

Stalin's Death Adds New Aspect To Conference

"The death of Stalin and its effect on world peace brings a new aspect to the annual Borah peace conference," Dr. Boyd A. Martin, chairman of the conference at the University, said today. The conference will be held March 18.

"The speakers at this year's conference have an unusually good background for analyzing the rapidly shifting world situation," added Martin.

The opening address in Memorial gymnasium at 9 a.m. will be given by William L. Shirer, famed for his "Berlin Diary" and radio commentating. His latest book, "Mid-century Journey," was the 1952 Literary Guild selection. In it, he analyzes the significant world changes in the last 25 years.

Up To The Minute
"My talk at the University of Idaho can be considered an up-to-the-minute postscript," he reports. "It will be titled 'America's Role in Building Global Prosperity and Peace.'"

A Britain's view on the world situation will be given by Kenneth Lindsay, for 17 years a member of the British parliament. He will emphasize the Asiatic situation in an address at 1:10 p.m.

Concluding address of the conference at 7:30 p.m. will point up the role of United Nations in the efforts for peace. H. L. Keonley-side, director general of the UN's Technological Assistance Administration, will speak on "The United Nations' Program for Aiding Under-privileged Countries."

The rumbles we've heard in the various political parties on campus have finally materialized into something concrete.

At least one party held nominations for their primary last night and according to word received, have narrowed the field to five potential candidates for the ASUI presidency.

Serving notice that they might be a force to be reckoned with, the United party chose at least one man with previous ASUI governmental experience. Bill Nixon, his hat in the political ring for the second year, goes into the primary with a valuable year's service on Executive Board behind him and a record of thorough participation in student legislation.

You can read all about the review of "Death of a Salesman" on the second page of today's paper. But whether you can feel the impact of Willie Loman as portrayed by Tom Wright is a matter for conjecture.

The audience left quietly, almost subdued, and it seemed that each person was thinking that in his or her own life there was a little bit of that figure portrayed in the University auditorium.

Our dramatic department did us proud, real proud.

WSC Club Put On Probation

Protests over half time entertainment by 34 pledges of Gray W. WSC's lettermen's honorary, has prompted WSC Dean of Students John C. Clevenger and the WSC Activities board to place the organization on probation until the close of the 1953-54 school year. The protested entertainment was put on during the half time intermission of the WSC-OSC basketball game February 20.

The group will be allowed to continue with any activities they have planned, but, according to the WSC Daily Evergreen, "any repetition of activities detrimental to the college or the lettermen's organization will call for more stringent action."

Dean Clevenger was reported to have met with WSC president C. Clement French, and Gray W. president Bill Geppert. Clevenger said that no other course was open except to follow the recommendation of the Activities board, which advised probation.

Journalism Meet Will Feature Two Speakers Here

Alice Maxwell, contributor to national magazines and a resident of Seattle, and Kenneth S. Miller, president of Western Engraving & Colorotype company in Seattle, will be speakers at the annual Idaho high school Journalism conference at the University March 27-28.

Mrs. Maxwell has had articles published in Liberty, Colliers, Woman's Home Companion and other magazines. She will speak on "Writing for Magazines." Miller will give a talk on yearbook production.

Carl Burns, instructor in journalism, estimated about 200 high school students and teachers would attend the conference. He said they expected a larger group than last year's attendance of 190.

Purpose of the journalism conference is an exchange of ideas and discussion of problems among high school journalism students. The conference will deal with high school papers and yearbooks and is in the interest of those who work on the publications.

A discussion and talk on "Modern Mimeographing" will be presented by the representatives of A. J. Mundigel company in Spokane.

'Razzia,' German Film Dealing With Postwar Blackmarket, Will Be Shown Thursday

Out of postwar Germany comes a thrilling movie to be presented by the ASUI film committee this Thursday at 4, 7 and 9 p. m. at the Borah theater. Blackmarketeering is the vivid plot subject for "Razzia," the Raid.

"This is a timely film dealing with the vital problem of black-market operations in postwar Germany. Similar to such American pictures as "Northside 777," the story itself is based on documentary reports of operations in Berlin.

Especially interesting is the fact that the camera crew was taken by the director to the actual locales of the story and much authentic footage was shot of black-market goings-on which was incorporated as background material.

"Razzia" was released in 1947 and is directed by Werner Klingner. Starring Paul Bildt and Elli Burgmer, the movie runs for 94 minutes of what some critics describe as edge-of-chair drama. Variety magazine says that the

"strong direction and bright script are only surpassed by a thoroughly capable cast. . . it has pace, change of mood and humor besides dramatic potency."

Police Raid
Although a German movie, the title "Razzia" is an Italian word meaning police raid. This term came into accepted usage in many European countries during the period when such raids were a daily occurrence.

Additional Rehearsal Scheduled

With 29 acts on Saturday's talent show agenda, Blue Key members were forced to schedule an additional rehearsal period, 6-8 p. m. Wednesday in the Borah theater. All acts which have not yet rehearsed will do so at this time.

Last Saturday's rehearsal illustrated a good cross-section of what the show will include. Approximately half the acts shown were of a serious nature, the others were comedy. No entries were accepted after Friday, and several numbers were turned away.

Most of the skits and performances were timed at about four minutes, which should provide a fast-moving, varied show for the audience. The final show is scheduled Saturday in the gymnasium. Special lighting effects under direction of Bob Fullmer will increase the showmanship of the numbers.

Those groups which will rehearse Wednesday are Beverly May, Tri-Delt, comic reading; Shirley Allberg and Joan Jabbera, Hays, vocal duet; Jane LeBarge, Tri-Delt, accordion solo; Kappa, tap dance and soft shoe; Madge Foster, Gamma Phi, interpretive dance; Ray Skillings, Delt, accordion solo; Alpha Chi Omega skit; Mary Verner, Hays, reading; Clyde Hanley, Idaho club, single comedy; Cynthia Karburg and Darlene Marsters, Delta Gamma, serious voice duet.

Any of the above who do not appear for the Wednesday night rehearsal will be dropped from the show because it is necessary to know the length of the skits for final scheduling. The participants will be notified of their appearance time at rehearsal before Wednesday evening.

Korean Veterans Are On Increase

The number of Korean veterans enrolled at the University for the second semester is almost double that of the first semester, Registrar D. D. DuSault said today.

Last semester the number was 58. This semester it has jumped to 102. The Korean veterans are receiving educational benefits under Public Law 550.

"We are experiencing the same situation we did after the end of World War II," said DuSault. "Returning veterans are not waiting until fall to get started again with their interrupted education, but are enrolling as soon as they can when released from the armed services."

GLEN EXUM, Mountain Climber

Mountain Climber Exum To Show Film On Tetons At Public Events Assembly

The public events assembly tomorrow night at 8 o'clock will feature Glen Exum, former Idaho graduate and operator of the summer school of American Mountaineering at Grand Teton national park.

Exum will show for the first time in the West, a colored movie, "Teton Adventure," and will lecture on mountain climbing.

The movie features three well-known climbers, Paul K. Petzoldt, also a former Idaho graduate; Virginia Garner and Exum.

Exum, who now teaches music in Kellogg high school in the winters, was a member of the University Pep band in the early thirties. His career in mountain climbing began when he joined a dance band at Teton park during a vacation.

Exum says that in the last 10 years mountain climbing has become a major American sport. He says it offers more of a challenge than some other sports.

First In West
The movie-Exum will show has been shown on movie and TV screens in the East, but its showing tomorrow night will be its first in the Western states.

The Matterhorn of America, the Grand Teton, has been climbed by few men—and only one American, Exum.

Both Petzoldt and Exum have escorted thousands of climbers on climbs up American mountains. Petzoldt, who now lives at Jackson, Wyoming, has been on numerous expeditions to Mexico, South America, Tibet and Europe. He was a member of the American Alpine expedition to K2, the world's second highest peak, climbing at that time to a height of 27,000 feet, an elevation formerly considered impossible without the aid of oxygen.

Entertainment for the program will be furnished by Charles LaFollette, Mary Verner and Michael Rosse who will present a program of French music.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be held in Willis Sweet hall. Annual election of officers is also scheduled for the meeting.

Anyone who is interested in the French language and culture is invited to attend.

Give It Now

An old sage once said, "I am only going to be on this earth once, so any good that I can do, let me do it now, for I shall not pass this way again."

We might all take this line into consideration when we reach into our pockets to support the Campus Chest drive. Sure, we all have troubles; not enough money for gas for the car; only two dates this weekend; maybe you won't have enough to buy that new pair of shoes till next week.

Yeah, it's tough. Even the subways are in a hole. But when it comes to helping give food to a foreign student who's starving while he's trying to study, how can you find reasonable grounds for refusal? When it comes to helping provide a place and a staff to care for homeless children, where do you get off saying "No"?

Those students (receiving aid from WSSF, a recipient of Campus Chest funds) have as much right to an education as you have. Those children (being cared for at the North Idaho Children's home, also a receiver of Campus Chest funds) have a very definite right to enjoy a bed and three squares a day.

These are only two of the very worthy organizations which you will help support by your contributions to the Campus Chest drive. Don't pass the buck—give it, you won't be coming this way again. A. G. D.

Borah Presented Colorful Figure

"You people over at Idaho don't know how lucky you are to have the name Borah attached to your conference."

It wasn't an Idahoan that paid this tribute to the magic name of Idaho's famous senator.

It was one of the top administrators over at WSC, the University of Idaho's friendly rival. The name Borah was enough, he went on, to make the conference stick in people's minds in a day and age they are always holding a meeting.

Without knowing it, he was taking issue with Senator Borah himself, who commented that the work of the Foundation was too important to be named after any one person. But the name was insisted upon by Salmon O. Levinson, the Chicago attorney who endowed the Foundation and honored the University of Idaho by making it the recipient of the endowment.

Eleanor Roosevelt Speaks
Past activities of the Foundation, which holds its annual conference at the University March 15, have been colorful. One of the earliest speakers was Eleanor Roosevelt. In later times, men of national reputation too numerous to list have delivered addresses at the conferences. For example—when the famous University of Chicago Round Table last Sunday brought together a special panel to discuss the probable results of the death of Joseph Stalin, two of the three participants were men who had come to Moscow to speak at Borah conferences.

Noted Guests
Of all the guests in past years, three who attended the first have specially captured the imagination of those who met them. The three were Mrs. William E. Borah, widow of the senator, and her two sisters, Mrs. Max Luedemann of Portland and Mrs. Ben Bush of Moscow. Mrs. Borah crossed the continent from Washington D.C., her present home, where the old timers still reverence her as "Little Borah."

Who Was Borah?
On the Idaho campus, recently, someone asked, "Who was Senator Borah, anyway?" If anyone else wonders, he can look at a series of articles in the Saturday Evening Post in the early twenties—articles by the famous Will Rogers about his travels in Europe, where he visited the heads of states, crowned and otherwise.

The articles were in the form of letters—addressed not to the president of the United States, but to Senator Borah. In these "letters of a Self-Made Diplomat," Rogers explained that he had thought of addressing them to the president, but he had decided, instead, to send them to the man higher up.

'Death Of Salesman' Reviewed As Best Seen At Idaho

Orchids to the ASUI players for their recent production of Arthur Miller's "Death of a Salesman." With a few minor exceptions, the show was the best, from a technical standpoint, that this writer has seen on the Idaho campus.

Essentially, the play is the story of a commercial man defeated by his own commercial world. Willy Loman could sell just about anything but himself. In addition, personal difficulties combine to complicate his life to the point that his whole existence becomes both worthless and unbearable.

Tom Wright, a veteran to the breaking down entirely and sobbing on Willy's shoulder. Here was a glimmer of very fine acting.

Charley, the friend (Paul Matthews), and son, Bernard (Pat George), were adequate for their roles, although at the beginning Charley seemed just a bit too much like a college boy, and Bernard displayed throughout a tendency to rush his lines and to assume gross and ungainly stage postures.

Matthews was entirely in sympathy with his part in the scene where Willy asks him for a large sum of money to pay his insurance premium. He deserves high praise for that scene alone.

Other members of the cast included Ida May Collette, Duane Ness, Stowell Johnstone, Betty Ruth Westerberg, Paul Ackerman, Cal Riggs, Dolly Fox, and Nancy Leek.

This corner, while commending the production as the finest in three years, will speak out against the gross cutting of lines from the original Miller opus. Perhaps this was done in the sake of "decentcy and morality," but "Death of a Salesman" is not concerned with sweetness and light, and anyone who would be offended by some of the lines cut would probably be offended by the entire play even without the supposedly offensive lines.

The staging and lighting, by technical director E. M. Chavez, and Hugh Burgess, added to the fine effect of the show. Technical work on all of this year's shows has been far above the usual calibre.

Drama director Jean Collette and her entire cast are offered the resounding thanks from this corner for an excellent bit of theatre. Dispensing with the usual curtain calls left us with a mood and emotion not easily forgotten. —K. K.

Spring Arrives In The Land Of Vandal

By All Dieffenbach
And it came to pass that Spring arrived unto the Land of the Vandals, and 'twas toward the end of the week that it came. Many and light were the hearts cavorting hither and yon about the campus. Great was the multitude assembled round about for to play at Games and many were the weary Carcaasses attendant upon lectures when arrived they the next day.

Creatures, yea, many Creatures removed their Bodies from out the woodwork in like manner as do the Bugs when cometh the Spring. And Housemothers, verily an legion of them, delivered unto their charges lectures sage and virtuous, fraught with suspicion.

"Verily, verily I say unto you," spake an Mother of an House of Women, "take heed for thyself when thou wand'rest about in yonder Arboretum. Take heed with whom thou goest and where thou sittest, lest the Chlorophyll from the Grass should get in thy blood."

And spake another, "Carry with thee an Stave, stout and strong, wherewith to beat off any who would offend thee, for remember that when cometh the Spring, an Young Man's fancy is ever like to turn to thoughts of Love."

And it came to pass that there was great rejoicing in the Land of the Vandals for happy were the Young Women with their new knowledge as they disported themselves round about the wooded regions.

To Be Guest Conductor

Professor Carl Claus of the University music department staff will serve as guest conductor of the Portland Symphony orchestra when it plays his composition "Horizons" this Friday, it was learned here today.

Professor Claus' composition first appeared in 1944 under the title "Three Sketches for Orchestra." Two years ago, after some previous revision, the scores were sent to James Sample, conductor of the Portland Symphony orchestra. He suggested that the work be further expanded into a larger form.

The work was then renamed "Horizons, Three Pieces for Orchestra," and subtitled "Horizon No. 1, High Upon a Hilltop;" "Horizon No. 2, Wandering and Wondering;" and "Horizon No. 3, Onward."

Among the four major symphonic orchestras on the Pacific coast the Portland group not only ranks high but is one of the oldest.

HOURS EXTENDED
(ACP)—Closing hours for women's houses at Kansas State college have been extended a half-hour to 10:30 p.m. on week nights. The ruling was made despite strong opposition from frosh coeds. The freshmen feared a time extension might hurt scholarship, result in less sleep. Upperclassmen had no such doubts—they voted for extension.

At a Hollywood party a close friend of the well-known—but not too well-liked star was among those present. Soon she was pouring out a silly sentimental story about how wonderful her actress friend was.

"And the most wonderful part about her?" gushed the woman, "is that she's so wonderful to her inferiors."

"Tell me," queried a listener sweetly, "wherever does she find them?"

Bowen's Win Earns Draw For Idaho Boxers

Idaho boxers narrowly scraped out a 4-4 draw with Washington State in Memorial gym action Friday night. The deciding point was the third round of the light-heavyweight bout. Trailing on points in his match, Vandal Fred Bowen came out swinging. He bloodied the nose of undefeated Dan McGreevy and sufficiently lambasted the Cougar ace to take a split decision. It was Idaho's fourth win of the evening.

Ski Squad Dominates At McCall Open Meet

Four Trophies Are Captured; Numbers And Knarvik Excel

By Art Andraitis

Idaho's high riding slalom riders chalked up another weekend of victories by winning four out of nine trophies and dominating the field at the Payette Lakes Ski Club annual open tournament held Sunday near McCall, Idaho.

The meet, which featured stiff competition among top skiers in the jumping and slalom, was controlled by the five Vandals who made the journey to McCall.

They captured two out of three firsts, racked up a second in the slalom and brought the third place combined trophy home to Moscow. As this was an open meet points were figured for individuals and not on a team basis.

Muddy Numbers won his second slalom victory in two starts when he turned on the heat, scoring the best slalom time. Norm Geertsen pounded close behind Muddy and secured second berth in this hotly contested race with less than two seconds more total time.

Slalom Race Tricky Torre Gristofersen copped seventh place after taking a bad spill which slowed him down on his first run. Bill Marr and Kjell Knarvik finished in the 11th and 12th slots for Idaho.

This was Knarvik's first slalom race and both he and Marr chalked up excellent times over the tricky course. The race was a tight one with only 16 seconds separating the fastest and slowest times turned in by some of the best skiers in the Northwest including two former Olympic contestants.

Kjell Knarvik completely outclassed his competition in form and distance, with leaps of 204, 200, and 209 feet to take the jumping crown. Knarvik's jumping win coupled with his slalom points won for him the third place combined trophy. Bill Marr, the only other Vandal to try for combined honors jumped to seventh place and also seventh in the combined.

Cary Engen and Ted Nelson kept the first and second combined trophies in McCall for the second consecutive year.

Norwegian Skier Aids Vandal Team

Spending his first year in the United States at Idaho, Olaf Stavik has won praise and many friends among the skiers of the Northwest while skiing on the Vandal squad. Olaf, rather "Olie" as he is better known, is rated among the best Nordic events men in the Northwest.

So far this season, Olie has piled up a very good record against very stiff competition. Out of three starts he has won first in cross country at Banif and Leavenworth and combined honors at Leavenworth.

Star Back Home Olie has done quite a bit of skiing since he was two or three years old, and won many honors in his homeland. In 1947 he was jumping champ at Norway's Landsrend, a national meet, the biggest in the country. Also in 1947 he set a distance record of 70 meters at Homonkollen, Norway's most famous jump. Then he took the Nordic combined student champ title in both 1951 and 1952.

Besides being a top notch skier, Stavik is also a good student. He is studying electrical engineering under an SAE scholarship and is a very welcome addition to both the Idaho campus and Vandal Ski team.

A gentleman thinks more of other peoples' feelings than he thinks of his own rights. And he thinks more of others rights than he thinks of his own feelings.

Record Point Total Made By Fin Team In ND Meet

Idaho's swimming team, coached by Eric Kirkland, closed out the 1953 season with an excellent showing at the Northern Division meet at Pullman last weekend when they scored 26 points, or five more than any Vandal tank squad has done before.

Before this year the best Idaho had done in the Northern Division championships was the 21 points made in 1946.

University of Washington took its third straight division title with a smashing total of 162 at the Cougar pool while Washington State followed with 80 and Oregon with 67 counters.

A Second Place The closest Idaho got to a first place was in the 50-yard freestyle event. Bob Crawford was edged out by Bill Revere of Honolulu, swimming for the Huskies. Revere's time was 24.4.

Breast-stroker Don Medley placed twice for the Vandals. In the 200-yard breast-stroke event Don grabbed fourth spot while finishing sixth in the 100-yard race.

Jerry Light beat out Medley for fifth spot in the 100-yard breast-stroke contest. It was the first time Light had outlocked Don in official competition this season.

Captain Rich Bradbury added valuable points to Idaho's collection when he placed sixth in the 100-yard backstroke. Oregon's Yosh Terada won in 1:04.6, a new pool record.

George Larsen of Idaho also placed sixth in the 220-yard freestyle.

Third in Relay Kirkland's squad splashed to 3rd spot in the 300-yard relay ahead of Oregon. In the 400-yard freestyle relay Idaho finished fourth.

At the two-day meet three new pool records and one conference record were shattered, with Washington getting two and the Oregon Webfeet one.

Records Set Pool records were by Bob Hamblin of Washington in the 100-yard backstroke; Dick Magnuson of Washington in the 100-yard breast-stroke, while Yosh Terada of Oregon established the only conference meet record by swimming the 150-yard medley in 1:36.

Merle Hodges, Washington's all-American diving star, drew generous applause as he won his third straight Northern Division title.

Baseball Prospects Practicing Daily At McLean Field

Taking full advantage of the current good weather, Vandal baseball prospects are working out daily on McLean field in back of the gym. Looking ahead to the Northern Division baseball race Coach Chuck Finley indicates the Vandals will be better off than usual.

The diamond staff includes a pitching crew of five, a top catcher in senior Jerry Ogle and veterans at every spot.

The hurling corps will be headed by Mel Reynolds and Dick Dodel, both righthanders and Harlan Melton, a lefty. Backing them up will be Tom Flynn, right-hander and Wayne Patrick, a port-sider. Flynn played freshman ball year before last but did not turn out for the diamond sport last season.

Finley indicated that Bruce McIntosh, senior, would be moved in from centerfield to take over the first base spot in the infield with Earl Huffman resuming where he left off last season at second base.

Larry Morrison lettered last season at shortstop and will be trying again this season although Bud Nelson, a sophomore, is reported to be a strong candidate for the spot. Wayne Anderson, senior, who has pitched for the two previous years, is the most likely candidate for the third base spot.

In the outfield Finley will have such candidates as Flip Kleffner, a hard-hitting sophomore; Bill Stellman, and Dave Paulson, lettermen. Other outfield candidates will include Bob Falash and Jay Buhler.

California Beckons To Boxing Team

Boxing Coach Frank Young and a nine man traveling squad will leave here Thursday morning by plane and fly to California for a Friday night card with the San Jose State mitt club.

Making the trip will be varsity boxers Tom Howard, Herb Joo, Jack Webster, Lynn Nichols, Ray Johnsen, Don Anderson, Fred Bowen and Hal Solinsky. Also going will be senior manager Jim Broyles.

Idaho tied the Spartans 4-4 earlier in the season at Memorial gym. Winning bouts for the Vandals at that time were Nichols, Johnsen, Bowen and Solinsky.

Revenge Earned Revenge of a sort was gained Friday night as Young's club drew with the visiting Washington State Cougars 4-4. The card was unimpressive until the last two bouts.

In the light-heavyweight match Fred Bowen earned Idaho at least a tie when he decimated classy sophomore Dan McGreevy in a wild three rounds.

McGreevy had previously won four straight fights. He was wearing a good luck shamrock stitched to his trunks but it didn't do him any good. Bowen cast boxing savvy to the winds and just waded in. He scored heavily in the third round to take a very narrow split verdict.

Referee Carl Maxey favored Bowen 30-29 as did judge Joe Miltenberger, 29-28 but the other judge, Fred Williams, saw Dan in front 29-28.

Results: 125—Eddie Olson (WSC) dec. Tom Howard (I), 30-28, 30-27, 30-27.

132—Gil Inaba (WSC) dec. Herb Joo (I), 30-27, 30-27, 29-26.

156—Ray Johnsen (I) dec. Ernie Pelto (WSC), 30-29, 30-28, 29-28.

165—Chuck Morgan (WSC) dec. Don Anderson (I), 30-26, 30-28, 29-27.

Hwt.—Ron Kalafa (WSC) dec. Hal Solinsky (I), 30-27, 30-25, 30-24.

Most folks who think a loud voice sounds like intelligence are only hearing the echo from an empty head.

Dear Sweat Socks, We want you to know that, as a group and as individuals, we are behind you 100 per cent in any campaign for a new swimming pool that you consider it advisable to wage.

We do not feel that it is at all selfish of the students to ask for a new pool. Swimming is one of the FEW sports that is in every way good for the individual participating in it. It has high therapeutic values.

Moreover, not only the students use the pool, but the faculty as well. Many members of the faculty swim regularly to keep physically fit. They feel better after a swim and, more important, it's good for them!

It is our hope that members of the faculty, as well as every other living group on campus, join us in this pledge of support.

Sincerely, Delta Gamma Editor's note: This is the kind of response that will eventually snowball and get us our swimming pool. Thanks Delta Gamma and free coffee for you gals any time.

Pair Of Golfers Return From Great 1952 Squad

With approximately one month remaining before the first golf match, Vandal prospects are slowly starting to whip themselves into shape. For the last three weeks, candidates have been turning out in Clarkston and Lewiston.

Only two lettermen are back this season and chances for the Vandals to turn out another great team are slim. Out of the first six men of the 1952 team, Dale Faylor, John Drips, Sam Jenkins and Fred Stringfield were lost via graduation.

Last year's team, acclaimed by many as the best team in the history of golf at Idaho, lost to Washington in the Northern Division play-offs by one stroke.

Campbell and Weitz Back The Vandals retained their two strongest men in Bob Campbell, a sophomore, and Phil Weitz, a junior. According to coach Dick Snyder, both Campbell and Weitz are rated tops on the Pacific Coast.

Campbell, in addition to being campus champ this year, was runner-up to Sonny Hiskey, the Texas university star, in the finals of the Idaho State Amateur staged in Idaho Falls. Both Campbell and Weitz have held junior titles in the state.

The rest of the squad will be chosen from such boys as Tom Miller, Korean veteran, Dave Powell, Wayne Solomon, Jack Perry, Lefty Melton, Jerry Riggers, Gary Farmer, Don Sullivan and Tom Peirson, transfer from Duke university.

With Washington and Oregon both strong this year, the Idaho club will have to show power in order to represent the Pacific Coast in the NCAA finals held this year in Lincoln, Nebraska.

Coach Snyder said that the team could prove to be better than last year's. Campbell and Weitz will be relied on heavily to carry most of the burden for the Vandals, while the success of the team will depend on how the new boys improve during the course of the season.

Huskies Win PCC

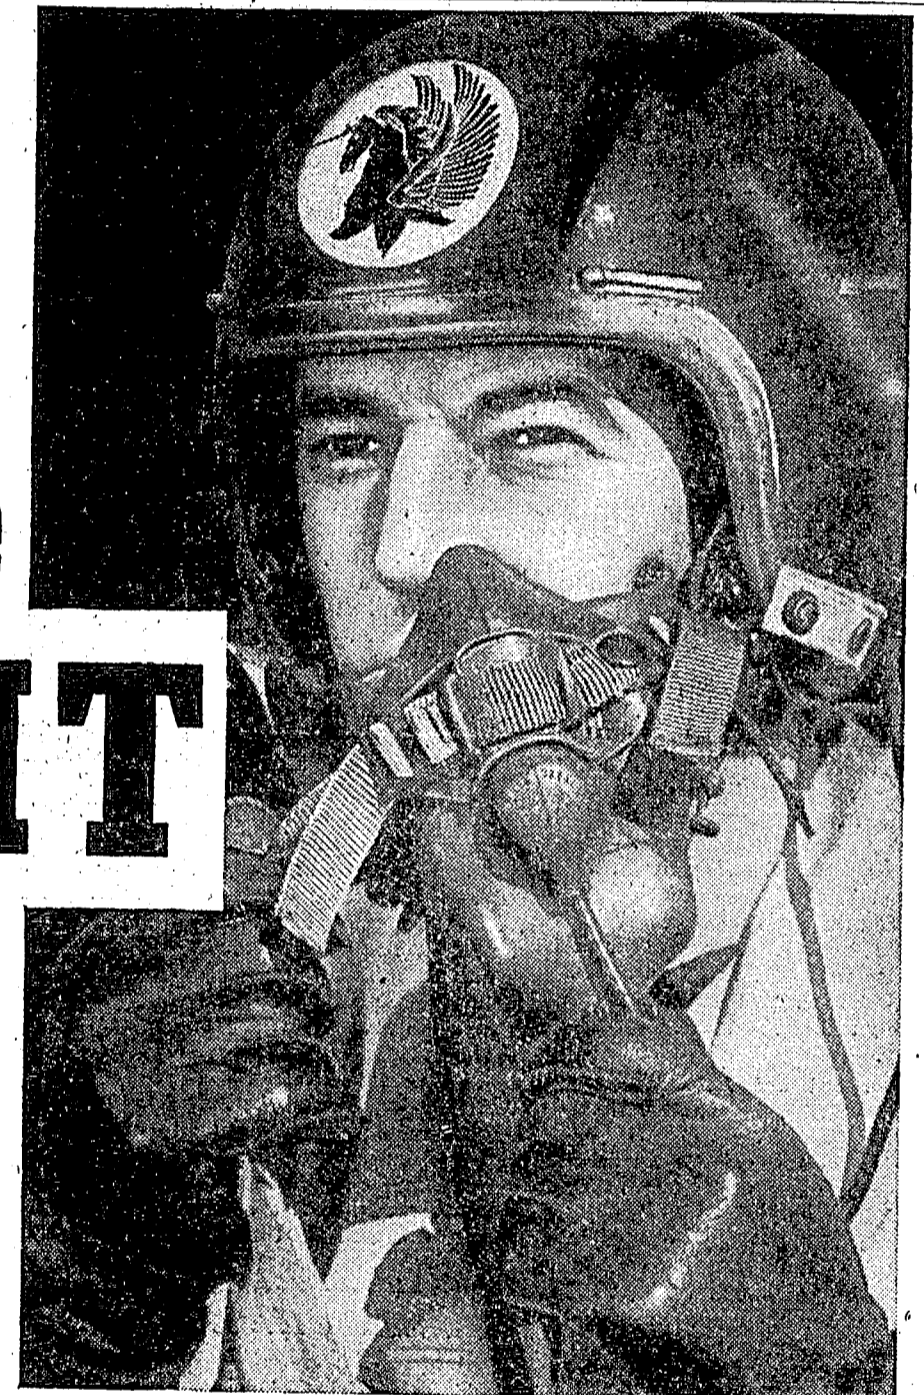

Washington's fabulous hoop quintet claimed the PCC basketball title last week after crushing California's Golden Bears in two straight games, 60-47 and 80-57.

Bob Houbregs dunked 49 points for the series while Joe Cipriano got 36 to lead the Huskies.
