Men To Chose Idaho's Queen

The five Homecoming queen finalists, from whom the winner will be picked Thursday by the men students, are Carol Ann Zapp, Boise; Sonia Henriksson, Kootenai; Clara Armstrong, Lapwai; Lou Ann Olson, Opportunity, Wash., and Freda Payne, Deer Park, Wash.

The voting places are as follows: All male off-campus students, who are affiliated with a campus living group, between the hours of 12 noon and 1 p.m. Those living in veteran family-housing units, West 6th Village and North Main Village, will vote in the manager's office of each village; and those living off campus, who are not affiliated with a living group on campus, will vote between 12 noon and 1 p.m. in the General Manager's office of the SUB.

A few facts about these good looking coeds are that Miss Zapp is a junior, majoring in art; Miss Armstrong and Miss Payne are also juniors, the former majoring in home economics, and the latter in education. Home economics is also the major of Miss Olson, who is a sophomore. Miss Henriksson is a sophomore majoring in business.

The Queen will be crowned during the half-time of the Idaho-San Jose State football game on Saturday, by F. L. Blomquist, president of the Idaho Alumni Association. Following this, the Queen will reign over all Homecoming week-end activities with the other four finalists as her attendants.

Whoops! We're sorry Sonia Henriksson for the multi different spellings of your name in the last Arg. We promise, on a stack of comic books, not to do it again.

Newspaper Week Opens October 1

"The newspapers of America are freedom's forum," declared the University of Idaho's journalism chairman today in calling attention to the nationwide observance of National Newspaper Week, October 1-8.

The historic function of the newspaper as the carrier of the raw material of public opinion was noted as classes of Dr. Granville Price prepared for the event.

Dr. Price assumed duties at Moscow this month after teaching experiences at the Universities of Texas and Missouri.

The fight to overcome the censors, large and small, American and foreign, who seek to stem the free flow of information is being carried on chiefly by newspapermen, Dr. Price noted.

Through associations such as the American Association of Newspaper Editors, the Associated Press Managing Editors Association, Sigma Delta Chi, and the Newspaper Association Managers they are resisting news blockage by totalitarian governments and by well-intentioned people who would "protect" the public from published ideas.

Journalism education in universities and colleges has helped develop the skill and responsibility of newspaper men to select, and transmit information, unhampered by political restrictions, which will keep our democracy a working system, Dr. Price believes.

Committee Is Organized To Coordinate Social Events

Under the chairmanship of John Gillis, Sigma Nu, a Social Coordination Council is being organized to promote a better social program, to help in the coordination and integration of the campus social program and to help maintain high standards of social behavior.

Several separate committees have been appointed on a temporary basis to gather information necessary to set up and run the organization, to compile rules and regulations and to undertake such campus projects as publishing events calendars and helping in the coordination of all campus events.

Dorothy Warren, Forney hall, will head the correspondence committee to gather information concerning social organizations in colleges and universities comparable in size and situation to the University of Idaho for comparison and analysis to apply to the University.

Composing the committee are Dorothy Dalke, Alpha Phi; Jim Cruson, Chrisman hall; Don Bryant, Sigma Chi; and Ileta Sabini, Tri-Delt.

The Social Rules and Regulations committee will compile information concerning the scheduling and running of social events, to be published for distribution to the students.

Foreign Scholarships Are Available To Seniors

Applications for fellowships and scholarships for study in many countries of Europe, Asia and South America are now being accepted, it was announced today by Dr. W. J. Wolfe, acting chairman of the Rhodes, Fulbright and Foreign Scholarships Committee.

Scholarships for which application may now be made include the Rhodes, Marshall and Fulbright scholarships.

The Rhodes scholarships for study at Oxford University are open to male students between the ages of 19 and 25. Selection of winners is based on scholarship, moral, physical and social qualifications.

The Marshall scholarships, offered by the British government to express Britain's gratitude for the aid extended by the United States under the Marshall plan, provides for a two-year period of study in any university in the United Kingdom.

For details on these scholarships, students may consult the following committee members: Professors Cook, Graue, Klages, Pritchard, Seawell and Wolfe.

Future Exchanges Listed; Men To Provide Chaperones

Following is a list of exchanges for the coming semester. All the exchanges will be held in the men's houses this year, and it is advisable that the men furnish one married Alum for chaperone, as the house mothers of the women's living groups are not always able to attend the exchanges.

Social Chairmen should clip this schedule for further reference.

Miss Thompson To Speak At Year's First Assembly

Dorothy Thompson, internationally known author, columnist and radio commentator, will be the first of four major public events speakers to appear at the University of Idaho during the 1954-55 school year.

Her talk, "The Crisis of the West," is scheduled for 11 a. m. Friday, October 15.

Other speakers who will appear at the University later this year include Shakespearean actress Margaret Webster, explorer Paul E. Victor and Margaret Burke White, the noted photographer.

A distinguished political commentator, Miss Thompson's column, "On the Record," is distributed three times weekly by the Bell Syndicate to some 160 newspapers. Author of numerous books, she holds seven honorary degrees from American universities, including her own alma mater, Syracuse, and Columbia and Dartmouth. The latter is a rare honor since Dartmouth is exclusively a college for men.

Homecoming Planning Reaches High Pace

"Homecoming fever" is taking over on the University of Idaho campus; everywhere there is talk of the Kickoff dance, the parade, the floats, the queen contestants, and the big game.

The big celebration has been planned in detail by a student committee headed by Harry Brenn.

Preliminary celebration to the actual Homecoming weekend will be the Kickoff dance tomorrow night from 8 to 9:30 p.m. in the Student Union ballrooms.

Idaho Will Submit Nomination For Teacher Grants

The University of Idaho is asked to submit one nomination to the Danforth Foundation on or before November 1 as an application for one of the Danforth Teacher Grants.

Danforth Teacher Grants have been established to encourage young college teachers of special promise to continue their graduate work toward the doctorate. It is hoped that the additional training will help them to become more competent teachers.

Applicants are to be young faculty members in any academic subject matter field who have the potential capacity to become outstanding teachers. Faculty members interested in applying for the grant should give their names to H. Walter Steffens, Executive Dean, by October 15.

Freshman Class Show Increase Over Last Year

A 19 per cent increase over the freshman class of last year has helped bring up Idaho's enrollment to a grand total of 3,077 at the end of the first week of classes.

This is about 8 per cent above last year's total.

A large number of Korean veterans is also on the rolls.

Last year's frosh class consisted of 916, but this year there are 1,085 freshmen.

Publications Director Rafe Gibbs said that this is probably one of the biggest freshman increases in the Northwest.

The total of 3,077, compared to last year's 2,813, should go up another hundred.

The College of Letters and Science came out ahead as usual with 813 students.

Three hundred and seven "aggies" populate the west end of the campus, and the College of Forestry claims 201 students.

The rest of the list consists of 41 law students, 47 ag engineering students, 26 arts and law students, 4 business and law students, and 32 special students.

Teacher Receives Grant From POE

Mrs. Mary G. Kalk of Sandpoint, who has been teaching in Idaho public schools for a number of years, has been granted a $500 loan by the P.E.O. Educational fund to continue her education at the University of Idaho.

The P.E.O. is a national women's organization.

Mrs. Kalk is returning to the University to earn her degree in elementary education.

She has previously attended the university's summer session, Albion State Normal school, Northern Idaho College of Education and the University of Washington.

REGENTS TO MEET

The next meeting of the Board of Regents will be held in Moscow, October 21-23.

All items of business to be included in the agenda for this meeting must be cleared through the Business Office or other necessary offices and in the office of the President by noon Friday, October 15.

Journalism Professor Surveys News Content

Newspaper "profiles" are a statistical invention of an Idaho University professor for showing the differences among newspapers in content such as political news.

In a recently completed research study, Dr. Granville Price used the device to differentiate eight newspapers' treatment of news of the 1952 presidential campaign.

Dr. Price reported on his research September 1 at the national convention of the Association for Education in Journalism at Albuquerque, N. M.

A former teacher at the Universities of Texas and Missouri, he became chairman of journalism at the University of Idaho this month.

The chief utility of the method, Dr. Price believes, is that it does not necessarily impute "bias" to a newspaper.

Rather, it places newspapers on a scale for each of the various aspects of news so that the reader can see how near or how far they are from the average of the Democratic or the Republican side.

Ordinarily content analysis lessens danger of error by breaking the content into small units like simple sentences, subject-predicate statements and then counting Democratic and Republican units.

Dr. Price proved that, at least for political news, he could avoid this tedious method by making careful definitions to be followed in coding larger units of content such as whole news stories.

He believes it will be possible to adapt his method to other kinds of news as well as to advertising content so that a publisher can compare his product with that of other newspapers.

Arg Staff Meeting

All reporters and members of the copy staff will meet in the Pine Room of the Student Union Building at 4 p.m. tomorrow. This is a very important meeting.

European Schools Differ

Although the so-called Western culture gives rise to a common bond between Europe and the United States more intense than between any other people, there is a definite difference on educational philosophy. In Europe, including England, is found a system of education which introduces the child to the rigors of study long before American children are concerned about more than drawing circles or playing marbles. Perhaps the young innocents should be protected from the hard tasks of study as long as possible. But, the best and most impressionable time for learning is during the very early years. Some American educators are beginning to realize this fact and put it in practice. Credit for work on this program should go to the University of Idaho. Those who might complain that many Europeans are thrust from the schools before they can complete as many years as do American students ignore the fact that these same students have received a more thorough education. The European, for example, has started languages in the first grade and even had philosophy and advanced chemistry in high school.

The American gripe against undemocratic European education is really an expression of frustration about our own inadequate educational system. —J. C.

The Writer Doesn't Skate

With dollar signs dancing before our eyes, we read the September 24th Argonaut story about our proposed skating rink. Perhaps a good look ought to be taken at the possibilities of alternative plans for our money. This writer, for one, had no idea of the cost involved when he voted for a rink last fall. With $150,000 involved in this project, we might find some other objective more desirable. A skating rink would be very nice, but maybe a long range plan for a coliseum would benefit more students and our school. Our basketball teams have been very good lately and our football teams have been improving. With these improvements to help draw spectators to our sporting events and with our increasing enrollment, we will outgrow Memorial Gymnasium soon. And then we will need some type of new building anyway. Therefore, it may be wise for all of us to reconsider what we want done with our money, especially if we can hope for state aid and perhaps a matching of our expenditures by the state. —J. W. K.

Foresters Apply Book Learnin's

By Tom Neal

With the end of the school year, it has always been a driving question to the students at the University as to what they will be doing during the summer. Most students feel that if they can get into some kind of work that will go along with what they're studying in school, they will be aided immeasurably.

This summer, we shopped around and found that the forestry students are ones to not lag behind in their studies, for come summer, they all slip out amongst the big trees which populate the beautiful scenery of Idaho and put into practice what they have learned in school the previous year.

This is what we found some of the students were doing. Rupert Andrews, Dick Feeney, Neils Christensen, Rex Piper and Griffith Clark worked with the Forest Service on a spruce bark beetle survey.

Bill Charke went to Vancouver Island to work for the British Columbia Forest Service on growth studies.

Carl Goebel worked on a Range Survey for the Bureau of Land Management. Marvin Wilson, was an alternate ranger at Warren Idaho for the Payette National Forest. Bruce Ottenfield was a timber manager for the Pottlatch Forests Inc.

Timber marking and scaling was the job Dewey Almmas had with the Krassell Ranger District of the Payette National Forest.

Forest Twitchell worked in research with Range Management Prof. Lee A. Sharp in South Idaho.

On a Forest Service Guard Station in the Coeur d'Alene National Forest at the little town of Medford, Idaho was where we found Jack Olson. John D. Sandmeyer was camp boss of the Blister Rust camp in the St. Joe National Forest.

Bob Carlman was with the Bureau of Land Management at Medford, Oregon doing a timber inventory as well as Past Clason and Sherman Finch.

After ROTC Larry Elfering spent the first six weeks of his summer at ROTC summer camp, then he went to the Kaniku National Forest to work in timber management.

Blister rust research was the object of Al Coombs and Prof. Albert Slipp. Bill Wallace was marking timber and piling brush at the Avery Ranger District, St. Joe National Forest. The Avery Ranger Station was also the whereabouts of Roy Veaner who worked as a dispatcher there.

Also working as a dispatcher was Bob Platz, who worked in the Cascade Ranger District of the Boise National Forest.

A man touring Europe sent back a picture postcard bearing this message: Dear son, on the other side you will see a picture of the rock from which the Spartans used to throw their defective children. Wish you were here. Your Dad.

Formal Pledging, Initiation Head Week's Activities

Formal pledging and initiation ceremonies sparked the week's activities in many of the Greek living groups as they move into fall with full houses. Tri-Delta, Phi-Delta, Tekes, and Sigma Nus held pledging this weekend, and Tekes, Alpha Phi, and Phi-Delta initiated new members as they began their active year.

Cupid has also been on campus this fall, with pinnings, tubbing, and engagements hitting the students at full speed.

Delta Gamma, Phi Deltas and Betas, and Pi Phis and Sigma Nus represent the many living groups this week who have begun their social year with dinner exchanges.

All active students appear to be busy working on the group homecoming floats, while looking forward to a lively and interesting weekend.

BETA THETA PHI

Graham Knox, Mike Patton, and Mike Boles were chosen to sing with the Vandalers.

Formal pledging was held Monday evening, September 20, for 28 Beta pledges.

Al Green, Seattle, now attending WSC, and his father, were guests for lunch Sunday afternoon, Wednesday, September 22, Gary Stubbs, Moscow, was a Beta dinner guest.

Beta neighbors were entertained last Thursday as the pledges and members all joined in for a drenching water fight. Shoes, dripping shirts and wet members were flying in all directions. Any sororities interested in a little hosing down?

The Beta front porch was crowded the other night as a group of girls from the sister sorority, Alpha Phi, serenaded from the front lawn. The girls sang a number of songs and were rewarded with the return of their trophies.

HAYS HALL

Highlighting the week's events at Hays hall was the party given by the upperclassmen for the frosh at which time the big sisters were announced. Entertainment and refreshments were provided by the upperclassmen.

Congratulations to new Vandalers Karen Becker, Charlotte Campbell and Donna Kannikberg. A sparkler appeared on the hand of Beverly Nelson at dinner Sunday when she announced her engagement to Pete Peterson, Idaho Club.

Plans are underway for the Homecoming float, so it appears that there will be a noticeable lack of studying this week while the girls are busy tuffing crepe paper.

WILLIS SWEET

Dr. and Mrs. Mayfield, Thane Johnson and the executive council were introduced by president Gene Lofdahl at a recent house meeting for the 75 new freshmen. Seniors viewed the multitude of young men with apprehension while recalling the traditional spring tubbing.

Navy man Lofdahl informed the group that Culligan's water service had installed a new "salt water" service to aid laundry facilities. The exact effect of the new system is being anxiously awaited.

Nearly 50 couples attended a fireside which was held Friday night. Intermission entertainment was provided, including selected football music by the University of Texas.

The courtyard fire-cracker committee is now holding a contest to find the year's record holder. At present, a 30.06 is leading the race. Bazooka anyone?

DELTA DELTA DELTA

Formal pledging was held Thursday evening for the 17 new Tri Delta pledges.

Blanche Branson, who received the Tri Delta scholarship last spring, was a dinner guest Wednesday night.

A picnic with the Delta Sigs, held Saturday at Viola, turned out to be an exciting event with football between the pledges and members monopolizing the afternoon activities.

PHI DELTA THETA

Congratulations and best wishes are extended to three members who were sighted in the path of Cupid the past week. Gerald Christensen and Diane Billings, Alpha Phi, and Brad Gauss and Marcia Thornton, Delta Gamma, announced their engagements this week. Boyce Mix announced his pinning to Renee Wright, Delta Gamma, Sunday evening.

AWS Talks About Hours

Dean Louise Carter and ASUI President Flip Kieffer were present at the first Associated Women Students council meeting of the year to give advisory direction on the topic of a change in women's hours.

Karen Hinckley presided over the meeting at which a representative from every campus women's living group was present in addition to the officers of AWS.

Kieffer submitted several suggestions from the Executive Board as the group also discussed 11 p.m. permission for upperclass women Monday through Thursday; a break for freshmen women between 9:30 and 10:30 p.m.; an 11 p.m. permission for all women on Sunday evenings; and the possibility of floating 2 a.m. permissions during the semester.

These suggestions will be voted upon in each living group and a recommendation compiled and submitted to the Academic Council.

May Pappenhagen, Janice Archibald and Connie Densow, the committee regulating women's dinner exchanges, announced that they will begin the week following Homecoming. A printed schedule will be posted in each living group.

Things around the old Tri J house are really booming! The annual big brother dinner was held Wednesday night, and the time was spent arguing about who was the big brother.

Thursday night the house serenaded Ridenbaugh Hall, and the singing was enjoyed beyond words. It is reported that no one said anything.

A small party was held Friday night, which ended with Lindsey Hall raiding the ice box. Overnight guest was Bill Dawson.

Two new pledges were added this week. Bertha, the neurotic guppy, gave birth to twins named Baby and Mafy.

To whom it may concern: no member of the Tri J house was connected with promiscuous distribution of ceramic or metallic beverage containers in the SUB parking lot.

Production of the homecoming float is under way as the final week before the occasion begins. There is a great show of enthusiasm among the K-Sigs and hopes are high.

Many of the fellows attended the mixer this weekend, returning with the word that it was a pretty good function.

Along the social line was the fireside Sunday evening when the fellows enjoyed a quiet evening at home. Pending a final stamp of approval, all concerned feel that there should be more of the Sunday evening functions, providing the books are not overlooked.

Kenny Jones was recently tubbed for passing his pin to Barbara Tibbitts. Congrats, Kenny!

Kappa Sigma extends best wishes to all float entrants, hoping the best will win. Here's to a bigger and better Homecoming than ever before.

Orchestrators last night went to various living groups, both men's and women's, to present a promotion skit aimed to build up new interest in modern dancing, especially among the men.

"Orchestrator" is a Greek word meaning "dance." This modern dancing group was first started at the University of Wisconsin under the direction of Margaret H'Doubler, who has just retired.

It then, like many organizations, spread from campus to campus and has been at Idaho for about 10 years. Men have belonged for five or six years.

The Orchestrators members do their own choreography and costuming under the direction of Elizabeth Rowe. President of this group is Eleanor Horseman, a P.E. major, while Ronald Tan is vice president and secretary is Nancy Castled.

Pre-Orchestrator is a new group each year as the old members who continue their interest are automatically in Orchestrator.

In a letter to presidents of the airlines involved, NSA president Harry H. Lunn, Jr., said charter service was essential to student exchange among Western nations.

"International student travel is a major means of strengthening the bonds among free nations and building understanding among peoples," Lunn asserted; "and it is therefore shocking to see student interchange among Western nations declining rapidly in the face of continued mass exchange programs among Communist countries." Continued student charter service can be an important factor in reversing this trend.

New officers have been announced for Curtain Club, the dramatics organization.

Cosmo Clubs To Compete

Last Friday Prof. Robert Hosack opened his informal discussion on "American Government and Politics" at the new International house.

President Olaf Stavik welcomed all the newcomers to the first meeting last Sunday. Vice President Stewart Allor gave an outline of the club's activities for the first semester which will include dinners, picnics, social meetings, bicycle rides and informal discussions on world relationships.

The club also unanimously accepted the new challenge of the WSC club for a soccer game to be played early this fall.

Last year the Cosmopolitan club soccer team, deserted the very last moment by its moral supporters (students from India), had an accident! It lost the game! This year the odds are in favor of Idaho, according to the soccer authorities.

The ASUI promised to make this game an all student affair while the Cosmopolitan club promised an easy victory.

For those who don't believe in breaking traditions established in more than a quarter of a century, here are a few facts.

The Cosmopolitan club soccer team has recently mobilized quite a few star "All Norway" soccer players. Idaho's soccer team has been practicing for the past few months more often than the football team under the guidance of the internationally known coach "George."

Idaho's Cosmopolitan club got rid of W. Ching and his pessimism. On the other hand the WSC team has lost its top players and they still have a couple of their "good ones" on the bench unable to play after injuries received during the last game last April.

Dates for all coming events and activities of the Cosmopolitan club are to be posted.

NOTICE ASUI General Manager's office reports that the ASUI cards are now in. Immediate pick-up of the cards is beneficial to both the ASUI and students, as the cards will be necessary to get into the coming football games.

VANDALS FAIL TO BREAK ICE FOR SECOND WEEK

The Idaho Vandals failed to score Saturday for the second straight week as they dropped a hard fought battle to a sophomore-laden Oregon State College Beavers 13-0. The Vandals showed great improvement in their defensive game but found the road a bit rough when it came to offense. The Vandals committed eight fumbling errors losing the ball five times.

Skip Girds Offense For Sparts

Vandal Coach Skip Stahley said yesterday that the Idaho charges will work more on offense this week in preparation for the Homecoming game Saturday with San Jose State.

Stahley said the Vandals were an "appreciably improved" ball club Saturday. Idaho was stopped 13-0 at Corvallis by the Oregon State College Beavers.

Idaho entered the game with a certain amount of "reckless abandon" that Stahley said he hoped to build up in the club this season.

The Vandals made entirely too many mistakes, according to the head coach. Some mistakes were new but none were uncorrectable. "We had four scoring opportunities in the first quarter but failed to capitalize on any. Eight fumbles of which five were lost also hurt us."

Yesterday's practice session included a light scrimmage for the players who didn't see much action Saturday. The scrimmage was designed to help those players catch up with the work.

No Injuries

No serious injuries occurred from the game but several players suffered from the severe heat. OSC was able to wear down Idaho by platooning systems of running three teams against the Vandals. Stahley praised the improved defensive work shown by the entire club and had praise for the team as a unit rather than pointing out any individual performances.

Bill Lawr, senior right halfback, worked out in regular uniform yesterday and will be ready by Saturday after being out a week because of a hip pointer suffered a week from Saturday in the Oregon game.

Jerry Leigh re-injured a knee in the OSC game but was out for practice last night.

Idaho-OSC Sidelights

The game was Oregon State's opener.

The scrappy Vandals dominated play in the first quarter but missed their best chance to score when George Eidam's pass to Frank Teverbaugh who had gotten deep behind OSC defenders skimmed through the big end's fingers.

Oregon State had three scoring opportunities in the second period after taking a 6-0 lead in the first period. The Beavers reached the Idaho 3-yard line but the Vandal middle line rose up and thwarted the scoring attempt. Idaho held the Beavers on their 18 and 26 yard lines.

OSC recovered an Idaho fumble on the Vandal 27 with 16 seconds of playing remaining in the first quarter, and on the next play half-back Dick Mason took a handoff and raced to the Idaho end zone.

Second TD

The Beaver second touchdown came midway in the final period. Starting from their own 27-yard line after intercepting an Idaho pass, the Beavers powered to the Idaho 2. Sophomore back Tom Berry carried off-tackle for the score. Quarterback Jim Withrow added the extra point.

In the third quarter both clubs made numerous fumbles and had passes intercepted.

After the second OSC score in the final quarter, the Vandal eleven took to the air only to find a sustained threat broken up by a fumble.

Idaho was sparked in the line by tackle Marshall Jones and guard Burdette Hess and sophomore end Pete Gerpheide. Wilbur Gary and Ray Bittner were the big ground gainers.

Game Statistics

Rushing yardage	100	121
Passing yardage	42	164
Passes attempted	22	25
Passes completed	8	10
Passes intercepted by	1	2
Punts	7	6
Punting yardage	37.7	36.4

The line play and general all-around blocking and tackling of the Vandals was highly pleasing particularly to the sports writers in the press box. They, at least those who had seen the Vandals in their opener against the University of Oregon, were of the opinion Idaho showed vast improvement in the second contest.

In mentioning the press box it can be noted that Oregon State has a brand new play to play football. The press box itself was in use for the first time and under such conditions several "bugs" show up. One was a particularly dangerous bug as on the second story of the press box two huge windows crashed into the stands below as the photographers prepared to go to work. Fortunately the stands were virtually empty that early in the afternoon and no one was seriously injured. If the crash had come about 15 minutes later it could have been disastrous.

The day was too ideal for football. It was the warmest day of the late summer in Corvallis, 85 degrees and the humidity was terrific. Coach Kip Taylor of Oregon State, "blessed with 52 players on the bench, was able to substitute four times during the game with a full new fresh team. Some of the faithful figured this might have been Oregon State's margin of victory. The Vandals took the opening kick-off and marched to Oregon State for a first down inside the 25 yard line. Here an offside penalty may have been the crucial play of the contest as it forced the Vandals to give up the ball. True they got it back as Oregon State fumbled on their first play from scrimmage but the offensive edge was dulled. Idaho's second scoring chance had the audience gasping as deep in Idaho territory George Eidam threw to Frank Teverbaugh. Teverbaugh had evaded every Oregon State defender by 20 yards and it looked as though things were due to happen. The pass was not more than a foot too long and thus went for naught but it jarred Oregon State pass defenders from there on out.

Eidam To Gary Aerial

GEORGE EIDAM (14) TOSSES in the flat to fullback Wilbur Gary (37) for a short Idaho gain in Saturday's encounter with the Oregon State College Beavers. Swarming defenders are John Hall (75) tackle, Vern Sampels (80) end, Jim Roberts (66) and John Sniffen (62) guards.

Burdette Hess, Idaho's captain and guard, was undoubtedly the outstanding ball player on the field. Leg cramps due to heat and exhaustion hampered him in the final period but when he was on the field Idaho's line play sparkled on both offense and defense. He was also seconded by Center Ed Barton and the ends, Frank Teverbaugh and Pete Gerpheide.

In juggling the leather Wilbur Gary and Ray Bittner assumed a large share of the load. Gary's end sweeps and pitchouts made trouble for the Beavers as he averaged 4.7 yards each time he carried the ball 11 in all. Bittner, who took over the injured Bill Lawr's spot at right half, averaged 6.3 yards for his seven trips.

TAKE FIVE

WITH JOHN B. HUGHES

"This is the first time in the history of my coaching years that my team has been shut out two games in a row. . . . And, I don't like it."

Those were the words of Vandal Coach Skip Stahley upon his arrival here from a recent 13-0 loss at Corvallis to Oregon State.

Stahley said there were many times that Idaho could have shoved across a score and even gone on to win the game. Last week the coach said his club was about three weeks away from being a college threat so it looks like two weeks remain, except, despite what the coach or fans said about the loss, Idaho is an improved ball club.

"We're going to score this Saturday, Stahley said, and the way the players went at it yesterday in practice there is no doubt that both ends are bent on the same intent. Score on San Jose and win the ball game."

Tele-Pep Success After First Try

"Operation Tele-pep" Number One proved a huge success Saturday. The football players really appreciated all the support the fans back home gave us Saturday."

The preceding quotations were made yesterday by ASUI president Flip Kleffner and the Idaho Vandal football captain Burdette (Archie) Hess.

Kleffner and Hess praised the students for their fine spirit and support shown through sending telegrams of well-wishing to the Idaho team Saturday prior to its game with Oregon State.

Fifteen or 20 telegrams were sent by individuals and living groups.

"It really helps the team spirit," Hess stated, "when you know the fans back home are behind you. We saved a couple of the telegrams until a few minutes before the game for a last minute reminder."

Kleffner said the plan will be carried out before each road game.

ATO's Battle SN In Top Contest

Seven touch football games are on the slate for intramural athletics this afternoon as the new season goes into its' second day of action.

Highlighting the afternoon will be the contest between the defending Fraternity league champs, ATO and Sigma Nu. While the ATO's have thirteen veterans back the Sigma Nu's are big threats and a close ball game seems in the making.

Last Friday it was erroneously reported to the Argonaut that Lindley Hall won the Independent league. Eagle and Anchor, Navy honorary, actually copped the crown, and as all military organizations have been ruled out of competition this year there will be no defending champion.

Due to the fact that military teams get their material from campus living groups, they have been abolished to give all living groups a chance to use the players from their particular house or hall.

Golf Qualifying Begins This Week For ASUI Tourney

Qualifying for the annual ASUI Golf Championship will be held this week according to golf pro Dick Snyder.

Official qualifying time for the required 18 holes was set from Sunday through Sunday with match play scheduled to start next week.

Last year's champion Jim Russell, who left school at the end of the first semester last year, will not be around to defend the goal. Bob Campbell, a winner two years ago will be in the running.

The winner will be the receiver of the Francis L. James trophy. Snyder said all qualifiers would be placed in flights of golfers of equal ability with flights for all golfers despite their experience or ability.

Contestants will be given one week to arrange and play their matches in the flight they are assigned. The tourney is open to all University students.

Snyder urged that all those interested in entering this fall's tourney to play qualifying rounds this week and turn the card into the pro shop.

George Eidam threw five touchdowns last season for the Vandal football team. He was the conference's number six passer in total yards.

Living Groups Enter Grid Gambles Contest

The Argonaut sports staff this week inaugurates a new type of competition between men's living groups—that of participating as a living group in the weekly Grid Gambles sports feature.

Each week the Argonaut will call on six or seven living groups to select five men to do their choosing of winners of five regional football games. At the end of the season after each living group has competed twice, the top living groups will pair off in the final weekend to decide the campus champs.

Sherman Snow, frosh, will handle the predictions. House presidents can expect mimeographed "rule" sheets and explanations of the workings of Grid Gambles.

Wednesday Deadline

Deadline each week will be Wednesday afternoon at 4.

Tau Kappa Epsilon, Willis Sweet Hall, Lindley Hall, Beta Theta Pi, Phi Gamma Delta and Lambda Chi Alpha will be the guest predictors Friday.

Games predicted will be for play Saturday.

Gals Sharpen Up For Tennis Play

Entries in the Women's Recreation Association tennis doubles tournament to open Monday will be announced in the next Argonaut. Practice for the tourney was held last night at 4:00 and will continue tonight at the University courts.

Speedball and wicket will be held in the Women's Gym tonight for those who are interested in learning these sports, Miss Betts said yesterday. This is the first time they have been offered as WRA activities. Wickets is a brand new sport, just introduced this year and, as it is comparatively easy to learn, is well worth the fun playing it, Miss Betts said.

A field hockey meeting will be held tomorrow at 4:00 in the Women's Gym. Field hockey is new to certain parts of the West Coast, especially Idaho, but there is an American Women's Field Hockey team which goes abroad each year to compete in foreign countries, especially England. Canadian sailors used to play field hockey quite a lot, too, Miss Betts added.
