Idaho Sets Up Traffic Contest

Idaho And WSC Will Compete For Campus Traffic Awards

The University of Idaho Argonaut and the Washington State College Daily Evergreen simultaneously challenged each others campus today to an all out traffic safety campaign in an effort to cut down traffic fatalities and injuries involving regularly enrolled students of the two colleges. The challenge was made in connection with national "S-D Day"—Safe Driving Day—Thursday, December 1, and a concerted effort on the part of the two campuses to make students aware of the serious traffic accident problem.

Before you read this column you'd better skip over across the page and thoroughly digest the Argonaut's story on the big wreck.

Today we kick-off the first issue of an extended traffic safety campaign and it is the idea of the Argonaut staff to keep the subject in front of the eyes of the students for a long time. The inter-campus traffic safety challenge with Washington State College and the dreamed-up story about the big wreck are all directed to bring this safe driving talk right home to you students. If you were fooled by the story, don't be mad—just sit down and think about it.

Sunday afternoon, State Patrolman Ken DeYoung, Chuck McDevitt, Mike O'Callaghan, Jamie Steele, Ricky Jones, Arg photographer and Jason converged upon Brandt Bros. Wrecking yard for the scene of the accident.

Brandt went hunting early in the morning, but he must have got some meat because he was a little late. Jason called Ken MacRae of MacRae Motors who instantly volunteered to bring his jeep out to the "scene of the crime" and do the pullin' honors for us.

After fifteen minutes, a broken tow chain, a stuck jeep and many passing motorists' questions later, the scene was laid and so were the prospective corpses. Jones got busy snapping pictures amid sneers and dirty looks from passersby who couldn't understand why a state patrolman was flagging traffic by, a photographer who snapping pictures and all the while nobody was bothering to do anything about the poor lads strewn all over the highway.

One passerby slowed down and asked very seriously, "was anyone killed?" You answer the question. If that accident really would have happened—would you have been killed?

The pictures taken, the scene was cleared and everyone piled in their cars and drove home.

McDevitt and O'Callaghan were just entering town, laughingly discussing the happenings minutes before when suddenly a truck pulled out of a parking place right into the path of O'Callaghan's automobile.

Quick reflexes on the part of Mike prevented what could have been a rather serious accident. McDevitt's chuckle choked in his throat and it was minutes before either made any comment. It had been a close one.

It could have happened to you.

The Kampus Key will be the guide for the spelling of names in this year's Gem. If your name is misspelled in the Kampus Key please contact LaRae Sasser, phone B631 before Saturday to correct the mistake.

Students and faculty members of colleges and universities throughout the United States were asked to help make a success of "S-D Day." S-D Day is sponsored by the President's Committee for Traffic Safety in co-operation with nearly 200 national organizations. It is endorsed by President Eisenhower, all 48 Governors, and mayors of communities throughout the nation.

Its purpose it twofold:
 1. Not a single traffic accident during the 24 hours of December—in daytime or darkness.
 2. Year-around public support for year-around traffic safety programs of proven effectiveness.

In connection with a year-around traffic safety program, an inter-campus contest will be initiated December 1 to run through the spring semester in an effort to cut down accidents. The school having the least number of regularly enrolled students involved in traffic accidents will be declared the year's winner and the other school will sponsor a dance complete with orchestra and refreshments on the winner's campus.

Booby Prize Too

According to Gary Pietsch, editor of the Idaho Argonaut, figures will be compiled on a monthly basis with traveling trophies going to the "safest and most reckless" campus respectively. "The very fact that you are regularly enrolled student at either of these two colleges qualifies you as a prospective accident victim no matter where in the United States the accident may occur," said Pietsch. Each person involved in an accident will constitute a red mark against that particular school's traffic safety record.

Safety Meeting

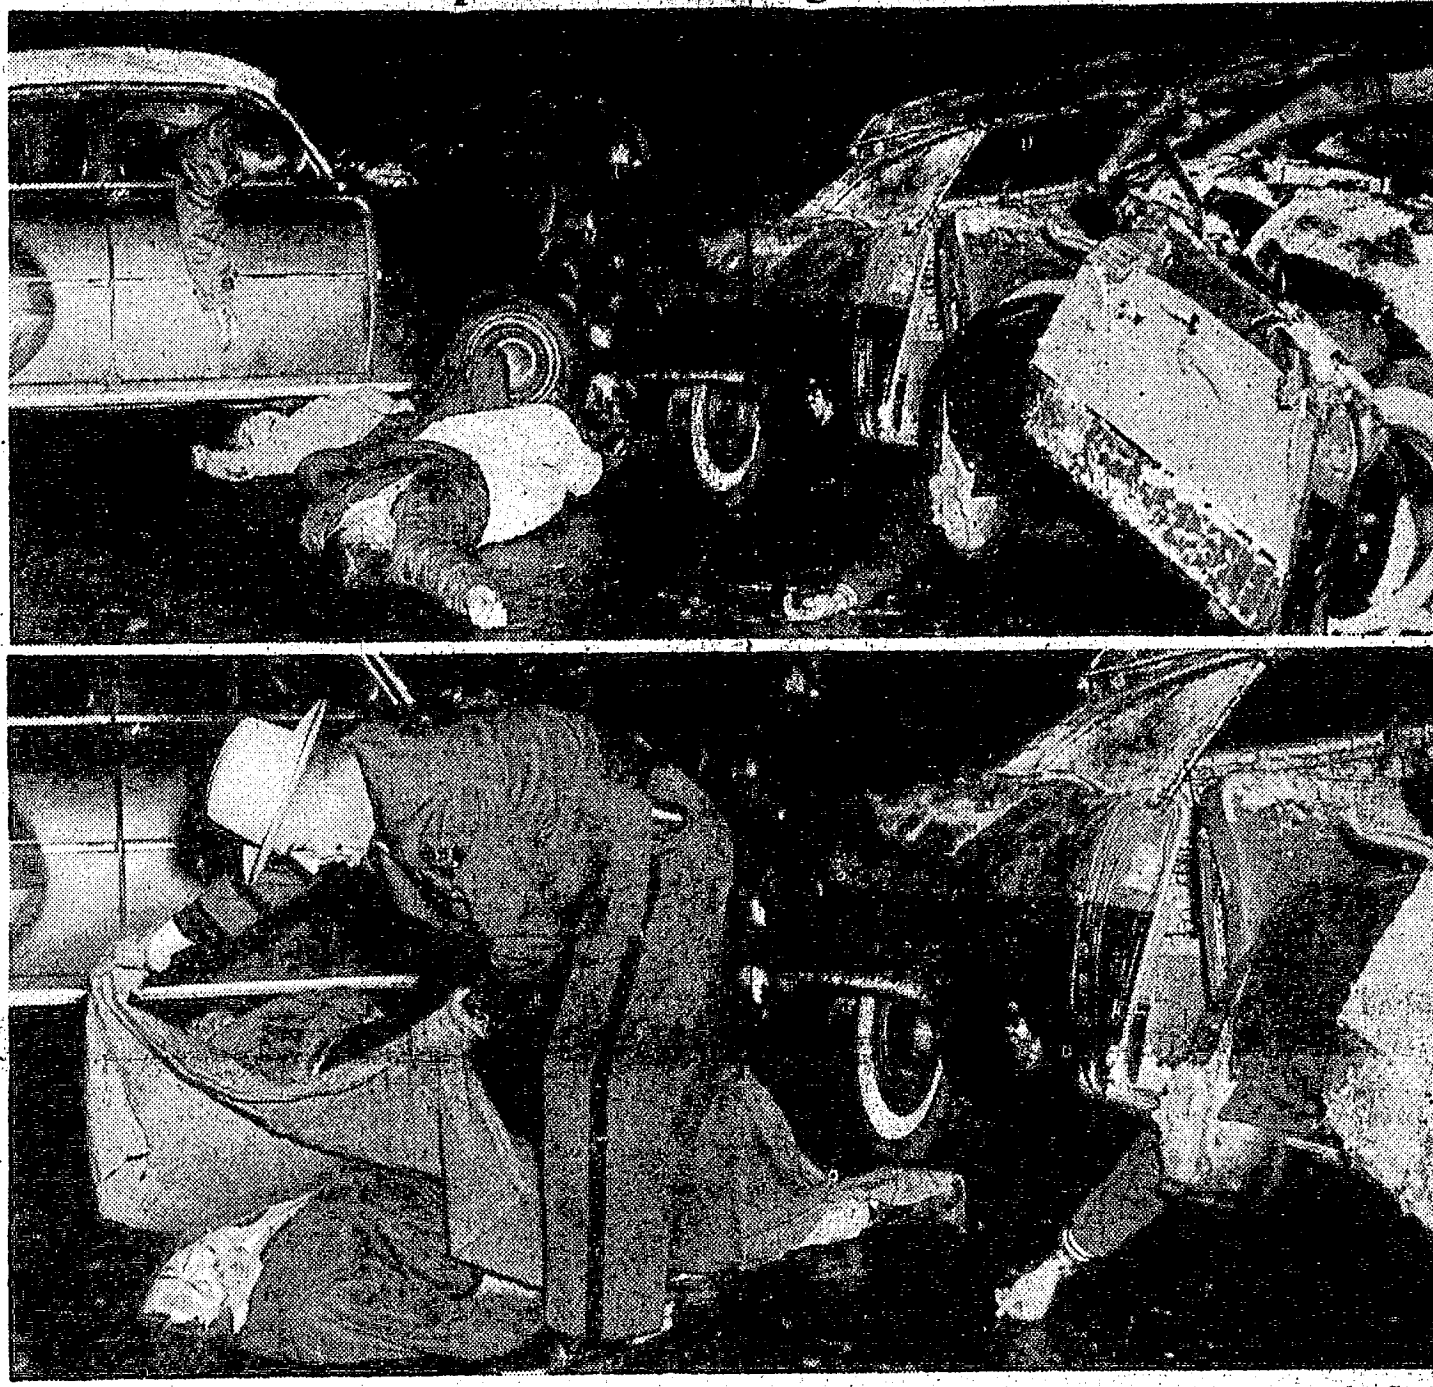

The inter-campus challenge was the outgrowth of a meeting with WSC faculty and traffic officials and Idaho faculty and student leaders last week. Washington State College's Dean of Students, J. C. Clevenger, called interested representatives of the two campuses to gether to discuss traffic safety in the light of education prevention and enforcement.

Daily Evergreen Editor Tom Heuterman told the Argonaut today that the WSC administration is becoming keenly aware of their traffic record and accident problem. The WSC box score for fall accidents involving WSC students today stands at two killed and 14 injured. The University of Idaho is lacking in fatalities, but is running a close second with a total of 13 injured since school opened.

Explaining what Safe Driving Day is, retired Rear Admiral H. B. Miller, director of the committee stated that "its purpose is to demonstrate, again, that traffic accidents can be greatly reduced when motorists and pedestrians fulfill their moral and civic responsibility for safety."

Mass Death

Miller said that "last year, there was 10,000,000 traffic accidents in the United States. They killed 36,000 people—one every 15 minutes; injured 1 1/4 million others—one every 25 seconds; and cost an estimated 4.4 billion dollars in medical bills, property loss and other expense. From left to right are Chuck McDevitt, injured, Gary Pietsch, injured, Mike O'Callaghan, killed, and Jamie Steele, killed.

IFC To Adopt War Orphan

Interfraternity Council elected new officers and decided to adopt a foreign war orphan Tuesday.

Paul Schultz, Sigma Chi, was elected president of the organization. Other officers include: Pat Daly, Kappa Sig, vice president, Jack Cole, Delta, treasurer, and Mike Southcombe, Phi, secretary.

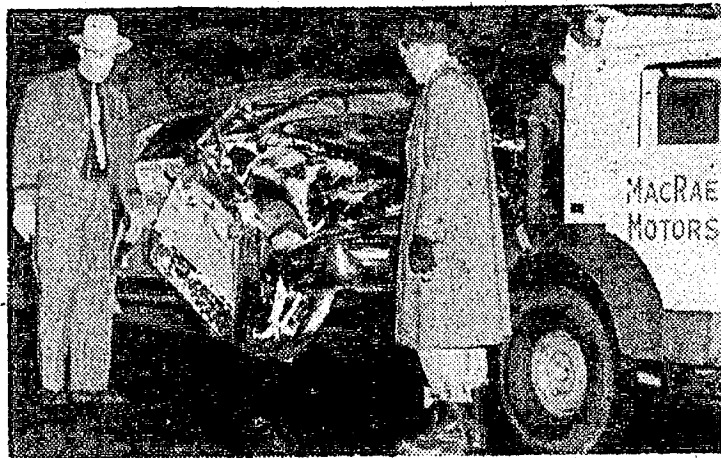

The group decided to become the foster parent of a war orphan for one year. Foster Parents Plan for War Children, Inc. will pick the child to be adopted and inform the I.F.C. concerning their choice as soon as possible, according to Mike Southcombe, member of the committee. The cost to the I.F.C. will be $15 a month as partial support for the child, and the Foster Parents Plan will then transfer the money to the child's care.

A committee is presently investigating the three national fraternities that have indicated their desire to colonize on the Idaho campus. Pat Daly, chairman, is arranging for his committee to visit Theta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Delta Upsilon fraternities on the WSC campus this week. Final decision as to which one will be given the green light to colonize here next year will probably be made by the members of the council at the next meeting, said Schultz.

"Bernarda Alba" Has Female Cast

"The House of Bernarda Alba," the drama department's upcoming offering slated for Dec. 2 and 3 will be an "extra" production on the dramatic group's schedule this season, technical adviser Miss Jean Colette said today.

The play, written by the Spanish playwright Fredric Lorca, will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings in the Ad auditorium. Admission, Miss Colette said, will be by ASUI cards and reserved seat tickets can be purchased at the SUB bookstore. Edmund Chavez is play director.

Mood of play will be a pronounced digression from the predominantly lighter themes of other dramatic productions selected for the year. "Hodge" concentrates on a calculated pyramiding of emotions which build to a sudden release of tension at the end of the play.

All Female Cast

Primary reason for selection of the play, according to Miss Colette, was to give female dramatic talent a chance to show itself. The 13 member cast calls for only female roles and will give a number of girls acting experience.

Many of the cast members also tried out for parts in the initial season's production, "My Sister Eileen," but were not included because of a lack of available roles, Miss Colette said. A second reason is to provide a balance for other (Continued on Page 5, Col. 3)

Idaho Traffic Deaths Mount

Speed, Daring, Blamed In Death Of Two Prominent Campus Men

Two University of Idaho campus leaders were killed instantly and two more seriously injured late last night when the cars in which they were riding apparently spun out of control on the slippery pavement into the ditch just north of Moscow in front of Bill Brandt Bros. Wrecking yard on Highway 95.

Killed were:

Mike O'Callaghan, a graduate student majoring in Education.
 Jamie Steele, senior majoring in business and Editor of the Gem of the Mountains.

Injured were:

Chuck McDevitt, senior majoring in law and President of the ASUI.

Gary Pietsch, a senior majoring in journalism and Editor of the Idaho Argonaut.

Arriving at the scene of the accident second after it happened, State Patrolman Ken DeYoung said that the two cars had apparently been playing tag, out automobile side-swiping the other in an attempt to pass which threw both machines out of control.

With the highway strewn with bodies, DeYoung said that it could not readily be determined who was riding in which car. He later surmised that McDevitt was the sole occupant of the late model Chevrolet and O'Callaghan, Steele and Pietsch were riding in the other machine, a late model Pontiac.

Taken to Gritman Memorial hospital, physicians reported that McDevitt suffered a fractured right collar bone, broken left leg and shattered knee cap, facial cuts and bruises and probable internal injuries when he was thrown against the windshield. The force of McDevitt's body hitting the safety glass completely shattered the entire window.

Pietsch sustained compound fractures of both legs, crushed chest and pelvic bone, extreme lacerations over his entire body and internal injuries. Office DeYoung testified that McDevitt's automobile must have passed over his body. Both are reported in serious condition and awaiting surgery today.

Reconstructing the bloody incident, DeYoung stated that the two cars apparently side-swiped each other when McDevitt tried to pass. "I would estimate the automobiles were traveling over 75 miles an hour when they came together. The wet pavement and excessive speed made it impossible for even a sane driver" to keep his car under control," said DeYoung.

It was believed at first that a blow-out may have contributed to the cause of the accident, but later investigation proved that both vehicles were in excellent condition prior to the mishap.

O'Callaghan, a member of the ASUI Executive Board, is survived by his wife Carolyn and son, Michael.

Steele was a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity and from Nampa.

Funeral services have not been arranged.

Could This Be You? Would you like to be in their shoes? The above story which you have just read was nothing but a gimmick dreamed up by the Idaho Argonaut staff to kick-off its traffic safety campaign and to emphasize SAFE DRIVING.

Typhoid Fever Visits Campus; Kappas Are Hit

Typhoid fever, a relatively rare disease in modern times, has hospitalized two members of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority at the University of Idaho, Dr. Ralph M. Alley, University physician, reported Monday. He added that the condition of both coeds is good.

Diagnosed Friday as afflicted with typhoid fever was Dorothy Jacobsen, sophomore from Rexburg, Nan Soden, Twin Falls senior, came down with the disease Monday. Both women, treated with the latest antibiotic therapy, have been responding well, said Dr. Alley.

"While all members of the sorority are being immunized, every effort is being made to trace the source of the disease," the University physician stated. "Tests will be conducted on whatever scale is necessary to find the cause."

Facilities of the University's department of bacteriology have been made available in the quest. First tests are being conducted by the department on all food handlers at the sorority house.

In safeguarding against the spread of typhoid fever, Dr. Alley stressed that hands should be thoroughly soaped and washed before meals and that sterilization processes for utensils should be intensified. He urged that all students on the campus pay particular attention to these health measures.

Blue Key Sells All Directory Copies, Said V-P McPike

Kampus Keys were a complete sell-out by Sunday, according to Roger McPike, Blue Key vice president.

Blue Key sold 870 copies of the University's only all-campus directory, which they distributed with the help of the Mortar Board and the University Publications office. Only 800 were sold last year, leaving 100 unsold copies.

This year the organization reduced the number of copies printed to 870, but failed to anticipate the increased enrollment made possible by the three new halls on campus.

"We could have sold one thousand Keys this year if we had had that many to sell," said McPike.

It is estimated that about $200 to $300 will be collected for the keys, but accurate figures are not yet available. Revenue from the sale will be used for the annual Blue Key talent show in the spring.

IMTA Pledges Help To Make S-D A Success

Members of the trucking industry in the state of Idaho pledged their complete cooperation in making Safe Driving Day, December 1, a success and have announced a goal of 100 per cent participation by employees in the industry.

In a letter to officials of the S-D Day program in Idaho, Ken Hartzler, managing director of the Idaho Motor Transport Association, stated that his industry is highly enthusiastic about the program and wishes to cooperate with the officials in every possible way to make the program a success.

Hartzler pointed out that his organization has set up an industry wide plan boosting the program. The plan consists of holding special meetings to orientate employees on the S-D Day campaign and assisting the state director, Edson Deal.

The industry has developed special pledge sheets, posters and payroll inserts, according to Hartzler, and many individual companies will have special projects to emphasize S-D Day.

"The industry," said Hartzler, "is striving for 100 per cent participation by its employees, whether they be professional drivers, drivers of private cars or pedestrians."

Idaho Litter Bugs Subject To Fine Or Jail If Caught

Commissioner of Law Enforcement, Earle E. Koehler, noted today that section 18-3906, Idaho Code, as amended forbids the placing of debris along highways. That section reads as follows:

"Placing Debris In Highways.—If any person shall willfully or negligently throw or deposit upon any highway, street, alley or easement used by the public for public travel, any glass bottle, glass, nails, tacks, hoops, cans, barbed wire, boards, trash or garbage, or other substance which would or could injure any horse, stock, vehicle or person traveling upon such highway, street, alley or easement, which would or could injure or impair the health of any person, or which would or could mar or impair the scenic aspect or beauty of such highway, such person shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine not exceeding twenty-five dollars or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ten days. For the purposes of this section the terms 'highway,' 'street,' 'alley' or 'easement' shall be construed to include the entire right-of-way of such highway, street, alley or easement."

He also noted that all municipal, county and state enforcement officers are pledged to enforce all the laws of the state all of the time. Koehler said, "to put it in a few words, it is not only unrightly it is also illegal to throw almost anything out of your car onto or close to any road or highway."

Accident Drivers Have Added Responsibilities

A detailed explanation of the security requirements of Idaho's newly revised Motor Vehicle Safety Responsibility Law was made public today by Earle E. Koehler, State Commissioner of Law Enforcement, in which he emphasized that it is not a compulsory insurance statute and cited a number of ways in which motorists can avoid loss of their driving and registration privileges if they are involved in an accident.

The law makes mandatory within 60 days the suspension of both privileges of every driver and owner who is involved in an accident in which a person is killed, injured, or property damages to any one person exceeds $50 unless they have furnished satisfactory proofs of their ability to meet damage claims up to $11,000.

"It is perfectly true," Commissioner Koehler said, "that the law specifically directs that the right kind of insurance, if it was in effect at the time of the accident, shall serve as proof of ability to meet damage claims, and the suspension penalty is thereby removed automatically. But that is not the only way suspension can be avoided."

Right Insurance

"The right kind of insurance, in the great majority of cases, will be either an automobile liability insurance policy for motor vehicle owners or an automobile liability insurance policy for drivers who are not owners. An owner's automobile liability insurance policy covers both the owner and any legally licensed driver who is operating the car with the owners permission. A driver's policy covers a person who is not an owner but operates motor vehicles owned by other persons. The law accepts any kind of insurance that covers damage claims arising out of a motor vehicle accident.

"There are several additional things motorists should understand about the kind of insurance this law accepts," Koehler said. "It must be written by a company licensed to write insurance in Idaho. It also must provide the following minimum coverage: $1,000 for property damage, $5,000 for death or injury of one person, and $10,000 for death or injury of more than one person in one accident, or a total of $11,000 for death, injury and property damage in one accident. The insurance for non-residents may be written by a company not licensed in Idaho but which has complied with this state's insurance laws."

Uninsured Motorists

"Now let's consider how uninsured motorists may comply with the law.

"If an owner or operator, following an accident, files a written release from liability signed by all persons involved, the Safety Responsibility Law will be satisfied. Or he may obtain a final court decision of non-liability. He may also execute a legal written agreement with all other persons involved, providing for the payment of damage claims in installments. Or he may deposit with the Department of Law Enforcement, sufficient collateral to cover the amount of damage, in the judgement of the Department, for which he might be liable."

May Put Up Collateral

Koehler could not estimate how much this collateral might amount to. "If the accident is a very serious one, it could run up to $11,000, but no more, under this law. If it is a comparatively minor accident it might be as little as $51. Nor does this mean that motorists will be required to pay for damages they did not cause; they are required only to furnish satisfactory proof, in one of the manners I have cited, of their ability to pay if a court returns a judgement against them.

Must Report

"It is most important, however, for all owners and drivers to understand two points: (1) all questions of fault must be settled finally or proof of ability to pay filed with the Department of Law Enforcement within 60 days after it receives a report of the accident in

VETS MAIL BAG

As a service to University of Idaho veterans, this newspaper will publish a weekly column of news briefs from the Veterans Administration. For further information veterans should contact or write their nearest VA office.

Veterans Administration has listed some reminders for the two-thirds-of-a-million veterans now in training under the Korean GI Bill that will aid them get paid allowances.

First, VA urged veteran-trainees to make sure they fill out the "Certification of Training" from their school will give them at the end of each month of training. The completed form must be returned to the school which, in turn, will send it to VA, each month.

The law requires that this monthly form be in VA's hands before the agency may mail a veteran his GI allowance check.

VA's second reminder is for veteran-trainees eligible for higher GI allowance rates because they have dependents. These veterans should submit evidence of dependency as soon as possible, VA said.

The veteran who wishes to claim an increased allowance because of his wife should send VA a certified copy of the public or church record of his marriage, along with a VA form called "Declaration of Marital Status." Other records will be needed if the veteran, or his wife, have been married before.

To claim the higher rate because of a minor child, the veteran-trainee should submit to VA a certified copy of the public record of birth, or a certified copy of the record of baptism.

Korean GI veteran-trainees also should notify VA immediately if:

1. They change their address.
2. They plan to change their training program.
3. They quit or drop out of training.
4. Their dependency status is changed, through divorce, birth of a child, or death of a dependent.

In notifying VA, veterans should be sure to give their claim number and full name and address.

Safety Group Head Drive

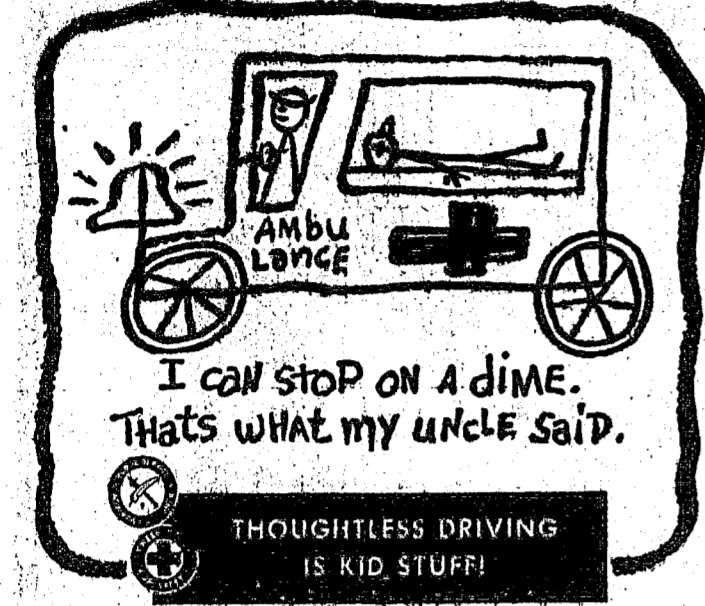

The Student Events Council has announced the formation of a Safety Committee. The new committee will administer and conduct a campus wide safety program, according to Fred Burrow, Student Events Council chairman.

Tentative plans for the safety drive include a traveling trophy between Idaho and WSC. Idaho's safety program will be coordinated with the Student Affairs Office at WSC.

Those chosen to serve on the committee were Dick Davis, chairman, Ben Jenness, Roy Hargrave, Al Coombes and Gail Bronson.

How Long Does It Take To Stop A Car?

This may seem to be an elementary question, but the Traffic Safety Division of the Department of Law Enforcement maintains that thousands of drivers become traffic statistics because they either can not answer this question or answer it incorrectly.

For example, the division says at 20 miles an hour it takes 52 feet to stop a car, providing the driver has an average reaction time, the car has average brakes, and the highway condition is normal. Add rain, poor brakes or a slow-reacting driver and the distance required to stop immediately increases.

Reaction time, incidentally, is the time it takes you to get your foot on the brake after you see danger ahead. For the average person, this is three-fourths of a second.

Stopping distances at higher rates of speed, which prevail in rural areas, explain why the open road is the most deadly place to be involved in a collision.

Most people drive too fast to avoid an accident should they or another driver commit a blunder. At 50 miles an hour, a car will travel 55 feet before a driver can even get his foot on the brake pedal. Once he starts applying the pressure, he will travel 187.5 feet before the vehicle stops. This makes a total stopping distance of 242.5 feet.

At 60 miles an hour stopping distance is 336 feet. Small wonder that many drivers are caught short in emergencies; that time they thought they could stop on disappears.

"Signs Of Life"

That's a well-known phrase which very accurately describes the traffic signs, signals, and pavement markings, that we see as we drive along the highways.

Traffic Signs qualify for this imposing title in two ways: First, they are positive indication that we are fully alive to the danger of traffic accidents—and we have gone to considerable expense and effort erecting these devices which inform, warn, and protect us as we drive.

Second, traffic signs are "signs of life" because many lives can be saved by the simple expedient of observing them and obeying them. On the other hand failure to obey traffic signs has been the direct cause of the death of many people.

Standard shapes and colors have been developed for traffic signs to increase their effectiveness. Drivers who are familiar with the standard shapes of such signs have the benefit of "advance notice" even before they can read the sign itself.

The most important pavement markings are centerlines and traffic lane lines, no-passing lines, and pedestrian crosswalk markings. The important thing about centerlines is our ability to stay on our own side of that line. If we all could do this, head-on collisions and side-swipes would suddenly become a rarity.

Crosswalk lines should be treated with utmost respect by all drivers. Pedestrians have the right-of-way when crossing the street within a crosswalk. The law forbids our parking or stopping on a crosswalk. Respect the crosswalk, and stay in back of it whenever we stop.

Needless to say, it has cost the people of Idaho considerable money to erect thousands of signs and to paint many miles of pavement across the face of our state. But it will cost us much, much more if we thoughtlessly ignore these friendly "signs of life."

Save Your Own Life

To save your life heed the signs of life!

The traffic signs, signals, pavement markings and other devices which state the law, warn of hazards or afford protection and convenience for all highway users are indeed "signs of life" for the careful motorist.

There are five basic types of these signs, each so shaped as to be readily distinguishable from a distance, and to enable the driver to take suitable action:

OCTAGONAL signs are stop signs, which may be either yellow with black lettering or red with white legend.

DIAMOND-shaped signs are warning signs, yellow with black lettering, which tells of curves, hills, unusual pavement or roadway conditions.

RECTANGULAR signs state the law. White signs of various sizes, they list speed limits and parking limitations, identify no-passing zones, areas from which certain types of vehicles are excluded, etc.

ROUND signs are yellow signs with a black X and the symbol RR, indicating a highway-railroad crossing which is only 300 to 500 feet ahead of you.

CROSSBUCK is the tall, white railroad crossing sign beside the actual grade crossing.

Failure to heed these signs, as well as violation of some traffic law or lack of ordinary courtesy, figures in most traffic accidents. These signs are based on engineering studies and must be respected by all.

Driving Is A Privilege

Did you ever stop to think that you haven't any "right" to drive an automobile—that driving is a privilege, and like all privileges it carries with it definite responsibilities.

There's nothing on the statute books or on a driver's license that refers to the right to drive. The privilege of driving a car is given to the citizen and he is expected to accept the responsibility it entails.

Sad—but true, this is not always the case.

While 1954 saw a slight decrease in the nation's automobile accident toll, nearly two million casualties were recorded. Traffic accidents killed 36,000 people and injured a total of 1,250,000 persons.

Weekend crashes accounted for 13,980 killed and 678,000 hurt during 1954. Three out of four auto accidents happened to passenger cars driving in clear weather on dry roads, and 78 percent of vehicles involved in fatal accidents were traveling straight ahead.

These are grim statistics. The above figures point out that accidents are heavy, even though state and community authorities have spent millions of dollars in an effort to provide safer and better roads and saner driving. Along with this states are conducting educational programs to impress upon the minds of citizens that they have a definite responsibility.

In its broadest sense such responsibility means the driver's responsibility for his own safety and the safety of everyone else who uses the public thoroughfares.

This, of course, includes obeying all traffic laws and ordinances, because traffic laws, which are based on a combination of experience and common sense, are made for the protection of the public.

The Idaho Department of Law Enforcement reminds motorists who are in the habit of taking traffic laws lightly that such an attitude is bound to get them into trouble. Traffic law violators constantly expose themselves to the possibility of losing their licenses.

The Commissioner of Law Enforcement is required by law, upon the receipt of a conviction report, to revoke for one year the license of any driver convicted of drunk driving or negligent homicide.

But even without the threat of these serious consequences, the trustworthy citizen should be willing to accept his responsibility to drive safely at all times.

If each individual would accept his responsibility for his own safety and for the safety of all he meets in traffic, the Idaho traffic accident toll and especially the traffic record of the University of Idaho could be cut substantially.

OSC Stripper Strips Engineers' Social Life

Fourteen engineering societies at Oregon State College have been stripped of all social privileges for an indefinite length of time as a result of administrative punishment for a November 15th appearance of a strip tease dancer at the Engineer's bust. Faculty action also cancelled this year's annual engineer's ball at Corvallis.

A dancer from Portland's Star Theatre entertained about 700 men at the bust. Two seniors in electrical engineering were reported to have brought the stripper to the campus.

No individual penalties were imposed on the students, the electrical engineers or other sponsors of the bust. The student life committee, a faculty and student disciplinary group, ruled on the case.

Rumors before the bust said that engineers were planning a "good show" because they believed it would be the last one. The 40 cent tickets for the event carried a sketch of a reclining nude, and programs showed a girl with a not-to-well-concealed bust.

The Oregon State Daily Barometer attacked the decision in an editorial, saying that this ruling really put the damper on students in engineering. The editorial said,

"much effort has been made to draw the slide rule boys out into campus activities, and engineering societies have long provided the social side for married students."

The paper further stated that "elimination of the engineer's ball also seems too stiff a penalty for the actions of a small group. The ball is a chance for the school to provide something for the college, and the organizers who perpetrated the stripper and other objectionable acts are a small minority of the affected students."

The faculty and students disciplinary group's penalties affected about 1300 engineers.

Harry Morrison To Present Recital Thursday Evening

Harry S. Morrison, Jr., a baritone, will be the featured artist in a faculty recital to be presented in the recital hall of the University music building at 8 p.m. Thursday.

A new member of the music staff, Morrison is a graduate of the University of Iowa. He taught for several years at Parsons College, his alma mater; and has had professional experience with the Grass Roots Opera Company of North Carolina. Accompanying him in his performance will be Hall M. Macklin, head of the music department.

Morrison will present a varied program of numbers ranging from Bach and Handel, through the Romantic composers, to numbers by himself and Charles W. Davis, a member of the music faculty of Washington State College. Featured on the program will be selections from "Elijah" by Mendelssohn with organ accompaniment.

Numbers to be performed on the program include "Thanks Be to Thee" by Handel; "Come, Sweet Death" by Bach; "Caro Mio Ben" by Giordani; "To Lo Sai" by Torrelli; "Beau Sor" by Debussy; "Avant de Quitter Ces Lieux" from "Faust" by Gounod; "Die Maidnacht" by Brahms; "Von Ewigem Liebe" by Brahms; "Three Epitaphs" by Davis; "Rondo Sad Song" by Morrison; and "The Musical Adventures of Jack and Jill" by Spaeth.

On the Campus... Must See NSA Congress To Realize Scope

By CHARLES OLDHAM (Ed.—This is the last of a series of informative articles concerning the National Students Association written at the request of the Argonaut following the tentative decision of the ASUI Executive Board that Idaho maintain its affiliation with NSA.)

This is the concluding article in this series dealing with some of the questions concerning the National Students Association and its relationship to our campus. In these articles I have tried to present some of the reasons why Idaho has maintained its affiliation with NSA since its founding in 1947. It was pointed out that NSA was founded on the belief that students have mutual interests which a national organization could further and in doing so NSA benefits the educational community and its affiliated member student governments. Today I would like to turn to another seemingly intangible benefit which NSA or any student leadership group and their meetings offer.

When those who demand an accounting of what NSA or any meeting of student leaders has accomplished, they tend to discount the intangible although distinct benefits which the student leader derives from his association with like minded people. From such meetings the leader comes away with ideas and impressions which while on the surface may not show direct benefit to the student government, it nevertheless has.

The meeting has given benefit by helping to give a broader perspective by which the student leader can view his school's particular problems, a greater realization of these problems as well as an understanding that despite weak points his student government has many strong points when compared to other student governments. While perhaps intangible and of a personal nature, I would contend that these meetings are of a direct benefit both to the individual and to his student government.

Renew Strength

Idaho may send student leaders to NSA meetings or to regional meetings and never once come away from these meetings with anything except a renewed spirit and a determination to try once again to further their school's interests. Probably being a leader is one of the least rewarding and most frustrating positions to which one could aspire. The leader sees what might be and what is and it would seem that never the twain shall meet. Yet these meetings renew his strength to try again to tackle some thankless task simply because it has to be done and the leader feels a sense of duty that the job shall be done.

Last year Idaho did not send a delegation to the NSA Congress because the newly elected student officers did not feel in a position to do so, since NSA had been an issue during the election campaign. It is my hope that it is not the wish of the Idaho student body to try to cut down on the number of contacts which Idaho's student leaders can have with their kind from other campuses.

It is a further hope of mine that if the regional program which Chuck McDevitt is pushing so vigorously "clicks" that the ASUI may still find itself in a position to send its usual delegates to the NSA Congress as well as supporting an independent regional program. If the regional program should fall then Idaho would be left in a position of supporting NSA or having no contacts at all with a student government leadership organization.

Same Problem

Regardless of the outcome of the question of whether to support NSA fully or to devote most of our efforts to a regional program, we should keep in mind that this will mean the end of the same type of criticism which one hears presently directed towards Idaho's participation in NSA. Idaho will still be faced with the problem of transporting delegates a long distance, hence limiting the extent of student leadership participation. It will not end the questioning of what benefits were derived from the meeting nor will you have eliminated the problem of how one implements the enthusiasm and ideas which such leadership meetings encourage.

One should not attempt to discourage all the possible contacts which our student leaders can have with other student leaders. This is probably one of the main reasons for maintaining our contacts with NSA, for through NSA Idaho is associated with an area of student leadership which would be unavailable if we were to participate only in a regional association.

I hope that Idaho despite the outcome of the regional idea may continue its practice of attending the NSA Congress and its Student President Conference. It is only possible by attending the national meeting of NSA to realize the scope, the ideas and ideals which have gone into the building of NSA. Here is afforded a chance for student leaders to come into contact with better than 600 other like minded individuals, to discuss until dawn the current problems affecting college students. The discussions, the controversy, the resolutions, the decision reached and the shared experience all go into making a better student government leader.

Participation in these meetings help prove that ours is not a "silent generation" unconcerned with the vital issues affecting us as college students. Since 1947 Idaho has demonstrated that we are not a part of this so-called "silent generation." I hope that we can say that this is so in the future.

Editor Submits 7-Point Student Opinion Program

Argonaut Editor Gary Pietsch presented Tuesday a list of seven proposals in regards to a student opinion program that has tangled the three campus parties in the ASUI Executive Board.

Pietsch was asked at a previous meeting of the board to draw up a public relations plan of sampling and obtaining student opinion on more campus issues. A plan proposed by Karen Krauss, United and Dick Gaskins, Independent, failed to gain approval from the Board.

The entire nine-man board has agreed there is a definite need in devising a program of sampling student opinion. The Student Government Party, theoretically in power with a President and two board members, ran on a platform last spring calling for closer contact between the board and the students.

The main controversy has arisen over a means of sampling the opinion.

Pietsch said, "These proposals, I feel, may serve as a means to determining an end product to the problem."

No Action

The Board took no immediate action, but tabled the proposals until the next meeting. Members wished time to consider the matters.

Pietsch strongly backed working out opinion polls, house president meetings and further coverage of board happenings through the student paper.

The suggestions included:

1. Set up a Student Opinion Bureau and gather campus opinions systematically, by use of a student poll much on the same order of Stan Glass' Illinois University set up.
2. Continue to make use of the House President's meetings. Effort should be made to encourage the plays to be presented later in the year.

Lorca's plot centers around the rebellion of one of five daughters to her mother's stern and austere existence which is the product of an eight-year mourning for their long-dead father. Unable to cope with this drab and stern life, one of the daughters finally rebels, bringing shame to the House of Bernarda Alba and signaling a climactic explosion of pent-up emotions that ends the play.

Staging Important

Staging for the drama according to Miss Colette, will be an important factor in establishing the mood of the play. Balance and repetition in the lines of the set serve as the background for the action and contribute to the apparent, yet unreal feeling of the staid lives of the occupants of the house.

Spanish style wrought iron railings, while essential in the setting of the production, will also subtly suggest a prison-like environment. Blue, denoting a lack of warmth and understanding between the members of the household, will be the predominant color in the settings. In contrast, red period furniture will signify the concealed but potent emotions that in the end present themselves.

Leaders Committee Will Plan Confab

Interviews will be held tonight for students interested in serving on a leadership training committee, according to Fred Burrow, chairman of the Student Events Council.

Interested persons should report to conference room C, Student Union Building, at 7:00 p.m.

Those chosen to serve on the committee will be responsible for conducting the annual leadership conference, to be held each fall to give leaders and potential leaders information as to how they can improve their leadership techniques.

Last year's conference featured such speakers as University President Theophilus, Skip Stahley, and Lt. Col. James A. Moore. Topics discussed included the qualities of leadership, and the functions of student government.

January 18 and 19 have been tentatively scheduled as the dates for this year's conference. The five man committee will be responsible for planning a program and securing speakers for each of the two sessions of the conference.

Forrester Begins Public Speeches

Dean J. D. Forrester of the college of mines will give the first in a series of public lectures sponsored by the American Association of University Professors at 8 p.m. Tuesday, November 29. The address will be given in room 6 of the Home Economics building.

Dean Forrester has chosen "Underground Electrocarbons" as the subject of his speech. The topic is concerned with a method whereby coal not otherwise economically recoverable can be converted in the ground into gases which may then be recovered and utilized. In this way, vast quantities of coal otherwise lost can be used, greatly increasing our reserves of energy.

Public lectures next month will be given by Professor K. R. Acharya, December 6, and Dr. Myhra S. Minnis, December 13. Acharya will speak on "The Culture of India" and Dr. Minnis, "Sociological Theory and Research."

including loss in earnings. There is probably no one in the United States who has not had a member of his or her family, or a friend or neighbor, injured in a traffic accident."

Miller stressed the need for action saying, "It required 50 years for the United States to reach the total of one million traffic deaths in 1951. At our present rate, only half as long will be required to kill the second million."

Exec. Board Sees List Of Committee Choices

Recommendations for the Safety Committee and Recruitment committee were submitted to the Executive Board Tuesday night and the Board also passed a special budget request for a drama production.

The Student Events Council submitted the names of Dick Davis, Ben Jenness, Roy Hargrave, Al Coombes and Gail Bronson for the Safety committee, and the Student Activities Council suggested that Bob Schriber and Jack Cole be named co-chairmen of the recruitment group.

The traffic safety group, President Chuck McDevitt said, has been formed to study the traffic practices on this campus and to develop education in the line of traffic safety.

The special budget request was for a production "Finian's Rainbow," at an estimated cost of $800. The admission price was at 75 cents for adults and 25 cents for students and the request approved.

In other Board action John Gillis informed the board that the Social Coordination Council would like to take over the duties of the Scheduling Committee, soon to be set up. Gillis also reported that the council president, Jim Townsend, has resigned, stating that he was pressed for time to devote to the group.

McDevitt suggested that the board draw up duties and then turn the same over to the council to see if they could handle the job.

Study Improvements

Mike O'Callaghan suggested improvements to the reading rooms, emphasizing the need for more tables, chairs and better lighting. He stated that a recent survey showed that the rooms were full during the hours of 6 to 11 p.m.

Karen Krauss suggested that the sign "Ladies Lounge" be removed from the room adjoining the reading room and that it be supplied for studying. O'Callaghan and Miss Krauss were appointed to a committee to look into better utilization of the Student Union.

George Eidam and Dick Gaskins were appointed by McDevitt to determine a more centralized location in the gym for the Idaho pep band. The board agreed that Re-organization on the campus of the present inactive chapter is being pressed because of the need of another service organization. Alpha Phi Omega acts not only as a service group for the student body and the campus, but also as a community service club.

Requirements for membership are: (1) Previous training in Scouting; (2) A desire to render service to others; (3) Satisfactory scholastic standing. All men who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Russian-Produced 'Sadko' Trades 'Red' For Bluebird

By Don Nelson

"Sadko," one of the best films to come out of Russia in many years, is an adaptation of an old Russian fairy tale. A film that could be judged a counterpart to any made in Hollywood, "Sadko" is a lively fantasy that has more to it than meets the eye.

The film is sponsored by the ASUI and will be shown Thursday in the Borah Theatre at 4, 7, and 8:30. Admission is $35.

"Sadko" is directed by Alexander Plushko, who also did "Stone Flower." It is a hearty, grandly dressed and often beautiful version of the opera (from which the pop record tune "Song of India" was lifted) that Rimsky-Korsakov made out of an old Russian fairy tale.

"Sadko," as the tale is told, is a poor man of Novgorod whose heart aches for the sufferings of his people. One night he sings of their sorrows to the sea; and hearing him, the daughter of the Sea King rises through the waves, falls in love with him, and promises to help. In a bit of pre-Marxist fairy-tale socialism, she enables him to relieve a lot of capitalists of their money, which he promptly distributes to the poor.

But, Sadko finds, while their bodies now have all they desire, their souls still want. They are not happy. Whereupon Sadko and some brave friends (one young, one strong, one wise) set out to catch the bird of happiness. After many adventures, Sadko realizes that there is no such bird. "Woe to him," cries the wise friend, "who tries to grasp happiness by a conscious act!"

Free of Communism

Thus the conclusion is much like that of Materlinck's great story. Occasionally, the makers of the film seemed less concerned with catching the Blue Bird than with making the audiences watch the Red birdie. But on the whole, the film is relatively free of communist blarney.

The wonder is that the movie, automobiles and corpses about the highway. The pictures on page one are the bloody result.

The actors, very much alive and only a little muddy, are students at the University of Idaho just like you. Put yourself in their shoes. This was only in fun, but last spring seven Idaho students started out to have a weekend of fun two. Two ended up killed and five hospitalized.

Don't let it be you.

The final lesson of the unit, "Understanding Your Young Child," will be held on Thursday evening, December 1, at 7:30 p.m., in Room 103, Home Economics Building.

Dr. Robert Otness of the psychology department of the University will be guest speaker and will discuss problems related to the "Social Growth of the Young Child." Moscow parents of young children are invited to attend even though they were unable to attend the previous classes.

Classes for adults are sponsored by the University of Idaho Home Economics Department each semester as part of the training of future teachers. Mrs. Helen Cunningham, instructor in this series, has been assisted by home economics students enrolled in the adult education class.

Lawrence LaRue and Neal Williams feasted on Thanksgiving day. Sunday dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Traub and Ben Traub.

Sophomore Week Theme Of 'Sleigh Ride' Chosen

Like the whirling, glistening snow, Holly Week comes rushing with its wintry festivity and pre-vacation joy. "Sleigh Ride," an appropriate winter song has been declared the theme of the annual sophomore Holly Dance which will be held December 9.

The Holly Dance is the annual affair that the sophomores hold in order to make their presence known around campus. It comes at the conclusion of a week of activity, in this case next week, in which final voting on the Holly Queen Candidates, a serenade, and a style show take place.

Rivals for the honor of reigning over this winter festivity are chosen by the girls in each women's living groups. These twelve candidates are then thinned down to five in preliminary voting by the sophomore men students on December 2. The final voting will take place the day of the dance, December 9, and the Queen will be announced and crowned at intermission.

The charmers running this year are LaRae Harrop, Tri Delt; Jane Lange, Alpha Phi; Nancy Burns, Gamma Phi; Pat Rojan, Ethel Steel; Georgia Carrico, French; Karen Warner, Theta; Irene West, Kappa; Karen Hastings, Pi Phi; Sharon Shuldberg, Hays; Shirley Long, DG; and Reva Koche, Alpha Chi. The candidate from Forney has not yet been announced.

In charge of the hurried planning this year are the class officers:

Varsity - Frosh Hoop Scrimmage To-night

Coach Harlan Hodges will unveil his 1955-56 Vandal basketball squad to the public to-night in a full-scale scrimmage with the freshman squad. The game is set for 8 p.m. with everybody welcome.

Hodges said that the game should take some of the first game pressure off his predominantly sophomore team. The Vandals open their pre-conference schedule Saturday in Missoula against University of Montana.

Washington Has Plenty Of Height

(Ed. Note:—This is the first in series of roundups of basketball prospects for Idaho's PCC opponents for the coming season. This article concerns University of Washington who will play in Moscow Feb. 17 and 18.)

SEATTLE (Special).—With the opening series against Stanford's Indians less than a fortnight away, coach Tippy Dye has trimmed his Washington basketball squad to 16 members. He plans on paring it still further after this week's practice sessions.

Surviving the first "cut" of the year were the following Huskies:

Strugar, starting left tackle on the Husky football team, joined the cagers for the first time last Monday. He is a former all-state basketball player, having led Renton to the state championship in 1953.

Best Bets
With the Husky squad cut to a more workable size, Dye is beginning to mould a starting five for the Stanford series at Palo Alto. Although he hasn't made any announcement, best bets to win starting spots are Coshov (6-6) and Boin (6-8) at the forwards, Nelson (7-0) at center, and Perkins (6-0) and Olsen (6-4) at the guards. If that five stands up, it will give the Huskies a 6-foot-6 average in the lineup.

The Washington coach, optimistically awaiting the start of the hoop season, thinks he will have more scoring punch in his 1955-56 lineup than he's had at any time since the graduation of the great Houbregs - Cipriano - McClary - McCutcheon - Koon team of three years ago. It's obvious, of course, that he will have more height.

(Ed. note: As previously mentioned the Huskies open the 1955-56 season against Stanford on December 2-3 and entertain Baylor the following weekend. Next, a formidable assignment in the Midwest faces Washington, with games against Kansas State, Ohio State and St. Louis University. The Huskies resume action at home after the Christmas holidays meeting two more Big Ten opponents—Iowa and Wisconsin. Conference play begins January 6-7 against Stanford in Seattle.

Kirkland Lauds Both Frosh And Varsity Swimmers

A squad of 18 varsity swimmers will meet at a team composed of 11 freshmen in an intra-squad contest scheduled for Friday.

According to Coach Eric Kirkland both teams have a number of promising swimmers with practice in its second week.

On the varsity, lettermen Bruce Buckman and Jack Helle are both showing a lot of improvement. Buckman is a sprinter, and Helle is in the breaststroke events. Sophomore Chet Hall is looking good in the 220 free-style, and Ron Edwards, another recruit from last year's freshman team, is a stand-out in the diving competition.

Freshman prospects include Kim Larsen an intramural winner who has been strong in distance and backstroke, and another backstroker Larry Nelson who has looked good. Also promising are sprinter Ozzie Smith and Leonard Lawr, a distance swimmer.

Dry roads, fair weather and careless driving go together.

Frosh Open At Spokane Friday Night

This year's edition of the Vandal Junior Varsity hoop squad begins its 15 game season Friday against the Fairchild Air Force Base All-Stars at Spokane. The squad has been working on the fundamentals of the game the past few weeks according to Coach Clem Parberry.

Parberry also said that all positions are wide open on the squad. There are 14 men out for the team, including three starters from Idaho. Idaho's contribution to the freshman roster is headed by Harold Damiano, 6 foot 5, from the state championship Kellogg high school team; Wendell Wolf, Inland Empire scoring leader from Clark Fork, and Earl Moore, 6-5, from Priest River.

Walker Named To WSC Opp. Team
Sophomore center Wayne Walker was named last week to the WSC all-opponent team. Walker was outstanding on defense in the Vandals 9 to 0 loss to the Cougars. Last year, although beaten 10 to 0 by the Vandals the Cougars failed to name a single Idaho player to their all-opposition team.

WRA NEWS

BUCK FEVER
After the manner in which he blanked the New York Yankees to give the Brooklyn Dodgers their first World Series conquest, Johnny Podres shouldn't have "buck fever" this winter. Johnny loves to hunt deer in the Adirondacks near his home and recalls the time he took four shots at a buck standing 100 yards away. None of the shots brought down the big buck.

CHALK TALK

with Don Neville Smith

Mr. Upset reigned supreme Saturday as college football bade farewell for another season, with the exception of bowl games.

Army started things off by dumping favored Navy 14 to 6 in their 56th annual battle. The Black Knights from West Point used a crushing ground attack led by Pat Uebel to overcome a 6-0 first period deficit. The loss eliminated Navy who before the game had a 6-1-1 record, from possible bowl consideration.

Navy's squad was told between halves that if they beat Army they would go to the Cotton Bowl. But the statement didn't seem to carry the same weight as last year when the Middies, after being informed of a bowl possibility went on to whip Army 27 to 20.

USC pulled what was undoubtedly the most stunning upset of the day, trouncing Notre Dame 42 to 20. The Irish went into this game favored anywhere from seven to 20 points.

Derailed
Tennessee derailed bowl-bound Vanderbilt 20 to 14 and the Sky-line Conference champions, Colorado A&M, bowled over Colorado from the Big Seven 10 to 0 in smaller surprises.

Upsets continued further north to Vancouver, B.C., where the Edmonton Eskimos came from behind to defeat the highly favored Montreal Alouettes 34 to 19 in Canada's Grey Cup classic. The Grey Cup is emblematic of professional football supremacy in Canada and brings together the top team from eastern Canada and the number one team from the west.

All major bowl committees announced their selections this weekend after watching their favored teams in action.

Aside from the Rose and Orange Bowls who had previously made their choices here is the way things stack up for New Year's Day.

Cotton Bowl
Texas Christian cinched the Southwest Conference crown and an automatic spot in the Cotton Bowl by getting by Southern Methodist 20 to 17.

Sparked by the running of All-American Jimmy Swink the Horned Frogs racked up a 9 to 1 record on the year, losing only to Texas A&M 19 to 16.

The Aggies went into their annual Thanksgiving Day clash with Texas undefeated in conference play, only to have the Longhorns knock them off 21 to 6. Texas A&M aptly called "the Cinderella team of the conference" was rated as favorites to go to the Cotton Bowl before their loss to Texas.

Getting back to TCU their opposition New Year's Day will be the University of Mississippi Rebels who wrapped up their bowl spot with a one-sided 26 to 0 win over their bitter rivals from Mississippi State. The Rebels went to the Sugar Bowl last year, losing to Navy 21 to 0.

HOT RODDERS TO MEET
The Moscow Hot Rod Club will meet Thursday evening at 7 p.m. in the City Hall according to president Bob Merritt.

The meeting was previously scheduled for last Thursday, but was not held because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

Jungle Virgin: "A little girl ape that hasn't been monkeyed with."

Kircher Out At WSC Successor Unnamed

Al Kircher and WSC ended six years of association November 21 when WSC President C. Clement French announced the purchase of the remainder of Kircher's five year contract as head grid coach. The contract, with one year to run, called for an annual $12,500 salary.

Kircher came to WSC as back-field coach under head coach Forest Evashevski. Credited with much of Evashevski's success, he helped compile a won-lost record of 11-6 and two ties.

Following the leave-taking of controversial "Evy" at the end of the 1951 season, the popular Kircher was elevated to head coach.

In Kircher's first year, 1952, WSC was nominated as nationwide football power by both Evashevski and grid experts. With the pressure on, he produced a 4-6 win-loss record, and duplicated in 1953 and 1954. WSC's only win this year was over Idaho, they managed to tie two and lose seven.

Dr. French's decision was influenced by a recommendation by Stan Bates, director of inter-collegiate athletics at WSC, and his decision also affected two assistants, Mike Scarry, line coach, and Dale Gentry, end coach. Both assistants' contracts were renewable from year to year.

Not Included
The freshman football coach Dan Stavely was not included in this action.

Our decision was based on "what is best for WSC's athletic program," claimed Dr. French and Bates.

"It's a hard decision to make to release a perfect gentleman like Al Kircher," Bates said. "We know him to be a fine football technician and we've enjoyed working with him and his assistants, Mike and Dale."

"However, we believe circumstances dictate that we employ a new football coaching staff."

"We're not interested in pin-pointing the blame for this season's poor record on Al, the players, or on anyone. However, we have reached the conclusion that WSC could overcome its present handicaps only with a new coaching staff."

Fit Into Picture
Bates announced that WSC is taking her time finding a successor to Kircher. "We want to make sure that the man we hire will fit into the athletic picture at WSC."

Al Kircher said Monday night he has no definite plans in mind for the future.

He expressed confidence in Stan Bates, and said that he had fine cooperation from everybody at WSC—the administration, the faculty, coaches, and players.

"I feel Athletic Director Stan Bates is doing a great job," he said. "I'm sorry things haven't worked out the way they were expected to, but I have a lot of confidence in the administration and if they believe a change is needed as far as I'm concerned, that's the way it should be."

For 13,980 drivers, Saturday and Sunday became days of permanent rest.
