

Cross Country Aid Nears Goal

The "Fifth Man" cross country fund, which has reached a total of $135 of a $150 goal, will close today at 1 p.m., according to drive chairman Jerry Jorgenson.

The long-expected review and strengthening of social regulations on the Idaho campus may be already affecting the social freedom of students.

Although the Student-Faculty Committee which took the project of reviewing social regulations has not yet come up with any official recommendations, it has indicated that codes and rules for governing social functions which result from this study will probably take a more strict look.

The object of the look at social rules seems to be an attempt to change what have been rather vague codes into well-defined rules which will give students and administrators something to refer to when situations of disagreement arise between groups over issues.

Such a set of rules is direly needed to put the social situation in a position where disagreements can simply be dissolved by checking the code of rules; but we hope that the line drawn between the desirable and the undesirable actions of students won't be one that will be limited by it.

Recently two groups have had their dance plans altered because student-faculty committees have felt that their plans for locations of their functions would not fall in the desirable category.

We hope deliberations of the Student-Faculty Committee will result in a strong code that gives the students fair and timely regulations.

Idaho To Again Host Summer Science Group

For the second consecutive year the National Science foundation has selected Idaho to conduct a Summer Institute for High School Teachers of Science and Mathematics, it was announced today by President D. R. Theophilus.

The 1958 institute, which will be held for eight weeks starting June 16, will again be under the direction of Dr. W. H. Cone, head of the department of physical sciences.

Fifty high school teachers attended last summer's institute, and a similar number will be served next summer. The $58,300 allotted to the University includes funds for grants to teachers attending the institute. The teachers may be awarded stipends up to $75 a week plus dependency and travel allowances.

Junior IFC Elects Anderson Prexy

Andy Anderson, ATO, succeeded Bob Carmody, Sigma Nu, to the presidency of the Junior Interfraternity Council this week.

Other officers named include Larry Hobson, Sigma Nu, vice president; Dave Kime, Phi, treasurer; and Gordon Chester, Phi Delta, secretary. Carmody will assume an advisor's position.

During the Junior IFC meeting, the Idaho group proposed a plan for building another parking lot on the University campus.

An area behind the Sigma Chi and Delta fraternities was suggested as the place to build the lot. The group said such a project would quell one of the University's biggest problems.

A Thanksgiving Dream

That tasty turkey is the center of attraction for almost any young man looking forward to another Thanksgiving. This imaginative youngster is Todd Wendle, whose father, Bruce, is a University of Idaho student. Todd, apparently, is an especially hungry lad at this point — he'd like two or three of the birds.

One-Day Holiday Set; Classes Again Friday

A one-day Thanksgiving vacation is scheduled for University of Idaho students Thursday when they will join the rest of the nation for the holiday observance.

Some Idahoans indicated they would take the opportunity for a short trip to their homes across the state, but most said they would remain in Moscow. Classes resume Friday morning.

ASUI General Manager Gale Mix said the Student Union Building would observe regular holiday hours from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Thursday.

No special events were planned for the day, but some Moscow families have invited students to spend the holiday with them. Most living groups have scheduled Thanksgiving dinners for students who remain.

Librarian Lee Zimmerman said Monday the University Library would remain closed all day Thursday, but would reopen at 8 a.m. Friday.

Bob Cowan, a sophomore, was cramming for an exam in his room above the ATO furnace room, when he detected an unusual amount of smoke creeping in his window. Investigating, Cowan discovered the furnace belching fire.

Cowan quickly turned in the alarm, and then beat his way back to the errant furnace.

Before the Moscow fire squad arrived on the scene, Cowan had quelled the blaze with the extinguisher.

Little damage occurred.

'Kiss Me Kate' Tryouts Set Dec. 7 In Ad Auditorium

Tryouts for soloists and dialogue parts for the Idaho musical "Kiss Me Kate," will be held in the University auditorium Dec. 7, according to Harry S. Morrison, an instructor in music and co-director of the comedy.

Hopfuls for the chorus will be selected at 9 a.m. Music for the show must be used during tryouts unless special arrangements are made with Morrison to sing another selection.

Nine soloists will be cast after Idaho singers try out at 10 a.m. Dialogue readers for the non-speaking roles must be on stage with the soloists at 11.

Jean Collette, University drama coach who is the other director, will be at gym during the casting also.

The joint music and drama department production had a budget of $1,000 approved by the Executive Board Nov. 5. To replace operation funds now being set up under the ASUI general fund, admission will be assessed all people attending the show.

Blood Drive Rescheduled April 22-24

Student officials Monday set April 22-24 as new dates for Idaho's 1958 Blood Drive following approval by University administrators.

The drive, originally scheduled for late October, was postponed because of an outbreak of influenza on the Idaho campus.

Co-chairmen Elaine Hieber and Jim Golden said they would reform their committee and begin planning immediately for the campaign.

Dates for the drive were approved by the Boise Regional Blood Center late last week and were accepted by Dr. J. M. Fleming, University physician, yesterday.

Miss Hieber said the quota for the three-day campaign would remain 850 pints, same as was set earlier in the year. She added that the drive would be held in conjunction with an appeal to Moscow residents to join students in donating their blood.

Campaign dates were set to give one week for "recuperation" from Spring vacation, Miss Hieber said.

Exec Board Decides NSA Fate Tonight

Idaho's membership in National Students Association (NSA) will probably be definitely decided tonight at the ASUI Exec Board meeting with several members presenting structural changes to improve the organization's use on campus, Dave Maxey, president said today.

Maxey also said the student governing body would take action on possible student participation in programs for collecting books for Asian students and condemning the apartheid theory of segregation in schools in South Africa.

Jim Kay, Board member and NSA coordinator on the Idaho campus, said he would present several suggestions to the Board which he believes would make NSA more effective on campus.

Kay said his suggestion would follow very closely a proposal presented two weeks ago by member John Chapman which would place the Idaho coordinator on the ASUI Exec Board as an ex-officio member.

"Based upon my experience as coordinator," Kay said, "I feel that it is very necessary for the chairman of the NSA committee to be a part of the Exec Board."

More Members Kay added that he would suggest that more members be placed on the committee which contains four students.

"There is so much that has to be done and so much the Board wants to do that it will require more time and people," he said.

The Board will also discuss appointing senior students to the University Commencement Committee.

Sophomore class officers include Anderson; Bob Bernard, vice president; Nan Alvord, secretary, and Nancy Campbell, treasurer.

This year's Holly Week events, including a style show and skit, will be climaxed by the semi-formal Holly Dance on December 14.

Women's living groups will choose a candidate for Holly Queen in the near future, with men's groups picking five finalists. Men will vote again during Holly Week to select a queen, to be crowned at the dance.

'Moon Hop' Takes Air Of Space

(ACP) — Under the surprising headline "Moon Men Invade LVC," the Lebanon Valley college La Vie Collegienne told the story of a unique dance on the Annville, Pa., campus.

The setting for the "Moon Hop" was "outer space." Decorations were based on the International Geophysical year theme. Construction of one of the decorations, a rocket ship, was begun last July.

New Pre-Registration System Approved

A new procedure featuring pre-registration and enrollment according to an alphabetical system will be put into action following Christmas for second semester registration, Registrar D. D. DuSault announced today.

DuSault pointed out that the entirely new setup will require students to fill out blanks for second semester registration during the preceding month.

Under the new system, which was recommended by the Faculty Committee on registration procedures and approved by the Academic Council, there will be no point in getting in line early, explained DuSault. He said that all students were to be admitted to the gymnasium for registration alphabetically.

Fall Registration Unchanged For the coming semester, students whose names begin with "A" will be admitted first. In following years, the registration will start with other letters of the alphabet. Fall registration will continue as in the past as freshmen will not be on hand for pre-registration procedures.

The system approved by the Academic Council calls for registration blanks to be provided in the offices of the academic deans at the discretion of the deans at any time during the month before registration. The registration blanks will not be given to the students before Christmas vacation for the second semester.

In those divisions in which the deans give out the registration blanks before registration days, each student will use the trial study list which has been approved by his adviser and will complete the registration blanks. However, final approval by the dean, with the dean's stamp or the dean's signature, will not be given until registration days.

Students will be admitted to the gymnasium alphabetically. The registrar will announce in the registration announcements that all students whose names start with certain letters present themselves to the gymnasium to complete registration at a designated time.

Name Rotation For example, for the second semester of the 1957-58 school year if those students whose names begin with "A" are given first place in the registration line the names will be rotated systematically from semester to semester so that students whose names start with letters later in the alphabet will be given first place in the registration line for a subsequent semester.

This arrangement will be worked out by the Registrar and approved by the Administrative Council according to the estimated number of students who will be enrolling in the University.

Any student who does not present himself to gymnasium at the time assigned on the alphabetical list will be required to register late and pay the late registration fee.

The present policy and procedure used in exempting students from paying the late registration fee is to be continued and will be applicable to this system.

In order for those students who are assigned first place in the registration line to complete registration at the scheduled time it will be necessary for the academic deans to approve the registration forms of these students prior to the first hour of the first day of registration.

Frosh Canvass For Fund To Be Evening Of Dec. 3

Final plans for an Idaho freshman class "every house canvass of Moscow" the evening of December 3 as part of the city's United Fund Drive are being formed by class officers and living group representatives this week, Bruce McCowan, president, announced today.

The house-to-house canvass is being conducted in an attempt to wrap-up the seven week drive. To date only $16,800 has been collected toward the $25,000 goal.

Between 200-400 students are expected to take part in the campaign.

Moscow United Fund chairman, John Murray said today, that the frosh would contact every home in Moscow.

"We feel a lot of time would be wasted by the Frosh if they had to look for a United Fund emblem or for the address of former contributors at each home before contacting the people," Murray said.

"Many people in the city who have donated previously have indicated that they would increase their donation to help Moscow reach its $25,000 goal when the house-to-house canvass is conducted," he added.

Districts McCowan said, after a meeting of Frosh living group representatives Monday, that the city was being divided into 33 districts, one for each campus living group.

He said the representatives will meet again Wednesday at 4 p.m. in Conference room E of the SUB to divide up the districts to living groups. Large living groups will be given more densely populated sections of the city and several houses will be put together to work an area if necessary.

"There will be no competition between houses," McCowan said. "We are planning an entire Frosh class project."

The drive will start in the SUB ballrooms at 6:30 p.m. December 3 with members of the Moscow United Fund Committee explaining the program and methods of collecting donations.

Mixer Ends Drive Students will then leave for a one hour canvass of the whole city, after which they will return to the SUB to turn in funds they have collected. The drive will be climaxed by a mixer and dance in the ballrooms with members of the United Fund committee serving coffee and donuts.

McCowan said all living group representatives were being asked to furnish cars for transportation for the drive.

Murray said that a member of the United Fund Committee or an adult resident in Moscow will travel with each group of students to make sure they get to the right area of the city. He also said they would furnish transportation if the students could not find enough cars.

McCowan said that Frosh women would be excused from study table for the mixer following the drive, but he did not know what the check-in time would be.

A committee consisting of Neale Ward, Delta Gamma; Pat Rosholt, Gamma Phi; and Arnold Candray, Delta Sig, was appointed to meet with Mrs. Marjorie Neeley, Dean of Women, this week to determine the coed's hours.

The freshman class participation in the Moscow drive to raise money for nine charitable agencies started at an ASUI Exec Board meeting last week when Dr. Bernard Boring, assistant professor of social science and member of the Moscow United Fund committee, asked the student group for ways to get a large number of people to conduct a house-to-house campaign.

The Board voted to adopt the project and turned it over to the Frosh Class with Board members John Chapman and Jim Kay appointed to help the class organize the drive.

New Official Solicits Student Cooperation

Wilson Rogers of the Plant Protection Department asked cooperation today of students in removing cars from campus areas marked "No All Night Parking."

"With snow and winter just around the corner, this is important for proper snow removal and maintenance," he pointed out.

Rogers, a member of the Moscow Fire Department, was appointed chief of Plant Protection last week by President Theophilus.

Idaho Debaters Winners At Columbia Valley Meet

Idaho's debate teams chalked up first- and second-place wins in the Columbia Valley Debate tournament held during the weekend on the Washington State College campus. It marks the first time Idaho has won top place in the tournament.

Fifteen schools from the Pacific Northwest were represented at the tournament, with 54 teams entering the competition. Idaho sent three two-man teams and one three-man team to the tournament.

The Idaho team of Richard Sorenson and Reed Bowen, both of Lindley, tied with Whitman College for first place. The teams' record was five wins and one loss.

The Sorenson-Bowen debate with the Whitman College team was recorded and will be broadcast over radio station KWSC, Pullman.

No Money? ... Students Provide It

Idaho's cross country team may still have adequate representation at the PCC cross country meet come this weekend thanks to the efforts of the "I" club and help from individual living groups.

A concentrated drive being conducted by officers of the "I" club through living group representatives, has moved the total collected by the drive to over two-thirds of the desired goal of $150 set as necessary expense money required to send one man to the California meet.

The need for some sort of a fund-raising drive arose when the Athletic Department found that it could allot only enough funds to send four men to the meet that presented a Vandal athletic squad one of the first excellent chances in a number of years to win a conference crown.

Criticism has been pointed at the Athletic Department with statements that the cross country team should certainly have appropriated more money for trips throughout the year and that especially more money should have been provided by the department for a fifth and possibly a sixth representative at the crucial Los Angeles meet.

It would be a wonderful situation if such funds were available through the Athletic Department, but is just isn't possible at Idaho at the present.

The dream of a strong and financially secure athletic department at the University may some day come true, but at the present it is far off. Idaho's athletics struggle along as they best can, depending a great deal on gate receipts that are often not realized through quirks of Palouse weather or some other troublesome factor.

As Athletic Director Robert Gibb points out the Department budget will allow funds to be allotted for a minimum team and that is what must be allowed if the department is to exist financially.

This left the problem of sending a "title safe" team to the meet up to the students and they are doing a fine job of accepting it.

Despite the fact that each student pays $13 a year to athletics at the present through registration fees, they are doing an outstanding job of "rising to the occasion" to support the drive for expenses for a fifth man.

We applaud this student effort. Actions such as this indicate that school spirit may not be in as sad a condition as it sometimes seems.

Open Season On Christmas; Lovers Note: Group Study Starts

Comes now the traditional week for expounding witticisms about Christmas. In previous years, (one) Campeyeing waited until Dec. 1 to tear into the early-season buying rush, but because of lack of anything better to discuss, we'll land on it early.

Prior to Thanksgiving and just following Veterans' Day, admen launch into their multi-million dollar "get out the consumer" drives.

Backing this up is a conglomeration of pop recordings from "Silent Night" to "I Saw Santa Claus Smoking a Chesterfield." This, apparently, gets one and all in the mood to spend money for the good of U. S. business.

And such is the spirit of Christmas.

A year ago this column presented a one-shot crusade against commercialism—not a new undertaking for columnists.

We might point out that this writer is not opposed to Christmas commercialism nor is he imbued with starry-eyed sentiment about it. The tinsel and trimmings just get piled a little deep sometimes.

It's assumed that it won't be long before somebody produces a musical masterpiece called "Santa's Sleigh is a Satellite . . . Mambo" to keep the kids up to date.

Service Station Buys Education For Brothers

Many students work their way through college with odd jobs, but at the University of Idaho, two brothers have gone into business to help pay for their educations. They are operating a gas station. Working long hours in addition to attending classes, Gerald and Leonard Wunderlich of Bovill, are partners in running a Moscow service station for a national oil company.

An employee fills the customers' tanks and checks the oil during the day while the brothers attend classes. The Wunderlichs take turns working at nights to give each other an opportunity to study. They run the station together on week-ends.

"We can get quite a bit of studying done late in the evening when business slows down," Leonard said. "Our books are always in the station to take advantage of spare time."

Both are "B-plus" students. Gerald, 23, is married, and is a freshman majoring in business education. He attended the University for a semester in 1952, and has now returned to work toward a degree. Leonard is 21 and a senior majoring in physical education.

If you don't think a woman is explosive—try dropping one.

"Bow-Wow" Climbed To Short-Lived Idaho Fame

By Jim Golden

Stanley Richard Wojtkiewicz had a short and uninspiring academic career at the University of Idaho, but he set a standard of plain, good natured radicalism that no student has ever approached since.

Wojtkiewicz, who was called "Bow-wow" by those who couldn't pronounce his name, came to the Idaho campus as a freshman in the fall of 1939.

He did not go unnoticed long, especially by the school's athletic department.

Bow-wow had come to Idaho from Brooklyn, N.Y., on a football scholarship. Coincidentally, his last name was the same as that of a then-famous grid star and Bow-wow had applied for a scholarship saying that the athlete Wojtkiewicz was his brother and listing his many talents.

When the undersized fresh arriving, coaches found out the truth: Bow-wow had no brother and did not know a football from a grapefruit.

Only the Beginning

But that was only the beginning. Deprived of an athletic career, Bow-wow went into politics.

Election of class officers was done by popular acclamation in 1939 and with the freshman class seated before him, Wojtkiewicz presented a resounding nominating address for his candidate, Bow-wow Wojtkiewicz.

The class was with him and Bow-wow was elected freshman class president by a huge majority. Only then did they learn who this unidentified speaker was.

Out of Obscurity

Bow-wow had plans to bring the class out of obscurity and he put them into motion almost immediately.

Late in October, Wojtkiewicz announced plans for a talent show sponsored by the freshman class which raked in a sizable amount for the treasury.

Not satisfied with this achievement, he decided to sponsor a December Toy Dance at which 500 toys were collected for Moscow's needy children.

Next idea that crossed Bow-wow's fertile brain was a frosh cheering squad and a Junior Vandal Booster button sale combined into one big effort.

To get this freshman cheering section idea going, Bow-wow engineered the election of five cheerleaders and personally chose 20 women for a "Girls' Pep Club."

From that idea came the germ of Bow-wow's first big and costly mistake.

On his own initiative, Wojtkiewicz ordered $6,000 worth of uniforms to outfit the cheering section from a Spokane supply house and promised to pay for them himself.

When the uniforms arrived, Bow-wow suddenly discovered he had no money, and the whole load had to be returned.

Booster Buttons

The Booster Button idea flopped too, but not before it prompted a long running battle between Bow-wow and the Executive Board.

When only 300 of 2,000 buttons he had ordered were sold, Wojtkiewicz sponsored a "Button Ball," which also failed to produce the desired jump in sales.

To get this venture off the rocks, Bow-wow appointed a freshman executive board to supervise the project, but they failed to be of much aid, and the idea was discarded at considerable loss to the class.

The Turning Point

Bow-wow had his advisors functioning nicely until after Christmas vacation. When students returned for classes, the freshman class treasurer was among the missing.

So the frosh executive board appointed a replacement. However, the ASUI Executive Board, which had never looked upon Bow-wow with much sympathy, cracked down. From that time until the beginning of the second semester a verbal free-for-all between the freshman officers and Exec Board enlivened the campus.

That was out short when second semester elections were held. Bow-wow had every intention of being a candidate and the freshmen had every intention of electing him.

Bow-wow had neglected to do any studying while he had been engaging in these activities and therefore failed most of his courses.

Little was heard from Bow-wow during most of that spring semester except for one short outburst directed at ASUI President Walt Olson for backing out on an alleged promise to supply the freshman yell leaders with sweaters.

Olson silenced him with a curt, "nonsense."

The fall of 1940 found Bow-wow back at Idaho with his academic standing somewhat improved and filled with a burning desire to get back into harness.

He ran for sophomore class president on the "Fair Play" party ticket and got only 37 votes.

Realizing that his popularity had slipped to a low ebb, Bow-wow decided to try a spectacular stunt.

He publicly stated he would leave school at the close of the semester if not elected in the spring elections.

"Killed"

But when Idaho students returned from Christmas vacation they learned Bow-wow had been killed in a traffic accident near Sacramento, Calif.

The University Administration received a telegram requesting that the sheriff and county coroner meet the train to take charge of the body.

The train arrived on schedule and onto the platform stepped an unscratched Bow-wow, waving cheerfully to the crowd that had gathered.

Trail's End

That ended Bow-wow's career here. A mob composed of students, a few faculty members, the sheriff and the coroner ran him out of town and he was not heard from again until about four years ago.

Last week ASUI General Manager Gale Mix received a letter from Wojtkiewicz, who has set up his own business in Beverly Hills, Calif. In the letter, Bow-wow promised to pay a visit to the campus.

But Bow-wow never arrived. Some long-time Idaho faculty members said he might have thought the mob was still waiting for him.

Oregon Bell Joins Big 'O' Horses Win Utah Race

by Jim Flanigan

Trouble is still bubbling and brewing over Oregon way.

Recently a large wooden 'O' was taken from Oregon's campus by members of its rival school, Oregon State, and now:

"A mystic voice calling itself 'Benny Beaver' brought news Monday night that Oregon's victory bell may have joined the University's 'O' somewhere in the northern wilderness."

The phone call was received at the Oregon Daily Emerald around 8:30. The speaker said he was from OSC.

"Cold Day In Hell"

"You'll get your 'O' back, but it'll be a cold day in hell until you get your bell," the voice over the phone said.

"The bell had been kept at the Sigma Phi Epsilon house, but Sig Ep president Jim Carter confirmed its absence shortly after the phone call."

Circle fights, tire steals, tugs-of-war, and coed dunkings, highlighted the Sophomore Day at UCLA last week.

"Bayou Brawl" is the name of this lower-division affair, and it (was) held six inches deep in the northwest corner of Trotter Field opposite the Men's Gym."

Old Clothes Recommended

Ralph Cuthbert, chairman of the brawl event, said, "Old clothes are recommended."

The judges for the event, Cuthbert explained, were selected on the basis of length and quantity of chest hair and their use of Remington razors to remove it.

Ferns at the College of Puget Sound had a field day recently when they moved from Anderson hall to adjacent, newly-built Upper-class hall.

"Skirts, dresses, sweaters and whatever else women take with them when they move, were transferred to the new three-story dormitory."

According to the Arizona Wildcat at Tucson:

"Parents must . . . grant permission (for Arizona coeds) to stay in a Tucson hotel or motel during the Thanksgiving vacation, by sending a letter to the Dean of Women's office."

Two strong-hearted Brigham Young tracksters last week initiated a new contest in the racing circles, but they lost to their opponents—they were pitted against a pair of horses.

From Idaho

Albert Ray, a 24-year-old distance runner, and Terry Jensen, 18, of Idaho Falls, were planning an attempt at outdistancing their animal opponents during a 158-mile run from Salt Lake City to Roosevelt.

The horses, both ridden by their owners, were a 7-year-old quarter-horse, and a 11-year-old mustang. Ray was forced to give up the race only 58 miles short of his goal, because of inflamed ankles and feet. Jensen dropped out earlier in the game between man and horse.

Student Wins Prize In Ag Engineering Essay Competition

A University of Idaho student has won first prize for a research paper which he submitted for competition in the Pacific Northwest section of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers.

Joseph E. Cass, off-campus, a junior in agricultural engineering, has been notified that he won a $30 prize in the competition between three universities of the Northwest.

Cass wrote on the subject, "A Bunker Type Silo Wall Support," and later presented the topic orally to the society at a meeting on the WSC campus.

The competition was between the University of British Columbia, Oregon State College and Washington State College.

Cass plans to enter his paper in the national competition scheduled later this year.

University Concert Draws 500 Sunday

The University Symphony Orchestra entertained an audience of approximately 500 people, last Sunday at 4 p.m., with its first concert of the season.

Under the direction of Associate Professor LeRoy Bauer, the orchestra opened the concert with the "Polka and Fugue" by J. Weinberger.

The second presentation, "Concerto for Violin, Cello and Orchestra," by Haydn, featured cellist David Whisner, a new member of the music faculty.

The last musical presentation of the program was Symphony No. 6 by Tschaiakowsky.

Dear Jason!

To Dave Maxey, ASUI President

I would like to take this opportunity to express my personal appreciation for the excellent conduct displayed by the members of the student body of the University of Idaho during and following the game with the State College of Washington in Pullman last weekend.

This office is especially impressed with the sportsmanship displayed by the students and players, and by their supporters. The maturity and character of the students of the two schools was amply demonstrated in the passing of the annual game without a recurrence of previously experienced behavior unbecoming representatives of these institutions.

The members of the University student body are to be congratulated for their splendid conduct and fine sportsmanship. I am sure the friendly rivalry between the two schools is conducive to high morale in the students and inspires a competitive spirit in the players, and I join with you in desiring to see this annual contest continue. I am also convinced that the scholarly manner in which you conducted yourselves during the recent game speaks more eloquently for your school spirit than would a repetition of past demonstrations of violence.

My compliments to the members of your team for a well-played game, and my respects to all the members of the student body who attended the game. Thanking you for cooperation, and with personal regards, I am

Sincerely,
C. A. HUMPHREYS,

Congratulations, Larry, and we hope that the organization can uphold the standards set by its founders last year. Our annual costume dance is coming up soon at the American Legion Hall.

ALPHA TAU OMEGA
Miss Tonia Peterson, Pi Beta Phi, was crowned Esquire Girl Saturday night. Pictures of the queen and attendants will appear in a later issue of the ARG. Five pretty girls took over the job of hashing Thursday night. They included last year's Esquire queen Trenna Atchley and four of this year's finalists, Kathy Thompson, Carolyn O'Connor, Tonia Peterson and Neale Ward.

ETHEL STEEL
Congratulations to Mary Garrison who is a Navy Color Girl finalist. Also to Betty Wiswall who was tapped for Women's "I" Club. Thanks to the Delta Chi's for an enjoyable exchange last week.

DELTA DELTA DELTA
The Tri-Deltas had a wonderful time at the dinner exchange with the TKEs Wednesday evening. Thanks a lot, boys. We would also like to thank the Fiji pledges for their serenade last week.

Thursday evening, all the girls from the Idaho chapter of Delta Delta Delta went to Pullman for the annual Founder's Day observation.

This weekend, some of the girls went to Harriet Hannah's wedding in Wallace. Harriet, who graduated last year, married Don Kamp. We were happy to have Sue Bush for a weekend guest.

GAULT HALL
"Snowball," our annual hall dance, will be discussed at the hall meeting Monday. Committees have been selected and are working on the affair set for December. We are planning on having either a picture or a mirror with climbing ivy, placed above the fireplace mantle in the lounge. Hall president Bert Miller, Jim Hentze, and Joe Simpson are investigating the cost of such a project.

Bob Hazelbaker, hall choir director, has been organizing the basses, baritones, and "flats" for the ensuing Christmas season. They plan to go caroling across campus during the December holiday season.

With sincere apologies, we note that Ralph Hull is not Ralph Hall as reported in last week's column.

IDAHO CLUB
The Idaho Club lounge and cafe were converted into a French cabaret last Saturday for the staging of our house dance. Grants Help War Orphans Complete Higher Education

Uncle Sam is helping seven University of Idaho students through college by providing educational grants to war orphans under Public Law 643. The law, which went into effect last year, makes it possible for children of men who died in service or from a service connected disability to attend colleges or technical schools.

The seven students, all residents of the state of Idaho, are Margaret L. Tyler, Paula Anne Harooutian, Elizabeth J. Taylor, Walter F. Reis, Donald J. Reis, Ronald D. Skeels, and Edith McReynolds.

Charles H. Bond, veteran counselor at the University, said the law was primarily to financially assist war orphans to attain higher education. There are no provisions in the law to provide benefits for war orphans attending grade or high schools.

The time allowed for completion of the student's training differs slightly from the regular veteran benefits. War orphans are allowed five years to finish and the veterans eight years. They are eligible for war orphan benefits on their 18th birthday or on completion of high school training. They must complete their training on or before their 23rd birthday, Bond said.

Husband's Last Word Doesn't Answer Quiz

(ACP) - Married students create unusual campus problems. The Centralite, Central Bible Institute, Springfield, Mo., tells about one couple on that campus who have a class together.

Recently both raised their hands to answer the same question. The confused instructor decided: "Ladies first." But the wife said, "Let my husband be first. He's the head of our house."

"I guess you have the last word," joked the instructor. "No," answered the husband. "I have the last word. It's 'Yes, dear.'"

Meanwhile at Colorado State university they're having a "Mrs. CSU" contest. Wives of students or married women who are students are eligible.

"For all those married women on campus who have dreamed of becoming queens," says the Rocky Mountain Collegian, "the opportunity of a lifetime has arrived."

Wesley Sitting Service Charity For UNICEF

Married students desiring baby sitters may call the Wesley Office at the Campus Christian Center. Student members will baby sit for a rate of 20 cents an hour.

Proceeds are tentatively donated to United Nation's International Children's Emergency Fund.

Requirements for using this service are that the arrangements are made 4 days in advance and that the children are in bed when the sitter arrives.

Flu Spread Halts Initiation Week For Frat

(ACP) - Flu officially interrupted fraternity initiation activities to Ohio State this fall. On a request from that school's health service that the fraternities "abandon for this year... any activity that would disturb and deny normal sleep and rest or interference with proper eating and personal hygiene of the individuals..." in order to fight influenza, the Greek groups halted any such actions.

Their fraternity council even made spot checks at each house every night throughout initiation week, said the Lantern, to see that no one was violating the rule.

Epidemic Illness Officially Identified As Asian Flu

The mysterious ailment that infected Idaho students earlier this fall Monday was officially identified as Asian influenza, the type which swept out of the Orient in 1956.

The diagnosis was announced during a week-end visit by an official of the Rocky Mountain laboratory, Hamilton, Mont. Mary L. Casey, nurse-officer of the U.S. Public Health Service, said laboratory isolated the highly contagious virus from throat washings taken from Idaho students.

She also credited University student cooperation with helping to establish the research center as a unit of the World Health Organization's flu study facility. The laboratory initiated its studies last spring during a two-week epidemic here.

Miss Casey said the response of students earlier this year was "really amazing." She added that over 1,500 Idahoans responded to a request for information on an undiagnosed ailment that for nearly a week spread across the campus.

The March epidemic, the researcher said, was traced to an A-prime influenza virus, one of several types of flu-causing organisms. At one time during the siege, so many students were reported ill that social activities were cancelled for several days.

Miss Carey said she would continue her studies at the campus for "a few more days" before returning to Hamilton.

The Montana hospital, following its assimilation into the WHO facility, which is a part of the United Nations, becomes one of nine such centers in the United States. It will continue to work specifically on influenza viruses collected from

Retired Botanist, Faculty Member Dead In Montana

Dr. Floyd W. Gail, 78, a member of the University botany department from 1913 until his retirement in 1953, died Friday at Great Falls.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. today at Short's Chapel, Moscow.

Dr. Gail came to the University as a botany instructor. Within four weeks he was advanced to assistant professor.

During 40 years here he added many plant specimens to the herbarium, first starting his interest in this hobby by hiking to Paradise Ridge near Moscow. Dr. Gail discovered one specimen along the Clearwater which he had the privilege of naming.

The annual commencement flower was one of Dr. Gail's many special projects on campus.

He is survived by a brother, Fred, of Cody, Wyo., and a sister, Mrs. Pearl Kisse, of Great Falls, with whom he lived for the last 2 years.

HOW TO STUDY

The makers of Marlboro Cigarettes have bought this space so I can bring a message of importance to American undergraduates each week. There is no more important message I can bring you than this: College can be beautiful. Don't louse it up with studying.

That was my mistake. At first, cowed by college, I studied so much that I turned into a dreary, blinking creature, subject to dry mouth and night sweats. This dismal condition prevailed until I learned the real meaning of college. And what is that? I'll tell you what: to prepare you to face the realities of the world. And what do you need to face the realities of the world? I'll tell you what: poise. And how do you get poise? I'll tell you how: not by sticking your nose in a book, you may be sure!

Relax! Live! Enjoy!... That's how you get poise. Of course you have to study, but be poised about it. Don't be like some drones who spend every single night buried in a book. They are not learning poise; what's more, they are playing hob with their posture.

The truly poised student knows better than to make the whole semester hideous with studying. He knows that the night before an exam is plenty of time to study.

Yes, I've heard people condemn cramming. But who are these people? They are the electric light and power interests, that's who! They want you to sit up late and study every night so you will use more electricity and enrich their bulging coffers.

Don't be taken in by their insidious propaganda! Cramming is clearly the only sensible way to study. But beware! Even cramming can be overdone. When you cram, be sure you are good and relaxed. Before you start, eat a hearty dinner. Then get a date and go out and eat another hearty dinner. Then go park some place and light up a Marlboro. Enjoy the peaceful pleasure it affords. Don't go home till you're properly relaxed.

Once at home, stay relaxed. Do not, however, fall asleep. This is too relaxed. To insure wakefulness, choose a chair that is not too comfortable. For example, take a chair with nails pointing up through the seat.

Place several packs of Marlboros within easy reach. Good, mild tobacco helps you relax, and that's what Marlboro is—good, mild tobacco. But Marlboro is more than just good, mild tobacco; it is also cigarette paper to keep the good, mild tobacco from spilling all over the place. And a filter. And a flip-top box. And a red tape to lift the cigarettes easily... It is, in short, a lot to like.

Now you've got the uncomfortable chair and the Marlboros. Now you need light. Use the lit end of your Marlboro. Do not enrich the light and power interests. Read your textbook in a slow, relaxed manner. Do not underline; it reduces the resale value of the book.

Always keep your books in prime resale condition. You never know when you'll need getaway money.

As you read you will no doubt come across many things you don't understand. But don't panic. Relax. Play some Fat's Domino. Remove a callus. Go out and catch some night crawlers.

Relax! Live! Enjoy! Remember—any number of people have bachelor's degrees, but precious few have poise!

It doesn't take any cramming to learn that the finest filter cigarette on the market today is Marlboro, whose makers take pleasure in bringing you this column regularly.

CAGERS OPEN WITH GRIZZLIES

Hodges Says Prospects Are 'Good' For 1957-58 Season

By Dwight Chapin

Vandal varsity basketball coach Harlan Hodges looked through rose-colored glasses yesterday as he viewed Idaho's chances in the 1957-58 season.

The Vandal hoopers will open the pre-conference season against Montana's Grizzlies Monday at 8 p.m. in Memorial gymnasium.

"The players have looked very good in practice," Hodges said, "and although a lot of things can happen between now and the end of the season we're expecting a fine ball club."

The cage mentor stared into space while talking to this reporter and then remarked thoughtfully:

"Our one big need now is fan support," he mused. "If we get it I know the boys will play better ball and anything can happen."

He was asked to give a rundown on the ball club as a whole and it was easy to sense enthusiasm in his words.

"I want it understood that no player has tied down a starting job yet," he said, "but several have been looking very good."

He listed guards Gary Simmons and Whaylon Coleman, forwards John Livevol and Harold Damiano as probable starters against Montana but hedged on the starting center.

He said it would likely be Gary McEwen, B. J. Schaffer, or Jim Branom but added that it was not definite yet who would open at the post.

Simmons—a senior from Twin Falls, is a tremendous scorer and his floor game has improved markedly over last year.

Coleman—Owensboro, Kentucky, junior, excelled as an all-around player last year, and is one of the top men on the squad defensively.

Livevol—Louisville, Kentucky, sophomore, ineligible because of scholastic difficulty last year, has shown scoring potential and fine rebounding so far this season.

Damiano—junior from Kellogg, played steady and oftentimes brilliant basketball last year and in the words of Hodges, is doing a "fine all-around job."

McEwen—Kimberly senior, boasts a great hook shot and has

Neutral Corner Vandal Trio Rumored Headed For East-West Shrine Game

By Dwight Chapin

An informed source reported yesterday that three Idaho football players will receive bids to play in the annual East-West game.

The source failed to name the three gridders but it's the guess in this corner that they will be Jerry Kramer, Wayne Walker, and Larry Norby.

All were highly instrumental in leading the Vandals to one of their best seasons on record, this year.

Kramer and Walker were both nearly sixty-minute men, continually in on the bulk of the tackles made by the Idaho line.

They paced the Vandal forward wall to the title of "best in Idaho history" and led the team to a "best in 20 years" billing.

Big Cog Norby, although injured much of the year, was a big cog in Idaho's ground attack and when free of hurts was one of the hardest backs in the PCC to stop.

The East-West game committee apparently rectified a mistake made by PCC coaches.

Coaches In Error
One of the biggest miscarriages of justice in Idaho football history hit yesterday when the PCC coaches announced their annual All-Coast team.

Among the 11 starters named, guards Jim Brackins of Oregon State and Harry Mondale of Oregon were conspicuous by their presence.

Brackins is a fine guard. But he has been sitting on the OSC bench much of the year with a leg injury.

Mondale also is an above-par operator. But surely you must give such as Jim Shanley, Jack Crabtree, and Jack Morris more credit for Oregon's success this year than Mondale.

Kramer Forgotten
Idaho's Jerry Kramer also is a standout at guard. But Oregon and Oregon State defeated Idaho and apparently a team's record is now the measure of success of individual players.

From this corner, we would match Kramer against any guard in the PCC (or the nation) and expect to come out the better. Kramer should prove this if he gets a shot in the East-West game.

Publicity Awry
Regional All-American selection boards have had a field day lately sending in lists of linemen and backs for national consideration.

Last week, we saw the names of John Ursek, Utah center, and Stan Renning, Montana guard, on the lists.

Not Impressive
Again, we are not trying to disclaim the talent of these men but

Silver-Gold Meet Slated Tonight

Varsity and frosh swimmers will meet tonight in the annual inter-squad Silver and Gold meet.

The meet, to which spectators are invited, will be held in the Memorial gym swimming pool starting at 7:30.

It will feature two teams composed of promising frosh and Varsity finners, and will give Idaho swim-enthusiasts their first chance to see the swimming team in action.

The 220-yard freestyle has Len Lawr and Dave Damon for the Silver team pitted against Al Ray and Sam McNeil of the Gold team.

In the 100-yard butterfly, Chet Hall and Al Gilbert swim for the Silver squad against Al Hansen and Bill Blair for the Gold.

Two separate races will be run in the 50-yard freestyle and 100-yard backstroke, with Larry Nelson and Dan Davis representing the Silver in the first 50 yard event, and Dan Belton and Dave Roscoe swimming for the Gold team.

In the second 50 yard freestyle race, the Silver team will be represented by Ken Goodwin and Gary Johnson. Carrying the banner for the Gold will be Roger Tyson and Tim Greene.

The first 100-yd. backstroke race pits Nelson and Lew Oring for the Silver against Belton and Glenn Martin for the Gold.

Arnold Moeller and Gary Wolvertson of the Silver team meet Gilbert and Con Ducey, Gold swimmers, in the second 100-yd. backstroke race.

Lawr and Davis team up for the Silver against Ray and Roscoe, Gold team, in the first 100-yd. freestyle event.

Montana Boasts Three Giant Starters
Three starters over 6' 4" have been bringing joy to the basketball-wise heart of Montana coach Frosty Cox.

Russ Sheriff, 6' 7" senior has been the Grizzlies' most consistent scorer the past two seasons and has impressed in early drills.

Forwards Darroll Dunham, 6' 5" junior and Dave Shelby, 6' 8", also a junior, have split the cords repeatedly in intrasquad games.

Transfer Marv Scutless, a 6' 6" junior has been pressing both Dunham and Shelby for a starting berth.

At the guards will be 5' 11" sophomore hotshot Dan Balko, who has spearheaded Grizzly scorers so far this year and veteran outside man Clancy Waters, 6' 1" senior.

The squad will open against the Vandals Monday here.

Coach Cox is looking for the best Montana season in years and apparently the Grizzly fans agree with him. More than 600 fans turned out for each practice session last week.

Harriers Club WSC 12-22; Await PCC

Ray Hatton, Frank Wyatt, and Dick Boyce swept the first three places as Idaho clubbed the WSC harriers, 12-22, at Pullman Saturday.

Max Yoder and Ron Zeeben of the Cougars were fourth and fifth, respectively, and Idaho's Pete Reed was sixth.

Ron Adams, who has consistently finished in the top three in Vandal meets this year strained a tendon in his heel and was unable to compete.

The Idaho harriers travel to Los Angeles Saturday morning for the PCC cross country meet. At press time, it was still undecided whether or not coach Joe Glander would take a four or five man squad.

The issue hinges on the fact of whether or not enough money can be raised to send an extra man. Under meet rules, four men must finish for a team in order for it to be considered for points.

Four Certain
Wyatt, Adams, Boyce, and Reed are certain to make the trip and either Hatton or Milt Riggers will go if the funds can be realized.

Glander said he thought Idaho had a good chance to win the PCC affair "or else we wouldn't be going" but thought several other teams would be potent.

He listed southern conference schools UCLA, USC, and Stanford as being about on a par in quality and "real tough."

He said that each school had two outstanding runners and more depth than Idaho.

Truex Wins
Max Truex of the Trojans yesterday won the NCAA cross country meet at Lansing, Michigan.

Glander said the course at Los Angeles was of varied terrain with numerous hills.

He explained that the course is laid out so that the runners will have to run up a steep hill twice before crossing the finish line of the four-mile run.

Every school in the Conference will enter a team in the annual championship encounter, he said.

Maple Court Action Out For Jorgenson
Jerry Jorgenson, captain of last year's Vandal basketball squad, will not see action on the maple court this year due to a knee injury.

Coach Harlan Hodges made the announcement this week.

The 6'5" senior had been turning out, but re-injured an old knee injury and decided against playing.

VANDAL RIDER MOVIE SET
A movie of the Vandal Riders in action will be shown at the SUB, conference room A, at 6:30 p.m. today, Harold Hunker, group advisor, reported this morning.

Instead of curves, men have angles.

"I" CLUB MEETS TODAY
"I" Club will meet today at 7:30 p.m. in conference room E of the SUB, Jerry Jorgenson, group president, reported today.

Good Prospects
He listed several prospects as looking particularly good including Lichau, Maren, Bruce McCowan, Ronnie Hunt, Ron Zwitter, and Larry Parberry.

Other team members include: Kent Angerbauer, Chuck Bertrand, Larry Bryant, LeRoy Farley, Mel Gates, Gary Hawes, Steve Hubsmith, Bill Maughan, Bob McGinty, Jerry Pelton, Dale Petersen, Lynn Thompson, Theron Ward, Bill Scholes, and Bob Storms.

Fifteen of the 22 aspirants are from Idaho, with only Lichau, Maren, Hunt, Zwitter, McGinty, Bertrand, and Farley from out of state.

Ever meet a fanatic?

He's got just one thing uppermost in his mind. If he's looking for a job he's thinking only of pay or only of security. Reasonable men, however, weigh these and many other factors when they're evaluating career possibilities. Such factors as opportunity, challenging work, training, professional associates—things fanatics never bother to consider.

The Bell Telephone Companies have a booklet for reasonable men. It's called "Challenge and Opportunity." It's not the sort of thing that'll make a fanatic's eyes light up, but it ought to interest a thoughtful young man—whatever his college background—who is weighing career possibilities. Get it from your Placement Officer or send the coupon.
