

Singers Touch New, Old Ages

The annual Christmas Candlelight Concert by the Vandaleers, under the direction of Glen R. Lockery, will be given at 8 p.m., Sunday, in the Memorial Gym. Appearing with the Vandaleers will be the University Symphony Orchestra, Carl Claus, conductor.

Following the traditional candlelight processional, the singers will be heard in five a cappella compositions by 16th, 17th, and 18th century composers. The next section of the program will feature the men's voices in five Christmas songs of foreign countries.

The women of the chorus will perform "A Ceremony of Carols", comprising chorus settings by the contemporary British composer Benjamin Britten, with texts taken largely from medieval writings. Closing the first half of the concert will be a group of familiar hymns and carols performed by the entire group. Following the intermission, the Vandaleers and the orchestra will present a performance of "Magnificat in D Major" by J. S. Bach.

Preceding the concert, the University Brass Choir, under the direction of William Billingsley, will be heard in carols from the Memorial Gymnasium tower.

Portions of the concert are to be broadcast over radio stations in Idaho, through the services of the University of Idaho Radio Center. The concert will be broadcast, transcribed, by radio station KHQ, Spokane, on Christmas Eve from 8:30 to 9:30 under the sponsorship of Frank W. Lawton Printing Company of Spokane.

Orchestra Plays
The traditional candlelight processional will be accompanied by the playing of "Concerto Grosso No. 3" by A. Corelli, by the orchestra. Light has long been used in the Christian world to symbolize the coming of Christ. The Vandaleers will use white candles in Christmas Candlelight Concert to express joy in the Christmas scene.

The first group of songs will be composed of early music on the Christmas theme for unaccompanied choir. Included in the group will be "Hodie Christus Natus Est" by Palestrina; "O Magnum Mysterium" by Vittoria; "Loi How a Rose Ere Blooming" by Praetorius; and "Adoramus Te Christe" and "Jubilate Deo" by Mozart.

Fems Step Out For Drill Team

U. of I. fems gave their best struts and turns in tryouts for the University Women's Drill Team yesterday in the SUB North Ballroom. Judging was the promotion committee for the drill team, Janice Hale, Jody Baldwin and Sally Ghigliere.

Two girls from each feminine living group on campus were scheduled to give their best. One from each house will be tapped Monday to be a charter member. The charter members later will pick the rest of some 50 girls to make up the team. Each living group is assured of at least one member.

The girls were picked on looks, personality, legs, marching ability, past experience, campus and house activities and leadership. They were selected from the sophomore and junior classes.

Students trying out were: French House, Barbara Ison and Rita Larson; Gamma Phi Beta, Patsy Lou Robinson and Sharrol Bartlett; Kappa Alpha Theta, Lorraine Langdon and Leah Nanninga; Kappa Kappa Gamma, Irene West and Carol Warner; Alpha Chi Omega, Barbara Simons and Sandra Slavin; Hays Hall, Gail Gruys and Marilyn Gulley; Forney Hall, Carol Seitz and Betty Lee Hutchison; Steel House, Sonja Bond; Alpha Phi, Dixie Young and Sandi Evans; Tri Delta, Waverly Williams and Coleen Watson; Delta Gamma, Patty Parsons, Carol Jackson; and Pi Beta Phi, Marilyn Nugent and Jeanne Bishop.

Exec Board members were on hand to witness the try-outs.

Students Are Given Dance At Lewiston

A College Yule Supper-Dance is being sponsored at the Lewiston County Club on December 22 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. for any college students interested. Tickets are $3.50 per couple the attire is casual dresses for the girls and the fellows in suits and ties.

Contact sponsors, Mrs. Eugenia Hamblin, 611 Ninth Street or Mrs. J. H. Hughes, 1920 Grele, Lewiston, to make reservations.

Rides Listed For Houses By Bureau

Need a ride home? The University Travel Bureau Committee has put lists in each living group for students to sign who have room for passengers and those who need rides home.

According to Jackie Lavens, chairman of the travel committee, the lists will be taken down this afternoon and information will be made available so the people who have extra room and those who want rides can get together. Composite lists of rides available will be distributed to the living groups Friday evening.

Jackie was notified by the Northwest Stage Line today that they would charter a non-stop bus to travel to Boise leaving at 1 p.m. Wednesday afternoon, Dec. 21. This bus would return to Moscow January 4 leaving Boise at 10 a.m. This bus will be made available if 29 students are interested. The cost of the round trip ticket will be $10.00 per person. Those students interested in traveling on the bus please contact Jackie Lavens, phone 2423 before noon Monday.

Weather reports and conditions of all roads leading out of Moscow will be posted on a blackboard in the main lobby of the SUB starting today and ending Wednesday evening. The weather board will include conditions of the leading passes, grades and highways outside of Moscow. Also the recommended speeds, state police reports, and the movement of traffic will be recorded twice a day on the board.

Road Condition To Be Posted For Students

Pre-vacation road reports will be posted outside of the Student Union this afternoon and each day Monday through Wednesday of next week. Ben Jenness, road conditions director of the campus traffic safety committee said today.

Jenness said the report will be placed on a large board and will have accurate weather conditions of key highway points in Idaho, as reported by the Idaho State Police.

The director said daily reports will be posted around noon each day for the benefit of persons driving home for the Christmas vacation.

Reports will include Lewiston grade, Whitebird Hill, Lookout pass between Wallace and Montana, Fourth of July Canyon between Coeur d'Alene and Kellogg, Snoqualmie pass in Washington and other points on Highway 95 South. The committee will also post road reports this spring, Jenness said, prior to the spring vacation. The reports are part of a series of safety moves.

Davey, Dan? No, Just 'Winnie' For Tea

Idaho may not have its proverbial Davey Crockett or Dan'l Boone, but it does do one better. Stopping into the Bucket for a spot of tea has been none other than Winston Churchill. He sports neither can nor stogie, but law books under his arm.

The Churchill address isn't 10 Downing Street, rather 312 Asbury in good old Moscow, USA.

Ed Crockett of 627 Elm and Ivan Crockett of Idaho Club can't outdo our "Winnie."

Here's Scoop For Holidays

Nearly thirty-three hundred Vandals began preparations this week for the Christmas exodus en masse Wednesday that will inaugurate a 13 1/2-day vacation from classes. Meantime, officials set down some rules and information designed to make the holiday a good one for all concerned.

According to Dean H. Walter Steffens, the school's policy on cuts is "no undue penalty" for skipping classes before the holiday begins at 12 noon Wednesday. Such problems will be left to the individual instructors, he said.

Classes resume Thursday morning, Jan. 5 with the full schedule applying.

ASUI General Manager Gale Mix reported that the Student Union building would be closed from Dec. 23 to Jan. 3 for general cleaning and repair. He said students remaining on campus would have the opportunity of spending Christmas day with local families if they wished, although they would have to make their own arrangements.

Meanwhile, the administration issued a "Christmas Check List" for all students going home next week. It included the following precautions:

1. Be sure all valuables are locked in a safe place or taken home.
2. Leave rooms perfectly clean. Do not leave oiled rags or mops in closets or corners. Lock all windows securely. Radiators should not be turned off completely. Lights and water faucets should be shut off.
3. In the girls' halls the buildings will be locked at all times, since there will be no girls staying over the holidays. If entrance is necessary during vacation, contact the janitor or the Director of Dormitories.
4. Men's halls will remain open. Men staying over vacation must check with the proctor. All occupants should use a single designated entrance during vacation to discourage prowlers. Those who stay will be charged for the two weeks at the regular room rental rate.
5. In the girls' halls the janitor will take in the mail and lock it in the hostess' apartment. It will not be forwarded.

In the men's halls it will be necessary to designate a mail man to pick up the mail at the post office and someone will have to sort and distribute it to the students who remain in the hall. If mail is to be forwarded, arrangements must be made with the hall mail man since the post office will not forward mail.

To facilitate snow removal for campus streets, the operations council today designated authorized areas where student cars may be parked while they are home on vacation. The areas include Idaho street west from Willis Sweet Hall to the Gym annex and the area across Third street and north of the prefabs (intersection of Third and Line.)

Unauthorized areas include all University parking lots and on Sixth, Seventh, Blake, Elm, Ash, Pine, Line and Rayburn streets and Idaho avenue east of Line street, University Avenue, Sweet Avenue between Blake and Deakin, and Deakin Avenue.

Library hours during the holiday as announced by Lee Zimmerman, librarian will be:
December 21—7:45 a.m. to 5 p.m.
December 22—8 a.m. to 12 noon; 1 to 5 p.m.

Bad Water? No; Cause Is Mystery

An odd orange-brown coloring in the drinking water which serves the University has Buildings and Grounds officials baffled at its cause but not as to the results.

George Gagon, University Engineer, today explained that the presumed impurities in the water that serves dormitories and school buildings reveal negative disease content of any type. Gagon said that water samples are taken twice monthly and tested at the North Central Idaho Health Unit at Lewiston.

The engineer reports that the coloring is due to iron which gets into the water at well sites and then oxidizes when pumped from the University wells causing eventual discoloration of the water and pipes, porcelain and clothing.

Gagon thinks that the sudden increase in colored water and the sudden shortage of water may cause the reaction. He said that the well water table is dangerously low and the farther down the well the water line goes, the more iron content.

The iron content in the University water, according to a Boise chemical analysis, shows between 3.2 and 3.6 parts per million. The figures are based on a million pounds of water with 200 pounds of solid. Gagon says that the accepted amount of iron is .3.

He said that the iron and hardness of the water also causes an odor.

Typhoid Nil

Gagon revealed the reasons for the water color, feeling that some people might connect the recent University typhoid cases with the water discoloring.

As to the correction of the water, Gagon said that there are three possible solutions. He said that expert study would be needed, however in a method to completely eliminate the problem.

A filter plant to treat the water and cut the iron content, would be impractical, Gagon commented, because of cost. Water which would be used in the summer and spring to irrigate would also be pumped through this system.

The use of zeolites will take the iron from the water but the Engineer said that the next problem there would be getting the iron from the zeolites.

The third possible remedy is being carried out, Gagon said. Main water lines are from time to time flushed out to wash out the iron which forms about the inside of the pipes. Gagon indicated however, that pipes which are in buildings, under floors and running along walls can not very well be flushed.

Pipe Replaced
Hays Hall plumbing was replaced ending this summer, he said because the iron formed so thickly inside the pipe that water could not pass freely causing stoppages and sink plugging.

Gagon has on hand at his Buildings and Grounds office several pipes taken from the University area. All pipes are so thickly filled with iron that not even a lead pencil could slip through the pipes.

He said the University doesn't need to worry about pipe corrosion, the iron fills the pipes before corrosion. He said that Hays Hall piping had been in the building for 25 years.

Gagon said "we definitely have a problem with the water, it is getting scarce in the two well sites and the coloring in the water is bothering many people. Public opinion will probably be the big factor in remedying the situation, but in the meantime we will continue our work to flush out as much of the iron as we can and replacing plugged pie lines."

Santa Claus To Visit Cosmo Club Party
Santa Claus is paying a visit to the Cosmopolitan Club Christmas party on Sunday, December 18. The party will start at 3 p.m. in the south ballroom of the SUB and will feature games, Christmas carols and refreshments.

Due to a conflict with another party for the faculty and their children, the original plans have been cancelled. However a special invitation to foreign students, whether club members or not, is issued for the event.

Vets Attack AL 'Scare Tactics'

By John B. Hughes
Accusations that the American Legion used "cops and robber" scare tactics in attacking Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins and the Fund for the Republic brought State Commander Leslie McCarthy, Lewiston attorney, to the defense of the Idaho Department Tuesday night.

McCarthy spoke before the Vandal Veteran's Organization explaining to the group the work of the American Legion and clarifying recent issues in the Hutchins incident. Dr. Hutchins scheduled talk at the University of Idaho was attacked by two Northern Idaho Legion districts.

The Veterans questioned the Legion in its drive to oppose the controversial education fund and its leader.

"We make mistakes," the commander admitted, "We know we are overanxious, people disagree with our methods, but you show me a man or an organization who doesn't make a mistake and you will show me a man or group that does absolutely nothing and that isn't the American Legion. The Legion has the broadest and most comprehensive organization of its type with 32 programs."

Legion's Privilege
McCarthy indicated that it was the Legion's privilege and duty to carry out such investigative work. The mid-winter meeting, he said, did a great deal to solve the problem, and wake the people of Idaho to the fact that there is a communistic threat in every part of the United States.

McCarthy told the group, "You people know more than a lot of people know of the real threat of communism. The Korean war wasn't a police action. The communistic principle is 'might makes right' but you know that our democratic principle that we all enjoy, is that 'right makes might'."

"Communists state that the two may not co-exist, and we are not about to add a similar 35-million sum to our national defense funds because you know the money will come from your and my pockets."

"The American Legion is going to take it upon themselves to shock the American people out of their doldrums or we wouldn't be fulfilling our obligation to the American people, and we are going to continue to do that as long as there is an American Legion and the threat of communism."

Real Problem
"And we feel as when someone will go so far as to render comfort and aid to the enemies of the United States that they are also on the other side. It is a genuine and real problem. We have communists in the U.S. numbered in the thousands and sympathizers in the hundreds of thousands."

"They are members of that party and are dedicated to the overthrow of our government by violence. We have a real threat and you people in this institution have a definite obligation to your country. As far as the Fund for the Republic is concerned, I'll second the national commander, J.J. Waddington (Continued on Page 3, Col. 3)

'Thousand And Second' Is Jan. 7, Say Cosmos

Centered around a theme of the "Thousand and Second Night," the annual International Ball has been set for January 7, 1956, just two days after school resumes next year.

Based on a theme from an old Arabian folk tale, the Cosmopolitan Club dance idea goes back many years into the literary history of Arabia.

Once upon a time there was an Arabic sheik who, being rather ruthless, showed his dislike for each of his wives by killing her the night after the wedding.

One crafty little female, cute too, it is said, decided to out-flood the old sheik and see if, after marrying him, she might live for a while. She began on her wedding night by telling him a fascinating story. The old fellow was so entranced by the tale that he decided to let her live, at least for one more night.

Each evening her stories were so interesting that he could not bear to part with her and after 1001 nights (a little less than three years) he decided to let her live. It was after all these spellbound evenings that he consummated the marriage.

This came on the 1002 night, the name for which has been given the International Ball.

Case Of Misinterpretation?

Freedom of speech and the rights of constitutional due process of law are two of our fundamental principles in America. We at the University of Idaho have seen, what we believe to be, an infringement of these principles by the American Legion. From resolutions passed by Districts one and two of the Idaho department of the American Legion, from statements such as "we are loaded for bear" by the State Commander of the Legion, and by a visit of a Legion national officer to the Idaho Campus to attempt to get the administration to cancel the speech of Dr. Robert Maynard Hutchins, we at Idaho could only draw one conclusion. That conclusion was that the Legion was attempting to prevent Dr. Hutchins from speaking and the Idaho students from hearing him.

Now we find that the Idaho American Legion and its commander Leslie McCarthy feel that their intentions were misinterpreted. In a meeting with the Vandal Veterans Organization Mr. McCarthy stated that his views and those of the Idaho department of the American Legion were stated in a resolution passed at a Mid-Winter Convention of the Legion in Boise, December 2. In this resolution the right of free speech and the right to criticize are emphasized. For this we commend the Legion, even if it seems to be a reversal of positions.

Also to be commended in the stand in the resolution wherein the Legion urges the deliverance of its material concerning the Fund for the Republic and Dr. Hutchins to the House Un-American Activities Committee. This is the proper place to place charges of Un-Americanism and subversion. And, this is also the place to place a person or activities on trial.

So now the issue boils down to this: The Idaho American Legion has extracted itself from the position of attempting to bar Dr. Hutchins from our campus. They have taken a sound stand on sending their opinions and evidence to the proper place. However, they commend their national officers and committees who have definitely attempted to bar Dr. Hutchins speech and who are carrying on a propaganda campaign and trial by the press against Dr. Hutchins and the Fund for the Republic.

Regardless of whether the Fund or Dr. Hutchins may or may not be guilty of "giving aid and comfort to the enemy" their rights are being infringed upon by this one sided campaign trial. This junior size hate campaign is to be deplored by Americans who believe in the principles of justice and due process of law. Whenever the Legion or any group steps beyond the bounds of objective criticism with evidence, they deserve the condemnation of thinking people who value their liberty.

File Claim Notice Fast, Says Office

The Business Office would like to call to the attention of all students covered by the Student Accident Insurance Policy that the policy provides:

Written notice of injury on which claims may be based must be given to the Company within thirty (30) days after the date of the accident causing such injury.

As soon as physically possible after any accident from which a claim might develop, a student should file written notice about the accident. If notice of the accident is not filed within thirty (30) days, then the individual loses his rights for reimbursement under the policy unless it can be proven to the satisfaction of the insurance company that it was physically impossible to file such claim.

Notices should be filed with the representative of the insurance company, which is the Weisel Insurance Agency, 512 South Main Street, Moscow.

Hundreds of severely disabled veterans who might still be on the sideline have gained a new start toward independent living through a Veterans Administration program of "work adjustment training."

The program is designed to help the veteran master the fundamentals of day-to-day living and working—things that the able-bodied take for granted, but that seem like almost insurmountable obstacles to the seriously handicapped.

It is not designed to train him thoroughly for a specific job; that can come later, VA said, once he gets past the initial hurdles.

Most "work adjustment training" has been provided for disabled veterans in sheltered workshops and rehabilitation centers, where they can receive the sympathetic and understanding attention so necessary in their first steps of adjustment to the work-a-day world. A few vocational schools also offer this training.

The program has four goals, VA said, all related to the end of restoring the veteran to a useful life. It helps him acquire fundamental work capacities;

It helps him gain personal confidence that he is able to work;

It helps him adjust to work activities and to his associates on the job—to feel that, despite his handicaps, he "belongs";

And it helps him develop fitness for a regular program of vocational training, or, if not needed, for employment.

Through "work adjustment training," severely disabled veterans already have prepared for jobs as draftsmen; office workers; restaurant workers; leatherworkers; woodworkers; radio repairmen; printers; book-binders and many more.

Question Of The Week.
Q. If I apply for disability compensation as soon as I get my discharge from service, will I be required to take a VA physical examination?

A. Not necessarily. As long as you file your claim within six months from your discharge, VA may give you an initial rating based on the records of your branch of service—unless it would appear that an error would result from such a procedure.

Dear Jason!

STUDENTS: While we are home for our Christmas vacation is a fine time to do a little recruiting for our school! As students at the University of Idaho, we can give the high school seniors in our communities the student viewpoint on the University itself and student life in general. None of us has to, or wants to spend our entire vacation recruiting and talking to prospective students but here are several suggestions which may help us all to do a good job.

1. Our University is judged by its students, so let's put our best foot forward.
2. Be friendly. Don't get a reputation for snobbishness. Go out of your way to visit high school students, former associates, and former teachers.
3. Give accurate information concerning living conditions, costs, studies, student activities, and student government.
4. If questions concerning any phase of the University are asked which you cannot answer, bring those questions back with you and refer them to Guy Wicks in the Office of Student Affairs. Letters with the requested information will be sent from his office to the student immediately.
5. Remember—the University of Idaho is one of the outstanding academic schools in the entire country. Be proud of it!
6. Drive carefully on the way home so you can enjoy your Christmas vacation with family and friends!

Your entire student recruiting committee wishes you a very Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

Dear Jason: What's with TV now? Is it a new television gimmick, or has Davy Crockett developed violent spasms. Even fighters are enhanced by this new happening. Now they ripple to the canvas, right themselves, and fling violent blows with a crippled arm. An outraged inquiry revealed the true reason behind these queer TV antics.

An official of the University announced that the new Lewiston TV channel, KLEW, undergoing birth-pains, or something, has loused the whole University and Moscow area reception.

Starting last Friday night in the middle of the championship fights, channel three, or KLEW, contributed their first cataclysm of spasms on channels two and four. Marked by complete blackout, or at best, an annoyingly steady stream of electrons marking their course across the screen, the test pattern televised by channel 3 spreads itself among the other two channels.

With such broad coverage, it was suggested that the University present a note of congratulation when this youthful outfit succeeds in reaching channel six with their new apparatus. Such a success would be unusual at so early an age.

Jealousy was suggested as a motive for the interference, since the University has refused to spend some $5,000 to adjust the I-tank antenna to receive three on its cable.

We were in real good shape. Enough protests might bring action to correct these TV heaves. KLEW said they would try to correct the trouble, but suggested that the U of I try to track out their signal so that it doesn't interfere. Tracking down our signal would require quite a bit of work, and experimenting with several methods to rectify the trouble.

...Why should the University have to do something? D.E.

Preparation for a university education in Norway is quite an arduous project according to Arne Thune, a Norwegian exchange student.

In explaining the Norwegian educational system, Thune pointed out that the artium degree is granted to students who have passed a series of comprehensive examinations given at secondary schools called "gymnasiums." It is normally taken at the end of 12 years of schooling. When the student is about 19 years of age and has successfully completed seven years of public school and five years of the Gymnasium.

He went on to say that, "before the new law of 1935 there were two schools, the Middelsskole, a three year curriculum, and the Gymnasium, also three years. For about half the students it means the end of their formal education, but for the rest it is the inescapable needle's eye through which they must pass to obtain specialized training in science, letters, medicine, law, theology, engineering, commerce and industry."

It has been calculated that in 1938 one out of every 20 Norwegians in this age group obtained an Artium degree, while in 1945 the number had risen to one out of every ten.

"For students who go on to higher education it marks a very definite break in their type of schooling. From having been held to a rigid schedule of class work with relatively little freedom of choice, they are now put on their own and given almost complete latitude."

"Students," explained Thunt, "look forward to specialized study leading to a comprehensive examination for a higher degree and are regarded as mature enough to escape further courses in general education."

He pointed out that in some of the technical colleges such as engineering and medicine, students are not held to hard and fast schedules and they may take their own time about preparing for the higher degree.

Much emphasis is put on social activities in groups in American universities. Do you consider it a satisfactory social life only when a fraternity invites a sorority or vice-versa to a formal dance once in a while or in a semester?

In Europe university social life is on a social basis, but with more emphasis on the personal basis. When dances are arranged, invitations are never sent to only certain groups but are on an open basis.

In America it is considered absolutely necessary for girls to step out of the house only if they have a date. As a matter of fact in Europe, you hardly find any girl sitting idly at home on a Saturday night just because they do not have a date.

I would suggest that at least on the campus, the girls should Europeanize a bit in this respect. Aage Pettersen

Regents Appoint Two At LCNS

New appointments approved by the regents for Lewis-Clark Normal School include Pauline Clark Gusseck, instructor in music education, and Ruby Catherine Bouton, nurse, it was announced today by Dr. D. R. Theophilus, President of the University of Idaho and Lewis-Clark.

Mrs. Gusseck will divide her teaching duties, continuing to serve also the elementary schools of Lewiston. Widely known in the area as a teacher of violin, she will receive her master's degree from the University of Idaho after the 1956 summer session. She is a graduate of Northern Idaho College of Education, the institution which Lewis-Clark Normal School succeeds.

Doing half-time duty as a nurse, Mrs. Bouton will fill the vacancy left by LoRene Abbey, who is moving to Idaho Falls where her husband has a new position. Mrs. Bouton is a graduate of the nursing school at Sacred Heart hospital in Spokane, and has been serving on the staff of St. Joseph's hospital in Lewiston.

Almost 40 per cent of the deaths occur on weekends.

On Campus with Max Shubman

A few weeks ago in this space I passed on some hints to college men who wished to become BWOCs. I would be remiss not to do the same for college women who wish to become BWOCs.

The first and most basic step on the road to being a BWOC is to attract attention. Get yourself noticed. But be very, very careful not to do it the wrong way. I mean, any old girl is bound to be noticed if she goes around with a placard that says, "HEY! LOOKIT ME!" Don't you make such a horrid gaffe. On your placard put: "ZUT! REGARDEZ-MOI!" This, as you can see, lends a whole new dimension of tone and dignity.

Once you have been noticed, it is no longer necessary to carry the placard. It will suffice if, from time to time, you make distinctive noises. If, for instance, every three or four minutes you cry, "Whip-poor-will!" you cannot but stay fresh in the minds of onlookers.

We come now to clothes, a vital accessory to the BWOC—indeed, to any girl who wishes to remain out of jail. But to the BWOC clothes are more than just a decent cover; they are, it is not too much to say, a way of life.

This year the "little boy look" is all the rage on campus. Every coed, in a mad effort to look like a little boy, is wearing short pants, knee socks, and boy-shirts. But the BWOC is doing more. She has gone the whole hog in achieving little boyhood. She has frogs in her pockets, scabs on her knees, down on her upper lip, and is followed everywhere by a dog named Spot.

All this, of course, is only by day. When evening falls and her date comes calling, the BWOC is the very picture of chic femininity. She dresses in severe, simple basic black, relieved only by a fourteen pound charm bracelet. Her hair is exquisitely coiffed, with a fresh rubber band around the pony tail. Her daytime scuffs have been replaced by fashionable high heeled pumps, and she does not remove them until she gets to the movies.

After the movies at the campus cafe, the BWOC undergoes her severest test. The true BWOC will never, never, order the entire menu. This is gluttony and can only cause one's date to blench. The true BWOC will pick six or seven good entrées and then have nothing more till dessert. This is class and is the hallmark of the true BWOC.

Finally, the BWOC, upon being asked by the cigarette vendor which is the brand of her choice, will always reply, "Philip Morris, of course!" For any girl knows that a Philip Morris in one's hand stamps one instantly as a person of taste and discernment, as the possessor of an educated palate, as a connoisseur of the finer, gentler, higher pleasures. This Philip Morris, this badge of savoir faire, now comes to you in a smart new pack of red, white and gold, in king-size or regular, at popular prices, wherever cigarettes are sold. ©Max Shubman, 1955

To all on campus, big or small, men or women, the makers of Philip Morris, who bring you this column, extend a cordial invitation to try today's gentle Philip Morris, made gentle to smoke gentle.

Here's More About— Vets Attack

Wagner, that present activities and their mode of operation give aid to the enemies of America and I will voice that opinion any chance I get that opportunity.

"Let us watch this congressional investigation; it will be very interesting."

McCarthy invited the group to look over documents concerning the Fund and Dr. Hutchins which he brought to the meeting.

Not Tactful
The veterans said that the Legion in Idaho was not tactful in asking the University to cancel the talk by channelizing or bringing the facts about the incident into the open, but rather acted in an arbitrary manner.

The commander said "The issues brought out by the North Idaho districts against Hutchins were considered for several weeks by the press, radio and other agencies but no one made any attempt to find out what the American Legion knew about the Fund or why the Legion was concerned with it."

One of the veterans asked McCarthy why the Legion didn't volunteer the information.

McCarthy replied, "the North Idaho districts must have had basic, genuine reasons for passing the resolution or the House un-American Activities committee would not have called the Fund to the stand."

He called the incident with the University concerning the talk as a "chain of circumstances." The current resolution passed in Boise by the Idaho department early this month, stated that the Legion favored giving the individual the rights to express himself and the rights for all to criticize.

Membership Stunt?
McCarthy added that he could not think of an accomplishment of the Fund for the Republic that has not been subversively controversial.

A member of the Vets asked McCarthy if the issue might not have been brought up if the Legion wasn't carrying out a membership drive. McCarthy pointed out membership figures that showed Idaho to be the fifth ranked nationally in membership for its percentage of veterans, and he said that the quota would be filled by the end of the year to make Idaho the number one state in the Union. "We do not consider this incident a membership effort," he said.

"As far as the Legion in Idaho is concerned, Dr. Hutchins' case is moot. We have fulfilled our role by causing the Congressional investigation of the Fund for the Republic," McCarthy emphasized.

SPURS ATTEND CONFAB
Four members of the University of Idaho Spurs attended a Regional Spur Convention at the College of Puget Sound in Tacoma, Washington.

Members of the Idaho chapter attending were Jane Bonham, Ellie Johnson, Karen Warner and Dot Drayton. At the Convention discussions of Spur activities and functions on other campuses were held.

"Well, I'll be damned," said the little brook as the fat lady fell off the bridge.

Portman Predicts Winter Conditions To Affect Insects

It is impossible to predict the effect of this year's early winter on next summer's insect population, according to Roland W. Portman, extension entomologist at the University of Idaho. He explained that winter conditions affect both pest and beneficial insects, and whichever one survives gets the upper hand the following summer. The world is a small one for Portman, who has been on the staff here since 1948. His entomology studies range from the two-spotted spider mite a 60th of an inch long to two-inch butterflies. He reports that there are between 250 and 300 economic pest insects in Idaho which are destructive to agricultural crops.

An entomologist is concerned with insects as they affect other fields such as agronomy, horticulture, plant pathology, poultry, and animal and dairy husbandry. Portman's major studies in 1954 included alfalfa, clover, potato, vegetable, grain, livestock and fruit insects; household pests, honeybees and grasshoppers.

Wesleyan U. Committee Releases Survey Report

MIDDLETOWN, Conn. (IP)—The Educational Policy Committee at Wesleyan University has released its long-awaited report to the faculty. The survey, an over-all evaluation to facilitate departmental self-appraisals, concerns five major areas of campus life: admissions, orientation and counseling, curriculum, faculty problems, and fraternities. For the purpose of sub-committee work, "admissions" and "fraternities" were grouped under the "Student Values" committee.

The Student Values Subcommittee is of the opinion that the fraternity system, "the most important single non-curricular force on campus in the formation of student values," has ceased to fulfill its potential function as a "major focus of the intellectual life of the community," and has become primarily social in nature.

The position of the fraternity was seen as anti-democratic, anti-intellectual, conformist, and inclined toward mediocrity. In their belief, however, it can be said that they develop loyalty and cooperation, form a convenient division of students for administrative purposes, provide a training ground for self-government, and a system whereby the older students give to freshmen the benefit of their years of experience.

Recommendations for betterment of the fraternity system include: delayed rushing to the sophomore year, discouragement of national affiliations, elimination of discriminatory clauses, and 100 per cent rushing.

The Subcommittee on Admissions was concerned primarily with the problem of attracting and selecting students of a more highly motivated character and greater intellectual capacity. It expressed the conviction that intellectual capacity was the most important criterion of admission, with character and attitude a very important consideration, and specialized talents such as sports relegated to a secondary position.

The Educational Structure Subcommittee found the most dangerous pressures to be those which tend away from the liberal arts idea of small enrollment, intensive training, importance of the undergraduate student body, and assimilation of the individual and the institution into an integrated society.

The graduate program was seen as generally beneficial in its present form; it presents to the graduate an opportunity for advanced learning on a higher plane, and to the undergraduate the stimulus of a highly-trained mind with whom to compete in advanced courses. The Subcommittee on Orientation and Counseling investigated ways in which a more positive and self-reliant attitude can be coupled with a more effective student-advisor relationship to ease real problems of social integration at college.

Finding the problem largely due to erroneous preconceptions about college life, received before—and just after—entering the university, the committee recommended several changes in the Freshman Integration program, in order to emphasize the role of the student as a man's world. From the time the student reaches Wesleyan, he should be made aware of the opportunity to talk over his problems with his counselor on a man-to-man basis.

RI Week Topics Chosen, Speaker Is From Chicago

"Finding Drive for Faith," "Religion's Appeal to the College Student," "Is God Personal?" and "From Dates to Mates" are only four of many discussion topics University of Idaho students will be considering during Religious Emphasis Week. An annual project backed by student religious organizations, R. E. Week is scheduled for February 26-29, 1956.

Co-chairmen for the session, John Thornock and Karen Lee Krauss, are already busy contacting speakers and naming committees. Others who will be leaders in the four-day program include Marcia Ellis, secretary; Beverly Newberry, treasurer; Martha Sue Dempsey, publicity; and Lon Davis, seminar.

Dr. Frank Rosenthal, Jewish youth director at the University of Washington, will share the speaker's spotlight with Dr. Kermit Eby, Social Science Division, University of Chicago. Dr. Eby will address the entire student body at an assembly and, following his address, the entire discussion groups will be scheduled.

Rev. Henry J. Cross, Baptist church in San Jose, California, and Mrs. Frances Moulton, Director of Christian Education, St. Martin's Episcopal church, Moses Lake, Washington, will both be guest seminar leaders.

Faculty Men Work On Science Meet

Several University of Idaho faculty members will play a prominent role at the 29th annual meeting of the Northwest Scientific Association in Spokane December 28-29.

The organization, which has members from 21 Northwest universities and colleges, promotes scientific research, sponsors the dissemination of scientific knowledge and encourages research workers in the various fields of science and technology.

Program chairman for this year's convention is W. H. Baker, chairman of botany and biological sciences at the University of Idaho. Dr. L. C. Cady, dean of the Idaho graduate school, is past president of the association and on the board of trustees is Edwin W. Tisdale, professor of range management at the university.

Kenneth E. Hungerford, associate professor of wildlife, and Earl J. Larrison, assistant professor of zoology, will lead a group of Idaho speakers, each having two talks scheduled before sectional meetings of the association.

Three speakers from Idaho's biological sciences department will be Malcolm T. Jolie, Henry A.

Imshaug, and William H. Baker. Speakers from the college of forestry and the Idaho Cooperative Wildlife Research unit will include Robert L. Gilbertson, Everett Ellis, Gordon C. Heebner, and Clyde Novak.

Other University of Idaho speakers at the convention will include Ali R. Amir-Moez of the mathematics department, Earl F. Cook, head of geology and geography, Sverre L. Scheldrup, labor economics, and Dr. Hary Harmsworth.

Home Management Gets New Tenants

Six senior girls majoring in home economics moved into the Home Management House for a six weeks' stay Monday.

Required of all senior home economics majors, the time spent in the house will be spent in regular home experience, including meal planning, cooking, housecleaning, and entertaining.

The girls who are beginning their stay in the house are Elsie Gordon, Donna Thompson, Grace Hobson, Marion Hoover, Beverly Nelson, and Marilyn Marvel.

What's doing at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft

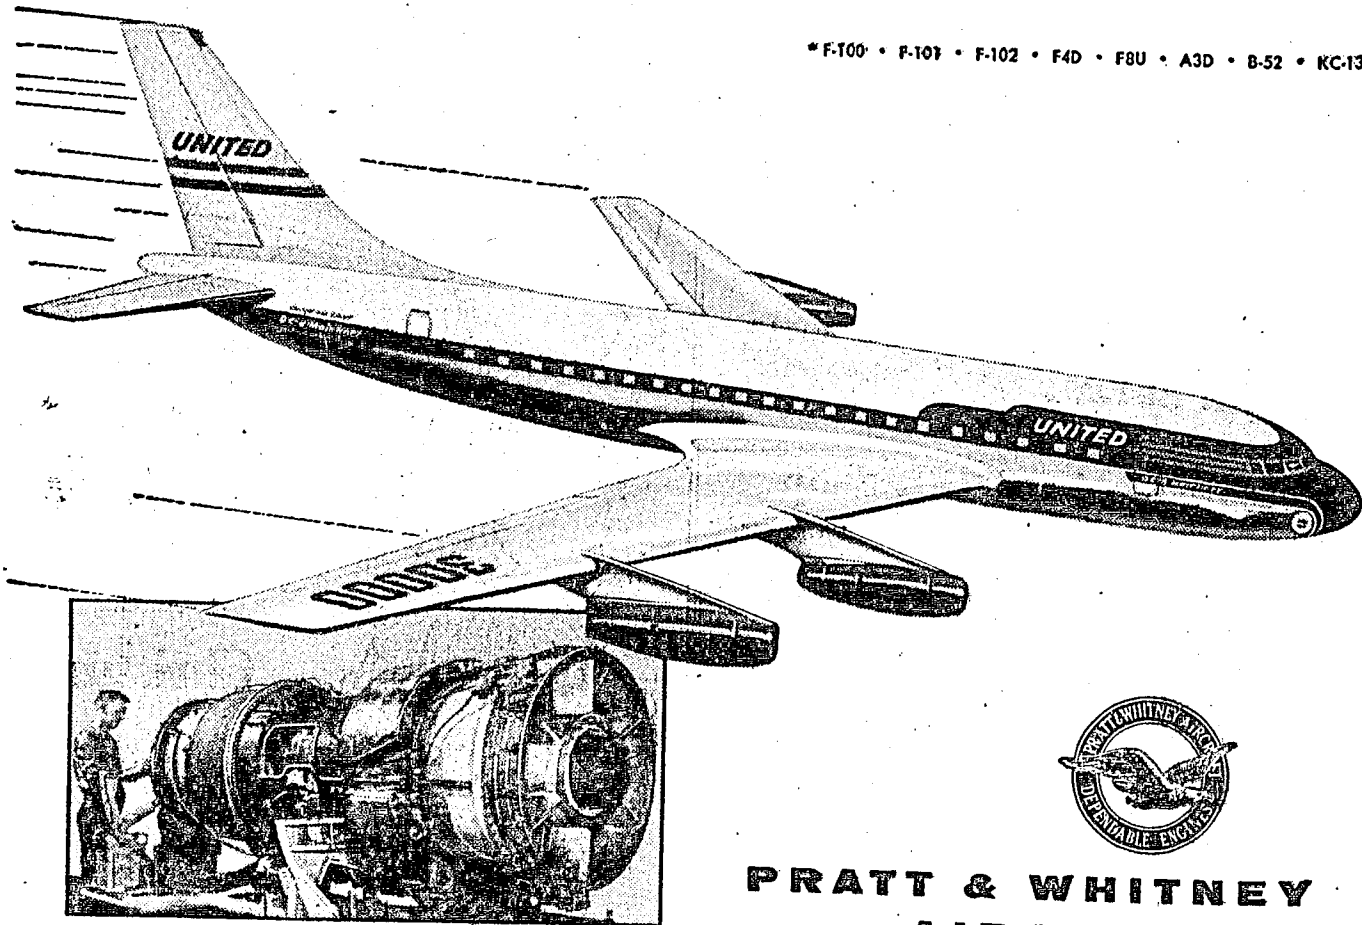

Domestic Travel in the Age of Jet Transports

Starting in 1959, United Air Lines' flight time between Los Angeles and New York will be 4½ hours—between Chicago and New York, only 90 minutes. By placing the first contract order for jet transports to be used in domestic operations, United Air Lines has upheld its reputation as a pioneer in American air travel. Its new fleet of 30 Douglas DC-8 Clippers will be powered by the most powerful production aircraft engines in the world, J-57 turbojets, designed and developed by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft.

It is only a matter of time until jet transports are standard equipment along the air lanes of the world. The large majority of them will be powered by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft jet engines—an achievement of great significance.

A jet-turbine powerplant that develops 10,000 pounds of thrust—or more—involved some of the most complex problems of present-day engineering. A glance at the roster of today's J-57-powered military aircraft* is proud testimony to the success with which those problems were resolved by Pratt & Whitney Aircraft engines.

Students Can Take '56 European Tours

Opportunities are again provided for the students of the University of Idaho to enroll in educational tours in Europe for the summer of 1956. Dr. E. M. Hause announces that he has been designated by the American Express Company as their faculty representative on this campus.

A comprehensive series of student and educational tours of Europe has been prepared by the American Express Company that provides a higher quality of services to the tourist and longer itineraries than in previous years. The prices are within range of the average budget. A Tour Escort accompanies groups of student tourists and arranges for their accommodations at hotels and restaurants.

Instructions in the steps of preparing for overseas travel are provided. Students who are interested in educational tours are invited to visit Dr. Hause in Room 323 of the Administration Building.

Union Pres. Is At Meet In Canada

For the first time in the history of the International Union of Students, the president of that organization has paid a visit to the Western Hemisphere. The occasion was the annual Congress of the National Federation of Canadian University Students, held at the University of Alberta.

The Canadian organization invited Jiri Pelikan of Czechoslovakia, IUS president, to attend the Congress as a guest of NFCUS. Also invited were US National Student Association representatives, the present and past International vice president, Clive Gray and Paul Sigmund, who attended with Bill Hill of WSC, chairman of the Great Northwest Region of which Idaho is a member.

Pelikan heard a report by the NFCUS observers at the last IUS Council meeting, which criticized the partisan bias of IUS publications and the indiscriminate seating of delegates and observers together at its meetings.

Commenting on the IUS admission that its 1949 expulsion of the Yugoslav Union of Students was "incorrect," the report asked "if the IUS has discovered new documents in the past years which have led to this reversal of policy. If such documents have come to light, we should like to know what they are. If no documents have been discovered, we are driven to the conclusion that the IUS deliberately ignored or distorted the evidence during the period of the attacks on the Yugoslav Union."

Pelikan presented nine proposals for practical cooperation between IUS and NFCUS. Two of them, invitations to an IUS Seminar and to its next Congress, were accepted by the Canadian group on condition that NFCUS observers be clearly differentiated from the IUS members in attendance. The Canadian conference also expressed a preference for dealing directly with the national unions of students in Eastern Europe, the Soviet Union and China, rather than through the IUS.

NFCUS voted full support of the International Student Conference and the Coordinating Secretariat (COSEC). Other actions of the Congress included the establishment of a Student Discount Service, similar to that of USNSA, the national short story, art and photography contests.

Student Lawyers 'Try' Two Cases

The Law School Practice Court tried two cases Saturday, one in the Federal District Court House at 8:30 a.m. and the other in the State District Courtroom, County Court House, at 1:15 p.m.

In the first case student lawyers Charles McDevitt and Bill Taylor represented the plaintiff in an action against the seller of an automobile to recover damages for personal injuries resulting from negligent acts of the buyer of the automobile. James Lynch, Ralph Haley and Herbert Rettig represented the defendants.

In the afternoon case Wallis Friel and John Reese represent the State in a first degree murder action against a doctor for the deliberate yet unintentional killing of a nurse in the course of an attempted euthanasia. Robert Bakes and Thomas Miller represented the defendants.

The case in the morning was tried to a jury composed of Moscow High School Civics class students; the case in the afternoon to a jury composed of college students from the political science department. Counsel in both cases are senior law students in the College of Law.

Tulane Honor Code Approved; Rules Made More Flexible

New Orleans, La. (IP)—A new honor code and constitution have been written for the College of Arts and Sciences at Tulane University. Both the faculty committee on the honor system and Dean Russell M. Geer approved the honor code.

The constitutional revision, the first since 1939, was redesigned to fit in with the new student body constitution, and received faculty approval. The main significant change is that juniors can now be elected vice presidents of the college. This was done because of the increasing numbers of students on three-year programs.

The Honor Board has been increased from seven to nine members. Six members will come from class officers and three will be members-at-large from the student body. The president of the college will designate a chairman to be approved by the Student Council.

Four members of the Honor Board will serve on an examination board to collect evidence, secure witnesses and prepare cases. Penalties for honor violations have been modified. Under the new code, punishment can range from loss of credit in one course through expulsion.

"Under the new system," declared the committee chairman, "we won't be lenient with flagrant offenders, but lesser offenders will not be too severely punished due to the old inflexibility of the rules. The fairness of the code will give conscientious students the opportunity to uphold and defend the honor system of their college without jeopardizing either themselves or their fellow students."

The Faculty Board will still review Honor Board decisions. They can accept the students' decision or ask that it be reconsidered.

ROTC Honorary Takes Constitution

The ratifying of a new constitution and by-laws was the main order of business at the second regular meeting of the Pershing Rifles, Freshman-Sophomore Army ROTC honorary.

Arrangements were made for firing a rifle match with the Montana State University Pershing Rifle organization.

Officers of the PR's are Richard E. Cooke, Commanding Officer; Dan True, executive officer; Henry Blecha, P1D; Bill Emacio, Supply; and Curtis Anderson, Pledging.

A telephone operator recently weighed herself on a fortune telling penny scale. She turned the knob to this question: "Will I be successful?"

The answer: "Yes, if you keep plugging away at your job."

African Sees Beast At Zoo

RICHMOND, Ind. (ACP)—One of the foreign students at Earlham College is Nicholas Assare, whose home is in the town of Mamfe on Africa's Gold Coast. When he first arrived at Earlham, he was immediately despatched with questions from arm-chair explorers all asking about the wild animals of his native land.

To everyone's surprise, Nicholas confessed that he had never seen a wild animal in Africa, indicating that at least part of the country is more civilized than most people think. His American friends made up for Nicholas' lack of knowledge, however. They immediately trotted him off to a local zoo to show him some of the ferocious beasts that are supposed to be so prevalent in Africa. The zoo-keeper even let him ride an elephant so that he would have something exciting to tell the folks back home.

Dr. Sagesar Sees Church Program

Dr. Sagesar's purpose is to promote campus Christian work and to see the program on the Idaho campus. He will be available for interviews by interested students at the CCC those two days.

An informal breakfast meeting for Dr. Sagesar will be held at 9 Saturday morning in the Syringa Room.

Frosh Split At BJC; Wesley Leads Scoring

After splitting a pair of games at Boise at the beginning of the week the Vandal frosh get a well deserved rest till after the holidays.

BJC Avenges Two Losses

Boise Junior College gained partial revenge Tuesday night at Boise for two beatings handed them by the Idaho freshmen at Moscow last weekend.

Making their first home stand of the season a good one the Broncos trounced the Vandal Babes 60 to 50.

A fast scoring spree in the final two minutes of the game, led by guards Darryl Hill and Don Moore, put the game on ice for the Junior College squad.

Boise led 21 to 20 at halftime and the teams were tied 43-43 with seven minutes remaining in play.

Swim Time Trails This Afternoon

Time trials in the regular dis- will be held for the varsity swimming team the afternoon.

According to swim coach, Eric Kirkland, this should really give a good indication of how the teams are progressing.

The coach commented on the vastly improved showing of sophomore Ron Edwards in the diving event. He also lauded the work of breast-strokers Jack Helle and Jerry Giles; backstroke men, Dale Carlisle and Ralph Lindberg and Jerry Jones and Bruce Buckman in the individual medley event.

The first meet for the varsity will be against Eastern Washington on January 6. Conference meets will start later on in the winter.

Yearlings Win Third

University of Idaho freshmen made it three wins out of four attempts Tuesday night by defeating Boise Junior College Broncos, 55-47.

The Vandal yearlings were ahead 21-19 at halftime but shortly after the intermission the BJC squad forged ahead and built up a four point lead.

John Liveious, Babe forward and Jim Prestel, front center sparked a second half drive that gave the Idaho team their final eight-point victory margin.

Liveious and Prestel topped the score sheet with 17 and 15 points respectively. Both dropped in six field goals.

Idaho Seats Saved At Holiday Games

University students have reserve cheering sections for two varsity basketball games December 30 and 31 in Twin Falls and Idaho Falls, announced Dale Carlisle, cheer leader.

"It is hoped that through these sections not only will the team feel like it is before a home crowd, but that it will work well in Idaho's recruitment program," announced Carlisle.

Arrangements were made through Bill Whistell, student body president, in Twin Falls and Clair Gale, superintendent of schools, in Idaho Falls. Idaho will host Colorado A&M both nights.

Four Teams In VB Title Race

Playoffs get underway next week in intramural volleyball with Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Theta Pi, Lindley Hall 1 and Willis Sweet Hall 2 still in the run for the championship.

After losing the first game 13-15, Alpha Tau Omega came surging back to win the next two to down Delta Tau Delta 2 games to 1 Tuesday night in the final game in League 1.

The win gave the ATO's the championship in that league and the right to advance against Beta Theta Pi for the Fraternity Division championship. The ATO's won seven straight league games led by the sensational play of Jerry Love.

Betas moved into the Greek championship game with a 15-8, 15-11 win over Phi Delta Theta, giving them the League 2 crown. The Betas also went seven straight games without a setback.

Delta Tau Delta will tangle with Phi Delta Theta for third spot in the Greek division.

Willis Sweet 2 knocked off Lindley Hall 2, Tuesday night, 15-3, 9-15 and 15-11 to clinch top spot in League 4. Both teams went into the game with perfect records of four wins and no defeats.

CHALK TALK

Better late than never, they always say, so we slipped in the football statistics this issue. However, we have a fairly legitimate excuse for the slight delay, as they were just released this week.

The Vandals slightly took it on the chin in their first invasion into big time basketball Wednesday night. Things will probably be just as tough this Saturday when Idaho come up against the potent Kentucky Wildcats.

Uhl, dubbed the Greenfield Goliath, has the potential of being the nation's finest big man, according to the men who should know. Uhl hooks with either hand and as stated in the University of Dayton press book "lips would please a New York waiter; plays taps like Pvt. Pruett (take your choice)."

Kentucky also have an All-American on their squad, Bob Burrow, 6-7 scoring ace, who was mentioned on nearly everybodys second or third All-American team last year and is expected to crack the first team this season. Burrow averaged 19 points per game last season.

Not much is known of the University of Missouri Tigers who host the Vandals in Columbia, Mo., Monday night, except that they have a scrappy club, one of the better in the Big Seven Conference.

Idaho will certainly miss Jerry Jorgenson if he is kept out of the lineup, with his injured knee any longer. Jerry aggravated an old high school injury against Utah State here last Saturday.

Here is a little more info on the Kentucky Wildcats, to acquaint the fans a little better with the type of talent that Idaho will be facing Saturday night.

Coach Adolph Rupp is molding the 1955-56 Wildcat aggregation around a trio of tall and talented seniors, a similar number of juniors who played well in both reserve and starting roles last season, plus a group of 10 promising sophomores.

The Kentucky senior staters, all 6-6 or better and each one worthy of All-American mention, form the nucleus of one of the tallest squads in Wildcat history. Although out-ranked in the height department by teammate Phil Grawemeyer (6-8 to 6-7), Burrow stands out as the big man in the UK lineup. The tall Texan will start at center for the Wildcats and has the reputation of being one of the best re-

Dayton Trims Idaho; Kentucky Saturday

The twelve-man touring Idaho basketball team come up against their second highly-ranked opponent Saturday night when they tangle with the University of Kentucky at Lexington.

Adolph Rupp's Wildcats are currently rated 12th in the nation, possessing a one and one record.

On Monday night the Vandals move into Columbia, Missouri, for a game with the University of Missouri Tigers and from there on to St. Louis, where they meet Washington University, next Wednesday night.

The Vandals were swamped in the first game of their trip Wednesday night by seventh-ranked Dayton University, 93 to 58. The win was the Flyers' fifth straight without a defeat, while the loss was the third in four games for Idaho.

Idaho took an early lead Wednesday night, 1 to 0, on a free shot, but Dayton roared past them into a 12 to 3 lead. Harlan Hodges then switched his team into a zone defense and cut the home team's lead to 14-11, largely on the strength of accurate free throw shooting.

However, Dayton cracked the Vandal zone and increased their margin to 33-14 and then coasted to victory, using mostly second stringers for the remainder of the game.

High point men for the Vandals were Bob Goold with 14 points and Gary Simmons with 12. Seven foot center, Bill Uhl, led the Dayton scoring with 18 points. His substitute, Al Siking, had 15. Forward Jim Paxton, 6-8, contributed 16 and Jack McCarthy, in his first starting assignment, got 14.

Idaho played without the services of first string forward Jerry Jorgenson who is out with a knee injury. It is not known when the speedy sophomore will be back in action.
