Claude Bassouls Tells Of France

We're glad to see a letter to the editor about election results. We've always maintained that election results, even college election results, should be printed out loud.

First, the public is entitled to see how the candidates placed. Second, it is a help to know "who almost won" when a vacancy occurs at mid-year.

Since these elections (and all the nominating, voting, campaigning and what-have-you) are supposed to be counterparts of what we will face after college, why should campus politicians be spared the lessons learned by losing candidates?

We're glad the whole basketball season wasn't like that game Saturday. Half of us would be in wheelchairs now if that was the case.

Some of these same people thought they were screwy when they read the Sunday morning Spokesman-Review which carried a wrong description of who scored the winning basket how.

We understand we caused some consternation in the last issue by not including this venerable piece of verbiage. Some of our critics didn't get their twice-weekly sneer and some of our followers (far fewer) had nothing to read in class.

No, we didn't chicken out. We were short of space and had no time to grind the grammar. Please don't cancel your subscriptions yet. We'll try to make it every issue from now on.

By Marilyn Mells
"French universities are judged on their scholarship and not on their football teams," emphasized Claude Bassouls, a foreign student from Paris, France.

Bassouls, an engineering major, came to the United States from Paris at Christmas, 1952. He said he picked the University of Idaho because he was told that the western part of this country is more interesting than the eastern part since the West has not been built up to such a great extent.

In what corresponds to high school in this country, Bassouls explained, the French student has his choice of majoring in philosophy, mathematics or science. He also takes a few assorted courses in the other two divisions. When he completes the first grade, his last year of high school, the student must take difficult examinations before entering a university.

Two Schools
The French have two types of schools, the state and the private, said Bassouls. The state schools are much cheaper—tuition is about 1000 francs, or $3 in American money, and they are also known to have higher standards than most of the private schools.

"The average American has more luxuries than the average Frenchman, but he has no beauty or culture in his life," according to Bassouls. The American spends a good deal of his money on cars, television sets and other luxuries of that type, whereas, the average Frenchman would rather spend his money for books, pictures and things of a cultural value," he said.

He added, however, that in the United States a maid is considered a luxury. In France, where labor is cheap, it is not too unusual to have one. In many cases she does everything from cooking and cleaning to shining shoes.

Very few French university students have cars, he said. A good deal of their traveling is done on scooters or bicycles. Bicycling is the national sport of France. The students have a few dances in their homes but they often go to the bars to dance, drink, play cards and meet old friends.

One strong difference between the French and American student, commented Bassouls, is that "the French does much drinking and never gets drunk" (this includes the girls), whereas, the American student "drinks to get drunk."

"American women are prudish, and sexy at the same time," replied the Frenchman when asked the inevitable question. He believes that they try to act sexy but seem to be too easily shocked. They are too concerned with "what people will think."

French women grow up faster and are more mature, he said. They are not always putting on a mask of formality like the American. In his opinion, American women never show their true personalities until they are married and, he added with a twinkle in his dark eyes, they would probably get married a lot sooner if they did.

"I consider the United States a great nation but there is one thing I regret," Bassouls said. "That is that two countries such as France and the United States cannot reach a better understanding of each other." American tourists and soldiers have given the United States a bad reputation in many European countries. They often act very superior or try to take as souvenirs things that are sacred to the Europeans, he added.

"There are large differences in the way the two countries function both socially and politically," he said, and both sides should be willing to make some concessions and try to understand the other for the sake of greater friendship. "As long as I am here," he vowed, "I will try to correct the wrong ideas the Americans have about France, and on my return to France I will do my best to correct the wrong ideas the French have about the Americans."

Executive . . . Board

Agenda:
Meet at SUB at 5:30 for dinner at WSC.

Everybody Loves A Lover

Janet Biker, in the role of Mary, listens to sweet nothings from suitor Jim Madison, who plays Bothwell. The two are pictured in front of the fireplace in the ASUI drama production "Mary of Scotland" which opens Friday night in the auditorium.

ASUI Show Set For March 5-6

"I came into the theatre unexpectedly, without preparation, and stayed in it because I had a certain amount of rather accidental success with an appalling number of failures," wrote playwright Maxwell Anderson, author of "Mary of Scotland," which will appear on the University Auditorium stage Friday and Saturday nights at 8.

Maxwell Anderson, one of the most important playwrights in contemporary American drama, started his career after graduating from the University of North Dakota as a school teacher in the middle west. Because of his pacifism he lost this position and traveled to California where he became employed as an English instructor at Stanford.

After taking his M.A. at Stanford University, Anderson joined the faculty of Whitier College, but at this time his scepticism brought him into conflict with the school authorities and he quit teaching.

Students may get tickets at the University bookstore or Hodgins Drug store by presenting their ASUI tickets. There is no admission price for students. Faculty and townspeople may obtain tickets for 50 cents.

A writer by predilection, he became editorial writer first for a California paper, and then moved on to New York. Newspaper work was only a means of earning a living, however; Anderson wanted to be an author and an independent.

His adventures in playwriting began in 1923 with White Desert, a family tragedy of the Dakota prairies in verse. It was not popular, though the reviewers were enthusiastic about it.

Soon, in collaboration with Laurence Stallings of the Morning World, he produced "What Price Glory," which became the outstanding success of the 1924-25 season.

Historical Plays
The early '30's were Anderson's richest period. Appearing in succession were the historical plays, including "Mary of Scotland."

Whatever his appalling number of failures, no contemporary American dramatist can equal him in producing prize winners and hits. Of his numerous works, "Mary of Scotland" is one of the finest pieces of writing in the collected works of the American drama.

PROF OR STUDENT?
(ACP)—On the 28th day of every month, it's said, ghost haunts the halls of Criel College of Oxford, England.

Students—who have reported hearing footsteps and other mysterious noises on the fateful day—have recently been urged to try to catch the ghost.

Ten Teams Play Bridge In Tourney

Ten teams participated in the College Bridge tournament last Sunday afternoon held in the north ballroom of the SUB.

The contest was open only to undergraduate students. They participated in teams of two. Partnerships remained the same throughout the game. Each person played 16 hands and the score-sheets were sent to the director of Houston Hall at the University of Pennsylvania, who is chairman of the National Intercollegiate Bridge Tournament Committee.

The national headquarters will compare results of scores of teams according to how much the team should have bid, who should have bid it, in what suit, and how many tricks were taken.

The results of the contest will not be known until March 15. Winners of the tournament will be classified as to national, area, and campus winners.

The University of Idaho is one of the 172 colleges and universities throughout the United States competing in the tournament. Forty-four states and the District of Columbia were represented in the entries, it was announced by the national chairman.

Debate Team To Leave For Tourney

The University debate team will leave Wednesday morning at 8 a.m. from the SUB for the Lindfield College Debate Tournament to be held there March 4, 5, and 6. This is the fifth tournament attended by the debate team this school year, and the 23rd year it has attended the Lindfield meet at McMinnville, Ore.

Over 300 students from Washington, Oregon, California, Utah, Colorado and Idaho will participate in this tournament which is said to be the biggest tournament in the country.

Entering the tournament from the University are Jim Kruger, Lee Anderson, Charles Oldham, Paul Schultz and Kay Kreizenbeck. This group will be competing in the extemporaneous and impromptu speaking division. Fred Williams will enter the salesmanship and radio division; Hugh Burgess, interpretive reading; Chuck Degler, after-dinner and extemporaneous speaking; Jody Keith, Joy Chilcott and Roger McPike will debate Lincoln-Douglas style and enter extemporaneous speaking.

Contests are to be held in extemporaneous, oratory, impromptu and after-dinner speaking, radio, interview, salesmanship and interpretive acting and reading. Debaters will participate in a student congress.

Two years ago, Idaho won the senior division and the same team took the junior division the preceding year. The Idaho debate team has won 61 out of its 92 debates.

Pre-Med Accepted At Optometry School

Roger C. Fitch of Payette, a sophomore pre-med student, has been accepted for admittance to Southern College of Optometry at Memphis. He will be accepted as a sophomore this fall.

Usually a student is admitted as a freshman and must take one year of pre-optometry and three years of optometry. Because Fitch has taken two years of pre-med here he will be accepted on sophomore standing.

EDITORS FOR A DAY
(ACP)—Editors of the Brown and White, student newspaper at Lehigh University (Pa.), turned the tables on the administration recently.

For one issue they served as advisers while nearly 50 faculty "journalists-for-a-night" put out the paper.

The novice journalists covered assigned meetings, did rewrite, drew cartoons, wrote headlines, did page makeup and performed all the staff duties in publishing the 12-page issue.

Stringin' Along

Members of the KUOI engineering staff get set to add the Beta house to their string as part of the direct-wiring project to all campus living groups. Two of the crew can be seen on the roof.

Ball Called Successful

Following the Muckers' Ball Saturday night in the SUB, Charles Kidwell, president of the Associated Miners, said, "The Mucker's Ball was the most successful we've even had. My thanks go out to all committee members because they did a grand job and made the ball a success."

As a final event, a Vandal beer mug and 2 piggy banks were auctioned off by band leader Ted Torok. The beer mug was bought for $300.00 by Lynn Nichols. One piggy bank was sold to Carl Swanson for $270.00, and the other bank was purchased by Constantinos (Gus) Laskaris for $120.00.

Most of the visitors discovered that betting was a cruel and unrewarding game, and it gave them a good feeling that the money was only "phony."

During the evening a mouse escaped from the little cage of the mouse roulette. The mouse caused some excitement, but was retrieved within a very short time.

Patrons were Joseph Newton, Mr. and Mrs. William Staley, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Abbott. Guests included A. W. Fahrenwald, Dean of the College of Mines, E. F. Cook, assistant professor and head of geology and geography and other members of the geology department.

Dick Howard and Howard Braden will be in charge of the various committees.

Three "Pioneer" In Getting Educated

By Marie Brammer

They look alike and they are the same size. They are both education majors, and they're Alpha Chis.

No, they're not twins; they are brother and daughter.

Sally Landers and her mother, Mrs. Floyd Landers, are both juniors at the University. This semester they are both practicing teaching English as a part of 21-hour schedules.

Mrs. Landers attended school here after graduation from high school and a year of teaching school here after graduation from high school and a year of teaching school. Two of Mrs. Landers' former students are also attending the University.

Sally, her mother and Sally's young brother, Lew, are living in an apartment in West Sixth Village. "It's almost like pioneering," commented Sally. Each morning one of the three has to get up early to warm the cold apartment by building a fire in the wood and coal stove.

While Mrs. Landers and Sally study, Lew provides background music by practicing his violin.

Womeldorff Wins Prize

Dave Womeldorff, Delta Sig, won first prize Saturday in the SUB photo contest. Hap Ferree and Malcom Faust took second and third places. Prizes of $10, $5 and $3 were awarded.

Fifteen entries emphasizing campus life, including the winning photos, are now on display in the SUB cafeteria.

TV Set Now Minus Legs

San Jose State College ATOs have discovered the hard way that local thieves are not easily discouraged.

They recently bolted the legs of their 21-inch television set to the floor to safeguard it against the current wave of vandalism sweeping the campus.

The San Jose Spartan Daily reports last week the ATOs awoke to find the legs still bolted to the floor—minus the TV set.

The theft is the latest in a series which has seen the loss of nearly $100 worth of trophies and two charters taken from five local fraternities.

Ag Bawl To Be Held Saturday

The foresters had their fun, the miners had their dance and now the campus farmers—the aggies will swing into gear this Saturday night with their annual "Ag Bawl."

Gary Thomas will furnish the tunes for dancing which will last from 9 till midnight. The north and central ballrooms have been set aside for the occasion.

Campus Chest To Benefit Seven Organizations

World University Service will receive 20 per cent of the funds collected in the Campus Chest Drive from March 8 to 12 this year.

World University Service "encourages and supports all efforts on the part of students, professors, and others to meet the basic needs of universities throughout the world."

It provides scholarships and funds for education throughout the world, and works closely with agencies of the United Nations, non-governmental university organizations, and national unions of students.

WUS provides for foreign students food, clothing, a place to sleep and work, medical care, funds to pay their university fees and for books and laboratory equipment.

The National Scholarship Service and Fund for Negro Students, to receive 5 per cent from Campus Chest, provides scholarships to Negro and white students to attend inter-racial colleges, under a "two-way integration" project for inter-racial understanding.

Scholarships are given to students investigated in talent research programs. All scholarships are for freshmen students.

Other programs which will benefit from Campus Chest this year are the Elks Convalescent Home in Boise for polio, which will receive 15 per cent of the total collected.

This is the organization which helped Joyce Molstead, Forney Hall sophomore, at Christmas time a year ago when she was stricken with polio. Joyce is now at her home in Coeur d'Alene.

The North Idaho Children's Home (orphan) at Lewiston, will receive 15 per cent of the total Campus Chest collections. The Crippled Children's Society of Idaho will receive 15 per cent of the total contributions. The society treats children for such diseases as cerebral palsy.

Ten per cent of the Campus Chest total will go to the American Heart Association, and 15 per cent to Religious Emphasis Week funds.

Two Receive Commissions

Two Idaho seniors, Harry A. Brizee and Raymond E. Marshall, received notification yesterday of their selection as officers in the regular Army. The selection, according to Lieut. Colonel James A. Moore, Idaho professor of Military Science, is subject to confirmation by the U.S. Congress.

Brizee and Marshall, who both are second lieutenants in the U.S. Army Reserve, were two of 33 college seniors in the western United States to be selected for the regular service. They will be integrated with this year's graduating class of the United States Military Academy at West Point, and will enter active duty early in June.

Brizee, who will receive a Forestry degree in June, is from Twin Falls. Marshall, a veteran of four years of Navy service from Reading, Pennsylvania, will receive his degree in geology at the same time.

Ensemble Concert To Be Scheduled In Recital Hall

An ensemble concert, featuring instrumental music which is of especial interest because of the unusual combinations of instruments used, is scheduled for Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Music Building.

Appearing in the concert will be Carl Claus, violinist; Ruth Krieger, cellist; Warren Bellis, clarinetist and flutist, and Marjorie Frykman and Hall M. Macklin; all members of the music faculty.

Other performers include Don Hannah, double-bass; JoAlta Danner, violin, and Joyce Sumsion, viola, all students, and Mrs. Eleanor Mader, violinist of Moscow. Compositions in the category of chamber music by composers Mozart, Brahms and Schubert will make up the program. The concert is open to the general public without admission charge.

Idaho Center For Tests

The University has been designated as a testing center for the nationwide administration of the Admission Test for Graduate Study in business," according to D. D. Dusault, registrar.

Each applicant should find out as soon as possible from the graduate school of business in which he is interested whether or not he should take the test. The May 13 offering of the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business will be the last for this academic year.

Application blanks and a bulletin of information describing registration procedures and containing sample test questions should be obtained four or five weeks in advance of the testing date.

Blanks may be obtained directly from the Admission Test for Graduate Study in Business, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau Street, Princeton, New Jersey. Application must be mailed so as to be received at the Princeton office not later than Thursday, April 29, 1954.

DEAR JASON

Open Letter to the Election Board. It has been our observation that the student body officers of the University of Idaho are entrusted with a great deal of power and responsibility in handling some of the functions of the University. These officers are not mere honorary positions at this institution. We think that they should be elected in a political campaign and not a mere popularity contest.

As an aid to making these elections more like a political campaign, we think the Argonaut should print the complete election results giving the number of votes cast for each candidate in these elections. We therefore request that you adopt this policy for the coming spring election and make an announcement to that effect before any of the parties nominate their candidates. In this way each candidate concerned will know where he stands before getting involved in anything that might tend to embarrass him.

Sincerely,
 Jim Lynch
 Keith Jergensen

Campus Chest Committee To Meet

A general committee meeting for all Campus Chest chairmen will be in Conference Room B of the SUB at 7 p.m. Thursday. All chairmen are asked to attend. The general Campus Chest program will be explained.

The deadline for turning booth ideas in to Harry Brenn, Figi, Carnival-Dance chairman, is March 4.

The living groups whose booth makes the most money will receive trophies, as will the living groups with the most original booth.

The carnival on Friday, March 12, will climax the drive which this year begins on March 8.

One KRPL "Late Date Show" will be broadcast from the living group with the highest booth receipts and divided by the total number of persons living in the group.

All Argonaut advertising workers and those who are interested, please meet in the Argonaut office Tuesday at 4 p.m.

This meeting is very important and all workers are urged to attend.

Ladies Shocked As Pants Burn

From the March 1, 1954 Argonaut:

"A pair of trousers is usually a welcome companion and matches are almost a necessity, but when fire breaks out in one's hip pocket, both may become foes of a serious nature.

"Such might have been the resolution of those who witnessed the near-tragedy that occurred in the library Wednesday afternoon when a vital section of Allen Janssen's trousers suddenly burst into flame.

"Unaware of the fire, Janssen began an ascent to the stacks upstairs in search of a book. Midway on the stairway he experienced other sensations and realizing his plight, turned to the basement of the library to extinguish the blaze.

"From above it was difficult to see what he did in the basement, but it is reported that he encountered some difficulties there. While hastily recovering himself from contact with the flames, librarians say that he attracted the attention of another library worker who was severely shocked.

"Aside from the damage to his pride, Janssen emerged from the basement unharmed."

Biologists To Experiment

Birds, mammals, amphibians and reptiles for classwork and graduate student research at the University of Idaho will be collected this summer by two staff members of the department of biological sciences, announces Dr. Harold McLivaine, head.

Extensive collecting in northern Idaho this summer will constitute another step in the long-range survey of animals of the state by University zoologists. For this collecting the state has been divided into five districts, one to be covered each season.

Doing the collecting this summer will be Earl J. Larrison, assistant professor of zoology, and Philip C. Dumas, instructor in that field. During the past two summers, Larrison has been collecting in the Owyhee desert country of southwestern Idaho, securing specimens for the university collection and material for a book on animal life on a desert.

Collecting the coming season will be done in the northern Idaho district. Dumas will concentrate on birds, amphibians and reptiles. His bird collecting will be a follow-up of a project started by Malcolm Jollie, zoology staff member on leave of absence. Amphibian and reptile collecting is a new undertaking. Larrison will be primarily concerned with mammals but will also collect birds, amphibians and reptiles.

THANKS

On behalf of the Religious Emphasis Week Committee, we would like to thank the Argonaut and KUOI staffs for their wonderful support and excellent coverage of Religious Emphasis Week.

Our thanks go also to Dean Carter, Dean Decker, Dean Hart, Dr. Weiss, Dr. Tanner, Dr. Hosack and the home economics department and the entire faculty for their fine cooperation and much appreciated assistance.

Last, but certainly not least, our sincere thanks go to all the students who were really the ones who made the week a success.

Sincerely,
 Liz Winegar

Club Will Discuss Music and Art

French music and art will set the scene for this month's French club meeting, 7:30 p.m. in the Willis West lounge, according to Herbert Pendergast, club president.

Arnold Westerland of the University art department will give a talk entitled "The Background of Modern French Art." He will cover such French artists as Braque, Matisse and Picasso.

Don McCabe will play a selection of French piano pieces and Margaret Trefen will give a short program of French songs.

All students and faculty members who are interested in modern art or in the French language and culture are invited to attend.

It Was—They Were

We noticed a new monument in front of the Compton Union Building over at WSC the other day. It's a monument to the million people who have been killed and the millions more who have been maimed on our nation's highways.

What we were looking at was the battered remains of a sleek, new, black and red Lincoln which had rolled over several times on a curve just outside of Pullman on the Moscow-Pullman highway.

In a rather cynical vein, we thought about what a superb car that had been. My, oh my, that plush black and white leather interior and all the gadgets that had once made this a dream car.

And now it was a nightmare of twisted metal and broken glass. The hood was molded around the motor and the front of the car was completely demolished. Nearly all the glass was gone from warped window frames. The doors had been crumpled with accordion-like pleats, and the lid had collapsed on to the floor of the trunk.

The whole frame was twisted grotesquely. Thick supports of steel were bent and tangled as if the car were a mere toy.

Inside was a jumble of broken and gouged metal and leather. One seat was completely torn loose. The steering wheel was a misshapen mess as if something had been hurled violently against it.

Three people were injured in that accident, and they were students just like us. Three people were tossed around inside that car and came out alive. From seeing what happened we think they were darn lucky.

If you happen to be going over to Pullman drop up and look at the wrecked car sitting in front of WSC's union building. We think it's a good warning—perhaps it will save a life. And when you do whiz over to Pullman, take it easy. We don't want your wrecked car in front of our SUB as a warning to others.

—J. C.

Dear Jason,

The current discussion of engineering vs. broader education has well served to stimulate thinking concerning the relative goals and purposes of an education.

I believe that the discussion has in some respects been carried on upon an emotional basis rather than simply a consideration of the over-all factual material. It should be realized at the outset that any group, whether it be engineering or liberal arts, rightfully should be proud of its accomplishments and contributions toward the betterment of society.

It is also, however, essential that each group realize that it is not self-sufficient or superior to any other, but rather that each field supplements and enhances every other. I believe that this attitude of cooperation stems from a realization of the vastness of further knowledge one might pursue and a genuine interest in learning.

In my estimation this curiosity for learning can be fostered and encouraged in practically any school or curriculum with good instructors and proper student application. I believe this teachable attitude to be a basis for the broad viewpoint necessary for cooperation in working with different kinds of people.

A college education should have

SAI Elect New Prexy

Caroleigh Gittens was elected to succeed Ernestine Gorbhand as president of Sigma Alpha Iota, women's music fraternity, at a business meeting Friday.

Other officers are Margaret Trefren, vice president; Margaret Fox, treasurer; Arlene Hyde, chairman; Cynthia Karlburg, recording secretary; Virginia Sturgess, corresponding secretary; Joyce Summison, song leader; Darlene Marsters, social chairman.

The annual American Contemporary Composers Concert, given by members of Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha-Sinfonia will be presented Sunday, March 21, at 4 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Music Building.

Featured will be an SAI-Phi Mu mixed chorus, directed by Delores Bloomquist, graduate student.

I am in no position to state whether this has or has not been the case in other fields. However, I feel that mental alertness is essential for advancement in our present complex society.

Sincerely,
 R. William Nelson

Dear Jason,
 In regards to a Feb. 9, 1954 Argonaut editorial concerning the showing of the Russian film, "The Grand Concert," I would like to offer my congratulations to "Big Brother" who is protecting our sensitive minds from that "sickening" Soviet propaganda.

Deadline For Exams Soon Here

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Director of Selective Service, today reminded college students that the deadline for submitting applications for the April 22 Selective Service College Qualification Test is midnight Monday, March 8, and that applications postmarked after that time cannot be considered.

To be eligible to apply for the college qualification test a student must (1) intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time course of instruction; and (3) must not have previously taken the Selective Service College Qualification Test.

The April 22, 1954 test is the last one scheduled for this school year. Students whose academic year will end in June are urged to take the April 22 test so they will have a test score in their cover sheets before the end of their academic year, at which time their boards reopen and reconsider their cases to determine whether they should be again deferred as students.

The present criteria for deferment as an undergraduate student are either a satisfactory score (70) on the Selective Service College Qualification Test or specified rank in class (upper half of the males in the freshman class, upper two thirds of the males in the sophomore class, or upper three-fourths of the males in the junior class).

Students accepted for admission or attending a graduate school prior to July 1, 1951, satisfy the criteria if their work continues to be satisfactory. Graduate students admitted or attending after July 1, 1951, must have been in the upper half of their classes during their senior year or make a score of 75 or better on the test. It is not mandatory for local boards to defer students who meet the criteria.

Student apathy, leader-follower relationship, and the organization of ASUI government. Rosie Bergdorf, chairman of sponsoring Student Services Committee, has stated, "The purpose of this conference is to encourage students to take a more active part in campus government."

"Another reason for the affair is to develop good leadership qualities. Still another reason is to help student leaders and followers in all organizations to contribute to their respective groups all their capabilities."

At the opening session of the conference, Dr. Boyd Martin, head of the department of social science, will head a panel on the influence of American college students.

Other members of the panel will be Liz Wingard, Don McCabe and Frank Muller-Karger.

Wayne F. Young, chairman of the journalism department, will discuss the relationship of leaders and followers as another section of the evening's program. The final topic of Wednesday's meeting will be a talk on student apathy by the WSC director of student affairs.

Thursday evening, the conference will open with a talk by Dean Louise Carter on AWS. Nathalie Bales, vice president of the organization, will also present a short talk.

Of Student Government
The rest of the program will center around a discussion of student government at the University of Idaho and at WSC. Bill Parsons, ASUI president, will explain Idaho's organization and Pete Weston, president of the WSC student government, will explain the system they employ.

Presidents of all organizations are asked to remind their representatives to attend the conference. Freshmen women representatives have received late permission from Dean Carter.

The meetings are open to all students and faculty. The conference has been organized by the members of the Student Services Board. They are Rosie Bergdorf, chairman, Chuck Odham, NAA representative, Carrie Chartrand, Wayne Cline, Sally Landers, George Yost, Bob Bakes and Harry Brizee.

1954 Award Winners

Two Idaho basketball players who were awarded trophies last Saturday for their efforts during the past year on the basketball court are Tom Flynn and Dwight Morrison. Flynn was awarded the Jay Gano Memorial trophy for the most inspirational player and Morrison received the Ron White trophy for the most valuable player.

Parberry Short On Talent For Coming Season

With preseason baseball action for the University of Idaho Vandals a little over three weeks away, Head Coach Clem Parberry has but six lettermen and a host of inexperienced sophomores and transfers with which to build his 1954 club.

Parberry, in his first year as the Idaho baseball mentor, took over from Cruck Finley this year. With the conclusion of basketball this weekend it is possible that several of the court pounders might switch to the spikes for this spring.

Back from 1953 are infielders Mick Cygler and a 1952 player Larry Morrison; Ken Hallett and Mel Reynolds, pitchers; Jim Howard, catcher; and infielder-outfielder Flip Kleffner.

The Vandals open their preseason slate with Whitman tentatively scheduled for March 27. Other games are being arranged with Whitworth, Gonzaga, Lewiston Broncs of the Western International League and Pocatello of the Pioneer League, both of the latter training at Lewiston.

Eight promising sophomores with fresh ball experience are out and include pitchers Gary Barton, Dave Cripe, Dick Denny, and Aubrey Stephens; catchers Jerry Quane and Loren Abernathy; infielders Ray Bitterer and Bob Haines.

The Vandal's new skipper, fresh from two years as a Navy coach at Pensacola, Fla., served as Athletic Director for nine years at College of Idaho.

Besides his baseball duties at the Idaho school, Parberry handles fresh football.

Idaho Climaxes Season With Sweep Over Tippy Dye's Washington Huskies

Idaho Grabs First of Two 74-66 Friday

Table with columns: Team, W, L, Pct. Oregon State 11 5 .688, IDAHO 9 7 .563, Oregon 9 7 .563, Washington 5 9 .357, Wash. State 4 10 .286

Table with columns: Team, W, L, Pct. Southern Calif. 8 4 .667, U.C.L.A. 7 5 .583, California 6 6 .500, Stanford 3 9 .250

Idaho's Vandal basketball squad aimed their sights a little closer to a second place tie with Oregon's Ducks Friday night by knocking over Tippy Dye's Washington Huskies 74-66 at Memorial Gymnasium before a small crowd.

Idaho employed a fast breaking offense that kept the Huskies hustling all night. But it was all in vain. Washington couldn't gather the forces they needed for a rally.

Garrison, Melton Star Bob Garrison, Vandal guard and Harlan Lefty Melton, forward were Friday's kingpins as they combined their efforts in scoring a total of 45 points. Melton was good for 25 and Garrison dropped through the remaining 20.

"Leaping Lefty" was hitting with deadly accuracy from under the basket while Garrison stayed out beyond the key and sank long two handed push-shots.

Idaho hit for a 43.3 per cent for the evening, but the Huskies could only manage 39.3 for shooting average for the night.

Grab Lead Early

Idaho started off with a bang grabbing a quick 5 point lead before Carl Voegtlin dropped one from the free throw line. The Huskies, determined to do something about the lead relied on Voegtlin and Jerry Johnson to knot the score at 16-16 by the end of the first period.

The opening of the second stanza saw the Huskies move to the front on a pusher by Don Tripp and a free throw by Voegtlin.

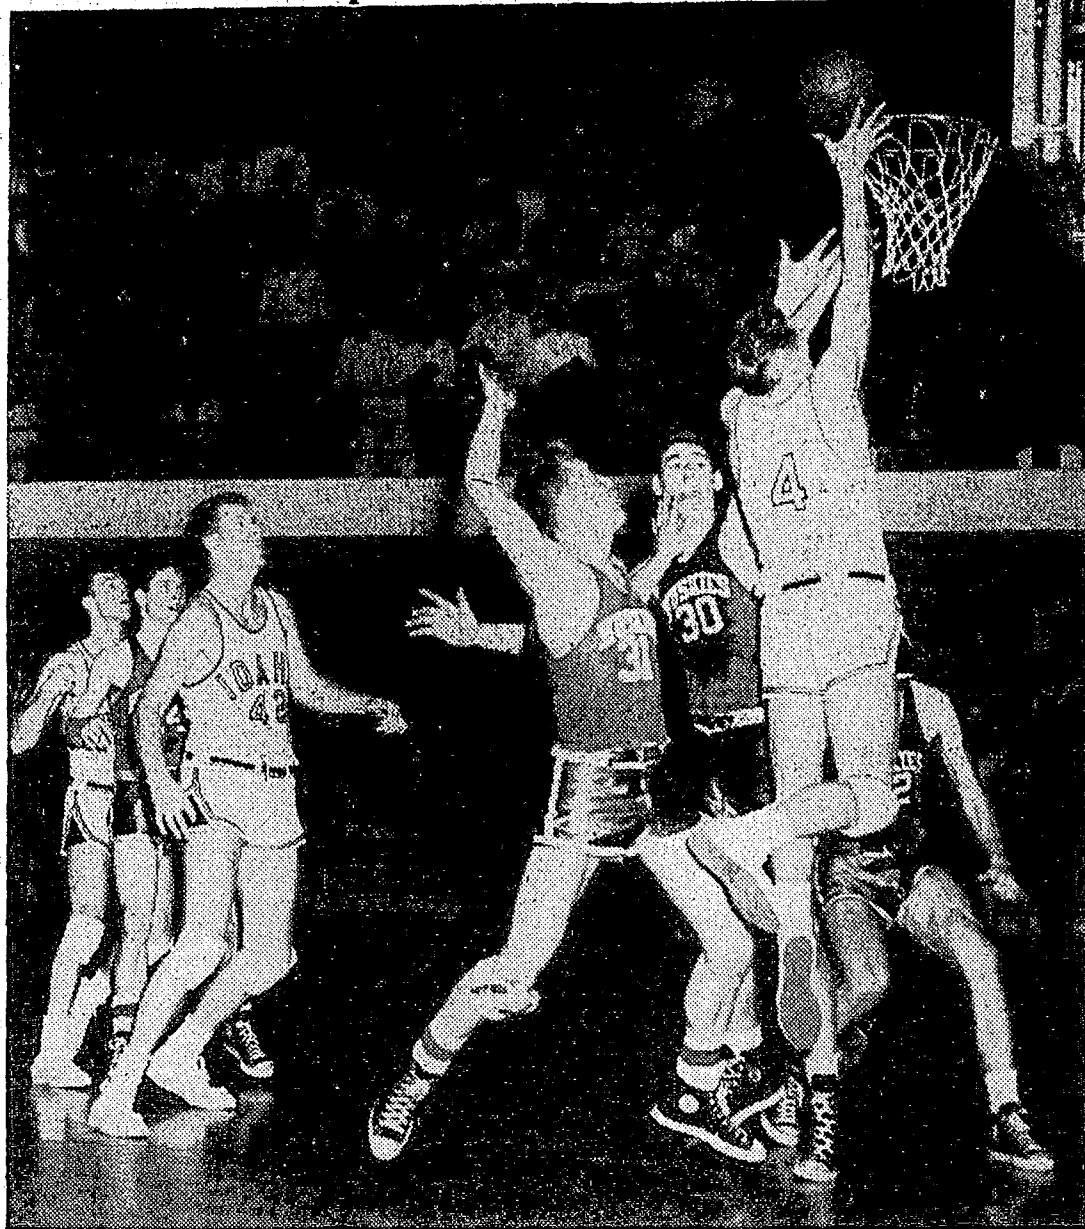

But that was the end for Washington as Bob Garrison aided by Rog Lillibridge started the ball rolling with two quick lay-ins. From there on it was Garrison and Melton taking turns swishing them through. The Vandals enjoyed a comfortable 38-29 edge at half-time.

Starting the second half, the Vandals quickly piled a 17 point lead, but crack shooting by Voegtlin cut it down to eight and the Vandals led 55-43.

From thereon it was no contest and the Vandals didn't have to worry the rest of the game.

Idaho's frosh swatted down Plummer town team in a preliminary game Friday night 64-46. Gary McEwee took scoring honors with 18 points.

Garrison Goes Up To End The Game And The Season

Idaho's Bob Garrison sews up Saturday night's tilt against the University of Washington by dunking in the final two points of the 1954 basketball season. Washington's Jerry Johnson (31), Dean Parsons (30) and Carl Voegtlin, behind Garrison, try in vain to stop the Idaho guard from dumping the ball in. Dwight Morrison and Bob Falash look on anxiously from the background.

Vandals Squeak By Huskies 77-76 In Finale

It was a thrill a minute Saturday night as the Idaho Vandals snuck past the Washington Huskies with a last-minute layin by Garrison to give the Vandals a second place tie with Oregon's Ducks in Northern Division standings.

Orin Fulton, a third string center who has seen almost two years of action from the sidelines deserves a great deal of credit in giving the victory to Idaho. The 6-6 junior canned 12 points and was able to use his height to slow up the tall Washington squad who was relying on their tall men to keep the ball from Vandal hands.

Leading 23-18 at the end of the first period after a drive by Harlan Melton and Dwight Morrison, the Vandals lost their lead but only for a short while during the second stanza when the Huskies dominated the scoreboard 32-28. But Idaho wasn't letting things rest there. They managed to pull even with Tippy Dye's crew by the time the gun sounded and the board read 38-38 at halftime.

Carl Voegtlin and Dean Parsons were Washington's guns for the night. Parsons led scoring for both teams with 23 for the night and Voegtlin dropped through 22.

Washington dominated the scoring scene during the third quarter but were never able to pull ahead more than three points and led by only one at the end of the period, 59-58.

Idaho started off the third stanza like a house afire and brought their lead to 6 points at 66-60 but Dean Parsons, dropping them from the field and charity line soon had his team out front 68-66.

With 50 seconds left to play and the Huskies in front by two points, Flynn pushed one in from 15 feet out and knotted the score at 75 all.

A gift toss by Husky captain, Don Tripp gave the Washington squad a 76-75 lead and it looked like the game might be over, but Idaho's flashy Bob Garrison drove 20Win court for an easy lay-in. Jim Coshov's pusher was no good after that and Idaho grabbed the ball off the backboard holding on to it until the buzzer sounded the game and the season history.

Idaho's frosh fell to the Whitworth College junior varsity team 69-67 after the regular contest ended in a 67-all knot. Gary McEwen, frosh center dominated the scoring column scoring 27 points for the night. Adams for Whitworth canned 24.

Head Coach, One Helper Arrive For Spring Drills

Wasting no time at getting started on the Idaho football problem after his arrival on campus yesterday, J. Neil (Skip) Stahley, newly appointed head football mentor, and one assistant, John H. (Jay) Pattee, settled down to the problems of getting ready for spring practice almost minutes after they arrived yesterday morning.

The two coaches who came to Moscow after an overnight stay in Spokane came together from Chicago and spent most of their train ride working on plays for the coming season.

Earl Klapstien, a third assistant will arrive Wednesday. All of their families will come later.

Stahley told newsmen in Spokane he wasn't sure what system he would use but said, "the way the game is played today, you have to pass a lot and people seem to pass better from the T formation."

Stahley said he had a stack of applications for assistants but wants to look around the Northwest for a while before making a decision.

Pattee has been head coach at Stetson University, Florida and is to handle the backfield job at Idaho.

Stahley, a former backfield coach for the Chicago Cardinals plans to begin spring practice Mar. 15 and said, "I'm very anxious to watch them out there."

Stahley said he had seen some old movies of the Vandals in action and commented, "You can see 'em move, but you can't hear 'em hit."

When questioned as to how he got the name Skip, he explained his Dad used to be a ball player and had a little hop in the way he ran.

"They called him Skip and I've been Skip ever since I was this high."

Gymnastics

Dick Smith announced that a gymnastics meet with WSC will be held here Saturday, March 13, starting at 2:30. A return meet with WSC will be held at WSC on the 29 of March. "The team will make a good showing and they have improved beyond my expectations. They are a hard working squad and I am very pleased with them," stated Smith.

The most experienced members of the squad are sophomores Al Greichus, Arlo Price, Laurel Pope and Gary Freeland. Ralph Provençal and Jack Mount are promising freshmen who with Norm Radford, a transfer student from Colorado School of Mines, help to round out the squad. Fast improving beginners who show promise of competition this year are Ed Story, Pete DeLong and Jerry Duffy. There are also several others who are competing for positions on the first ten.

Boxers Host WSC Saturday

Idaho and Washington State will tangle in Memorial Gymnasium this Saturday evening in the last college boxing meet of the season in this area. After that both teams will prepare for the Pacific Coast champion ship s at Sacramento, Calif., March 18, 19 and 20 to be followed two weeks later by the NCAA championships at Penn State.

Earlier this season the two squads met at Pullman with the Cougars the victors. The Vandals hope to even the score at this meeting.

The top bout of the card will match Idaho's Don Anderson, at 165 pounds, with WSC Gordy Gladson, NCAA champion in 1952. So far this year Anderson has lost only one bout, that to San Jose State's Dick Bender.

Idaho's coach Frank Young said there would probably be one or two freshmen bouts added to the varsity bouts. The card is slated for 8 p.m.

"What's your cat's name?" "Ben Hur." "How did you hit on a name like that?" "Well, we called Ben until it had kittens."
