Death in an atomic attack will not be selective, Dr. Hugh L. Keenleyside told the Borah Peace conference Wednesday night. Dr. Keenleyside, who is director-general of the UN Technical Assistance administration, spoke on "The Impending Crisis."

No real protection exists against an atomic bomb attack. The fear of retaliation acts as a deterrent to Russian action. Technological advantages are not possible for any considerable period of time. Russian scientists can readily duplicate scientific discoveries made in the free world.

"Ya' know, politics are really funny. Especially right here on the campus. We'd venture to say that only a fraction of the student body pays any attention to them all year, and when spring elections roll around, you've got a gang all fired up but probably not even aware of the workings of the preferential voting system."

Teachers, Not Soldiers
Teachers sent to backward nations today may prevent the need for sending soldiers tomorrow. Unless the free world aids weak nations, they will accept communism, he added. Money spent on aid is currently being reduced while money spent for armament is increasing. The logical conclusion to such a program is atomic. World War III.

The League of Nations fell because it did not consider the economic and cultural needs of individuals. Technical assistance dates back to Biblical times. King Solomon, considering the erection of a magnificent temple, enlisted the aid of Hiram, king of Tyre, whose people were famous for their artistic skill.

The modern program has one significant difference: today, all nations have joined to provide a common reservoir of technical knowledge from which all countries desiring aid can draw.

All Answers Not Known
Dr. Keenleyside pointed out that no nation knows all the answers. The pooling of knowledge will result in a higher standard of living for everyone.

The technical assistance program is doomed unless additional appropriations are forthcoming, the U.N. official pointed out. People throughout the world have suddenly realized that a better life is possible. Increased demands from backward areas for technical knowledge have strained the present budget to the breaking point.

Canadian Speaker Compares Nations

By Ray D. Sipes
"We Canadians like to think we have a better system of government than the Americans," Dr. H. L. Keenleyside, director-general of the United Nations Technical Assistance program, said Wednesday.

In his opinion, Canada's parliamentary plan is superior to that of the United States in many respects, although the United States does excel in some things—as discussions like the Borah Peace conference.

He doesn't think that Canada and the United States will ever join together into one country. Canadians feel they have different problems, a different governmental plan, and different relations abroad.

There are excellent job possibilities in Canada for the American student, according to Dr. Keenleyside. Many students go there now, and a good percentage of them become naturalized Canadians.

In Canada there is no constant war between the executive and legislative branches, as the United States has for the past 20 years. A cabinet member there has to be a member of the legislature, and he has to appear in the legislature every day to give an account of his policies.

The Canadian civil service system extends all the way up to the deputy minister. No director of a bureau there ever argues on political problems. He is a civil servant, and conducts himself accordingly. This gives the job some degree of permanency and they can get good men to accept them.

Better Education System
Dr. Keenleyside says that the Canadian educational system, too,

Air Force Plans Huge Encampment

The largest AFROTC summer camp in the organization's history will use 61 Air Force bases throughout the United States this summer. The camps will host AFROTC students, mainly juniors and seniors, through a four week's program.

The camps will begin their training periods June 22, and July 20 and 27. Students will be sent to camps near their home colleges as much as possible.

Bases in the Northwest are Fairchild, Larson and McChord in Washington, and Hill in Utah.

The camp period will begin with a 16-hour processing and orientation period, in which the students will be issued uniforms and given complete medical examinations.

During the 188-hour program, cadets will be orientated toward training with airforce equipment. The cadets, who will be rotated in command positions as much as possible, will take orientation flights in various types of military aircraft.

AFROTC cadets will be given the same status regarding accommodations, PX privileges, and social aspects as West Point cadets insofar as base facilities will permit.

Development of leadership qualities in the cadets will draw constant emphasis throughout the four-week encampment.

U, I Party Nominates Tomorrow

Tomorrow at 1 p.m. the second annual general nominating assembly of the U and I party will get underway in the SUB. Conference rooms "A" and "B," and the Borah theater have been reserved.

First on the list will be a selection of a vote-counting committee by a show of hands vote. Next will be presidential candidate selection, followed by the selection of the executive board slate. The platform material will be handled last due to the considerable length of time this particular phase takes.

All those planning to nominate are advised to know whether their candidate meets the requirements—he must be either a junior or senior as of next fall, and have a cumulative grade point average above 2.0. Nominating speeches listing qualifications should be limited to about two minutes.

Veteran Insurance Payments Clarified

Those veterans eligible for regular dividends on their National Service life insurance policies should not expect cash payments earlier than 60 days following the anniversary date of their policy, according to the Veterans' administration.

The VA said earlier reports announcing that another regular annual dividend would be paid in 1953 on policies in force three months or longer after the anniversary date in 1952, left the erroneous impression that policyholders would receive their dividends in the next few weeks.

Phi Tau House Fire

The Phi Tau house was the scene of a small fire yesterday afternoon at 5:30 when a paper box went ablaze in the attic. Firemen were called but no damage was reported. Fire Chief Carl Smith attributed the blaze to a careless smoker.

Living groups competing are Pi Beta Phi with "Kavelis," a Lithuanian polka; Alpha Chi Omega, "Lauterback," a German waltz; Alpha Phi, "La Jesuita," a Mexican schottische; Hays hall, "Laces and Graces," an American two-step; Delta Gamma, a Swedish schottische; Ridenbaugh hall, "The Black Nag," an English dance.

Forney hall is presenting "Korobuska," a Russian Schottische; Kappa Alpha Theta, "The Hunter's Quadrille," a German dance; Gamma Phi Beta, "Kaufaska," a Moravian Polka, and Kappa Kappa Gamma, the "Blue Pacific Waltz," American.

The girls participating in the American and foreign square and round dances will wear colorful costumes representing the country in which their dances originated. The competition will be judged

Britisher Tells Of Danger Of Western Aid To Asia

The present danger in Western aid to Asia is that too little will be sent too late, according to Kenneth Lindsay, former British parliament member, who addressed the Borah Peace conference Wednesday.

In normal times no food shortages existed in many areas of South Asia, but the war dislocated and damaged the entire structure. Food is the basic need today. Improvements must come in all phases of agricultural science. Irrigation systems must be developed, fertilizer provided, pests must be controlled, and improved seeding methods employed.

The need for technically trained men and women is paramount, he added. These individuals must possess general as well as special knowledge. "If you don't know the teachings of Marx, how can you combat them?" Lindsay asked. "Success can only come through identifying ourselves with the struggle in Asia. Persons sent to Asian countries must possess a knowledge of politics and share in the hopes and fears of the people."

Germany, with its vast reservoir of technical skills, should be utilized in this altruistic endeavor. The entire burden of Asian recovery must not be thrown on the United States. Capital should flow to Asia, but Asians must be encouraged to invest in their own country.

Challenge to West
Rapid recovery of South Asia, with its 500 million inhabitants, is a challenge to the west. Prior to 1940, every country in South Asia depended for its support on some country in Europe. India's increased population has raised its need for imports. Trade with Asia (continued on page two)

"Study History," Lindsay Suggests

To prepare for peace a college student should concentrate on history, with a good amount of politics and logic, explained Kenneth Lindsay, Borah conference speaker. "All this emphasis on silly psychology courses is not necessary," remarked Lindsay, glancing to R. E. Farley who was within earshot.

To gather opinions and express yourself clearly without pushing your own opinion is a goal for which each student should strive. Logical thinking and regard for others is important, said Lindsay, wiping his glasses with his large polka-dot handkerchief.

A typical British sense of humor was evident throughout Lindsay's frank, straightforward statements in both the lectures and forums. The Briton's (not an Englishman!) down-to-earth personality was evident in his afternoon forum. The audience was given a good show when Lindsay commented on the forum discussion.

Lindsay had one pertinent suggestion in regard to the Borah conferences. "People might study up on the problems before the conference." Some of the questions asked during the discussion had no bearing on the theme of the problem, he said.

The conference would gather more interest if the problems were set up and discussed in University classes, possibly a month before the conference. Students and faculty members should know enough

WSC Group Guest Of Campus Cooks

Varied entertainment was the program last Monday in the music building when 55 cooks from the WSC Campus Cooks club were entertained by members of the Idaho Campus Cooks club, according to Mrs. Bertha Henning, president of the local group.

The cooks toured the new music building and were entertained by students from various houses.

Entertainment with a St. Patrick's day theme was provided by Jo Murelaga who played several accordion solos, Po Ping Wong, vocal solos and Jim Richardson and Don McCabe who played piano duets.

The Kappa Sig Ranchhouse Boys — Paul Greenwalt, Ray Ragan, Dick Croly, John McDermott, Bob McAllister, Pete DeLong, Neil Harker, Jim Van Sant, Scotty Heter and Jack Gardner — presented "Dangerous Dan McGrew."

Those in charge of entertainment were Mrs. Dorothy Hunter, Mrs. Ruby Lowell, and Mrs. Amanda Vandiwalker. Refreshments were served.

Four Coeds Win Offices

Four coeds won officers in yesterday's AWS primary elections and six others will vie for the positions of president and May Queen in the final election next Thursday.

Sally Landers, new AWS secretary; Karen Hinckley, treasurer; Betty Westerberg, Maid of Honor, and Vonda Jackson, Page, had such a majority of votes that election officials considered them elected, according to Mary Hansen, present coed's vice president.

Next Thursday coeds will choose between Nathelle Bales, Jody Ennis and Colleen Hinchey for president, and Erlene Clyde, Sheila Janssen and Dolores Uria for May queen.

Voting for these two positions was so close the run-off elections will have to include three names instead of the usual two. As is customary, the highest number of votes in the presidential contest will elect the new president, and the second highest will elect the vice president.

Four To Go To California Speech Meet

Ken Korhner, James Costley, Herbert Pendergast, and Fred Williams will represent the University of Idaho in the 29th annual conference of the Pacific Forensic League to be held at the University of Southern California March 23 to 26. Debate Coach Dr. A. E. Whitehead will accompany the group.

Two teams will debate the question, "Resolved that the Congress of the U. S. should enact a compulsory Fair Employment Practices Act." Korhner and Costley will debate the affirmative side of the question while Williams and Pendergast will take the negative.

The group will also participate in a series of panel discussions on the topic, "How can we most effectively combat the threat of communism." Ken Korhner will act as chairman of one panel. Several of the discussions will be televised.

In speaking competition, Herb Pendergast will enter a contest in oratory; Williams will enter after dinner speaking; and James Costley will enter extemporaneous speaking.

For the past two years Idaho has placed second in both debate and extemporaneous speaking. Idaho delegates have also been selected to present special speeches before classes and other audiences on various aspects of the discussion topics.

Dr. A. E. Whitehead, coach, is one of the judges and chairman of the extemporaneous speaking contest, and chairman of the committee on the League's constitution.

The Pacific Forensic League is the oldest forensic organization on the Pacific coast. It was established in 1924. Idaho has been a member since 1928. Other members are Arizona, USC, UCLA, University of California, Stanford, Oregon, Oregon State, Washington, Nevada, and Whitman.

Poll Shows College Students Disfavor Race Segregation

(ACP) — Seventy-six per cent of the college students throughout the country disapprove of enrollment policies which discriminate against Negroes, according to the Associated Collegiate Press national student opinion poll.

Students from all over the country were asked: What is your opinion of college policies which state that Negroes may not enroll there?

Students from the south were more evenly split than northern students in their answers. Southern students voted 35 per cent in favor of segregation and 53 per cent against it, while the North gave five per cent for and 90 per cent against.

Those who approve of segregation often point to equal but separate school facilities. "Equivalent schooling can usually be provided elsewhere," says a freshman at Agnes Scott college, a girls' school in Atlanta, Ga.

"Negroes have their own colleges where whites may not enroll," says an engineering junior at The Citadel, Charleston, South Carolina.

A sophomore at Gustavus Adolphus college, Minn., comments: "The sooner we realize Negroes are human and will act human if treated in such a way, the better it will be for all."

A male education student at Southeastern Missouri State Teachers college thinks "mixing" would be "uncomfortable for both white and colored races." But he adds, "I don't mean Mexican and other dark races."

The two per cent who duck the question by choosing "other," usually say the decision "is up to the board of trustees."

Practical Training Given Secretaries

University of Idaho senior coeds in secretarial studies are getting part of their training in a new "on-the-job" program by working part-time in University offices.

The program, part of an advanced class in secretarial studies, is designed to integrate the classwork taken by students through their four years of college with actual office experience, according to Bruce I. Blackstone, head of the department. Students work six hours a week for about nine weeks during the semester to receive credit in the course.

Coeds taking the new course are Ann Royer and Virginia Heller, working in the educational field service office; Jean Royer and Mary Hansen, working in the college of engineering office, and Dorothy Altman, working in the University business office.

The guy decided to reform. He cut out smoking the first week. The second week he cut out drinking. He cut out women the third week. The fourth week he cut out paper dolls.

Here's More About—Frosh King, Queen

It is important to European economies, especially to Great Britain. "One of the casualties of the Korean war was the Marshall plan program itself. By 1950 the Marshall plan had run half its term, but hadn't finished its job," Lindsay said.

Prior to the shift from economic aid to military preparedness, Britain was out of the red. The Korean war, however, altered the entire picture. Owing to the rapid rise in prices Britain was forced to reduce imports.

If it were not for the Russian threat, the problems today would not be so serious, he added. Re- armament and the cold war divert channels of free trade. The free world must gear for increased armament and agricultural production despite the trend of population away from rural areas.

Lindsay expressed the belief that disaster would result if Russia suddenly began cooling like a dove.

Business Faculty Honored At Tea

Faculty members of the school of business administration were honored at the annual Phi Chi Theta tea, held Sunday in the south ballroom of the Student Union building. Prospective members of the women's national business honorary were also guests.

The tea was under the co-chairmanship of Katherine Howe and Ann Royer.

Character is like a rifle; it can not shoot higher than it is aimed.

Domestic consumption, which is now geared for war, could not take up the slack quickly enough to avoid serious economic crises. The shortage of capital in all parts of the world presents an immediate problem. Tariff reductions would tend to alleviate the situation. However, only an international arrangement stands any chance of success. This would involve large scale operations between countries.

On Peace And War

We thought the average student was satisfied with the Borah Peace Conference, although there were the usual number of unhappy people. Some were disappointed because Mr. Shirer caught pneumonia and some were unhappy because they couldn't hear the speakers in the gymnasium and then there were those who got mad because everybody else was laughing at Mr. Lindsay's remarks and they didn't catch on. Blasted British humor and all that sort of rot. He did have some jolly ripping comments though, what?

One complaint we couldn't quite go along with was the one that said, "It was the same old stuff you read in the papers. They didn't come up with anything new."

First of all, we'd like to say that there's nothing new about the Ten Commandments, but they preach them and teach them just the same. It seems that preachers and teachers have to remind people every so often of things they know but have temporarily forgotten.

So it doesn't sound so far fetched to us if the Borah Conference did nothing else but shake people out of their apathy and redefine the goal sought. The dull, stolid acceptance of the so-called inevitable is about the only thing capable of stopping the world from going around.

We've got too many who think there must be a snap solution to every problem. We're dealing with world peace and world war but it's still human relations buried beneath all those ponderous statistics. Anyone who heard the fireworks at the panel discussions must realize that the answer won't come out of a hat. Nor will it come from talking through one.

The Borah Peace Conference defines the problem and lays it out where you all can look at it. If enough people in enough places would try to find out why they can't get along with other nations or the neighbor or the wife, the right answer would show up soon enough. Wipe out the ignorance, the doubt, and make the possibility of peace a popular conception and you've got it licked. Ever try to argue with a gang of determined women? The Borah Conference is a step and a half out in front.

What did we do with Miss Hidden's money?

Miss Elizabeth Hidden lives in Redlands, California, and is a Professor of Education at the University of Redlands.

1. In 1949 Miss Hidden bought 100 shares of Union Oil stock. Last year she invested in 30 more shares, bringing her total to 130, which is our shareowner's average. By these purchases, Miss Hidden became one of the millions of American capitalists who own stock in American corporations. What did we do with her money?

2. Like the amounts entrusted to us by our 40,301 other shareowners (half of whom are women), Miss Hidden's money has gone mainly into new "tools" for our business—things like drilling rigs, pipe lines, refinery equipment, and into our research laboratories and the work we do in developing new wells. All these things take money.

3. Because we put Miss Hidden's money to work in these productive ways, we were able, under the American system of free enterprise, to earn something with it. That is, we made a profit. Miss Hidden participated in this profit, along with our other shareowners. In 1952 she received dividends amounting to $260. She could sell her stock at any time, but chooses to remain a part owner of our business.

4. This example shows how most American industry is financed today. It also illustrates one of the great and fortunate facts of our economic system. In investing with us, Miss Hidden is of course considering her own personal interests. But at the same time she is helping in the vital development of U. S. oil resources, the expansion of refining facilities, the making of new jobs, the increase of worker income, and the creation of more and better petroleum products for everyone. She is contributing to a higher standard of living and to a stronger America.

Season Opens For Thinclads At Big WSC Meet Tomorrow

Sweeney Enters Five Events; Cougars Have Powerful Team

Idaho's track and field men, coached by Stan Hiserman, will show their talent for the first time this season when they compete against some of the Northwest's finest thinclad performers at the 11th annual intercollegiate indoor meet at Washington State's spacious field house tomorrow.

Events begin at 10:30 in the morning and are expected to conclude by 4:30 in the afternoon, said Coach Jack Mooberry of WSC. Entries from 15 colleges and junior colleges in three states are expected to compete.

The schedule: 10:30 a.m.—Finals in javelin, discus, broad jump. 2:30 p.m.—70-yard dash, 70-yard low hurdles, shot put, pole vault (preliminaries). 3:30 p.m.—70-yard dash and 70-yard high hurdles; 300-yard dash; 600, 1000 and mile and one-half runs, and relays.

The Vandals will again count on fleet Bruce Sweeney to lead them into action. The 5-foot 10-inch senior from Lewiston has been top point-getter for the Idaho track squad his last two seasons.

Versatile Sweeney is entered in five events tomorrow at Pullman. He'll compete in his specialties, the 70-yard high and low hurdles, plus the broad jump, high jump and the 70-yard dash. Last year at this indoor meet Bruce set a personal best in the high jump at 6 feet 3 inches.

An imposing list of records, awards and honors belong to two-year letterman Sweeney. As a junior he smashed the old Idaho low hurdle record by closing 24 seconds flat. He also tied the high hurdle standard at 14.7. Bruce won 12 blue ribbons and scored 68 1/2 points in five dual meets in 1952.

Distance Aces A pair of crack distance men are also back to pace Coach Hiserman's tracksters. Ace two-miler Lou Gourley broke four dual meet records as a freshman last year and looked exceptional in cross-country last fall. Lou will enter the mile-and-a-half run.

Teammate Emerson Clark, a Twin Falls junior, and 4:17.5 miler is gunning for a win in the 1000-yard event. Clark won four out of five dual meet starts in the mile race last year.

Idaho's squad has done most of its working out the last month in the field house with occasional outdoor running and jaunts to the larger oval in Pullman's field house.

The following lineup has been released by Coach Hiserman for tomorrow's meet: 70-yard dash—Bill Erwin, Pat Duffey, Gary Dixon and Sweeney; 70-yard high hurdles—Sweeney and Jack Hooks.

70-yard low hurdles—Sweeney and Hooks. 300-yard dash—Dixon, Lorin LaFoe and Larry Daigh. 600-yard run—Walt Meukow and Bob May. 1000-yard run—Clark, and Bob Thornton.

Mile and half—Gourley and Luther Fitch. Javelin—Bruce West and Bud Fisher.

Discus—Ed Barton. High jump—Sweeney. Broad jump—Sweeney and Parker Compau.

Pole vault—Francis Schulz. Sweeney in Action Washington State will depend

Sophomore Standouts To Run

A trio of sophomore trackmen, Lou Gourley, Idaho Falls; Gary Dixon, Coeur d'Alene; and Walt Meukow, Idaho Falls, are rated high on Coach Stan Hiserman's list of returning lettermen. Gourley clocked excellent times of 4:28 and 9:27.4 in the mile and two mile races as a freshman. Dixon turned in a 50 flat quarter-mile while Meukow managed a two minute half-mile before breaking a bone in his foot.

Baseballers Work Inside; Open Season Wednesday

Poor weather forced baseball players indoors this week, limiting practice to short workouts in the field house. The Vandals were scheduled to leave for Lewiston this week-end for some game practice with the Washington State Cougars, but unfortunately arrangements could not be made to use the field.

Art Smith, taking over as baseball mentor while Coach Finley is in the East, stated that the Vandals will begin a series of games at Lewiston next Wednesday. The opposition will be Washington State and the professional Lewiston Broncos. A round-robin tournament will probably be arranged with possibly two other teams from the area entering.

Idaho's baseball hopes received a serious blow when it was learned that infielder Larry Morrison will not be able to play this season. Larry suffered, an ankle injury while skiing this winter and the doctor advises against risking further injury on the diamond.

Twenty ballplayers are now working out, ten of them lettermen. Lettermen pitchers back are Dick Dodel, 6'4" righthander; Mel Reynolds, junior used mostly in relief last year; and Harlan Melton, the only letterman left.

Other hurlers vying for starting berths are Ken Hallett, a sophomore from Spokane; Wayne Patrick, Boise JC transfer; and Tommy Flynn, a former Lewiston high star out for his first season of ball at Idaho.

Good Infield Material Those trying for the starting call in the infield include veterans Bruce McIntosh, first base; speedy Earl Huffman, second base; and Wayne Anderson at third base. McIntosh was on the all Northern Division squad as a first-sacker his sophomore year, switched to the outfield last year, and is now back in the infield.

Anderson was on the mound as a sophomore and junior, but is now filling the gap at the "hot corner." Non-lettermen looking good are Bud Nelson, sharp-hitting Lewiston sophomore; and Mike Cygler, a junior transfer from Seton Hall of New Jersey. Cygler is making a strong bid for the starting shortstop position.

Patrolling the outer garden this spring will be sophomore slugger Bill Stellman; senior Dave Paulson; basketball star Bob Falash; Jim Howard, lanky Idaho Falls sophomore; Flip Kloffner, another long-ball hitter, switched from first base; and fleet Jay Buhler, whose speed should be a valuable asset on the defense.

Catching duties will fall heavily on veteran Jerry Ogle, who swatted .325 in the ND last year. Relieving Ogle will be either sophomore Dick Riggs or junior Odell Black.

Memorial gymnasium will no longer be open on Sunday afternoons for recreational purposes. During the winter months the gym pool and basketball floor have been available for use for two hours each Sunday afternoon. Leon Green, head of the physical education department, said he was making this move because so few students are now coming indoors for recreation.

Rifle Squad Rates High Last Week

Idaho's crack Army ROTC rifle team won fifth place in a field of 34 western universities last week competing for the William Randolph Hearst ROTC trophies.

Only California, UCLA, San Francisco and Montana State topped the Vandals marksman, led by Captain Phil Ourada.

The five Idaho cadets, Joe Helle, Lawrence Smith, Glen Mortensen, Morgan Moore and Ourada, hit the bulls-eye for a composite total of 921 points out of a possible 1000.

Nationals Next The sharpshooting of the Idaho Army team has qualified them for a position in the national intercollegiate rifle matches which will start next week.

Following their qualification for the national matches, the Idaho Army team, coached by Master Sergeant Rufus J. Salyer, swamped the Eastern Washington college team from Cheney by a lop-sided 1814 to 1698 count in a shoulder-to-shoulder match fired here.

Salyer said he expected the Vandals squad to "be a contender" in the national matches after proving their right to the Pacific Northwest title.

College Cowboys Saddle Up Brones In Spring Workout

The Vandal Riders' Rodeo Club has started spring practice at the Lewiston rodeo grounds for the third annual Northwest Intercollegiate Rodeo scheduled for Coeur d'Alene May 1-3.

Workouts are being held every Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Sunday afternoons. The collegiate cowboys are riding saddle broncs and bareback horses and hope to include practice on roping events later. Harley Tucker's buckin' string of Joseph, Oregon is being used.

About ten men are turning out at the present time. Over half are veterans of Idaho's successful sq veterans of Idaho successful sq veterans that placed third in last year's National Intercollegiate Rodeo association behind Sid Ross college of Alpine, Texas, and Cal Poly.

Idaho Held First Track Meet In 1893; Good Heavens How It Has Changed!

The sport of track and field has come a long way in the last 60 years of competition. Records, training techniques and even the kinds of events have changed radically. For example contrast Idaho's first attempt on cinderpath and sod with a present day Vandal track meet.

First track and field day at the University of Idaho was held on Friday, June 9, 1893 at 2 p.m. at the baseball park located on what is now known as the Harvester plant on North Main street.

The meet was held under the auspices of the University of Idaho Athletic association, an organization of college and prep school students attending the University.

Washington Agricultural college (WSC) supplied the competition for the 19 events which stretched over a five hour period under a broiling sun.

Some of the events used then are entirely foreign to us now. For example, the baseball throw, the standing broad jump, standing high kick, football place kick, standing and running hop-step-and-jump, club swinging and wrestling.

Equipment used in this early track meet was as unique as were some of the events. The hammer consisted of a common blacksmith's maul, wooden handle and all. The hurdles were similar to those used today with the exception that the cross bar was not stationary. The bar was merely laid across the two uprights, much as the high jumping standard, and three crossbars knocked over disqualified the runner.

Medals and badges were presented to the winners of the various events. The medals presented were heven from discarded silver watch cases by an ingenious local jeweler.

An enormous silk banner, hand painted by a Moscow school "marm" was awarded to the winning relay team. This banner, as well as the one presented for the field day in 1894, were destroyed in the fire that leveled the administration building in 1906. Favorite Sport Track in this early day was the major sport, evidenced by the immense crowds of 800 people or more that attended and wagered their dollars on the outcome of favorites. Business men closed their houses and professional people declared the afternoon of the meets a half holiday.

Such was the start of track at Idaho. Such track and field days were held annually until 1900 with the neighboring Pullman school. Gradually the scope of the sport spread and expanded and dual meets were held with other schools.

Here is a comparison of Idaho's first track and field records with those of today:

Event	1902	1953
100 yd. dash	10.2	9.7
220 yd. dash	22.8	21.5
440 yd. dash	54.5	48.0
880 yd. run	2:08.0	1:52.3
Mile run	4:42.0	4:09.3
High hurdles	17.0	14.7
Low hurdles	28.0	24.0
Broad jump	21.4	23.1
High jump	5.7	6.5%
Pole vault	10.4	14.2%
Discus	101.2	162.0

The University of Washington Huskies won all the team, statistical honors in the Northern Division this season. This included all departments from field goals to rebounds.
