Sig Chi, Kappa Named Winners

Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Sigma Chi fraternity topped University Song Fest honors at Memorial Gymnasium Sunday afternoon. The Kappas, under the direction of Margaret Fox, sang "To Spring." The Sigma Chis, directed by John Herrett, sang "I Only Have Eyes For You."

Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon received honorable mention.

Male golfers are currently seeking the identity of a coed described only as "tall, brunette and a looker" who is making a shambles of manly pride on our local nine-hole.

She is related to have a vicious wood shot and an iron game close to wonderful. Before long she'll probably be shooting the 18 holes in something like 62. Anyone having information concerning these clues notify the Argonaut, Coach Dick Snyder or the gal's house-mother at once.

It is the opinion of this corner that the name of the May Pole Dance ought to be changed to something more appropriate—like "The Squirrels' Picnic," for instance.

News-paper editors don't laugh very much, and Saturday was enough to last us for a year at least. And the thing has a sad side, too. Here were several dozen girls, above the age of consent and supposedly sane, skipping merrily around a maypole in their bare feet.

The proud mothers may have enjoyed it, but it'll take a lot of proving before you make us believe these Spurs cavort in such a manner because they like it.

We feel that tradition should be punctured in the teeth on this one. We're sure the gals would rather do their dancing in the Dipper.

Speaking of the maypole reminds us that Jason once did a term paper on the beginnings of the thing in America. We remember vaguely something about a colony at Meriemount where they dressed up a big tree and danced and played games around it.

And, if we remember correctly, Captain John Smith and a party of his troops were sent out to tell the mappoling colonists to knock it off. Seems that some folks thought it an outrage to act so.

We think the Hell Divers proved something with their water show last weekend. The show itself was a loser and we felt insulted at the caliber of the performance.

But that is neither here nor there. The point is, we need a new swimming pool. Not in five years or in two years, but this year.

It is probable that the bad taste left in our mouth by the show came from the 100-degree heat in the University bathtub. The lack of space also hampered the performers and the presence of several plump poles in front of the audience did nothing to help their view.

Saw a real sign of spring fever the other day. Two evidently able-minded engineers playing horse-shoes... without using a stake.

Maybe we're letting the cat out of J. Edgar's bag, but we note the presence of several FBI men on the campus.

Don't know what they're doing for sure, but we'll try to find out by sleuthing the sleuths.

Three More Are Tapped

Three additional students have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary, it was announced by Professor Earl J. Larrison, president of the Idaho chapter of the fraternity.

The names added to the list of honor students include Thomas Miller, pre-law senior; Margaret Fox, junior music major, and Susan (Banks) Womeldorf, junior English major.

Alpha Zeta Beanery

Clyde Murphy, president of Alpha Zeta, ag honorary, deals to Little International Queen Billie Hinchey at the Alpha Zeta bean feed Saturday noon. The feed was part of the ag show. Also in the picture behind Queen Billie are Ruth Korvola, a princess; and Dean of Agriculture and Acting President of the University Donald R. Theophilus.

Lewiston Senior Wins Top Honors At U of I Ag Show

Martin Moore, Lewiston senior, topped his fellow aggies in various contests and was acclaimed "overall high point man" for the 28th annual Little International Livestock show which closed Saturday.

A wide variety of judging contests and agricultural entertainment climaxed the week-long show in the University Field House. Moore was presented his trophies by Queen Billie Hinchey who reigned over the entire show.

Billie Hinchey who reigned over the entire show.

Moore scored 746 points for top honors and a 36 point bulge over his nearest competitor, Charles Starr, Marsing, who had 710 points. Kenneth Farmer of Caldwell was third with 406 with Ronald Shelley, Payette, 332, and Keith Hinchley, Rexburg, 314, in the top five.

Grand and reserve champions in the various divisions of the week-long show were named Saturday night and include:

Dona Goldsmith, Coeur d'Alene, won the special coed cow milking contest Saturday evening and the team of girls from Delta Delta Delta sorority captured team honors in the milking competition.

In horticulture the winners were: Martin Moore, first; Charles Starr, second; Kenneth Farmer, third. Plant pathology winners were: Clyde Wilson, Desmet, first; Duane Sharp, Filer, second; Kenneth Farmer, third; Charles Starr, fourth, and Martin Moore, fifth.

Angus cattle—Lee Rigby, first; Duane Erickson, Genesee, second; Martin Moore, third; and Lawrence Knigge, Filer, fourth.

Through this program, particularly in experimental work at the high-altitude Telonia branch station, the University has worked out many problems similar to those of Ecuador.

ACU — At Iowa State college lightning struck the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity House during initiation ceremonies. No one was hurt.

Rule Not Rushed, Coeds Don't Blush

ACP—When coeds living in Waldo Hall, Oregon State College, were told they could no longer take sun-baths on the roof, they staged a riot that lasted all night and required the police to quell.

According to the Barometer, "The administration didn't rush in to this ruling, obviously. Gals have been sun-bathing up there for about 47 years... and the dorm bosses have finally figured out that it's a real live menace. Sort of the original detailed analysis, you might say."

Military Ball This Friday

The annual Military Ball will be held on Friday in the SUB hall-room with Keith Winton's orchestra supplying the music.

Jerry Dougherty, NROTC student, is chairman of the committee, with Jack Byrne, ROTC advanced student, as his assistant.

Dancing will be from 9 to 12. Tickets are priced at $1.50 per couple and can be obtained from Scabbard and Blade students in ROTC, Eagle and Anchor in the NROTC and the Arnold Air Society of the AFROTC.

Many On Campus Hold Part-Time Work

The old salesman's story that "I'm working my way through college" is no joke at the University of Idaho where a high percentage of students are engaged in some form of part-time employment to assist them in obtaining their university education.

According to figures compiled during second semester registration, 33 per cent of the University's full-time undergraduate students have some type of a part-time job. Using these statistics as a guide, Charles O. Decker, acting director of student affairs, estimated today that 50 per cent of the total student body have some form of employment on the campus or in the city of Moscow.

Decker based his total estimate on several types of employment which furnish income for students but which are not classified as part-time jobs. These include:

- (1) An estimated 175 students who live in cooperative dormitories, sharing the work therein and thereby reducing their own cost of living; (2) an estimated 30 graduate students who hold fellowships or teaching assistantships which pay stipends of $120 a month; (3) almost 300 junior and senior men participating in the various advanced ROTC programs who receive $27 per month, and (4) a large number of student wives who hold either full or part-time jobs on the campus or in downtown Moscow.

Law Profs Attend Two-day Conclave

Dean Edward L. Stimson of the Law department and W. J. Brockelbank, professor of law, attended a two-day conclave of the Western Conference of Law Schools in Salem, Oregon, last week.

Problems under discussion at the meeting were classroom teaching techniques; treatment of borderline academic cases; first year curriculum—its aims, objectives, content and method, and experiments in teaching professional responsibility.

Chapter Room May Be Tipoff For More Greek Houses

(The following article is the result of digging into records and plans and talking with administration officials. It is entirely speculative and does not represent University policy in any way—Ed.)

By Steve Emerine

Space for a chapter room in the proposed new women's dormitory behind Ridenbaugh Hall may be the tip-off to the University's new long range housing plan to accommodate the estimated 2400 additional students who are expected to enroll by 1970.

With universities in other parts of the nation helping national fraternities and sororities to take care of some of the increasing enrollment by leasing university-owned buildings at a reasonable rent, Idaho might follow this lead.

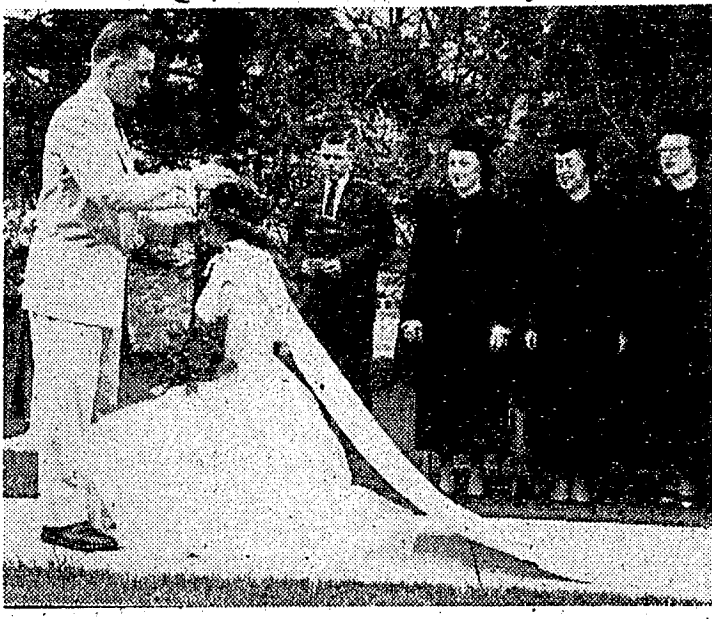

It is also possible that this new dorm may be but one of 10 or 12

Honoraries Tap At Fete; May Queen Is Honored

Crowning of May Queen Colleen Hinchey, presentation of various awards, and the pledging of new members into student service honoraries highlighted the 45th annual May Fete held on the lawn of the Administration Building Saturday afternoon.

Attendants of the May Queen were Nancy Leek, Maid of Honor; Clara Armstrong, Page; Amy Rayack and Margo Parker, Flower Girls; and Jimmy Canode and Pat Gagon, Train Bearers.

Bill Parsons, retired ASUI president, crowns Colleen Hinchey at the May Fete, Saturday afternoon. Flip Kleffner registers pain as he looks on with three Mortar Board members.

Music and entertainment for the fete was provided by the University Concert Band, under the direction of Warren T. Bellis, the University Singers, directed by Norman Logan, and Orchestras, the modern dance group under the direction of Patricia Rowe.

Uncles Puff

Over 100 uncles are puffing cigars in the Campus Club today after Mrs. John Moisey, hostess, gave birth to a five-pound, five-ounce girl Sunday afternoon.

Father of little Barbara Jean is John Moisey, proctor at the Club.

3 Seniors Get Awards

Three senior home economics students majoring in food and nutrition have been awarded dietetic internships in eastern hospitals, it was announced today by Professor Margaret Ritchie, head of home economics at the University of Idaho.

The three women receiving the internships are Jean Frahm Woods, Rorothy Felt, and Loreen Schmelzel. Mrs. Woods will take her training at Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston; Miss Felt at Detroit's Harper Hospital, and Miss Schmelzel at the New York hospital, Cornell Medical unit, New York City.

Miss Ritchie said that hospital internship prepares the student for a position in diet therapy, food administration and nutrition clinic in a large hospital, general dietetics in a small hospital, or a wide variety of positions in commercial companies offering nutrition education.

QUITE A LOT! According to the registrar the University has served a total of 5,288 students since the beginning of the academic period June 1, 1953. Of this total 3,534 have been served in resident instruction on the collegiate level.

Prof. Loses Wad Demonstrating Economics

ACP—A Yale University economics instructor has got tangled up in his own ticker tape. Instructor Robert E. Will decided to give his class a practical demonstration of the workings of the stock market. He passed on a tip that New Bristol Oils Ltd., was on the way up. "Buy," he told the class. Members of the class gave Will money to buy shares—but the stock fell. Then the head of the economics department got wind of the deal, labelled the venture "rather imprudent" and ordered Will to reimburse the students. Will stands to lose about a nickel a share—plus brokerage fees—if he sells now. He had no comment to the press. Mr. Binks was busily engaged with a spade in the mud beside his car when a stranger hailed him. "Stuck in the mud?" he asked. "Oh, no!" exclaimed Mr. Binks cheerily, "My engine died and I'm digging a grave for it."

The courage and enterprise of young Captain John Mullan made possible the building of the Mullan Road from Coeur d'Alene to the mine fields in 1862. It was this same daring and perseverance which led the community builders of the Washington Water Power Co. to build the first long distance electric power line over this same route—another example of how free enterprise opens up new opportunities for youth.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Second Semester 1953-1954

(Two and one-half hour examinations—three examination periods each day)

Regular class rooms will be used for the examinations unless instructors make special arrangements through the Registrar's Office. Examinations in courses not included in the schedule will be arranged by the individual instructors during scheduled examination week. Examinations in courses comprised of lecture and laboratory periods may in most instances be scheduled according to the sequence of either. Announcement of time and room should be made by the instructor. Rooms should be reserved in the Registrar's Office for "arranged" examinations in order to avoid conflicts with scheduled examinations. For those courses in which a two and one-half hour examination period is not considered adequate, the final class hour or laboratory period could be used for additional examination purposes.

Help Build A Better Idaho

Tonight your Executive Board will appoint chairmen for three campus committees, the Student Events Council, the Student Activities Council and the Student's Service Council. The chairmen of these councils will organize and operate phases of student life on this campus.

When these new chairmen begin to plan, they will need people with ambition, energy and fresh ideas to make their committees click. They want people who can carry the responsibilities of student organizations.

So maybe you would like to work on a committee? Here is how to get into the act:

Go to the ASUI office in the SUB and ask for an activities card. The card has campus activities listed so you can mark your choices preferentially. The cards are then filed according to the interests marked by the students. The committee chairman has access to the files so he can go through and pick out his members.

You see, this is the only connection between you and the committee heads. So if you want to go into action YOU have to start the ball rolling! Go down and sign up and get ready to help your University.

Summer Theatre Will Offer 8 Weeks Of Theatrical Work

The color and glamour of New England's summer stock will come to the University of Idaho in the form of the summer theatre, a special feature of the 1954 Summer School.

Eight weeks of theatre experience will be offered from June 14 to August 6 to students interested in enrolling in the summer program. The first three weeks' work is open to high school students who register.

Theatrical atmosphere will be captured in the University field house where five major arena productions will be presented on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings beginning June 26. One of these shows will be telecast on a Spokane television station.

Full-time participation will be offered for those who want eight weeks of concentrated experience in theatre production.

Classes and practical application in techniques and acting and play production will be open to all groups.

Study in directing styles and techniques will be available only to advanced students. They may also serve as assistants to the director.

Part-time participation is open to those who wish to combine

CHECK YOUR CHECK?

ACP — At the University of Mississippi a young man who said he was Bruce McCambridge suddenly appeared in a Lincoln Capri automobile, dated a few coeds for the weekend, passed five bad checks—and departed.

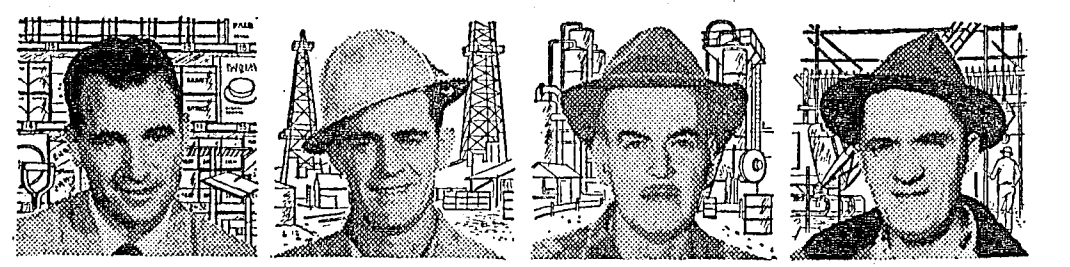

While on campus, he visited fraternity houses and offered to raise money to build the chapter a new house by floating bonds. He exhibited a checkbook which showed a balance of $30,000.

Who gets the money Standard takes in?

Goods and services—from paper clips to professional services—cost us $324,743,000. It was spent with thousands of firms, large and small.

Crude oil was a big item. To supplement our own production we bought $135,600,000 worth—an important sum to crude oil producers.

Wear and tear, depreciation and upkeep cost $157,834,000. Part of it will replace worn-out facilities, but millions went to workmen, technicians.

New construction, such as refinery facilities, to make more and better products, cost $145,000,000. This helped meet builders' needs.

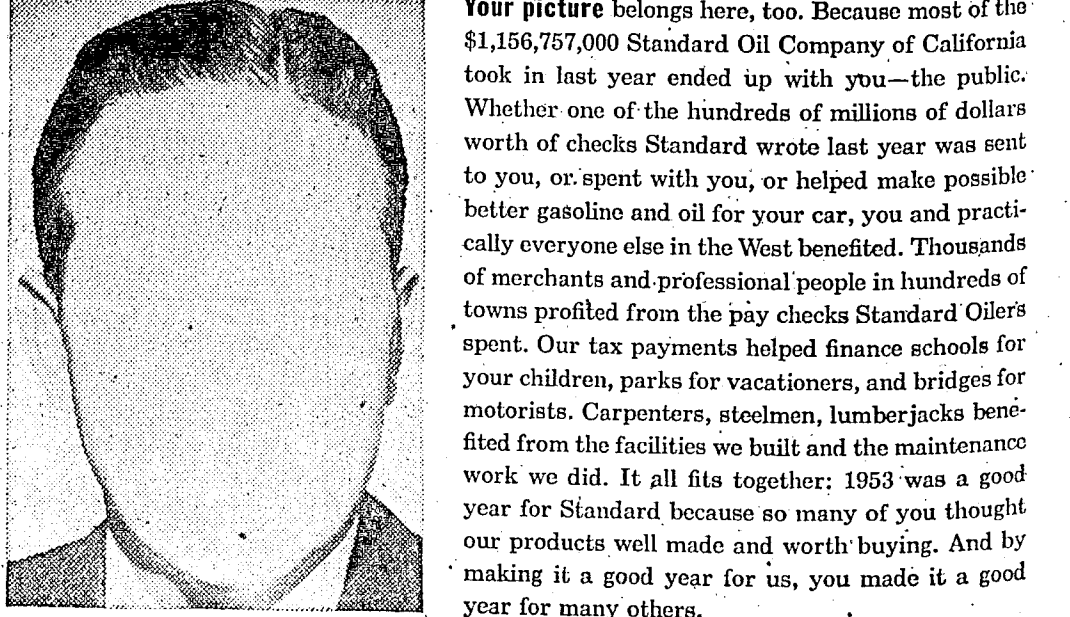

Exploration to replace oil our customers use is a vital operation. Our stepped-up search for new oil reserves cost $79,000,000 in 1953.

Employees' wages for time worked took $163,947,000 of our income. Another $43,000,000 went for employee benefits for Standard Oilers.

Taxes paid by Standard to U. S., states, counties and cities amounted to $106,300,000—enough to buy plenty of fire trucks, schools, bridges.

112,000 shareholders' profits came from what was left. They received about 5 1/2¢ on each dollar's worth of stock. Total: $86,020,000.

Your picture belongs here, too. Because most of the $1,156,757,000 Standard Oil Company of California took in last year ended up with you—the public. Whether one of the hundreds of millions of dollars worth of checks Standard wrote last year was sent to you, or spent with you, or helped make possible better gasoline and oil for your car, you and practically everyone else in the West benefited. Thousands of merchants and professional people in hundreds of towns profited from the pay checks Standard Oiler's spent. Our tax payments helped finance schools for your children, parks for vacationers, and bridges for motorists. Carpenters, steelmen, lumberjacks benefited from the facilities we built and the maintenance work we did. It all fits together; 1953 was a good year for Standard because so many of you thought our products well made and worth buying. And by making it a good year for us, you made it a good year for many others.

New Mentor To Assume Duties Here Beginning Next Month

Harlan Hodges Takes Over As Head Basketball Tutor

The University of Idaho has rounded out the varsity coaching staff by naming Harlan Hodges as basketball coach. The appointment was announced here Friday by President J. E. Buchanan, following selection by the executive committee of the Board of Regents. Mr. Hodges comes to Idaho from Kentucky, where since 1948 he has been a highly successful basketball mentor at Murray State College. Mr. Hughes will assume his new duties in early June.

"We feel fortunate here at Idaho," said Gale L. Mix, manager of athletics, "in securing a basketball coach of Mr. Hodges' stature. He comes to the campus highly recommended by basketball men all over the country."

Hodges is a graduate of the University of Southern Illinois, holds his Master's degree from the University of Michigan and has since that time acquired many hours of graduate work toward his Doctor's degree at the University of Colorado, Peabody College and the University of Indiana.

He first took up coaching at West Frankfort, Ill., high school where for a 12 year period his teams played in four state finals. He spent one year as basketball and track coach at the Missouri School of Mines, then was a basketball assistant at his Alma Mater, the University of Southern Illinois. He moved to Murray State in 1949 and in the six years following he brought Murray State from the ranks into one of the ten top teams in the nation. He developed two All-America stars while there, Bennie Purcell and Garret Beshear.

Murray State played a high-scoring, fast-break type of basketball under Hodges whose record there is close to 80 per cent on the victory side. Last year Murray State tangled with such teams as Marshall, Brigham Young, Western Kentucky, Memphis, Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Georgia Tech, Houston and played in two tournaments — Kentucky Invitational and the Ohio Valley conference.

In 1952 Murray State reached the finals in the N.A.I.B. tournament at Kansas City in a field of 32 teams from over the nation. That year they were ranked among the top teams in the nation. They also won the Ohio Valley conference crown.

Coach Hodges is the originator and host annually to the North-South cage Classic at Murray, featuring the outstanding graduating high school seniors of the nation. He has handled five of these nationally known contests. Hodges has been much in demand throughout the country as a speaker and a writer. Mrs. Hodges is a widely known speaker in her own right. They have a daughter, 14.
