BET IT ALL AT THE BALL TOMORROW NIGHT

Exec. Board Chooses Tentative Election Dates

Tentative dates for spring elections, Military Ball date, and admission for the Blue Key Talent Show were all discussed at the Executive Board meeting Feb. 24. April 28 and April 15 have been designated as tentative dates for spring elections. Caucus will voice its opinion as to which date it wants for the election.

Ted Torok, Dave Thompson and Gale Mix made up the committee to amend the ASUI regulations regarding band awards. The committee drew up the following amendment:

"That Article 4, Section 1, be amended by adding Clause 9 to read as follows:

"Every person participating in either the Pep Band or the University Band for six semesters and who is scholastically eligible shall receive a band service key. This award shall be made by the Executive Board on the recommendation of the University Band Director."

May 14 has been closed as the date for the Military Ball. A recommendation was made that no excuses be given for absences from class as rewards for buying tickets for this dance.

The Blue Key wishes to charge a 25 cent admission for the Blue Key Talent Show to help defray some of their expenses. It will also help send a representative to national convention.

It was recommended by Gale Mix that $600 be transferred from the General Reserve Fund to the "Other Sports (Skiing)" for the purpose of transportation and expenses of the ski team to Reno for the NCAA or any other championships which any of our other activities may compete in are not included in the regular budget. The recommendation was moved and passed.

COMING EVENTS

SATURDAY
Ag club.— Lawyers basketball game, 2:30 p.m., in Gym.

SUNDAY
Four-H meeting 2:30 p.m., Borah room. Foreign exchange student to speak. Gem pictures at 4.

MONDAY
Heldiver initiates meet in Room 101 of Gem with suits at 7 p.m. Members meet in pool at 7 p.m. with suits on. Everyone please attend.

Subsidize Moscow's Jitney?

Executive Board members were asked whether the bus which serves the campus was convenient to students. The Argonaut volunteered to find out. Here is what an investigation produced.

Roy Lindquist, owner and operator of the Moscow Transit Co. for the past two years, reported that the campus bus is not paying for itself. He has requested that the city subsidize it.

Lindquist declares that "most of the riders come from the east side of town. I have a few riders from the University area that my route on the west side is more or less just an accommodation to the University." He reports that he gets some business from the office workers and professors of the University of Idaho, but very few students ride the bus most of them have their own cars.

Four or five years ago, I used to get a lot of student riders but very few live off the campus now days," Lindquist said.

Lindquist would like to know whether or not the bus is of enough value to the students to continue its route under city subsidization.

Foresters Visit Near-by Lake

Students in the College of Forestry courses of limnology and fishery management techniques took a joint field trip Monday to Atwater Lake, between Deary and Kendrick.

The purpose of the trip was to provide the students with experience in methods of lake surveys, including mapping, sounding, and the collection of physical and chemical data on the water itself.

Fishery students Jim Keating and Dave Parsons will use this information to prepare a management plan for the lake, a plan to provide better fishing. Limnology students Earl Erdman, Al Lewis, Warren Ree, and Mel Dyer will measure the influence of environmental features on total lake productivity.

In Final Round

Here are the five finalists in the 1954 ATO Esquire Girl contest. Standing in the front are Karen Parkinson and Susan Oberg. In the rear are Donna Officer, Sonia Henriksson and Patricia Gustafson. Editors of Esquire magazine will pick the winner. Last year's victor was Betty Hall, now Mrs. Gary Hever.

For Once (?) Prof Errs

(ACP)—This one has them laughing at the University of Nebraska: On the first day of second semester classes, a tardy professor walked into a room where 100 students had gathered for a political science class.

He walked briskly to the blackboard, erased what had been written there and announced, "If there's anyone not here for Political Science 4, now's the time to leave."

The students protested. This was Political Science 1, they said. Then it dawned on the bewildered professor, who grinned, apologized, said "I must be in the wrong room" and left.

A minute or so later the right professor came in.

Chamber Music To Be Heard

A concert of unusual interest and content will be presented by the University of Idaho's department of music on Thursday, March 4 at 8 p.m. in Recital Hall. Chamber music by three composers will make up the program.

Participating performers will be five members of the music faculty, three advanced music students, and one Moscow resident.

Featured from the faculty will be pianists Marian Frykman and Hall M. Macklin, violinist Carl Claus, cellist Ruth Krieger, and Warren Bellis will double on the flute and clarinet. The others are violinist Eleanor Mader, violists JoAlta Danner and Joyce Sumison, and string-bass man Don Hannah.

Climax of the program will be the performance of Schubert's famous Quintet, known as "The Trout" quintet because of the composer's use of his own song of that title in the thematic material of the larger work.

The complete program is as follows: Quartet for Flute, Violin, Viola and Cello (K. 285) by Mozart, Warren Bellis, flute, Carl Claus, JoAlta Danner, and Ruth Krieger; Trio in A Minor, Op. 114 by Brahms, Warren Bellis, clarinet, Ruth Krieger, and Hall M. Macklin; Quintet, Op. 114 by Schubert, Eleanor Mader, Joyce Sumison, Ruth Krieger, Don Hannah, and Marian Frykman.

The concert is a part of the faculty-student series for the current semester, and is open to the public without any admission fee.

Jeweled Buttons Are Dynamite To Two

The passing of yon jeweled buttons from he called man to she called woman is sometimes determined dangerous.

But when unsaid third parties are bashed and innocent windows broken as a result thereof, it might be therefore determined dangerous in real.

One called coed at institution called University received said button. But one innocent—she who only helped carry said coed to vessel of cold liquid to dunk her therein—met with a glass in the door of the institution where said coeds were residing.

Result of said action? That called band-aid and that called new glass panel.

Three Prizes To Be Given

Judging of the SUB photo contest will be Sunday between 11 and 12 a.m., and cash awards of $10, $5, and $3 will be awarded. Fifteen entries, portraying campus life, were turned in and are hung in the SUB cafeteria.

Judging the contest are William K. Farrell, assistant professor of forestry; Albert Sitlinger, assistant professor of education; and Roy A. Bell, assistant professor of the photography department.

You Think So, Eh?

Professor Harry Callwell seems to be getting a big honk out of some remark made during the Wednesday afternoon RE Week panel discussion. Other panel members to the left of Callwell are Dr. Edward C. Moore, Dr. W. H. Boyer, Moderator Lorell Weiss, Dr. James Martin of the College of Idaho, and Rabbi Albert Plotkin of Spokane.

Range Is Named After Korean Hero

There's a firing range in Korea called O'Callaghan—called that because a fellow by the name of Donald O'Callaghan gave the Reds a taste of their own medicine near this spot.

O'Callaghan is back home now, at least his home for the next two years, Lindley Hall, at the University of Idaho.

Almost a year ago, Feb. 13, Friday in fact, Don O'Callaghan was on "Hook hill in Korea. The Reds were out to recapture the hill and the First Commonwealth division, of which O'Callaghan was a member, was standing fast. Just forward of the battle line a handful of men became cut off from their patrol.

Patrol leader O'Callaghan moved over the line and covered the men until they could get back to their own lines. In the process he was hit—but not enough to stop him. A few minutes later he was back in the trenches directing fire.

The Reds were beginning to turn back when an enemy mortar fired over the lines and struck O'Callaghan in the foot taking the lower part of his leg with it. The man nearest him, 20 feet away, was killed.

This wasn't the first time O'Callaghan had been in the thick of things. Three times before he had been in hand-to-hand combat with the enemy.

Remember Christmas Eve in 1952 when things were fairly calm on the Korean front except on "T bone" hill where the Reds were attacking vigorously? O'Callaghan was the middle of this too. This time he came out with the Bronze Star and quite a report along with it. Here's the Army's side of the story:

"Sergeant O'Callaghan and two other men, exhibiting a remarkable degree of composure under hostile fire, immediately moved forward and cleared the rest of the trench on the left flank, making it possible to evacuate the wounded."

"Then, despite the intense enemy shelling, Sergeant O'Callaghan voluntarily remained on the outpost throughout the day, administering aid to the wounded and reorganizing the position. Through his courageous efforts, the lives of several men were undoubtedly saved."

"The devotion to duty and heroism in action displayed by Sergeant O'Callaghan reflect great credit upon himself and the military service." (Dated 17 August, 1953.)

O'Callaghan added that on this occasion he brought back another trophy, a prisoner.

Before these two battles O'Callaghan had seen action on "Old Baldy" and with the French forces on "Arrowhead" or hill 231.

Before these two battles O'Callaghan Korea O'Callaghan was in the Marine Corps and the Air Force. O'Callaghan is in his third year at the University. Before leaving for Korea, he attended Gonzaga and Boise Junior College, each for one year. At the present time he is majoring in pre-law.

PEEK-A-BOO!
(ACP)—A professor at the University of Indiana has solved the cheating problem—at least temporarily.

He placed classroom desks in a horseshoe arrangement around the room, about three feet apart. Then he left, telling the students they were on their honor.

Muckers' Ball Is Set In Gamblers' Paradise

RE Week Ends On High Note

With gratitude and success written all over their faces, Liz Winegar and Bob Huntley, co-chairmen of Religious Emphasis Week, put away their schedules Wednesday night.

Wednesday afternoon nearly 1,000 students and faculty members attended the closing panel discussion on "The Role of Religion in Life."

Panel members were Harry H. Caldwell, geology professor; James Martin, philosophy head; W. H. Boyer, psychology head; Rabbi Albert Plotkin of Spokane; and E. C. Moore, philosophy professor.

The panel was moderated by Lorell Weiss of the Idaho Institute of Christian Education. During the discussion, Caldwell and Boyer stated that more wars have been fought over religion than have been settled by it.

Included in the final days of the week were appearances in the living groups by guest speakers. Questions on communism, Negroes in religion, and courtship problems were discussed along with the usual queries about specific beliefs and dogma. Some of these "bull" sessions lasted for more than three hours.

Trophies will be given at the Campus Chest Carnival-Dance to the living groups with the booths making the most money and with the most original booths.

Two or three living groups have been asked to go together to build booths. The trophies will be presented to each separate living group with the winning booths.

The Campus Chest Drive this year will run from March 8 to 12, with the carnival starting at 8 p.m. Friday, March 12.

One KRPL "Late Date" show will be broadcast from the living group with the highest contribution based on the total living group contribution plus the separate booth receipts and divided by the total number of persons living in the group.

An over-all committee meeting for Campus Chest will be held March 4 in Conference room B at 7 p.m. All solicitation chairmen, booth representatives, and other committeemen are asked to attend this meeting.

Also, the deadline for turning booth ideas in to the Carnival Dance chairman is March 4. Booth chairmen should contact Harry Brennan, Fiji, before that date.

BABY IS A COLLEGE MAN
(ACP)—It is now possible for a six-year-old to attend the University of Southern California. He could take courses in rhythm, piano and orchestra.

Era Of 'Mary Of Scots' Told In Coming Play

The tragic events of the reign of Mary Stuart, Queen of Scots, will be relived next weekend in the University Auditorium when the drama department in conjunction with the ASUI presents Mary of Scotland.

A drama in verse form, the play traces Mary Stuart from her arrival in Scotland from the French court in 1561 until her imprisonment by Elizabeth of England in 1568.

Mary, a Catholic, whose claim to be the rightful queen of England was recognized by every court in Europe, challenged Elizabeth's claim of assuming the royal arms of England.

Meanwhile, civil strife had broken out in Scotland between the Protestant reformer, John Knox, and Mary's mother, Mary of Guise. Elizabeth retaliated by assisting the insurgent Protestants against the queen-dowager and her French troops.

With the death of Mary of Guise in 1560 and the insurrection ended, the Protestant leaders were in complete control of the situation. Protestantism was proclaimed and Catholicism was suppressed in Scotland by a parliament which was assembled without the assent and her French troops.

This was the Scotland to which Mary Stuart hoped to bring peace. Scarcely had she landed at Leith before John Knox set his sign of doom on her. Fateful incidents occurred in rapid succession.

The men and women face one another boldly in this outspoken drama in verse. Their blood is hot; their courage defiant.

"The Gambler" will open its doors for business at 9 p.m. tomorrow at the annual Mucker's ball in the south and central ballrooms of the SUB.

Tickets will be sold at $1.50 and purchasers will receive 300 "Mucker's Bucks" plus an evening of dancing to the music of Ted Torok and his orchestra. Dancing will be from 9 till 12.

Check page two for your free, 100 Mucker's bucks.

The gambling room will make Reno look unimportant. There will be dice games, chuck-a-luck, black jack and mouse roulette. Mouse roulette seems to have gained popularity, and is being played throughout North America. Couples place bets on various numbered holes. A mouse is then released to enter one of the holes paying off anyone who has placed his bet on that number.

The doorkeeper will issue the "Mucker's Bucks" to entering couples. An auction will be held at midnight in which prizes will be bid for with "Mucker's Bucks." First prize will be a Vandal beer mug, and two piggy banks will be auctioned off as second and third prizes.

There is no specific dress, so students may "come as you are."

Dick Howard and Howard Braden will be in charge of the various committees.

Patrons will be Joseph Newton, Mr. and Mrs. William Staley, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Abbott. Guests will include Dean Fahrwald, F. F. Cook, Assistant Professor and Head of Geology and Geography, and other members of the Geology department.

Tickets will be on sale at the door as well as in all living groups.

"Hop" Stopped; Sway's OK.

Jim Bowly, SUB manager, informed the Argonaut that the ballroom dance floor is not liable to fall in. Rumors to this effect circulated after Bowly stopped the "Bunny Hop" at the Foresters' Ball last Saturday night.

After noticing a sway in the floor, Bowly "though I'd better play it safe." However, the safety inspector came over Wednesday and told Bowly that he can see nothing wrong with the construction, and that there is nothing to worry about. The sway is caused by the spring in the floor.

The inspector is going to make a formal report to the administration, "and if there's anything found to be faulty, we'll remedy it."

DEAR JASON

Somehow we received the enclosed letter which was misdirected to us. Would you kindly bring it to the attention of "Sonny" in the Ag School.

Thanks,
Beach and Bar
Dere Sonny.

I see in the paper how you is gonna play a basketball game with them law students. No Sonny, we know you is a real red-blooded American boy and we is real proud of you. But we ain't got no hankering for you to fall out in your studies.

I see how you got a "D" in advanced corn squeeze learnin' and a "F" in second year wash bowl bathing. I know they is hard courses for you, but you jest try a little harder.

Your Uncle Oleo was the pride and joy of the Ag School when he went there. All the profs said his thesis on "Manure Marketing" smelled. That was a real nice thing to say, wasn't it? It was.

Ma says she is sending up a clean pair of underwear and a picture of a basketball so you will know what is coming off at that game with the lawyers. A basketball looks sorta like a punkin, only round. It does.

Sonny, we think of you often. I got to feed the hawks now. I do.
Paw
Letter to the "Indignant Engineer"

I don't believe many people seriously maintain that engineers constitute a mentally inferior race; the opposite appears to be the case. So many of our best brains and biggest appropriations have been drained off into the physical sciences and technical professions that our ignorance in the social sciences threatens to be our undoing.

The problems which confront the world are only in a minor way technical; they predominantly concern the character of individuals, the interaction between human beings and groups of human beings.

A solution of this predicament lies in developing men and women who can think objectively on all problems with which they are confronted. This means having a global, humanity-wide, inter-disciplinary point of view. An intensification and improvement of the disciplinary point of view not obtainable solely by specialization in a narrow field.

To think that the above virtues could be procured in one "extra year" is being optimistic to the point of innocence. An intensification and improvement of the grammar and high school programs by improving the quality and increasing the quantity of teacher's training and lengthening and intensifying the college programs are the suggested solutions.

According to big business executives, e.g. the vice president of Socony Vacuum, your "ridiculously obvious" answer is erroneous. To them specialists without thorough "liberal arts" training are unsuitable for the better executive positions. (See the Chicago Round Table panel discussion of February the 19th). It appears that the "liberal arts" pay off even in the shortrun selfishly economic field.

Sincerely,
H. Joris Rosse

Vandal Fliers Name Head

The Vandal Flying Club elected Bert Zimmerly as president at the meeting Wednesday evening. The other officers are vice president, Ken Brown; secretary, Corky Vaught; and treasurer, Jim Barron.

The retiring officers were Tom Collins, president, and Jerry Riggers, treasurer.

The club is negotiating to trade its Cessna 140, two place, for a Piper Super Cruiser, three place, which is now the property of Harley Fry of Spokane.

Breakfast flights and field meets to test the ability and courtesy of the pilots in approach and landings are planned for the spring.

Anyone interested in the Club may contact any of the members or attend the next meeting. A private pilot's license may be obtained before the end of the semester by joining now.

Alum News

L. A. Brainard, ('52), is living in Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. He was married August 8, 1953, to Darleen Tibbitts, class of '53. She is teaching in the Coeur d'Alene public school system.

David A. Crane, (engineering, '51), is now assistant highway engineer with the California Division of Highways at Bishop, Calif.

George Ann Hemovich, (Ed., '51), is now an English teacher in the high school at McArthur, Calif.

Byron H. Erstad, (Business '53), is now a special agent with the Equitable Life Assurance Society with headquarters in Boise.

George Poulos, (B.S. Mus. Ed., '53), is music instructor and supervisor of music for the Kendrick consolidated school district at Kendrick.

Civil Service And Highway Groups Send Interviewers

Job interviews for the following week have been announced by the Placement Center.

A Shell Oil Company interviewer will be at the Placement Bureau on Monday, March 1, to interview engineers and chemists.

The Idaho Highway Department will have a representative at the Engineering Building Tuesday, March 2 to interview civil engineers.

The Board of U.S. Civil Service Examiners for Scientists and Engineers will have representatives at the Engineering Building on March 3 and 4 to interview seniors and graduate students for employment in engineering and scientific research and development work in California.

Opportunities are offered in fields relating to the research and development of guided missiles, rockets, radar, electronic equipment, and other areas of weapon development. For appointments for interviews contact Dean Janssen at the Engineering Building.

R. C. A. interviewers will be at the Engineering Building on Wednesday, March 3, to interview Engineers and physicists.

Lockheed Aircraft company representatives will be at the Engineering Building on March 4 and 5 to interview engineers.

Final Games To Be Heard Over KUOI

The basketball games with the University of Washington will be broadcast over KUOI tonight and tomorrow night.

Sportscasters Steve Emerine, Paul Cooper, and Don Broughman will be on hand for the freshman games as well as the varsity contests. Air time for the frosh games is 5:45 and 7:20 for the varsity tilts.

Shortly after the games Saturday, Chuck White and Jerry Chandler will broadcast dance music from the Mucker's Ball.

With the help of the weatherman, chief engineer Bob McBirney and his staff will install direct lines to the Kappa and Phi houses Saturday afternoon.

McBirney wishes to express his thanks to Burt Lents, Jim Sanberg, Jim McCord and Jim Duncan, who have put in their time to increase KUOI's coverage.

Sunday afternoon KUOI inaugurates a new classical music show, the "Sunday Afternoon Classics."

Your host, Phil Meagher, will spin RCA Red Seal records from two until five. Selections will include compositions by Beethoven, Bizet, Tchaikovsky and many of the other world reknown masters.

Four out of five women haters are women.

WRA To Play Basket Ball, Volley Ball

Fourteen girls will go to Whitworth college in Spokane Saturday to play at the Whitworth basketball playday.

Those representing Idaho will be Wanda Gray, Sylvia Moore, Janice Crisp, Betty Huber, Cara Jean Hawkins, Eula Gray, Larvonne Wilson, Denise Darwin, Joan Dittmer, Barbara Larsen, Darlene Frost, Bess Vance, Karen Hincley and Colleen Hincley.

Idaho's two teams will be competing with teams from Holy Names, EWCE, WSC, WWCE and Whitworth.

The following basketball teams are scheduled to play this afternoon:

Steel vs Hays II and Forney II vs Alpha Phi II.

The co-recreational volleyball tournament began last Tuesday. The game scores were DG, 57—Tri Delt 12, and Pi Phi, 26—Forney II, 20. The teams scheduled to play Monday night will be notified by phone.

The following bowling teams are scheduled to bowl Monday night: Alpha Phi I, Forney III, Tri Delt I, Gamma Phi A, Hays II, Theta I, Pi Phi I and DG IV.

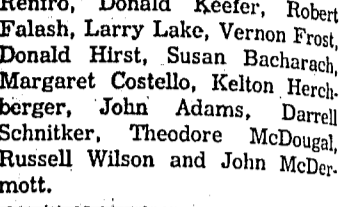

All girls interested in trying out for the women's rifle team are urged to practice at the armory this week.

Harriet Ann Gray and company, modern dance artists, will appear at Bryn Hall in Pullman at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, March 4. Tickets are 50 cents.

INFIRMARY

Admitted to the infirmary were Mary Lou LeFors, Susan Backarach, Larry Lake, Wesley Staudarmer, Donald Hirst, John McDermott, Theodore McDougal, Robert Kitcher, Kelton Herchberger, Margaret Costello, Roger Dilling, John Adams, Bruce Sweeney, Darrell Schnitker, Bud Gibson, Patricia Berry, Duena Forte, Lee R. Gale and Robert Crosby.

Trade School Engineers

(The following is another guest editorial on the liberal arts—engineering hassle. This editorial does not necessarily represent the views of the Argonaut.—Ed.)

With a few advocates of "progressive education," overly free expression of private theories on the caliber of engineering grads seems to be the vogue. Their commentaries usually haggle the same old theme: are engineers, or are they not, relegated to a future of social inequity stemming from the deficiencies of a specialized education?

An article of this nature appeared in a recent issue of Life Magazine; and an editorial remarkably similar appeared two weeks ago in the Arg, written in a style reminiscent of Robert McCormick.

The veracity of these printed meanderings is questioned by engineers, who maintain that this specialization boogy is, at best, a shallow conjecture.

Admittedly it is true that an engineer's formal education consists essentially of the acquisition of proficiency with technical subject matter. Adeptness in mathematics and rational analysis is one of a successful engineer's primary requisites.

Can this, however, be construed to mean that an engineer cares nothing for the finer arts of life, and instead shackles himself to some vision of a technical Utopia?

Such an assumption should be taken at face value as being preposterous. Any normal, intelligent person is subject to the desire to learn. And the knowledge he gains, be it through a liberal arts course or on his own time and initiative, ultimately renders him appreciative of fine arts and a respectable social life.

Does not the engineer belong in this category of the normal and intelligent? Statistics from the Student Counseling Center throw light on this matter of relative mental capacities by ascertaining that engineer's percentile ratings and I.Q.'s actually transcend those of the average Joe College.

Another set of statistics compares seniors in their respective aptitudes in high-level English, a subject in which engineers are ruled as being especially deficient. Engineers are shown to rank in the upper 20 per cent of male English "smarties."

No wonder a number of English instructors have expressed preferences for engineers as students.

Naturally, mere POSSESSION of the capacity for the betterment of one's self is of little value unless that capacity is enlisted to serve a broadening effect. Facility in this art of self-culturing is certainly not unknown to engineers.

Of my acquaintance, one engineer enjoys the study of art and is a mildly accomplished artist. Another enjoys studying military and political history. He probably knows as much about the history of military tactics as most professional soldiers (although he desires never to be adorned by a khaki uniform).

Reading is also a very popular enlightening pastime among the ranks of engineers, and quite often an engineer develops a taste for good literature as a result of his perusings.

Of course engineers' energies are not all consumed in pursuance of intellectual fancies, for they are also active in campus social activities. How many of you, for instance, attended this year's very successful Engineer's Ball?

In short, specialization has little detrimental effect on the social capabilities of an engineer. His chances of success are NOT impaired, and the bickerings of those few education radicals are inconsequential. Engineers are still admittedly American industry's biggest asset.
—L. V. G.

ACCEPTANCE

To Members of the Barf and Belch:
We, the Ag students of the University, having with growing concern over the past several months observed the loathsome, degenerate, and generally disgraceful behavior of the dissipated and rummy students of the law school, do hereby accept their challenge of a basketball game, on Saturday, Feb. 27, at 2:30 p.m. in Memorial Gym on the University of Idaho campus. In case there are some law students too dazed to find the gym, Freddie will show you where it is.

We realize that we are imposing an extreme hardship on this conglomeration of frail, undernourished, degenerate, specimens of humanity who call themselves the Bench and Bar—the name being very appropriate since they are always stopped over some shining bar, or passed out on a bench. We doubt that these frail, undernourished, slum-ridden parasites of humanity can withstand the superior brawn and more intelligent brain of the strong-hearted nature boys of the Ag Club.

If you have any trouble translating the technical terms used in this acceptance, we suggest that you consult Elsie No. 963 at the dairy barn. She has more brains than you have shysters and furthermore she gives 80 pounds of milk a week.

Signed,

Sigma Nus Plan Formal; Thetas Eat Grade Averages

The few brief glimpses of spring seem to have spurred the society activity, for more and more plans are in the offing. Initiatives will soon be the honored guests at the annual Teke Carnation dance, Sigma Nu White Rose formal, and Beta initiation dance.

The coming of spring is heralded by the numerous tubbings of those recently pinned, but fireside plans indicate that cold weather is still partially setting the social pace.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA
Saturday's dinner at the Theta house found the girls eating steak, roast beef, hamburger, spaghetti, or beans according to their semester grade average. The event was the semi-annual scholarship dinner.

Dr. James Martin, professor of philosophy from the College of Idaho, was the R. E. Week guest speaker Tuesday evening.

At the "alum dinner" Tuesday night, the members came to dinner dressed according to the profession they expect to be following ten years from now. The "alums" showed up as everything from channel swimmers to hmmm hmmm girls.

At a surprise dinner Sunday honoring Mrs. S. V. Long, our housemother, members of her family were guests. They are Mr. and Mrs. George Foster and their children Susan and Mary Maude, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Long and their children Steven and Cindy.

Pre-Paid Tuition Aids in Education

WACO, Tex. (I.P.)—A plan for prepaid tuition, whereby parents or mothers may pay in advance the college expenses of future students, has been approved by Baylor University and eight other Texas Baptist colleges, according to an announcement by Dr. Roy J. McKnight, vice-president.

Payments toward the tuition, room and board expenses of future students may be made in any way the parent or donor chooses, Dr. McKnight said. He suggested regular payments, intermittent payments, and lump sum investments, as chief possibilities. The fund may be set up at any time between the student's birth and enrollment in college.

REICHOW-BROCKMAN
The engagement of Patt Reichow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Reichow, Lewiston, to Bill Brockman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Baline Brockman, Caldwell, was announced February 27 at the Phi Beta Phi house.

The tables were decorated with yellow and blue balloons and candles. When the balloons were popped, colored papers landed on the table and contained the words, "The news is out — it's Patt and Bill — June 10."

The ring was displayed in a nosegay of blue iris and yellow carnations. The traditional box of chocolates was passed.

Patt is a sophomore majoring in journalism. Bill is a junior majoring in psychology and is affiliated with Phi Kappa Tau fraternity.

Mrs. F. O. Reichow was a dinner guest at the announcement.

Senior Cadet Is ROTC Commander

Ralph L. Lehman, senior from Moscow, was appointed commander of the Army ROTC cadet corps yesterday, according to an announcement by Lieut. Colonel James A. Moore, Idaho professor of military science.

As cadet colonel, Lehman replaces Charles W. "Pat" Duffy, who was commissioned after completing the army program last semester.

George Ring, James Rogers and Barry Winzler were chosen as cadet lieutenant colonels. Ring, from Loma Linda, California, will serve as Lehman's regimental executive officer. Winzler, a Spokane man, and Rogers, from Moscow, will command the first and second battalions respectively. All three are seniors.

Selected for cadet major rank were Robert Ackaret, Charles Carman, Burgess McDonald, Sam Nichols, Louis Oblock, Rex Roper, Joe Soderberg and Dwight Thomas. Nichols was also appointed regimental adjutant.

Army Cadets chosen for captaincies were Paul Clausen, Tom Flynn, Gordon Howard, Bob Lee, Claire Lieske, Irel Lowe, Guy Manning, Clyde Murphy, Muddy Numbers, Robert Parsons, Robert Playfair, Thomas Shobbrook, Jere Smith and Roy Verner. They will serve as company commanders and battalion staff officers.

Fifty-three cadets were named as first lieutenants, and the officer corps was completed by appointment of 11 second lieutenants.

The cadet officers will serve until June.

Here's The Real Clue On Proper Escorting

By Marie Brammer
Are some of you girls going to the basketball game together tonight? If you lived in Czechoslovakia you would not even consider it, for, according to Frantisek Libersky, a Czechoslovakian student, "women cannot go unescorted to athletic events."

Libersky, nicknamed Frank by his American friends, is a junior at the University of Idaho. He lived in Czechoslovakia 31 years. In Moscow, he lives with Dr. R. H. Ross of the Dairy Science department and eats most of his meals at the Sigma Chi house.

"If you lived in Czechoslovakia, you would go to a dance only if you had an escort," added Libersky. "At one of the University's weekly dances, which compare with Idaho's campus mixers, girls would not dance with anyone but their own dates. Dancing all night is common in Czechoslovakian towns," he commented.

"I did not see a football game until I came to the University," remarked the stocky, sandy-haired young man. "We do not have football in our country. Soccer, which was introduced from England, is the most popular sport," he explained.

"American women are more independent than in Europe," observed Libersky, when comparing Czechoslovakia with the United States. "Here women are found in the factories, homes, administration, and even in high government positions. They are on the same level, or even a little higher level," he added, smiling.

"American social life and holidays are much like ours in Czechoslovakia," observed the young Czech. "Our Santa Claus, a good man in the church or a church officer, comes about the sixth of December.

Before the revolution, we celebrated Nation Day, or Independence Day, as you call it," he added. In November we honor the dead of our country."

New Year's Eve celebrating included dancing, drinking, and singing, and "the kiss from the boy friend to wish you well in the New Year," commented Libersky, with a sparkle in his eyes.

Ohio Students Favor M'Carthy

(ACP)—A scientific poll, using "a recognized system of polling," has shown 57 per cent of students at Miami University (Ohio) to be in general favor of Senator McCarthy and his committee's investigatory activities.

Eighty per cent of the freshmen, 58 per cent of the sophomores, 46 per cent of the juniors and 32 per cent of the seniors indicated they are "pro-McCarthy."

The poll, taken by a comparative government class, 34 per cent of the students said witnesses who refuse to testify are "probably Communists." Sixty per cent said "This is no indication."

Forty-five per cent said McCarthy's methods are undesirable but justified in view of the Communist threat.

HUSKIES INVADGE HERE FOR LAST COURT TILT

Vandals Host Washington Tonight In Final Stand

Chuck Finley and his Idaho Vandals will host Tippy Dye's University of Washington Huskies tonight and tomorrow in Memorial Gymnasium in a pair of games that will decide who is going to ride in third place in Northern Division standings.

Any ray of hope the Idaho squad had of winning the pennant was snuffed out last Tuesday at Pullman, when the Washington State Cougars ran over the Vandal quint 56-44. Outside of a 1-0 lead at the start of the game and a 7-5 edge with but a few minutes gone by, the Vandals trailed throughout the contest.

Bennink, Rehder Shine
Ron Bennink and Bill Rehder proved too much for the tightened up Idaho squad. Bennink tallied for 21 points for the evening and Rehder sank 17 to lead both teams.

Idaho trailed 12-8 at the end of the first period and managed to drop in only nine more points before the gun ending the half sounded, trailing 22-17.

Finley's charges managed to pull up within three points of the Cougars early in the third quarter, but it was a short lived lead and the WSCers paced by Bennink and Rehder brought their lead up to 10 points at the end of the third period.

Bad Passing by Idaho
It was then Bennink started to move. The Cougar forward potted 7 points in two minutes of play in the fourth stanza. Idaho, trying to take advantage of the laxness of Jack Friel's group suffered from faulty passing losing the ball more than once to Washington State.

Tonight, Washington and Idaho will battle for third place in the conference with Idaho looking for the one win they need to keep their berth. Washington, who now rests uncomfortably in fourth place is looking for a softer bed. And that bed is the one Idaho is laying in now.

The Vandals lost the first two games against Washington at Seattle and must win both home games to keep from losing a series this year. They have tied with Washington State at 2-2 and with Oregon State, and took three of four from Oregon's Ducks.

Washington, who started the season with no ray of hope for anything better than a last place berth has set the conference on fire with their upsets which have put them in fourth place and given them an open window with a view of the number three spot.

Parsons Is Threat
Tippy Dye will be relying heavily on Dean Parsons, 6-7 Husky center, top scorer and crack man on rebounds along with several others, but as to who will start the game for the Washington squad is undeterminable as yet.

Chuck Finley is expected to start his regular five which include Dwight Morrison, Harlan Melton, Tom Flynn, Bob Garrison and Tom Falash.

Hell Divers Tap 18 New Members

Tapping of 18 new Helldivers Tuesday and Wednesday brought the 1954 membership up to 48, president John Gillis revealed yesterday.

Formal initiation for the new members will be held Monday night at 7 at the pool. Initiates were required to wear a "HELL-DIVER" inscribed swimming cap to classes the later part of the week.

The new members include Russ Whitney, Sigma Nu; Maureen Maxwell and Lexie Gill, Alpha Phi; Sue McMahon, Gamma Phi Beta; Sally Ghiglieri and Mary Dunn, Delta Gamma; Joan Baldwin, Pi Axtell and Sonia Hendrikson, Pi Beta Phi; Polly Wilson, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Sandy Slavin and Barbara Simons, Alpha Chi Omega; Leah Nanninga, Shirley Henry and Betsy Dregnie, Kappa Alpha Theta; Mike McKay, Willis Sweet; Gloria Keller, Hays Hall and Dick Martin, Delta Sigma Phi.

Bill Buckley and Bruce Buckman are in charge of the initiation. Judges included Sally Du Sault, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Janice Loren, Delta Delta Delta; Bill Buckley, Alpha Tau Omega; Jerry Jones, Campus Club; Jerry Light, Tau Kappa Epsilon.

A total of 39 turned out for Helldivers, Gillis said. He also announced that at the Monday meeting, an explanation of the club will be made and the spring water show will be discussed. The theme for the show has been selected and act directors will be chosen at the meeting.

Problems Are Studied

Queried today as to what action was being taken in the study of athletic department organization and functioning at the University of Idaho, President J. E. Buchanan said that "this study is now to receive the full attention of the Faculty Athletic committee."

"As announced last December, the committee was given the responsibility of studying all phases of the athletic program," President Buchanan added. "But first things come first. Given top priority was the lining up of a new football staff in time to direct spring practice. This has now been accomplished with the exception of one additional assistant yet to be named."

Following the appointment of J. Neil (Skip) Stahley as head football coach to replace Raymond A. (Babe) Curfman, and Earl Klapstein and John Patee as assistants, the committee will now concentrate on the various phases of athletic department organization and function, including relations with the Associated Students organization, liaison with high school coaches, and recruiting activities.

Frosh Triumph In Last Meet

In their last meet of the year, Idaho's freshmen swimmers handed the Washington State Cougars a 43-33 defeat Wednesday and set a new frosh record in the 150 yard individual medley.

Jack Helle set a new mark of 2:52.2 to break the old record. The frosh crew lost only three events of the nine that were run off giving them an easy win over the Cougars to give them their second victory, over the WSC squad, previously edging them 44-40.

These Will Splash In Seattle Pool

Mermen Face Busy Weekend; Lose to WSC

Facing a team they have never beaten, Idaho varsity swimmers will come up against Jack Torney's University of Washington Huskies this weekend at Seattle.

The Vandal mermen will have a rough go of it against the 11 time winners of the Northern Division. They have never placed lower than second in the 17 years under the reigns of Torney.

Eric Kirkland, Idaho tank coach said before the team left he didn't expect his squad to beat the Huskies but they were going to give them a good fight.

The Idaho crew so far this year have won two from Eastern Washington College of Education, one from Oregon and dropped two to Washington State College, the second defeat coming Tuesday 48-36.

Idaho's Don Medley was the Vandal gun taking two firsts. One in the 150 medley and one in 200 yard backstroke. Bill Buckley broke the Idaho 200 yard backstroke record setting a new mark of 2:28.4.

Fritz Holz won top honors in the 440 yard freestyle with the other win coming by default in the medley relay.

Frosh Finish Mediocre Season

The Idaho Vandal Babes round out their season tonight and tomorrow with preliminary games at 5:45 with the Plummer town team Plumbers and the Whitworth University junior varsity.

The Frosh, guided by Hartley Kruger, have but nine men on the active roster and have had only a mediocre year on the courts. Starting tonight will be Kelly Herschberger and Bill Leibe, forwards; Gary McEwen, the top scorer at center; Gary Moore and Tom Vopat or Ted Tate at guards.

The Plummer Plumbers have a former Vandal basketball player who played with the squad in 1945-46 when the Vandals won the Northern Division.

Stahley Names Two Assistants

John H. Patee, head football coach at Stetson university in Florida, and Earl Klapstein, head football coach at Stockton college in California, have been named assistant football coaches at the University of Idaho, it was announced today by President J. E. Buchanan.

Both men were highly recommended by Neil (Skip) Stahley, recently named head coach following the December resignation of Raymond (Babe) Curfman. A third assistant, yet to be recommended by Stahley, will be named at a later date, President Buchanan said.

All-Coast Tackle
Klapstein played his college football at College of Pacific, where he was all-coast tackle in 1943 under Amos Alonzo Stagg. Stag recommended Klapstein highly for the assistant job at Idaho. Klapstein holds both B.A. and M. A. degrees from the College of Pacific, and has done work on his doctorate at the University of Southern California.

Following college Klapstein went into the Navy where he played and assisted in coaching the San Diego Navy football team where Stahley was head coach. After the Navy service, Klapstein played one year with the Pittsburgh Steelers in professional football before he took up coaching in 1947 at Manteca (California) high school. In his two years there the high school won the conference title each year. He became, in 1949, assistant coach at Stockton college and took over the head spot the following year. Since that time his teams have won one conference title (1952), finished second three times and fourth once. A native of California, Klapstein is married and has three children. The family will come to Moscow later in the spring but he will report on the campus in the next few days.

Patee played his college football as quarterback under Stahley at Brown university, from which he graduated with an A.B. degree. Patee also served later as an assistant under Stahley at Toledo university.

Prior to entering the coaching field, however, he served in the Navy following graduation from college. He first started coaching as an assistant at Torrington, (Conn.) high school in 1947, helping with both football and basketball. When Skip Stahley was named head football coach at Toledo university Stahley chose Patee as his backfield coach for the 1948 through the 1950 seasons. The following year Patee was named as head football coach at Stetson university where his teams have been outstanding. He has, like Klapstein, been much in demand as a speaker at high school and quarterback club functions. This year Patee was named "Man of the Year" by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Patee is married and has a small daughter. He will report to Idaho next week with the family to follow within a short time. In recommending the two coaches to Idaho Stahley did not indicate their particular fields, but it is assumed that Patee will handle the backfield candidates and that Klapstein, who played both center and tackle, will have charge of the linemen.

INTRAMURALS

Sigma Chi, leaders in total intramural points for the school year, are currently among the leaders in still another sport—bowling—according to latest league standings released by Larry Golding, intramural director.

The Sigs are tied for first place in League II with Sigma Alpha Epsilon. Each has a 4 and 1 record. Leadership in League I is shared by Campus Club and Delta Sigma Phi also with 4 and 1 won-lost figures.

Kappa Sigma No. 2 rolled up the most impressive B basketball score this week as they crushed SAE No. 2 45-6. In another lop-sided tiff, Sigma Chi No. 1 trounced Campus Club No. 2 34-5.
