Week Grace To End, Fines Begin

Fines instead of warnings will be the penalty for drivers who drive the wrong way on Elm, the campus' newest one-way street, said George Gagon, University engineer, yesterday.

The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Understand some Navy ROTC boys are upset about the actions of their boss man. The middies read as how the University had dismissed ALL classes so students could attend the major Borah Conference speeches. Lad tells us the Navy brass had other ideas. Wants to know who's ruining the school.

Did any of you hear the howls let out by our campus bandmen when it was announced that Harry James would play for the Junior-Senior Dance? Tongue-in-cheek, of course.

"The readers (of your newspaper stories) must be people who believe firmly in the future of their land," said 24-year-old Gerhard Schulke, German citizen, in a recent letter to his University of Idaho cousin, Ruth Brede.

The German continued that he thinks, as many other Germans do, that the immense progress of America is caused not only by the rich resources and the plenty of good soil, but also by the ability of the American people and free competition here.

Schulke has two uncles in Spokane and Tekoa, Wash. His cousin is a junior journalism major at the University.

"Why do you worry about the few communists in the United States?" asked the German, who works for a fruit importing company in Hamburg.

"Today, as a result of the war," says Schulke, "we have hardly one or two per cent communists in Western Germany and they are considered fools."

Schulke continues that many people in Germany today say: "We are happy having lost the last war so we could get rid of the Nazi party, their dictators and the generals. It would have been better if we had not had the war at all. But whose fault was it?"

"Of course I want to come to America," says the German, adding that his people call this country the land of unlimited possibilities.

Most Groups Are Busily Planning Spring Formals

All living groups are busily planning spring formals between tubbings and initiation ceremonies. The coming of spring has also brought an almost regular schedule of serenades along with many new pinning. Campus Clubbers are facing the facts in formal planning by forming a "confusion committee."

HAYS HALL

Mary McLeod, Hays Hall, was named Freshman Queen at the annual freshman dance Friday night. Congratulations go to Mary and Freshman King Bill Davis.

TKEs serenaded Marian Driscoll and Jan Gwartz Thursday night. It was nice to see that the two men could sing so well.

Sally Jo Miller and Mary McLeod are nominees for Delta Sigma Dream Girl.

Wednesday evening a dinner exchange was held with some of the girls going to Chrisman Hall and others going to the Gamma Phi house.

Dinner guests Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Keller, Wallace, and Hugo Riecken and Claude Bassouls, Willis Sweet Hall.

DELTA SIGMA PHI

Ray Miller and Bob Hillyer received top awards at the banquet which concluded the initiation of 10 new members Sunday afternoon.

Col. Charles Hudson, athletic work program supervisor and former University of Idaho Army ROTC Professor of Military Science and Tactics, and Charles Barrett, assistant professor of architecture, were initiated as alumni members.

Fay Miller, Meridian, received the outstanding pledge award and Bob Hillyer, Kingston, Pa., earned the Prichard scholarship trophy.

Theodore Prichard was the speaker for the initiation banquet during which the awards were made.

Other initiates were Avery Floyd and Larry Walker, Twin Falls; Don Shannon, Fruitland; Leland Kime, Rupert; Pete Hamm, Saratoga, Calif.; and Edward Kautz, Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON

A pin dinner Sunday honored Francis Knodle, Alpha Phi, who is pinned to Lee Martin, and JoAnn Mining, who is wearing Fred Burrow's pin.

Sunday dinner guest was Mrs. Ruth Burrow, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Plans are being formulated by the Sig Alphas for a Sig Alpha Olympics.

CAMPUS CLUB.

St. Patrick's Day was celebrated at a dinner exchange with the Pi Phi Wednesday. Other dinner guests last week were Jan Cole and Freda Payne.

Members are working on a hot theme for the coming spring formal to be held in the Club lounge, April 10. Bob McKeever is chairman of the decorations. Bud Duffy and Gene George will help plan the decorations.

Fred Williams and Al Dieffenbach will handle the floor show for the intermission. Confusion committee head is Bill Yarber; on his committee are Pullman Blue, Yu Liu and Grubby Styner.

LINDLEY HALL

Wednesday evening Phi Eta Sigma, national freshman men's honorary, tapped six of Lindley's budding scholars. It is hoped that men of this caliber will perpetuate the winning ways in regard to scholarship trophies. Those who had a 3.5 or more are: Donald Duncan, John Kroiss, Pete McConnell, Ed Mottern, Bob Breglia and Dennis Thompson.

Wednesday night, amid a maze of plumbing and cigar smoke, a house meeting was held in order that the inmates of Lindley might become better acquainted with the three gentlemen—Mike "Irish" O'Callaghan, Keith "I'll Never Forget Those Four Hours" Jergenson, and Terrell "Pride of Sweet" Davis, who were candidates on the Independent presidential primary ballot. Jergenson seemed to impress the populace sufficiently enough to win the runoff election the following day.

Congratulations to Mary McLeod,

Brenn, Bob Newhouse, David Borck, Bill Staley and Andrew Field.

SIGMA NU

Last week's activities for the Sigma Nus were highlighted Wednesday evening with an all-house exchange with the Kappas. A round of dancing followed the St. Pat's dinners which were held in both houses. John Gillis and Susie Oberg were in charge of arranging the affair.

After a week of steady practice the Sigma Nu songsters led by Stan Swanson made an appearance for two pinning serenades. Serenaded were Jean Luedke, Alpha Phi and Elinor Hathaway, Forney. More serenades are in the offing this week.

Also in the offing are tubbings for two newly pinned members. Expecting the arrival of a spring tubbing are Bruce Wendle and Jim Rees who have passed their White Star to Shirley Brixen, Ethel Steel, and Nancy Buchanan, Alpha Phi.

Sunday, March 28 is the date set for the annual Sigma Nu sister-daughter banquet. Expected to attend are 11 sisters or daughters of Sigma Nu from five different campus living groups.

Weekend guests in Moscow were Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Thomason, Jerome, here to visit their son, Kelly. The Thomasons were dinner guests on Saturday evening.

NOTICE

All living group reporters are asked to turn in news by noon Monday and Thursday for the remainder of the semester. This will aid the society editor and staff in making an early printing deadline.

College Pressure Not Truly Needed

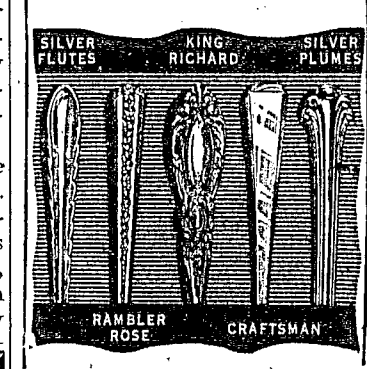

Wellesley, Mass.—(I.P.)—"College pressures are not absolutely essential to Wellesley life," explained Mrs. Virginia Mayo Fiske, dean of the class of 1953 at Wellesley College, commenting on the survey of education conducted here. "They can be avoided by planning and discipline," she continued. "Too many people leave too much until the last moment."

The survey, conducted among students, teachers, parents, and parents of the college, is an attempt to discover the reasons for college pressures. According to Miss Jeannette McPherrin, dean of freshmen, "the majority of pressures in college seem to me to stem primarily from the everyday ones of our outside world. Others are a result of secondary school education which demand perfection in every subject."

Everyone is invited to this student program. Westminister Forum will meet with WSO Friday, March 26, at 7:30 p.m. in the ballroom of the Student Union Building. There will be square dancing and fun for all. Everyone is requested to keep in mind the spring retreat April 2 at Luther Haven.

Saturday afternoon the entire DSF group met at the church for rehearsal of their special Palm Sunday program to be given on April 11. The DSF group is taking over the regular Sunday morning services on Palm Sunday and will present a number of sermons, vocal numbers, and the devotionals.

Adventures Of Janie At The Borah Speech

(The following was written by a student three years ago after she attended the Borah Conference major address.—Ed.)

Janie hurried up the steps to the gym. She hoped she would have time to get a good seat before the speaker began. People were filing onto the floor, toward the chairs arranged in symmetrical rows facing the raised platform at the far end of the gym.

She watched the people coming in. Mentally she sorted them into classifications. Teachers were the most obvious. Strolling in, hands in pockets, noses up and a little forward creating the impression of eager sniffing, saying not quite out loud, "Of course, I'm here. What do you think I am, a low-brow?"

Janie spotted others like herself, freshmen who had been to every lecture all year because they were still struggling under the delusion that lectures were meant to be gone to.

There were other bewildered looking freshmen with notebooks in hand who fell into the same category as certain bored upper-classmen. They were there because some teacher was going to give a quiz over the speech or because they had to write a report on the speech or in the case of a few even more bored upper-classmen, because they were "covering" the speech for campus publications.

Identified by their conspicuous air of smugness were the political science majors who, after all, really knew more about the topic than the speaker did.

Sorority girls filtered in, preferring to sit in the gym for an hour than in the library. Seniors ambled through the big door with a "might as well, haven't got anything else to do" attitude.

The chairman of the committee nervously took his place on the platform, silently rehearsing his short speech of introduction. Townspeople took their seats near the front with the expectant air of those waiting to be cultured.

The chairman of the committee stepped to the microphone. A sort of silence settled as the audience noticed him.

The speaker moved forward from the back of the platform. Eyes turned to him curiously. A little man with hair. The chairman announced his topic, "going to talk to us on 'Geography and Peace'."

The majority of the assembled group was making an effort to locate their friends and acquaintances. Late comers were still slipping in, squeaking down the aisle, brushing toes.

The speaker was getting into the spirit of his lecture, waving his arms around, talking faster, raising his voice.

Janie smiled when she noticed the long-legged boy asleep on the other side of the gym, his feet sprawling out in the aisle. "Bunch of foolishness," someone was saying behind her. She listened. "Getting a bunch of people together for a peace conference when anybody in his right mind would know they can't do a thing to help."

The voice was superior, condemning. Someone answered, words that were full of a sense of duty, "if everyone would work for peace... gone to a lot of trouble... one ought to attend."

People were sitting up in their seats, riveting their attention on the speaker again. His tones were loud but confidential now. His accent was noticeable. "Peace," he said, "peace, peace."

The applause broke out, creating an echoing rumble under the balconies. Bowing, smiling, the little man retired. The chairman took him in hand. People stood up, filed out.

Who was that girl I saw you outwit last night?

New Rush Plan In At Lafayette

Easton, Pa.—(I.P.)—The new Greek rushing plan at Lafayette College this year, provides for a three-week period, including rotation dining at the various houses by all freshmen interested in fraternities, open house and dormitory interview nights. It was also stipulated that no freshman will eat more than one meal at any one house during the first week of rushing.

According to the new plan, those freshmen who register for the rushing program will be divided into nineteen groups and will dine in rotation on this campus for two weeks. Cost at the nineteen fraternities of the meals will be covered by the college. Also during the first week, the fraternities will hold three open house periods during which the freshmen will be able either to return to visit those of their preference or to house those they have not yet seen.

On the Monday of the second week freshmen will receive date cards. Monday, Wednesday and Friday of this week fraternity men will visit freshmen in their dormi-

BOXERS RANK 4TH AT PCI BOUTS; NICHOLS FETED

WSC Garners PCI Mitt Title

Lynn "Sam" Nichols, senior welterweight was awarded the Dee Portal Trophy for outstanding sportsmanship at the Pacific Coast Conference intercollegiate boxing championships last Saturday at Sacramento, Calif.

The trophy, which is given in memory of the San Jose State boxing coach who was killed in an accident last year, was awarded to the Idaho Falls fighter following his victory over Washington State's Ken Bauguess and the completion of the three day tourney.

Washington State took top honors at the 12 school meet bringing home a total of 38 points and their first PCC championship since 1942. San Jose State's Spartans walked away with second place garnering 34 points. Idaho State, which was favored along with WSC placed third compiling 28 points.

Idaho's Vandals tied with Chico State for fourth place with 10 points. San Francisco and California each racked up 5, Santa Clara 2, Nevada, California Poly and College of Idaho all went point-less.

San Jose's Tom Stern and George Maderos of Chico State provided the thriller of the nine bout card Saturday. Stern decisioned Maderos in a three rounder that saw both fighters too tired to swing before the bell ending the third and final round sounded.

Saturday's results were: 119 pounds — Vic Kobe, Idaho State, outpointed Aberly Butler, San Francisco State.

125 — Eddy Olson, Washington State, outpointed James Green, California.

132 — Gil Inaba, Washington State; outpointed John Jeager, Idaho State.

139 — Vic Harris, San Jose State, outpointed John Heelan, Idaho State.

147 — Lynn Nichols, University of Idaho, outpointed Ken Bauguess, Washington State.

156 — Dick Bender, San Jose State, outpointed Don Backus, Washington State.

Gourley Cops 1 1/2 Mile At Pullman Indoor Meet

University of Idaho trackmen returned home Saturday from Pullman with their share of honors at the 12th annual Washington State Intercollegiate Invitational Indoor track meet.

The Vandal cindermen won one first, four seconds, three thirds, and three fourth places in competition against nine Pacific Northwest squads.

Individual scorers included Bruce West, javelin, third; Bill Baucher, broad jump, second; Jerry Duffy, pole vault, second (tie); Emerson Clark, 1,000 yard run, second.

Larry Church, 70 yd. high and low hurdles, third, and broad jump fourth; Gary Dixon, 300 yd. sprint, fourth; Henning Olson, 600 yd. run, second; Don Sullivan, high jump, fourth; Lou Gourley, one and one-half mile run, first.

Idaho failed to place in the discus, shotput, 70 yard dash and mile relay.

By arrangement of all coaches, no points were kept due to some schools only having a few entrants. Schools participating included Idaho, WSC, EWCE, CWCE, Willamette, WWCE, Seattle Pacific, Whitworth, Whitman with several entries being unattached.

The Idaho tracksters now will prepare for their opening Northern Division meet on April 17 when they meet ashington State at Neale Stadium. The Cougar track men settled for four first places, four seconds, two thirds and seven fourths in the Invitational gathering at Pullman Saturday. Their strength became evident in the field events, a place where the Vandals look to be weak again.

There will be a Ski Club meeting at 6:45 p.m. Thursday in conference room A of the SUB.

Gymnastics

Idaho's Gymnastics team again succumbed to the WSC team in a dual meet held at WSC Saturday. The Cougar team took first place as they outscored the Vandals 93-34. Jim Sullivan, WSC sophomore star, took two first places, the trampoline and long horse, besides placing in two other events to lead all other scorers.

It was WSC's third straight victory this season.

Results of the meet: Free exercise—1. Loren, WSC; 2. Sullivan, WSC; 3. Hopkins, WSC; 4. Pope, Idaho; 5. Price, Idaho.

Trampoline—1. Sullivan, WSC; 2. Loren, WSC; 3. Brislawn, WSC; 4. Provencal, Idaho; 5. Storey, Duffy, Idaho, tie.

Long horse—1. Sullivan, WSC; 2. Provencal, Idaho; 3. Woods, WSC; 4. Hopkins, WSC; 5. Bryce, Idaho.

Side horse—1. Steindorf, WSC; 2. Wood, WSC; 3. Freeland, Price, Idaho, tie; 5. Radford, Idaho.

Wet Grounds Fail To Hamper Vandal Spring Grid Sessions

One of the largest turnouts in the history of Idaho football is shown above in early spring drills under the watchful eye of the new head coach, J. "Skip" Stahley. Monday afternoon saw the second week of the 4-week session swing into action. The Vandals have been going through calisthenics and fundamentals in anticipation of the coming fall grid season.

65 Begin 2nd Week Of Practice

Some 60 prospects who are working to capture a position on the 1954 starting 11 of the Vandal gridiron squad broke into the second week of spring drills yesterday afternoon at Neale Stadium.

Skip Stahley, head coach, reported there has been no slacking in the number turning out each evening and that "there's still a lot of enthusiasm among the fellows."

Stahley reported the turf was wet and somewhat sloppy but drills weren't slowed down at all due to the poor conditions. Hopefuls spent Monday afternoon going through agility drills to get in condition for the scrimmages which will be coming up next fall.

Blocking and ball handling were also part of the afternoon's activities along with the usual 20 minutes of passing for each quarterback. Stahley, who advocates each passer should throw the ball better than 100 times a day has been adhering closely to this rule ever since the first session last Thursday.

Pass defense and blocking assignments were checked over by the three mentors, Stahley, Jay Patee and Earl Klapstein along with tackling. The men were divided into teams and ran through dummy signal drills in their first session in Neale Stadium this year.

One-One Changed; Quarters Out

Kansas City—The National Basketball committee Monday revamped its one-and-one free throw rule and installed two halves playing time instead of the four-quarter system.

The new free-throw rule will allow one free throw on all common personal fouls and a bonus shot if the throw is made. This will apply to the first 37 minutes. In the last three minutes two free throws will be given as in the 1953 rules.

The rule for the past two seasons, has allowed one free throw for common fouls and a second shot if the first was unsuccessful. The changes are designated to increase the penalty on the offender and put a premium on good shooting.
