Sigma Chi Finalists

City Joins In Safety Drive

A new student traffic safety committee was assured cooperation Tuesday night from Moscow business people in an attempt to promote traffic precautions in this area.

Dick Davis, chairman of the committee, met with the four-man student board, and Del McPherson, Moscow Chamber of Commerce secretary, P. N. McCowen, city council member, and H. B. Thoreson, chief of police, to formulate a plan by which the city and campus could coordinate its drive to cut down traffic accidents.

The city of Moscow passed its seventh year in a row without traffic fatality Nov. 28 and the Chamber of Commerce, McPherson said, is determined to keep this record.

The committee prepared a possible safety program to be carried out through the school year in connection with the present traffic competition with WSC.

At Conference

McCowen, was a Moscow delegate to the Governor's conference on traffic safety, and discussed with the committee several suggestions brought back from the conference. One point included placing stickers on town and university students cars for those who are watching for careless drivers.

The committee, including Gail Bronson, Ben Jenness, Roy Hargrave and Al Coombes, also proposed a tentative program including:

- (1) Write the National Safety Council for ideas and suggestions.
- (2) Weather scoreboard with a weather report obtained from the Moscow Police Department.
- (3) Place signs on the North and South exits of Moscow with a wrecked car for emphasis.
- (4) Place "Burma-Shave" type signs along the highway.

Use Argonaut

(5) Advertising and promotion on KUOI, the Argonaut and KRPL.

(6) Award monthly trophies: A model car to the school with the least accidents, and a similar model, but wrapped about a telephone pole showing an accident, to the school with the most accidents, with the trophies changing hands monthly depending on box score results.

(7) Place safety bulletins in living groups.

(8) Stickers on cars.

(9) Place bulletin board in SUB with the number of accidents from different schools and pictures of the wrecked cars.

(10) Statements from influential people printed in Arg.

New Groups Are Discussed For Admission

Preliminary inquiry into the feasibility of admitting new fraternities to the University of Idaho campus began last night as the Interfraternity council met to start discussion on the question.

Meanwhile, action started in other quarters on whether any of five fraternities who have proposed to colonize at Idaho will be allowed to locate here.

Dean C. O. Decker, Director of Student Affairs, said the Student Faculty Council will meet today to talk over the admittance of two professional fraternities, Alpha Gamma Rho and Farm House. Membership in both is limited to majors in agriculture and forestry. If either were allowed to colonize, the move would make the first time such groups have been allowed here.

The social fraternities, Theta Chi, Delta Upsilon and Sigma Phi are under the scrutiny of the IFC, which will eventually recommend one of them for admittance. All three have chapters at WSC.

The final outcome of the discussion will depend in the main upon the student housing situation which has grown steadily more critical. Addition of any or all of the groups is expected to aid in relieving the situation.

Five girls have been selected for final balloting for the 1955 Holly Queen, who will reign over the Sophomore Week activities. The Queen will be crowned at intermission of the Holly Dance tomorrow night in the SUB. Finalists seated, Georgia Carrico, French Hall; Nancy Burns, Gamma Phi, and standing left to right are Karen Hastings, Pi Phi, LaRae Harrop, Tri-Delt and Karen Warner, Theta.

Holly Dance Tonight; Voting This Noon

A glistening white sleigh will be the fortunate vehicle serving as a throne for the Holly Queen tonight at "Sleigh Ride," this year's version of the Sophomore Holly Dance.

The five candidates—Karen Warner, Theta; Nancy Burns, Gamma Phi; Georgia Carrico, French; Karen Hastings, Pi Phi; and LaRae Harrop, Tri-Delt—will be voted on today at noon in all of the men's living groups. The winner will then be announced and crowned during the dance intermission.

Typhoid Scare Seems Stopped At Two Cases

The University of Idaho's typhoid outbreak which began during the Thanksgiving weekend appeared to have been permanently brought to a halt today after no new cases were reported in the past 13 days.

Dr. Ralph M. Alley, University physician, said Nan Soden and Dorothy Jacobsen, both members of Kappa Kappa Gamma who were stricken with the disease, were still in the Infirmary pending final test results.

In the meantime, Kappas were getting typhoid immunization inoculations, finishing out a series of three which are required.

The carrier of the disease was discovered after extensive tests and has been treated to prevent the spread of his relatively rare disease.

'Finian's Rainbow' Tryouts Are Set

Preliminary try-outs for "Finian's Rainbow" will be held Saturday morning, from 9 to 12 in the University Auditorium. Scheduled to be presented March 15, 16, and 17, the play is by Fred Saidu and E. Y. Harbury. Burton Lane is the composer.

It is a play with music, dance, leprechauns, a magic pot of gold, politician with a satanic twist when southern politicians get mixed up with Irish magic and the Negro and white share-croppers of Missouri. There are 27 negro and white acting roles, group and solo dances, chorus and solo singing parts, a harmonica and a guitar player.

Persons interested in tryout check at the drama office for further information. A limited number of scripts are available for persons wishing to read the play.

This gala holiday ball, for which Ralph Dickenson, his nine piece band, and a vocalist will provide the music is the annual all campus dance of the Christmas season. The semi-formal affair will be held in the SUB ballrooms from 9:30 to 12:30 (with the usual one o'clock permission in the women's living groups.) Programs will be sold at the door for $1.50 a couple, and as Lowell Martin, dance co-ordinator, said, the music alone which is some of the best in the Spokane area, will be well worth it.

Decorations of a wintry fashion will provide atmosphere with an imitation on snow bank in front of the band stand, a small Christmas tree on each side of it and boughs over the arch, small sleighs around the walls, the large one for the Queen's crowning, and a big Christmas tree in one of the ballrooms. Any sophomore that would like to help decorate is welcome to go down to the ballrooms during any free period or after classes.

Earlier this week, on Tuesday at 4 p.m. in David's window, the Style Show was held. The twelve candidates for Holly Queen modeled in this, and the first announcement of the five finalists was made. Two hundred people witnessed the finalists dancing with the escorts; these lucky men were Mike Patton, John Chapman, Ross Maloney, John McMennamin and Ed Crockett. Afterwards the five girls were honored at a tea given by David's and then had their pictures taken in the window.

Last night the sophomores serenaded the campus with good old-fashioned Christmas carols lead by Glen Lockery. Sophomore women were given late permission until the end of the caroling. A previous practice had been held on Wednesday night in the SUB ballrooms which approximately 250 people attended.

IRC HOLDS PANEL

International Relations Club will hold a panel discussion on Argentina, Wednesday, December 14 at 4:10 p.m. in Conference Room A, SUB.

VVO To Hear Idaho Legion Head Tuesday

State American Legion Commander Leslie McCarthy will speak at the meeting of the Vandal Veterans' Organization in the Brough Theater Tuesday at 7 p.m., President Art Riley said today. McCarthy will discuss with the veterans the recent Legion stand against Dr. Robert M. Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic.

The veterans of the University, earlier this year when two North Idaho Legion districts opposed a speaking appearance scheduled in January, backed up the University in its refusal to cancel the talk.

The past weekend, the state Department of the Legion did not support the northern Idaho resolutions but called for a national un-American investigation directed at the Fund and Dr. Hutchins as its president.

McCarthy will also discuss with the vets Senate Bill 533, an amendment to increase G.I. training benefits by as much as $45 per month. Riley urged that campus veterans attend the meeting whether a member of the group or not.

Too Many Gadgets Don't Save Car But Waste

AUBURN, Ala. (ACP) — Sonny Ogle recorded this one in his column in the Auburn Plainsman:

One car owner installed a carburetor that was guaranteed to save 20 per cent on fuel. Then he put in special spark plugs that saved 20 per cent, an intake super-heater that also saved 20 per cent, along with special rear axle and high pressure "cords" . . . all saving 20 per cent.

And now, with a fuel economy of 120 per cent, he has to stop every hundred miles and bail fuel out of the gas tank to keep it from running over.

Crown Placed Soon

Sigma Chis will choose their Sweetheart this weekend, climaxing a whirl of social events as they wind-up the contest conducted annually on the Idaho campus by the fraternity.

Loveliest selected as finalists for "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" are Carol Wachal, Theta; Karen Taylor, Kappa; Elna Magnuson, Gamma Phi; Carol Kurdy, Pi Phi and Marilyn Harden, DG.

The winner will be crowned at an 11 p.m. intermission at the Sigma Chis' annual Sweetheart dance Saturday evening at the Legion cabin by Hall Macklin, a Sig Chi now on the Idaho music staff.

The Sweetheart's photograph then goes to the international competition for Sweetheart.

A banquet Saturday evening will honor the candidates and honored guests and will be attended by Sigma Chis and their dates. Banquet chairman Dick Hood said the dinner will be centered around the centennial of the fraternity and that a one-hundredth anniversary toast will highlight the affair.

Other chairmen are Denny Gray, dance and Dale Brandt, candidates.

Four of Jason's proposals passed the ASUI Executive Board unanimously at Tuesday's meeting. Two got shelved for further study and one got flatly rejected.

We didn't raise much fuss over the one rejection. Jason had already condemned it and placed it in the category of "excess machinery." Speaker Bureau's would "farm out" speakers to living groups to explain and answer questions that students may have. The Executive Board members already take care of this service by themselves on request and the House President's meetings also perform the same function.

One proposal of major importance that was laid aside for further consideration was the point concerning the districting of the campus. This would call for a major revision of the entire campus political set-up. The problem was tossed around until Thornock suggested that the Board put NSA to work, for the first time on the campus, and see if through their Student Government Information section, Idaho might pick up some facts and figures on how the system works on other campuses.

This districting system is a little cloudy in this writer's mind, but essentially it would call for an arbitrary division of the campus by population. Executive Board candidates would run for office within their particular district. This has one primary purpose. It would force each Board member to deal directly with the students who voted him into office, because he would know where his votes came from. This would also do away with the feeling from houses that do not

Exec. Board Approves Student Opinion Program

Four of a list of seven proposals presented by Argonaut Editor Gary Pietsch in regards to instigating a public relations program and sampling student opinion passed unanimously as a result of a lengthy discussion at last Tuesday's Executive Board meeting.

Two proposals were laid aside for further study and the remaining one was rejected.

Dealing with the proposals one by one, the first suggesting that a Student Opinion Bureau be set up for gathering campus opinions systematically by use of a student poll was laid aside until further study could be made by the Board.

John Thornock suggested that the Board obtain further information through the Student Government Information Service section of the National Students Association.

Mike O'Callaghan pointed out that one problem that would confront students trying to set up such a program would be setting up an effective criteria from which to operate the poll.

The Board unanimously accepted proposals two and three concerning the continuance of the Argonaut President's meetings and Argonaut coverage.

The fourth proposal dealing with the setting up of a editorial column commenting on Board actions met with much discussion although it was brought out that such a column would go into effect at the desire of the Argonaut Editor. The Board accepted the proposal with the stipulation that the person who would write the column should attend all of the meetings which are under discussion.

Suggestion number five was unanimously approved concerning the initiating of a series of feature articles on the members of the Board in an effort for the Argonaut readers to become acquainted with each individual more closely.

The sixth proposal concerning the setting up of a Speaker's Bureau was rejected on the grounds that this phase of informing students is already being adequately taken care of through the House President's meetings and discussions at living groups by the Executive Board members themselves.

The final proposal dealing with the districting of the campus which would involve a complete and major revision of the University of Idaho's political scheme was the other proposal laid aside for further study by the Board. Thornock again suggested that the Student Government Information Service section of NSA be utilized to provide additional information from other campuses that Idaho might apply to this present proposal.

Ford Comments On Foundation Hutchins Heads

DETROIT — The Ford Foundation sponsored Fund for the Republic came under fire this week, this time from Henry Ford I, president of the Ford Motor Co.

Ford spoke in a letter as a "private citizen" in criticizing some actions on the part of the Fund, headed by Dr. Robert M. Hutchins. "What effects my comments may have remains to be seen," he declared.

Dr. Hutchins has received an invitation to speak at the University of Idaho in January, and his proposed appearance has been under direct fire from two Northern Idaho American Legion districts.

Hutchins, president of the Fund, was unavailable for comment Wednesday, but has denied charges directed from J. Addington Wagner, national Legion commander, that the Fund is soft on communism or is left-wing in its policies.

Paul G. Hoffman, chairman of the board for the fund, said in defense of the organization:

"Everyone who has examined the record of the fund agrees that it has made important contributions toward (1) acquiring of the knowledge which will enable us better to combat the Communist menace; (2) promoting understanding of the vital role which civil liberties play in our country; (3) making the reality out of the equality of opportunity through its studies in the area of racial relations."

The Fund was set up in 1952 by a 15-million-dollar grant from the Ford Foundation to promote and further the interests in the Bill of Rights and Constitution.

Law 'Bugs' Issued Invite By College

Pre-law students and others interested in the study of law have been invited by the college of law faculty to attend a meeting in Room 338 of the Administration building at 4:10 p.m. Monday, December 12.

Purpose of the meeting is to give faculty and pre-law students an opportunity to get acquainted, and to disseminate information about the study of law in general and at the University of Idaho's college of law in particular.

Take Hint To True Education

What is the purpose of education? Is education merely an assimilation of facts and figures? Obviously not or we would have no need of professors or teachers to interpret the realities of knowledge for us. But perhaps more important than either a mere collecting of facts or an interpretation of these facts is the ability to analyze and interpret facts and events on a personal basis.

In order for a student to really be able to acquire the ability to analyze the realities of life they must have an understanding of life. This does not merely mean an understanding of what goes on and how. An understanding of life denotes the knowledge of why things happen. To obtain the background necessary to understand life, we in the western cultural system have free public education in our primary and secondary schools. However, these do little more than give a basic set of facts and their interpretation.

The acquisition of adequate knowledge to be an educated man requires college students to do more than attend classes. The problem and realities of the world come to us in a different form daily. To maintain a semblance of awareness of the world conditions, we must daily read the newspapers and magazines available to us. However, for vital daily analysis of these news articles and their sources, we have on campus a number of organizations to aid us. Among these are the Cosmopolitan and International clubs with informative programs and panels of experts to discuss various problems. We also have public events speakers and assemblies. Then from our own faculty, we have various programs throughout the year in the form of lectures.

Now, of course, many persons will immediately turn down these opportunities as dry, uneventful, extra classes. True they are classes. However, they are classes that give us a good measure of the real knowledge and ability to interpret questions which are the marks of truly educated men.

In past years these have been woefully neglected and unattended. Here is an opportunity, we can take it or leave it. Think it over and try one out. The surprise may be that it isn't dull at all.

Big Hunt Nets Small Game

Well, the Hutchins issue seems to be pretty well settled. The Idaho American Legion executive committee did not follow the state commander on his big game hunt. Mr. Leslie McCarty, state commander of the American Legion, who was loaded for bear only a few weeks ago seems to have brought back only a poor rabbit.

The executive committee of the Legion refused to go along with the attempts of certain American Legion leaders, including the state and national commanders, to curtail the freedom of Dr. Robert M. Hutchins to speak and the freedom of the Idaho students to listen. It seems as though even Mr. McCarty has dropped a hopeless attempt at censorship.

This issue is something for the University and state to cheer about, not only was the immediate speaker retained, but a precedent of freedom of thought and expression was strengthened. Perhaps here is a good place to congratulate President Theophilus on his excellent handling of the situation.

However we can also feel a tinge of regret due to this instance. It is always regrettable when the leaders of a patriotic organization go off the deep end and delve into fields best left to experts.

It is pointed out in another editorial in this paper "... most of the major organizations have wandered clumsily and heavilyfooted into fields in which they are not experts." The editorial then points out that many veterans organizations have and are losing members due to interference of the sort typified by our own Idaho situation. As a matter of fact one of the reasons given the Boise American Legion post for dropping the Hutchins fiasco was that it was hurting their membership drive.

Here's hoping the Legion at least has learned a lesson in democracy and its leaders will at least make sure they are representing their members when they go hunting. Then they may not come home empty handed. —L.W.K.

Little Prestige Gained Says Army Of Legion

The following article is a reprint of an editorial from the Army Times Newsletter which may throw some light on the American Legion's recent sidestepping tactics in the Dr. Robert M. Hutchins controversy. The University of Idaho's position, handled very effectively by President D. E. Theophilus, has been the subject of much discussion by groups both pro and con who profess an interest in what we do here at the University.

Washington—The 1955 convention season of the nation's major veterans' organizations has come to a close. Little of constructive quality was accomplished. Much prestige was lost. The record is easy to evaluate. A scattering of hit and run plays, but no runs, lots of errors.

What influence are veterans' organizations going to exert in the scheme of things in the years to come? We predict less and less unless they mend their ways and give substance to the democratic dogma of majority rule.

There are 22,000,000 living veterans in the United States today. That is some 3,000,000 more than we had on December 31, 1950.

But decline or stagnation is evident in every organization. Fewer than one-fifth—about 4,000,000—of the nation's veterans are presently paid up members of the so-called "Big Four."

Since the end of World War II, literally hundreds of thousands have joined one or more of the organizations only to relinquish their membership and drop out after brief experiences. There are a variety of reasons. Not the least is the fact that national leaders of the big organizations are seldom representative of the thinking of a majority of America's 22,000,000 living veterans.

Since its peak year in 1947, the Legion has been losing members faster than it could recruit them. Its membership dropped from a high of 3,276,354 at the end of 1947 to 2,695,635 as of June 30 1955. And those are official Legion figures.

The Legion—which has recruited many thousands of Korea veterans since 1950—today has 50,000 fewer paid up members than it did when we had 3,000,000 less veterans. And total membership today is 580,000 below that on December 31, 1947.

The Legion has been able to avoid a further king size decline in recent years only because Korea veterans have been available to fill ranks vacated through death by World War I veterans and through dissatisfaction by World War II veterans. Now, unless a new war comes along, the Legion seems certain to decline substantially in numerical strength with each passing year.

The situation is not peculiar to the Legion. It exists generally. The big question is: Why?

We think the answer is many-fold. Part of it lies in the fact that Congress has—as VA Administrator Harvey Higley recently said—built up a "magnificent structure" of veterans' benefits, and little remains to be done. For want of something better to justify their continued existence, most of the major organizations have wandered clumsily and heavilyfooted into fields in which they are not experts.

Individual spokesmen—supported by leadership "politicians"—put their judgment on political, diplomatic, and military matters above the judgment of our Presidents, whether they are Republican or Democratic, above that of our Secretaries of State and our responsible military leaders. And—as former President Truman said about Legion leaders recently—they sometimes go "haywire." This is Americanism with heavy doses of prejudice and intolerance. Our concern is genuine. Our interest is the welfare of veterans and veterans' organizations. We have great faith in the rank and file. But there are some among the leaders who seem hellbent on leading the rank and file in the footprints of Senator McCarthy rather than along the path of democracy followed by President Eisenhower.

If those leaders want a horrible example of what happens when the good people of this country get fed up with fanatical prejudices, demagoguery and tyranny, they need look no further than Senator McCarthy.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—(ACP)—The Ford Foundation granted the National Student Association $300,000 for its foreign student leader exchange program, it was announced at the regional NSA meeting at Macalester College here.

The funds will be used primarily for student leader exchange in the Far and Middle East and Latin America, according to the Mac Weekly, student newspaper. NSA considers these areas of greatest "growth potential." Joel Steins, NSA vice president from Northwestern University, said.

The purpose of the conference was to discuss the problems of the campus and to exchange ideas with other colleges.

Dear Jason:

I came home from work the evening of December 2 only to cast my eyes upon the most ghastly looking Arg I have ever seen.

Like many people, I hurriedly read the caption under the picture, burst into tears, and ran into the living room to tell my parents the shocking news.

For ten minutes we sat and discussed the "accident." I was completely shocked to think that four sane people could be injured or killed because of a childish drag race.

Then I read the rest of the story and when I finished I felt rather foolish to say the least. I had jumped to some rather extreme conclusions—conclusions that were far from the impossible.

Now that I have considered the purpose of your article, I want to congratulate you, Chuck, Jamie, and Mike for the tremendous prelude to S-D Day and the contest with WSC.

I'm awfully proud to be an ex-student of an institution where student leaders work so hard to promote to the safety and well-being of the students.

Again, congratulations on a very successful article.

Sincerely
Fran Knodle

VETS MAIL BAG

The Veterans Administration Will make every effort to get most GI Bill veteran trainees their monthly GI allowance checks before they go home for the Christmas holidays.

Don Crowley, manager of the Boise Veterans Administration Center, said today.

Usually, Mr. Crowley said, checks are mailed by the Treasury Disturbing officer at around the twentieth of the month. Therefore the schools, the Veterans Administration, and the Treasury are faced with tremendous special jobs, Mr. Crowley pointed out in getting the checks out beforehand.

Under the Korean GI Bill checks may not be issued until the end of each month's training. Before a payment may be authorized, Mr. Crowley said, the veteran and his school must submit a certification to the VA stating that he has been in training status all month.

Checks mailed in December cover training up to November 30. There may be some cases, Mr. Crowley said, where circumstances make it impossible to make pay-

THE GIFT HORSE

Today's column is about Christmas gift suggestions, and I suppose you think I'll begin by suggesting Philip Morris. Well, the joke's on you. I'll do no such thing. Why should I? Anyone with two brains to knock together knows that Philip Morris makes an absolutely smashing Christmas gift. Only a poor afflicted soul with atrophied taste buds needs to be told about the new Philip Morris; its bracing flavor; its freshness, lightness, pleasantness, gentleness; its truth, its beauty, its brotherliness in this discordant world of ours. So why should I waste time telling you what you already know?

Let us, instead, turn to less obvious gift suggestions. Here's one I bet you never thought of:

Christmas is the best time of year, but it is also the beginning of winter. How about a gift that reminds one that though winter has come, spring is not far behind? I refer, of course, to Easter chicks. (Similarly, on Easter one can give Christmas chicks.)

Next, we take up the problem, common to all undergraduates, of trying to buy gifts when you have no money. To this dilemma I say—Fugh! It is not the price of the gift that counts; it is the sentiment behind it.

Take, for example, the case of Outerbridge Sigafoos. Outerbridge, a sophomore, finding himself without funds last Christmas, gave his girl a bottle of good clear water and a nice smooth rock, attaching this touching message to the gift:

Here's some water— And here's a rock, I love you, daughter, Around the clock.

And the whole delightful gift cost Outerbridge less than a penny!

I am compelled to report, however, that Outerbridge's girl did not receive these offerings in the spirit in which they were tendered. In fact, she flew into a fit of pique, smashed the bottle on the rock and stabbed Outerbridge with the jagged edge. But the experience was not without value for Outerbridge. First, he discovered that the girl was not his type at all. Second, he learned how to make a tourniquet.

But I digress. Let's examine now a common complaint of Christmas shoppers: "What do you get for someone who has everything?"

To this I reply, "Does he?" Does he, for instance, have a unicycle? A sled dog? A serf? A burnoose? A hairball? A bung starter? (The bung starter, incidentally, was invented by two enormously talented men, Fred Bung and Otho Starter. Their partnership thrived from the very start, and there is no telling to what heights they might have risen had they not split up over a silly argument. It seems that Bung was a firm believer in reincarnation; Starter was just as firm a disbeliever. Bung insisted so violently on the truth of reincarnation and Starter scoffed so positively that they finally decided to go their separate ways. Singly, alas, the two fared badly. Starter gave up business altogether, joined the army, and was killed at San Juan Hill in 1898. He is today buried in Arlington National Cemetery. Bung drifted from job to job until he died of breakbone fever in Elizabeth, N. J., in 1902. He is today a llama in Uruguay.)

The makers of Philip Morris, sponsors of this column, beg leave to add one more gift suggestion—MAX SHULMAN'S GUIDED TOUR OF CAMPUS HUMOR, a collection of the funniest stuff ever written on or about campus—now on sale at your bookstore.

Methods Of French Universities Explained

By Dale Evans

Social life in French universities is in no way like the social life of the University of Idaho, according to French scholarship student, Lucienne Gioanni.

Lucienne attended the University of Montpellier, in France, before coming to the University of Idaho. She is a chemistry major, a senior, and she is living on campus at the Kappa Alpha Theta house. She said that academics are stressed throughout a student's school life in France, with practically no social life included, except that which the students sponsor themselves.

To stimulate extra-curricular activities, the universities do sponsor sports clubs composed of both men and women. An organization called the Office of National Sports is established in every university. It is responsible for encouraging students to participate in a sport of their choosing when they are attending a university.

Students who are interested in a particular sport contact a branch office of the Office of National Sports, which is located in their university town. When Lucienne was in high school, she followed her interest in skiing and entered several races. In college she entered the Academic Championship race which determines whether one can qualify for the Championship of the Universities of France. She won the Academic race and qualified for the French championship. She went on to win the slalom Championship for the Universities of France.

For those students who do not ski, there are many other sports which they can enter. The only stipulation is that an individual must have a basic ability in the sport of his choosing before becoming a member of the National Sports organization.

Different Systems

Lucienne believes that there is a great difference between the educational systems of France and the United States. French children begin their schooling in a primary school, similar to our high schools, then continue on to a secondary school, similar to our high schools.

Upon entering high school, a student's academic major is determined by his parents, who decide one of two fields, classical or scientific, in which the student may major throughout the rest of his schooling. The classical field stresses subjects in languages and natural sciences. The scientific field stresses subjects of language, mathematics and physical sciences.

Grading systems are also different in France than in the United States. Instead of grades ranging from "A" to "F", French students receive grades throughout their schooling ranging from 0 to 20, 0 being the lowest grade and 20 being the highest. A grade of 10 is equal to a "C" here.

In order to graduate from high school, or the secondary school in France, a student must pass baccalaureate exams in his junior and senior years. Exams are based on the field in which the student has been majoring. The tests are partly written and partly oral, lasting an average of three hours for each subject taken.

In Lucienne's junior year, her exam subjects were based on her scientific major, which included French, math, physics and a foreign language. In her written exam she wrote on the same subjects as were given her to speak on for her oral exam.

The baccalaureate exam taken at the end of a student's senior year in "high school" is more difficult than the exam taken the previous year. It is also based on a written and oral exam and is mostly concerned with philosophy.

The rest of the exam is similar in part to the one taken during the junior year, with the exception that no test in any form is given for any language.

The last two years in a secondary school are considered equivalent to the freshman and sophomore college years in the United States.

In a French university, a student continues on with the particular field he majored in during "high school" years. In classes, the relationship of the student to his teachers is distant since most of the classes are extremely large, some containing as many as several hundred students. Lectures dominate over class discussions. Students receive most of their lessons through lecture notes and books.

No exams of any kind are given during a school year, except for a major exam which is taken at the end of the year. Lucienne feels that it is hard to adjust to studying for the many exams that are given here during the year.

French universities do not have a credit system as we have here. Graduation is determined by the student's ability to pass the major exams at the end of every school year. At nearly all schools, students with limited finances can secure scholarships which enable them to continue with their education.

ferent than the clothing worn to school by American students, except that the girls always wear hose, never socks.

Lucienne has started to compare college life of French and American people, and although she is adjusting to our college ways, she feels her stay should be until the end of her senior year. However, she also feels it would be a wonderful opportunity for anyone, especially of college age, to come to America.

Joining Channel 3 To U. Reception Deemed Unlikely

The probability of television Channel 3 of Lewiston joining the University cable system is unlikely, George Gagon, superintendent of buildings and grounds, said today.

Gagon said that Channel 3 in Lewiston will not carry more network programs than the three stations presently offer. Now on the system are KHQ-TV, KXLY-TV and KREM-TV, all from Spokane. The system covers the campus area, faculty residences and veterans' housing.

Gagon said that to add channel 3 would cost about $5,000, because the entire antenna system on top of the "I" tank would have to be revised to equip the new channel. He said that additional coaxial cable would have to be added, the amplifier system enlarged and another antenna placed on the tank.

The present system has cost the school approximately $8,300, Gagon said.

"I don't feel the addition of Channel 3 would be justified," Gagon commented, "in that it isn't economically feasible and the programs would not be much different."

Honorary Creates $100 Annual Grant

The University of Idaho chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, national professional fraternity in education, has voted to make an annual award of $100 to a graduating senior man in education.

The award winner will be selected on the basis of his scholastic record, demonstrated interest in teaching as a profession, personality and campus activities.

CLASSIFIEDS GET RESULTS.

Beebe Squadron Of Arnold Society Marks Birthday

The Arnold Air Society at the University of Idaho is going into its second year under the new title of "Eugene H. Beebe Squadron." Idaho is one of the charter members of the AAS but up until its dedication to Eugene Beebe on November 9, 1954 it was known only as Squadron C1.

At the initiation ceremonies in the fall of '54 the squadron was dedicated to Brigadier General Eugene H. Beebe. At the ceremony the AAS of the U. of I. accepted its most prized possession, the personal flag of General Beebe.

General Beebe graduated from the University of Idaho in 1928. Upon graduation he enlisted in the regular Army Air Corps and attended flying schools at Kelly and March Fields. He was commissioned in the Air Corps in the fall of 1929.

In 1938 after serving at Fort Riley, Chouteau Field, March Field, Hamilton Field, and Wright Field he was called to Washington, D.C. to serve as personal pilot, technical adviser, and executive assistant to General H. H. Arnold, for whom the Arnold Air Society was named.

In the fall of 1942 Beebe was promoted to Brigadier General and assigned to the Southeast Asia Command as Senior American Officer on Lord Mountbatten's Staff. In the fall of 1943 General Beebe returned to Washington and started organization of the Continental Air Command. After another short period of active duty with General Arnold, he was retired for physical disability in November 1945.

AAS activities are a traditional part of the college ROTC program here at the University and Squadron C1 has consistently ranked high in national standing. Idaho ranked seventh last year.

The reader may pick out all the implications that such a system would bring about.

I could well change the entire political structure of the campus. It would strengthen party affiliations or it might easily spell the death of the party system on the Idaho campus. It might afford more equal representation throughout the campus.

These are only a very few of the many questions that such a major change might bring up. You, the reader, may think of more.

What ever they are, before this proposal is completely aired, they will all be out in the open.

Navy Recruiting Future NAVCAD

One of the basic and most important requirements for a prospective naval pilot is a real motivation to fly, according to Cadet John McKenzie, one of a team of Navy recruiters who have been on the Idaho campus this week.

Cadet McKenzie, who attended the University of Idaho two years before joining the NAVCAD, the Naval Aviation Cadet program, said Idaho is the first school the team will visit on its extensive tour. Headquarters for the recruitment team here is the lobby of the SUB, where they will remain through today.

Other members of the group are Lt. A. A. Boxford, Lt. A. L. Adair and AD1 A. W. Miller.

Requirements for entrance into the program include an age limit of 18-27, 50 semester credits of college study plus physical and aptitude qualifications.

The recruiters urged any interested students to visit their display and investigate the program.

A member of the SAE fraternity while at Idaho, Cadet McKenzie entered basic flight training in November, 1954. He recently completed preliminary instruction and will get his jet wings in about five months. Although temporarily located at Geiger field in Spokane, his permanent assignment is the Navy installation in Corpus Christi, Texas, he said.

Officer: "Why did you keep on going after I whistled?"

Lady Driver: "Sorry officer, I'm pretty deaf."

Officer: "Well, don't worry, lady, you'll get your hearing in the morning."

Needy Student Leaders Given $128,000 Thru NSA

The US National Student Association has received a $128,000 grant from the Ford Foundation for a four-year program to develop leadership skills, professional abilities, and knowledge of and experience with democratic institutions among the student leaders of the underdeveloped areas of the world.

The grant, which is the largest in the association's history, will make it possible for fifteen or more student leaders from Asia, Africa, the Near East and other countries to spend a year at selected colleges and universities in this country working with student organizations at the campus, regional and national level.

Selection of the participating colleges and universities, as well as the individual overseas students, is expected to be completed by next May. The institutions will be selected on the basis of their ability to provide the facilities, academic and extra-curricular environment, and student and staff personnel which will provide the most meaningful experience for the foreign student leaders. Particular emphasis will be placed on the structure and effectiveness of organizations of student self-government as a model of democratically-organized institutions.

Stanford L. Glass, president of the association, in his acceptance of the grant expressed to the Ford Foundation that USNSA "is keenly aware of the challenge which it has accepted and the trust and confidence manifested by this generous assistance."

"We are particularly mindful," Glass said, "of the possibility that this program would inaugurate an entirely new approach to intercultural relations, as well as a new dimension in higher education for international understanding."

One of the most important aspects of the program will be the attempt to make it gradually self-sustaining and a permanent feature of the international programs of U.S. colleges and universities.

Or how the amazing purple motor oil turned purple

"You've heard it said that competition among companies brings you better products ahead of time?"

"Then sit in with me out at Union Oil's research center for a spell and see it happen."

"Take the case of the amazing purple motor oil. Some years back we foresaw that car engines coming up would put more than simple lubrication demands on oil."

"So we developed a method of improving oil stocks. It gave us an oil base that was better than anything nature had ever produced."

DR. BRADLEY, MANAGER OF RESEARCH, HAS BEEN WITH UNION OIL FOR 24 YEARS.

superiority we filled the crankcases of four different makes of cars with it, then drove them 30,000 miles without changing oil—only adding make-up.

"When we tore the engines down we found the wear was within the usual factory tolerances for new parts. And every part clean as a whistle."

"If you use Royal Triton in your car today you probably take this kind of performance for granted. But don't forget—it was competition that put the pressure on us to bring it to you long before you asked for it!"

Royal Triton has been a success from the start. Today—in new all-weather 5-20 and 10-30 grades designed specifically for modern high-compression engines—it embodies the latest advances in lubricating oil technology.

Yet Dr. Bradley and his research teams are even now trying to find new ways to increase its margin of superiority.

This is a typical example of how you benefit when free men freely compete for your business.

"To this we added special ingredients: one to keep the engine cleaner, one to neutralize acids from the combustion chamber and to reduce metal wear, another to control sludge formation. And one of these additives turned the oil purple!"

"Our new product was so amazingly good it permitted manufacturers to step up horsepowers of their engines. Fact is, this was the original type of heavy duty motor oil used all through World War II."

"We continued perfecting our purple oil, and when peace came we named it Royal Triton and put it on the market. To demonstrate its

MONTANA, UTAH STATE HERE THIS WEEKEND

Vandals Gunning For First Victory Against Two Veteran Loaded Teams

A fifteen man Idaho Vandal team looking for their first win of the young season open the 1955-56 home basketball season this weekend with a pair of games.

Tonight the Montana Grizzlies pay a return visit to Memorial Gym and tomorrow night the strong Utah State Aggies play the Vandals.

Commenting on Idaho's first game last week at Missoula Coach Harlan Hodges said that his team made too many mistakes and that they would have to be corrected if they hope to win this weekend.

The coach said that practices this week have just been average and that "we'll have to play much better than average if we hope to win."

Hodges named the same probable starting lineup that started last week, but added that some changes might be made before the game.

Hodges will call on Bill Bauscher and Jay Buhler, senior lettermen as starting guards. Buhler was high point man against Montana with 16 and Bauscher had 15. The two are the only lettermen on the club.

Three sophomores will probably start up front. Bob Gould 6-6 center, Jack Mitchell 6-4 and Jerry Jorgenson 6-5 at the forward positions were the starters last week and are most likely to get the nod again tonight.

Hodges named fifteen men to dress for the game including guards, Bauscher, Buhler, Gary Simmons, Bill Wilson, Brent Thompson, Gary Sather, Joe Cerniglia and John Sullivan; centers, Gould and Gary McEwen; forwards, Jorgenson, Mitchell, Mark Cole, Jim Branon and Walt Denny.

In commenting on Montana Coach Hodges said that they have some top personnel and are much further along than we are at this stage.

Last year Idaho dumped Montana 100 to 70 here and then were upset at Missoula.

The Grizzlies have a veteran team led by Ray Howard and Rudy (Zip) Rhoades, a pair of high scoring juniors. The two combined for a total of 39 points last week.

Guards Eddie Argenbright 5-10 senior, and Al Dunham 6-4 junior, along with center Howard, 6-6 and forwards Rhoades, 6-3, and Eddie Bergquist, 6-3 senior letterman complete the Montana starting five.

Also expected to see a lot of action is Russ Sheriff, a sophomore center, the tallest man on the squad at 6-6 1/2.

In meeting the Utah State Aggies the Vandals will be playing a team that has won three of their four ball games to date. The Aggies started off the season last weekend with a pair of wins over highly regarded Idaho State 68-64 and 69-58, and this week have split two games on the road.

Utes Tuesday night the Utes suffered their only loss, a 85-62 shellacking from Eastern Washington and Wednesday night Utah State downed Gonzaga 92 to 91.

Pat (Fancy Dan) Dunn, the Utags' great forward is the key man on their offense. Dunn and Teddie Smith, junior forward teamed up to score 53 points between them against Gonzaga. Dunn is co-captain of the team and was All-Skyline conference last year.

An ex-Idaho Fall's High School star Joe Lockyear will start at center for the Aggies with Larry Bailey and Frank Polak at guards rounding out the starting five. Lockyear at 6 foot 6 inches is the tallest man on the Utah State starting team.

Last year Idaho squeezed out a thrilling 90-88 overtime win over the Aggies in their only meeting. Both Friday and Saturday games are scheduled to start at 8 p.m. immediately following the freshman games.

It has been announced that the club plans to feature lessons for beginning and novice skiers this winter. The lessons are to be held in the Arboretum or possibly on the golf course. Another feature of the club will be a dance to be held some time in March.

Membership is still open in this organization and anyone, whether he be beginner or expert, is invited to attend the meetings. ## Second Year

Coach Harlan Hodges is starting his second year as head Vandal basketball coach after taking over from Chuck Finley who moved to Mississippi Southern. Hodges employs the fast break style of play and stresses offense rather than defense. He came to Idaho from Murray State College, Ky., where he built that school into a ranking basketball power.

CHALK TALK

The Vandals face a stiff test this weekend, meeting two tough teams from the Skyline Conference in the Utah State Aggies and Montana Grizzlies.

Tonight the Vandals will be out to avenge their beating suffered at Missoula last week. Last year Idaho ran all over Montana here to the tune of 100 to 70 and then the Montanians turned around and upset Harlan Hodges' men in the return game in the mountain state.

Utah State proved that they will be tough to reckon with by beating a potent Idaho State quintet twice and edging highly rated Gonzaga on the Zags home court.

In Pat Dunn the Utes have one of the top forwards in the west. Dunn is a scrappy-type ball player, the type of guy that always gives a ball club trouble. Dunn was the Aggies' top scorer in both their games against Gonzaga and against Eastern Washington.

It should be interesting to see what happens when Jerry Jorgenson, first string sophomore forward for the Vandals and Joe Lockyear first string center of the Aggies get together. The two were teammates at Idaho Falls High School in 1953 and led that school to the state championship that year.

Here is a brief thumbnail sketch of the fifteen Vandals who open the home season tonight:

Bill Bauscher, six foot senior guard from Jerome. One of the two returning lettermen on the team. Probably one of the fastest men on the squad, was a stalwart on last year's team. Bill is an excellent ball handler and dribbler and should rank with the top scorers this season. He was picked as one of the outstanding players on the Coast in a national pre-season basketball magazine.

Jay Buhler, 5 foot 9 inch senior guard from Hailey. Jay is a co-captain of this year's Vandals along with Bauscher. He was top scorer for the team in Northern Division play last year, as a forward, being switched to guard this year. Buhler is expected to do a lot of scoring for the Vandals this year also.

Jerry Jorgenson, 6 foot 5 inch sophomore forward from Idaho Falls. Jerry is one of the many sophomores on the squad, breaking into the starting lineup against Montana. He is extremely fast for a big man, weighing 201 pounds and has possibly more potential than any other man on the squad.

Jack Mitchell, 6 foot 4 inch sophomore forward from Moscow. Mitchell is extremely fast and agile earning him the nickname of 'Jumpin' Jack.' He was the top scorer on last year's frosh team which won 12 of their 14 games and is counted on to carry a lot of the offensive load for the Vandals this year. He also started against Montana.

Bob Gould, the tallest man on the starting five 6' 6". He is the third soph on the current starters for Harlan Hodges. Gould has a tremendous pair of hands enabling him to do wonders with the ball and is a good rebounder. Has the potential to be one of the top players around. Is originally from Hoopston, Illinois.

Good Dribbler Gary Simmons, 6 foot sophomore guard from Twin Falls. Simmons was first string on the frosh club last year being one of the club's top scorers. Simmons is a good dribbler and possesses a good long shot. One of the better hustlers on the club. Should come along to be one of the most outstanding players on the team before the year is out.

Mark Cole, another sophomore who has been working regularly on the second string. A forward standing 6' 3" Cole is fast and a hard driver. He is from Grangeville.

Gary McEwen, is a sophomore in eligibility having missed a year last year after starring on the 1953-54 freshman team. McEwen, 6' 5", center has looked sharp so far, considering he was out of competition last year and should give Gould a battle for the starting post spot. The Kimberly product possesses a good hook shot and has lots of spring making him a tough man on the boards.

Jim Branon, sophomore center from Lewiston. Jim is the tallest man on the team standing 6' 8". He has improved a lot from last year where he saw a fair amount of action on the frosh squad. Has a good two-handed long shot.

Joe Cerniglia, a newcomer to the Vandals fans. He is a junior college transfer from New York City standing 6' 2" and weighing 200 pounds. He was considered one of the top cage prospects in the east. He is not fast but is a good ball handler and a steady player.

Gary Sather, 6' guard from Genesee. Was a second stringer on last year's frosh team. A brother of Jim Sather, first string center for the Vandals last year, Gary is a hard worker and a fair shot.

Grade Level Tankmen To WSC Relays

Academic standards for transfer athletes are being raised, it was announced this week by Pacific Coast Conference officials at their annual meeting being held currently in San Francisco.

Professor H. P. Everest the conference spokesman explained that effective with the start of the next academic period in each of the nine member schools, an athlete transferring from a junior college or another college "must have a C average or lose a full season of varsity athletic competition."

The current rule says that if an athlete is admitted with less than a C average under regularly published entrance requirements, he is eligible immediately.

Other action taken up by the Pacific Coast conference meetings, being attended by Idaho's Director of Athletics, Bob Gibb, Dean Donald Hart, and Dean Ernest Wohletz, include the fining of UCLA for "enticing an athlete under false pretenses." The conference athletic directors and faculty representatives ruled that UCLA had made an unauthorized pledge. Athletic departments may not offer academic scholarships, which the university itself must process.

No Commitments The conference asked members to make no commitments for basketball games after Dec. 20, 1957, in order that a new round robin home-and-home schedule, introduced this year, can be put into full effect.

The organization outlined a six-point program that it will offer to the NCAA on the handling of television for football games.

Mainly, the proposal asks for more regional control, more regional games and fewer national "game of the week" programs in the west.

"We feel that the conference involved should have the say on whether a game should be blacked out in any certain area," said Al Masters, Stanford graduate manager and PCC television chairman.

The PCC wants the schools involved and the conference to have sole authority on local televising of sell-out games. The NCAA requires that they first negotiate with the advertiser who sponsors the national game of the week.

Other action taken at the conference winter meeting: Scheduled Washington State and Idaho for Jan. 15, 1957, at Pullman, and Jan. 22 at Moscow.

Set June 1 and 2, 1956, for the baseball playoff on the field of the northern division winner.

In other business, the conference voted to crown championship teams in football, baseball, basketball and track. There never has been an official champion in the past.

In the future, trophies will be given for team titles. Citations will also be given to athletes maintaining a "B" average and plaques will be awarded to players making the all-conference football team picked by the coaches.

The coaches selections for the first team are:

on most clubs they play this year. The Vandals definitely lack experience with 11 of the team's 15 members being sophs. Things look promising for Vandal cage fans in the future but this writer feels that it will possibly be another year or two before Idaho is at the top of the heap.

Idaho's varsity and freshman swimming squads will see their first action of the season tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the Washington State Relays at Pullman.

Fifteen varsity members and eight freshmen are slated to see action for the Vandals in the meet which has entries from five swimming teams.

Participating in the Relays are: Eastern Washington College of Education, Idaho, Washington State, and the YMCA and AAU swim clubs from Spokane.

The varsity gained some needed strength this week with four new men turning out. Jerry Light, Bob Crawford, Dan Davis and Jim Lambert all began practice late, but are expected to help the team.

Three freshmen, Larry Nelsen, Dave Roscoe and Jack Cleveland have shown a lot of improvement and according to Coach Eric Kirkland, are looking quite good.

Vandal entries for tomorrow's relays are: 200 Medley: Frosh—Smith, Larson, Hall and Roscoe. Varsity—Carlisle, Giles, Buckman and Jones.

800 Relay: Frosh—Lawr, Lund, Smith and Cleveland. Varsity—Hall, Holz, Lambert and Helle. 150 Backstroke: Frosh—Larsen, Smith, Nelson, Varsity—Carlisle, Lindberg and Hall.

Diving: Varsity—Richards, Edwards and Sather. 150 Breaststroke: Frosh—Larsen, Smith, Nelson, Varsity—Carlisle, Lindberg and Hall.

The record of drivers under 25 years of age showed a slight overall improvement in 1954 as compared to 1953. In 1954, only 24.1 per cent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were under 25 as against 24.5 per cent in 1953.

Dr. Greene, head of the university PE department announced yesterday that the Gym will be open from 2 till 4 p.m. on Sunday's for basketball from now on.

Coach Kirkland released the swimming schedule for the year yesterday, which is as follows. Dec. 10—WSC Relays at Pullman. Jan. 14—EWCE at Cheney, Wash. Jan. 21—Montana S. at Missoula. Feb. 4—WSC at Moscow. Feb. 10—OSC at Moscow. Feb. 11—Oregon at Moscow. Feb. 18—EWCE at Moscow. Feb. 21—WSC at Pullman. Feb. 24—Washington at Seattle. ## Idaho Stars To Be Lauded At Halftime

The Idaho Vandals' only two All-American basketball players will be honored at halftime activities of Idaho's first home appearance at Memorial gymnasium tonight, athletic department officials announced this week.

Large portraits of the two former Vandal stars—Al Fox, who led Idaho to a Northern Division and Pacific Coast Conference crown in 1923, and Fred (Whimpy) Quinn, who was the kingpin of the 1946 Vandal Northern Division champions—will be presented to the Associated Students by the athletic department.

Quinn, now in business in Wallace, will be present to accept the honor. Fox, in Chicago, will be represented by his brother, Rich Fox, a former Idaho star and Vandal basketball coach, who resides at Nezperce.

In behalf of President D. R. Theophilus, who will be unable to attend, H. Walter Steffens, executive dean of the University, will accept the pictures of each former player from Bob Gibb, director of athletics, and master of ceremonies.

Honors Fox, still considered as an all-time Pacific Coast conference great, combined with a number of central Idaho ex-preppers to lead the Vandals through to coast honors in 1923.

He was considered one of the best team players and was extremely fast with "very quick reflexes." Members of his team include Ben Keane, now equipment manager at the University; the late J. O. (Oz) Thompson of Moscow, and his brother, Rich.

Quinn, who was named to the All-American second team when a junior, was a member of the Vandals' last Northern Division champions in 1946. He played at the Southern Branch of the University (now Idaho State) at Pocatello and transferred in 1942 to Idaho. Quinn entered the service, after playing one year under Coach Guy Wicks. He returned for the 1945-46 season under Coach J. (Babe) Brown, now coach at Nampa High School.

It was Brown's team which won the ND title in '46. In 1947 Quinn played under Coach Wicks, who is now field agent for the University.

Quinn, one of the earlier exponents of the soft hook shot, combined superior ball handling with a brilliant shooting eye to gain the following of hundreds of area cage fans.
