Idaho Gals Ask Smoker In Library

Associated Women Students this week asked Dean of Women Mrs. Marjorie Neely for administration aid in establishing smoking facilities for women in the new University Library.

In a letter addressed to Mrs. Neely an AWS spokesman explained that at present restrooms are the only places available for smoking inside the building.

The letter further pointed out that this practice was in direct violation of established University fire protection rules.

The AWS letter suggested that some enclosed portion of the building be set aside exclusively for a smoking area.

Mrs. Neely said she would meet with the University President after the letter had been considered by the Student Affairs Office.

Last spring a proposal to set aside some portion of the Library for smoking was approved by the ASUI Exec Board and forwarded to the University administration.

The proposal received no official action before the Library opened this fall.

Over 1,700 Students Register As Pre-Registration Gets Test

A total of 1,714 students, 14 more than scheduled for the first day, completed registration yesterday as the new early scheduling setup received its initial trial at Idaho. Assistant Registrar Lee O'Neill, who indicated that operations were moving smoothly within the gymnasium, announced that final registration is continuing today and all students not completing enrollment under their alphabetic designation will be required to pay late registration fees.

O'Neill noted that although the new pre-registration does not affect proceedings in Memorial Gymnasium too greatly, there was a definite absence of waiting lines in comparison with other semesters.

He pointed out that the effectiveness of the system could not be completely determined until the Deans of each College report on the success of the setup in the individual processing.

According to O'Neill procedure within the gym had not been changed by pre-registration.

A total of 1,700 more students were expected to pass through the gym today, boosting enrollment to nearly 3,500.

Late registration, which continues tomorrow in the Administrative Offices building, usually runs about 4 per cent according to Registrar D. D. DuSault. He explained that total enrollment should exceed the 3,500 mark.

Last fall's enrollment reached the new record high of 3,774. Usually the second semester enrollment is down about 6 per cent from the first semester, and DuSault said that no material change in the pattern is anticipated.

Time-Honored Routine

Among the first to breeze through the new registration system were Dorothy Jacobsen, Kappa, and Joe Kechum, Sigma Chi. Over 1700 students followed them on Monday before first-day registration was completed.

Idaho-ISC Competition Considered

Possibility of some definite action on the proposed renewal of athletic competition between the University of Idaho and Idaho State College was indicated this week by President D. R. Theophilus.

Theophilus said he would bring the issue to the Board of Regents at the meeting presently being held in Boise.

The only concrete action toward renewing competition between the two schools has come in the form of a letter from ISC student body president Bob King to ASUI president Dave Maxey. In that letter, King requested that teams from the two schools meet in football or basketball games, probably in Boise.

To date, Maxey said Monday, nothing has been done toward setting up such a rivalry and the Executive Board has made no statement about it. Maxey said the issue would be discussed during a meeting of student representatives at Pocatello Feb. 24.

The regents constitute the only group that could approve such an arrangement.

If the request is approved and Idaho and ISC begin meeting annually in pre-conference play, it will be for the first time.

Athletic records show that Idaho has competed with ISC in only one sport—basketball—and then for only two years. Idaho played ISC in 1951 and 1952 in a pair of two-game series and won all four contests.

Don Ingle, Willis Sweet, and Tim Daley, Beta, co-chairmen of the workshop said the Saturday session would be presentation and practice general concepts. Another one-half day session is planned for Feb. 22 which will deal more with specific problems and detailed techniques in conducting meetings.

Bierbaum, an advisor and organizer of the leadership training program on the WSC campus for the past few years, was on the Leadership conference program last year.

The organizing committee has set up a program to emphasize the importance of the individual's responsibility in the operation of a meeting.

The chairmen said the workshop delegates would be divided into small groups, each with a discussion leader, to practice problem solving by buzz groups, Phillip 66 methods, and brainstorming. These are all techniques used in recently developed leadership concepts and meeting organization methods.

Methods of evaluating meetings and sessions will also be part of the program. Students attending the session will determine topics to be discussed and evaluate their own activities in the meetings.

Psychology department head Dr. William H. Boyer said Friday a copy of his psychology I examination apparently had circulated among living groups on campus prior to the test.

A third incident involving the attempted bribery of a secretary in the chemistry department was also reported this week. The attempt failed, however.

Students were discovered searching through a trash can outside the Administration Building Tuesday evening. A campus watchman said the group ran when he approached them.

Edwards said he hopes that many Independents will attend because these activities will be as entertaining to them as to the Greeks.

Public events start with a street dance Wednesday, Feb. 12 at 7:30 p.m. It will be held between the Kappa and Phi houses.

A jam session is scheduled in the mittie, will direct workshops for the house officers to try to solve some of the problems of running successful houses.

Help Week chairmen will meet with some Moscow civic groups to discuss things that can be done during Help Week. The following organizations plan to take part: Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis, Lions, Rotary, Toastmasters Club, Elks, Moose and Eagles.

Saturday is also the first day of the Greek pledge drive to raise $1500 to purchase a seeing-eye dog for a blind person. The pledges plan to do chores in the Moscow and Lewiston areas to raise the money.

The men will offer their services for general clean-up work and the women will do household jobs including ironing.

At one time it could house from 360 to 375 men, but the second story was declared a fire hazard and it was closed. The maximum capacity, using only the first floor, is 62.

Possibly the hall will be reopened to house the regular student increase in population next fall.

Vacancies Cause Cafeteria At Idaho Club To Be Closed

The Idaho Club cafeteria was closed Saturday because of the increased number of vacancies in the overall dormitory population, Robert F. Greene, director of dormitories, announced today.

According to Greene, the situation could not have been avoided without drawing on the resources of the other cafeterias and upsetting the financial equilibrium of the dormitory program.

The actual act of closing the cafeteria was prolonged until the last moment in hopes that more students would enroll in the Idaho Club, he said.

"I had hoped I would never have to do this," Greene said, "because the Idaho Club has been a good living group with good organization. The closing of the cafeteria dampens the community spirit of its members."

Approximately 18 people, including hashers, were laid off.

Dance To Climax Foresters' Weekend

Idaho's annual Foresters' weekend will begin Thursday afternoon when two old rivals meet for a Tug-of-war. Climaxing the weekend will be the Foresters' Ball, Saturday.

The Aggies and the Foresters will face each other over a well aged pile of silage on Thursday at 4:15 p.m. in front of the Mines building. The event is held to decide which is the stronger of the two groups and which will clean up after the Foresters' Ball.

The dance will be held in the SUB ballroom Saturday evening. The setting for the dance will transform the Ballroom into a huge forest. The dipper will feature a replica of an old saloon complete with swinging doors and a rinky-tink piano played by Ken Fisher.

Displays will be built by the five different sections in the College of Forestry. The displays will feature everything from wildlife to a sawmill.

Music for the dance will be furnished by the Notables, a campus dance band headed by Cecil Heick.

The dress is woods clothes and a prize will be given to the best dressed couple. Tickets are $1.50 per couple and will be available at the door.

In the past three years the Aggies have successfully pulled the 35-man team of the Foresters through the manure pile. This year the manure has been replaced by a huge pile of silage.

EXEC BOARD MEETS

The ASUI Exec Board will meet tonight at 7 p.m. in the Exec Board room of the SUB, Dave Maxey, said today.

SDX Initiates 14 Journalists Friday Night

Four professional journalists and 10 Idaho students will be formally initiated into the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, journalism fraternity, Friday night in the SUB.

George Fowler, Beta, organization president, said four editors of Idaho newspapers have been accepted by the national organization as professional members. The Idaho students were tapped earlier this school year.

The evening's program is scheduled to start with initiation in the SUB at 6 p.m. to be followed by a Banquet in the Moscow Hotel, sponsored by W. T. Marineau, publisher of the Daily Idahoian in Moscow.

Twelve current members of Sigma Delta Chi, who are editors throughout the state, have been invited to attend the affair. Lew Papes, editor of the Gazette-Record in St. Maries, will lead a discussion on the opportunities in the field of journalism with all guests taking part.

The guests are editors and University journalism faculty members in Idaho and Eastern Washington.

The professional members to be initiated are Berwyn Burke, Hailey Times; Tom Campbell, KLEW-TV in Lewiston; Ralph Hunter, Meridian Times; and Harry Nelson, Weiser-American.

Equipment Increases Use Of SUB Alleys

Student usage of the SUB's bowling alleys during the semester break was double that of last year at the same time, according to Gale Mix, ASUI general manager.

The figures were compiled after the re-opening of the bowling alleys with the new $66,000 automatic pin setters having its first use.

Considering that more students left campus this year because of good weather, the statistics of participation would actually be higher if figured by the total students remaining on campus.

Women participants totaled 35 per cent. These figures were compiled during the period from Wednesday, Jan. 28, through Saturday, Feb. 1.

Jan. 27 and 28, the alleys were open for free bowling, but regular prices were charged during the semester break.

Coeds Chosen Beauty Contest Semi-Finalists

Two University of Idaho coeds have been selected as semi-finalists in a contest to name "Miss Greater Spokane" being promoted this month by the KXLY Broadcasting company.

Kay LaBarge, a senior and member of Kappa Alpha Theta, and Jan Novak, a junior living at Hays Hall, are competing with 14 other contestants for the title. Voting Feb. 9 will narrow the field down to five finalists.

The winner will be announced on Feb. 14 and will receive a year's employment at KXLY-Television, trips to Hollywood and New York, a complete wardrobe and use of a 1958 automobile for one year.

Idaho students are eligible to participate in the voting and can send the names of their choices for finalists to the station in Spokane.

Last RE Week Plans Made

Religious Emphasis Week committees were busy this week making final preparations for their annual meeting on the Idaho campus, Feb. 24-26.

Students will have an opportunity to listen to speakers representing all denominations and certain non-Christian faiths, according to Ed Kale, co-chairman of RE Week.

"Man Confronts the World" is the theme for the event which will include seminars and panel discussions led by the guest speakers.

A kick-off assembly will be held Monday, Feb. 24, with all speakers present. The opening address will be given by the main speaker, Bishop Stephen F. Bayne, archbishop of the Olympia Diocese of the Episcopal church.

The theme "Man Confronts the World" will be subdivided into three topics, one for each day.

Monday will be concerned with "This I Believe," a discussion of the various faiths of the world in the seminars. Tuesday's seminars will discuss the world affairs of today. Wednesday will conclude the week by establishing a relationship between the individual student and religion.

The American Committee on United Europe said this week that a full scholarship for an American college graduate to attend the 1958-59 session of the College of Europe at Bruges, Belgium, is now available.

James Costley, a 1953 graduate of the University of Idaho, received the scholarship several years ago.

The College of Europe is a graduate institute for the study of European affairs. The annual enrollment consists of about 40 students, mainly from a dozen Western countries.

Applicants for the scholarship must be able to speak French, be under 30, single and have graduated by next June from an accredited four-year college.

Deadline for applications is March 8.

Helldivers To Hold Tryouts Monday

Tryouts for Helldivers will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at Memorial Gym pool. Those trying out will be asked to exhibit basic strokes in swimming and elementary stunts.

The tryouts will be open for both men and women.

The next show sponsored by the Helldivers will be in the spring, according to John Price, off campus, president of the group.

Newhouse Reports On Trip To Washington GOP Meet

Neal Newhouse, president of the campus Young Republican's club, returned to Moscow Sunday after a week-long trip to Washington, D.C. where he attended a GOP workshop in politics.

Newhouse represented the state of Idaho at the training school and was the first Gem State Republican to participate in the five-day conference.

During his stay in the capital city, Newhouse met Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower, who represented the President at the workshop, Vice President Richard Nixon and had 30-minute personal conferences with all Cabinet officers with the exception of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

He was a guest of Sen. Henry Dworshak and Rep. Hamer Budge during the meeting.

"The daily sessions," said Newhouse, "were aimed mainly at explaining practical policies and reviewing Republican campaign strategy for the next two years."

The January conference was the second workshop to be held since the OP first instituted it in 1956. Newhouse said sessions will be held annually in the future.

He said he would review the information presented in Washington in reports to the Latah County Republican party and to the camdian organization later this month.

Departments Report Stolen Final Exams

Two University departments reported last week prowlers had stolen copies of final examinations from their offices.

Police were called to investigate the theft of a chemistry I exam from the science building sometime Tuesday morning. Officers said their inquiry produced no clues to the identity of the prowlers.

Psychology department head Dr. William H. Boyer said Friday a copy of his psychology I examination apparently had circulated among living groups on campus prior to the test.

A third incident involving the attempted bribery of a secretary in the chemistry department was also reported this week. The attempt failed, however.

Like the bubonic plague of old, final week can now be spoken of in the past tense. The two cannot be compared in terms of their relative devastation, but they're both pretty firmly embedded in human memory.

On the negative side, a rash of examination thefts put a number of professors in an especially nasty mood and landed several students in deep trouble.

There was the usual crowd of gregarious Idahoans studying in Bucket booths and valiantly pretending that they weren't listening to rock 'n roll music or that they weren't eavesdropping on the couple in the next booth.

Someone with a sardonic sense of humor got a dig at the whole educational system by posting this notice: "All materials for sandbox construction 2. Shovel and bucket for building sand castles and other projects." The note was unsigned.

Independent Vote Slated By Idaho Group At MUN

By DON INGLE

What would happen in the United Nations General Assembly if the 10 South American countries jumped rank and failed to "blindly" follow the U.S.?

This may well be demonstrated later this spring at the Model United Nations (MUN) convention at the University of Washington when an Idaho delegation representing Colombia, organizes the South American countries.

According to local MUN committee chairman, Ross Cotroneo, Gault, the Idaho group has already contacted schools representing the other countries attempting to organize a function block.

"The South American delegations usually don't present any new ideas and simply vote with the U.S. on everything," Cotroneo said. "We just don't like the idea of following blindly in everything."

"It is true that all these countries need economic and technological aid and assistance, but we think it is possible to remain independent in our voting and still stay on friendly terms economically."

West Is Largest

The MUN session in Seattle, Wash., will be just one such session in the United States. Every region has a separate convention with the West being the largest. Some 800 delegates from 80 colleges in the eight western states are expected to attend this year.

MUN was started seven years ago in the West at Stanford University, with mainly California colleges representing countries. Since that time many schools have joined, making enough for each school to represent a United Nations country.

Organization of the three-day MUN sessions is exactly the same as the regular meetings in the United Nations headquarters in New York City. Delegations serve on special administrative and project committees, present and try to pass resolutions, have caucus meetings, and participate in the general assembly.

Security Council

Colombia is a member of the all-important Security Council, as one of the six members that rotate membership every two years. The country also has members on the Economic and Finance council, Political and Security committee, Ad Hoc Political committee, and the Social, Cultural and Humanitarian committee.

Last year Idaho represented Yugoslavia in the convention held on the Stanford University campus. The year before they represented Ireland.

Students Needed

Cotroneo said Idaho plans to take a 15 student delegation to the meeting. The delegation will be sponsored by the ASUI for the first time.

The chairman emphasized that the delegation is open to all students interested in international affairs and the United Nations are welcome to take part in the organization. Neala McCowan, Delta Gamma, is corresponding secretary of the group and has information available for interested students.

Delegations representing each country do a full year's research learning and understanding the policy of the country they represent.

"It gives a person a real insight into the ideals of other countries when you study them as intensely as we do," Dick Day, off-campus, Idaho MUN co-chairman, said. Day, who will be the representative on the Security Council this year, said delegates take things seriously and really work to get their proposal through committees and the general assembly.

As representative of Yugoslavia, Idaho attended the Communist bloc caucus to decide voting positions on resolutions. The caucus was controlled by the USSR delegation.

Day and the USSR delegation on the Economic and Financial committee disagreed over a resolution and really caused "conflicts during the caucus and future committee meetings."

"We tried to smooth things over in the caucus after the disagreement," Day said, "but, the dispute caused conflicts in the following committee proceedings and caused a serious loss of support between the two countries."

Like Real UN

Day said every practice of the regular United Nations meetings is demonstrated in the MUN. Last year the University of Washington spent $1,500 for publicity and favors in their successful attempt to get the nomination for this year's session host. WSC was also trying to get the nomination.

Walkouts characterized the major committee meeting with Russia, England, Jordan, Egypt and Czechoslovakia all leaving sessions in protest.

The host school each year serves as the Secretariat which handles all administrative matters and arrangements. The chairman of the Secretariat serves as the Secretary-General, the presiding officer of the general assembly.

Many Workers

Last year Stanford University had 600 students working on various phases of the MUN meeting Secretariat. Because they were last year's host, they will represent the United States this year.

An International Court of Justice is set up to handle disputes between countries in international laws. The law school at the host school handles the court.

Each year the General Assembly is opened by a keynote speaker, a delegate in the United Nations or an international-known political figure. Last year Tsiang Ting-fu, Nationalist Chinese United delegation chief, spoke to the group emphasizing the importance for admission of Communist China and the United Nations continued impotency against the Soviet Union as general assembly.

determining factors in the fight for freedom in Southeast Asia.

The keynote speaker has not been announced for this year.

Disarmament Problem

Day said Idaho would be submitting resolutions on all major topics of discussion on the MUN program. He said disarmament would be the real big, hot question this next session. Other topics will be economic and technological aid, and control of Cyprus by the UN to end their struggle for independence.

Idaho submitted eight resolutions last year and was able to get only one through the committee.

"We tried to smooth things over during the caucus and future committee meetings," Day said, "but, the dispute caused conflicts in the following committee proceedings and caused a serious loss of support between the two countries."

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

I'M SO GLAD YOU'RE THRILLED ABOUT FRATERNITY LIFE. SON - WHEN WILL YOUR 'PLEDGE TRAINING' END?

Second Semester Rush Has 40 Men, 15 Women Signers

Rush for 40 Idaho men began last night with a meeting in the SUB Central Ballroom and a tour of the 14 participating houses.

During the meeting in the SUB, rush rules were outlined by Guy Wicks, director of student affairs; Lee Scott, SAE, rush chairman; Tom Edwards, Fiji; John Rosholt, Delt; and Bob Magnuson, Kappa Sig.

The prospective pledges were conducted on a 10-minute excursion of each fraternity after the meeting.

Scott pointed out that no rush parties were planned for the second semester rush program.

Continues

Pledging will continue until noon Thursday, he said. Following this period will be a "stop period" of two weeks in which Idaho fraternities may not pledge.

Snap pledging may begin after Feb. 22, but students planning on pledging had to take part in last night's meeting and tour.

Theta Chi and FarmHouse were the only Greek houses not participating in the mid-term rush.

Gals Rush Begins

Meanwhile, coffee hours and get-togethers are planned for four Idaho sororities beginning today.

Alpha Gamma Delta will hold a coffee hour at 7 p.m. today. Alpha Chi, 8:30 p.m. today; Pi Phi, 7 p.m., Wednesday; and Tri-Delt, 8:30 p.m., Wednesday.

After the preference cards are signed Wednesday by rushees at the SUB, invitations may be picked up at the office of Mrs. Marjorie Neely, Dean of Women, Thursday morning.

Sign Until Tonight

According to Mrs. Neely, the new students who have not yet signed up for rush may do so until the first rush party begins tonight.

Fifteen women rushees are taking part in the rush activities.

Rush was planned to be as informal as possible with no organized parties or entertainment because of the small number taking part, according to Jane Lange, Alpha Phi, Pan Hellenic president.

Part of the rush program this year were cove get-togethers that were held last week to acquaint the rushees with sorority members.

Damiano, Wilson Missing; Hodges Praises Morale

The loss of a starting forward and a reserve guard clouded an otherwise bright Idaho basketball picture as the Vandals prepared for a long, crucial PCC road trip, today.

Harold Damiano, who has started at forward for the past several games and senior reserve guard Bill Wilson both will see no more action this season.

Damiano broke his leg in an automobile accident near Moscow a few hours after Idaho's 81-76 victory over Oregon, Jan. 25.

Wilson reportedly dropped out of school because of scholastic difficulties.

Vandal coach Harlan Hodges, who will take a 13-man traveling squad on a four-day sojourn into Washington and Oregon this weekend, said the losses were sure to hurt but was optimistic.

"A team can't lose two ball players like Damiano and Wilson and not feel it," he said, "but the rest of the squad has been sharp and we should go into the games ready for anything," he said.

The cagers will face the Washington Huskies at Seattle Friday, Oregon at Eugene Saturday and Oregon State at Corvallis Monday.

Each of the three schools lost a star guard last week.

Tuft Dropped

The Huskies' John Tuft, a starter, was dropped from that team for "insubordination," the Ducks' Wimp Hastings suffered a shoulder separation, and the Beavers' Lee Harman, also a starter, sustained a shoulder separation.

"We think those teams will definitely be hurt by the losses of Tuft, Harman and Hastings, but any of them can still beat you," Hodges said.

Currently, Oregon State is fourth in the PCC with a 5-3 record, Washington sixth with 3-5, and

Missing From Lineup

Harold Damiano, left, and Bill Wilson, right, will see no more action for the Idaho hoopsers this season. Damiano fractured his leg in an automobile wreck shortly after the Oregon game and Wilson has dropped out of school because of scholastic difficulties.

Hodges Not Receiving Credit Due For Fine Idaho Showing

Sad is the lot of a basketball coach. Last season, when the Idaho Vandals struggled through a below par season, most of the blame was directed to Idaho coach Harlan Hodges.

This season, when the Vandals have proved themselves one of the best teams in the Pacific Coast Conference, the players are getting the bulk of the plaudits.

Any coach will tell you that if he doesn't have the "horses," no amount of coaching skill will be enough to tip the scales to a winning year. Doesn't it stand to reason, however, that these players must be molded into a smooth working unit?

We would be lying if we claimed that we didn't become dissatisfied with the play of the Vandals last year, and yes, we put a good share of the blame on Hodges' shoulders.

But in looking back over last year in its true perspective, mention must be made that star guard Gary Simmons missed much of the season due to a leg injury and the rest of the team was fighting inexperience and injuries.

No one ever seriously doubted the qualifications of Hodges as a basketball coach; for certainly he has proved beyond a doubt that he is a master in the game's fundamentals.

Unit Play

Doubts were raised, however, as to his ability to tie the team together and start them functioning as a unit.

It has been evident this year that Hodges has done a magnificent job in that department.

Figures will show that Simmons has consistently scored over 20 points this year but to anyone who has watched the Vandals, it should be apparent that their current 5-2 PCC record is essentially a team effort.

And back of that team is one of the finest men it has ever been our pleasure to know, the southern gentleman, Harlan Hodges.

Board Man

Damiano was the man who kept the key area unlocked for Idaho's rebounders to work in. It was Damiano; perhaps more than any other player, who struck fear into enemy minds who fought him for rebounds.

He added a steady 10 points-per-game to the attack and due to his miraculous timing was a marvel on tipins as well as rebounds.

B. J. Schaffer and Bob Walton have the ability to take up the slack. But the Vandals will miss the "Big Paisano."

Idaho Gridders Slate Missouri As 1958 Rival

Idaho gridders will be traveling east for the first time in many years next fall, when they meet the University of Missouri at Columbia, September 27.

In other schedule changes, the Idaho eleven will tangle with the University of Arizona, and San Jose State instead of College of Pacific and Arizona State.

This year's opening game will be with the University of Oregon September 20 at Eugene. The Vandals then play the University of Missouri, and return west to meet the University of Utah at Salt Lake City. Idaho's first home game will be Oregon State October 18, then hit the road again to meet the University of Arizona at Tucson.

Idaho students will get their third, (and last) chance to see the Vandals in action November 15, when Idaho winds up its season with Utah State University here in Moscow.

Chance Yet

Tackle Tony Anderson and guard Jerry Smythe may yet hook on with the NFL, as free agents, if that be their intention, or perhaps they may find employment elsewhere in the professional ranks, either in Canada or in the new pro league in the Southwest.

That league, organized last year, reportedly drew exceptionally large crowds in its initial season and could certainly use two such rugged linemen as Anderson and Smythe.

With intramural "A" basketball past the mid-way mark, Beta Theta Pi gained a more secure hold on the League I top-spot by virtue of a 39-30 victory over Delta Tau Delta Jan. 21. The win kept the Betas one game ahead of two teams holding down the second position, Alpha Tau Omega and Tau Kappa Epsilon.

Phi Delta Theta, paced by griddle Wayne Walker's 20 points pushed past Delta Sigma Phi 37-23 Jan. 21. The Phi Deltas have a 2 and 3 record.

Phi Gamma Delta and Sigma Nu stayed tied for first in League II with easy wins over Sigma Chi and Lambda Chi Alpha. The Fijis poured through 29 points while holding Sigma Chi to 9 for a January 21 win. The following night, Sigma Nu rang up 60 counters to overwhelm the Lambda Chis, 60-15.

In League III, Tom Hools picked up 23 points to lead Town Men Association 1 to a 39-23 victory over Gault Hall 1.

Chrisman Hall 1 dropped into a second place tie with Lindley Hall 1 after being edged 25-23 by Willis Sweet 1. Lindley stayed in the race with a 45-28 win over Upham Hall 1.

In other League III action, Wendell Wolf chalked up 19 points to push Campus Club 1 over Idaho Club 1, 34-25.

Gault Hall 2 stayed out in front of League IV with a 43-26 win over Campus Club 2, but Willis Sweet 2 continued to stay very much in the running by downing McConnell Hall 2, 40-15.

There will be a meeting of all intramural managers at 7 p.m. tomorrow night in Room 109 in the Memorial Gym to discuss table tennis, bowling, and "B" basketball, according to intramural director Clem Parberry.

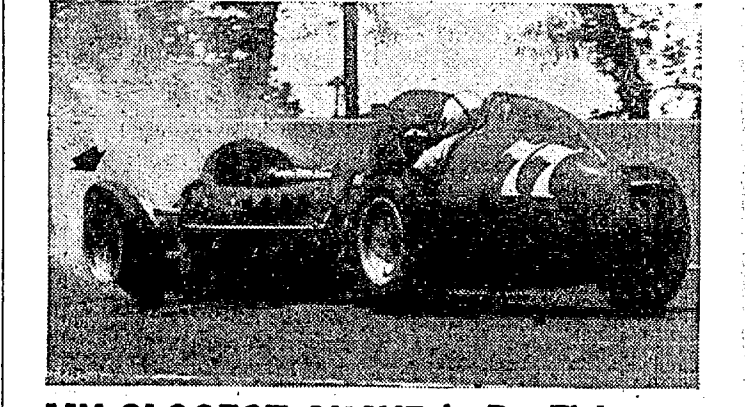

Parberry disclosed that table tennis will start immediately after "A" basketball, and bowling will begin next Tuesday.

MY CLOSEST SHAVE by Pat Flaherty 1956 Indianapolis Speedway Winner

"My closest shave was at Indianapolis in 1953," says Pat Flaherty, 1956 Indianapolis winner. "The track temperature that day hit 125° and the exhaust fumes hung right down on the speedway. I was going into the north turn at 130 mph when the fumes got me. I backed out, hit the outside concrete fence, and skidded along for 120 feet. The car was demolished, my helmet was torn off, my safety belt broke—but I didn't break a single bone!"

Swimmers Fall To Cougars

Idaho's varsity swimmers, who were defeated 43-42 by the Washington State Cougars last week, will meet the Utah Redskin finmen at Boise Saturday.

Coach Eric Kirkland said yesterday that although the Idaho watermen solidly downed the Redskins here two years ago, this year's Utah squad appeared much stronger.

Kirkland said that the Salt Lake City finmen had several strong swimmers who could give Idaho trouble.

Washington State dealt the Vandals a second one point loss of the season. The Cougars also were involved in the other one point decision.

Idaho won three races, including both relays, and the diving competition against the Cougars.

One-Two

Jim Phillips and Ron Edwards finished one-two for the Vandals in the diving event. Leonard Lawr provided one of the biggest surprises, topping one of the Cougars' leading finmen, Stan Chase, in the 100-yard freestyle.

The 400-yard medley relay team of Larry Nelsen, Chet Hall, John Price, and Lawr, took that event for the Vandals in 4:29.8.

Vandals Lawr, Phillips, Dan Davis, and Ken Goodwin picked off an Idaho first in the 400-yard freestyle relay in 3:56.7.

The next Idaho swimming meet will be Friday, Feb. 14, when the watermen battle OSC at the Memorial Gymnasium pool at 3:30.

Lewis-Clark Warriors Tip Frosh With Late Spurt

Idaho's frosh hoopsters raced to a 36-35 half-time lead against Lewis-Clark Normal at Lewiston last Saturday night, but faltered in the second half to go down to a 79-58 defeat at the hands of the Warriors.

The junior Vandals lost Bill Scholes, Ron Zwitter, and Ken Maren via fouls in the foul-filled game, and Lewis-Clark had two starters commit five personals to complete the parade off the court.

The Warriors banged through 33 of 39 free throws, while the yearlings could hit on only 18 of 31 attempts from the gift line.

Joe King sealed the Babes doom with a 28 point effort, which included 12 of 13 free throws.

Scholes, Zwitter, and Bruce McCowan had nine to pace the Babes.

The frosh now have a two-week lay-off before meeting the Gonzaga frosh in Spokane Feb. 14. The following night the yearlings host the Eastern Washington J.V.'s in Moscow.

Twin Falls Sets Gary Simmons Day

The Twin Falls, Idaho, Vandal Boosters and the city's Chamber of Commerce announced yesterday that a "Gary Simmons Day," to honor the Idaho basketball star, will be held soon.

Simmons, who played high school basketball at Twin Falls, will be saluted for his scholastic as well as athletic achievements. He is the leading scorer in the Pacific Coast Conference.
