes has excellent speed, and is an improved ball handler and a fine shot. Holland is a steady performer who banks on basketball "brains" to overcome his lack of speed. Both are Juniors at Eugene and neither is over six feet tall.

Meanwhile, his Husky teammates were tossing in a little support as Washington chalked up the winning scores of 76-64 and 82-58.

First Game Best

Idaho made a better game of it in Friday's opener as it wasn't until the final period that the Huskies pulled away to their victorious 12-point margin.

Slippery Joe Cipriano made a nuisance of himself in that last stanza as he pilfered the ball from the Vandals several times to set up the rally-making scores. Cip also added his share of scoring with a 15-point output. Hartley Kruger notched 22 counters as the outstanding scoring effort for the defeated Idahoans.

Hot as Houbreggs was in the series opener, he all but burned the house down on Saturday by funneling 19 field goals and 11 free tosses through the nets for 49 points.

The 19 field goals, 31 attempted field goals, not to mention the 49 points, all set new conference scoring marks. The 19 buckets in 31 attempts, by the way, spelled a neat mark of 61 per cent.

Idaho, pretty well out of reach of the Huskies all night, did manage to outscore the vaunted men of Tippy Dye in the third period, 22-21. Bruce McIntosh and Dwight Morrison each tallied a dozen counters to follow Houbreggs in scoring. Big Bob actually outscored his Washington teammates by 16 points.

Oregon To Visit

With Oregon coming to town for a weekend starting Friday, Coach Chuck Finley will be preparing his Vandals for a club that

Harlem Globetrotters May Have Trouble At Corvallis

The world travelers may receive unexpected opposition from the alumni team. Invited to play have been Lew Beck, Cliff Crandall and John Mandic, ex-OSC all-Americans.

Also on hand will be Morrie Silver, Bob Payne, Alex Petersen, Dan Torrey, Bill Harper, Doug Martin, Norm Carey, Jim Nau and Paul Valenti. More names probably will be added, with varsity Coach Slats Gill to handle the coaching chores.

In 25 years of campaigning the Globetrotters have compiled 4,233 victories as compared with 260 defeats for a .941 percentage.

In 1952, they won 325 and lost only eight. On their round-the-world tour, they scored 108 victories and never lost a game.

Often called the goodwill ambassadors of basketball, Abe Saperstein's men have played in Europe, Africa, Cuba, South America, Hawaii, Central America and Alaska.

Gymnastic Squad To Perform Soon

The Idaho gymnastic squad opens its 1953 season this Friday night in a demonstration before the Elk River townspeople.

Elk River invited the Idaho squad to come and show 10 main gymnastic events. A full hour and a half's performance is slated, complete with tiger leaping, side horse, juggling, parallel bars, tumbling, pyramid building, stunts on the trampoline, clown acts, balancing and long horse leaping.

Dick Smith, Idaho gymnastic coach, named the nine man traveling squad who will be making this Friday's trip. Seniors are Jerry Ames (president of the club), Bill Shaw, Al Mercier and Jim Oates; Kim Kimerling, junior tumbler; sophomore Skip Knapp, and freshmen Al Greichus, Jay Lenz, and Fred Scheine.

This year's gymnastic squad should turn out many fine performances as many experienced men are back to improve the squad and lead them higher into Northern Division standings.

Fencing Will Attempt A Campus Comeback
All people, men or women, interested in fencing are urged to meet Wednesday night at 7 p.m. in Room 101, Memorial gym.

Frank Mullerkarger, Pine Hall, will be in charge of the meeting. Frank is a scholarship student from Venezuela and was national foil champion of that country in 1951.

Mullerkarger, in conjunction with gymnastics Coach Dick Smith, is interested in finding out how many people on campus know how to fence or want to learn. If there is a good response it is hoped to organize instruction and possibly a club.

Fencing was once a prominent minor sport on the Idaho campus before the war.

The film features every Pacific Coast conference football team in action and particularly highlights the season's top plays and players.

Vandal Boxers Are Inexperienced This Season; Squad Opens Against San Jose

The 1953 fighting Vandals will be one of the youngest and most inexperienced boxing squads in Idaho ring history. For the first time in his five seasons of coaching Idaho boxing Coach Frank Young doesn't have a returning champion to build the squad around.

The old but recently enforced Pacific Coast conference boxing rule of banishing college mittmen who participated in amateur bouts after they were 16-years-old, eliminated two-time Pacific Coast champion Larry Moyer from future Vandal ring activity.

Moyer, a PCC light-heavy and heavyweight crown holder, would have fought his third season for Young. He had a college ring record of 18 wins, five defeats and one draw.

The graduation plank claimed national and Pacific Coast champion Franky Echevarria. A NCAA titlist at 119-pounds, Echevarria banged out a 32-5-1 record in three seasons at Idaho.

One Senior
With the two champions gone, the bulk of Coach Young's glove-men will be sophomore and junior competitors. Light-heavyweight Fred Bowen of Moscow is the only senior on the squad. A heavy-hitter when he connects, Bowen won two of six matches last year.

Ringmaster Young has seven veterans who saw some ring action last season, but of the seven, only Lynn (Sam) Nichols of Idaho Falls, Don Anderson of Pasco, Washington and Bowen won bouts.

At 147-pounds, Nichols sports the best mark. A strong fighter last season, Nichols posted eight wins in 13 bouts. Anderson won two of 156 pounds.

A junior heavyweight from Mead, Washington, Harold Solinsky could develop into one of the best boys on the Coast. Solinsky tangled in four bouts last season, drew in one of them.

The 165-pound bracket will have some experience, but no winners. Ray Johnson of Oak Park, Illinois, and Harvey Mutch of Kellogg are bidding for the starting call. Both campaigners appeared in varsity matches last year, Johnson losing two and Mutch three.

New Boxers
New faces will fill in the other weight divisions. Best bets are Don Nye of Paris at 119 and Tom Howard of Rathdrum at 125-pounds. Both boys are sophomores.

Herb Jee of Dayton and Ralph Snook from Rathdrum are fighting for honors at 132-pounds. Jee lost two varsity bouts last year. Snook is a sophomore. Bob McBride of Blackfoot throws the hardest glove at 139-pounds.

Idaho will fight home-and-home matches with Washington State and San Jose State, and engage California Poly at Moscow. San Jose State, defending Pacific Coast champion won seven matches last year, lost to Gonzaga, and tied with Michigan State. California Poly had a 4-3 record and WSC a 0-5-2 record for the season.

National Boxing Meet Is To Be Held At Pocatello

Idaho State college at Pocatello has been chosen as site for the 1953 National Collegiate Athletic Association boxing championships.

The NCAA made this announcement at its recent meeting in Washington at the same time that it picked spots for seven other national tournaments.

This marks the first time since before the war that the top college mitt meet has come across the Mississippi. Idaho State will make use of the facilities of its new, modern gymnasium.

Here are the sites and dates: Boxing — Idaho State college, April 9, 10 and 11. Tennis — Syracuse university, June 22 to 27. Golf — Colorado college, June 21 to 27.

Ice Hockey — Colorado college, March 12 to 14. Fencing — University of Pennsylvania, March 27 and 28. Wrestling — Penn. State, March 27 and 28. Gymnastics — Syracuse, March 27 and 28.

WEBFOOT FILERS
Coach Bill Borchers, now in his second season at Oregon, started his coaching career at Jacksonville Naval Air Station during World War II.

Chet Noe, Oregon's fine pivot man, is also a handy man to have around during track season. Noe has a mark of 50 feet to his credit in the shot put.

Oregon had its best night from the field in 1946 when the Ducks scored 43 field goals in running up 99 points against the General Grocers.

Weight Changes

Nine weight classes instead of eight will be used in college boxing tournaments and championship meets this year.

The new weight divisions are the same as used for the Olympics with the exception that the 112-pound bracket is dual out.

Competition in dual meets must be held in the top eight classes and an extra bout may be added by including competition in the Bantamweight class.

Class Weight
Bantamweight 119 lbs.
Featherweight 125 lbs.
Lightweight 132 lbs.
Light-Wellterweight 139 lbs.
Wellterweight 147 lbs.
Light-Middleweight 156 lbs.
Middleweight 165 lbs.
Light-Heavyweight 178 lbs.
Heavyweight over 178 lbs.

FROSH GRIDMEN

All freshmen football players can now report to Davids to be measured for sweaters.

Track Meeting

There will be a meeting of all varsity and freshman track men at 7 p.m. today in Room 109, Memorial gym. This first meeting will be used to organize future workouts says Coach Stan Hiserman.
