Rodeo Controversy Continues

The question of whether or not the Vandal rodeo team is to be considered an activity or a sport came into prominence this week when the Academic Council turned down an Executive Board recommendation that team members be given excusals for classes missed when attending rodeos.

Until recently at WSC and in most other schools which have rodeo teams, they are considered activities under the school of agriculture. Proponents of this plan compare it to other agricultural activities like judging teams and say that because the riders accept prizes, rodeo can not be termed a sport.

Opponents to the idea say, that because the teams engage in intercollegiate competition, rodeo is a sport. These persons add that because of the prizes involved, rodeo does not belong as an intercollegiate sport.

Officials here at the University who consider rodeo competition a sport say that the school can not recognize it as such because it is not officially recognized by the Pacific Coast Conference.

The College of Agriculture does not deal with horses, opponents of the activity plan argue, therefore the rodeo team would be out of place.

Another argument against the team is the liability involved for injuries to the students, says the administration. They admit that the personal insurance each participant is required to hold would cover personal injuries, but are not sure if University liability would be covered.

Dean C. O. Decker, director of student affairs, speaking for the administration, says, "Our position is to go along with the PCC. I feel that it is nothing but a sport and as long as the conference doesn't recognize it then we can't."

Dean D. R. Theophilus and Assistant Dean D. A. Marshall of the College of Agriculture refused to comment on the matter.

With the Vandal rodeo team currently leading the nation's intercollegiate rodeo squads in total points and past president Howard Harris out in front in the running for the nation's all around collegiate cowboy, it is unfortunate that the University can not work out some plan of recognition for its only winning team. The ASUI has urged its acceptance; the next step lies with the University.

Summer Classes Attract Nationally Known Faculty

Summer school classes and the workshops in music and art will draw 5 nationally-known visiting faculty members to the campus, it was announced today by Dean J. F. Weltzin, director of the summer session.

Joining the University's music faculty will be Lilla Belle Pitts, professor of music education at Columbia University's Teacher's College; Glenn C. Bainum, director emeritus of the Northwestern University band and Robert Goldsand, internationally known pianist and teacher from New York City.

Visiting art staff members will include Richard Reynolds, head of the College of Pacific art department and Dale Goss, supervisor of art education in the Seattle public school system.

Bainum, one of the greatest innovators in the marching band field, will serve as co-director of the summer school and summer music camp bands. He will also participate in the direction of the music education materials workshop, one of the features of the summer music curriculum.

Miss Pitts, rated as an expert in the teaching of music, will conduct seminars and teach classes in all areas of music education from July 12 through 24. She will participate in the Music Education Materials workshop.

Goldsand, who has held concerts extensively throughout Europe, South America and the United States, will conduct a piano teaching clinic during the week of July 19.

An eminent teacher and an illustrator and author of children's books, Goss will be on the campus for one week beginning July 19 to give art demonstrations and conduct lectures.

Reynolds, who has also been prominent in the PAA and NAEA, will serve for a week beginning July 26.

NO PEEKING

A professor at Indiana has devised a solution to the cheating problem. On test days he places classroom desks in a horseshoe shape. Then he leaves telling the students they are on their honor. But anyone who looks at another student's paper will be seen by the entire class.

Wanted: House boy next school year. Light work, easy hours, board and room. Call 2205 Sunday or after 5 p.m. other days.

DEAR JASON

Dear Jason,
 In the light of the fact that another student at the University has already voiced an opinion on the proposed ice-skating rink, I would like to add something to his statement, but from a different angle. Construction of a skating rink, as such, does not bother me, other than the fact that I agree with the other student that it is a waste of money. But I do object to the manner in which approval was gained from students for the plan. It is my opinion that the off-campus students should also be given an equal opportunity to voice an opinion as to what happens to the fees that are collected from all students. This was not done in the affirmation of the skating rink plan.

I realize that the off-campus students were accorded an opportunity to place a vote if they would have stopped at the ASUI offices and asked for a ballot. To this I object.

The on-campus students were not requested to stop at the same office and request a ballot, but ballots were taken to the halls and houses for their convenience. Such could not have been done for the off-campus students, of course, but a poll booth could have been set up in the Ad building hall as is done for elections.

There is no difference in the way that this referendum passed than if it had affected an entire city and the city fathers said that the West side people had their ballots brought to them and the East side people had to come to the City Hall to vote.

Therefore, it may be well for the campus politicians in making their proposals for a bigger and better Idaho and a more united campus to put their preachings to work and to accord all students equal treatment. I daresay that, had this been done, the skating rink proposal would have failed miserably, for I believe that statistics will bear me out that only about 28 body (not only those voting) voted for the $150,000 ice folly.

This may be something for the new student group to think about in handling the affairs of the students in the coming year.
 Thank you,
 Jay Bates

NEW YORK (I.P.)—Sponsored by nine of the leading aircraft manufacturing companies in the eastern United States and Canada, the newly instituted Aircraft Buyers' course at Fordham University this spring, from all indications today, has already proved successful. The success of the initial venture by aircraft producers on the West Coast at the University of California at Los Angeles prompted the institution of the course here.

Building Improvements Are Planned For Summer

Students returning to the University next fall should see many improvements in campus buildings according to George Gagon, University engineer.

At the present time work on joint men's dormitories, Gault and Upham, is progressing right on schedule, said Gagon. The building is scheduled for completion in June 1955.

The dormitories are connected by a central kitchen, but have separate living and recreation rooms such as Willis Sweet and Chrisman. Lounges in each hall are fitted with fireplaces.

Brickwork on the building is up to the second floor and workmen are now starting on columns up to the third floor, said Gagon. The 300-man dormitories are named after former presidents of the University.

Bids will be opened June 2 on construction of a new coed's dorm to be built on the south side of Ridenbaugh Hall.

Workmen are now grading and sloping the area to prepare for the construction of the new dorm.

Workmen are now beginning the installation of modern acoustical tile in Memorial Gym, said Gagon. However the major part of the job will be done following graduation this June. Plans call for putting tile on the east wall of the gymnasium from the bottom line of windows above the second bal-

STATE OF MIND...

...AND THE STATE OF THE NATION

Perhaps far more than we realize, the state of our nation depends on our state of mind.
 For if false fears can incapacitate an individual, they can do the same to a country, which is made up of individuals.
 The people of Union Oil believe in America and its ability to continue to furnish the highest standard of living ever achieved by man.
 We are backing this belief this year with a nearly one hundred million dollar vote of confidence which calls for new wells, new products, new plants, new refineries, new tankers, new trucks, new tools, new processes.

All of this will help to create new jobs and new opportunities in the years ahead.
 All of this should help to create a state of mind that is good for the state of our nation.

Social Notes . . . . . Tubbings Hit Campus; Groups Choose Officers

Innumerable tubbings at each corner of the campus have composed the most sensational part of the weekly activity. Few have escaped the drenching fate and there's a murmur in the air of more to come.

Every living group seems to be stepping into the spring formal spotlight with the ATOs and Thetas planning events for this weekend, while WITs Sweet's function "sprung" last weekend.

In addition to the reports of new officers stepping forth in campus organizations, there is the scoop that the Phi Deltis have selected a new administration with Harvey Hoff retaining his position as president of the group.

PHI DELTA THETA

The 50 fearless Phis were out testing their voices last Monday night at the Delta Gamma and Kappa Houses. The honored were Barb Taylor and Jane Blomquist pinned to Harvey Hoff and Windy Hymas, respectively.

Dinner guest last Wednesday night was Ronald Tan.

The spring cruise, which it is hoped will become an annual function, takes place a week from Saturday, May 29. All the brothers are anticipating the event.

Belated but nonetheless hearty congratulations are extended to Lorna Hobday and Jim Faulkner who recently became engaged.

Congratulations are also in order to LeRoy Clemons and Sally Krehbiel who were recently pinned.

Harvey Hoff was recently elected as president of Phi Delta Theta. Other officers chosen for the coming year are Jim Stanton, treasurer; Steve Emerine, secretary; Bob Payne, steward; Dave Cripe, alumni secretary; Skip Hitchcock, chaplain; Jerry Christensen, warden; Roger Simmons, chorister; Boyce Miv, librarian; Roger Albright, house manager; and Jim Sanberg, historian.

FORNEY HALL

Congratulations go to Louie Vance, Karen Hinkley and Marie Beals, new Mortar Board members and to Janis Archibald and Margaret Johnson, tapped for Spurs.

Thursday night, seniors were honored at a dinner. The prophecy and will were read by Elaine Brandt and Marilyn Doty, respectively. The graduating seniors were each given a sterling teaspoon.

The seniors are slowly being tubbed, floor by floor. Second floor is last, but certainly not least, for their turn is coming.

Sunday night, the seniors will again be honored at a fireside.

IDAHO CLUB

A picnic exchange was held Sunday at Lake Chatcolet with Regents Hill of WSC. The group left WSC at 10 a.m. and returned after 8 p.m. Arrangements for the picnic were made by social chairman John Bjorke. Several boys decided that there was at least one good thing about WSC, COEDS!

An evening picnic exchange with the Tri-Delts was held Wednesday evening at City Park.

PHI KAPPA TAU

The annual Phi Tau Senior Dinner was held Tuesday night honoring Jim Harbard, Bob Ochenske, Pete Snow and Cal White. Several graduated members also attended.

Larry Hyer was tubbed, as promised, on Wednesday evening. The neighboring Pi Phis were quick in his rescue but a few of the more fortunate gals got a little dampened in the water fight that followed.

Congratulations are due Trapper Bob Kindschy who was recently elected Phi Kappa Tau's Outstanding Peldge.

GAMMA PHI BETA

Two Kappa Sigs arrived at the Gamma Phi House one noon last week carrying a printed document which challenged the Gamma Phi to a baseball game with a picnic thrown in for fun on this coming Saturday. The girls accepted.

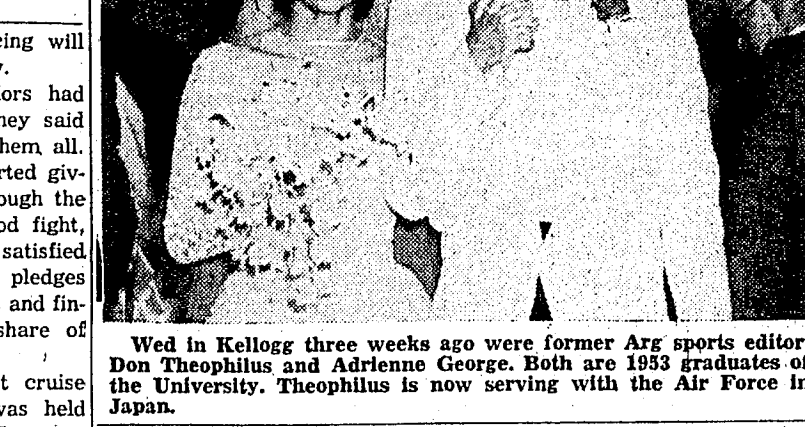

Sue MacMahon was elected president of Spurs last Wednesday.

Seniors will be honored at the Annual Senior Banquet on Sunday. Wednesday dinner guests were Margaret Costello, Pi Phi and Martha Davis, DG.

Water fights have been raging. The SAE's suffered defeat after engaging in battle with us on Tuesday.

(ACP)—An Oregon State College student talent show, which appeared at one of Portland's high school recently, showed a lot of talent for getting in Dutch.

A smutty joke in the show resulted in a chorus of shocked voices from parents, educators and the press.

College President Dr. A. L. Strand promptly announced that "appropriate disciplinary action would be taken against the students responsible for the offensive joke."

Producers of the show, along with the student body president, sent letters of apology to the offended high school.

Said the dean of men, "It was never the intent of the show producers to use the off-color joke at the high school presentation, but it slipped out."

Men Apprehended For Snitching Nosegays
Three men were apprehended in Lewiston and paid $50 fines last Saturday after being convicted in court on charges of trespassing and destruction of flowers.

They were arrested Saturday morning, after an investigation that started Friday night, when a Lewiston woman reported that three men had trampled and picked flowers valued at $60 at her home.

She described a pickup truck in which the three departed and was located later by police. The flowers in the rear matched some of those that had been picked.

The men related that the flowers taken Friday night were to be used in decorating a fraternity house on the University of Idaho campus.

Last year's cache includes five jackets.

Students missing coats are urged to contact the Registrar's office to claim them.

Corrected FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Second Semester 1953-1954

(Two and one-half hour examinations—three examination periods each day)

Regular class rooms will be used for the examinations unless instructors make special arrangements through the Registrar's Office. Examinations in courses not included in the schedule will be arranged by the individual instructors during scheduled examination week. Examinations in courses comprised of lecture and laboratory periods may in most instances be scheduled according to the sequence of either. Announcement of time and room should be made by the instructor. Rooms should be reserved in the Registrar's Office for "arranged" examinations in order to avoid conflicts with scheduled examinations. For those courses in which a two and one-half hour examination period is not considered adequate, the final class hour or laboratory period could be used for additional examination purposes.

Summer School Will Include Three Extra Sessions

Conferences scheduled at the University this summer will include sessions devoted to exceptional children, Idaho's testing program, and typing, it was announced today by Dean J. F. Well-zin, director of summer school.

George L. Hossfield of New York, 10-times world professional typing champion, will be on the campus July 23 to conduct a conference for the improvement of electric typewriting instruction. Hossfield will demonstrate equipment and discuss problems and techniques of electric typewriting instruction.

Another session planned during summer school is the 10th annual School Administrators' conference June 24 and 25. Theme of this year's meeting is "a justifiable testing program for Idaho's schools."

Five specialists representing leading publishers of educational test materials will serve as consultants and speakers, and will discuss the uses and limitations of various tests.

June 28 and 29 are the dates for a conference on exceptional children. Primary objective of the session is to bring together parents, professional workers and teachers of exceptional youngsters for an exchange of ideas and experiences.

The conference will center its attention on the mentally retarded, the crippled child and the child with hearing and speech defects.

"Darling," he cried, "I will go through fire and water for you." To prove it, he got a job with the fire department.
