

The Idaho Argonaut

Enrollment Nears Record

A new all-time full semester enrollment record is expected to be set sometime this week, as 3,663 students had registered by last night.

The mark set last year at 3,717 was expected to fall sometime this week as late registrations are running heavier than usual.

That forcefully familiar campus problem has changed very little since last spring. Parking is still of questionable quality and quantity at Idaho. In fact, it seems as expected, to have grown somewhat worse.

With the return of students, so come the automobiles; and so vanish the parking facilities. Again this year, the problem gives evidence that it will continue to be a sore spot here unless some positive action is taken to alleviate the situation.

Such action may go in either of two directions. It means either the number of cars on campus must be limited, or the present parking facilities must be expanded.

At present the plans by the administration seem to lean more to expansion program than to limitation of student vehicles. The feeling is that construction of increased parking space is the first step toward easing the crowded situation brought about by the numerous student cars.

The plan of prohibiting certain students from driving a car on the campus has been temporarily sidetracked, with the hope that the construction of parking lots on the periphery of the campus will eliminate the dead storage problem presented by student cars that are seldom used.

Such a plan would, of course, mean a considerable expense to the students. It would probably involve a charge for parking permits issued to students.

The fee would be a very good investment for students. It would not only help to alleviate the parking situation, but would also give the students a real bargain in parking.

But, despite all long range plans we still must face the present situation. Until some action is taken the traffic situation will go unchanged and students may well make the best of it by observing all campus traffic regulations and restrictions. Read those pamphlets that came with your permits.

The United Party, which seemed to have gained a rather commanding edge in the ASUI elections last spring, may find the plurality it holds on the Executive Board crumbling beneath it within the week.

With the announcement that Frank Nosek, one of the four men elected from the Greek group's slate, will be ineligible to continue his duties; the United Party could lose valuable voting power.

It will be interesting to see what sort of action the board will decide to take in replacing him.

First ASUI Flicker Set For Oct. 3

"Ugetsu," a Japanese colored film, is slated for showing at the Borah Theater in the SUB Oct. 3, ASUI Movie Chairman Betty Bovey, Gamma, Phi, said today.

Students will be charged 35 cents for admission this year, she said. Other movies scheduled for this semester are: "The Lavender Hill Mob," Oct. 17; "The Eternal Return," Oct. 24; "The Caine Mutiny," in color, Nov. 7; "The Red Inn," November 21; "The Cruel Sea," Dec. 5; and "Bitter Rice," Jan. 16.

Massey, Moorhead To Star At WSC Wednesday Night

Norman Corwin's dramatic play, "The Rivalry," will be presented Wednesday at 8 p.m. in WSC's Bohler gymnasium. The show will play in 72 cities before its opening on Broadway in January of 1958.

Three Hollywood stars, Raymond Massey, Agnes Moorehead and Brian Donley, will star in Paul Gregory's production of the Corwin play. Tickets for "The Rivalry" are available at the WSC department of speech office in Bryan Hall and will be at the box office Wednesday for $1.50 general admission, and $3 or $2.25 for reserved seats.

Registrar D. D. DuSault said today that there are 39 more students registered this year than there were at the same time a year ago. A total of 128 students registered Monday compared with 112 for the same day a year ago.

Last year's total of 3,717 broke a record of 3,073 set in 1948 when almost 2,000 veterans of World War II entered the University.

Late registrants are expected to be showing up for the next two weeks. Registration, which started on an assembly-line basis in the Memorial gymnasium, has now been moved to the Ad Annex building.

Classes began yesterday with assignments being handed out as usual to returning students, while freshmen became acquainted with what would be expected of them.

Non-Citizens Must Secure Game Licenses

University officials today eyed impending Idaho hunting seasons and reminded student sportsmen that they must purchase out-of-state licenses if they are not citizens of the state.

Assistant director of student affairs Guy Wicks said 75 students were ordered to appear before fish and game officials for giving incorrect addresses on their hunting permit applications. One student was fined $75, Wicks said.

He said that Idahoans who for some reason or another were not required to pay tuition at the University were not automatically considered citizens of the state.

An out-of-state bird hunting license costs $20 and a combined bird, fish and big game hunting permit sells for $75. Idaho residents pay $2.50 for fishing, the same amount for hunting and $4 for a combined permit.

Pep Band To Hold Auditions And Rehearsals

Pep Band director Bob Whipple, today scheduled an audition-rehearsal for the organization at 7 p.m. Tuesday in Music building room 216.

Whipple said the rehearsal would include all old members of the band, along with all musicians already auditioned and any others interested in joining the group.

Combined Military Choir Plans Made

Plans were announced today for a combined military choir which would include members from all three ROTC units. Organizer Bob Whipple said the chorus would be composed of about 45 voices. He said Air Force students could sign up for the group during their leadership training lab Thursday, and Army students would have a chance to join Monday. Navy midshipmen will be contacted at a later date, he said.

A football rally Friday night launched the Dad's Day weekend. A group of Tri Delta pledges and "Joe" the Vandal look on as Jerry Kramer, Idaho guard, busts through a giant paper football at the event.

Dad's Day Festivities Termed Successful

Dad's Day was termed a success by Chairman Claudette Kerns, Alpha Chi, as approximately 400 fathers appeared on the Idaho campus over the weekend to witness the Idaho-Oregon football game, a downtown Moscow parade, and a Pop's Hop during Saturday's activities.

Fullback Kenney Hall's father, George M. Marshall of Newark, Del., took the honors as the Dad to travel the farthest for the annual event. Delta Gammas and Theta's percentages of fathers on campus with 29 per cent each.

GPB, Campus Club Wins. Gamma Phi's won first place for posters in women's competition and Campus Club took the lead in men's living groups. Honorable mention went to Thetas and Phi Deltas.

Judging the posters Saturday morning were Miss Edith Betts, physical education department; the Rev. Harold Fleharty, Moscow Episcopal church; and F. N. McCowan, Chamber of Commerce representative.

Highlighting the parade in downtown Moscow Saturday morning were 11 high school bands from Moscow, Coeur d'Alene, Mullan, Nezperce, Troy, Pullman, St. Maries, Clearwater, Grangeville, Kendrick and Craigmont.

Congresswoman Grace Pfost, a number of industrial floats and organizations, and a group of palomino horses here for the Latah county fair were also included in the parade.

Bob Whipple and his band furnished music for the Pop's Hop held in the SUB ballrooms Saturday night from 9 to 12 p.m. Magazines, newspapers, and cartoons completed the theme, "Fads with Dad."

INDIA RETAINS ENGLISH. A convention of Indian students in the United States has overwhelmingly voted in favor of retaining English as the medium of instruction at the University level in India.

Marigay Nelson To Be On National TV

By Rosemary Maule. Marigay Nelson has auditioned for numberless critics since she began her bid for success as an operatic soprano, but Tuesday will mark her most important audition yet—and it will be before some 20,000,000 people.

Miss Nelson, whose voice was the mainstay of numerous musical productions here prior to her graduation in June, will compete with two other performers on "Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts" on the CBS television network.

The program is scheduled for viewing here at 9:30 on KXLY-TV, Spokane. She will sing "When You're Away" as her talent entry, one she has sung before several Idaho audiences. Idaho ties go a long way apparently, and a former University student and sorority sister, Kris Winner, will act as her "scout" to the network said today.

Miss Winner is presently a member of the secretarial staff of Sen. Henry Dworshak in Washington, D.C. Miss Nelson, formerly a resident of Orofino, was working as a stenographer-secretary in New York and taking voice lessons when she was "discovered" by Miss Winner. Not new at the role of a professional singer, Miss Nelson previously performed in New York, Pittsburgh and Seattle and was one of 30 finalists for an appearance on the Ted Mack Amateur competition in Spokane.

She also won a $200 prize as runner-up in a Northwest Metropolitan Opera of the Air Audition last year.

Miss Nelson also spent a summer studying under Boris Goldowsky with a scholarship presented by the Idaho division of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

While attending the University, Miss Nelson was a featured soloist in student productions of the Mozart opera "Impressario" and "Cosi Fan Tutte." She was also guest soloist for the Blue Key Talent Show last year.

New Exec Alignment Impending Tuesday

The ASUI Exec Board tonight will put machinery in motion to select a replacement for member Frank Nosek, who this week was declared constitutionally ineligible to fill that office.

Nosek, a first-year law student, recorded a grade point below that required for a major office holder.

The present Board is composed of four members of the United Party, three Independents, and two Student Government Party members.

Nosek was the sixth person elected to the Board in the ASUI election last spring. He was the third United candidate elected.

Discuss Method. A method of selecting the new Board member will be discussed at the year's first Exec Board meeting tonight.

The constitution states that any vacancy occurring in an elective office is to be filled by appointment by the Exec Board and that the Board may call a special election to fill the vacancy within three weeks.

The Exec Board had to replace two members of the Board in the spring of 1955. In both appointments the Board had the party caucus representing the resigned officer nominate three possible candidates.

In the first appointment the Board rejected the nominations because the nominees were not candidates during the preceding spring election. They appointed the candidate who had placed tenth in the spring election who was a member of the same party as the resigned candidate.

In the second appointment the Board selected one of the three nominated by a caucus who had been a candidate in the spring election.

Darrell Weber, Independent candidate from the LDS house, placed tenth in last spring's election. The highest United candidate not elected were John Bradbury, Fiji, and Carolyn Edwards, Gamma Phi, who were 13th and 14th, respectively.

Other possible methods of selecting the new Board member would be to hold a special election at the same time class elections are held in late October or early November, or to have nominations from the Board members themselves and appoint a member from these nominations.

Other action of the Board tonight will be to hear reports from the Dad's Day, the Alley Memorial Fund, the Board of Selection and Control, and the Fifth-quarter committees.

Also plans will be discussed for a possible banquet exchange between the Idaho and WSC Executive Boards.

Bookstore Has Largest Sales In Its History. Friday's sale of books at the University Student Bookstore was the largest for a single day in the history of the store, Chester Kerr, manager, said today.

Kerr said the dollar volume of the bookstore was 25 per cent above the largest day in last year's operation. Just under 1200 students went through the store.

2 Grants Offered For Chem Majors. Two scholarships available for students studying chemistry or related fields were announced today by the Office of Student Affairs.

Monsanto Chemical company is offering a $600 grant to any student majoring in chemical engineering who has completed one year of study in that field. Applications should be made to Dr. M. L. Jackson, professor of chemical engineering.

A $250 scholarship is available for any incoming freshman student in chemistry, chemical engineering, wood utilization, or for future junior or senior high school teachers of science or engineering. The grant is sponsored by the American-Marietta company.

Students who were unable to pick up unsold books and money for sold books at the IK book exchange last night will be able to Thursday from 1-4 p.m. at the cloakroom in the SUB lobby.

Exchange Chairman, Karl Bittenbender, said about $1100 worth of books were exchanged and that 150 students purchased 275 books.

He said about 225 students were turned away because they had not consigned the books they desired.

The exchange is sponsored at the start of each semester by the Intercollegiate Knights, national sophomore service honorary.

During the three day exchange students turn in used books to the IKs, name their own price to sell the books, and the IKs act as selling agents. All money and unsold books are turned back to the students, except a 10 cent per book handling charge.

Bittenbender said that books and money not returned Thursday afternoon will become the property of the IKs and that students should contact him at phone 20501, Delta Sigma Phi, to receive them.

Women's Recreation Association is starting their sports activities for the year with a tennis practice session under the direction of Miss Totten of the physical education department next Monday at 4 p.m. on the Ridenbaugh tennis courts.

Tennis double tournaments between women's living groups will be held the week following the practice sessions.

Field hockey begins tomorrow at 4 p.m. for beginners and on Tuesday, Thursday and Friday for experienced players. The physical education department is sending a team to the North West Hockey Conference in Eugene, Ore. in November.

The two modern dance groups, Pre-orchestra and Orchestra, will hold tryouts October 1. Pre-orchestra tryouts will be held at 4 p.m. and Orchestra tryouts at 7 p.m. at the women's gym. Men are eligible to try out for Orchestra.

Purposes of WRA include providing competitive recreational sports, a chance for women to relax, and meet other women on campus.

WRA officers are president, Ginger Symms; vice president, Deanna Geertsen; secretary-treasurer, Marge Erstad; recording secretary, Jackie Wainwright; intramural chairman, Mitzi Switzer; hockey manager, Janice Smith; tennis manager, Janet Cooke; and Orchestra representative to WRA, Shirley Hendrickson.

COOL MAJOR, HOT BATON. And this from the United Press via the Daily Kansan: In Batavia, New York, a drum major flipped his baton into the air during a parade and was startled when it didn't come down. He looked up and found that the metal baton was fused to a 5,000 volt power line suspended across the street. It caused a 90-minute power failure.

Mud Throwing Is A Poor Substitute

It is with a certain degree of pride that we note the absence of any trophy stealing "situations" on the Idaho campus during the inaugural week of school.

Apparently, students have respected an administration edict banning the destructive full-scale raids on sororities and fraternities that for the last few years plagued the campus.

For that, congratulations are in order. On the debit side, however, inventive Idahoans have found another pastime to while away their leisure hours prior to the fling at the books that finally started yesterday. That comes in the form of all-out water, mud and paint "fights" which appear sporadically all over the campus.

This is no disapproval of student fun, nor an attempt to be prudish in opposing such sorority, fraternity and independent functions. It is obvious that freshmen here have a special-type adjustment to make when they hit the Idaho campus and cannot do it quickly. Therefore, these sundry functions become an excellent way to work off excess energy and to meet each other en masse.

But there is a catch to such unorganized functions and it is the one hindrance to our supporting such events.

They are dangerous and have been historically proven so here.

Thursday night, two freshmen women joined the long list of students who got hit with a rock, snowball, or whatever else was being used — all in innocent fun, of course — in the inadvertence of the battle.

Luckily, no one was hurt seriously Thursday. The living group involved sent flowers and relations between the two houses are back to normal.

That, however, did not justify the fracas and the fact that one of them is not partially blind does not serve as precedence for another such incident.

As has been constantly demonstrated in the history of the student population of the University of Idaho, a rule seldom ends the trouble. In some cases, the problem is simply impossible to stop when so many young adults are involved.

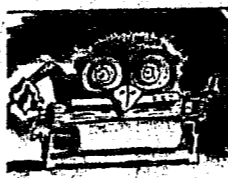

Mud-throwing is a different story. Such activities, into which panty raids, water fights, mid-street brawls and property-destroying excursions could also be lumped, are not characteristic of an intelligent student body. They are the epitome of a whole concept of unsophistication that we are being educated against.

And is there a substitute for this uninhibited pseudo-fun?

To provide that substitute was the reason for the establishment of the SUB and its owner, the ASUI. It is useless to name the numerous opportunities for relaxation and entertainment it provides. They have been propagandized enough already.

Had the two houses involved in the latest mess instead gone as a group to the Dipper for an hour or so of dancing, they would have put forth just as much effort, met each other in a more acceptable way and enjoyed themselves more in the process.

All this leads to the basic fact that the students' main purpose here is not to mutilate each other, but rather to meet the people with whom they will eventually live or work and learn to understand them as the backbone of progress and productive living.

Jim Golden's Campeyeing

Lovin', Laughin' Are In Gear; Upswing Noted In Frosh Dolls

Campeyeing — for better or for worse — begins its second year of digging "down deep" into the Idaho scene. The Year One for this column was a good one with surprisingly few troubles with students mentioned herein.

As a point of clarification for new readers, this writer will not print any material which degrades either individuals or the school at large unless he and his advisors deem it to be in the best interest of the majority.

This column is aimed at presenting the many humorous sidelights behind the Argonaut headlines. If the humor could better be termed "muck" in some cases, it will not be printed.

Neither, however, will the truth be sacrificed.

More New Competition

For early arriving male campusites, the "wait and see" attitude traditionally prevails until the new crop of freshman gals show up to brighten the scene.

This year it paid off especially and the masculine population was pleasantly rewarded with one of the best-looking "fresh-women" classes in years, according to the observant males.

However, for the women who apparently have to compete with the sweet young things, the spectacle was not so heartening.

Humanity Head Has New Book Published

A new book, "Shakespeare's Villains," by Dr. Charles Norton Coe, professor of English and head of the department of Humanities at the University of Idaho, has just been published by Bookman Associates in New York.

In his new book Dr. Coe discusses eleven of Shakespeare's villains including some from his early plays and some from plays written in his maturity. Villains are considered who, like Iago, dominate the plot; others such as Edmund play lesser roles. Some succeed in bringing about a catastrophe, whereas the villainy of others is thwarted.

In analyzing the villains, an attempt is made to evaluate the conflicting claims of two schools: the nineteenth century critics who wholeheartedly praised Shakespeare's powers of characterization; and the moderns who insist that, far from attempting to create lifelike villains, Shakespeare wrote with the conventions of the Elizabethan stage clearly in mind.

Dr. Coe is also the author of another book, "Woodsworth and the Literature of Travel," 1953, and of several articles on various literary subjects.

Engineering Field Recently Entered

The field of engineering — long considered strictly a man's domain — is making way for women.

Women in engineering have had "excellent success," according to Dean Allen S. Janssen of the college of engineering at the University of Idaho.

"We are often asked by industrial firms if we have any women engineering graduates for them to hire," Dean Janssen said. "Women are able to do many technical jobs better than men."

In the early phases of the engineering profession it involved much strenuous physical work which women could not do. Since then, many engineering positions have emerged in which women are readily adaptable. Many women are employed in the areas of chemistry, physics and medical technology. Many are also active in laboratories and planning sections concerned with metallurgical, electrical, civil, mechanical and chemical engineering fields.

Of a total of about 450,000 engineers in the nation, it has been estimated that fewer than 4,000 are women. These women usually start their careers working among larger industrial organizations that have research and testing laboratories.

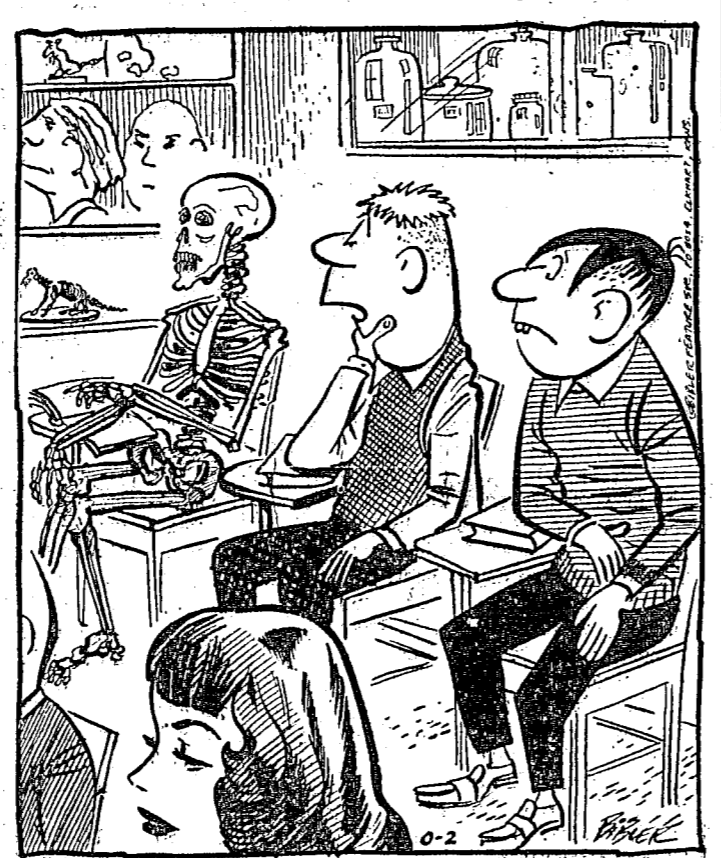

Women who have graduated in engineering from the University of Idaho have reported as being successful in their fields.

Some girls are like cigarettes; they come in packs, get lit, make you puff, go out unexpectedly, leave a bad taste in your mouth, and still satisfy.

SLEEPING ON THE FLOOR

The University of Texas was faced with quite a problem this fall. It seems that it sent out more dormitory space contracts than there were available rooms. As a result, 16 students showed up with contracts, only to find that they didn't have a room.

Since that time, they've been living in the dormitory hallways. University officials indicated the extra contracts were mailed because some room cancellations were expected.

"I said some pretty foolish things to my date last night."

"Yes?"

"That was one of them."

New Sorority Plans Three Party Rush

Alpha Gamma Delta, the newest sorority on campus, is planning its rush, consisting of three parties, Friday through Sunday. The rushes will pledge on Sunday.

Registration will continue up to 5 p.m., Thursday in the Office of Student Affairs. The fee is $1.50 for all girls who have not gone through rush previously.

Po-Foos do multi-serenading. That was the report as Idaho dipped an adventurous toe into the hot water of the upcoming social season.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA
The Pi Phi's got things started off on a good note with a serenade Friday afternoon. A few more good notes were added Friday evening when the Alpha Chi's honored us with another little serenade.

Sunday morning we had our annual breakfast exchange with the Pi Phi's. Our pledge class took on the Alpha Phi's Sunday afternoon in a football game. Needless to say, the Alpha Phi's were victorious by a score of 7-0.

Flight Setup For Army To Be Curtailed

Aviation flight training for selected Army ROTC students at the University of Idaho will not be offered this year as planned, Colonel Glenn B. Owen, professor of military science and tactics, announced today.

More applications from students who meet flight physical requirements are needed to enable the training program to get under way, Colonel Owen said. Authorization will be requested from the Commanding General, Sixth Army, to present aviation training during the 1958-59 school year.

The purpose of the program, limited to fourth-year ROTC students, is to encourage college students to seek a career in Army aviation and to create a reserve pool of qualified pilots who may be utilized in the event of a national emergency.

The flight training will consist of 70 hours of instruction one-half ground instruction and the other half in the air. The course is extracurricular for those selected and will be held on the student's own time.

Cornell Tuition Up To Meet Expense

The board of trustees at Cornell University recently approved a tuition increase. The Cornell Daily Sun editorialized on the increase as follows:

"Tuition increases are universally disliked, by administrators and teachers as well as students. But in the picture of mid-century American higher education, increased fees have become as necessary as they are unwelcome.

ment programs had to be financed from new sources. The single most important factor in determining the increase . . . faculty salaries has presented a problem to all educational institutions for several years and something had to be done to meet the crisis.

It takes more than nerve to wear a strapless evening dress.

FIELD GOAL SPOILS SEASON OPENER

Morris Misses; Mark Is Tied

Oregon's first field goal since 1949, a 22-yard boot by fullback Jack Morris, sailed limply over the crossbar in the waning moments of the third period Saturday to give the Ducks a bitterly fought 9-6 victory over Idaho.

Ironically, Morris had missed a chance to break the PCC point-after-touchdown record earlier in the game. He failed to convert on a try for his 24th straight extra point when forced to kick from the 24-yard line after a holding penalty.

The Vandal and Duck forward walls banged ferociously all afternoon with neither line holding the advantage for long.

Oregon drew first blood when quarterback Jack Crabtree capped a 69-yard march in 13 plays by plunging over from the one.

Crabtree completed his only two passes in the drive, pitching two aerials to halfback Leroy Phelps. Substitute fullback Chuck Osborne ripped through the Idaho secondary for 32 yards for the other big gain in the march.

Vandal signal caller Howie Willis engineered the Idaho counter in the third period. The crafty Willis picked up plenty of yardage himself on quarterback sneaks and his passing was nearly perfect.

The big play of the Vandal drive came when end Larry Aldrich made a beautiful, jumping over-the-shoulder catch of a Willis toss to take the ball to the Oregon six.

Aldrich writhed on the turf for a few seconds but after being checked by trainer Packy Boyle, refused to leave the contest.

Willis then hit the two on a pair of carries, halfback Lloyd Fenton made one, and Willis squeezed over for the score.

Idaho's strategy of the use of quick kicks on third downs, which worked to good advantage in spots, backfired when Fenton's boot from the Vandal 16, went out of bounds on the 12. A few plays later, Morris

Harriers Bid For Repeat

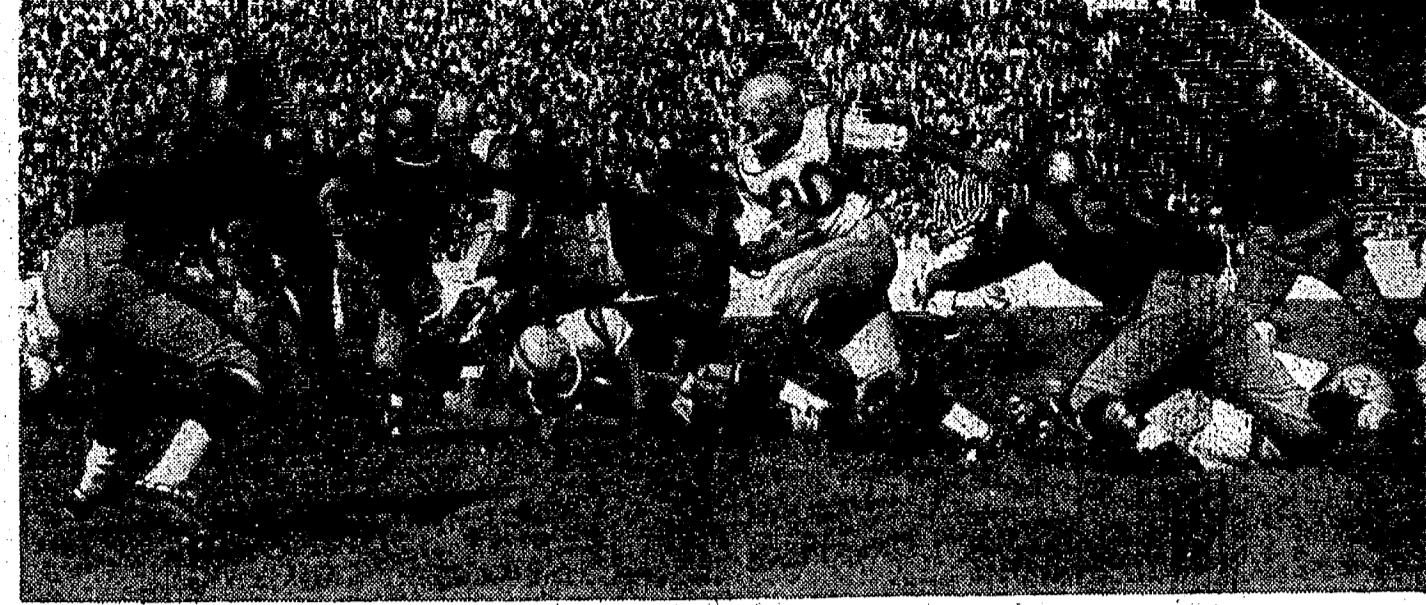

Six returning lettermen and an English import have begun practice for the 1957 Vandal cross country season.

The six, Dick Boyce, Ron Adams, Frank Wyatt, Pete Reed, Mill Riggers, and Doug Seely, helped the squad to an undefeated season in 1956. Ray Hatton, perhaps the top man on the team last year, will not return.

Coach Joe Glander said yesterday that freshman are eligible for varsity competition and urged anyone interested to turn out.

Idaho will compete in the PCC championship at Los Angeles November 30, but the rest of the schedule has not been announced.

Shanley Challenges The Horde

Jim Shanley (30) white uniform, showed why he is the top ground gainer in the PCC Saturday as he ripped a standout Idaho for 92 yards in 23 carries in the Ducks' 9-6 win. Jim Prestel (79) is upset, as Jerry Smythe (60), Ken Hall (37), and Bob Dehlinger (43) close in for the tackle. Wayne Walker (53) looks on.

Arizona State Sharp In Win

Arizona State, Idaho's next gridiron opponent, showed a powerful offense and a rugged defense last weekend as they rolled over Wichita, 28-0.

The Sun Devils, who meet the Vandals Saturday at Tempe, have been called as good a team as any in the PCC, and set out to prove it against the out-manned Wichita club. They were in command all the way.

Other Idaho opponents met with mixed results. Utah's Redskins, whom the Vandals meet in two weeks, defeated another Idaho adversary, Montana, 32-13, at Salt Lake City. Oregon State looked like conference champions in whitewashing USC, 20-0, and Washington State's Bob Newman put on an aerial show to lead the Cougars to a one-sided 34-12 victory over Nebraska.

Utah State downed Hawaii two Saturdays ago but was idle last weekend. Fresno State was clubbed by the Montana State Bobcats, 27-14. Data was unavailable on the game between College of Pacific, who meets the Vandals, Oct. 19, and San Diego State.

He: What are my chances with you?
She: Two to one. There's you and me against my conscience.

The show, entitled "Tips in Sports," will feature such nationally known personalities as Tony Kubek and Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees, Ernie Banks and Bob Scheffing of the Chicago Cubs, coaches "Skip" Stahley of Idaho, Ray Elliot of Illinois, and many other athletic luminaries.

Designed primarily to promote physical health and fitness, the show will also give tips and advice on the fundamentals of sports.

The opening show will feature Richardson explaining how the Yankees teach their second basemen to pivot on the double play and field their position, and Stahley discussing the fundamentals of football.

Neutral Corner Sick PCC Off On Confused Schedule; Future Undecided

In a tribute to the current sad state of affairs in which the Pacific Coast Conference finds itself, a sign was seen fluttering from one of the Washington State College halls Saturday evening reading "One down, nine to go to the Rose Bowl."

It seems that the Cougars moved into Lincoln, Nebraska, Saturday and dealt the Nebraska Cornhuskers a 34-12 defeat, and the loyal WSC fans decided that their Cougars had as good a chance as anyone to get to Pasadena.

And in the royally mixed-up PCC dilemma, they probably do. Only four teams, the Oregon Ducks, California Bears, Stanford Indians, and the Cougars are eligible to go to the annual New Year's Day Classic.

Three conference big shots, UCLA, USC, and Washington are ineligible because of illegal aid to athletes and similar rules violations. Oregon State won the PCC crown last year and league standards say no team can play in the Rose Bowl two years running, and finally, Idaho plays only three conference games and four tilts are required for consideration for the Pasadena clash.

Without question, the present set-up is hurting everyone concerned. USC is unhappy over the penalties it has received and has seriously talked of withdrawing from the PCC. UCLA, Cal and Washington hold similar views, and the rest of the conference has been bantering talk back and forth about a wide-scale revamping of the league. The shakeup probably would exclude Idaho from the PCC.

Year after year, the Big Ten sends a representative West and year after year, that representative takes home the Rose Bowl title for another year.

Last season Oregon State put up a valiant effort but was outclassed by Iowa, 35-19, in the battle.

With five of its nine teams sitting on the sidelines this year as far as post-season play is concerned, the PCC will be lucky indeed to send an adequate representative to the major bowl classic. And it cannot expect better, as long as the present setup remains intact.

Delts To Defend 'Mural Title

Defending champion Delta Tau Delta puts its title on the line this week as touch football opens the 1957 intramural sports season.

Intramural director Clem Parberry stressed that all living group intramural managers should be at the meetings this afternoon at 4:15 in room 109 of Memorial Gymnasium to draw for leagues.

Parberry hopes to get the season under way tomorrow afternoon, if plans so as expected at today's meeting.

The Delts, who defeated Lindley Hall, independent winner, for the campus championship last season, will welcome back almost the same lineup to open this year's intramural football wars.

Lorin Nelson, an outstanding passer last season, will be back at quarterback and his favorite target, Fred Ayarza, will again be on the receiving end. Ayarza topped league scorers in 1956.

Fleet Vandal trackman Dick Shern mans one halfback post, and Don Wenzler moving into the key blocking back slot.

The Delt line, perhaps the strong point of the championship club, loses Ken Goodwin and Dale Becker, guards, and end Jerry Duffy, but reserve strength should take up the slack.

Guard Dick Wisdom has shifted to one end post, with the returning Dick Sheppard at the other wing. Big Tom Benjamin again fills a starting guard slot along with Gordy Henderson.

Russ Jeffrey, Vandal varsity reserve last year, will give the Delts a rock solid defense. Jeffrey recently decided to give up collegiate football for the year to concentrate on scholastic work.

Coach Jack Acree, the Delts' binding force, will again guide the team's fortunes from the sidelines.

Reserve guard Chuck Bend and end Gary Collier have been impressive in recent practices and likely will make the Delts' bench solid enough to enable the team to make a determined bid for a second consecutive title.

Students wishing to enter this year's ASUI golf championships will have until Sunday to qualify, Idaho golf coach Dick Snyder announced yesterday.

Those planning to compete will have played at least 18 holes by Sunday to be considered for berths in the tourney. Any student is eligible and the competition will be run by flights, so that participants will be paired off against opponents of equal ability.

Freshman Don Modie has turned in the lowest qualifying total so far, a blistering 65.
