

ASUI BLOOD DRIVE AIMS FOR 1000 PINTS

Korea Bound Blood Starts Flowing Today

The first blood donor in the seventh campus blood drive went through the line in the SUB ballrooms shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. Donors will be taken from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. today, Wednesday, and Thursday with time out for lunch, explained Don McCabe, blood drive chairman.

The Boise mobile blood unit arrived last night and the beds were set up in the ballrooms by the Intercollegiate Knights. The Red Cross group of 12 headed by Dr. E. F. Sestero prepared for a busy three days.

Council Suggests Putting Exams In Library

"It is recommended that, where considered desirable, the faculties of the various colleges of the University make available to the University Library copies of used final examinations. The files of these examinations are to be made available in the Library for review of students in their course re-use and preparation for examinations."

This resolution was passed by the Academic Council and suggested by the Student Faculty Council. The purpose is to standardize, and to make available to everyone these old examinations. Some advisors have already done this.

Nickel Hop Set For Saturday

Many of the male students of the University of Idaho will be spending their nickels somewhere besides in the local pinball machines on October 31. The Spur Nickel Hop is finally scheduled.

All women's living groups will hold open house from 8 to 11 p. m. Saturday, and all men on campus are invited to come dance—for five cents per fifteen minutes.

The purpose of the Hop is to supplement the Spurs' general fund. It is their only money-making project of the year. The fund is used to pay for a basket of food and toys which is sent to a needy family at Christmastime. It also pays for convention and miscellaneous expenses.

As always, the curfew for women on campus will be 1 a. m.

NPC Meets Here Oct. 29

A meeting of the Inland Empire section of the Northwest Philosophical conference will be held at the University of Idaho on the afternoon of Thursday, October 29, 1953 from 3 until 5 o'clock, in Conference rooms A and B of the SUB.

The meeting will consist of about 100 faculty and students from Washington State college, Mt. St. Michaels, Holy Names, Gonzaga university and the University of Idaho.

The discussion will deal with the relation between ethical and civic behavior, and will concern itself with such questions as: What is a good man? Is a good citizen the same as a good man? If so, how? If not, why not?

The topic will be discussed by a panel of six persons representing the participating schools. Prof. Edward C. Moore and Prof. Francis Seaman of the philosophy department will represent the University of Idaho on the panel. Following the panel there will be a discussion period with questions from the audience. The conference will be open to the public.

CPA Examination Dates Announced

Examinations for certified public accountants will be held November 4, 5 and 6. Graduates of University of Idaho taking the exams are Calvin Burns, Richard Raivio, Linland Cannon, Harvard Decds, James Jackson, Clyde Edwards, John Tullis, Ronald Eggart.

Professor W. J. Wilde will give the examination to Ronald Eggart, LeRoy Johnson, John Matthews, Robert Moran and Marvin Selle here at the University of Idaho.

The same examination will be given the same day in Boise and Idaho Falls.

Total time for the examination is 1 1/2 hours. Wednesday, 4 1/2 hours; Thursday, 8 hours, and Friday, 7 hours.

Welker Set For Assembly

Communism, as he sees it, will be discussed by United States Senator Herman Welker at a special assembly in the University auditorium at 11 a. m. Thursday.

The address will be part of homecoming for Senator Welker, who came to the campus over the weekend to attend the football game with Oregon State college, and to serve as a marshal in the parade with Governor Len Jordan and United States Representative Gracie Post. A 1929 graduate of the University, Welker will be making his first public address at his alma mater.

While a student, Welker was a member of Bench and Bar, and Phi Alpha Delta, law honorary. In his freshman year, he played on the baseball team. As a junior he was president of his class.

Welker is now chairman of the Senate judiciary committee's subcommittee investigating communist underground printing facilities and illegal propaganda.

During the assembly here, for which classes will be dismissed, Welker will present to the University a gavel made of the original White House wood and a large American flag which has flown over the nation's capitol. The assembly will open with singing by the Vandaleers.

Classes will be shortened as follows:

- 1st period 8:00 to 8:35 a.m.
- 2nd period 8:45 to 9:20 a.m.
- 3rd period 9:30 to 10:05 a.m.
- 4th period 10:15 to 10:50 a.m.

Man Loses Worth To Machine

The ASUI will present "The Adding Machine" November 6 and 7. The play is Elmer Rice's expression of a man in conflict with machines. Rice uses symbols to express man as a part of a pattern or machine with expression used to entertain rather than reveal.

The adding machine totals all figures and gets the sum of zero. Zero, being a mediocre spineless creature who for 25 years has been an accounting clerk spending his days on a high stool and his nights at cheap movies. The routine is accelerated by his drab wife.

The blow comes when the installation of an adding machine at the office calls for the discontinuance of his services.

Also part of symbolism in the play is the character Shrdlu. This name, which was made by pressing the second row of keys in a linotype machine, is never said during the play. Shrdlu is a proof-reader in a printing shop.

Executive . . . Board

Executive Board will meet at 7 p. m. Tuesday in the Executive Board room.

- Agenda
- KUOI report
- Repercussions of Homecoming
- ROTC participation in activities with living groups
- Closed nights for activities

Are You Weakened By The Weekend?

By Pat Dyson

Oregon State hadn't scored on any team all year but Idaho in a magnanimous gesture brimful of altruism allowed them 19 points.

In the last row high above the 40 yard line were recent grads, a few five year men and just ordinary run-of-the-mill students. They were all yelling their heads off. Even the 5 year old who belonged to the recent grad was let off steam. This was (in my section at least) without benefit of stimulation. Do you remember one play that was worth a cheer?

You have to hand it to the alumni, though. They didn't let the game dampen their post-game hilarity. Crisp leaves and crisp weather made a backdrop for a beautiful homecoming. You didn't have to read the Greek signs or the Roman capitals to know which float belonged to which group. As they passed their producers each one gave a snappy cheer for their own six inches of crepe-paper stuffing.

There were many hours of labor represented in that fine parade but the appreciation in the eyes of the homecomers was sufficient payment.

He took another bite of turkey and his eyes were misty. Did you wonder if he was talking to you or to himself?

"Yeh, I played end. My boy doesn't play ball though. He took up the violin, been studying back east."

Some of them stood outside taking a few feet of movie film of the lawn decorations. Most of them trained the lens on their off-spring posed possessively in front of the dams and beavers.

They can still live it up and probably more of them would have but due to unforeseen circumstances they didn't get to finish the bottle!

You might recognize this fellow, too. "I've got a little hindsight now but I still wonder about these kids and this." He pointed to a table covered with small glasses and piled ashtrays. "Say, where's my wife? Oh, yeh, she's dancin' with that kid. Who cares? hic."

Concert Will Be Given Featuring Hall Macklin

We had quite a time with the selection of the Homecoming queen. And if you will notice the letter on page two you'll realize that we are still plagued with the bloomin' thing.

As nearly as we can figure it out, here's what happened. The voting was held Wednesday night at dinner. We were present when the ballots were counted in the Arg office by Maizie Collett, chairman, and two other members of the queen committee, Ralph Townsend and Jane Querna. Miss Cole won by enough so that a recount was considered unnecessary.

So, comes Thursday afternoon, we are slaving away at the impending issue of the paper. Someone called us by phone and said he was Al Barackman of the Idahoonian. He wanted to know who the queen was. The faker didn't stop there. He also called Guy Wicks, field agent, and other University officials to find the name of the queen.

We didn't fall for it the first time and said we knew the caller wasn't who he said he was. He hung up. But the second time, it was Barackman. At least we thought so. We told him the name of the queen because his paper would not appear until two o'clock Friday. That was around 5:30 p. m.

When we got home from putting the Arg to bed that night, we got a call from Maizie Collett saying that someone had called all the houses on campus and told them the name of the queen. This phoney person did not leave his name at any of the houses. In fact, he used the name of John McDermott, Arg sports editor, and our name to give an official sound to his scheme.

It didn't stop there. Gene Hamblin, correspondent for the Lewiston Tribune, got an ANONYMOUS phone call telling who the queen was, and, on the strength of an ANONYMOUS call, he pulled one of the most kneecapped stunts known to modern journalism.

Having no place to check on the information, he sent a story and a picture to his paper. Suppose he had been given a bum steer? And also suppose the pseudo Al Barackman had been given a bum steer? Where would that leave Jan Cole on Friday morning after going to bed sure that she was Homecoming queen? How were these two meateads to know they had been given the straight scoop? And where does a correspondent get off peddling an unverified story?

Most of all we'd like to know the sly one's motives. Was it spite? Was it alcoholically induced dementia? Would his curiosity kill him before morning? Or was it merely the way of a little child—a thrilling desire to be the first to know?

We haven't caught up with the mealy-mouthed liar who represented himself as someone else. But, look out brother, we're getting warm. And when we find out FOR SURE who you are, you've had it!

Also about Homecoming: Would the persons who clipped the queen finalist pictures from the SUB kindly return them to Maizie Collett? So far only Susie Oberg's photo has been recovered. Susie was hailed going up Deakin avenue in the arms of a gentleman.

To the Student Body: Saturday afternoon at 2:30 three members of the ASUI will fulfill an agreement with WSC. That is a nine-mile hike across the state line. We—Al Dieffenbach, John McDermott and Bill Parsons—are asking you, the student body, to walk with us to show the WSC student body that we are behind our football team win or lose. Last year we had a fair turnout but let us really make the Cougars sit up and take note of our spirit even in time of defeat. We will meet at the SUB at 2:30 Saturday afternoon and proceed to Cougarville where we will partake of food and soothing foot baths. It is our intention to be back in plenty of time for the Spur Nickel Hop Saturday night.

Hall M. Macklin, organist and head of Idaho's music department, will be featured soloist in the first of a series of dedication concerts for the Margaret Weyerhaeuser Jewett memorial pipe organ.

Also included on the program are the Vandaleers, conducted by Glen Lockery. Widely known throughout the Northwest for their civic-minded activities, Mr. and Mrs. George Weyerhaeuser Jewett, donors of the organ, have made many contributions to cultural community and educational enterprises.

In accepting the gift to the University, President Buchanan stated, "Recognition by the Jewetts of the cultural importance of music to youth in this mechanical age is an inspiration to education generally."

Bextehude and Bach Macklin will play three groups of numbers, the first consisting of compositions by Buxtehude and Bach. The second group will be made up of "Fantasy Pieces" by Louis Vierne, and the final group will be contemporary American compositions, including an original by Macklin, dedicated to the Jewetts.

With Macklin at the organ, the Vandaleers will sing "Festival Te Deum" by Benjamin Britten, and Brahms' "How Lovely Is Thy Dwelling Place" from the German Requiem. Highlighting the closing part of the concert will be "The Closing Dology", festival choral and organ work by a contemporary American composer, Norman Lockwood.

The concert, which is being held October 29 at 8 p. m. in Recital hall of the Music building, is open to the public without admission charge.

Mary Lou Welch Goes To Payette

Mary Lou Welch, who for the past two years has worked in the humanities department, left Sunday to join her husband, Dwaine, in Payette. Welch has just passed the Idaho bar exam. He was a 1953 graduate of the University.

Mary Lou will be replaced by Mrs. Elisabeth Hudson, whose husband is with the athletic department.

Shots From The Big Weekend

Over Twelve Hundred Attend Homecoming Dance

"It was a grand success," reports Marv Washburn of the Homecoming dance Saturday. Washburn, assistant to the general manager of the ASUI, also reported the total couples attending were 652.

Saturday's Homecoming parade was led by Governor and Mrs. Len Jordan, Senator and Mrs. Herman Welker, Congresswoman Gracie Post and Mr. Post, and Hanley Payne of Twin Falls, president of alumni.

Winning floats were announced at half time of the Homecoming football game. These were Kappa Alpha Theta, first in the women's division; Pi Beta Phi, second; and Delta Gamma, runner-up. Delta Sigma Phi was awarded first place in the men's division; Willis Sweet Hall took second and Phi Delta Theta placed runner-up.

Vandal Booster During halftime the winning floats were shown and the "I" blanket was presented to Tony Kurdy of Cottonwood for being the year's outstanding Vandal Booster. Presenting the blanket was Bruce Sweeney of the I Club.

Payne, alumni president, also crowned Jan Cole, Homecoming queen during the halftime ceremonies. The queen and her attendants were introduced by ASUI president Bill Parsons.

Also planned for the half time was a skit by the Idaho band and cheering section, but due to a break in electric cables and loss of time, this part was omitted. The Kellogg high school band presented a skit during halftime and the Coeur d'Alene high school band provided pre-game music.

The annual Homecoming dance was one of the best with 652 paying couples attending and 100 visitors. Norm Thue and his orchestra of Spokane provided the music. Intermission entertainment was given by John Herrett and June Albinola. They each sang a solo and then joined to sing "Night and Day." Lucy Spencer and Shirley Lent were presented in a comedy piano routine. Also during intermission trophies were awarded and Jan Cole was introduced to the crowd.

Ag Extension Men To Meet Here

All extension personnel in Idaho will be in Moscow the week following January 4 for the annual joint conference of the agriculture experiment station of agriculture extension service.

The purpose of the convention is to review research programs underway and make plans for future conventions.

This joint convention will give an opportunity for the entire college of agriculture staff to become better acquainted with the work each is doing to plan and coordinate agriculture programs.

South Dakota Has Troubles

Students at South Dakota State college are complaining that faculty members have taken "the cream of parking spots on their campus."

Almost as many non-student parkers as students are registered for parking permits, and a faculty committee on which there is no student representation reserved the choice areas for the non-students. Says the South Dakota Collegian: "Student representation—hah!"

Exchanges Set

No exchanges have been scheduled for this week so that each house can have a Halloween party with whomsoever they choose.

Due to the Community concert on Wednesday groups may decide if they want their party on Wednesday or Thursday.

These parties will last one hour just as the regular exchanges do. They may start earlier, however.

Law Dean Wanted School So Paid Own Professors

The dean who wanted so much to have the college of law at the University of Idaho succeed in its first year that he personally helped pay the salaries of two of his assistant professors is back on the campus. He is Judge John F. MacLane, now a senior partner in the widely-known New York law firm of Simpson, Thatcher and Bartlett.

The salary-aid incident was revealed in a recently-discovered report dated October 14, 1910, from MacLane as first dean of the college of law to Dr. James A. MacLean, then president of the University. MacLane, who is here to give a series of lectures to law students, chuckled when the incident was recalled to him.

The professors were young fellows I had brought out from Chicago, and I felt responsible for both them and the college of law," MacLane said. "The funds of the University were very limited, so I just dug in my pocket."

The college of law in its first year boasted one classroom and one office. The law library was limited to bare essentials, but MacLane did some augmenting of that with his own books, too. Students totaled 15, and were far fewer than the number of persons presently connected with his New York law firm, which has about 100 attorneys plus about 100 clerical workers.

In his report of 1910, MacLane stressed the maintenance of high academic standards and economic operation, and said today that he was pleased to note that this policy was still being carried out.

MacLane, who was given an honorary doctorate degree by the University several years ago, formerly practiced in Boise, being connected with the law firm of the late Senator William E. Borah from 1912 to 1915. He did extensive legal work in the organization of the Idaho Power company.

Earlier he had served as code commissioner of Idaho and judge of the third district court. In 1911 he was also justice pro tem of the Idaho supreme court. He has been connected with the New York law firm since 1929.

Idaho Exchanges Queens With California

"Operation Big Switch" is what we might have called this year's choosing of our homecoming queen.

Not only did a California transfer student, namely Jan Cole, become Idaho's homecoming queen but Nadine Drake, a former University of Idaho student, was crowned homecoming queen at Santa Barbara college.

Nadine was enrolled at the University of Idaho for two years before her parents moved to Santa Barbara where she is now a senior.

Coincidence goes even farther as both girls are members of the Delta Gamma sorority.

Ashes In Coffee--No More

Who likes to plow their way through a pile of cigarette butts to get to their coffee? Or to sit down to drink coffee surrounded by dirty cups and saucers?

Drop in the Bucket and take a look around. Some people wonder why the help can't clear the tables. O. K. We can have them do that little thing after we put about five more on the Bucket payroll. Maybe you wouldn't mind fifteen-cent coffee; they are getting ready to charge that in Chicago now.

It all boils down to this: Tables in the Bucket have to be cleared by YOU in order to keep things functioning properly. Remember, it is your patronage that keeps the Bucket going. So next time you're through chug-a-lugging that cup of caffeine, clear the table for the next customer. F D W

U of I, the bloodiest . . .

Today ASUI starts its fall Blood Drive. It is true that we are not giving it the "Big Push" as we have in the past few years, but this does not mean that we don't want blood.

We do want and need it badly. The Blood Bank is depending upon you for many pints and I assured them that the ASUI wouldn't let them down. Will we?

We still have the reputation as the "Bloodiest Campus" since we have given so much so often. If you can give, give a pint; it won't take long and it will be well worth your time.

Let's show the other colleges that we are still the "Bloodiest Campus" across the nation!
BILL PARSONS,
ASUI President.

If we did intervene, the truth won't be known for a good while. Meantime, we'll have to content ourselves with the fact that it all makes a good yarn.

The gray matter it takes to run a professional football team is nothing compared to the green.

Small Handbags Serve As Catch-Alls For Coeds

By Ruth Brede
There's something new in styles on campus this year. The little black bag. And we don't mean that doctors are coming back to school for refresher courses.

The new styles straight from aParis via New York have little effect on the West Coast and University here for at least a few months.

Our skirts aren't shorter, we aren't wearing the sheath 'too much yet. But the new style is the purse that coeds are carrying this year.

They even seem unaware that they're introducing a new style, or custom, as it may be, on campus.

Two freshmen interviewed innocently said, as if it had been a campus custom for years, that they simply carried a purse because they were so handy to put all their pencils and erasers and combs in. They'd done it in high school, and seemed to think it was the common thing.

Another girl said she got in the habit when she worked this summer. She had never done it in high school, but thought it was a good idea.

Anyway, a new custom has been started. All girls have to grab for an eight o'clock now is a notebook and purse. No rounding up pencils, cosmetics, coffee money, lunch etc. It's all there.

Maybe the fellows could take a hint. Mothers who receive pockets to mend for Christmas would probably wonder why it hadn't been thought of before.

Can't imagine a 230-pound football player with the "latest in suede," though. Can you?

DEAR JASON

Dear Jason: I would like to express my thanks to the chairmen of the various Homecoming committees and to the people under them. Also thanks to the entire student body for their cooperation and effort.

Jack Knodle
Homecoming chairman

Dear Jason: Just a note to say that according to so-called laws of voting, the recent election of our Homecoming queen was not only illegal, but also a farce. It was my assumption that the queen was to have been elected by all men duly registered as full-time students, but to my meager knowledge, off-campus men and married men were not provided for, as to means of voting. Am I wrong, or was there a polling booth or table for us to cast our vote?

Another thing — the box was stuffed. It can be readily proved that at one living organization the number of ballots cast greatly outnumbered the number of residents therein. As I'm a new student here, and knew none of the candidates, I was not overly interested in who won, but out of fairness to all, the election could have been conducted with more accuracy and thought.
Giles Godfrey
Graduate School

Mr. Godfrey.

Married and off campus men have been left out of the queen voting for as long as I can remember. The situation should definitely be remedied. On that we agree. However, regarding the stuffing of boxes you mention, I am unable to buy that one. Sorry, but I was one of four people who counted the ballots and we discovered nothing unusual. If you can present any proof of your statement, please get in touch with me at the Delta Delta Delta house.
Maizie Collett
Chairman, Queen committee

Cosmopolitan Air Exists in College

North, south, east or west, it doesn't make any difference at the University of Idaho's college of business administration which has a student enrollment representing 19 states, Alaska and three foreign nations. According to statistics released today by Donald J. Hart, dean of the college, 353 business administration students are from the state of Idaho, with 89 towns represented on the roster. Washington leads out-of-state figures with 42 students, followed by California with eight, Montana five and Oregon four.

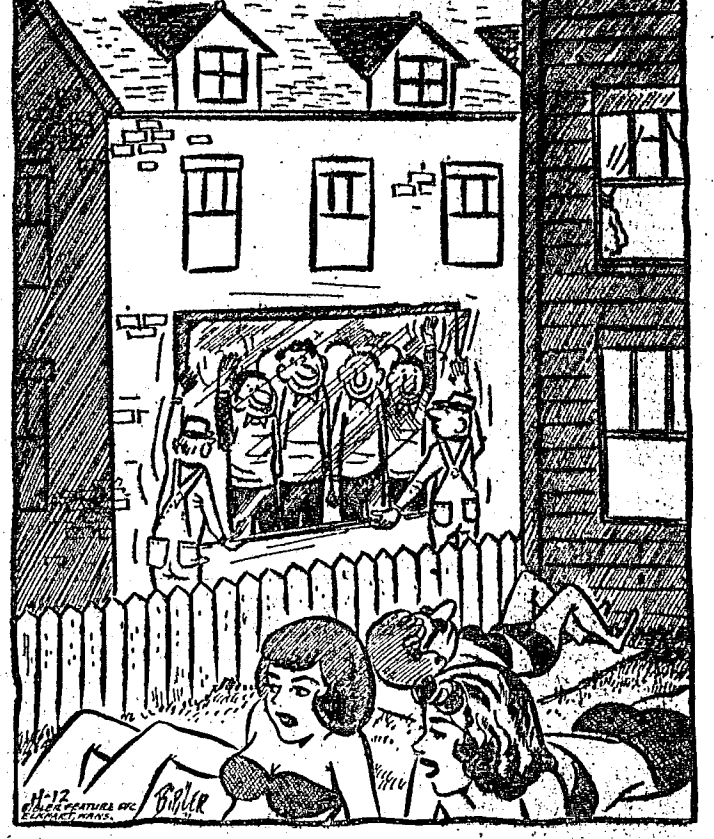

Foreign students in the college are from Norway, Afghanistan and Canada. Adding to the cosmopolitan nature of the student enrollment are the faculty members, who received training in 14 states, the District of Columbia and Europe.

Vets Should Pay Premiums Early

Veterans with G.I. insurance policies, both from World War I and World War II, can save a lot of bother and a little money. Veterans administration points out, by one simple act.

If veterans have the extra money on hand, they can make three per cent on insurance premiums by paying them in advance. The law permits veterans who pay a year ahead a discount of three per cent and also permits quarterly or semi-annual payments at a reduced rate. The advantage is to both the veteran and the government. The veteran avoids the risk of forgetting the "pay every month" deal, twelve times a year. And it enables VA to reduce the number of premium notices it mails, thereby effecting a saving for both the veteran and the government.

VA said, are up to the veteran—the policy holder. If he desires to change the method of payment he should write the VA district office handling his account and ask how much can be saved and request the change in frequency of payment. The exact arrangements, the VA says, are up to the veteran—worry and a little money by doing so.

'Black Light' Traps Insects

"Black light," the near-ultraviolet invisible light so widely used by prospectors in their search for radioactive ores, promises to open a new field in insect trapping, says Dr. William F. Barr, associate entomologist with the University of Idaho Agricultural Experiment station.

Testing "black light" for insect trapping is a cooperative undertaking between the departments of entomology and agricultural engineering at the University of Idaho.

On a three-night test at Moscow, Dr. Barr reports catching 69 different species of cutworm moths or millers in a "black light" trap. Upon checking, he found that 20 of these species had never been reported from Idaho before. Many thousands of other insects were collected during the three nights, but they have yet to be identified.

During the past season, Dr. Barr used the black light trap on the range insect study in southern Idaho. Plans also call for it being used to collect insects in grain elevators.

"Light traps are important tools of the entomologist," explains Dr. Barr. "Not only are they used to find out what light-responsive insect species are present in a given area and the relative abundance of such species but also they can be used as a means of controlling insects."

White light lures has been used in insect traps. Entomologists, however, have found that some insects are not lured by white light.

The current investigation with the "black light" trap had its start when Dr. Truman E. Henton of the farm electrification research center maintained by the U.S. Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Maryland, visited the University of Idaho last winter. Upon recommendation of the Idaho committee approved initiating the exploratory research.

UNION PROTESTS
The National Union of South African students has renewed protests against discrimination at Witwatersrand university. The Union says the university — which has been attacked before for discrimination — put colored students at a disadvantage when grading a recent examination.

Since Witwatersrand still officially welcomes members of all races, the Union says equal rights must be maintained.

U. Of Nebraska Changes Rule
Lincoln, Neb. (I.P.) — Two semesters has been set as the time allowed for a pledge in a fraternity to make the required 5.0 average for activation, according to a new Interfraternity Council ruling at the University of Nebraska. The new ruling is part of two regulations passed by the group to help raise fraternity averages throughout the University.

The new rule states, in effect, that a pledge in a fraternity will be given two semesters to make a 5.0 average. The required grade was originally 4.5, but was changed by the IFC. If the pledge does not make the required 5.0 average, he will be required to move out of the fraternity house.

Approximately 400 boxes of apples will go on sale October 26 with proceeds going into the University general fund. The sale will be held 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. from October 26 to November 6 in room 18, Ag. Science building.

Engineer Visits Alma Mater

EE alumni Angsbart Skina, 1935, visited here October 16 and gave a short talk to the junior and senior electrical engineers on "What An Engineer Does."

He graduated shortly after the depression of 1932. When asked how many interviewers there were on the campus he said "NONE!" After graduation he went to work for the Bunker Hill and Sullivan Mining Co. at Kellogg as a journeyman electrician. He then went into the service and spent five years in the signal corps, mostly in Germany.

He was still in Germany during the great air lift at the time the Russians blockaded Berlin. After his release from the service he stayed in Berlin and supervised rehabilitation of a power plant in the British zone of Germany.

Returning to the states after visiting his mother in Wallace, he returned to Washington, D. C., accepting a position with the defense electric power administration. Following this work he accepted this position with Commonwealth Services, an engineering consulting concern in New York City. He is now a senior engineer with this concern.

Treated Cones Make Pretty Flame

Pine cones that burn red, green, or blue are almost as easy to have as any other fuel for the winter fire place.

Vernon Burlison, extension forester for the University of Idaho, points to the three chemicals, boric acid, strontium nitrate and copper sulphate, as the right ones for bringing vivid flames to the family fire. Boric acid will cause the cones to burn green. The strontium nitrate will produce tongues of red, and the copper sulfate adds the blue.

Burlison says treating the cones is the simplest thing in the world. Add one pound of the chemical to one gallon of water. Dip the cones in, drain the excess solution back into the container, and let the cones dry. Never mix the chemicals in the same solution.

Youngsters are treating the cones and selling them from house to house in some neighborhoods. If you have pine trees in your yard, it's at least a good way of getting the cones picked up so you can mow the grass.

The above chemicals can be purchased at any drug store.

Idaho Scientist At Canada Meet

Roland W. Portman, extension entomologist at the University of Idaho, attended the joint meeting of the Entomological Societies of Canada and British Columbia at Victoria, British Columbia, October 19 to 21.

Attending were entomologists from all the Canadian provinces, representatives from the agricultural colleges of Idaho, Oregon, and Washington, and several of the U.S.D.A. Entomological laboratories in the Pacific Northwest.

Important phases of Canadian entomological research and insect control were presented. Several of the discussions were concerning problems similar to those that develop in Idaho each year.

Governor And Senator Head Guest List; Halls Lack Social News This Week

Now for the transition from Homecoming to Halloween activity, for included with the reports of numerous weekend and open house guests, are the announcements of forthcoming Halloween exchanges and dances.

The Deltas, Tri Deltas, and Lambda Chis are all making such plans. The Sigma Chi and Tri Deltas are preparing for a new twist on the old-time exchange with a Greek Toga dance.

The animal kingdom is also in the social news this week, with the arrival of Albert the Alligator at the Beta house and the departure of Big Boy.

Last week Sigma Chi initiated Donn Bryant, Bob Haines, Pete Gerphelde, Frank Mueller-Karger, Vic Ransom, and Stan Neally.

Gary Thomas was presented with the Sigma Chi outstanding sophomore improvement award.

Dinner guests at our open house were Senator Herman Welker, Gov. and Mrs. Len Jordan, President J. E. Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Youngstrom of Boise, Mr. and Mrs. Shultz, and Mr. and Mrs. Gerphelde of Spokane.

Donna Labsack, who now wears John Hansen's White Cross of Sigma Chi, was serenaded last week.

A tentative house Greek Toga dance with the Tri Deltas is being planned for next Wednesday.

House guests during the past week were Harley Sanborn of Spokane and Gordon Whitmore of Portland.

Numerous weekend house guests were honored at a fireside Friday night. These guests were Dessa McNeil, Shari Paris, Marilyn Kelly, Karen Walker, Betty Johnson, Cathy Cannon, Marge Newton, Boise; Doris Bronson, Ruth McDonald, Spokane, and Shirley Hendrikson, Sandpoint.

The pledges took their sneak last week, leaving the house without lights, and the telephones and door knobs greased. Members got the pledges up at 5 a.m. the next morning.

The most startling news to come from the Delta house this week concerns the death of Big Boy, Gene Dickey's erstwhile pet rat. Big Boy met his doom last Monday evening about 9 p.m. when Darrell Maul, alias the Great White Hunter, shot Big Boy through the heart three times.

Big Boy made a valiant attempt to avoid his fate as he leaped at the Great White Hunter's throat, but the odds were overwhelming. We wish to extend our regrets to Gene and the Kappas who loved Big Boy. The body has been preserved on ice and funeral services will be held tonight at 8.

Now that the hectic Homecoming weekend is past, we are looking forward to next weekend's Halloween exchange with the Tri Deltas. For the information of the Idaho Betas, Woody's moral obligations to the Idaho campus have forced him to discontinue his infamous paper route.

Homecoming was over-shadowed last week by the arrival of Albert the Alligator. Albert, who is 15 feet long, has been residing in the guest room bathtub. The house is very fond of Albert.

House bills are rising and the pledge class is decreasing since Albert is strictly carnivorous. He really cleaned up during the pajama parade, during which many girls were fearful for their lives and their pajamas. Will the women's living groups please present a list of their losses to the Beta house?

HOMECOMING DISAGREEABLE TO VANDALS

Vandals Get Shutout At Hands Of Underdogs

Color and pageantry reigned here Saturday as some 9200 people from all over the state and neighboring states invaded Moscow for the annual Homecoming festivities highlighted by the football game between the Oregon State Beavers and the Idaho Vandals, which the Vandals lost 19-0.

A parade, pep rally with fireworks and all hours spent building floats were all climaxed Saturday afternoon in Neale Stadium when the Beavers, who had been riding the scoreless column all year, finally broke out of their jinx and crossed the little white line three times before the gun sounded.

Among old alumni who saw the Vandals get upset was Syb Kleffner, one time Idaho great, who watched his son Flip spark the Vandals in their effort to overtake a fired up OSC team. Looking for their second win of the season and their first conference victory, the Vandals were favored over the Beavers although most experts were predicting the Oregon boys to break the scoring jinx.

In a game that started out in beautiful fall weather and ended in a chill not only in the air but on the score board, Kip Taylor's boys were too high spirited to be stopped by Curfman's injury riddled crew.

OSC Clicks Fast

The game got off to a fast start with Oregon State taking to the air almost immediately and after one unsuccessful attempt completed a pass to the Idaho 11-yard line. From there, Jim Withrow, sharp-eyed quarterback, fired a pass to end Dick Van Lom for a TD three minutes along in the first quarter. Idaho saw turf in Oregon State territory only three times during the first half, and then they didn't get past the OSC 40.

The Vandals were able to hold their adversaries scoreless during the second quarter, but with the coming of the third period came the Beaver's second TD of the game and year. Tommy Little, second string fullback playing in place of Jim Rock who stayed in Corvallis with an injured knee, plunged over from the two-yard line after a downfield drive from the OSC 30 yard marker.

On Defensive

The Vandals were on the defensive nearly all afternoon and were unable to penetrate the strong Beaver forward wall for any yardage. Bob Haines took to the air for the Vandals during the second half, and although he threw some beautiful passes, he was unable to connect with his receivers who were constantly bottlenecked by the OSC defensive ends and backs.

The fourth period gave the Beavers their clincher to put the game on ice. A 70-yard downfield march from their own 28, which was Idaho's deepest penetration, was climaxed when Jim Withrow connected with Laird Brattain. Withrow then kicked the extra point to give the Beavers 19 and the game.

Kleffner Stopped

Flip Kleffner, Idaho fullback and one of the top punters in the nation was unable to penetrate the line of the orange and black clad Beavers in countless line plunges which has made him a leading ground gainer in the PCC this year. Time after time the Oregon line held the Vandals on or near the line of scrimmage.

Idaho started a last drive which sent them down to the 38 of OSC before an intercepted pass stopped their attempt to keep from being shutout.

British officials report that in 1939 they could pay for a ton of copper by exporting 16 sewing machines, but in 1952 it was necessary to export 21.

Confidence must get awfully weary of waiting to be restored.

Just Chatter

By JOHN McDERMOTT

Saturday night saw the climax of a successful homecoming celebration except for one thing—the score of the football team. A fired up and high spirited Oregon State team proved too much for Babe Curfman and his team of injury plagued Vandals.

The loss of that game seemed to start a flow of talk around campus about Idaho dropping out of the Pacific Coast conference and moving into a smaller one where the schools would be closer to the size of the University of Idaho. There was also an article in one of the neighboring papers about it.

We're not trying to start anything and we aren't giving out any opinions on this subject as yet, but it was suggested to me that we ask for letters from sport fans here at school with their opinion on this subject.

It is well known that Idaho is the smallest school in the conference and has to play teams from schools that are often twice and three times the size of this school. If you have any ideas on Idaho getting into the Rocky Mountain Conference or Skyline or staying right where they are we'd like to hear from you.

This football must be an awfully rough sport on spectators. Read a little article the other day about three people dying during one game. They all came within ten minutes of each other too. It must have been an exciting game.

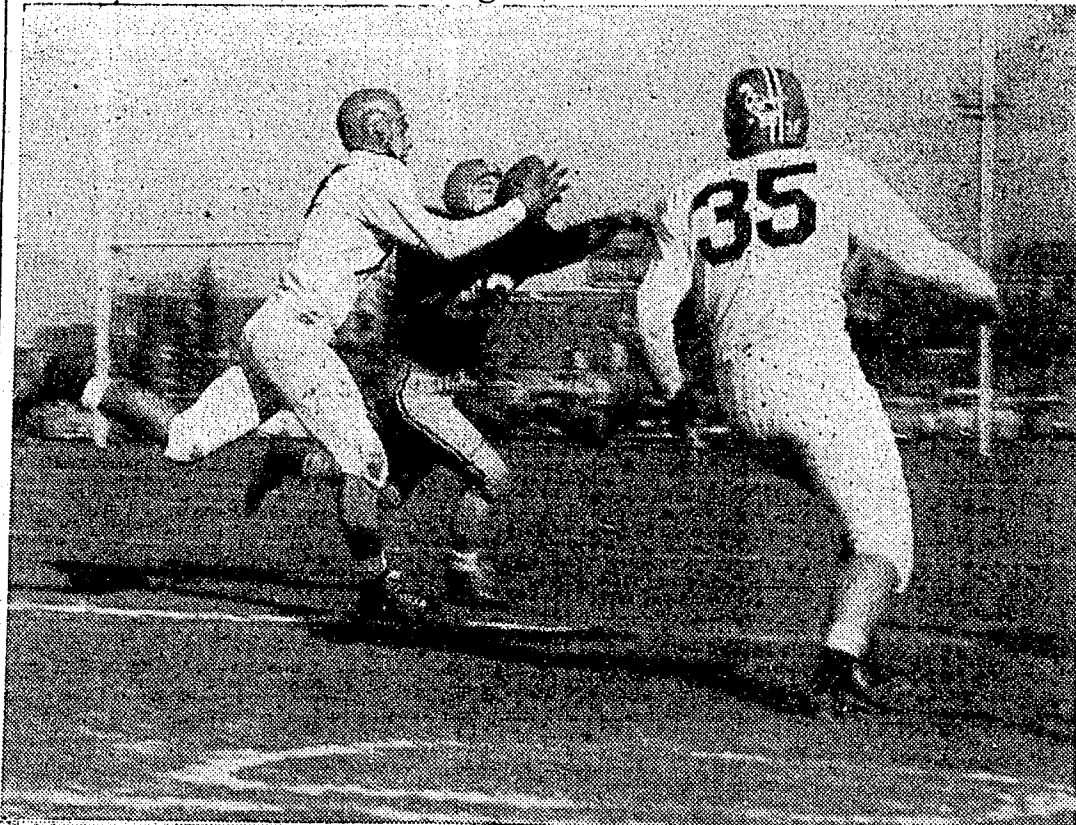

We seemed to have rambled on about nothing for quite a few inches here so now it's about time to get down to something serious. It isn't on the sport side of the news, but it's a matter which concerns quite a few of us in the Arg office and around.

As most of you have already read in the GOLDEN FLEECE, there were several anonymous calls around campus. Or should we say Incognito ones? Anyway, some sad soul did a lot of phoning the other night and informed a great many people of the outcome of the homecoming queen elections. Said sad soul used this reporter's name as well as that of Al Diefenbach in telling various living groups who the queen was. We have been making a small search on campus and are getting warm on the subject. A few confirming bits of info and we will nab the fellow red handed. And as Jason said in his column, "When we do, Watch out."

I don't appreciate my name being used in something which I had nothing to do with. I wasn't around when the votes were counted, and I didn't know who the queen was until mid-morning of the next day. I haven't any comments on the Lewiston Tribune scooping the Arg on the story other than this. The one responsible for scooping us was damn lucky he was right.

Vandals Young And Old In Action

Ralph Carr can be seen sucking in a pass from Jim Withrow (not pictured) on the Idaho 15-yard line in last Saturday's Homecoming game at Neale stadium. Tom Little can be seen moving in on the pair. Ted Frostenson (23) was unable to deflect the pass but was in there in time to down Carr before he could cross the goal line.

A WSC Cou-Babe, (right) goes up and over in action seen last Friday in Neale Stadium when the Idaho frosh tangled with the Cougar freshmen from across the state line. Clem Parberry's junior charges lost the game 13-2 in a contest that could have gone either way with the breaks.

Both team took the air in the dying minutes of the game in a last attempt to score before the gun sounded.

Neither team suffered greatly from injuries during the game which was seen by some 400 people including many alumni who were arriving for homecoming festivities.

Garrett Top PCC Passer; Kleffner Leads In Punts

LOS ANGELES—Stanford's T-quarterback Bob Garrett, with assists from a pair of sticky-fingered ends, has bolted into the passing leadership of the Pacific Coast Conference, according to statistics released by the PCC Commissioner's Office.

His brilliant exhibition Saturday against UCLA gave him a total of 49 completions in 90 attempts for 602 yards and six touchdowns, thus wresting the lead from Washington's Sandy Lederman, who had been the No. 1 passer from the opening weekend. Paul Larson of California is third.

Garrett's favorite targets, ends Sam Morley and John Steinberg, rank one-two in receptions. Sam caught nine Saturday, one less than the PCC record, and now has 18 for 195 yards and two touchdowns. Steinberg has 13 for 173 yards and one touchdown with Flip Kleffner, Idaho, third with 12.

Paul Cameron of UCLA has a good margin in the rushing lead with 393 yards and 4.9 yards per play; Aramis Dandoy of Southern California is second with 317 yards and Idaho's Kleffner, third, 268. Larson retains the total offense leadership with 718 yards, all but 92 of which were gained on his passes. Cameron ranks second with 628 yards and Lederman third, 563.

Al Talley, California, leads in scoring with 42 points on seven touchdowns. He's followed by Jay Buhler, Idaho, who has five conversions and six TDs (five by pass receptions) for 41 points. Garrett is the No. 1 placekicker with 12 points in 13 tries. He also leads in interceptions with four. Dandoy has the most yards on punt returns, 206, and Ralph Carr, Oregon State, the most on kickoff returns, 203.

Only 19 states have laws requiring the administration of vision tests in schools, according to the American Optometric Association. Buff tail tips distinguish the Rio Grande wild turkey from other types. Nickel plating was developed on a commercial basis about 1870.

It's Hiking Time

It isn't that we're trying to harp on the subject of this walk Saturday, but once again we would like to invite anyone who wants to come along and join in the fun. After the game the Vandals played against the WSC squad, anyone should be proud to walk for their team. The defeat is secondmost in a game like that. The Cougars were lucky and they know it. Had Idaho had a bit more depth in the line and backfield, we would be hosting the WSC'ers this year, but since we couldn't do any more than we did against them we are the ones who will be walking.

We will be leaving here Saturday at 2:30 from the SUB and will be back here in plenty of time for the nickel hope. Also, we want to get as many as possible over there for the dinner which will be provided for us by the kindly Cougars. Nine miles really isn't too far if you don't think about it while walking, and if we can get about 75 or 100 to go, there won't be much time to think about aching feet, and resolving bills. We will be contacting all the presidents of living groups sometime during the week to find out how many are going and we promise that it won't be a dull walk.

'Southern Branch' Trowned 46-9

NEW YORK — College of Idaho and University of Utah are among 45 American football teams still undefeated and untied this year. Both have won six games. Leading the unbeaten, untied list is little Peru (Neb.) State Teachers, the only team with seven triumphs.

Frosh Go Down 13-2 But Outplay Coubabes

In their first game of the season, and helping to kick-off Idaho Homecoming celebrations, the University of Idaho Vandal Babes fell to the WSC Cou-Babes 13-2 in a game that saw the breaks go the wrong way.

Starting right off, the Vandal frosh recovered a fumble on the first play of the game after kicking off to WSC. The frosh took the fumble on the Washington State 15 but lost the ball on downs on the nine.

Idaho again recovered a fumble on the Cougars 18 only to fumble again on the 14 on the next play, but took the ball on a quick kick four downs later.

The Cou-Babes managed to get into Idaho territory only once in the first quarter, and then only to the 40-yard line.

A Cou Babe pass was intercepted by Bob Scanlon and the freshmen worked it down to the 5 yard line but were unable to produce and lost the ball on downs there.

At the beginning of the second half, Idaho kicked off and once again recovered a fumble, this time on the 31-yard line of WSC. And once again, WSC recovered an Idaho fumble only to be forced to punt.

Dick Miller took to the air for WSC and connected with Don Guest for a WSC TD.

After WSC kicked off, a series of first downs brought the Idaho group to the WSC 11. From there they worked it up to the 5 before they lost the ball on downs to the Cougars.

Idaho took the ball on a WSC punt and drove to the WSC 35 before punting. A series of short passes and running plays set up the second TD for the Washington Staters on the Idaho 20. Once more Miller passed to Guest for the TD. This was in the fourth quarter.

Idaho got their 2 points when they blocked a WSC kick from behind the goal line for a safety.

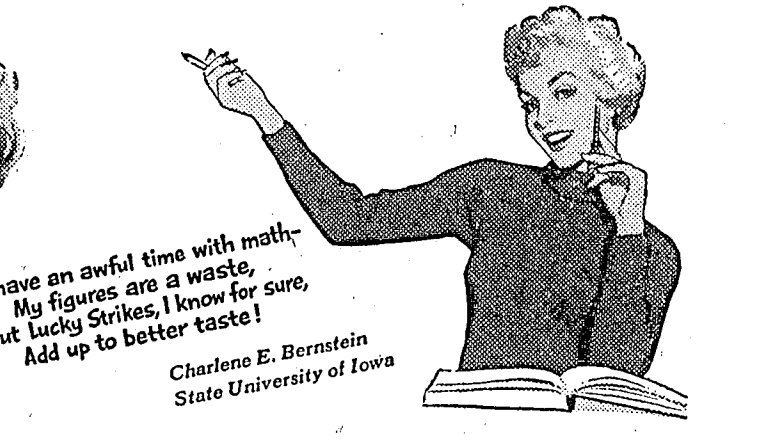

The Vandals, in a last minute effort to score as time was running short took to the air. With time for only one more play in the game Byron Gage passed to Dwaine Hodgson who caught the ball about a foot out of bounds on the minus one yard line of WSC.

The Vandals displayed a hard charging line and with line plunges by Rich Maggard and Eivind Risa showed the Cougars a tough time during the game which saw a lot

LATEST COLLEGE SURVEY SHOWS LUCKIES LEAD AGAIN!

Last year a survey of leading colleges throughout the country showed that smokers in those colleges preferred Luckies to any other cigarette.

This year another nation-wide survey—based on thousands of actual student interviews, and representative of all students in regular colleges—shows that Luckies lead again over all brands, regular or king size...and by a wide margin! The No. 1 reason: Luckies taste better. Smoking enjoyment is all a matter of taste, and the fact of the matter is Luckies taste better—for 2 reasons. L.S./M.F.T.—Lucky Strike means fine tobacco. And Luckies are made better to taste better. So, Be Happy—Go Lucky!

Here's one prediction I can make Without my crystal ball... For taste appeal you're sure to find That Luckies top them all!
