Ill Health, Overwork Make Alley Resign

Dr. Ralph M. Alley, University physician since 1949, yesterday submitted his resignation for "temporary health reasons" precipitated by overwork during the current wave of influenza.

His resignation becomes effective March 10, but Alley said he would turn over his duties at the Infirmary to Dr. J. M. Fleming, associate physician, at noon today.

Fleming said Thursday evening he had no one to aid him in caring for the overflow of patients. He added that there was no prospect of getting another doctor soon. No doctors are immediately available, he said.

Meanwhile, President D. R. Theophilus said he regretted Alley's resignation.

"It is with regret that I am forwarding Dr. Alley's resignation to the regents," stated President Theophilus. "An alumnus of the university, he returned to his alma mater to give eight years of outstanding medical service."

Alley said he will remain in Moscow while "resting" up for about a month and then consider another job if his health permits.

Has Job Possibilities

"I have two or three possibilities for jobs," he said. He declined to name the type or location of any of the job possibilities.

He said the continued strain of caring for the flood of students requiring medical attention last week end was the major cause for his abrupt resignation. Alley suffered a heart attack early in January and had been ordered to curtail his time at the Infirmary.

He said he was supposed to spend about two hours a day at the Infirmary, but when the surge of ailing students began to report Friday, he was forced to spend up to 16 hours a day there. Alley was the only doctor on call during the weekend.

"I came back to work a week earlier than I was supposed to anyway," he said. "But this week-end was what caused the trouble."

"I'm sure I will make a complete recovery. I just came back too soon and worked too hard. If the epidemic had not come up I'm sure I would have made it OK," Alley said.

"This is the hardest thing I ever did," Alley said Thursday as he prepared to leave his job. "These (Idaho students) are the nicest kids I've ever known."

More Doctors Needed

He said that if student enrollment increases, three doctors will be needed to handle the load. At present, two doctors can take care of student needs during normal situations, he said.

A native of Lewiston, Alley was graduated from the University in 1923, and from Jefferson Medical College in Philadelphia in 1927. He engaged in private practice in Lewiston, 1929-31, then spent many years as a physician with the U.S. Indian Service in Idaho, South Dakota and Oklahoma. He also served with the Army during World War II, and came here from the position of superintendent of the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium, Socorro, N. M.

He said the superintendent position at Socorro paid more money than the Idaho job, but that he had other reasons for accepting.

"The job I left was paying nearly twice what this one was. I came back because I had three kids I wanted to send to Idaho."

Two of them, Louretta, a sophomore, and Ralph Jr., a junior, are now attending the University.

Dr. Fleming came here in 1955 from Elkhart, Ind., where he had had a private practice for many years.

Music Groups, Comedy Slated

A variety of serious and popular musical numbers and comedy acts will be presented at the Blue Key Talent Show tonight at 7:30 in Memorial Gym.

The 11th annual show features 16 acts of student talent. The show will last two hours and tickets will be 25 cents per person, on sale at the door. Blue Key, national upper-classmen's service honorary, sponsors the show.

Acts have been divided into four competing groups—popular music, serious music, group musical comedy, and singles. Five judges will select the winner of each division and a trophy will be awarded. Second place or honorable mention winners in each group will also be selected.

Marigay Nelson, winner of the serious musical group two years ago, will be guest soloist. She will sing "They Call Me Mimmi" by Puccini during the intermission while the judges are selecting the winners. Miss Nelson took second place in Seattle auditions last fall in a Northwest search for talent for the Metropolitan Opera. She is a senior majoring in music.

Gamma Phi's Repeat Act

Also during the intermission the Gamma Phi's will present their winning group comedy act of last year's show. The act is "Siamese Twins" consisting of seven sets of twins dressed in green costumes and gold paint, doing a novelty dance.

The acts for the show were chosen last week from 29 entries which auditioned last weekend. Masters-of-Ceremony are Dave Maxey, Al Dingle, and Roger Thieme. Dale Carlisle is president of Blue Key.

Popular music division includes Ralph and Louretta Alley doing a comedy pantomime on take-offs of three popular song hits.

An Alpha Phi trio will present a calypso number, "The Banana Boat Song." They will be accompanied by an electric guitarist and bongo drummer. Another calypso act with guitar and drums will be presented by two Tekes—Adrian Anderson and Eric Hansen. They will sing "Mary Ann" and "Jamaican Farewell." The Kappa Sigma Dixieland jazz band will play "Five-Foot-Two" and "Tiger Rag."

The Kappa Phi Notes will be part of the serious music division. They will sing "How Excellent Thy Name" and "Hist Whist."

A Beta sextet, winner in the Pacific Northwest Beta competition two weeks ago, will sing "Because of You" and "Bidin' My Time."

Comedy Second Production Anticipates Large Crowd

"Sabrina Fair," a comedy of situations revolving around an outwards gay, but very confused girl, opened last night before an audience of 400 in the Ad auditorium.

The play will be presented for the second and final time Saturday evening at 8 p.m. Admission is 25 cents with ASUI cards.

The four-act play, starring Jane Remsberg as the chauffeur's daughter, Sabrina Fairchild, is directed by Jean Collette.

Other leading roles include Terry White and Owen Mayo as the two rich Larrabee sons, Linus Jr. and David; Jolene Williams, Maude Larrabee, their mother; Art Lindemeyer, Linus Sr., who still dwells in past glory; Rose-Marie Perrin, Julia Ward McKinlock, successful magazine publisher and the Larrabee's chief conscience and Austin Bergin, Fairchild, the chauffeur and conqueror of the stock market.

Supporting cast includes Pat Quane as Margaret, the maid; Jaclyn Judy, Gretchen, David's ex-wife; Larry Ripley, Paul d'Argenson, Sabrina's French suitor; Kala Gresky, Sylvia Stoddard, Ralph Provencal and Nathan Yost, couples at an expensive Larrabee party.

At the final dress rehearsal Wednesday, Professor Collette and technical director Ed Chavez coordinated fine points on lighting and smoothed out entrances in anticipation of the Thursday opening night.

Campus Chest Money Split, Recommend No RE Fund

Allocations of Campus Chest funds, totaling $2,200, which were made at an Executive Board meeting Tuesday evening, cut off a donation to the World University Service this year and lowered their Religious Emphasis Week donation to 6 per cent. The WUS received 10 per cent of the funds in last year's drive.

"The board felt they didn't have good enough knowledge of how the WUS used the funds they received," Dick Weeks, ASUI president, said. "WUS didn't seem to realize the urgent need for the use of these funds within the state of Idaho itself."

Board members voted to give 6 per cent of the total to RE Week and recommended that they receive no funds in 1958-59. "If people know a system whereby speakers can be obtained for RE Week without the usual costs they should notify myself or Fred Burrows, ASUI vice president," Weeks said.

Red Cross, Polio, and Cancer funds received 10 per cent each. Receiving 5 per cent are Freedom Crusade, American Heart Association, Easter Seal Center at Boise, and the Crippled Children's Fund.

Fifteen per cent was given to the Elks' Convalescent Home and 8 per cent was given to the Lewisiston Children's Home. The Happy Mountain Orphanage will receive either 5 per cent or $100.

Weeks said approximately 16 per cent of the total will be left over, and will be placed in an Emergency Fund.

Queen Of Queens Finalists Vie Saturday For IK Title

Joyce Weaver, Pati Rees and Lou Ann Olson were chosen finalists in the IK's "Queen of Queens" contest by members of men's living groups Tuesday noon. One of the three will be crowned queen during intermission of the IK dance to be held in the SUB ballrooms tomorrow evening from 9 to 12.

The finalists were elected from a group of 11 campus queens selected during the past year between March 9, 1956 and March 9, 1957. Miss Weaver is "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi," Miss Rees was last fall's Homecoming Queen, and Miss Olson was selected Military Ball Queen last spring.

The Pastels will provide music for the semi-formal dance, which has been titled "Night of Knights." Tickets are $1.50 and can be purchased in advance or at the door, according to Euclid Lee, general chairman.

After being crowned by John Chapman, Duke of the local Ball and Chain chapter, the queen will receive a traveling trophy for her living group and an IK compact.

Board Appointed O'Meara, Durose

Eileen O'Meara, Hays, and Marilyn Durose, French, were appointed members of the publicity committee of the ASUI at an Executive Board meeting Tuesday.

Flu Epidemic Hits Campus; Infirmary Overflowing

An epidemic of influenza—part of a wave of sickness that has spread throughout the area—has filled the University Infirmary to near capacity.

At last count about 52 students were confined to the Infirmary with influenza and isolated cases of measles and others suffering from less serious cases of the "flu" were being sent home. The Infirmary comfortably holds 40 beds. Twelve extra beds were moved in Wednesday.

A check Thursday evening showed that 474 students had been at the Infirmary for one reason or another since last Friday. Ninety-nine reported Monday, 91 Tuesday, 90 Wednesday and 79 had reported by 4:30 yesterday afternoon. No visitors are being admitted.

Two doctors had been handling the onrush of students until yesterday when Dr. Ralph Alley resigned for health reasons. (See story) Four members were added to a staff of 13 Thursday to handle the work load.

"There has never been anything this extensive here before," Dr. Alley said. He said the wave of "regular influenza" should be over in "a week or ten days."

Alley said the "flu" currently affecting the campus is virus-caused and is not of the milder type that is often simply a cold misnamed.

Lewiston, Colfax, Pullman and the city of Moscow are all having severe outbreaks, he said.

Earlier in the week, Alley said, officials had considered postponing the Blue Key Talent Show and "Sabrina Fair" because of the chance of contagion. However, he said, calling off such gatherings would do little good.

He advised students to "take care of themselves" and to get plenty of sleep. He said influenza shots offered earlier in the year might have prevented the outbreak, but that only about 200 students were inoculated. He said injections now would have no immediate effect.

Average student stay if admitted to the Infirmary is three to five days.

Getting Along Well Report Issued On Decker

Dean Charles O. Decker, director of student affairs, was reported as "getting along very well" yesterday at Sacred Heart Hospital in Spokane, according to Guy Wicks, assistant director taking Decker's position at the present time.

Decker was successfully operated on Monday after one of his lungs collapsed. He should be in Spokane from ten days to two weeks after which he will convalesce at home until he is able to return to his duties.

Dancing and refreshments are planned after Singh's program.

Jury Names For Arson Trial Drawn

Names of 275 Latah county residents were drawn Wednesday to add to a list of 25 people who had previously been called for jury duty for the pending arson-murder trials of Paul D. Matovich.

The 300 prospective jurors will be ordered by registered mail to report during the first three days of the scheduled trial of the young University student, charged with arson as a result of a series of campus dormitory fires and for the murder of three students in the last of the fires.

The list of names drawn from polling books of the county includes several University of Idaho faculty members.

From the panel of 300, Judge Hugh A. Baker of Twin Falls, who will be on the bench during the trials, along with attorneys for both the state and the defense, will select a 12-member jury and two alternates.

Judge Jack McQuade announced that prospective jurors who feel they have reasonable cause for not serving should contact his office immediately upon receipt of notification.

Seventy-five of the group drawn Wednesday, along with the 25 drawn out of the poll box by county commissioners, will be ordered to report at 10 a.m. April 1. The next 100 will report at 10 a.m. April 2 and the final 100 on April 3 at 10 a.m.

Motorists Beware Of Springtime

Motorists are particularly eager to welcome the return of warm weather. This means the end of snow-packed roads, icy streets, frost-covered windshields, and the rest of winter's hazards.

We will have longer hours of daylight to do our driving, and the return of the scenic beauty making it pleasant to drive in the springtime and summer.

The highways have now shed their covering of ice and snow. This may tempt us to drive at higher speeds, but we will resist this temptation. Experienced motorists know that roads and highways may be marred by numerous bumps and holes, which can be dangerous. Driving at high speed over rough pavement can also do serious damage to your tires. Badly bruised tires can fail at the moment when you least expect.

Another hazard in early spring is pools of water on the highways. As the snow melts, water collects in low areas. The speeding motorist cannot tell at a glance whether the water is shallow or deep... whether it covers a smooth stretch of pavement, or a deep, sharp-edged hole. The only safe rule to follow when approaching water on the highway is: SLOW DOWN, and proceed with caution!

The great danger at this time of year is not the uncertainty of road and weather conditions, but is that improving weather will surely increase the volume of traffic on state highways.

These pointers for safe driving are brought to your attention by Harold Davis, state traffic safety director. They all add up to this: each season brings its own problems that threaten the well-being and safety of the motorist who becomes lax and careless in his driving. The answers to these problems are: slower speeds, greater alertness and the use of sound judgment.

J.J. on Jazz

By J. J. O'Connell

Yesterday I was reading an article by John S. Wilson from the New York Times, entitled "Jazz Workshop to grow next year." In short the article had to do with a series of roundtable discussions of jazz held at the Music Inn in Lanox, Mass. Among those present were members of the traditional (Sammy Price, Pee Wee Russell), Bop revolution (Dizzy Gillespie, Max Roach), Current jazz (Oscar Pettiford, Bill Russo) and those leading in new directions (Charlie Mingus, Teddy Charles).

As the discussions progressed, one thing became apparent. The members of all the schools didn't have a good background in the beginning of jazz as far as rhythm, tonal expression, etc. are concerned.

This brought about rounding of the new school of jazz to be held every summer at the Music Inn. Then enrollment is limited to 40 musicians and 20 auditors (non-playing students.)

This type of workshop is not a revolutionary action, however. All over the U.S. jazz workshops are being established. Some of them are summer courses and others are permanent institutions.

Local Talent

Last summer I worked in Seattle and during the Seafair, they had a jazz concert made up of local talent. A jazz workshop had been established and all the members lived in a big house they had purchased. In this permanent-type workshop, the members would wake at 8, have breakfast, and practice in the morning (individually.) In the afternoon they got together and jammed. At the concert they played some original works which had come out of the workshop and some of them showed some originality.

Four years ago I ran into a three-week summer camp in northern Minnesota for jazz musicians. This type of workshop is very informal and the members combine practice and playing together with the usual recreations of a summer camp on the shores of a lake.

Both the permanent and session

Coed Is Top Chem Student

The first National Merit Scholar to attend the University, Carolyn Ann Dempsey, has also been named the first girl to receive an award for the highest achievement in general chemistry, Prof. J. Irving Jolley, chemistry department, announced this week.

Miss Dempsey placed first in a field of 500 students taking general chemistry courses. She was awarded a handbook of chemistry and physics donated by the Chemical Rubber Co.

"Miss Dempsey has attained one of the highest records ever made in freshman chemistry," Prof. Jolley said.

The winning of the award makes her eligible to compete with top students from Arizona, Utah, California, Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Nevada in a chemistry contest. The contest winner will be awarded a certificate and the school attended will receive a $100 award of books.

Competition is not new to her. To become eligible for the National Merit scholarship, she was one of 60,000 outstanding high school students who took aptitude tests for the 556 awards. The versatile student has also won a Betty Crocker research scholarship.

Although the very mention of Spring invokes glorious (and often gleeful) thoughts of days to come, it also produces a sinking feeling in the region of the checkbook. It's a sad fact, but at no time during the year is a college student so short of—and so in need of—Money.

Beach parties and the necessary refreshments, spring formal, picnics, swimming parties, golf, car polish, gasoline, oil, new tires, new clothes, suntan lotion, binoculars and caps and gowns all cost money.

But, alas, they're essential for the Ivy League's far, far west branch. Weekends cost progressively more and more and more money. And to complicate the problem, food is a human necessity.

Numerous methods of conserving money by skipping meals have been devised.

An oft-tried scheme is to eat one or two meals a day, skipping the evening meal and chewing one's finger nails for cheap nourishment. However, this inevitably leads to munching on "occasional" candy bars, or taking a milkshake or two a day, all of which soon adds up to a surprisingly large expenditure.

It is possible to resist the temptation to eat by smoking cigarettes, lighting one from another. This leads to a rather unpleasant effect when the one or two meals a day have no taste. It has been proven quite conclusively that whenever a surly steak tastes like a Winston, something is radically wrong.

A strong will, properly fortified with an enforced "grin and bear it" attitude, can cut down on food bills, but problems arise here too. Two weeks in the nearby infirmary suffering from malnutrition or worse is no fun either.

So the bills for food and other essentials are mounting and the dough left in the bank won't even pay for another movie. What to do? Three months to go.

TWO CAN LIVE AS CHEESILY AS ONE

Now in the final months of the school year, one thing is certain: you and your roommate are not speaking.

But it is not too late to patch things up. Examine the rift calmly. Search your soul with patience. Perhaps the fault is yours. Perhaps you are guilty of violating some of the basic rules of roommate etiquette.

For instance, in decorating your room, have you forced your preferences on your roommate without regard to his or her tastes? This is a common cause of friction. Indeed, it once happened to me back in my freshman year when I was sharing a room with a boy named Rimsky Sigafos who covered every inch of our wall with 850 pictures of James Dean.

"Rimsky," I said to him in gentle reproof, "please don't think me unduly, but I had hoped to put a picture of my fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor on the wall."

Rimsky examined the picture of my fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor. "You're kidding, of course," he said and dropped the picture in the wastebasket.

Well, that got my dander up, and I was mad as a wet hen till Rimsky gave me a Philip Morris Cigarette.

As we all know, there is nothing like a mild, natural, Philip Morris. Treats a man right. No filter, no foolin'! Anger melts and frowns become smiles with Philip Morris, all seems right in the world, and no man's hand is turned against you, nor yours against any man.

So, puffing a pacifying Philip Morris, I forgot all about Rimsky's slight to Mary Beth Thermidor. In fact, with her picture out of sight, I soon forgot all about Mary Beth Thermidor, too, and one night at the Freshman Frolic, spying a round young coed over in a corner, I came up to her and said with a fetching leer, "Excuse me, miss. We don't know each other, but I would like to rectify that sad omission." And she said, "Oh, you horrid, horrid youth! I am your fiancée Mary Beth Thermidor." With that she stomped furiously away, and though I tried to win her back with Philip Morris, she was beyond recall. I, utterly shattered, signed on as a cabin boy with the Cunard Line and am today, aged 53, the oldest cabin boy on the North Atlantic run.

But I digress. We were talking about roommate etiquette. Let us turn now to the matter of share and share alike. Have you shared everything equally? Drawer space? Closet space? Study space? And here's one that often causes trouble—hobby space.

...it took two or three Philip Morris to restore my native sweetness

When, for example, I roomed with Rimsky Sigafos, my hobby was stamp collecting. I did not take up much room. All I needed was a small corner for my stamps, my album, my magnifying glass, and my tongue. Rimsky, on the other hand, was by hobby a cat burglar. Hardly a night went by when he didn't burgle twenty or thirty cats. You can imagine how crowded our little room used to get! Many's the time I got so exasperated that it took two or three rich, natural Philip Morris to restore my native sweetness.

We, the makers of Philip Morris and sponsors of this column, know that you and your roommate are getting along just fine. But if you ever do have a little tiff, don't try a peace pipe. Try a good, natural smoke—Philip Morris!

Army Training Given Women

A program recently initiated by the Department of the Army aimed at junior women in college has been received by the Professor of Military Science and Tactics at the University of Idaho. Primarily, the program is trying to reach those women who are interested in a career as an officer in the Women's Army Corps, but are not sure of the type of work in which they would be involved.

The program itself consists of a training period at Fort McClellan, Alabama lasting from the July 5 to the August 15 between the junior and senior years. No obligations are imposed on the student after the training period, but she may apply for a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the Women's Army Corps during her senior year after completion of the training program and if approved, would be commissioned upon graduation.

Any women students interested are requested to contact Major Walter N. Moore, Army ROTC offices, Memorial Gymnasium.

Service separates the boys from the Minute Men

I'm ONE OF THE 4500 dealers who represent the Union Oil Company of California.

Minute Men, we call ourselves, because we feature service that's the last word for speed with thoroughness.

Regular customers take it for granted. But we nearly always get a comment from the new ones. Last week, for example, a man I'd never seen pulled up at my station here in Cedar Hills, Oregon.

In 4½ minutes we filled his tank with gasoline, checked his oil and tires, added clean water to his radiator and battery, washed his windows, brushed out his car, emptied the ashtrays and gave him his receipt.

"I've been in a lot of gas stations," he said, "but nothing like this ever happened."

I bragged a little: "Service is what separates the boys from us Minute Men."

"Aren't you ever tempted to take short cuts?" he asked.

I allowed as how we sometimes were. But there were two big reasons we didn't.

First, Union Oil. They spend thousands of dollars perfecting new service techniques, then teach them to us for nothing. We've learned it pays to keep our service up to the quality of Union Oil products. And they're the finest!

MORLEY BARNARD: "YOU WORK HARDER WHEN YOU'RE IN BUSINESS FOR YOURSELF."

Second, ourselves. Every Union Oil dealer owns or leases his own station. This gives you the incentive to make every customer a satisfied one.

You know, I think he liked my answer almost as much as the service. Just the other day he stopped in for a credit card. "Go ahead," he said with a smile as we started our Minute Man routine. "Spoil me!"

A UNION OIL STATION, customers tell us, is the one place where the service is certain to be as good as the gasoline.

This is high praise of our dealers, because their gasoline is new Royal 76, the West's most powerful premium.

As long as our economy furnishes both the dealers and Union Oil the incentive to constantly do better the things we do well, this happy situation is likely to continue.

YOUR COMMENTS ARE INVITED. Write: The Chairman of the Board, Union Oil Company, Union Oil Building, 617 West 7th Street, Los Angeles 17, California.

Dean Carter Plans Spring Retirement

By Sharrol Bartlett

A tall erect woman watched the committee of deans struggle into the office, smiled understandingly as they grumbled about the work they had to do and the chores they'd given up to attend the meeting.

The woman checked understandingly at each new protestation, but she offered no encouragement or self-pity to these members of a committee set up to examine the drain of student activities on girls' time.

"The girls are getting run down," Dean Louise Carter told the AWS committee after it was called to order. "I think we'll have to reduce activities."

Then she sat back and withdrew from the discussion. After that it was up to the girls to organize their cut-down plan on activities. They argued it over and reached a conclusion.

Dean Louise Carter . . . to retire.

To Retire

This spring, Dean Louise Carter retires.

"The girls have been wonderful to work with," she told a reporter.

Many girls who have worked directly or indirectly with Dean Carter will say she will do anything in her power to help the girls on the campus if they are in trouble or unhappy.

Recently at a meeting, Dean Carter asked if it would be possible to start a fund for girls who were unable to finish the school year because of financial difficulties. Her main thought was that many girls who want an education are sometimes forced to quit, and if there were a fund set up to help these girls more would have an opportunity to continue school. The fund was organized.

Dean Carter was graduated from the University of Washington in 1915 with a B.A. in history. She later returned to college, but this time at Columbia University, where she received her master's in personnel in 1926. It was then that her life as a dean of women began.

Assisted Dean French

From 1928 to 1930 Dean Carter served as dean of women at Whitman College. She was assistant dean of women at Idaho for five years under Dean Permeal French.

"These years I worked under Dean French were most helpful to me, because she taught me the things I would be called upon to do when I would be dean of women," she said. Dean Carter followed Miss Beatrice Olson as dean of women.

Dean Carter assumed the duties of dean of women at Idaho in 1943 and has been doing her job faithfully ever since. Besides handling all of the business in her office, she gives the welcoming speech to new girls before rush and during Orientation Week, journeys to nearby towns as part of her recruitment tour, and is advisor to two clubs.

Public relations—keeping a good feeling between Greeks and Independents, parents and alumni is the biggest job as Dean of Women, she said. Dean Carter added, "There is a great deal of mutual respect between Greeks and Independents on this campus. It doesn't matter where the girl lives, but what the girl amounts to."

Idaho Needs More Housing

When she mentioned housing facilities, her eyes lit up with determination and she said: "Idaho must build at least one more dormitory and one sorority if it is to keep up with its increased enrollment."

When Dean Carter came to the University, there was no housing problem, but each year it seems to be getting worse. She felt that if the U. of I. had any intention of growing more, it would have to expand its living quarters in order to assure more comfortable living.

"I know the problems college students have, and living facilities should not be one of them."

One of the good things about Idaho is the democratic atmosphere between students and faculty members.

"It is the duty of these groups to retain the duties of good relationship." The development of student government on the campus is the most worthwhile thing that the students have ever done.

"I feel," Dean Carter said, "the students will be more capable of running their own homes by having something to do with student government."

Dislikes Booers and Chewers

"My only dislike about Idaho is the booing at basketball games (of which she is a loyal supporter), and chewing of gum in public." She can't understand why people would boo at games, because it just shows poor sportsmanship. People who chew gum should do so in their "boudoir," she said.

Future Plans

After her retirement, Dean Carter plans to stay home and rest, and travel to California and Alaska to visit with her two daughters. She also plans to participate in her hobby—bridge. Now she feels she will have the time to devote to the game. She hopes to become the best player in her bridge club.

Dean Carter was listed in Who's Who in America for 1957. She feels this is one of the nicest honors given her. She is advisor to Pan-Hell and AWS which she says, "Gives me great pleasure because I like to watch students in action." Ever since she has been here, she has tried to let the students have more control because she feels they should be making major decisions now.

She is a member of Mortar Board, AAUW and Pleiades Club. Dean Carter is affiliated with the Pi Beta Phi sorority, and a member of the Episcopal Church.

Idaho Debaters Will Attend 28th Linfield Tourney

Five Idaho debate students are attending the 28th Linfield College Invitational Tournament at McMinnville, Ore., March 7-10. Dr. A. E. Whitehead, professor of speech, said.

Entering the senior men's debate division are Reed Bowen and Richard Sorenson. Jim Burt is taking part in a Lincoln-Douglas debate, a one-man contest. This year's question is "Resolved: That the United States should discontinue direct economic aid to foreign countries."

The Bowen-Sorenson team has won 16 of 18 debates. Whitehead said he had high hopes for the duo at the Linfield meet. Thirty-five schools from 11 western states are taking part.

Bob Ridener, Dick Day, Sorenson and Burt have entered extempore and impromptu divisions. Bowen will enter extemp and oratory. The subject for impromptu speaking is "World Disarmament" and "Current Problems of Government" is the topic for extemp. An after-dinner speech will be given by Day. His subject is "American Forensics."

"The Linfield tournament is probably the oldest and largest of its kind in the United States," Whitehead said. He attended the conference as a judge.

Class Surveys IK's Station KUOP's Effectiveness

A listenership survey of campus radio station KUOI is being conducted by students in the Newspaper Promotion and Advertising class in the Journalism department.

The survey is being conducted at the request of the ASUI Publications Board to determine the effectiveness of the station's service to the student body.

Results of the survey will be used as information in the Board's discussion about starting salaries for station personnel.

Students have gathered information to determine the number of potential listeners in living groups on campus which have direct line from the station.

Dr. Doug Bankson, instructor of the class, said the next step in the survey would be to obtain a random sampling from the living groups to find out how many students listen to KUOI regularly, what programs are preferred by the majority of listeners, and which time periods hold the largest listening audiences.

Results of the survey are expected to be ready in two months.

Region Bankers Tell Of Careers

Harlow H. Campbell represented the University at a meeting of twelve Pacific Northwest colleges Tuesday in Portland. Portland bank officials outlined the career opportunities in the field of banking to the deans and placement officers.

The program, planned to give the college officers a better idea of the benefits of working in banks, included talks given by C. B. Stephenson, First National bank president; E. C. Sammons, U. S. National Bank president, and Rogers Kimberling, vice president and manager, Bank of California.

There was also a series of discussions on banking by graduates of colleges represented at the meeting, detailing their progress in commercial banking.

A conducted tour of the head offices of four downtown banks was made by the group.

Newhouse Heads Young Republicans

Neal Newhouse last week was elected president of the campus Republicans Club. Other officers are: Caroline Wilkins, vice-president; Barbara Barry, secretary; and Mary Jo Mace, treasurer.

Plans have been made for a membership drive after spring vacation, and for attendance to the state Young Republicans Convention in May.

Coffee hours where prominent Republicans speak to the group are planned for later in the year.

IK's Revise Constitution, Membership Qualifications

Local Intercollegiate Knights set a maximum and minimum number of members and raised the qualifications for selection of future IKs in a constitutional revision meeting last week.

A maximum of 50 members was set up with the number from each living group based on their second semester membership. One IK will be authorized to living groups with 0-99 members, two for 100-149 students, three for 150-199, and 4 for 200-249 residents.

To the 30 IKs selected by this method, additional members will be selected from applications submitted until 50 are chosen. No living group will be allowed more than three additional members per 100 residents in the group chosen from all over campus.

This method resembles procedures used in selecting the Spurs, sophomore women's honorary. It replaces the former system in which each fraternity was allowed two IKs and the dormitories had one member for each 25 residents.

Under the new system, students who are second semester freshmen will fill out applications with their qualifications to join the IK organization. Present members of the IKs in each living group will recommend to the organization prospective members.

Pledges will be required to have a grade point of 2.25 or better at the time of tapping.

FABULOUS FIB Saved By Skull Practice

By Richard W. Peters

I was deep in the jungle at the headwaters of the Amazon River in South America. Here I had been searching for gold and diamonds that were believed to be found in this area. This was also the land of a savage tribe of Indians. These Indians were noted for their practice of shrinking heads.

I had been traveling in the land of these natives for eight days before it finally happened. I was captured by these wild Indians and taken to their settlement. I was there only a few hours when I found that I was to have my head shrunk the very next day.

This tribe had one peculiarity which saved my life. They enjoyed shrinking heads while the person was still alive. I had known of this before I left the United States and had prepared myself for this emergency. Just before I had left the University I had had my head "sanforized." When the natives found that they could not shrink my head they thought that I was a god. They gave me presents of gold and diamonds worth thousands of dollars and they also gave me safe passage back to civilization.

'Little Bit O' Ireland' Theme For Annual Frosh Dance

"A Little Bit O' Ireland" has been chosen as the theme for this year's Frosh Dance, March 15 from 9 to 12 p.m. in the SUB ballroom. Tickets for the semi-formal affair, which will feature the music of Ralph Dickinson's orchestra, may be purchased at the door for $1.50 a couple.

Voting this noon will narrow Frosh King and Queen candidates to a field of five finalists for each title. A later vote will pick the winners, who are to be crowned during intermission of Friday's dance.

The Friday dance climaxes the annual week, which begins with a frosh-soph tug-of-war 4:30 Wednesday at Paradise Creek.

Frosh interested in working on dance decorations are asked to contact Margaret Remsburg, Gamma Phi, or Irene Scott, Delta Gamma.

Candidates for queen include: Marie Turner, Alpha Chi; Ann Marie Berry, Alpha Phi; Marilyn Durose, Forney; Kay Shipley, French; Peggy Gee, Ethel Steel; Mary Walcott, Tri-Delt; Faris Johnston, Delta Gamma; Karla Klumper, Gamma Phi; Fran Bauddeck, Theta; Nan Alvord, Kappa; Karen Wiley, Hays; and June Hoalst, Pi Phi.

King candidates are: Bill Blair, Campus Club; Ralph Baughman, Chrisman; Larry Hattmer, Gault; Ken Bartlett, Idaho Club; Dave Andress, Lindley; Austin Bergin, Upham; Larry Sturman, Willis Sweet; Bill Weaver, LBS; Eric Carlson, Alpha Tau; Garth Brown, Beta; Fred Kennedy, Delta Chi; Marilyn Clark, Delta Sig; Tom Benjamin, Delta Tau; Dave Worsley, Kappa Sig; Bob Case, Lambda Chi; Mike McNichols, Phi Delt; Ed Campbell, Fiji; Gary Blicke, Phi Tau; Don Yost, Sig Alpha; Dennis Faucher, Sigma Chi; Gary Farnsworth, Sigma Nu, and Gary Anderson, Teku.

Also on the subject of pranks comes this report from the Oregon State Daily Barometer that among the recent practical jokes was the disappearance of a fork-lift truck from a campus construction project and the discovery of it in the basement of Weatherford Hall.

One of the most numerous games at OSC was driving across living group lawns—a riot almost resulted when an enraged fraternity caught the culprits, but police prevented any violence.

On the same weekend someone mistook the Lambda Chi parking lot for a used car center because all the LCA's cars were painted with "For Sale" signs.

Greeks Are Asked To Lodge Writers During Conference

Letters were sent this week to Greek living groups on campus regarding the housing of students attending the eleventh annual High School Journalism Conference here March 22 and 23.

Housing of the students will be directed by Guy Wicks through the Office of Student Affairs, and according to him, "all available private housing space (fraternities and sororities) as well as University housing will be needed to take care of the high school students."

More than 350 attended the conference last year.

"We have an unusual problem in housing the students," commented Wicks, "due to the fact that nearly two-thirds of the group will be girls."

The program, sponsored by the National Students Association, was brought to the Idaho campus through the combined efforts of NSA, International Relations club, and the Cosmopolitan club.

Gat, spoke of the border situation in Israel.

"We don't want to be national heroes. We don't want to die in our country; we want to live in it."

A small crowd saw a husband and wife team, Maya and Joseph Zaphrir, dance to rhythmic accordion music played by Jacob Schecter. Maya also sang songs of her native land with Schecter's accordion and her husband's drum playing in the background.

The purpose of the tour, was to create an opportunity for cultural and individual contact with a variety of American campuses for the sake of better understanding and mutual cultural benefit.

Moscow Residents Helped Raise Iraq Living Standards

Dr. Roscoe D. Watson and his wife, Dr. Ellen Kemp Watson of Moscow, for the past two years have contributed a great deal toward helping the people of Iraq to raise their living standards, while working in Iraq for the U.S. International Cooperation Administration, the agency responsible for administering the Mutual Security Program.

Dr. Watson plans to return here where he taught and conducted research on plant disease control before joining the ICA program in Iraq.

Dr. Roscoe Watson, a plant pathology advisor, and Mrs. Watson, a home economics advisor, recently returned to Idaho accompanied by their four children, Ronald, 14; Rodney, 11; Roger, 9 and Renee, 8. Both the Watsons hold Ph.D. degrees from Cornell University. He also has BS and MS degrees from Utah State Agricultural College.

While serving as plant pathology advisor to the Iraq Ministry of Agriculture, Watson helped the Ministry establish a two-point program to fight plant diseases in Iraq. A long-range pest control campaign has been developed, and a five-year plant disease survey in Iraq has been launched.

"Iraq needs such information before it can try out control methods on a small scale," Watson said. "Demonstration of the successful results is then made available to the extension worker, who gets the information to the individual farmer in time to save his crops."

Wheat smut control, with the cooperation of the agricultural extension service, was one of the first and most successful campaigns waged against plant disease. As a result of this campaign, the Iraq government has made seed treatment generally available to farmers at very low cost.

Dr. Watson also assisted in planning and carrying out research of tomato diseases and the various maladies of fruits—particularly apples, peaches, pears, plums, grapes, almonds and quince. Effective spray schedules were successfully developed and demonstrated.

The five-year survey of plant diseases opened in September 1956, with a 24-day field research trip to Mosul Liwa. "Many diseases appeared which have not been catalogued before, such as a new disease on sesame which is of considerable economic importance," reports Dr. Watson.

During his two-year stay in Iraq, Dr. Watson also conducted training courses in plant pathology to help others rise from misery, however far from the scene of suffering may be our shores. For wherever in the world a people knows desperate want, there must appear at least the spirit of hope, the hope of progress—or there will surely rise at last the flames of conflict."

Mrs. Watson taught in the home economics department at the Queen Aliya College, Iraq's college for women. She taught second and fourth year classes in child development, and third and fourth year classes in nutrition with emphasis on infant and family feeding. She helped establish and supervised the first nursery school in Iraq, at the College. In October, she assumed responsibility for the child development work, and conducted laboratory classes in human nutrition.

The three oldest Watson children attended the American Community School in Baghdad.

Two of 4,000 The Watsons have been among approximately 4,000 American technicians—specialists in various fields—who are working in more than 50 countries of the free world, helping to advance the objectives of ICA's partnership program. This program carries out the thought expressed by President Eisenhower in his second inaugural speech that "We must use our skills and knowledge and, at times, our substance, to help others rise from misery, however far from the scene of suffering may be our shores. For wherever in the world a people knows desperate want, there must appear at least the spirit of hope, the hope of progress—or there will surely rise at last the flames of conflict."

Two WIN FREE BOWLING Mary Nelson, Ethel Steel House, with a score of 149, and Dave Bruhn, Chrisman, with a score of 258, were the individual winners in ASUF game room competition last week.

Gals' Ring Racket Ruins Male, Helps Jewelers

With DON NEVILLE SMITH Spring is in the air and many a young man's fancy is apt to turn to rings and things. But look before you leap, the Colorado Daily has something to say on the matter.

Men of the world revolt! It is time to strike out against one of the greatest financial evils of our time, that bit of glittering nonsense known as the engagement ring.

It is bad enough to have to obey the woman of your wishes; to bribe her to run your life for the next 50 years is absurd.

The engagement ring hoax is perpetuated by two groups with diverse interests but a common determination to hit the male of the twosome for one of those hunks of expensive ice.

The first pressure group is the general species of woman. The girls who become engaged like to have it as a trophy, sort of a civilized shrunken head that can be flouted around as proof of the gal's resourcefulness on the hunt.

Mothers love them too; again for the reason of advertising the daughter. Other girls are happy, both as it gives them a reason for exhibiting mild insanity and candle blowing, and also because of a hidden desire of being able to show one themselves in the near future.

Then there are the older ladies who fawn over everything from babies to cats. This falls right down their alley.

The second group in the conspiracy consists of the diamond salesman and jewelry store operators. Their interest in the matter, is needless to say, not overly sentimental.

We're not against a guy buying his enraptured something as a gift for such an occasion. But we would suggest such practical things as a mop, a box of Lux or two dozen diapers.

And if the little dear wants you to spend $500 or so on her, do so gladly, but do it as a downpayment on a house.

Four 19-year-old Stanford students are facing charges of malicious mischief and petty theft after a night on the town in San Jose, Calif.

The Stanford Daily reports that the four students admitted having a few beers and had decided to "mess around" a bit.

They went to San Jose State College's fraternity row where they smashed a front window valued at $10 in the Lambda Chi Alpha house and a large plate glass window worth $100 at the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house. At the latest of the four stole four potted azalea plants valued at $10 each.

The quartet also were said to have uprooted a parking sign in front of a student boarding house.

When the group was apprehended in their $57 Ford with no rear license plate, police found in the car two telephone receivers taken from a campus phone booth.

Also on the subject of pranks comes this report from the Oregon State Daily Barometer that among the recent practical jokes was the disappearance of a fork-lift truck from a campus construction project and the discovery of it in the basement of Weatherford Hall.

One of the most numerous games at OSC was driving across living group lawns—a riot almost resulted when an enraged fraternity caught the culprits, but police prevented any violence.

On the same weekend someone mistook the Lambda Chi parking lot for a used car center because all the LCA's cars were painted with "For Sale" signs.

Greeks Are Asked To Lodge Writers During Conference

Letters were sent this week to Greek living groups on campus regarding the housing of students attending the eleventh annual High School Journalism Conference here March 22 and 23.

Housing of the students will be directed by Guy Wicks through the Office of Student Affairs, and according to him, "all available private housing space (fraternities and sororities) as well as University housing will be needed to take care of the high school students."

More than 350 attended the conference last year.

"We have an unusual problem in housing the students," commented Wicks, "due to the fact that nearly two-thirds of the group will be girls."

The program, sponsored by the National Students Association, was brought to the Idaho campus through the combined efforts of NSA, International Relations club, and the Cosmopolitan club.

Gat, spoke of the border situation in Israel.

"We don't want to be national heroes. We don't want to die in our country; we want to live in it."

A small crowd saw a husband and wife team, Maya and Joseph Zaphrir, dance to rhythmic accordion music played by Jacob Schecter. Maya also sang songs of her native land with Schecter's accordion and her husband's drum playing in the background.

The purpose of the tour, was to create an opportunity for cultural and individual contact with a variety of American campuses for the sake of better understanding and mutual cultural benefit.

Skiers Await NCAA Meet, March 29-31

Serious practice and vigorous exercise will dominate the Idaho ski team's training schedule the remainder of this month, as it keeps an eye on the NCAA Championships slated for March 29, 30 and 31.

Back from winning the Northwest Intercollegiate Ski Meet last week, the Vandal skiers' attention is now focused on the NCAA crown. As the season progressed so did the Idaho skiers' performance.

The meet won by the Idaho ski squad last week, was the most important as it qualified the crew for the NCAA Championships and was its first victory of the season. The team had placed well in the preceding meets, but was always a step or two short of the winner's circle.

Intramural 'B' basketball play-offs will get underway Monday with inter-league competition among the fifteen different leagues.

Blue Key Talent Show rehearsals caused cancellation of the final games scheduled for last night. These nine games will be played Saturday, according to Wayne Anderson, intramural director.

Anderson also commented that 'B' basketball has been "running very smoothly so far this year" and wished to commend the groups for their participation.

There have been only ten forfeited games among the 81 played to date.

Sixty teams are competing in the sport and the playoffs will arrange them in standings (1-60). However, only the top team from each living group will count in the final figuring of intramural points.

League winners of nine of the 15 leagues completed to date are Teke 1, Lindley Hall 1 and Sigma Nu 1. All tied in League 1 with 2 and 1 records.

Delta Tau Delta 1, Campus Club 1, Willis Sweet 2, Sigma Nu 2, Fiji 2, Beta 1, ATO 2 and ATO 3 won their leagues (2-9) with 3 wins and no losses.

The Kappa Sig team of Jerry Hengeler and Jim Bruya won the table tennis doubles crown by downing Lindley Hall's George Heiber and Din Witt in the finals Tuesday afternoon.

Six players reached the quarter-finals of the singles tourney by virtue of their wins yesterday afternoon. They are Larry Bardsley, Delta Chi, Len Chin, Chrisman Hall, Jim Bivens, Kappa Sig, Frank Benson, Campus Club, Lowell Martin, Willis Sweet and Tony Dumhart, Delta Tau Delta.

Singles competition will continue all next week with the finals being played Thursday afternoon.

In bowling action Tuesday night SAE knocked the Kappa Sigs out of first place in league 2 by beating them 3 to 1. John Cook was top bowler for the Sig Alphas with a 505 series.

Meanwhile Chrisman Hall slipped into first place one-half game ahead of the Kappa Sigs with a 3-1 win over Farm House.

Lindley Hall took over top spot in league 3 with a 4-0 win over Delta Chi, while the previous leader Willis Sweet were losing 4-0 to Phi Delta Theta by virtue of a protest.

Per Windju, missing from the squad the last two weeks because of training difficulties, will compete in the NCAA Championship. Per, an expert jumper, placed second in the meet last year. Per did not compete in the NWIS meet last week.

Frank Cammack and Erik Berggren were selected to the Northwest all-star team last week. Idaho and WSC dominated the all-star squad each placing two members.

Three Straight? Berggren, the National Nordic champion the past two years will attempt to make it three titles in succession this month.

Cammack won the National Nordic Combined championship last month and will get a chance to try out for the U. S. Olympic team next year.

Members of the Idaho ski team includes: Cammack, Berggren, Windju, Frieling, Jim Douglass, Gudolf Kjerheim and Tom Anderson.

Depth Important In Swim Team's Successful Year

Depth was the strong point in the 1957 Vandal swimming team which had the best year in history as it took third in Northern Division dual meet competition and finished fourth in the ND meet at Corvallis, Ore.

The Vandal swimming team had its best record in years as it won eight and lost three in meet competition. The high point of the year came as the Vandals' downed the Washington State team three times.

The squad lost only to Oregon State, Washington, and Wyoming; while it won three from WSC, took two from Eastern Washington, and got singles from Utah State, Montana, and British Columbia.

In the Northern Division meet last weekend, the strong individual strength on the Cougars showed up, as they edged the Vandals out 45 to 35 to take third place.

Coach Eric Kirkland commented that the bright spot on the team was freestyler Leonard Lawr. Lawr was the outstanding Vandal in the Corvallis meet, as he took a second in the 100 yd. freestyle competition and sparked the Idaho relay team to a third.

The entire team deserved a lot of credit according to Kirkland, and he commented that they could have finished third in the ND meet if the two top WSC men hadn't finished so strongly.

Although discouraging in spots, the Idaho team played a little bit of everything from brilliant one-man performances to stirring come-from-behind rallies by the second team.

The young Vandals didn't win them all, but they played good interesting basketball. Look out for Coach Hodges' team next year.

The California Bears leaped back into the Pacific Coast Conference lead Saturday as they rebounded from a Friday loss to UC.

Wyatt will run in the mile event against such college stars as Billy Tidwell, Kansas State Teachers; Ted Wheeler, Iowa; Phil Coleman, Chicago Track & Field club; Jerry Walters, Los Angeles AC; and Bill Gregory, Notre Dame freshman.

In the two mile Hatton will face Lazlo Tabori, Hungarian star; Jim Macey, University of Houston; Deacon Jones, Iowa; Jack Kelly, Chicago Track & Field club, and Max Trux, USC.

SPORCAS/BORD by Dean H. Judd

The 1956-57 Vandal basketball team didn't surprise anyone, or even reach the expectations of some, but it did prove to be an interesting squad. The team, probably the best Coach Harlan Hodges has coached in his three years here, dropped half of its pre-season games and managed to win four of 16 conference contests.

The bad breaks for Hodges' team were many and close together. First the team lost its star and highest scorer for a month just before the conference season opened. Then not four days later Hodges was put on the disabled list for two weeks with an operation.

On top of that, the Vandals lost three games by one point, one by two, and one by three. If these five games could have gone the other direction, the Vandals would have finished with a reputable 9 and 7 record.

Although discouraging in spots, the Idaho team played a little bit of everything from brilliant one-man performances to stirring come-from-behind rallies by the second team.

Simmons Sets Second Free Throw Record

Gary Simmons, Vandal guard, has used free throw accuracy to set his second PCC record of the year; and the Vandal team took fourth in conference foul shooting percentages for their highest finish in 1957 department ratings.

Simmons made good 48 of 63 chances from the free-throw line to close the season with a .906 percentage. His mark erased a four-year-old .875 record set by Bob Matheny of California in 1953.

After an injury had kept him out half the conference season, Simmons made 24 foul shots before missing one. Two shots at the end of the 1956 season gave the speedy guard a total of 26 consecutive free throws for a new conference mark.

In the last four games, Simmons missed four more chances. He made 16 of 17 shots in two games against Oregon State, and had 8 for 11 in the final series with Stanford.

Simmons' mark replaces Matheny's in the section which requires a minimum of 30 tries. The California star made 56 to 65 chances in 12 games.

Ron Bennick of Washington State set the record in the section requiring a minimum of 100 chances in 1955. The Cougar got 140 for 172 and a .814 percentage.

Has Won FT Crown With six teams yet to complete their PCC seasons, Simmons has virtually won the foul shooting crown. His closest competition is Ben Rogers of UCLA with an .841 percentage. Reserve Idaho forward Hal Damiano is tenth in the charity toss department with .746.

Washington State's Larry Beck will get his last chance of the season to move back into the scoring lead this weekend. Beck, with a 20.8 point average will have his opportunity to overtake Oregon State's Dave Gambee against third place Washington. Gambee will be trying to protect his 22.2 average against last place Oregon.

Two Finish Of the top ten PCC scorers only two, Bill Bond of Stanford with an 18.1 average and Simmons with 14.3 have finished their season. Bond is in eighth spot and Simmons in tenth.

The remainder of the top ten includes: Doug Smart, Washington, 20.4; Danny Rogers, USC, 19.8; Larry Friend, California, 18.8; Charlie Franklin, Oregon, 18.8; Bruno Boim, Washington, 18.2; and Jim Pugh, USC, 14.3.

Vandal center Gary McEwen is 23rd in scoring with a 9.8 average and guard Bill Wilson is 24th with a 9.3 mark.

McEwen is ninth in rebounding with an even .100 percentage. His total of 140 rebounds is sixth best in total rebounds. Only Smart, Hal Duffy of Oregon, Boim, Gambee and Franklin lead the 6-4 center.

UCLA Tops Two In team statistics, UCLA led in two of the six departments. The Bruins who completed their season Tuesday against USC, lead in total scoring and free throws. Ore-State topped the rebound section, Stanford leads in field goal percentages, California in total defense, and Washington in field goal defense.

The Vandals followed their fourth in free throw shooting, with fifth in total scoring and field goal defense. They rank seventh in regional tournament competition.

Nine Games On Bench Fails To Stop Top Idaho Scorer

Despite the fact that he missed nine games, Gary Simmons, sharp-shooting Vandal guard, still topped the Idaho cage squad in total scoring over the entire season, according to statistics compiled by Ken Hunter, athletic news director.

Simmons piled up 285 points in the 17 games he played, for an average of 16.8 per game. He missed the last pre-conference game and the first eight PCC contests due to an ankle injury suffered against Colorado A&M in Idaho Falls.

Center Gary McEwen was the Vandals' second highest scorer with a total of 231 points in 26 games for an average of 8.9 points per game.

Simmons tallied nearly 40 per cent of his points from the free throw line, hitting 101 of his 119 gift shots for a .845 average. Guard Bill Wilson was second best from the free throw line with a .704 average, hitting on 100 of 142 shots.

Forward Jim Branom had the best shooting percentage from the floor, 40 per cent, reserve forward Harold Damiano was second in this department with 37 per cent and Simmons had a 36 per cent average.

McEwen was the team's top backboard man, snaring 250 rebounds, compared to second place Jerry Jorgenson's 148.

Bad man of the squad was Branom who fouled out of eight games and ran up a total of 79 personal fouls.

Idaho's bowling team downed the Gonzaga team of Spokane here Sunday when they chalked up a total 2659 points to their opponent's 2466.

High man for the Idaho squad was Dick Rene, who scored 611 points in three games. Ed Koontz, Gonzaga, rolled a total of 541 in the three games. A return match is scheduled for March 24 at Spokane.
