

The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Hell week is a fine old institution. And so, we suppose, are hoopskirts, Stanley Steamers, displays of witchcraft, and trial by fire.

Every time we think of Hell week we're reminded of a story. It begins with an initiation in one of our Eastern colleges. The boys had been whipped smartly through their paces, they'd performed with a spirit born of desperation everything asked of them, and the brothers in charge of the pre-ritual performance were well satisfied with the way their charges were shaping up.

The would-be members hadn't been able to get much sleep, but it was a big occasion in their lives and they felt they could take any thing for a couple of days. After all, having endured without complaint their probationary days of pledgeship, who would wish to falter now?

So when two fine young fellows were taken several miles into the country, they didn't complain about being asked to walk back. Just another day or two and they'd be "in". Tired as they were, and knowing full well they'd be asked to perform other "pranks" upon their return, they decided to catch up on a little sleep along side the highway.

They slept, and as the sun rose over the horizon, the countryside sprang to life. You've seen the countryside in the morning just after sunrise when the dew fresh leaves are lifting their hands to be warmed by the sun and everything is fresh and bright.

But as they slept, a motor vehicle bore down the road toward them. . . . Why the vehicle drove so close to the side of the road is unknown to us, but one of the young men didn't live to wear the emblem of his fraternity. His companion escaped with a broken arm.

It usually starts innocently enough. Like the night some would-be initiates were "asked" to get some plumbing fixtures from a sorority house.

As they charged up the stairway, the girls charged out to stop them. The stair rail gave way under the crush of bodies and another accident was chalked up to the playful games of Hell week.

The whole business of concentrated hazing is just a little beyond us. From some of the stunts that initiates are asked to do one would assume that members welcome one last grand finale before the power to humiliate a pledge is lost forever.

Maybe they feel that the initiates might refuse the pin. In that case the practice of beating and humiliating is indeed commendable and most strategic. The initiate takes the pin in self-defense.

Whether our Greek letter organizations are aware of it or not, they are looked upon with anything but favor in some circles. By persisting in high school initiation tactics they are adding little to the dignity of fraternity life.

And believe us, loss of dignity either as individuals or as a class is something the Greek system can't afford.

Man is a creature of habit and a slave to the dictates of society. When our servicemen returned after the last world war, they broke down some of the dictates that went with our fraternal organizations. It seems that it's not staying that way.

So we've got this to say to the freshmen and sophomores. They may do it to you, but in a couple of years you'll be running the show. Maybe you should get smart.

The 60-piece concert group under the baton of Warren Bellis will offer a varied program of classical and light concert favorites. Representative selections will be Siegmeyer's "Wilderness Road," selections from "Guys and Dolls," and "Introduction and Tango" by Helbig.

Admission will be free. Students, faculty, and townspeople are cordially invited to join the Concert band for an evening of music.

While The Cat's Away. . .

There wasn't a cat for miles around because the mouse in this picture spent most of the evening playing—or being played with. The game is mouse roulette. The place is the Mucker's Ball. The hole that the mouse falls into when the cage is spun is the one that pays off.

Bridge Tourney Will Be Held Saturday At SUB

This Saturday at 1 p.m. is the date for the National Inter-scholastic Bridge tournament competition at the University. The contest is open to undergraduate students only. It will be held in the South ballroom at the SUB. The tournament this year is to be conducted entirely in one afternoon. Pat Miller, chairman of the Special Projects committee, urges students to be certain they can attend before making reservations.

Student Interviews To Be Held During The Coming Weeks

The following interviews for graduating students are scheduled for this week and next. The superintendent of instruction for the Vancouver, Washington schools will interview prospects for elementary teachers February 18 in the Central Placement Bureau in the Ad annex.

February 23 the Westinghouse company will interview engineers in the Engineering building. Engineers will be interviewed in the Engineering building for the Puget Sound Naval shipyard, February 25.

On the 25th the Idaho Power Co. will talk to Ag engineers and Home Ec seniors in the Placement office. The American Potash and Chemical Corp. will interview chemists, chemical engineers, mechanical and electrical engineers, in the Placement office on February 26.

On February 27 the Army Engineers will interview engineers in the Engineering building. The General Electric company of Spokane and Hanford will be here on the 27th to talk to applicants for the GE testing program. They will be interviewing in the Engineering building.

Married Students Hold Dinner Friday

All married University students are invited to a "get acquainted" meeting and pot luck dinner at 6:15 p.m., Friday, February 20. The meeting will be held in the basement of the Methodist church, 3rd and Adams. It is requested that people attending should bring a covered dish. Children are welcome.

Coe Finishes Book About Wordsworth

A great poet can write as vividly of others' experiences as of his own, according to Prof. Charles Norton Coe of the University English staff. He has just completed a book titled "Wordsworth and the Literature of Travel" to be published shortly by Bookman associates.

In the new book, Dr. Coe debunks the common notion that William Wordsworth could write well only when he wrote of things he had actually before him at the time of composition. Through years of research on the famed poet, Coe shows that many of his greatest poems were based on accounts in travel books of the time. While Wordsworth did much communing with nature in strolls through the woods, he also apparently did extensive traveling from an armchair with an adventurer's book in hand.

Pre Orchestis
Pre-Orchestis will meet Tuesday, February 10 at 4 p.m. in the women's gymnasium. All members are urged to attend.

Green Reports Closing Of Hall

Robert Greene, director of dormitories, announced today that Pine hall has been closed and the students have been transferred to the other independent halls. Pine hall will be kept up and used on a stand-by condition. The men have filled the quotas for the other halls, filling them almost to capacity. Greene also announced that three large conventions in the spring will use Pine hall to accommodate their guests. These conventions will be the 4-H, FFA and Girl's State. Since these meetings will be overlapping in dates, part of the guests will be housed in other halls on campus.

Semester Increases Veteran Students

The enrollment of students attending the University of Idaho on Public Law 550, commonly known as the Korean GI bill, has doubled since last semester to make a total of 100. Also there are approximately 180 here on Public Law 346, the original GI bill of World War II and 29 attending on Public Law 16, a bill for disabled veterans. Indications show that this will probably be the last semester that the number of World War II vets enrolled will exceed the Korean vets.

Sprinkler, Lighting Systems Are Unique Built-In Feature Of New Co-op Steel House

By Ruth Brede
Steel House, new women's cooperative dormitory, should be ready for occupancy one week after termination of the building contract date of February 27, R. F. Green, director of dormitories, has announced.

The additional week will be necessary for the University to furnish the dormitory and move kitchen equipment from Ridenbaugh Hall.

The capacity for the new dorm will be 58, Green said. Ridenbaugh is now occupied by 34 girls. Two girls will occupy each room in the new dorm when it is filled to capacity.

Steel House, named after a former regent, will have two furnishings that are not found in any other building on campus. These are a new water sprinkling system for fire control in all the rooms and halls and a new indirect lighting system.

The sprinkler system will have two outlets in each study room and numerous outlets in the kitchen, dining room, living room, storage rooms and all hallways. The sprinklers react automatically to a certain maximum temperature, spraying the room with water.

Also Fire Escapes
In addition to the sprinkler system, there are two fire escapes, one on the southeast wing and one on the north wing of the building.

The lighting system has two large ceiling lights in each room which reflect the light on the ceiling and back down into the room. The ceilings and one wall of all rooms and the ceilings of the hallways are painted yellow to further facilitate good lighting.

Another feature not found in any of the other women's dorms is an incinerator, in which will be burned all waste paper dumped down

Miner's Ball Has Dancing, Dice, Roulette

Associated Miners at the Mucker's Ball Saturday night learned what Reno faro dealers have known for years. The house always wins.

At the Mucker's Ball the house got back a good many of their Mucker Bucks that were handed out—$3000 in tens, twenties, fifties, hundreds and five-hundreds—to each couple as they entered the ballroom at the SUB.

Bidding on the three prizes at the close of the evening's gambling was fabulous, sounding somewhat like "I've got a bigger armload of money than you have!" and "Let's measure stacks to see who has the most!"

Prizes were three blue and yellow procelain pigs with "Mucker's Ball, 1953" painted on them. They were bought by Web Overholser at $152,000; Gordon Howard at $2,242,000 and Chub Williams at $250,000. Auctioneer was Tom Bullock.

In charge of the various games were Bob Johnson, Tom Bullet and Warren Ove, Mouse-Roulette; Elwood Gray and Al Pyrah, Black Jack; Bill Graue, Harry Osburn, Gene Pickett, Bill Swigert, Howard Braden and Bob Lothrop, Crap tables; and Dick Howard, Chuck-a-Luck.

Couples who quickly lost their millions gambling turned to dancing to music by the Peter Linde trio.

Five Injured In Accident

Four University students and a 14 month old baby were injured when their car struck a bridge abutment eight miles north of Potlatch at 8 p.m. Sunday.

Kathryn Church, Jean Whittemore, Bob Rawlins and Mrs. Fayette Johnson and her small son were coming from Coeur d'Alene when the car driven by Rawlins, skidded on the snowy road.

Kathryn Church has a leg fracture and Jean Whittemore is being treated for back and leg injuries. Bob Rawlins suffered minor scratches and cuts and bruises. They are in the Gritman Memorial hospital here. Mrs. Johnson and her son were released from the hospital.

Ministers Named For Seminars This Week

Committee Plans Drive Promotion

Bathing beauties and life guards, a train, and "European prints" will advertise the Campus Chest drive to be held March 9 to 13, it was announced by publicity chairman Sally Landers at a meeting Thursday night.

Bathing beauties and life guards will be without arms, legs, or heads. As living groups reach certain goals, a representative may paint the limbs on the shapely guys and gals to announce the house percentages.

The train will "chug" along Hello Walk, becoming longer each day as contributions increase.

European prints will illustrate living conditions in Europe. They will decorate the University's telephone poles.

"Here We Have Idaho" will use Campus Chest publicity on broad-casts throughout the state. Spot announcements on KUOI will be made before and during the drive.

Luncheon and dinner speakers Al Menke and Po Ping Wong will give short speeches at all living groups on the Chest activities.

The publicity committee includes Jane Querna, Ruth Brede and Fred Williams, Argonaut; Chuck White, KUOI; John Sheridan, Radio-TV; Jane Blomquist and Nan Moore, special features, and Al Menke and Po Ping Wong, living group speakers.

AIEE Members To Hear Davis

W. J. Dows, manager of General Electric's Design Planning unit at Hanford works, will speak before the University members of American Institute of Electrical Engineers on the topic, "Some Aspects of Electrical Engineering in Nuclear Plants." The talk will be given Wednesday, February 18, room 104 in the Engineering building.

Included in the speech will be a general description of the electrical systems now used at Hanford works, and the types of problems encountered in developing the fast and positive controls for these systems.

He will also discuss some of the present day thinking on the future use of atomic energy for producing electric power.

Dows came to Hanford works in 1943. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado where he received a B.S. degree in electrical engineering in 1930.

Buchanan Mentioned For Post

The name of the president of the University of Idaho recently came up for special mention in Washington, D. C., according to a story by The Associated Press.

President Buchanan has been considered for the post of reclamation commissioner; his name being presented to Secretary of the Interior Douglas McKay. McKay will recommend to President Eisenhower the man who will ultimately take over the job.

Buchanan, informed of the Washington dispatch, said that he was approached informally on the matter last week. In signifying his refusal to be considered further for the job, he said, "I could not accept the position if it were offered me."

Buchanan is an engineering graduate of Idaho and was formerly dean of the college of engineering. He was a research engineer for the Asphalt Institute at San Francisco for several years.

All Roads Lead To Moscow

For many years, the University of Idaho has drawn its students from each of the state's 44 counties. The current year is no exception as the map indicates, with Dolores Linfors, Mullan, representing the northern part of Idaho, and Terrence Hanson, Idaho Falls, the southern part. Many of those from Latah county are married veterans from various parts of the state who have established residence in Moscow. The University this year has been dubbed the "all-American school," because all of the 48 states are also represented.

University Will Be Center for Future National Law Tests

The University of Idaho has been designated as a testing center for the nationwide administration of the Law School Admission test on February 21, April 25, and August 8, 1953, D. D. DuSault, Registrar, announced today.

Depending upon the law school to which they wish to make application, college seniors, juniors, and in some instances sophomores are eligible to take the tests. Each applicant should find out from the law schools in which he is interested whether he should take the test and on what date.

The Law School Admission test is prepared and administered four times a year, in November, February, April, and August by Educational Testing service, Princeton, New Jersey.

Application blanks and a bulletin of information describing registration procedures and containing sample test questions may be obtained from the registrar, Dean Stimson of the law school, or directly from the law school admission test, Educational Testing service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, N. Jersey. Applications must be mailed so as to be received at the Princeton office not later than ten days prior to the testing date chosen.

Scores on the Law School Admission test are used by many law schools throughout the United States along with previous scholastic record and other evidences of suitable personal characteristics, as a basis for admission of applicants.

Doctor Jolley Is Hospital Patient

Dr. J. I. Jolley entered Gritman Memorial Hospital Saturday suffering from a reaction caused by an antibiotic injection.

The length of his stay may range from two days to two months. He is being treated with shots of antihistamin. This is the recently popular wonder drug treatment for colds and allergies.

Research Projects Are Announced

Freezing resistance of seeds, seedlings and leaves of conifers of northern Idaho will be studied at the University of Idaho, announces Dr. H. W. Steffens, head of the department of biological sciences.

This study was one of two general research projects announced by Dr. Steffens following approval by the University research council. The other study seeks more basic information on a nematode worm which is a parasite and lives inside a cockroach.

Carrying on the freezing study, which will call for a cold unit capable of producing temperatures down to 45 degrees below zero, will be Johnson Parker, assistant professor of botany. Cooperating in this study will be the school of forestry. Directing the study of the nematode parasite will be Stewart C. Schell, instructor in zoology, who has made a similar study on a related species of parasite.

Appointments, Resignations Announced By Buchanan

A former agricultural scientist in the Hawaiian islands has been named assistant agricultural economist at the University of Idaho, President J. E. Buchanan announced today following Board of Regents approval. The new economist, replacing Clayton P. Libeau, is Dr. Kermit Molyneux Bird.

Holding degrees from Pennsylvania State college and Cornell, Bird did research at the University of Hawaii. He was also formerly head of the meat section of OPS for Hawaii, and has taught and done research at Penn State.

Returning to the teaching field is Mrs. Helen Hunter Cunningham of Moscow. She has been appointed assistant professor and assistant state supervisor of home economics to fill the vacancy left by Miss Lucille Magruder, who resigned to accept a teaching position in Mississippi.

Mrs. Cunningham holds her bachelor's degree in home economics from the University of Idaho, and master's from Iowa State college. She formerly taught at Iowa State, Oregon State college and the University of Idaho as well as at high schools in Malad, Rupert and Moscow.

Named teaching assistant in physics was Harold J. Gordon, New York City, who will graduate from the University in June. Also appointed teaching assistant in geology and geography was Fred H. Sturm, Jr., Pittsburgh, who will graduate in June from the University of Pittsburgh.

New research fellows are Charles S. Hodges, Jr., Sandersville, Ga., in the forestry radioactivity project, and Clark R. Torell, Troy, in animal husbandry. Both are now working toward degrees at the University.

Resignations accepted by the regents included those of Dwight R. Mason, assistant professor of veterinary science and assistant station veterinarian; Harland Wycoff, assistant professor of agricultural chemistry and assistant agricultural chemist; William L. Hilton, staff engineer; John D. Melear, teaching assistant in geology and geography, and Stanley Emmett Wellman, research fellow in animal husbandry.

Nothing, no, nothing beats better taste and LUCKIES TASTE BETTER!
 Cleaner, Fresher, Smoother!

Ask yourself this question: Why do I smoke? You know, yourself, you smoke for enjoyment. And you get enjoyment only from the taste of a cigarette.

Luckies taste better—cleaner, fresher, smoother! Why? Luckies are made better to taste better. And, what's more, Luckies are made of fine tobacco. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco.

So, for the thing you want most in a cigarette . . . for better taste—for the cleaner, fresher, smoother taste of Lucky Strike . . .

Speaking for myself, the CUB Music committee, and the staff members of the CUB, we also appreciated the matter of watching the cigarette burns on the new ballroom floor. Perhaps the next concert could be held on your campus and be even bigger and better still.

Here We Have Hell Week

People are the darndest critters. The other day a coed walked up to us and said she was so mad she almost wrote a letter to the editor. It seems that this Hell Week was really getting her down.

But she didn't write it. Well, we don't blame her. No one wants to give his house the reputation of being sore-heads. And if this were an isolated case we might be inclined to forget it.

But we were talking to another coed who lamented the fact that they were pestered by fraternities holding initiation. We called the house-president who said, "No, they weren't bothered but they heard other houses were." Here was someone else who thought discretion the better part of valor.

By phoning people we know personally, we got enough answers to convince us that Hell-Week is getting just a little out of hand. At least after 1 a.m.

Some of the answers we got were especially enlightening. The comments of the girls ranged from 'asinine' to 'childish.' So there you have it. The coeds at Idaho are not amused by your cute little tricks and other stunts. The Interfraternity Council went on record a while back as being opposed to Hell Week, especially outside the confines of your house. A majority of the wheels in your national organization are against it.

Maybe we'll have to wait until someone gets hurt at Idaho in the grand race to out-do each other during initiation horse play. Maybe someone will go far enough to get his charter lifted.

Hosack Discusses Marshall's Plan

The Marshall Plan would gain more by spending time and money in the rural areas of Europe at the expense of the populated centers, in the opinion of Dr. Robert Hosack, political science professor at the University.

"It is difficult for Americans who have not been in Europe to realize how far behind technologically the Europeans are," Dr. Hosack has said. He bases his opinions on observations made during a nine weeks tour of Europe last summer.

To illustrate his point, Dr. Hosack tells the story of a European-born employee of the General Electric company who returned to his home when he retired from his American job.

Age Old Quarrel
 Arriving in his home village, the man found a many-years-old town quarrel still going on. Local housewives were doing their laundry in a stream that fed a water hole used by town teamsters to water their donkeys.

The teamsters and the housewives were continually arguing over who had the prior right to the water in the stream.

Gathering a crew, the former GE man diverted a portion of the stream above the town. He then dammed the smaller stream, creating a second water hole on the other side of the village. An afternoon's work had erased the months of bickering and disagreement.

Need Help
 "We need someone to come into these villages," the retired employee told Dr. Hosack, "and just look around to see what can be done."

Many European-born Americans Dr. Hosack points out, do not feel the Marshall Plan is doing what it should. His personal opinion is that it is helping some but not all.

His observations have also led him to believe that some persons might be afraid to accept the Plan's benefits. He believes there might be a feeling that acceptance means a pro-American policy. Europeans are hesitant, he feels to do this in the close presence of Russian dominated states.

City Folks Favorable
 City folk in Europe are more favorable to the Marshall Plan. It gives them employment. Quite a bit of fairly modern American equipment is found in factories and on some of the farms as a result of the Plan.

Dr. Hosack also mentions the Point 4 Plan as a means of providing openings for assistance in underdeveloped countries. The setting aside of some Marshall Plan funds for expansion of rural areas

Sleuthin' The Campus

Question: What do you think of "Religious Emphasis Week?"
 Jim Van Sant, Kappa Sigma: I think it gives the student a better understanding of the purpose of religion.

Fred Williams, Campus Club: It will be good if it is publicized enough, but there has to be more behind it than there is now before the students will really know what it is about.

Dale Pickett, Delta Chi: I think it helps the student to know the leader of his church much better. It gives the students a chance to meet their church leaders on a more even basis than they do by just going to church.

Herb Pendergast, Willis Sweet: I think it's a pretty good thing but they have too many "weeks"—such as, "Be kind to your dog week," and all those. There are so many that students don't take time to read about them and find out what they are about. If they are going to have all these "drives" they should publicize them better.

Fred Pennell, University policeman: I think it's a nice thing. It will probably do a lot of good on the campus, and religion would help some students quite a bit, especially on weekends.

Anne Wycoff, Delta Gamma: I think it's a good idea. It will help those who don't go to church too often to get to know their pastors or ministers a little better.

WHAT PRICE KENAUYSAIT? 1. For hundreds of years the coast of Baffin Island in Northern Canada has been an Eskimo home and hunting ground. The Baffin Island Eskimos were known throughout the North for their skill as seal hunters and fishermen. They lived on raw seal meat and raw fish. Their existence, while primitive, was a happy one. 2. Eight years ago the Canadian government set up a system of family allowance under which the Baffin Island Eskimos received $5 a month for each child—as did all other Canadians. These allowances, called "kenauysait" by the Eskimos, represented more money than most of them had ever seen at one time. 3. To the Eskimos, their new-found wealth meant they didn't have to hunt seals or catch fish any more. Most of them left their hunting and fishing grounds and moved in close to the trading posts where they received their monthly handouts and could buy the niceties of civilization. 4. The Eskimos' new life was soft and easy—for they had complete security. But because they no longer needed to provide for themselves they lost all vigor and ambition. As a result, the government is now trying to get them to move away from the trading posts and start producing or forfeit their allowances. But this is next to impossible to accomplish. For the Eskimos have grown to depend on their security so much that they have no desire to return to their former life of freedom and independence. 5. The important point of the story is this: enslavement by security isn't something that happens only to Eskimos. In fact, millions of people all over the world see nothing wrong with a welfare society. But welfare plans are like dope. The doses are small and pleasant at first, but they eventually enslave us. For that reason, we Americans must maintain our self-reliance, our productivity and our freedom. For these things, after all, are responsible for America's greatness. Idaho Boxers Win One, Lose One Against Cougars

(Left) Fred (Red) Bowen, Vandal light-heavyweight sends a sizzling right over the head of WSC's Dan McGreevey in Thursday night action at Bohler gym in Pullman. Ike Deeter's squad won the card 5-3 and this match was the turning point in the victory. Bowen, boxing southpaw for Idaho lost a narrow decision in a free-swinging three rounds.

(Right) Ray Johnsen, undefeated 156-pounder for Idaho is about to dig a left-handed bolo into the mid-section of Cougar Ernie Peltz, Johnsen, a senior, showed classy footwork and solid punching as he copped his second straight win while in varsity togs. In other action that night Captain Lynn (Sam) Nichols pounded out his second straight decision. Jack Webster won his 139-pound bout over Kay Virgin and Larry Moyer captured a split decision over NCAA champ Gordy Gladson.

Finley Versus Friel Is Hoop Treat At Pullman Gym Tonight

Idaho's Second Place Chance At Stake With WSC Quintet

Any flickering hopes the Idaho Vandals have of grabbing second berth in the Northern Division basketball standings, go on the line tonight at Bohler gym in Pullman when Coach Chuck Finley matches wits and teams with Washington State's veteran Jack Friel. Game time is set for 7:30 p.m.

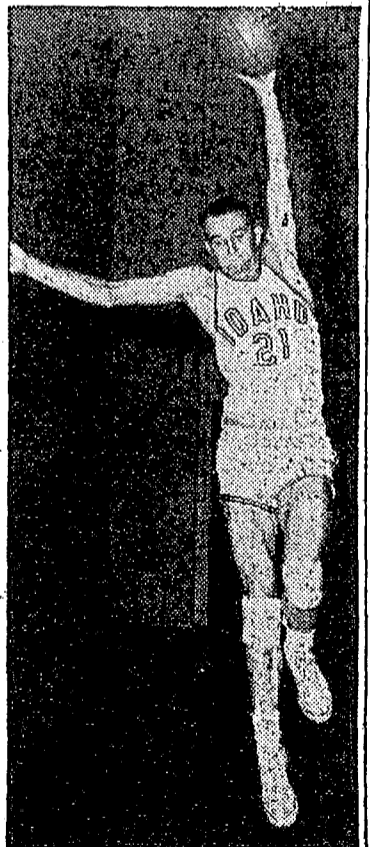

The Cougars are currently lodged deep in the Division cellar with a single win in 12 starts and have lost their last 10 games. Still, when Idaho and WSC meet, throw away the records.

— Slim Chance for Second Idaho (5-7) has only a slim mathematical chance of overtaking the second place Oregon Ducks (8-4). The Vandals must win their four remaining games with WSC and Washington, while the Webfeet drop their four to OSC and the Huskies to take the league runner-up spot.

NORTHERN DIVISION STANDINGS

Ore. State	4	8	.333	685	736
Wash. State	1	11	.083	609	786

By way of tuneup for tonight's fracas Coach Finley held workouts yesterday afternoon after a weekend layoff. Last week the Leaping 'Lefty' Melton practice sessions were limited to Thursday and Friday only. Chuck is hoping the added rest will sharpen shooting eyes and bolster team morale.

At the starting whistle the Vandals will likely be sticking with the usual lineup of McIntosh, Mather, Morrison, Kruger and Flynn. Sturdy bench assignments will come from Harlan Melton, C. W. Totten, Bob Falash, Roger Lillibridge and others.

Sorry Season for Cougars

The Cougars are nearing the close of the most disastrous hoop season in Washington State history but are still a team that can scare the best on a given night.

In one game against the powerful Washington Huskies, Friel's men led for better than three quarters and at one point had a 10 point bulge.

Captain, leading scorer and the stand-out star for the Crimson and Gray is Australian-born senior Pete Mullins. The versatile athlete from Sidney has been ham-roster and a possible threat to the Vandals is Howard McCants, 6-8 inch Negro football player from River Rouge, Michigan.

McCants is no big shakes in the scoring column but is developing into a top defensive man and rebound artist. Finley was particularly impressed with the big man's ability last weekend when WSC lost two to Oregon at Pullman.

Idaho Aiming for Four

Idaho has taken two from the Cougars already this season. The first was a 50-49 thriller at Pullman while the second at Moscow, was a 69-51 runaway.

The remaining game with the "Butch Boys" is set for Tuesday, February 24 at Memorial gym.

Cal Poly To Box Here

Coach Frank Young's varsity boxing team, still looking for its first team victory of the year, tackles the visiting California Poly mitt squad this Saturday in the Memorial gym ring.

The Mustangs will trade punches with the Vandals as part of the most ambitious road trip in the school's fistic history.

Tomorrow night the boxers from San Luis Obispo meet Chico State college. Saturday they are here and Monday they fight at Washington State. Three cards in six days.

To date the Mustangs have trampled Stanford 6½ to 1½ in their only outing.

Junior Hoopster Earns Varsity Berth

Twin Falls high school's contribution to the Vandals' maple court power is Bob "Flash" Falash. Although Bob stands only six feet tall among the tall timber that monopolizes the game, he has proven his worth in the guard position for Idaho.

As a frosh last season, Falash took full advantage of the fresh-

Flashy Falash man eligibility ruling and earned himself a varsity letter. This year Bob has firmly established himself on Cheerful Chuck's traveling squad and has seen quite a bit of action against Northern Division opponents.

As of February 7, Falash stood ninth in Idaho scoring with 61 points and seventh among the rebounders with a total of 36. These figures, coupled with a .575 free-throw average make Bob a handy man to have around.

Schedule For Golf And Tennis Is Set

Athletic officials have announced Idaho's Northern Division golf and tennis schedule. The two teams will travel together for meets this season as they did last year.

May 2—Washington at Seattle
May 8—Oregon at Moscow
May 9—Oregon St. at Moscow

Boxing Bengals Are Undefeated So Far

Idaho State college's boxing Bengals won their third dual meet of the season Saturday night as they edged the touring San Jose State Spartans 4-4. San Jose had previously tied Idaho and WSC 4-4.

Close matches repeatedly brought the crowd of 5000 to its feet. Only one fight was stopped. The referee halted the Ed Henrich-L. G. Neal (ISC) bout in the second round with Henrich the winner.

Don Ringe and Ray Lewis, senior Idaho football players were recently included in the professional draft choices of the National Football League.

Ray was drafted as an end by Los Angeles while Don got the nod from the Chicago Cardinals as a tackle.

Cougars Are Good At PCC Mat Game

Washington State's wrestling team, defending co-champions of the Pacific Coast along with San Jose State, defeated Oregon State's strong squad at Corvallis 18-11 in a Saturday match.

It was the first loss of the season for the Beavers while WSC is undefeated.

Heavyweight Vaughn Hitchcock of the Cougars pinned Glenn Gaylor in the decisive match of the afternoon.

Such an Athlete

The first incident comes by way of Charlie Boren, "Lewiston Tribune" sports editor.

"Dave Stidolph's 12-year battle for athletic recognition from the University of Montana has come to an end. Stidolph was athletic publicity director at Washington State college prior to Don Farris. It seems Stidolph, while a member of the 1941 Idaho track team, was 'borrowed' by Montana to complete the latter school's cross country team, after a Montana runner was suddenly taken ill.

Finally Got It

The schools had a policy at that time of awarding letters to those finishing among the first five.

"For almost 12 years I pestered Montana for that letter and every inquiry prompted an answer to the effect that they would consider my efforts," Stidolph says.

"Now Montana has sent me the award. I guess that would make me the only Pacific Coast conference athlete in history, or athlete in any conference, to win and receive a letter from one school while actually a student and athlete at another."

Stidolph ran for Montana under the name of Jack Armstrong, with the permission and at the suggestion of his coach, Mike Ryan, to have around.

How About This?

As if that wasn't enough to distinguish him Dave came up with another highlight a little later.

He received his B.S. degree from Idaho in 1948. Actually he should have graduated with the Class of '47, but a shift in majors delayed the degree. Then, in an unparalleled feat worthy of a publicity man, he received the degree one day at the University and moved across the state line the next day to be awarded a master's degree at Washington State college. Some man!

Before getting his present job with the Pacific Coast baseball entry from Oakland, Stidolph did publicity work for the Spokane Indians and the University of California in addition to working as athletic publicity director at WSC.

Speaking of Washington State

the current Cougar basketball squad has compiled the worst record in the history of the school. Jack Friel's club has lost 25 of 30 games this season. In fact WSC has won only two of its last 25 contests.

It's rather a bitter pill for Jack Friel who this year is celebrating his twenty-fifth year at the Crimerson and Gray helm.

According to the best available information the Memorial gymnasium basketball scoring record was set this year by Jim Padgett, player-coach of the Larson air force base.

New Grass For McLean Field Soon

"We'll soon have one of the top baseball fields in the Northern Division." Those were the words of Idaho's Graduate Manager Gale Mix as he talked about the landscaping and re-grassing project of the University's McLean field behind Memorial gym.

Already men from the buildings and grounds department have torn up the old track surrounding the field, taken out the cinders and filled in with dirt.

The entire field is being leveled and will eventually be sowed completely in grass. As soon as weather permits grass will be planted everywhere except around the baseball diamond. When baseball season is over the job will be finished.

Better Backstop for Fans

Fans watching hickory games this year will get a break as the wire backstop in front of the stands will be repaired and heightened to give better protection from foul balls. In addition the team will get some batting cages constructed for practice workouts.

Bleachers at McLean field, seating 3000, were freshly painted last season.

"This reconditioning project is something we've needed for a long time," commented Gale Mix. "It will have a hundred uses such as drill field for ROTC, intramural game field, baseball, and some football practice."

Swimmers Lose Pair In Oregon; Huskies Next

A strong University of Oregon swimming team took all but one first place as it won a Northern Division meet from the Vandals. The meet was held to take the place of the Oregon State meet which was to be cancelled. OSC has dropped swimming this year.

This weekend Idaho meets two opponents in the Memorial gymnasium pool. On Friday at 3:30 p.m. the meet will be against the potent Washington Huskies.

Saturday at 2 p.m. the Vandals face the University of British Columbia. The latter promises to be a close meet.

Don Medley was the only Vandal to take a first. The ace breast-stroker took honors in his specialty for his third straight win. Don previously took firsts against WSC and EWCE. His time at WSC was 2:41.7, his best of the year. Jerry Light placed second.

Bob Crawford took second in both the 60 and 100-yard freestyle events. Coach Erick Kirkland says Crawford is rounding into condition and should soon show the fine form he displayed as a freshman.
