The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Talk about campus politics—everybody in town is running for office. Tuesday night the Students Party put five up for Executive Board and a candidate in the presidential race. Their Board hopefuls are John Gillis, Mike O'Callaghan, Dennis Thompson, Tom Warner and Jody Keith. Students Party presidential candidate is (of course) Chuck McDevitt.

The Independents recently climbed through a primary ballot to pick up this Executive Board slate: Bud Duffy, Jim Kruger, Jim Corbett, John Thornock, Dick Gaskins, Jim Russell, Dick Denny, John Bahr, and Carol Rojan. Their candidate for the president's job is Bob Bakes.

We attended the Student Party meeting held last Tuesday and came away with some impressions. Although the Borah theater was packed, we'll bet that almost a third of the crowd was there only to watch the show. Even with all the high flying talk we'll also bet that the candidates all knew they had a good chance of being on the party ticket before someone nominated them from the floor. But whether the new party's motives are good or not they have efficient methods. And they are out to win.

A while back we were predicting the election outcome in terms of United and Independents placed in office. With this new party on the hook our predictions will have to go out the window. About the only thing we can see now is that if this new party gets down to some solid thought and pushes it they might do better than you think. They have efficient leadership even if their Board candidates aren't the strongest in town, that is, in relation to their popularity. Some of the Independent slate looks good while some of it looks weak. In comparison to campus popularity, the Uniteds hold most of the strong candidates.

But if this election becomes one of specific issues instead of following a popularity contest, predicting will be a hard job. Listen to the talk at smokers and watch for concrete ideas—the party that excels in this aspect might win.

Some people have asked us why the big spread on the Student Party when the other parties have been mentioned only in the Fleece. The ASUI Constitution says that all candidates for the spring elections shall be chosen not three weeks before the specified election date. Because of this, we have limited the list of party candidates to official mention in this column. When the new party started they made news—objective news—and we covered it on the objective side of the paper. When the other parties make news that is official, it will also be covered in an objective manner in the news column.

You'll notice that pages three and four of today's issue carry a spread on the Idaho Journalism Department. The pages were prepared for the High School Journalism conference that starts today. At first, we were only going to print the insert for the high school visitors, then we decided to make it part of the regular Friday edition. If you know some prospective journalism students in your home town—send 'em a copy.

Third Party Holds Chili Feed April 3

The Student Government Party will hold a Chili Feed Sunday, April 3 at 6 in the SUB Ballroom. There will be entertainment and a chance to meet the party candidates.

Money made at this event goes to support the Student Government Party candidates. This is the first time any party has gone out to earn money for its campaign instead of charging the living groups for support, said their chairman.

WRIGHT TALK AIRE

The Borah conference speech of Dr. Quincy Wright, professor of international law at the University of Chicago, will be rebroadcast this Sunday at 12:05 p.m. over a local station.

U Singers Present Handel's 'Messiah' On Sunday, April 3

What is usually known as the "Easter" section of Handel's "The Messiah" will be given in public performance by the University Singers and the University Symphony Orchestra on Sunday evening, April 3.

Conductor of the campus choral organization is Norman R. Logan, assistant professor of music. Leading the symphony is Elwyn Schwartz, assistant professor of music, with William Fitzsimmons of the music faculty serving as associate conductor. Logan serves as director for the entire presentation.

The familiar "Christmas" portion of the work is performed so frequently that music lovers sometimes overlook this other part of the oratorio. Some of the most beautiful solos in the entire "Messiah" are to be found in this portion, such as "I know that My Redeemer Liveth."

Soloists appearing in the concert include sopranos Margaret Fox and Caroleigh Gittins, contraltos Rochelle Henderson and LaVonne Willson, tenors Edmund Chavez of the University dramatics department, and Harry Ehoodin and baritone William Herr and John Herrett. Trumpeter William Billingsley of the music faculty will be featured in the famous "The Trumpet Shall Sound" solo. Nan Soden serves as organist, and accompanist for the work has been Judith Crookham.

"The Messiah" will be given at 8 p.m. in the University Auditorium and is open to the public without admission.

Idaho Hosts Dancers Tonite

Idaho and Washington State College will host Oregon and Montana students at the Northwest Dance Symposium here this afternoon and evening.

Lectures on "Dance Production Problems," will begin at 1:30 p.m. in the Women's Gymnasium. Registration will start at 11 a.m. at the Gym.

Joanne Dittmer and Ronald Tan will participate from Idaho. The introductory master class in dance technique, "Passion Play" and a film, "Triptych" will be under the Direction of Welland Lathrop, San Francisco, will start at 7:45 to night.

Edmund Chavez of the Idaho dramatics department will start the Saturday sessions at 9 a.m. with a lecture on "Lighting Stagecraft for Dance." The second mastery class will begin at 10:30 a.m.

A lecture on "Visual Elements in Dance Production" will be given by Lathrop after lunch.

Holt And McDevitt Will Attend Debate

Idaho debaters Dean Holt and Chuck McDevitt are definitely going to the West Point Debate, McDevitt said yesterday. They will leave the Idaho campus on April 19 and return from West Point April 24.

McDevitt also said that Henry Sizer from Yonkers, New York, will represent Idaho on the judging team.

Campus Politicians Discuss New 3rd Party

With a new political party in the air many people have wondered how the leaders in the opposing camp of the United and Independent parties feel about the current situation. Yesterday, the Argonaut invited members of both parties to express their personal views.

First on the list was Tom West, United campaign chairman, who says, "I think their general platform is good so far as it does stimulate more interest in student government. However, many of their improvements could be accomplished under the present system. We do not think that it is necessary to build our campaign around methods of bucking the highly ideal platform of the third party. In the final analysis the votes will be cast for individuals who are running on their own merits and qualifications."

Er-Prexy Says
Bill Parsons, who was the 1953-54 ASUI president, had this to say:

AWS Winners

Jo Ella Hamilton, a junior from Boise and a Gamma Phi, is new president of the Associated Women Students of the University of Idaho. Clara Armstrong, a junior from Forney Hall, was runner-up and will serve as AWS vice president.

Jo Hamilton To Head AWS

The Associated Women Students chose Jo Ella Hamilton, Gamma Phi Beta, Wednesday to head that organization for the 1955-56 school year. Clara Armstrong, Forney Hall the runner-up, was named vice-president.

Outgoing president Karen Hinkel was elected May Queen to preside over the traditional winding of the maypole on May 7. Carolyn Sanderson was named secretary and Dixie Kroush, page.

In the primary elections last week Jane Remsberg received enough votes to be named treasurer while Janet Campbell was named maid of honor.

The new officers will be installed next week at a special ceremony. The new president is a junior education major from Boise. She was freshman class treasurer and sophomore class secretary. Her opponent was Homecoming Queen this fall and Guardian Angel of the Air Force ROTC drill team last year.

Other candidates were Pauline Peterson, Marian Driscoll and Dorothy Larsen.

A dessert meeting of the AWS Council will be held Wednesday, March 30, to install the new officers and welcome new representatives to the council from all campus women's living groups.

ASUI Mystery Drama Runs Next Weekend

The ASUI play, "An Inspector Calls," will be presented next weekend at 8 p.m. in the University Auditorium. The three act drama will be presented April 1 and 2 by the University Dramatics department under director Edmund Chavez.

"An Inspector Calls" was written in 1945 as a period play with a 1912 setting, and has been presented in 12 languages. The play opened October 21, 1947, at the Booth Theatre in New York City.

Sir Cedric Hardwicke directed the production which starred Thomas Mitchell as the quietly forceful Inspector Goole. Melville Cooper and Doris Lloyd, whom American audiences had already lauded in such roles, portrayed the stuffy ex-Lord Mayor and his wife.

The author, John Boynton Priestley, an English novelist and playwright who has written voluminously on both great and small aspects of the British scene. Born in Bradford, England, in 1894, Priestley was an intellectual leader of the British middle class. He has traveled extensively throughout the United States.

His vituperative remarks about Broadway: "an angry carbuncle on the face of the city" ... "a thoroughfare in Hell" ... have enraged New York critics.

He admits a great affection for this country while freely criticizing it and claims to know more about American life, history and literature than most other British writers.

The play itself conveys the enormous skip in the thinking of two generations with capricious youth on the side of conscience and age on the side of convenience. In presenting this theme of the interlocking pattern of people's lives, Priestley demonstrates his genuine creative ability and the social conscience of modern Britons. New York critics declare that the plot has been "ably constructed with a good deal of ingenuity and a certain amount of sardonic humor." "The restraint of this play, the quiescence of the action, and the incredibility of its resolution exerts a strange fascination."

300 Attend Debate With London Duo On Monday Night

Approximately 300 people attended the debate held Monday night in the University Auditorium.

Dean Holt and Chuck McDevitt of Idaho met University of London debaters, Jennifer Copeman and Lester Borley. The question debated was whether the United States should extend diplomatic recognition to Communist China.

After the formal part of the debate was over, the question was thrown open for discussion from the audience. According to Chuck McDevitt, some very pointed questions regarding British and U.S. foreign policy were directed to the debaters.

Dr. Edward C. Moore, Chairman of Philosophy, mediated the debate and a reception was held after the debate in the home of Dr. A. E. Whitehead, debate coach.

"This debate was the most scintillating that I have ever heard," said Dr. Moore.

Card Tourney Teams Needed

"Calling all card sharks! Want to make a grand slam?" Teams are still needed to compete in the bridge playing tourney to be held in Conference room A of the SUB, Sunday, March 27, from 2 to 5 p.m. Six of the expected eighteen teams have signed up to compete so far.

They are Sid Curtis, Hays Hall, and John Collett, off campus. Dean Wendle and Stan Swanson, Sigma Nu; Keith Robinson and Phil Shafer, Sigma Nu; Don Atkinson, SAE, and Dick Newby, off campus; Wilma Schmidt and Susie Dolphin, Theta; and Ernie Bedke and Pete Swanson, SAE.

Any other teams who would like to enter the tournament are encouraged to contact Donna Shively, KAT house, before Sunday.

Officer Training Deadline April 20

Deadline for applications for the Marine Officer Training program to be held this summer at Quantico, Va., is April 20, according to Capt. William P. Heim, who is in charge of Marine officer procurement in the Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana area.

"Only college students whose scholastic average is 'C' or above will be accepted as Marine officer candidates," Captain Heim said.

College freshman, sophomores and juniors who are accepted will be enrolled in the Marine Platoon Leaders class and receive officer training during two six week training sessions during summer vacations from college. Seniors and recent graduates will become members of the Marine Officer Candidate course, consisting of one continuous 10-week training period.

Graduates of either program who have received their college degrees will be commissioned as second lieutenants in the Marine Corps Reserve.

The Marine corps officer procurement officer is located at 110 Union Street, Seattle, Washington.

Discontinuation of the term 'IQ' as a measure of the rate of mental development was advocated by Dr. Eugene Giles, professor of psychology in his address at the recent Western Regional conference on testing problems at Los Angeles, Calif.

Giles was one of three main speakers brought to the conference by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J. He spoke on "More Effective Use of Tests for Survey Purposes."

Giles suggested a term such as "Developmental Index" to replace the present IQ. "IQ is too severe to a child's selfconcept if it happens to be low—it destroys one's self confidence if it doesn't measure up to where it ought to be," he said.

"Developmental index would eliminate reference to a child's intelligence, while yielding an equally valid indication of rate of development," he pointed out.

Giles also recommended the development of a common scoring system for all types of tests. He called attention to the variety of scoring methods now in use, many of which are not comparable.

More than 250 delegates from universities and colleges in the western United States attended the conference.

Panels Today; Banquet Tonite

Highlight of the 1955 high school press conference is the banquet at 6 p.m. in the Main Ballroom of the SUB, where Dorothy Rochon Powers will be guest speaker.

Adelphian Choir To Give Concert Here March 29

The Adelphian Concert Choir from the College of Puget Sound, Tacoma, Washington will perform at the Methodist Church at 8 p.m. on March 29.

This choir is under the direction of Dr. Bruce Rodgers, head of the department of music there.

The choir is being brought here by the Methodist Church.

The versatile Adelphians sing one of the outstanding literatures written for unaccompanied chorus. The program consists of both secular and religious music and has something for almost every musical taste from the 18th century to the 20th century, from negro spirituals and the romantic composers to the rhythmic and rollicking songs of today.

Each spring the 35 to 37 Adelphians tour the west and northwest. This year, from March 24 to April 7, they will sing a total of 19 concerts in three western states: Washington, Idaho and Oregon.

Features with the Adelphians will be the Freshman String Quartet of the College of Puget Sound.

Dream Girl Candidates Announced

Delta Sigma Phi fraternity today announced a list of 20 women who have been nominated by living groups on campus for their "Dream Girl."

The winner will be crowned at the fraternity's annual Carnation Ball April 23.

Those nominated include: Janette Rawls, Betty Jo Roberts, Jane Lange, Vivian Vaagen, Patsy Rojan, Jean Boyd, Jilia Sabina, Janet Daigh, Carole Gudeman, Jane Bonham, Shirley Byrne, Marilyn Matthews.

Barbara Knight, Karen Brown, Jean Charbala, Lou Ann Olson, Nancy Ketchen, Sharon Choate, Joan Bliss, and Gale Harwarth.

Can you imagine having Hubert Suspenderhap light the green fuse to set off the fireworks, and as a last act, having Chuck McDevitt, Bob Bakes, and Jim Saad give a talk on "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party" (3—count them—3).

Can you imagine all this? Well, if you can, you have a much better imagination than the IFC, because they're not going to have any of this stuff. They will have a 7 piece orchestra from Spokane including a sax man who played with Tommy Dorsey. Tickets are only $1 per couple.

April 2—see you there.

'IQ' Term Ruins Faith In Oneself

Discontinuation of the term 'IQ' as a measure of the rate of mental development was advocated by Dr. Eugene Giles, professor of psychology in his address at the recent Western Regional conference on testing problems at Los Angeles, Calif.

Giles was one of three main speakers brought to the conference by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton, N.J. He spoke on "More Effective Use of Tests for Survey Purposes."

Giles also recommended the development of a common scoring system for all types of tests. He called attention to the variety of scoring methods now in use, many of which are not comparable.

More than 250 delegates from universities and colleges in the western United States attended the conference.

Imagine This? IFC Giveaway Of $300!

Can you imagine this? The IFC (composed of 14—count them—14 fraternities) is giving its annual spring formal April 2, 1955.

Can you imagine them giving away $300 in door prizes having Mr. Nat "King" Cole in person to play and sing for you, having the fabulous Evelyn West ($50,000—2—count them—2) for entertainment during intermission, having life size student skating rink in the South Ballroom (built with student dollars, $5,000—count them—$5,000).

Can you imagine having Hubert Suspenderhap light the green fuse to set off the fireworks, and as a last act, having Chuck McDevitt, Bob Bakes, and Jim Saad give a talk on "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of their party" (3—count them—3).

Can you imagine all this? Well, if you can, you have a much better imagination than the IFC, because they're not going to have any of this stuff. They will have a 7 piece orchestra from Spokane including a sax man who played with Tommy Dorsey. Tickets are only $1 per couple.

April 2—see you there.

Aggies To Choose A Reigning Queen

One of three girls—Judy Crookham, Gretchen Holmes and Barbara Tiegs—will be chosen queen at the Little International Kickoff Banquet April 21.

The queen and her two attendants will reign over the Little International agricultural show, April 25-30 when Ag majors will compete in fitting and showing, judging and skill contests during that week.

KUOI To Program Exec. Board Recap

Next week KUOI will broadcast the minutes from ASUI executive board meetings.

Chuck White, station director, will cover the meetings in his capacity as a nonvoting member and then at 5 p.m. the following afternoon he will run a commentary on the happenings of the board.

Fact Finding Basic In Journalism Courses

Knowing facts and knowing where to find facts are more important to the journalism students than writing techniques. Setting type and writing story leads are not the only requisites for a career in newspaper work.

Don't let this "Golden Fleece" head get the best of you. It all started with some Greek Mythology. A fellow named Jason took his ship, the Argo, and his crew, the Argonauts, and went hunting for the Golden Fleece. Back in 1938 an Arg editor by the name of William Ash decided to write a personal column on campus politics. The column survived the elections and continued to this day. During times when politics aren't in the news the column follows up different angles on the campus scene. There's one big thing about our Argonaut that we're mighty proud of—we're independent. The Argonaut is put out by students for students. Arg reporters don't receive any college credits for their work. They do, however, get some good experience both in writing and working on a team project. None of the Argonaut copy is censored by the faculty. In fact no faculty members read the copy before it goes to the printers. We, the students, pay for it and publish it—its our paper.

Anybody can get a job on the Argonaut. You can report, sell ads, work on the copy desk or help on the circulation staff. The top positions on the Argonaut carry a small salary and most of these jobs are held by journalism majors. But there is nothing in the rules that says you have to be a journalism student to edit this paper.

We can write editorials about any subject, even about the administration if we feel the need of it. Our first rule is: always be sure you have the facts and know what you are writing about. The Arg has followed this policy since it was born in 1898. So we guess the rule is a good one.

Well, that's about all the fleecing for this time. Have a good time around here—and we hope your name can be on our masthead next year.

Journalism Fraternity Promotes Free Press

Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, is a society for men engaged in journalism. It is dedicated to the highest ideals in journalism, and is comparable to those professional organizations serving the professions of medicine and law.

SDX was founded at DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., on April 17, 1909. It now has a worldwide membership of 20,000 men engaged in virtually every field of journalism.

The Idaho Chapter of Sigma Delta Chi was founded in 1948 by 11 undergraduate students. The activities of the Idaho Chapter have grown large and broad in scope.

These activities are designed to not only benefit the members but the campus, district and state as well. The local chapter meets regularly to discuss various aspects of the press and to hear talks by practicing journalists from the surrounding area. National SDX news writing and photography contests are entered by the local chapter. Various contests and awards are also provided for the state, college

Granville Price, chairman of Journalism at the University of Idaho, believes that the student must acquire a basic knowledge of the fields like economics, political science, history, languages and literature if he wants to be a successful newsmen.

The journalist has to know the mechanics of writing a news story. But he must know also how to get the facts and phrase them intelligibly, so that the reading public will recognize in his writing a background of competency and well-founded information.

The reporter must do "foot work" in digging up facts. Stories are not made by men who sit in offices answering telephones.

There are eighteen courses in journalism offered at this University. Many of them serve students in other departments who are not journalism majors. The journalism courses are listed in the University of Idaho Bulletin.

"Elements of Journalism" is an introduction to the principles of news writing, and a study of newspaper organization and methods. It is a two-semester course, listed as Journalism 81 and 82 in the bulletin.

"College Journalism" is a course in which the student is given the opportunity to examine critically the work done on university publications. This course is offered to upper classmen only.

Work On City Daily
A vital course for the journalism major is "Reporting." It includes practical training in news writing. The student is given general assignments and does "run" work for the Moscow daily newspaper.

"News Editing" teaches copy desk practice and headline writing. A course in advanced reporting is available to students who have satisfactorily completed basic work in journalism. It is concerned primarily with laboratory work on the local paper. The College of Business cooperates by offering a course in advertising, and radio and photography are taught by other specialists.

If a student wishes to specialize in a particular field of journalism, the following courses are offered: Magazine Article Writing, Vocational Journalism, Editorial Writing, Special Feature Writing, and School Newspaper Practice.

"My first responsibility as a journalism instructor is to teach college students the fundamentals of journalism. But I feel that due to my experience in the field of statistical work, I can teach students that would be invaluable to them," the professor said.

Dr. Price feels that support is needed from the University and from Idaho papers before his program can be made effective. He proposed his plan at the January meeting of the Idaho Press Association whose support he is seeking.

"The advantages of this project would be two-fold," said Dr. Price. "Not only would it teach journalists to have a broader knowledge of their field, but it would serve the state in bettering newspapers by increasing circulation and improving content and readership."

As a high school student, Dr. Price first demonstrated his "nose" for news by starting a newspaper in his home-town high school in Angleton, Texas. "We found a new use for the mimeograph machine in the back of my daddy's store," said the professor. He went to the University of Texas for four years after high school, and worked into the position of editor of the university's newspaper, The Daily Texan. ## Prexy's 'Hello'

A particular welcome to the University of Idaho is extended to you who are not merely interested in reading the news, but also in reporting it.

The conference you will attend here has a twofold purpose: To assist you with problems of the moment, and to increase your interest in journalism for the future. We hope that you will carry back with you both helpful and stimulating information. We also hope that you will enjoy your visit to Your University of Idaho campus, and will come again as students.

HS Journalists Arrive For Two Day Confab

High school journalists from towns as far away as Blackfoot are meeting here to compete for awards, exchange ideas and get a taste of college journalism.

The Idaho High School Press Association is holding its annual conference in the Student Union Building today and tomorrow under supervision of the journalism department headed by Dr. Granville Price. Over 250 visiting students will focus their work on the theme of better relationship between the school and the community.

Five plaques will be awarded to three outstanding newspaper and two winners of news writing contests. An outstanding editor will be chosen. Awards will be handed out tomorrow noon at the close of the conference.

Panel Discussions
This afternoon, members of the Argonaut staff will lead panels on news reporting, editorials, features and sports writing. A movie, "Making of Paper," will be shown in the Borah Theatre at the SUB at 2:30.

At the same time more discussion groups on newspaper advertising and school annuals will be led by the Argonaut and Gem of the Mountain staffs. The news writing contests will be held at 3:30 p.m.

The journalists will gather tonight at a banquet to hear Dorothy R. Powers, editor of the "Our Town" section of the Spokesman-Review. A talent show and informal dance is being sponsored by Moscow High School students, and transportation will be provided by the high school. All entertainment facilities of the Student Union Building are open to delegates.

Opening Address
This morning, the delegates were welcomed to the campus by Acting President D. R. Theophilus. Main speaker, John Corlett, political editor of the Idaho Statesman, Boise, gave an address on "Politicians and the Newsman." The theme of the conference, "Your School and Your Community," was voiced by L. J. Schroyer, advisor from Twin Falls and coordinator of the panel discussions.

Writing Contests
The editorial writing contest opens the conference again Saturday morning at 8:15. Group discussions of column writing and newspaper photography will follow. Newspapers from the schools will be criticized by the journalism majors at 10 a.m.

Delegates and advisors will meet at 11 a.m. to hear a summary of the conference by Schroyer and announcement of awards. At noon, the conference will be adjourned.

More than 30 high schools over the state have sent delegates to the journalism conference. Nearly one-fourth of the schools represented are from South and Southeast Idaho. Most of the delegates are from the central and northern part of the state, particularly the panhandle.

Schools represented are Nampa, Mullan, Orofino, Genesee, Wallace, Melba, Kendrick, Fruitland, Greencreek, Worley, Kooskia, Troy, New Plymouth, Potlatch, Kuna, Marsing, Reubens, Moscow, Grangeville, Cascade, Jerome, Bonners Ferry, Post Falls, Blackfoot, Lewiston, Twin Falls, Boise and Sandpoint.

Theta Sigma Is Girls' Honorary In Journalism

The greatest thrill to any girl majoring in journalism at the University come when she is tapped for Theta Sigma, the journalism honorary.

Theta Sigma is open to girls majoring in journalism that have maintained during their freshman and sophomore years a "B" average, and have kept a high scholastic rating in their other academic courses. The springtime "tappings" include the presentation of the day's Argonaut during the dinner hour with the eligible girl's name in a bold face headline telling of the honor she has won.

This organization works with Sigma Delta Chi the men's journalism honorary, to promote campus-wide activities sponsored by the department. The two groups worked together to assist with the high school journalism conference. Every year the girls sponsor a banquet, which they aptly call the "Matrix Table," to which many prominent citizens of the community and the University are invited. Theta Sigma has also entertained such outstanding alumnae of their group as Dorothy Thompson and Alice Maxwell.

At present the chapter is petitioning to the national council of Theta Sigma Phi for a charter and expects to receive membership this spring. The University of Idaho is proud to have Theta Sigma on its campus. The organization promises to be one of the highest aspirations of young women studying or working in the field of journalism.

Journalistic Invaders

Less Lecturing; More Field Work States Dr. Price

Less classroom lectures and more field work is the theme of the new Texan heading the journalism department.

Dr. Granville Price joined the Idaho University journalism department last September. He was formerly an associate professor of journalism at the University of Texas.

In his first year at Moscow, Dr. Price is planning to broaden the journalism curriculum by adding a program of newspaper research in connection with newspapers from the state of Idaho.

Under his proposed plan, Dr. Price's students would take surveying trips into the circulation areas of newspapers, gather data on readership, advertising and public opinion. Their reports would be given to the papers for their own use. These survey trips would be made both during the school year, and in the summer by advanced journalism majors.

"My first responsibility as a journalism instructor is to teach college students the fundamentals of journalism. But I feel that due to my experience in the field of statistical work, I can teach students that would be invaluable to them," the professor said.

Dr. Price feels that support is needed from the University and from Idaho papers before his program can be made effective. He proposed his plan at the January meeting of the Idaho Press Association whose support he is seeking.

Journalism Students To Judge HS Papers

Newspapers from forty-nine Idaho High Schools are competing for honors in the newspaper rating program, results of which will be announced at the ninth annual High School Journalism Conference this week end. The outstanding paper in each of three classes will be awarded a plaque.

Scoring of the papers was done by advanced University students in Editing and Reporting. In the event of close scores, the papers were rechecked by other journalism students under the supervision of Dr. Price, chairman of journalism.

The plaques are to be presented during the last meeting Saturday morning. The three newspapers donating the awards are the Twin Falls Times-News, Idaho Falls Post-Register and Lewiston Morning Tribune. Announcement of ratings will be made at the presentation ceremony. Schools unable to attend the conference will receive their individual score sheets including critique and certificate by mail.

School papers entered in the judging include:
CLASS 1, Letterpress Papers—Boise Highlights, Boise; Totem, Buhl; The Searchlight, Fielding; Student Press, Kellogg; The Bengal's Purr, Lewiston; MHS Viking, Middleton; Wocomoonian, Moscow; Nampa Growl, Nampa; Cedar Post, Sandpoint; The Bruin, Twin Falls.

'Gem' Yearbook Invites Frosh To Join Staff

Recording the memorable moments of the "best years of life"—college—is the goal of the Gem of the Mountains, student operated and financed yearbook.

The 1955 editor is Darlene Duffy, a senior who has been with the Gem staff since here freshman year. She broke in on the "organization" staff.

"Miss Duffy, like other Idaho freshmen, had the opportunity of working up through the staff, where a general background of the book's organization can be obtained. Freshmen each year are the backbone of the staff.

Sections of the book include school administration, social activities, living groups personnel, classes and sports, of which any energetic freshman with background in writing, photography or publications work, can break in to a good first-year position.

As the freshman progresses he or she can work into the editorship of one of the above sections and, further to an associated editorship or finally the editor.

The yearbook organization is financially sponsored completely through the Associated Students. Editor and associates receive payment for their year-around work. In addition to the editors of the various sections other positions are open each year. They include indexing individuals' pictures into a book index, secretarial staff, photographing of pictures, photography, section page artistry, and living group cartoons and "gags."

Jamie Steele Next
Dorothy Wahl, editor the first semester of this year and the second of the last, began as a photographer on the 1953 Gem and was advanced from that position in 1954 to associate editor and later editor. Miss Duffy was the assistant to the activities editor that year and advanced to activities editor and associate editor the following year.

Jamie Steel of Nampa, associate editor this year will try the editor's desk for size next school term. The Gem offers year-around activities in a nutshell and has carried out the "Vandal" tradition of student life that only students can describe as long as contemporary editors can remember. The 1956 Gem of the Mountains beckons new blood for its publication.

Education A Bargain At Idaho U.

The University of Idaho offers you the opportunity to increase your lifetime earnings from the $165,000 average of the high school graduate to the $265,000 average of the college graduate. Idaho does this at lower costs to you than you can find at any other major institution.

Fees at the University are lower than in any other major institution that you can find. As a resident of this state you can attend college here for a full year for from $565 to $740, and you do not have to pay and tuition fees. In addition there are many scholarships available which amount to more than $40,000 annually, according to Rafe Gibbs, director of information at the University.

More people realize this now than ever before. The continuing rise in college attendance and the increased demand for graduates proves it. The rising trend is expected to continue as a direct result of the increased birth rate in the country since the beginning of World War II. There are also a larger number of people becoming aware of the need for specialists and well-educated citizens in all fields.

Need Doubles
"The need for scientists and engineers is doubling every ten years," said Mr. Gibbs.

There is a rising interest in industry for students trained in liberal arts, for a broad background is desirable for persons seeking jobs today.

"The University of Idaho is making every effort to give specialized students training in liberal arts to meet this need. It has pioneered in providing for general courses in the arts and sciences so that students can get a general background in those fields as well as in their own major," said Mr. Gibbs.

Free counseling and guidance services are provided for every student who is having a hard time in making up his mind as to what field he likes best. There are nine schools and colleges to pick from, and many fields within these schools.

Recreation facilities on campus embrace a wide variation, extending from football to dancing. Intramural competition is available in almost every field of activity, and more than two-thirds of the student body take part in the intramural program. Speakers and entertainers are brought to the campus throughout the year, and the students stage many plays, concerts and dance programs, publish a newspaper and an annual, and have a campus radio station.

It's Your University

This is your state university! Everything here is available to you in the hope that you grasp the opportunity to use it. With more people going to college each year, it is almost necessary now for a person to go to college in order to compete with the average trends and for the average job opportunities.

The University of Idaho has a big interest in you and your state. By the same token the state need take a big interest in its university, because there is an enormous demand for educated people today. Nine colleges and schools are offered here, and from these you should have no trouble finding a field of your choice. Make it your choice, however. There lies one of the big advantages of the university. You will not have to specialize completely in any one field if you are not ready to until you have reached your junior year.

There is a definite emergency need now for a constant supply of leaders and well-educated citizens. With at least some of the countries on the other side of the Iron Curtain producing a forced quantity and quality of disciplined robot leaders, the United States is looked to more and more to produce an equal supply for the western countries.

This is where we of the younger generation come into the picture. Our American way of producing leaders and well-educated citizens is to let the private individuals make their own choices, prompted by their own initiative. This is the best way, for America produces the best leaders.

But if you as potential leaders and college students do not take advantage of the opportunities that are afforded you, there is a strong possibility that our country will lag behind the rest in the development of her resources. The answer is that the state has a definite need for its university, and you as up and coming college students should take advantage of the benefits that the school provides.

Many students come to school with the idea that they are not qualified to be here because they don't know exactly what they want to do. The university has an answer for this also. You can obtain a general course in the liberal arts. This general type of background is being recognized more and more today as a prime prerequisite for leaders in all fields, and it is a preparation for either professional or pre-professional training.

A college degree is not an automatic ticket to an executive's chair. Nor does it insure immediate high wages. However, the training of the mind that you receive while you are enrolled in the university will ready you to adapt yourself to any type or situation that you find yourself in. In this manner you have a decided advantage over the non-university graduate and will be able to advance more rapidly and to a higher level.

In the field of communications with which you are now affiliated there are whole new fields opening up. Journalists all over the world have contributed to the texts and knowledge which you can make use of. What it has taken lifetimes to form in the way of policy and experimentation, you can be exposed to in the course of four years.

No longer can a student enter the occupation without some previous training, because a communications man today is expected to be able to find, report, interpret and in some cases make news.

Year At Idaho Has Thrills For Newsman

"Umm, looks like a busy year," said the new Arg reporter as he picked up a copy of the futures book. "I'll be using a lot of shoe leather by the time I cover all these events!"

The young reporter was absolutely right, for the University offers to all eager students in journalism the opportunity to express themselves in the news through the many activities provided throughout the year.

The fall brings Homecoming weekend with its gala parade, football game and dance. The night before the game, the freshman coeds, dressed in pajamas, no less, gaily stream through the fraternity houses and dorms in a serpentine. Meanwhile, all the students rush to the center of the campus to raise flaring torches and bold banners foretelling another Vandal victory.

The rallying students, led by the pep band and cheer leaders, then flock to McLean field for a spectacular show of fireworks.

"What an event for a color story!" exclaims our young reporter.

Saturday morning finds the campus a workshop full of busy people adding last-minute touches to their floats to be entered in the parade. For blocks along the main streets of Moscow can be seen the artistically decorated floats, some bearing the homecoming theme to welcome back all the returning alumni. The football game is the highlight of the afternoon. Rain or shine thousands of students, parents and friends gather at Neale stadium to cheer on those "fighting Vandals."

The eager journalist's nose for gridiron news perks up. "Boy, wouldn't I love to be on sports desk?" he sighs.

To complete the thrilling weekend, a touch of romance and beauty must be added. Hence the Homecoming Dance. What fun to see all the lovely coeds adorned in the golden mums of the day, dancing with their favorite fellow. No need to worry about the curfew, either, Dean Carter has given women students 2 o'clock permission.

10-Mile Walk
Autumn, when of Mother Nature changes her dress, brings more thrills. Every year after the WSC-Idaho football game, there is a 10-mile walk to the winning school's campus by the Student Body president and the newspaper editor.

The new reporter chuckles as he remembers the pictures in Life Magazine of the forlorn Cougars having their weary feet washed with buckets of water.

The male population of the campus raise havoc with the girls as they sport their bushy beards to impress their Dads with their "manly appearances." The house laws are cleverly decorated with welcome signs for Dad, and prizes are given to the living group whose Dad came the longest way, and that group which had the largest number of "Pops" present for the occasion.

Winter brings to the campus natural areas for skiing, sledding and skating. Just before Christmas, the Sophomores celebrate "Holly Week" during which they all don colorful holly wreaths and choose a beautiful Holly Queen at their dance of the "Silver Bells."

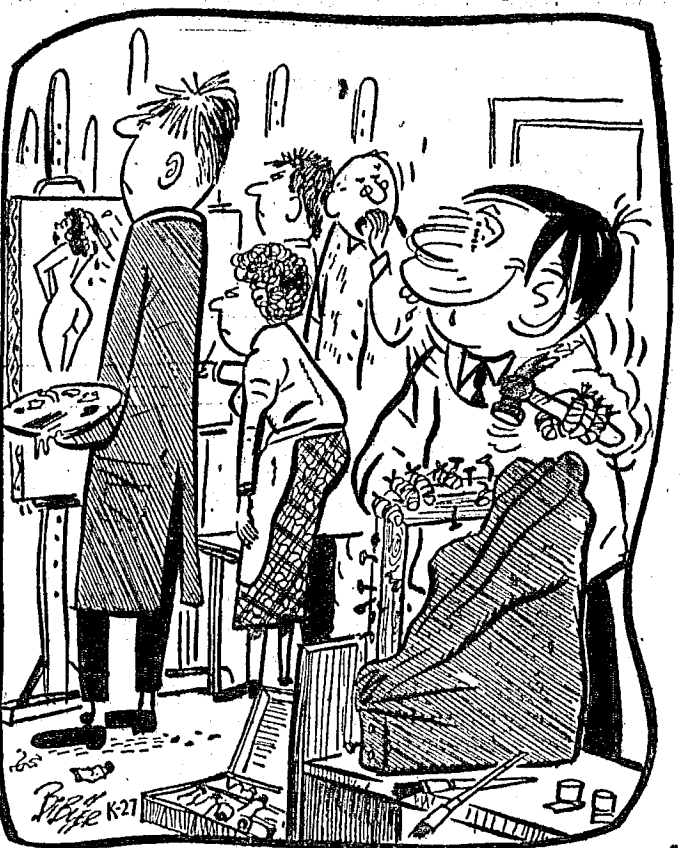

Spring sees the campus in full bloom as it celebrates the May Fete. The Spurs start the weekend off with a "bang" as they awaken their new pledges at dawn for their tapping. The twenty-five new pledges then are given a real western spur to wear and are treated to breakfast. Saturday afternoon finds the campus gathered amidst the greenery of the Ad lawn to see the May Queen and her court presented, the Spurs wind th streamers around the Maypole, the honoraries tap new pledges, and the recessional of a snappy military guard. The all-campus Song Fest is held Sunday afternoon, with trophies given to the best men and women's chorus.

"And besides all this," beams the new recruit, "the editor has listed all kinds of plays, concerts, art exhibits, lectures, and meetings to be covered. Say, this will be some year!"

A bit reluctantly the boy closes the future's book and with dreamy eyes looks ahead to the inspiring year.

An Idaho business professor injects an important segment into a journalism student's education with his course in the Principles of Advertising. He's Charles E. Marshall, associate professor of marketing.

Before coming to Idaho, Marshall taught advertising at Idaho State College, served as advertising manager for the Crescent Department Store in Spokane and was advertising manager for the G. Herring PTY. Ltd., manufacturing concern in Sidney, Australia.

Contests Are Today

Contests for high school students in the writing of news stories and editorials will be a part of the Journalism Conference here this year.

This is the first time such contests have been offered. Each high school may select a representative to compete in each contest, or the same person may compete in both contests.

The newswriting contest will be held Friday afternoon, March 25, at 3:30, and the editorial contest on Saturday morning, March 26 at 8:15. Both will be in University Classroom Building 101 on Line Street.

Winners of the contests will be announced Saturday morning in the final session. Plaques for the winners of the two contests are being presented by the Daily Idahoian of Moscow.

Here's More About— Argonaut Is

Today's Jasons attempt to include humor, campus sidelights and personal views of student affairs.

As the present day Jason, Fred Williams, has stated, "the Arg is self operating and has been the past 55 years. We in the Argonaut this year seek to give the students entertainment through our features, news of campus interest through editorials, and a chance to express their grievances through letters to Jason."

Exes Are Prominent

In the spring of 1949 the Idaho Argonaut had completed fifty years of continued service to its readers. The story of the Argonaut, wrote one editor, "is a story of growth and progress. The paper was born during one war and has lived through two more. More than sixty "Jasons" have guided the Argonaut through five decades of publication and over a thousands students have served on its staff. The Idaho Arg is the oldest student publication in continuous service to the Inland Empire.

Former Arg staff members have advanced in the professional journalism field of today. They include staff members of the Lewiston Morning Tribune, Lewiston, Idaho—William F. Johnston, editor; Mel Snow, sports editor; Ladd Hamilton, special reporter, and Don Rice, wire service editor. Spokane Daily Chronicle—Al Dieffenbach (1954 Arg editor)—Regional news desk. Allen Derr, editor of the Tau Kappa Epsilon, national fraternity magazine.

Map Is Mounted For Journalists

The Northwest is now at the fingertips of the journalism classes. Mounted on the north end of the class room is an oversized aerial survey map showing rivers and cities.

Dr. Price hopes that by marking building sites for river projects, present and future, with colored pins, the students may more easily keep abreast of news of the ever-changing water conservation program.

The map was constructed by the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey.

Readership Being Polled

A campus-wide survey measuring the readership of the Argonaut is being conducted by the journalism class this semester.

The survey is a project of the Newspaper Promotion and Advertising class. Its purpose is to give advertisers and other patrons wishing information a complete picture of just what they are getting for their money, as well as to inform editors of reader response to the product.

A scientific sample of the campus was picked from the Kampus Key by choosing every tenth name on the list. Part of this sample, including one tenth of the students, faculty and staff, is being contacted after each issue of the Argonaut and then interviewed in the journalism office during the two days immediately following the issue to be surveyed. So far the results have been satisfying and will be of practical use to the class as an experience in human relations and journalism as

Idaho-Utah News Research Program To Be Conducted

A research study of news usage on the Idaho-Utah Associated Press wire will be conducted this spring by the University of Idaho Journalism Department. Dr. Granville Price, chairman, will be assisted by advanced students in the project.

The group will record what newspapers in the two states used and what they omitted from the news sent over the AP wire for three days. The study is designed to serve both editors of the papers and the AP bureau in Salt Lake City in making full use of the wire, and it is done as a service to the Associated Press Managing Editors Association. Louis Boas of Moscow heads the APME committee on the project.

Plans are underway for the initiation dance which will be held April 1 with Janet Harding as chairman.

PHI DELTA THETA

Guests last week were Dave Swinehart, Nell Brophy, and Art Hedlund, Spokane; Mr. and Mrs. Hoff, Caldwell; Buzz Hoff, Stanford; Mrs. Longworth, Spokane; Mrs. Hollingsworth, Twin Falls; Bob Gibb, director of Athletics, was a Wednesday dinner guest.

Approximately forty couples attended the formal dinner-dance at the Ad Club last Saturday night. Following a steak dinner, the couples danced to the music of Rod Burton and his orchestra. Chaperones were Dr. Church, Mrs. Montgomery, and Professor Leiter.

Founder's Day was observed Sunday when the alumni from Moscow were entertained at a chicken dinner. Morrie O'Donnell, Moscow attorney, gave a short talk following the dinner. Other guests were Dr. Ralph Alley, Marsh Bue, Dr. Church, Jim David, Bob Driscoll, Jim Driscoll, Professor Sherman, and "Blackie" Brown.

PI BETA PHI

The weatherman didn't agree with the Spring Serenade theme, but the formal initiation dance was enjoyed just the same. Kay McLaren of Spokane was a guest.

Recent visitors from the University of Washington were Larry Knight and Ken Armstrong. Helen West is now in California bidding farewell to "Sammy Weitz, Phi Delt of '54, who is leaving for Europe.

SIGMA CHI

The engagement of Ken Dick to Mavis Ester was recently announced, so the Sigs honored Mavis with a serenade at the Gamma Phi house where she was visiting.

Pete Gerphekie wishes to offer his most heartfelt thanks to the Thetas, and especially Marilyn Stewart, for a most enjoyable evening at the Kappa Alpha Theta Brother-Son banquet.

An enjoyable exchange was held with the Pi Phi's Wednesday evening. Don Duggan and Sandy Nauda put on a good jitterbugging exhibition when somebody put on a record of Gene Krupa doing a hot drum solo.

FORNEY HALL

Beth Sims, LuAnn Jones, Twinkle Lister and Arlene Hyde have been guests at the infirmary this week.

Decorations are being prepared for the "Pajama Game" dance to be held this Friday. Maxine Parks and Gertie Carder will provide the entertainment.

OR HOW TO BE INDEPENDENT AT 46 ON A $350 INVESTMENT

"WHENEVER I hear anyone claiming that big business is bad for small business, I think of my own case.

"Back in 1932 I leased this Union Oil service station in Venice, California, with $350 my wife and I had saved the hard way. Now at 46 I'm financially independent. But I'd never have made it so soon without the Union Oil Company.

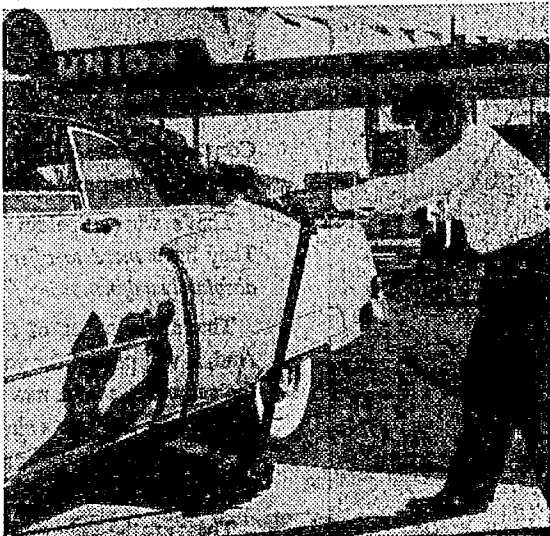

"They taught me how to buy. How to sell. How to service. Even how to hire and train help, and keep my books.

"They'd spend thousands of dollars perfecting new service ideas, then pass 'em on to me for nothing.

"Best of all, people practically took Union's gasoline and motor oil away from me. They were always the finest in the West.

"Well, business was so good I had the station paid for by 1939. Then I started buying real estate around it. Today my net worth's in the six figures. The children are through college and on their own. Marjorie and I are going to travel while we're still young enough to enjoy it. But believe me—I'd never have done half so well if I hadn't been in business with big business!"

Henry McNeil, it seems to us, is the kind of man who would have succeeded with or without our help. But his point is well taken. Big business does help small business.

Union Oil is a typical example. We're the 45th largest manufacturing company in the country, with over $350,000,000 volume in 1954.

But of this $350,000,000, the lion's share—or 75%—is spent with the more than 15,000 small businesses and individuals like Henry McNeil with whom we do business.

Bobcats Stop Idaho In Baseball Opener

A smoother working Montana State Collolege baseball team jumped on Idaho's erratic pitching and fielding to post a 6-3 win at Lewiston Wednesday in the season opener for both teams.

Vandals Face Whitman In Twinbill

Coach Clem Parbery's green baseball Vandals will go after their first victory of the young season tomorrow at 1:30 when they tangle in a twin bill at Walla Walla with the Whitman College Missionaries. About twenty players will leave at 8 a.m. and return following the ball game.

Parbery has named Aubrey Stephens to open on the hill for the Vandals in the opener but is undecided about his second game choice. The head coach intends to use the same starting lineup that lost a 6-3 decision to Montana Wednesday at Lewiston? This team includes, in batting order: Bob Falash, center field; Reggie Frazier, left field; Flip Kieffner, third base; John Sullivan, second base; Joe Luthrop, right field; Jim Howard, catcher; Frank Teverbaugh, first base; Stephens, pitcher.

Parbery stated that the Montana loss showed that the squad will have to come along fast as the season progresses if they are to keep pace with the teams they will be facing. Unseasonably cold weather has forced the baseball prospects in the field house and allowed sore muscles little chance to loosen up, the coach said.—S.S.

RILEY GETS COACHING JOB

Bud Riley, a former football star at Idaho, has been named head football coach at Wallace High School succeeding Bob Hilliard. Riley played fullback and halfback here under Dixie Howell. The Thomases from 9:30 p.m. to cadnet meeting will be held this week is exactly right. They ask you such foolish without intelligence.

Both the Vandals and Bobcats were afflicted in early season with lack of opportunities to work out of doors due to the unseasonal weather.

The Vandals used four hurlers and the four gave up but one earned run as teammates committed five fielding miscues.

Bobcats hurlers Walling, Weiter and Brown limited Idaho sticklers to five hits, the longest a double by John Sullivan, shortstop.

Dick Dodel, who started and gave up but a single hit, got the loss and the Bobcat starter Weiter was the winner.

The visitors came up with three two-run splurges, and only the run off Dodel, as he walked a pair of batters, was earned.

Coach Clem Parbery substituted freely into his lineup as the game was his first opportunity to see his workers play under pressure.

Other hurlers to follow Dodel

Three Vets Back For '55 Golf Team

The Vandal golfers, after piling up an impressive Northern Division record last year with 2 wins, 2 losses and one tie, has three returning lettermen, Bob Campbell, Dave Powell, and Tom Miller to carry the main load in competition this year.

The squad will open competition on April 3 at the Clarkston Invitation meet as a pre-conference game. The season schedule includes:

- Apr. 23 WSC at Pullman
- Apr. 28 Seattle U at Seattle
- Apr. 29 Washington U. at Seattle
- May 6 Oregon U. at Moscow
- May 7 OSC at Moscow
- May 10 WSC at Moscow
- May 14 Inland Empire Collegiate Meet

May 21 Northern Division Playoffs. No practice has been held as yet at Moscow this year due to weather conditions. About 10 prospective golfers have been working at Lewiston as much as possible to practice this spring, according to Dick Snyder, golf coach.—D. E.

were Tom Vopat, who went an inning without trouble, Rog Ranta and Dominick Pollio, who went the last three, fanning three.

Vandal rallies were killed in the late stages of the game as Jess Walling the final Montana hurler, bore down in the clinches to retire the Vandals, once with two out and the bases loaded.

1955 Northern Division Champs

Prospects Bright For '56 Ski Team As Five Due Back

The entire Vandal ski team which captured the Northwest Intercollegiate Ski Championship this year will be eligible to return when the first snow of fall comes and Coach Ron Byers bids first call to his slat riders, five of them.

The smallest team on record ever to cop the Northwest championship, five will return and with them will come another top prospect in Tore Kristofferson. Kristofferson is still on the doubtful list as an injury which kept him out of competition this year is still an uncertainty.

will be Errik Berggren, national Nordic champion, and Reidar Ulevalseter, who took eighth in the cross country, seventh in the jumping and fifth in the four way meet at the national meet.

Also back to bolster the squad will be Helge Gagnum, Byron Ringheim, and John Harrington. All but Harrington are transfer students from Norway.

A young bride of three months complained to her relatives about her husband's continued drinking habits.

"If you knew he drank, why did you marry him?" she was asked. "I didn't know he drank," the girl replied, "until one night he came home sober!"

Boxers To Give Fight Exhibit

Five University of Idaho students last week entered in the annual AAU Boxing tournament at Spokane. Those competing were Jack Talbot, Dick Jackson, Ron Titus, Ron Tan, and Ralph Wadsworth, and were sponsored by the Lewiston Elks lodge.

These boys along with a few recruits from the University will give exhibition matches on Thursday night in Lewiston at the Elks lodge.

Four B Clubs Advance To Basketball Finals

Approximately six days of play remain in 'B' basketball as the playoffs moved into full swing the past week. One hundred points will be awarded to the winning team, as 'B' ball is classified an only a minor sport.

Four teams still remain in the running for the championship as a result of matches played Tuesday and Wednesday.

In Tuesday night's games Kappa Sigma 1, league 1 champs, defeated Idaho Club 1, champs of league 2, 24 to 11 and the winner of league 8, Sigma Nu 3, downed Campus Club 2, league 4 winners, 19 to 10. Kappa Sigs had little trouble in disposing of the Idaho Club as Jim Bryua scored 13 points to pace the winners attack. Howard Willis was high scorer in the Sigma Nu win over Campus Club scoring 8 of his team's 19 points. K Sigs and Sigma Nu will now meet for the right to enter the finals against the winner of leagues 5, 6, 7 and 8.

Alpha Tau Omega squeezed out a 17 to 16 decision over Tau Kappa Epsilon to gain the right to enter the semi-finals against Phi Delta Theta 4. The win was the ATO's seventh in a row as they captured the league 7 title without suffering a defeat.

The Phi Deltas also won their seventh straight game Wednesday as they trounced Delta Tau Delta, the league 6 champs, 30 to 16.

Roger Randolph, with 12 points, was again high point man for the Phi Deltas who handed the Deltas their first defeat after winning five straight regular league games.

Five other Phi Delt teams scored wins this week in the Phis bid to make a clean sweep of basketball this year, as they previously captured the 'A' title.
