CAMPUS REORGANIZES FOR NEW YEAR

Homecoming Activity Nears

The University of Idaho and Lewiston have combined forces for a three day celebration, October 7, 8 and 9, to celebrate Homecoming and the Lewis and Clark exploration of Idaho. The first two days will be celebrated at Lewiston, and then festivities move to Moscow to celebrate Homecoming. Dignitaries from Lewiston, including Bernard De Voto, will come to Moscow to join in the celebration.

The campus is back in the swing of things and so are the freshmen and their usual outbursts of childishness.

The Theta's front porch is adorned with an object from out of the past complete with the crescent moon above the door. Someone must be picking on those gals, because the night before they had all their living room furniture stacked in a pile in the middle of the living room. Seems the culprits gained entrance through the housemother's room.

Early Thursday morning some other characters decided to park a car on the Kappa lawn and another machine was parked in the Pi Phi's shrubbery.

What it all adds up to is a lot of tom-foolery that has no business on the University of Idaho campus where adults allegedly reside. The Office of Student Affairs has brought the matter up with the Interfraternity Council in an appeal to the various living groups to control themselves. If the fraternities can't discipline themselves, the hill indicates a more severe action will be taken.

How about it frats? Is it going to be trophy stealing or vandalism?

With the coming of student insurance, the Argonaut is initiating a safe driving campaign. A couple of editorials on page two and a letter to Dear Jason tells the story. We had two killed and five people in the hospital last spring. As far as this staff is concerned, that is enough accident stories to write for awhile.

"Pick up your own dishes," screamed Jim Bowby, Bucket manager the other day. Seems students are forgetting that they have an obligation to fill in cleaning up their own mess.

Bowby assures us, service will be a lot better this year if students do their part.

From The ASUI

On behalf of the Associated Students, YOUR organization, I would like to welcome the new students through this your paper to the University of Idaho and your campus.

The realization that all of these belong to you and to your families should aid you in promoting them and in more fully enjoying your future years at Idaho. Chuck McDevitt ASUI President

Lewis and Clark Exploration has been chosen as the theme for Moscow's Homecoming parade with floats from the University of Idaho to be entered in both the Lewiston and Moscow processions. Floats will be judged on how closely they follow the theme.

Candidates Named
Women's living groups chose candidates for Homecoming queen this year. The candidates are: Janet Campbell, Alpha Chi Omega; Shirley Byrne, Gamma Phi Beta; Shirley Blick, Alpha Phi; Ann Popma, Tri-Delt; Sally (Gus) Ghiglieri, Delta Gamma; Shirley Henry, Kappa Alpha Theta; Susie Oberg, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Margaret Costello, Pi Beta Phi; Mary Lin Meek, Forney; Donna Hansen, Steele House; Lois Judd, French House; Jan Avery, Hays Hall.

These candidates will be voted on by male students in a preliminary election at noon, September 29, to choose five finalists. The final election will be held at noon, October 6, to choose the queen.

All men affiliated with a living group on campus vote in that living group when ballots are distributed. Ballots will be given to only those who are present when voting occurs. Male students living off campus, not affiliated with a living group on campus, vote in the ASUI office during the noon hour, not later than 1 p.m. Male students living in Vet villages will vote in the managers' offices during the noon hour.

Schedule
The schedule of events to take place from now to Homecoming are:

Sept. 22 Girls' living groups submit their candidates for queen.

Sept. 29 Election to choose five finalists for queen.

Sept. 30 to Oct. 5 Queen candidates visit men's living groups.

Oct. 7 The Arg will carry the full story and picture of the Homecoming queen.

Pre-Homecoming rally in the evening with pajama parade and fireworks display followed by a pep rally at McLean Field.

Oct. 8 Homecoming Parade, Game, Open House and Dance.

The fireworks display will be the largest fireworks show ever seen at Idaho, commented Homecoming Chairman Kenny Wright. He also said it looks like the second largest homecoming parade in the Northwest is in the offing. He went on to say that there would be no kick-off dance this year so that students will be able to work on their homecoming floats and Homecoming.

There will be no competition between houses for Homecoming decorations, but Wright asked that (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Gem Distribution Takes Place Mon.

The 1955 Gem of the Mountains will be issued Monday, Sept. 26, with about 3000 copies to be issued. A few new ideas have been added to the book this year, like a series of 65 Mr. Magoo cartoons that are connected to the activities on their respective pages. Also, a new color process called Duotone has been used on many of the campus queen pictures. The different sections are divided by yellow division sheets, and the color of the cover of the book is brown and white.

Students who enrolled at the University of Idaho during the mid-semester will be able to obtain a book if they bring $2.50 with them to the Gem office, and proof of their previous semesters enrollment.

Hmmm... Who's First?

A typical scramble involving freshmen and faculty members during the big push to be "first" on the opening day of registration. Here Clifford Dobler calmly licked his thumb before he hollered down the aisle: "Line up or we'll be here all day."

Insurance To Protect U. Students

As of September 12, every student who has registered for classes at the University of Idaho is covered by a $3000 accident insurance policy for the first time, said Ken Dick, Bursar, in explaining how the student policy works.

Acting upon a request from a majority of the students in the ASUI, determined by ballot last spring, the University obtained a group policy with the United Pacific Insurance Co. of Tacoma, Wash. at the rate of $1.50 a semester. The policy covers medical expense, accidental death and dismemberment insurance and will pay all expenses occurring from an accident up to $3000 after the first $100 of expenses are deducted.

The policy covers all regular full-time students, undergraduate and graduate, taking more than six credits per semester during the period beginning 10 days prior to the first day of official registration for any semester, providing the student has arrived in Moscow. The coverage ends five days after the last day of final examinations for all students for each semester.

Must Report

Dick pointed out that for a student to be eligible for benefits under the policy there are certain things that he must do. The accident victim must file a report of the accident within 30 days following the mishap. Dick emphasized the fact that the University will not enter into any claims. "It is a relationship between the student and the insurance company."

If a student withdraws during the semester, his insurance coverage continues for the balance of the term.

Dismemberment

In connection with any accident, if a student suffers the loss of life, $1000 will be paid to the next of kin. One thousand dollars will be awarded for the loss of both hands, feet or sight of both eyes. If a student suffers the loss of one hand, foot or the sight of one eye, he receives $500.

In case of an accident, students should report the mishap immediately to the Office of Student Affairs and obtain the proper claim forms there for presentation of claim. Students may also obtain assistance from Weisel Insurance Agency, 512 S. Main in Moscow.

ASUI To Present "Don Juan In Hell"

Four of the top names in show business will appear in person at the University of Idaho's Memorial gymnasium October 3 at 8 p.m. to present George Bernard Shaw's masterpiece, "Don Juan in Hell."

Starring in the production are Edward Arnold, Ricardo Montalban, Mary Astor, and Reginald Denny. Directed by Agnes Moorehead, the play has been acclaimed internationally for its humor and satiric dialog.

Harking back to the days of the Elizabethan theatre when settings were mental rather than architectural, "Don Juan in Hell" is presented on a bare stage so that there is complete communication between the players and audience.

Play Within Play

Actually a play within a play, taken from Shaw's masterpiece, "Man and Superman," the entire play has seldom been performed, since it runs a course well over five hours in duration.

Performed in two "acts," Man—and the Idea of Hell being the first act and Woman—and her Idea of Life, the name of the second, the play is a philosophical debate with the devil concerning man and his need to evolve into a better being. It is the dream sequence from the third act of "Man and Superman."

Set in the depths of Hell itself, the production contains Shaw's biting comments on man and woman, and their relationship to each other. The piece describes the meeting of Don Juan with his once mortal love, and with the devil himself.

Eddy Arnold

Freshmen To Receive Instruction

The second of three days of registration begins today in the "New Student Days" program, under the direction of Guy P. Wicks, associate director of student affairs for men.

The schedule yet to be completed in the two week program includes: Saturday—registration continued 8:00 to 4:30 p.m.; Sunday—11 a.m. services in all churches, and open house by the various religious groups and clubs, 2:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Assembly

Monday's schedule is the beginning of the first class at 8 a.m. and an assembly of campus organizations, activities, and honoraries at 7 to 8:30 p.m., explaining what the organization is and what it does—how to get in, etc. The assembly will be held in the Auditorium, Ad. 102.

Tuesday, Sept. 27, is Church night and Wednesday, the 28th, is a "Study and Traditions" assembly in the Ag. Science auditorium at 7 to 8 p.m. Thursday has a continuation of the assembly at the same place and time.

An annual "Stag or Drag" mixer in the SUB ballroom for all students from 9 to 12 p.m. is on the agenda for Friday, the concluding day of "New Student Days." The dance is no date and informal.

Committeemen

Associate chairmen of the two-week program are Maurice Johnson and Karen Lee Krauss. General secretary is Marilyn Stewart. Chairmen of various committees include: Paul Duffy, publicity; Brent Thomson, men's assembly; Linda Williams, women's assembly; Judith Archibald, study and traditions assembly; and Robert Schreiber, organizations assembly.

Gertrude Carder heads the buttons committee. and Lon Davis takes the calendar committee. Judith Crookham, mixer chairman; Art Misner, information; Claude Hanson, facilities; and Sharrol Bartlett, president's convocation, completes the roster of committee chairmen.

Tryout Scheduled For First Play

Tryouts for the first ASUI drama production of the year, "My Sister Eileen," will be held in the Ad Auditorium, Monday and Tuesday evenings at 7 p.m.

1050 Register On First Day

With the first contingent of about 1,050 students registered Thursday, the University of Idaho looked forward today to a total fall enrollment of approximately 3,400 students.

Registration got into high gear Thursday afternoon with about 200 going through per hour. It will be speeded further Friday and Saturday morning. The final count on enrollment this fall cannot be expected for several weeks when all graduate students and late registrants are in, but Registrar D. D. DuSault said he anticipated about a 5 per cent increase over last year. Last fall's total enrollment was 3,246.

Reporting on graduate students, Dean L. C. Cady of the graduate school, said that he noted an increase in advanced students from distant parts of the nation. Confering with the dean Thursday were graduate students from such scattered areas as Texas, Ohio and New York.

Chest X-ray

This year something new was added to the registration procedure. Required for all old students before registering is a chest X-ray. New students get their check-up from private physicians in the required physical examination before entering the University.

X-rays at the University are being taken with the state's mobile unit, which is parked in front of the Memorial gymnasium. Students heading for the gymnasium to register simply detour through the mobile unit. The X-rays, which are to be given to old students annually at registration, provide a yearly check-up for the protection of student health.

No Cards

Another novelty is the absence of the numbered cards for admittance to the Book Store; this year is not being used this year because of the number of students planning to go to the football game in Boise Saturday. The students are allowed to go into the Book Store at any time during the morning and afternoon periods that it is open.

Chester Kerr, Book Store manager, said that it worked well on Thursday, and that there had not been a waiting line at any time. If it continues to work, the old system of numbered cards may be omitted during future registrations also.

The doors to the Gym will close at 11 a.m. Saturday to allow the officials time to finish registering those inside by noon. The registration number schedule until that time is listed.

Pep Band Spots Now Open To All

As part of an extensive revitalizing of the University of Idaho Pep Band this year, membership in the organization has been thrown open to all interested students who are willing to try out, ASUI President Chuck McDevitt said today.

According to a previous interpretation of rulings, only students that belonged to other University musical groups were eligible to try out.

McDevitt said tryouts will be held Wednesday from 7 to 9 p.m. in room 216 of the Music building. Thirty positions are open.

Theophilus Addresses Convocation

"It is not sufficient for our citizenry to possess skills and techniques, to have a mastery of technology and yet be unaware of the basic moral concepts which make life worth living," Dr. D. R. Theophilus, president of the University of Idaho, told new students at a Sunday night convocation marking the opening of school.

Pointing out that the University is under constitutional mandate to keep itself altogether free from partisan politics and sectarian religion, the president added:

"This enforced neutrality has never been interpreted by the Regents as an excuse for the University to deny its responsibility for maintaining those religious values which have traditionally moved men and women to attain the better things of life."

"The University of Idaho must not and can not become the proponent of any religious sect or belief. Supported by all, it must be scrupulously fair to all. But equally it must not fail to stimulate students to be receptive to the moral and spiritual issues of life."

In explaining that the University of Idaho is a land-grant institution, Dr. Theophilus paid tribute to the land-grant college movement, which originated in 1862 with adoption by Congress of the First Morrill Act.

From The U.

Welcome, students, to the University of Idaho.

Two representatives of the United States Bureau of Census recently made a report to the American Sociological society stating that the average college graduate can expect to receive about $100,000 more during his most productive years than a high school graduate. This is one reason for your being at the University of Idaho, but I hope there is at least one more reason: to become a better citizen—a thinking citizen who will be a real asset to his country.

I hope, too, that you will get pleasure as well as profit from your university education. Here it is that you begin to look primarily to the future. But it is good in the future years to be able to look back upon a pleasant college life.

The University of Idaho has long been known as a friendly school, and we of faculty and staff hope that you will count us among your friends.

D. R. Theophilus President University of Idaho

Obey Signs Of Life—Live

"The cemetery is full of drivers who had the right of way!" Traffic signs are provided for the protection of drivers and pedestrians. Yet drivers and walkers constantly disregard these safeguards—frequently throwing away their own lives in the process. This is a matter of record. Statistics show that in most traffic accidents there is some violation of the law or of safe driving or walking rules.

Observance of the signs of life and the laws and common sense rules they represent could save many of these lives. And common sense should take a driver or walker beyond the mere observance of the letter of the law.

You can be killed driving across an intersection on a through street if a driver on the intersecting street doesn't realize you have the right of way. Similarly, you can be struck down crossing the street on foot even though you have the green light. In either case it will be small comfort to you or your relatives that the law was on your side.

Safe walking or driving for any individual should include observance of the following rules, maintains the Traffic Safety Director Harold Davis:

1. Know the signs of life by their shapes so you can recognize them on sight. Obey them meticulously.
2. Be willing to yield your legal rights whenever necessary to prevent a traffic accident.

Let's Stay Alive This Year

Practically every student looks forward to Friday because to most of us it means that another weekend has arrived. The weekend is a time for pleasure and relaxation. There's that tennis game we had planned, a picnic with your gal, perhaps a golf game with your roommate, and of course the weekend football games.

It's time for going to church, fixing things around the house, cleaning out your room, and watching television.

The weekends are all of those things—except on the highways. In 1954, 13,980 persons were killed and 678,000 were injured in weekend accidents, according to figures compiled and released. Thirty-nine per cent of the deaths and 85 per cent of the injuries were recorded on Saturdays and Sundays in 1954.

The most dangerous day of the week for driving is Saturday. One good reason is that more cars are traveling the highways on Saturdays than on any other day. Last spring, seven University of Idaho students were involved in automobile accidents in one weekend. Two died and the other five were hospitalized for considerable lengths of time. There is another important feature which sets this day apart from the others. For too many people, Saturday night is a time when drinking and driving are combined.

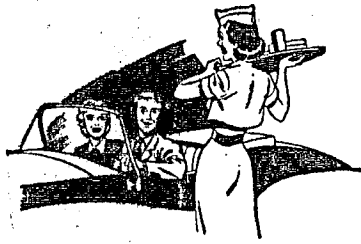

No one knows how many traffic accidents are caused by drinking drivers, but everyone knows it is a major problem. For example, walk into your traffic courts any day and you will find them crowded with persons who were involved in serious accidents as a result of drinking. Everyone needs to know that even one drink before driving is too many. We saw an advertisement the other day which said: "If You Drive—Don't Drink . . . If You Drink—Don't Drive." This sounds like very simple advice, but it makes a great deal of sense.

Weekends should indeed be happy ones for everyone. Let's try to make it that way. Will you?

Dear Jason

Dear Jason:

We would like to express our sincere gratitude to the 1954-55 student body for what they did for us last spring. This, to us, typifies the kind of school spirit that Idaho always has in achieving its common ends.

It is truly a privilege to be a part of a student body such as we had last year and will continue to have through the years. Especially, we thank our sorority sisters and fraternity brothers for all the cards, flowers, and consideration they had for us.

ASUI Executive Board, Argonaut, thank you too . . . THANKS BIG "T".

ONCE MORE UNTO THE BREACH

Today I begin my second year of writing this column for Philip Morris Cigarettes. Once every week during the coming school year I will take up, without fear or favor, issues that inflame the minds and quicken the hearts of college students everywhere. I will grapple with such knotty questions as: "Is compulsory attendance the reflection of an insecure faculty?" and "Is the unmarried student obsolete?" and "Are room-mates sanitary?"

While each week I make a bold assault upon these burning issues, I will also attempt to beguile you into smoking Philip Morris Cigarettes. Into each column I will craftily weave some words in praise of Philip Morris. I will extol, obliquely, the benign mildness of Philip Morris's well-born tobacco, its soothing fragrance, its tonic freshness, its docile temperateness, its oh-so-welcome gentleness in this spiky and abrasive world of ours.

For saying these kind things about their cigarettes, the Philip Morris Company will pay me money. This is the American Way. This is Democracy. This is Enlightened Self Interest. This is the System that Made Our Country Great, and anybody who doesn't like it is MALADJUSTED.

Perhaps it would be well in this first column of the year to tell you a little about myself. I am 36 years of age, but still remarkably active. I am squat, moon-faced, have all my teeth, and am fond of folk dancing and Lotto. My hobby is collecting mulligan.

I first took up writing because I was too short to steal Barefoot Boy With Check was my maiden effort, and today, fourteen years later, I continue to write about college students. This is called "arrested development."

But I can't help it. Though I am now in the winter of my life, the problems of undergraduates still seem to me as pressing as ever. How to pursue a blazing romance with exams coming up next Friday in physics, history and French; how to convince your stingy father that life is a bitter mockery without a yellow convertible; how to subsist on dormitory food—these remain the topics that roil my sluggish blood.

And in this column from now until next June you will read of such things: of dating and pinning, of fraternities and sororities and independents, of cutting and cramming, of athletes and average-raisers, of extra- and intra-curriculum, of textbooks and those who write them and those who sell them and those who read them and those who don't.

And, slyly woven into this stirring tapestry, the story of Philip Morris, America's gentle cigarette, in the handy Snap-Open pack, in king-size or regular, at prices all can afford.

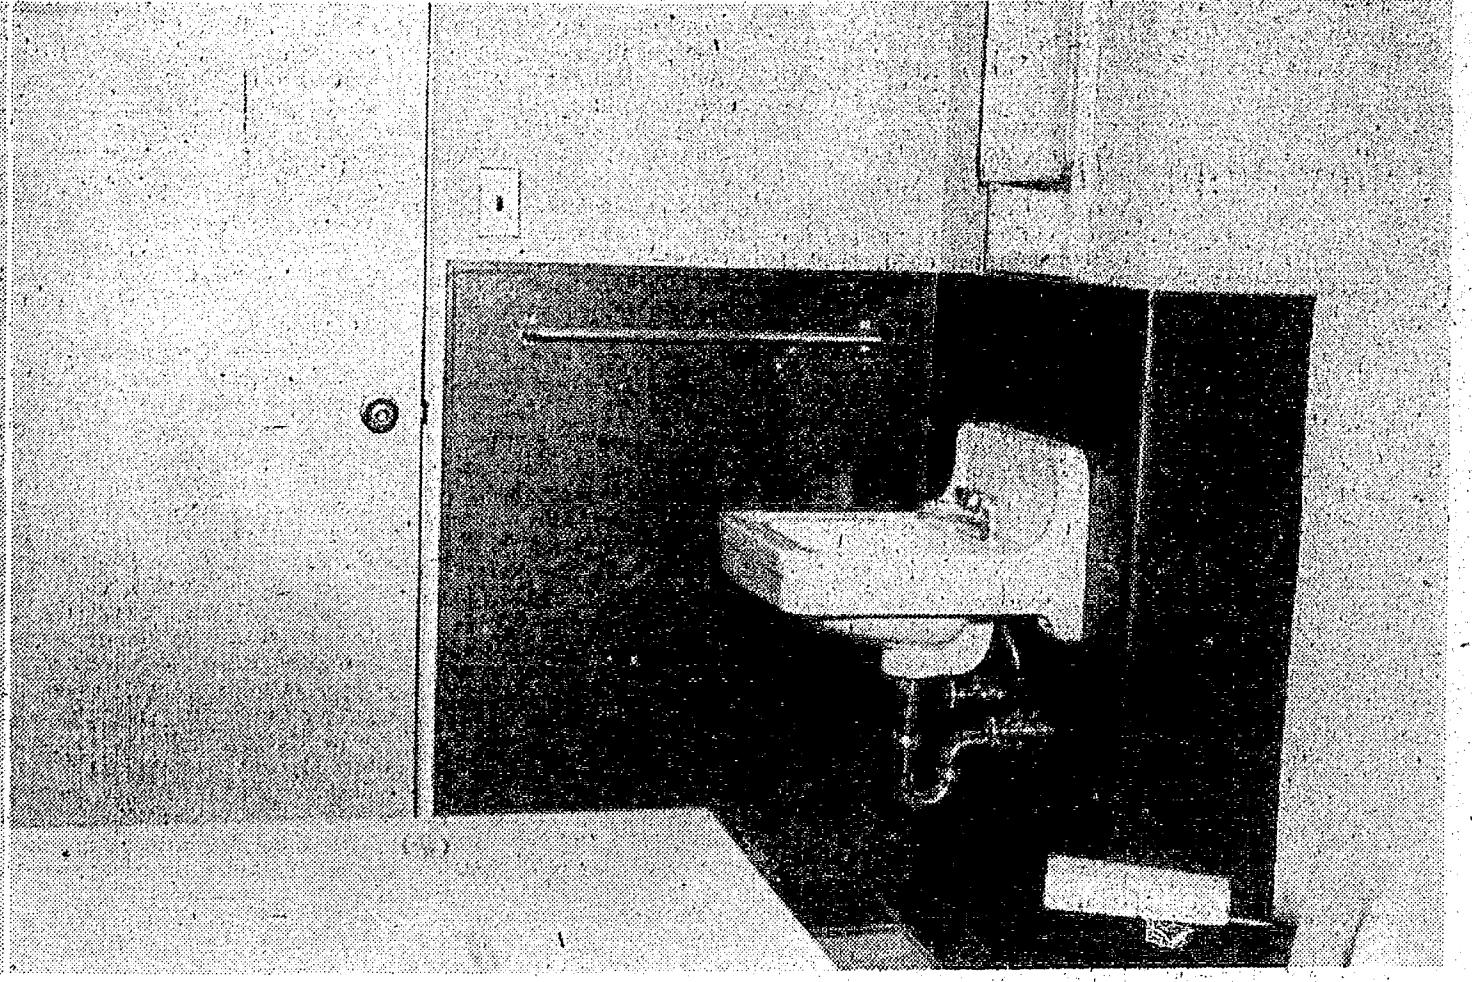

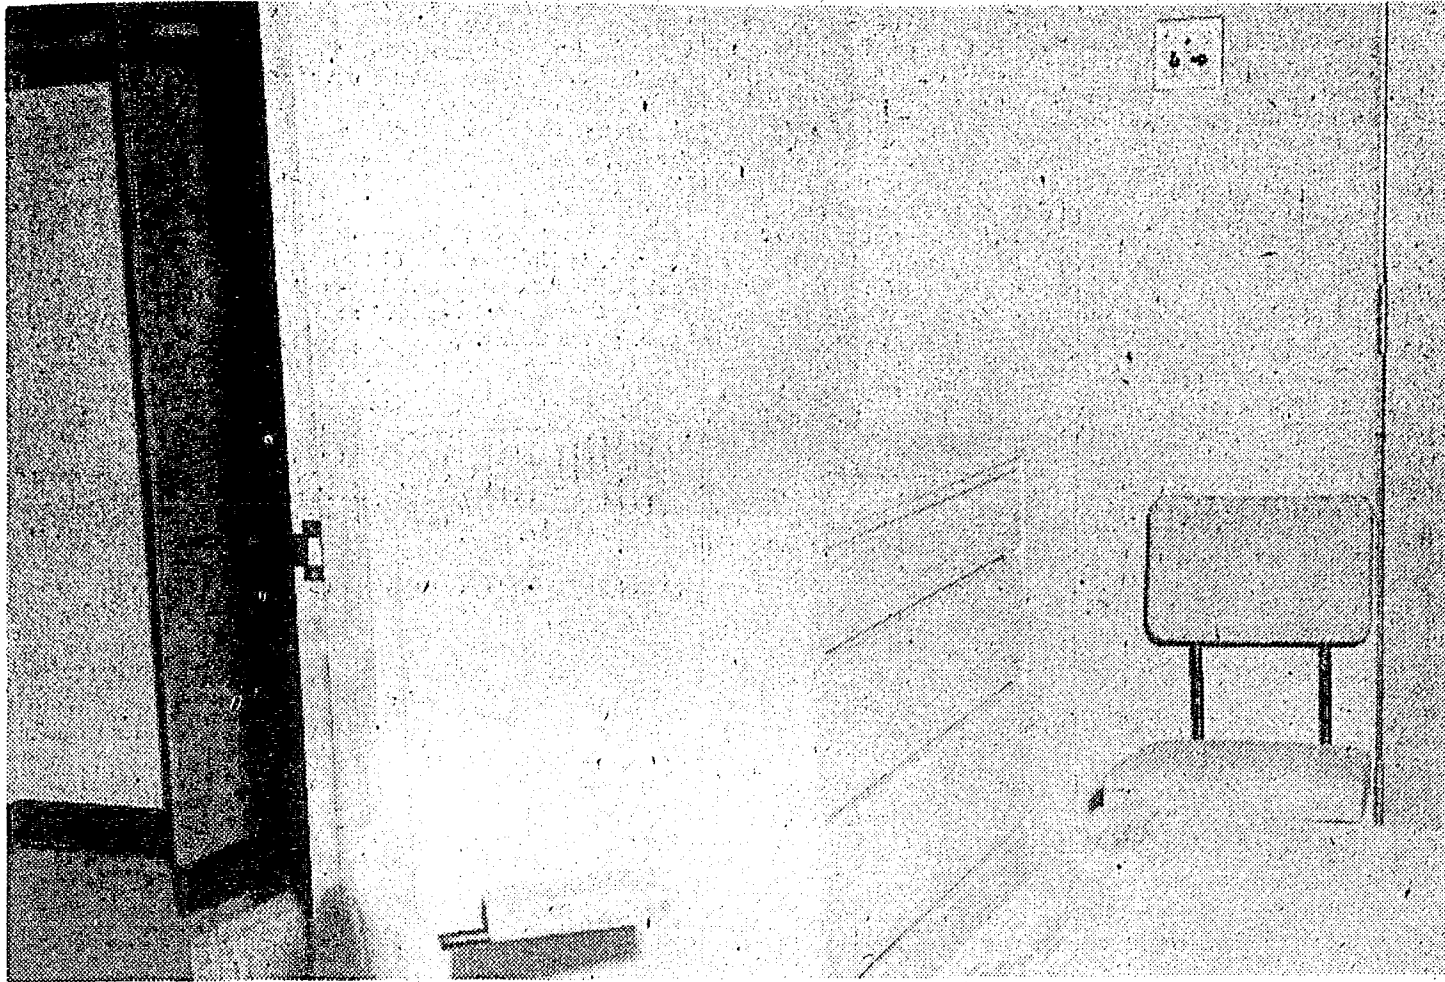

The makers of Philip Morris are happy to be back with you for another year of good reading and good smoking—with gentle Philip Morris, of course.

IDAHO'S BUILDING PROGRAM

337 Students In New Homes

A total of 337 students will find new homes at the University of Idaho this fall that are really new.

Opening their doors for the first time will be three recently completed dormitories — Gault and Upham for men, and Permeal French for women. The joining men's dormitories will provide quarters for 277 students. 134 men in Upham and 143 men in Gault, plus a guest room that will sleep 30 to 40 persons. This guest dormitory will be used primarily for high school students visiting the university to attend conferences.

Dedication Oct. 15

The men's dormitories are named after former presidents of the University — Franklin B. Gault and Alfred H. Upham. Gault was the institution's first president from 1892 to 1898 and Upham served from 1920 to 1928. The four-story brick structure is located on Sixth across the street from the Campus Club in part of an area comprising the West Sixth village, veterans housing project. The men's dormitories will be dedicated October 15, the day of the football game with Washington State college.

Permeal French house, accommodating 60 women students, is named after the former dean of women at the university who died in Seattle a year ago. She served the institution 28 years prior to her retirement in 1936. The building will be dedicated October 8 as part of the University's Homecoming week-end.

French house is located on Blake avenue south of Ridenbaugh hall, and across the street from Hays hall.

The only facilities that Gault and Upham halls use in common is a giant stainless steel kitchen. Designed by Director of Dormitories Robert Greene, the kitchen is laid out to accommodate two serving lines five minutes apart. Both halls are equipped with the latest in sturdily built modern furniture and in each two man room, the study desk has a paneltype top for rough wear.

The rooms are divided into two compartments, one for studying and the other for sleeping. A sink and mirror can also be found in every room. An added feature in the halls is the room to room inter-com system. Each dormitory has a separate recreation room and their own modern living room with fireplaces. Greene set the total cost of the building which houses the two dormitories at about $1,350,000. Board is $80 a semester.

ASUI To Manage Student Union

The immediate management of the Student Union Building has now become the responsibility of the Associated Students, said Dr. D. R. Theophilus, President of the University.

The change from general University management follows approval by the regents of a student request. The request had received the endorsement of a special committee appointed by President Theophilus.

"The Student Union Building is not only being financed through student fees and patronage, but it is so closely linked with student activities that it was felt the immediate management should be under the Associated Students," said Theophilus. "All phases of operation and management, however, will continue to conform to existing policies of operation and procedure of the University in accordance with direction of the board of regents."

Purchasing will continue to be the responsibility of the University business office. The University bursar, as fiscal agent of the regents, will be responsible for the review and audit of finances.

A Student Union committee, composed of five students and three staff members, will serve as an advisory group to the Associated Students executive board and general manager of the Associated Students. Gale Mix is general manager of the student organization.

The formal action of the regents, adopted at the board's June meeting, provides:

"Effective July 1, 1955, the responsibility for the immediate supervision, operation and management of the Student Union and

Student Union Building shall be vested in the Associated Students of the University of Idaho;

"2. This activity shall be continued as a separate operation with Student Union funds being kept separate and apart from other ASUI funds;

"3. All phases of operation and management shall conform to existing policies of operation and procedure of the University of Idaho in accordance with direction of the board of regents;

"4. Space allocation to the University Student Bookstore shall remain as it presently exists with any change to be formally approved by the regents;

"5. There shall be no furnishing of food or materials to anyone without appropriate charge unless such is made a condition of employment of a person and so indicated on the personnel employment records;

"6. All purchasing shall be in accordance with general University procedure and shall be the responsibility of the Business Office;

"7. The University Bursar as fiscal agent of the regents shall be responsible for review and audit of the financial activity of the operation;

"8. The regents reserve the right to quarter such University officials in the Student Union Building as might be deemed appropriate or necessary, with specific reference to the Alumni Secretary;

"9. And further that there be created a Student Union Committee composed of five students (appointed by the ASUI Executive Board but subject to ratification of the University President) and three staff members (appointed by the President) to serve as an advisory committee to the ASUI Executive Board and General Manager of the ASUI.

"All previous actions in conflict with the above are hereby revoked."

Scholarships Accepted By Board Of Regents

Faculty Members Attend Convention

Two University of Idaho faculty members took part in the eighth annual convention of the Idaho Municipal League at McCall this summer.

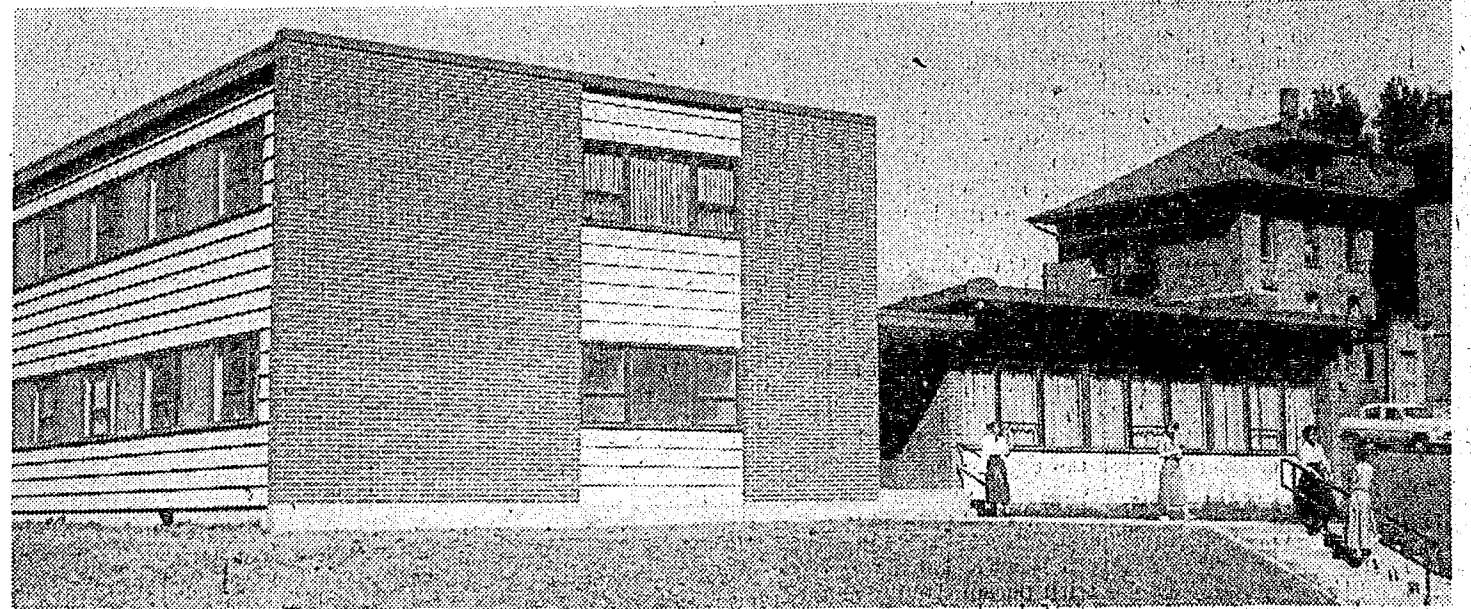

Dr. Boyd A. Martin, dean of the college of letters and science served as administrative consultant for the three-day session, and Dr.

Leon Green, head of physical education, was invited to speak on city recreation.

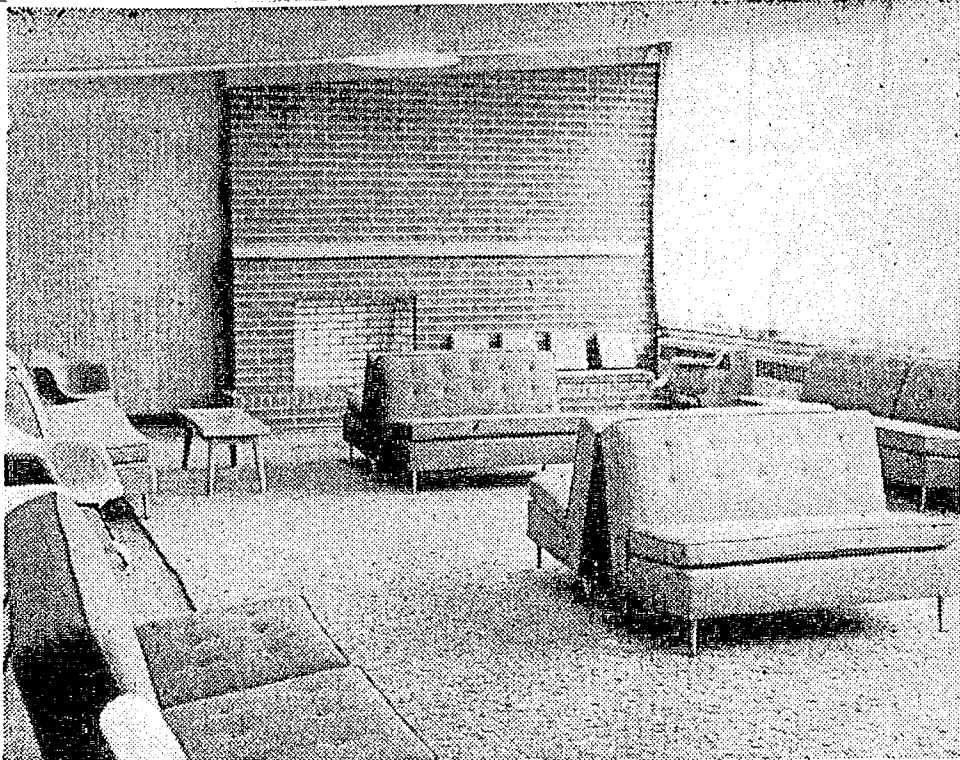

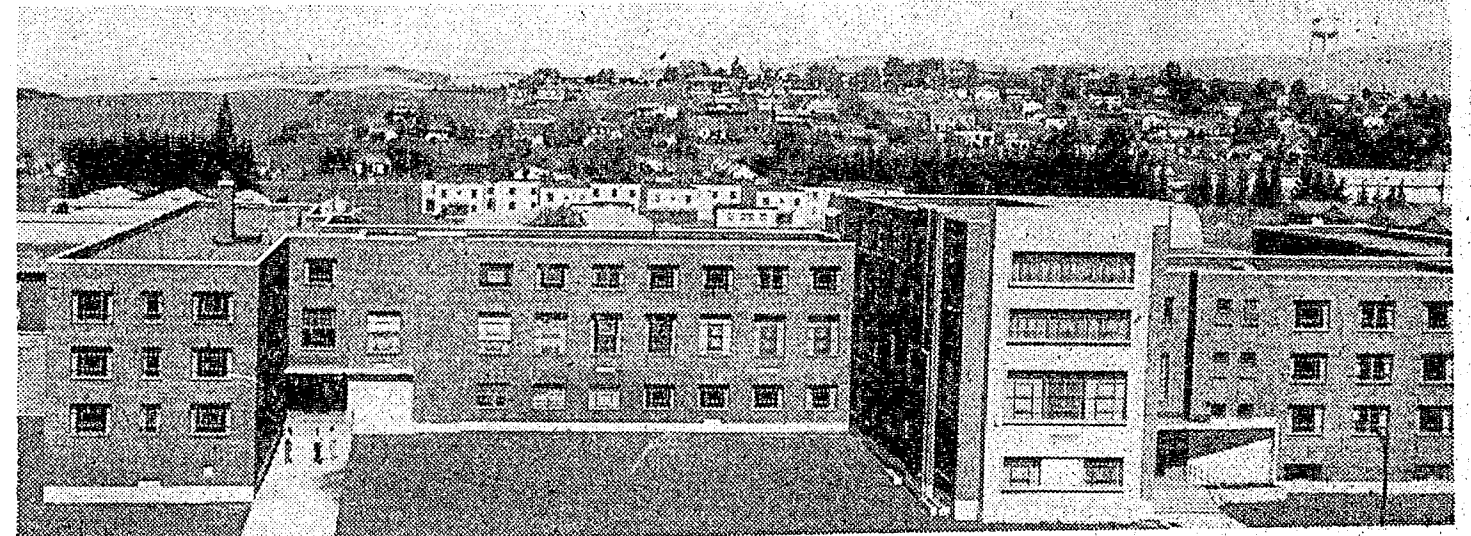

"About 280 city officials from throughout the state took part in the convention. Sessions were devoted to problems of villages and cities, natural gas franchise, television coaxial cables, recreation, trailers, and municipal home rule.

The kitchen used in common between the two adjoining halls is a mass of stainless steel and tile. The massive stoves and ovens will be used to feed 277 men in separate dining rooms. The kitchen is designed to serve two lines five minutes apart.

L-C Normal Plans For 100 Students

About 100 students are expected to be on hand for classes Monday at Lewis-Clark Normal school, closed four years ago as Northern Idaho College of Education. The school opened for its first year yesterday for orientation and registration.

Commented Dr. D. R. Theophilus, president of both the University of Idaho and Lewis-Clark Normal school:

"You don't appreciate the advantages of taking over the administrative responsibilities of a going concern until you are assigned the task of setting into motion a new one. Details — from planning a curriculum to painting dormitory rooms — are numbered in the hundreds."

Appointed Dr. Steffens

When Dr. Theophilus learned that Lewis-Clark was to be opened as a division of the University of Idaho, his first move was to place Dr. E. Walter Steffens, executive dean of the university, in administrative charge of the normal school. The job has been a three-dimensional one, involving academic phases, physical plant operations — and students.

"All phases are important to an institution of higher learning," said Dr. Steffens, "but most important are the students, because everything is geared to them. We still do not know how many students we will have, but we are prepared to serve virtually any number."

Two-Year Program

A two-year college program for teacher training has been established for Lewis-Clark, with first-year subjects offered in 1955-56, and both first and second-year subjects thereafter. The curriculum provides both a broad and practical background, according to Dr. D. R. Theophilus.

Interesting students in the new institution started with the mailing of literature to every graduating high school senior in Idaho — some 6,700. Dr. Steffens also wrote personal letters to educators in all of the state's 44 counties, urging them to acquaint prospective students with the opportunities at Lewis-Clark. Guy Wicks, University of Idaho field agent, has been advising students on Lewis-Clark opportunities in his visits to high schools throughout the state.

Alumni Help

An alumni meeting of graduates

Lewiston, and alumni were urged to help interest students in the new school. A large number of $100 scholarships were provided by the people of Lewiston and other friends of Lewis-Clark, and many of these scholarships are still available. Part-time jobs are being held for students in Lewiston, and the school administration has also earmarked a large number of positions to be filled by student irregular help.

Most faculty and staff appointments have been made. First major appointment was that of Kenneth Hensley as physical plant manager. He has been in direct charge, under Business Manager Kenneth A. Dick of the University, of all renovation work at the normal school.

Classrooms and laboratories are now ready. Completion work is currently being rushed on dormitories. Talking hall for women is getting a complete renovating job, with painting of rooms and re-furnishing of furnishings. The new men's dormitory, completed four years ago but never used, will have entirely new furniture in the living room. It will be named and dedicated at ceremonies October 3.

Other details involved in the opening of Lewis-Clark include such varied items as setting up budgets, arranging a contract for the medical care of students, ordering instructional supplies, subscribing for library periodicals, and cleaning typewriters and educational aids such as projectors.

"Grand Coulee" cried the devout man as he hit his finger with the hammer.

"What do you mean by yelling 'Grand Coulee'?" asked his wife. "That," the man replied, "is the world's largest dam, ain't it?"

Husband: "The iceman's been bragging that he's kissed every woman in the building except one." Wife: "That must be that 'snooty Mrs. Jones upstairs.'"

Problems Facing Freshmen Listed By Rush Committee

CHAPEL HILL, N. C.—(I.P.)—As an individual experiencing university life for the first time, the entering freshman encounters a significant adjustment period, according to the report of the special committee on fraternity rushing at the University of North Carolina. For many it is the first extended absence from home, the committee points out. For others, developing proper study habits and learning to accept additional responsibilities is a serious problem.

The full report on Rusher's Problems follows: While the length of the adjustment period varies with the background and the maturity of the individual, a minimum adjustment is required of all students. In the sense that the first few weeks on campus are important in establishing the tone of an individual's work, it was felt that as little outside pressure should be permitted as possible.

The observation was made that the grades of the average freshman in a fraternity were comparatively lower than the average non-fraternity freshman. This was attributed to some extent to a time-consuming rush schedule which occurred at a time when many freshmen were not adjusted. It was pointed out that, in addition, this period was frequently the period when first quizzes were given.

Requires Extra Time

The committee agreed that fraternities also required some time at the beginning of each academic year to prepare themselves both for their academic work and the related activities of the fraternity.

The first few weeks of school did not seem to be adequate, considering the additional study requirements and the myriad activities of the fall.

The suggestion was made that individuals interested in fraternities would not have an opportunity to appraise them without a longer waiting period. At the same time, fraternity members could not evaluate the prospective rushers properly. For these and other reasons, it was felt that a rush period at the end of the first semester might be desirable. There were a number of significant points, however, which were brought out in support of an early rushing program.

Delayed Rush

Financially, fraternities are faced with a serious problem if a system of delayed rushing is initiated. Figures presented to the committee by the Student Activities Fund Office showed that at the present

Dr. Martin Named Dean Of Letters And Science

A native Idahoan and an alumnus and faculty member of the University of Idaho, Dr. Boyd A. Martin, became the new dean of the College of Letters and Science at the University of Idaho, effective July 1. President D. R. Theophilus announced the promotion of Martin at the University commencement exercises June 5, following regent's approval.

Martin moved up to the deanship from assistant dean, professor of political science and head of the department of social science. He succeeded Dean T. S. Kerr, who retired July 1.

The new position marks a rapid academic rise for Martin, who was born at Cottonwood March 3, 1911. As head of the largest college at his alma mater, he will be one of the University's youngest deans.

A graduate of Nezperce High School, Martin majored in political science at the University of Idaho, graduating in 1936. The following year he was awarded an M.A. degree by Stanford. He continued graduate study in that institution in the department of political science while holding an acting instructorship and the John M. Switzer Fellowship. He received his Ph.D. from Stanford in 1943.

Came to Idaho

Meanwhile, in 1938, he had joined the University of Idaho faculty as an instructor in political science to become at 27 one of the youngest members on the staff. He rose up the ranks to become a full professor in 1947 as well as head of the department of social sciences and assistant dean of the College of Letters and Science. In 1952 he was granted a leave of absence to serve as a visiting professor and lecturer at Stanford.

Active nationally in the field of political science, he has served as president of the Western Political Science Association and as a member of the Executive Council of the American Political Science Association and of the Pacific Northwest Political Science Association. The author of many articles in professional and scientific journals, he has also served as state editor for the National Municipal Review and on the editorial board of the Western Political Quarterly. He is the author of the book, "The Direct Primary in Idaho," and co-author of the book, "Introduction to Political Science."

Since 1947, he has served as chairman of the University of Idaho

Publication Jobs Open To Interested Students

Everyone from glue-pot majors to hunt-and-peck enthusiasts has a chance to work on a university publication this year as the editors get down to work on coming publications.

Under the editorship of Gary Pietsch, the Argonaut is the unofficial voice of the ASUI, published twice weekly for University students. Jobs are open on the Arg in selling ads, rewriting or reporting, writing heads — and eventually top paid jobs as managing editor, sports editor, copy and news editors. A business-like organization which works every Monday and Thursday afternoons, the Arg always has room for new masthead prospects.

Gem
The Gem of the Mountains is an attractive annual which comes out shortly after the fall term begins—this year on Sept. 26. Editor Jamie Steele needs everyone from people to paste pictures to assistant editors. Photographers, writers, layout men—all have a place on the Gem.

Handbook
The freshman handbook introduced fresh to the University of Idaho this year and contained a resume of organizations, campus rules, and traditions, and know-how needed to get around. Jane Remsburg, editor of this year's "Here We Have Idaho" published the helpful guide which needs writers, artists and an editor for next year.

"The Idaho Forester," editor yet to be chosen, and "The Idaho Engineer," edited by Charles DePalmo, are publications issued by the College of Forestry and the College of Engineering respectively. As in the other publications, majors and minors in these fields are welcome to work and make the editions snappy and interesting.

KUOI
The voice of the University of Idaho, radio station KUOI, needs emcees and technicians for its sports columns, news and music says station Manager Jerry Chandler.

"This is KUOI, campus radio on the University of Idaho campus . . ." may be drawn by radio majors or activity gals into its milks located in the Student Union Building.

Radio TV guild, which meets in the Radio Center and has Bob Tracy for advisor, works with KUOI and stations all over Idaho presenting news broadcasts and dramatic productions along with TV shows in Spokane.

Nine Placed By Students On ASUI Executive Board

Nine students were elected last April to serve on this year's ASUI Executive Board, the student governing body of the University which controls all ASUI funds, property, awards, and student body, class, and organization functions.

The Executive Board is composed of juniors and seniors elected from organized political parties on the campus. The Student Government party, newly organized cross-campus party, elected secretary John Gillis and Mike O'Callahan on the board, while the Independent party, composed of the independent living groups, is represented by Vice President John Thornock; Dick Denney, Dick Gaskins, and Carol Pietsch. The United Party, students in fraternity and sorority houses, has Karen Lee Krauss, Dewey Newman, and George Eldam on the legislative group.

He took her out to the golf course, thinking she knew all about the game. As usual, she sliced the first ball into the rough. Finally, after he had searched for the ball half an hour, she said: "Would it be cheating if I told you where it is?"
Reporter: "What shall I say about the two peroxide blondes who had a fight at the baseball game last night?"
Friend: "Just say the bleachers went wild."

Organizations Offer Activity

New students are offered membership in many organizations on the University campus. Students interested in meeting and working with other students can find organizations of the campus which do work in almost every field.

Foreign students on the campus can join the Cosmopolitan club. The International house is where a number of foreign students live and get together.

After the major drama production of the year, the Curtain Club taps workers who show promise and interest in drama. Cast parties and picnics are often held to add variety to the club's program.

Art Students
The Art club is composed of art students who spend most of their time working on some University project chosen as a year-ly activity. Modern dance enthusiasts will find the Orchestras and Pre-Orchestras interesting. Freshmen may try out for entrance into the Pre-Orchestra, while the Orchestras members are picked by tapping.

Vandaleers

Students interested in music can try out for the Vandaleers, widely known choral group which makes a tour of the state of Idaho each spring. Tryouts are held in the fall. The University Marching Band performs at football games and gives several concerts in the spring. The special group from the march-

There Is Much To Do

This year the Executive Board adopted the interview system for obtaining committee members in ASUI activities. So that we may know what committees and what functions students are interested in, we would appreciate the freshmen filling out the data sheet that is printed on this page.

If you are interested in any function, committee, or activity, contact an Executive Board member or a member of the Student Activities Board or an older member of your living group; but above all watch the Argonaut for announcement of times and places of interviews for placing students on committees.

ing band is called the Pep Band. This group plays at basketball games and pep rallies. Then there is the University Orchestra and the Madrigal Singers, a select acapella choir.

Many important speakers are featured on the law students' Bench and Bar Club. The Home Economics Club and Philosophy Club are for students in their respective fields.

Debate Activities
Debate is a major activity here at Idaho. Students may enroll in Speech 9 which awards one credit for intercollegiate debate. The debate team's traveling expenses are paid by the ASUI and intramural debate contests are sponsored each fall by Delta Sigma Rho, a national forensic honorary. Traveling trophies are awarded to the winning men's and women's teams in this contest.

Chickens May Replace Hats In Ecuador

Poultry flocks may replace Panama hats as the principal source of income in one of the farming districts in the Andes mountains of Ecuador, reports C. E. Lampman, head of poultry husbandry at the University of Idaho.

Lampman has just returned to the campus from a three-month assignment in developing a poultry program at the University of Guayaquil. This is one phase of the agricultural aid being provided Ecuador by the University of Idaho College of Agriculture under a contract through the U. S. foreign operations administration. Dr. G. W. Woodbury, head of horticulture at Idaho, is on leave from the University for two years as head of the Ecuadorian mission. One of the chief sources of income of the Indians in the Cuenca area of the Andes has been Panama hats. Since Americans aren't wearing hats as they once did, the Indians in that mountainous region need a new source of income. The poultry project, sponsored through the American aid program, calls for the introduction of 25,000 chicks into the area within the next few months.

Ecuadorians are very receptive to American help and seem to feel the men from the University of Idaho have a genuine desire to introduce American know-how in farming," Lampman states.

The University poultrymen went to Ecuador to assist another Idahoan, Dr. Lloyd H. Scrivner, head of veterinary science at the University of Idaho who is on leave for the southern aid work, and Dr. John W. Brandt, poultry specialist from Pennsylvania, in instituting a modern poultry program at the University of Guayaquil.

This involved constructing a new building to be first used for growing meat-type fryers and testing rations for growing chicks. Plans were projected for the development of a laying flock in the near future. This flock will be used to demonstrate production of top-quality eggs and market poultry. At the time of his return, 1,000 chicks had been imported from the United States to start the University project. Lampman also collaborated in bringing poultry courses at the University of Guayaquil up to date. "Ecuador is a country of contrast in poultry," says Lampman. "There are very few modern poultry enterprises. Mostly they are hobbies or sidelines of business and professional people. Small flocks, such as are common in this country, are few and scattered. Eggs are a luxury."

Main objective of the American program is to help the Ecuadorians develop a self-sufficient poultry industry. Thus the plan being followed by Dr. Scrivner and Dr. Brandt is to stress housing, management, disease control, egg and poultry quality, and production of an adequate supply of feeds. "From the very start, the goal is a balanced industry," Lampman reports. "The receptiveness of the Ecuadorian people was highly gratifying. They want the help and appreciate it."

Home is where you can scratch any place that itches. He: "I spent 17 months in the hospital overseas during the war." She: "Oh, how dreadful. You must have been seriously wounded." He: "Nahh, didn't even get a scratch on me. I was a mental case."

Idaho Cadet Grads Train For Flying

Four former Idaho men graduated from the U. S. Naval pre-flight school at Great Lakes, Illinois this summer and are now assigned to the Whiting Field U. S. Naval Auxiliary Air Station, Milton, Fla., for primary flight training, according to recent Navy press releases.

Previously attending the U. of I. were Cadets William R. Etter and Heber V. Hymas, along with Ensigns Charles M. Murrin and Gerald P. Dougherty.

A first solo flight was flown at the Whiting station by Cadet Hymas who will receive instruction in precision air work along with other regular solo flights this year.

Vandal Bucket Gets Interior Redecorated

At last it is possible to get together in the Vandal Bucket and actually hear yourself talk. Work that has been done this past summer and just recently finished has made this possible.

About $10,000 has been put into remodeling the Bucket in the first of a two-stage development. About the most noticeable feature of work completed is the added amount of space which has been added. Seating capacity has been increased about 50 to a new capacity of about 375.

"The second phase of construction will be explained to all house presidents next week so all will know what the costs of the improvements will be and what will be encompassed," said ASUI President Chuck McDevitt.

Work just completed has included removal of the Vandal Room and addition of new booths and repainting, addition of Kallitron which will make it possible to wash off walls easier. This new plastic product has been used near where food is served and on all posts.

All of the Bucket is now equipped with new lighting and a new long light has been added over the food container. Another improvement has increased the ventilation.

Much needed kitchen equipment which has been added include: a new garbage disposal unit, ice machine and a deep freeze with filters.

The new ice machine is the first to be used on campus and will provide the Bucket with its own supply of ice. According to Chuck McDevitt, surplus ice will probably be available for house functions. He added, "We have the cleanest ice in town."

One new feature which will eliminate much congestion at the snack bar is the removal of stools and the addition of special service for customers.

Improvements on the patio in front of the Bucket are scheduled for the second phase of remodeling. Tearing out the front wall of the Bucket and making it into a glass wall is planned.

Improvements have not been limited to the Bucket itself. New benches and 2 tables have been added to the area just inside the SUB entrance.

A new display case will be added to display pictures of six of the year's campus queens.

A new conference room D has been added on the third floor in the room that was formerly used by Blot. Also, a new bulletin board (activities of the day in the various rooms of the SUB.

Temporary Professors Appointed

Two visiting assistant professors for the next academic year at the University of Idaho were included among appointments announced last spring by President D. R. Theophilus.

Robert Chase Haynes, who has been assistant state supervisor for vocational agriculture since 1952, will be visiting assistant professor of agricultural education. A University graduate, he has also taught at Star, Wilder and Malba.

Donald W. Marble, who has been practicing veterinary medicine at St. Helens, Ore., was named visiting assistant professor and assistant tateon veterinarian. He holds his veterinary degree from Washington State College.

Named assistant plant pathologist for nematode research was Clarence E. Dallimore, Aberdeen. A graduate of Utah State Agricultural College, he has been working on his doctorate degree at the University of Nebraska.

Gerald Dean Ames, native of Rupert, who graduated from the University of Idaho June 5, became assistant agronomist, junior. Appointed assistant home economist, junior, was Cecelia Rickard, St. Ignatius, Mont., a graduate of Montana State College.

Douglas H. Bankson was appointed an instructor in English and journalism. He holds three degrees, including a doctorate, from the University of Washington. A former Seattle newspaperman, he has been writing and studying in Europe the last year.

Named an instructor in mathematics was William C. Smith, who has been on the faculty of Kansas State College. He holds his A.B. degree from St. Benedict's College, and his M.S. from Kansas State.

Resigning was Asst. Professor S. Keith Forney of the music department.

The despondent old gentleman emerged from his cup and climbed stiffly into a taxicab.

"Where to, sir?" asked the driver respectfully.

"Drive off a cliff," replied the old gentleman, "I'm committing suicide."

Fond mother: "Look, Henry! Baby can walk."

Proud father: "Good. Now he can walk up and down at night by himself."

Assemblies Kicked Off By Willson

Meredith Willson, well-known radio and television entertainer, will appear October 14 in the first of five public events' assemblies which have been scheduled for the University of Idaho campus this school year.

Willson and his wife Rini will present a program of entertainment entitled "The Long and Short of It" at 11 a.m. October 14. An artist of many talents, he has won acclaim for his classical and popular musical compositions, orchestral conducting, humorous philosophy and writings.

Following Willson to the campus will be Dr. Ralph Lapp, nuclear physicist; Dr. Robert Hutchins, educator; Dr. Mark Schorer, writer, and William H. Stringer, Washington bureau chief for the Christian Science Monitor.

Said to be one of America's leading young physicists, Dr. Lapp will discuss "The World of Tomorrow" at a November 11 assembly. Neither a prophet of gloom nor an idealistic Pollyanna, he presents both the somber and bright side of the atomic problem. Since 1949 he has been director of the

Brockelbank Says Radicals Are Not Puerto Rico Voice

"Puerto Ricans are greatly disturbed over the adverse publicity given their country in the shooting up of Congress by members of the Nationalista party," reported Professor W. J. Brockelbank of the University of Idaho's college of law in returning to duty today after a year's leave of absence to teach at the University of Puerto Rico.

"The only violence I encountered during the year occurred in New York City when my wife and I were returning home," said Brockelbank. "While eating lunch at noon, we had parked our car on Riverside drive in front of the International House. When we returned to it, we found that a window had been smashed in, and about $1,000 worth of clothing and luggage stolen. The people stream-

Dr. Hutchins is a former University of Chicago president. He will speak on education at a January assembly. The Idaho professor pointed out that less than 3 per cent of the people of Puerto Rico belong to the fanatic Nationalista party. He said that tremendous strides had been made in recent years in building, industrial development and sanitation.

"Puerto Ricans are very Americanized," said Brockelbank. "To be successful, a new business must have an American name. The big supermarket where we traded was called the Harry Truman."

The University of Puerto Rico, where Brockelbank taught courses in jurisdiction and procedure of American courts, has 14,000 students.

VANDALS TRAVEL TO BOISE TO MEET UTES

Stahley Sticks To Same Lineup; Cripples Back

The 37-man Idaho Vandal football team left this morning for Boise and a light workout this afternoon on friendly Bronco Stadium's gridiron. The Idaho team faces another rough opponent this week, the Utah Redskins.

The Utes lost last Saturday to the Oregon Ducks 14-13, the same score the Vandals took them in Salt Lake City last season. The surprise Vandal victory last year followed a 10-0 triumph over Washington State College.

Coach Skip Stahley made no changes in the starting lineup for Saturday's game. The coach will go with speedsters Ray Bittner, Ron Braden and Wilbur Gary in the backfield, Pete Gerpheide and Ed Hilder at the ends, Dick Foster and Marsh Jones at tackles, Eivind Resa and Chuck Fries at guards and Wayne Walker at center. Howard Willis gets the nod at quarterback.

The well-scouted Utahans are supposed to have good speed, both in the line and in the backfield. End coach Gene Stauber reported in practice this week. The Vandal line will slightly outweigh the Redskins, but the Utah backfield will be heavier.

Utah was rated one of the top teams in the west, and is a Skyline favorite. The club runs out of a T formation using flankers; doing a good deal of passing.

Expected back in the lineup this week are halfbacks Bill Baxter, bothered by a hip bruise, and Mel

Schmidt, 200 pound left halfback, who has completely found a knee operation to heel after a summer operation.

Sophomore transfer Loyd Fenton was named to the travelling squad following last night's workout. Fenton is a halfback and rounds out the travelling list. He has been out with a knee injury.

The travelling team includes ends—Larry Aldrich, Don Baroni, Walt Denny, Dick Newby, Rog Randolph, John Sullivan, Hilder and Gerpheide; tackles—Tony Anderson, Marv Cox, Jerry Kramer, Foster and Jones; guards—Jerry Haller, Mike Hepler, Larry Kline, John Payne, Jerry Smythe, Resa and Fries; centers—Jim Faulkner, Dan Davis, Willy Brown and Walker.

Halfbacks—Larry Norby, Cal Hilgenberg, Schmidt, Baxter, Bittner, Braden and Fenton; fullbacks—Ed Pettit, Warren Hawley and Gary and quarterbacks—Nick Uglesich, Gary Johnson and Willis.

Five Schools Share Lead In PCC Team Statistics

Five schools, headed by the resurgent Oregon State Beavers, shared the honors in Pacific Coast Conference team statistics released this week by Commissioner's office.

The Idaho Vandals, who played Washington in one of the two conference games last week, losing 14-7, leads the conference in punting with a per kick average of 43.6 yards.

Sophomore quarterback Howie (The Sail) Willis, handled most of the kicking chores in that fray. The Vandals rate third in punt returns bringing back two kicks for a total of 27 yards, a 13.5 yards per return average.

Willis booted four times against the Huskies for a total of 178 yards, a per kick average of 44.5 yards. His effort is the best in the conference.

Receiver Fourth Willis and Junior end Pete Gerpheide are the only Vandals that figured in the top individual statistics. Gerpheide ranks fourth in pass reception snagging two aeriels for a total of 42 yards.

"The Sail" is fifth in passing and ninth in total offense. Jerry Gustafson, Stanford's senior quarterback, leads the Pacific Coast Conference in both passing and total offense.

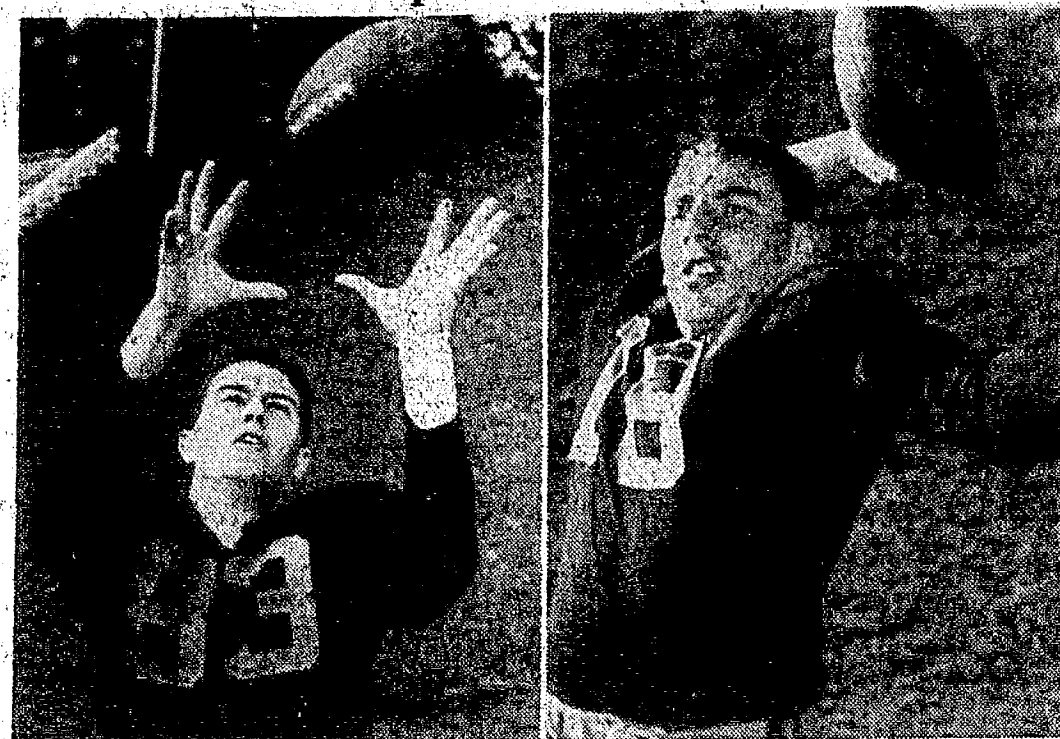

Gustafson hit 14 of 18 passes in his first game for 134 yards and two touchdowns and the passing leadership. He also picked up 43 yards running for a total of 177 yards. Second ranked in both is Washington State's Bob Iverson with seven completions and a total of 128 yards running and passing.

Rush Champ and Jim Shanley, Oregon sophomore halfback, has a narrow lead in rushing with 97 yards and an average of 10.8 per play. He's followed by Stanford's Bill Tarr, the 1954 rushing champion, with 95 yards and Dick James Oregon, 91.

Another Stanford man, and John Stewart, is top ranked in pass receptions with eight, good for 84 yards. Second is teammate Paul Camera with four receptions, two having gone for touchdowns.

Jon Arnett, Southern California junior halfback, leads the scoring parade with 15 point on two touchdowns and three conversions. Second is Sam Wesley, Oregon State sophomore, with 13 point. Wesley leads the conference in punt returns with a total of 57 yards and an average of 19 yards per run-back, while Dewey Keith, Washington State, has the most kickoff return yardage, 72, with Arnett second, 57.

Vandals Hopes—Willis To Hilder

Idaho's winning hopes lay in the hands of a veteran and newcomer this weekend when the Vandals meet the tough Utah Redskins in Boise. Left is Ed Hilder, team co-captain, and a veteran pass receiver. Right, is sophomore Howie Willis, the Vandal signal-caller, taking over where graduated George Eidam left off. The Vandals have concentrated all week in practice on a passing attack.

Skip Praises Club Despite 14-7 Defeat

Coach Skip Stahley, by no means discouraged after a 14-7 football loss to the University of Washington Saturday, pointed to Idaho's weaknesses this week and appeared goggle eyed at the Huskies man's power.

The head coach said that the Vandal's defensive work near their own goal line was the best he has seen in an Idaho team. Three times the Vandal line drove back Husky threats on the Silver and Gold door mat.

Stahley said that Idaho was beaten physically by a never-ending stream of substitutions from the Washington bench. He said that Coach Johnny Chereberg kept pouring in fresh units all through the game and had five backs weighing over 190 that tour the Vandal outside open time after time.

The season opener brought out many mistakes, Stahley commented, but more are unable to correct.

The Vandals drove in the second quarter to the Husky nine but lost the ball on a fumble on fourth down after marching behind quarterback Howard Willis for more than 50 yards.

The lone Idaho score came in the final period when a Vandal pounced on a Husky fumble on the Washington three yard line. Willis punched over from the one on a sneak and tackle Jerry Kramer added the conversion.

The Huskies drove better than sixty yards for the first score and took a 7-0 halftime lead. A Vandal fumble set up the other Washington touchdown in the third quarter. The entire game was marked by fumbles, 11 of them.

"Did you hear about the nasty ROTC officer?" "What about him?" "He was rotten to the corps."

Young Conducts Boxing Clinics In Far East

Frank Young, Assistant Athletic Director at the University, had nothing but praise for Japanese people as hosts, after returning from a very successful three week tour of Japan, where he participated in two boxing clinics for the armed forces personnel of the Far East.

Young, along with Roy Simmons, boxing coach at Syracuse University, and Herb Kroetin, boxing coach at West Point Military Academy were invited by the Commander of the Far East Command to conduct these clinics to train service personnel in the performance of duties as coaches and officials—providing a well developed program of sports. In 1951 Young participated in a similar clinic held in Japan and Okinawa. The military now holds this type of clinic in all branches of sports.

The group left Travis Air Force Base in California on June 4, and traveled to Japan by way of Hawaii.

The first one-week clinic was held in Yokohama for the combined Eighth Army, Navy and Marine Corps stationed there. Approximately 104 persons were in attendance including boxers, coaches and officials.

From Yokohama the group moved to Tokyo for the second one-week meeting. Seventy-five similar personnel from Honoedo Air Force Base attended this clinic.

While in Tokyo, Young attended a triangle track meet between the best representatives of the six universities in Tokyo, an American Air Force team stationed in Tokyo and a similar team from the Eighth Army.

Young stated that he was very surprised that the Japanese, in spite of their short stature, which averaged five feet eight inches and average weight of around 150 lbs. won events such as the hammer throw, javelin, and discuss and were outstanding in endurance running events.

Young also commented that baseball is becoming as popular in Japan as it is in this country, with the major league of Japan drawing very large crowds.

John B. Hughes

Students, new and old, are just getting into the swing of things at this reading, however Idaho's football team, looking for another momentous season, has been long at it on the campus. One game is under their belt.

Predictions for games this weekend: Washington State, loser 50-12 to the mighty Troy Trojans of USC last week, face a midwestern power Kansas. The Cougars by a touchdown.

Another future Vandal opponent, Oregon State, winners 33-0 over Brigham Young, meets the Indians from Stanford. Tommy Prothro, the Beaver coach in his first year, impressed everyone last week with a powerful single wing game. The Stanford Indians by two scores.

We give Brigham Young a four touchdown victory over little heard of Los Angeles State.

Southern Cal and Oregon tangle tonight in what should be a close one. The Ducks, minus George Shaw, slipped past Utah 14-13 in the opener as underdogs. We call it Troy by two.

And now to the game at hand. The Vandals showed well in a losing effort at Seattle last Saturday, but dropped the contest on lack of manpower and breaks. Utah was a touchdown favorite over Oregon, but lost by a conversion.

The Utes have again this year a strong, young team, with good backfield depth, according to Idaho scout Gene Stauber. The Vandals have been bothered the first two weeks by a seige of food poisoning and are just now recuperating.

Consensus of national sports authorities give the nod to the Utes, but we feel the Vandals have the edge by a score with the game played in friendly Bronco Stadium in Boise.

Coach Skip Stahley, staff and team, leave today for Boise to meet one of the Skyline conference's powerhouses, the Ute Redskins.

Stahley has brought in a few transfers this year, but the biggest recent news about school is the freshmen talent, which the head coach has recruited, all a part of the vast building program.

The coach hasn't released the names yet, but he expects players from California, Delaware, New Jersey, Indiana, Arkansas, Washington and Idaho, to round out the frosh eleven. The Babes will again play their three opponents, Montana and the Washington clubs. Eidam Gone

The big headache that Skip knew he would face at the opening of the 1955 season, would be that of replacing quarterback George Eidam, who ran out his eligibility year while leading the Cougar killers.

To replace him, Stahley brought in a quick thinking sophomore second semester last season and put him through the spring practice rind. Gary Cozlan, now Gary Johnson, would be back, but he had not seen much action under pressure in the big time.

This new transfer punts, passes and handles the ball like a veteran. He played a season of ball at East Los Angeles Jaycee, and when in high school, played in the varsity backfield with the USC great, Jon Arnett.

Howard, tagged by Spokane Sportswriter Bill Boni as the "Beak," Willis, is the guy who has been showing in practice and in the opening game against Washington, with the best of the conference quarterbacks. Willis and Johnson make a top flight crew of quarterbacks to lead the Vandals in this still young season.

Frosh Oct. 10th

Frosh ball gets underway with practice sessions Monday, Oct. 10. The Pacific Coast Conference and officials at Idaho feel that by putting practice off until this date, the freshmen get a chance to get settled with their studies and in living facilities.

Coach Clem Parberry has hinted that the club will be loaded with more talent than last year's eleven, but said that the ranks will be a little thinner. A preliminary check shows plenty of beef in the line and speed in the backfield.

The entire Vandal staff sports a big grin about the group of players flooding to Idaho.

NOTICE

Two freshmen will be needed this fall to manage the Idaho freshmen football club, Coach Clem Parberry announced today. Parberry asked that men interested contact him at the athletic office
