Armour Slated Thursday Satirist-Writer Is Back Again

Humorists have the job of making molehills out of mountains, according to Richard Armour, who will speak in Memorial Gym, 11 a.m. Thursday.

Class schedule for Thursday morning will be: 8-8:35, 1st period; 8:45-9:20 2nd period; 9:30-10:05, 3rd period; 10:15-10:50, 4th period. Armour's speech, 11-noon.

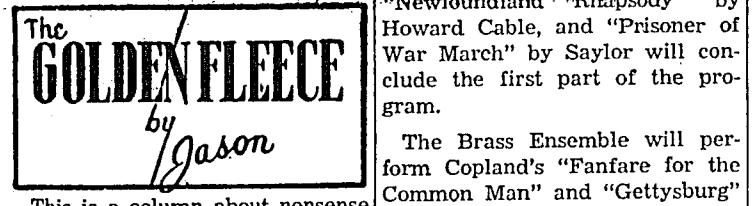

On the more serious side, he published a scholarly essay on how he wrote humor. The article appeared in "Writer" magazine in 1956. He is basically a scholar, holding a Ph. D. from Harvard and has studied in Europe.

Scholarly Essay On the more serious side, he published a scholarly essay on how he wrote humor. The article appeared in "Writer" magazine in 1956.

When he isn't teaching, lecturing, or writing short poems and prose articles, he writes books.

His favorite topic for books is history. In "It All Started With Columbus," a history of America, he wrote, "The homes of the Puritans were simple and austere, but the furniture was antique and therefore frightfully expensive."

"Columbus" was his first attempt at history. The next, "It All Started With Europa," included a chapter on chivalry. He described the knightly ceremony in Armourous detail and said that

This is a column about nonsense things—about hula hoops, the Kingston Trio, "Poor Cougars" yells and Christmas trees. It's about the little things that second-string student philosophers and politicians miss.

Venture forth, then, to some silly, simple, satisfying trivia. HULA HOOPS: Thought a little red-faced, most of us have to admit we've tried to run one of those things at one time or another.

THE KINGSTON TRIO: Now that crew has hit the jackpot with a new album that is great, even a bit nasty in spots. It's also better music than the first. Most Kingston fans who have heard it seem to like the unmusical ditty called "The Merry Minuet."

"POOR COUGARS" YELLS: Our good friend Rafe Gibbs has gone out on a limb and criticized the dear ol' scream of delight that we get to use all too seldom in the sports wars—whether on WSC or any other schools.

"CHRISTMAS TREES: You may not have noticed or cared, but Moscow's "Christmas City" tree, without any decorations, remained forlornly in the middle of Main Street until Saturday.

GRADES: If you believe the hogwash that "grades and the devil walk together," you shouldn't be studying for final exams. You should be on a minority committee trying to convince OUR less "progressive" profs to change those borderline D's and C's to more acceptable marks.

Come to think of it, middle-of-the-road conforming isn't at all boring, is it?

Maze Of Wire To Carry First Voices On Thursday

Fifty miles of shiny copper wire winding through a maze of underground campus service tunnels will start carrying the voices of students and faculty members over its lines at 8 a.m. Thursday.

The event will mark the end of several months' work by employees of the General Telephone Company of the Northwest.

At the University of Idaho library, where the switchboard for the operation is located, calls will begin to pour in and out through the exchange.

W. Wilson Rogers, director of the operation, said opening of the system had to be scheduled one day ahead because there was a delay in phone installations at the College of Law and several other offices.

New Directories All General Telephone Co. subscribers under the Moscow exchange have been mailed new University directories, which may be added to the regular telephone directory.

When asked what he thought of winning the title, Tefft replied: "This is really ridiculous. I had never tried a hula hoop until the day before the contest."

During intermission, the Icecaps entertained, singing several selections. Gary Dossett's band played for the event.

Idaho Colony Makes Ready For Program

William F. Franz, national president of Theta Chi fraternity, will be the guest speaker at installation ceremonies for the Idaho colony Jan. 31.

Installation will be held at 4 p.m. in conference rooms A and B of the Student Union Building. A banquet will follow at the New Idaho Hotel.

Paul Baker, one of the colony's founding members, said George Chapman, executive secretary of the fraternity, would accompany Franz to Moscow.

Nineteen men from the local colony petitioned for a charter in December and were voted on by chapters throughout the US. The final vote was confirmed by Chapman over the Christmas holidays.

Damage was estimated at $200 to the Hall auto which is covered by Cook's insurance. Last year a car owned by Graham Knox, a University graduate, was jolted over the bank at the side of the Beta House by a driver maneuvering out of a parking place behind the Knox auto.

Six sororities will take part in second semester rush activities Feb. 2 and 3, it was announced yesterday by Sylvia Stoddard, Panhellenic president.

Houses participating are Tri Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Kappa Alpha Theta and Alpha Gamma Delta.

Coeds wishing to go through rush must sign up in Dean Marjorie M. Neeley's office before Jan. 23.

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Neeley or Panhellenic members.

Interviews will be held at 4 p.m. Wednesday to fill two positions on the SUB program council. The interviews will be held in the Executive Board Room.

The job on the film committee consists of selecting dates and films for the Borah Theater, along with the publicity for the films.

Former Dean Carter Injured In Auto Wreck

Former Dean of Women Mrs. Louise Carter was reported recovering today from injuries she received Saturday in a one-car accident five miles west of Pullman.

Washington State Police said Mrs. Carter was driving a car that rolled into a borrow pit after it hit a slick spot on U.S. 95. A woman passenger was uninjured. The women were on a trip to Spokane at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Carter received extensive bruises and rib injuries, but was listed in "good" condition at Gritman Hospital late Monday. Hospital attendants said she probably would be discharged tomorrow.

Mrs. Carter served as Dean of Women at the University from 1944 to 1957, when she retired. She has been living in Moscow since that time.

Budget Speech Set Today; U. Funds Question Mark

BOISE—Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie will deliver his annual budget message this morning at 11 and indications are that it will exceed $70 million, part of which may include increased funds for the University.

Smylie has hinted that the budget will top $70 million, which would exceed by about $3 million the figure approved by a legislative budget committee.

The University will move into the budgetary spotlight Monday. University President D. R. Theophilus, Comptroller Kenneth A. Dick, Budget Officer Joseph Watts, and Dean of Agriculture James E. Kraus will travel to Boise to appear before a joint legislative appropriation committee.

At 10:30 a.m., Theophilus will present the University budget request along with the budget proposal for Lewis-Clark Normal School.

Gov. Smylie said nothing about increased funds for the University except that his budget might include "slight increases for institutes of higher education in the state."

In legislative action at Boise yesterday, a special committee was named to investigate gubernatorial appointments, subject to Senate approval.

Smylie has forwarded 11 appointments to the Senate for confirmation. A long-controversial issue has lived early days of the legislative session and promises to be a bone of contention for some time to come.

Sales Tax Issue A retail sales tax, distinct by its absence from the platforms of Idaho's two political parties, gave evidence over the weekend that it would become a hot issue.

Saturday a leader from each party went on record as favoring a sales tax for the state. Senate minority leader A. W.

Six Candidates In Contest Now For Top Board

At least six contenders—enough to make a good field for a 100-yard dash—have entered the less strenuous, but more important race for Executive Board.

But there may be more applying for the now-vacant seat that formerly was held by Greek Nan Hughes, who resigned last Tuesday. ASUI President Dick Kerbs said late Monday that he had heard of "several others" who may be nominated when the Board meets tonight.

Kerbs stayed mum on the identities of the persons who have thrown their hats in the ring already. He said only that all are men and that five of them are seniors. He added that three of the six had not contacted him directly, but that he was "reasonably sure" that their names would be submitted.

The ASUI chief executive said, too, that the scholastic standings of the three he had talked with appeared to meet the two-point requirement for the previous semester that is a qualification for all officeholders. More candidates, he said, might express a willingness to serve sometime today.

Election—Probably And, Kerbs said, the Board is "pretty sure" to make their choice tonight. He said there apparently was no obstacle in the way of taking the vote.

Under the provisions of the constitution, any eligible person's name may be submitted by any member of the Board. Several more unexpected candidates may be brought forth for consideration. Mrs. Hughes quit her job last week, saying that she had moved to Lewiston and would not be able to attend meetings although she will remain in school.

Another Appointment Curiously enough, the Board will have to replace two of its nine members—one of them temporarily. Marg Erstad, who was elected as a Greek party member, will leave after semester examinations for a nine-week teaching assignment in Boise. Under usual Board procedure, other members from her party will propose a non-voting replacement, which the Board generally accepts without question. Arnold Nikula, Lindley, has been acting as a replacement for Independent Jim Rathbun since November.

Other items on tonight's agenda include reports from three student-faculty committees, a discussion of a proposed pamphlet for high school senior and appointment of two investigating committees.

Frat Rushing Deadline Set

All male students interested in participating in second semester rush must register at the Office of Student Affairs prior to Jan. 30, Scotty Vaught, Delt, IFC rush chairman, announced today.

After registration rushes will be required to participate in the house tour Sunday, Feb. 1 which will start at 3 p.m. in the SUB lounge, he added.

Snap pledging will be completed before Feb. 5. Any student not participating in rush activities will not be allowed to pledge for two weeks after snap pledging.

3 AROTC Cadets Get Commissions

Three Army ROTC cadets have been offered commissions as artillery officers in the regular Army, it was learned Monday by AROTC officials here.

They are Ted Schumaker, Gault Hall; Keith Bingham, off-campus; and Charles Mitchell, Upham Hall. The cadets have until graduation to accept or turn down the commissions.

Sunday Showings Net Big Gain; 315 Attend The ASUI Sunday movie showings were a big success with attendance double that of previous week-day showings, Carolyn Staley, SUB program director, said yesterday.

The Important Test

The several authoritative studies of American schools, always compared with Russian or other Old World schools, prompted by the advent of Sputnik, almost uniformly urge that America improve and extend its techniques of progressive testing and guidance rather than separate irrevocably the presumably gifted from the ungifted at around age eleven.

What does this testing mean and how reliable is it? Testing how much information a youngster has learned and retains, how much skill he has acquired and can apply—that testing is pretty well understood. But testing how well a youngster is likely to learn and comprehend new knowledge, master new skills—and what kind of knowledge, what kind of skills—that is something else again. And it is such predictive testing that is most important to young people starting out.

More Reliable
This second kind of testing is becoming more reliable year by year. It is at least revealing. Combined with capable guidance, it can deter potentially good engineers from trying to become musicians, promising lawyers from tackling nuclear physics, "born" sales from essaying to become research scholars.

It is wise to look upon such testing as helpful. It is not wise to look upon it as conclusive of success or failure. For some of these predictive tests rest upon the theory that there is a fixed inborn capacity to learn as distinct from what is learned.

But educators are less sure than they once were that they can test such inborn capacities wholly apart—less sure that any such capacities cannot be enlarged by education. And "success" in so many areas depends so very largely on that complex of qualities we lump into "character" that in this respect, at least, the whole may be greater than the sum of its parts.

Proverb Of Wisdom

The most recent University staff letter begins with a little proverb "Good alumni are produced in the classroom—not after they leave school" enclosed in a bold black border of stars.

To us, the statement, even if a little ambiguous, makes sense.

We're not saying that the primary objective while at a University or after leaving it is to fight and die for the old maize and blue.

But we do believe that since an interested, tightly-knit alumni can make a school and a lethargic one break it then it is vital that students have some measure of cohesion and esprit d'corps while at college.

It's sometimes nice to be an individualist or a non-conformist but most men are pregarious and seek the companionship of others. If this can be channeled into a constructive school spirit it can't help but enrich all concerned.

Like it or not, modern-day universities, at least the ones in our area, are going to be faced with financial problems. A well-informed, working alumni can be an effective pressure group in swinging the economic balance toward the university.

But to achieve anything, an alumni group must want to. For that reason, good alumni should be produced in the classroom, for after they have left school only the memories linger.

If these memories have been pleasant, the university will profit immeasurably. If not, the university may dwindle into decay.—D.C.

Week Of Terror

The week of terror with nights of no-doze and coffee is almost upon us. For some, it will be the turning point—I will make Phi Beta Kappa or I will have enough credits to graduate.

As our darkest hour approaches we believe a small bit of poetry published in the Goucher Weekly, Goucher College, Towson, Md., seems apropos. They offer the following intellectual cheer:

"Give me a B, give me an A,

"Go, go, go for PBK!

"Boom-a-lac-a, boom-a-lac-a, sis boom ba,

"Memorize that formula!

"Hooper, hooper, whoop, whoop, whoop,

"We're an intellectual group."

May we take this small bit of space, fellow students, to give you our best wishes for final week. We hope to see you around next semester. Good luck.—J.C.F.

Dear Jason:

Your new columnist, Denton Vander Poel, seems to be in the unenviable position of having to try too hard to keep a chip on his shoulder.

While it does make interesting reading, it also makes it necessary for him to maintain a narrow viewpoint. This letter is an attempt to look at student faculty relationships from a different viewpoint than that expressed by Mr. Vander Poel in his column January 10.

The point most of us, including Mr. Vander Poel, miss is that it is the student's responsibility to get an education, not the instructor's responsibility to hand it to the student.

The teacher can present the facts and test to determine how well the facts have been learned. Only the student can apply those facts to life and to himself.

This is the real test of an education. It goes on for the rest of our lives. We can only expect to get the tools here at the University. The rest is up to us.

If a student is not stimulated by a subject, it is probably because he is lazy.

The facts are there to be discovered, but it is easy to blame the instructor for our own deficiencies in studying. While many of us expect our education to be handed to us on a platter, we can hardly expect things to be that way for the rest of our lives.

If we college students would face responsibility now instead of four years from now, we would not find lectures so boring, nor would we mind being tested on the books we paid for and were supposed to read.

'I' Spy

By Margaret Remsberg

The sudden surge of caustic comments about the selection of a replacement for the seat on the Executive Board recently vacated by Nan Hughes seems a bit disheartening to this columnist.

Perhaps we are not being realistic, but we would like to suppose that somewhere on this campus there breathes a soul that might be interested in serving on the Board for reasons other than "using his tenure as a springboard for bigger and better things."

Perhaps there is no such thing as a spirit of altruism, but sometimes one wonders whether the "I" motive is overplayed in connection with campus politics.

It is, of course, only natural for a person to be motivated by ego-centric desires, but no one cares to have his actions classified as cold, calculating, and completely self centered.

For this reason, we believe that the emphasis on party politics and the speculation as to the ulterior motives of the prospective candidates for the vacancy on the Board may well have the effect of dissuading competent persons from seeking this office. In some cases the laurels are not worth the race.

"Little Giant Fuse"

The bright shiny apple vending machine in the Bucket has veered from its customary business of dispensing beautiful apples to its hungry coed tripped over to this modern convenience, dropped a dime in the slot, and reached into the bin for the expected bit of nourishment.

Not finding an apple at the first try, she searched the compartment with expectant fingers, and finally touched a small round object.

She pulled it out, read the label—"Little Giant Fuse"—and sadly wandered back to her chair, wondering where she could find a person willing to trade an apple for a burned out fuse.

State of the World
The state of the world was the subject of discussion in one of Dr. Erwin Graue's classes recently.

The problem: "The increasing trailorization of civilization." The result: "Living in a tin can while you're eating out of them."

Soot for Supper
Just as the Theta Chis sat down for dinner last week, Bill Gaboury went upstairs to inspect an oil stove that had been acting in a rather peculiar fashion.

When he leaned over to look at it, the stove blew up in his face, and he raced downstairs to show everyone his soot blackened face. He received no sympathy. The stove on the first floor was suffering from the same ailment. A short

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester 1958-59

Regular class rooms will be used for the examinations unless instructors make special arrangements through the Registrar's Office. Examinations in courses comprised of lecture and laboratory periods may in most instances be scheduled according to the sequence of either. Announcement of time and room should be made by the instructor for all examinations. Rooms should be reserved in the Registrar's Office for "arranged" examinations in order to avoid conflicts. Instructors will announce to their classes rooms to be used for all sectioned classes having common final examinations.

of some priceless statuary which stood in a pot of ivy.

His latest book, "Nights with Armour," is a collection of his poems which critics compare with poems by Ogden Nash.

Armour will relate how the world looks through the eyes of a satirist. With Sputniks and moon rockets and all else that has gone on in the past two years, Armours attempts at making molehills out of mountains should give him ample material for a 50-minute talk.

For those who wish to hear more, a coffee hour with Armour has been scheduled by the SUB Special Events Committee. It will be held in the North Ballroom of the SUB at 2 p.m., Thursday. Students and faculty are invited to attend the informal affair.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

He sells ideas—to sell communications

San Francisco baseball fans don't know it, but they're indebted to John R. O'Neil of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

John made it possible for them to get up-to-the-minute reports on Giants baseball games last season. He sold radio station KSFO on the idea of recording inning-by-inning announcements using automatic answering equipment. Fans would simply dial an advertised phone number. The service began last August, and was a big hit.

That's an example of the kind of creative selling John does. "We really sell an idea and then provide the equipment to do the job," is the way John puts it. John joined Pacific Telephone after graduating from the University of California with an A.B. degree in 1956. He wanted to work into management through Sales and was impressed with the training program and advancement opportunities offered by the Telephone Company.

"As a Telephone Company salesman, I deal with owners and managers of top-level businesses," John says. "Every contact is a challenge to solve a communication problem or to sell an idea for better service. What's more, I'm getting valuable experience that will help me move ahead in the telephone business."

John O'Neil is one of many young men who are finding interesting careers in the Bell Telephone Companies. Find out about the opportunities for you. Talk with the Bell interviewer when he visits your campus. And read the Bell Telephone booklet on file in your Placement Office.

Ringe, Magnuson Attend IFC Meet

Idaho fraternities were represented at the National Inter-fraternity Councils conference at Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 4-6, by Fred Ringe, Sigma Nu and Bob Magnuson, Kappa Sig.

The conference consisted of panel discussions led by graduate members of national fraternities. Delegates discussed many of the problems fraternities have now and will face in the future. Purpose of the conference is to improve fraternities both within themselves and with the public, Ringe said.

Besides the fraternity delegates, the conference was attended by several university executives who spoke to the delegates about fraternities as schools see them.

Delta Sigma Phi, Delta Chi, Willis Sweet Elect Officers

By SHARON LANCE Arg Women's Editor

Wielding the president's gavel of their living groups will be the newly elected presidents of the Delta Sigs and Willis Sweet Hall. New chapter officers were also elected by the Delta Chis this week.

DELTA SIGS will begin the semester under the leadership of newly elected house officers. Taking over the chapter positions are Don Witt, president; Ross Peterson, vice president; Carl Bittenbender, secretary; and Roger Gregory, treasurer. The quiet before the storm of semester finals was interrupted Wednesday night when the Delta Sigs and Pi Phi held an all house exchange. Rush guests were honored at a coffee hour Thursday night. Entertainment was provided by the "Skimmers," newly organized band. A belated Christmas gift of fifty dining room chairs arrived at the house Monday.

ALPHA GAMs completed interior furnishing for their two-story house when they received a round coffee table for the living room. The January weather is leaving its effect on the girls whose blankets were taken from the sleeping porch and haven't been returned yet.

SIGMA CHI pledges firmly believe that honor should go where honor is due. The fellows are making arrangements for a gold hula hoop which will be presented their "champion," Dick Tefft. Tefft won the hula hooping contest at the AWS Dance, Friday. Sunday dinner guests were Sigma Chi Sweetheart, Diana Rudolph, Thea; Jim Lyons, Lewiston and Gale Kleinkopf, Gault.

ALPHA CHIs have politics in mind since house elections are scheduled for this week. Wednesday night, pledges joined with the Kappa Sigs for a dancing exchange.

DELTA CHIs newly elected officers are Ralph Hatch, vice president; Austin Bergin, secretary, and Buzz Hallenbeck, sergeant-at-arms. Dancing, singing and card playing highlighted an all house exchange with the Thetas last Thursday. Nova Jackson, Alpha Gam; Kaye Knox, Forney Hall; Tom Iurex, Chrisman Hall and Steve Reynolds, Gault Hall were Sunday dinner guests.

KAPPA and Phi pledges got "cold feet" during a snowball fight last week. The fight was held in the Kappa back yard. Water was everywhere at the Kappa house Thursday noon when the pledges tubbed Mary Youngstrom who was recently pinned to Harry Stunz, Sigma Nu. Pledges held an exchange with the TKEs Wednesday.

WILLIS SWEET elections for the coming semester are scheduled for today.

TRI-DELTA president, Penny Preston, showed films taken of the National convention in Florida during Monday's chapter meeting. Pat Kelly also attended the confab. Sunday dinner guests included Colleen Brayler, Lewiston and Linda Brown and Jo Ann Fingerson, French. A pledge exchange is scheduled for Wednesday with the Sigma Nus.

ATO guests for dinner last Thursday evening were Terry Howard, Mel Southerland and Terry Herrick, McConnell; John Kennedy, Larry Durbin, Stewart Gordon and Jack Toews, Willis Sweet and Jim Reams, Moscow. Ed Lane was a special guest of the pledges over the weekend.

HAYS HALL paid off its debt as loser of an election challenge with Upham Hall. The girls treated Upham to a fireside of dancing, television and games. Sunday special entertainment included singing accompanied by Upham band and guitar players.

GAMMA PHIs were informally entertained by the WSC "Four

Mildred Miller Sets Concert Here Monday

A housewife and mother of two who is also rated one of the nation's foremost mezzo-sopranos will perform next Monday in Memorial gym at 8 p.m. in the fourth Moscow - Pullman Community Concert Series.

Miss Mildred Miller, wife of an Air Force officer and mother of a boy and girl, is the latest talent in the Concert Series.

Born in Cleveland, Ohio, Miss Miller first studied at the Cleveland Institute of Music and later entered the New England Conservatory in Boston. She made her operatic debut as Cherubino in "The Marriage of Figaro." Convinced that the road to "the Met" was a long and hard one, Miss Miller went abroad to gain experience and win a reputation with European opera companies.

After several appearances in Italy, she was engaged for a full season with the Stuttgart State Opera. While in Europe, she met Lt. Col. Wesley Posvar, who had been her classmate in Cleveland and they were married in the same church in which her mother and father had been married before coming to this country.

Offer To Met
Under contract to Stuttgart State Opera company, she was sent to Munich to sing a guest performance of "Carmen" which was a huge success. Rudolph Bing, manager of the Met heard of her reviews and asked her to sing for him. The offer of a contract was the prompt result, and Miss Miller was in the Met.

Her impersonation of Octavian, a 17-year-old boy in Strauss' "Der Rosenkavalier," won wide critical acclaim.

The New York Times declared that she sang with "... not only the dash and impetuosity every good Octavian should have, but also with bright fresh tones and fine sense of musical line."

Faculty and townspeople will be admitted to the concert on their Community Concert Assn. tickets and students on their ASUI cards.

IS STUDYING NECESSARY?
Once there were three roommates and their names were Walter Pellucid, Casimir Ping, and LeRoy Holocaust and they were all taking English lit. They were all happy, friendly, outgoing types and they all smoked Philip Morris Cigarettes as you would expect from such a gregarious trio, for Philip Morris is the very essence of sociability, the very spirit of amity, the very soul of concord, with its tobacco so mild and true, its packs so soft and flip-top, its length so regular or long size. You will find when you smoke Philip Morris that the birds sing for you and no man's hand is raised against you.

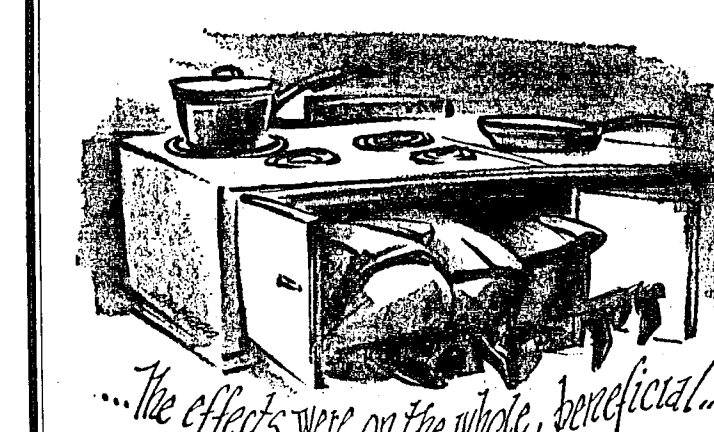

Each night after dinner Walter and Casimir and LeRoy went to their room and studied English lit. For three hours they sat in sombre silence and pored over their books and then, squinty and spent, they toppled onto their pallets and sobbed themselves to sleep.

This joyless situation obtained all through September and October. Then one November night they were all simultaneously struck by a marvelous idea. "We are all studying the same thing," they cried. "Why, then, should each of us study for three hours? Why not each study for one hour? It is true we will only learn one-third as much that way, but it does not matter because there are three of us and next January before the exams, we can get together and pool our knowledge!"

Oh, what rapture then fell on Walter and Casimir and LeRoy! They flung their beanies into the air and danced a schottische and lit thirty or forty Philip Morrises and ran out to pursue the pleasure which had so long, so bitterly, been missing from their lives.

Alas, they found instead a series of grisly misfortunes. Walter, alas, went searching for love and was soon going steady with a coed named Invicta Breadstuff, a handsome lass, but, alas, hopelessly addicted to bowling. Each night she bowled five hundred lines, some nights a thousand. Poor Walter's thumb was a shambles and his purse was empty, but Invicta just kept on bowling and in the end, alas, she left Walter for a pin-setter, which was a terrible thing to do to Walter, especially in this case, because the pin-setter was automatic.

Walter, of course, was far too distraught to study his English lit, but he took some comfort from the fact that his roommates were studying and they would help him before the exams. But Walter, alas, was wrong. His roommates, Casimir and LeRoy, were nature lovers and they used their free time to go for long tramps in the woods. One November night, alas, they were treed by two bears, Casimir by a brown bear and LeRoy by a Kodiak, and they were kept in the trees until mid-January when winter set in and the brown bear and the Kodiak went away to hibernate.

So when the three roommates met before exams to pool their knowledge, they found they had none to pool! Well sir, they had a good long laugh about that and then rushed to the kitchen and stuck their heads in the oven. It was, however, an electric oven and the effects were, on the whole, beneficial. The wax in their ears got melted and they acquired a healthy tan and today they are married to a lovely young heiress named Ganglia Bran and live in the Canal Zone, where there are many nice boats to wave at.

And here's a wave at you filter smokers. Have you tried Marlboro—same fine flavor, new improved filter and better makin's—made by the makers of Philip Morris, sponsors of this column?

Southland Teams Hand Vandals Twin Losses

Idaho took an abrupt and hard fall from a tie for second in PCC standings to the bottom of the conference last weekend, absorbing two losses from Southern Division schools.

The Vandals, riding a 1-1 conference mark southward, failed to break the 40-point mark two nights in a row in losing to Stanford, 50-36, Friday night and falling to league-leading California, 64-39, Saturday evening.

The Vandals and Indians battled to a 17-minute tie with Idaho sticking to Stanford's tight, ball-control style of play.

In the second half the Indians abandoned their low-scoring style of play, leaving Idaho far behind.

Idaho hit but 18.5 per cent of its shots the first half against the sluggish Indians, then retained close to the same low mark the second period as the Stanford crew ran wild.

No Idaho hoopsters hit in double figures, with John Liveous and Harold Damiano sharing top point honors at 9 each.

Loss Again

Saturday night was much the same story as Idaho literally was "chewed up and spit out" by the Bears.

Frosh Split Two Contests

The Eastern Washington Savages staged a sudden, fast-break comeback in the second half to upset the Vandal Babes by a 57-54 count Friday, after trailing by a 17-point halftime margin.

In the first half it was all Idaho with guard Gary Floan hitting from all angles. Floan swished one long shot to boost Idaho ahead, 36-17, at the start of the second half before EWCE, led by Rich Whitehead and Gene Rerz, staged their rally.

With 2:01 left on the clock the Savages pulled ahead, 52-50, for the first time in the game. Eastern hit two more quick baskets and sealed it up with a free throw before Idaho could find the range again.

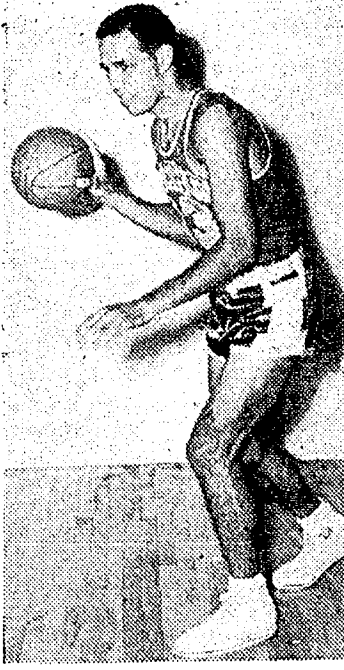

Gary Nebelsick sank a final long shot at the hoop to complete all scoring.

Saturday Win

Saturday night the Vandal Babes bounced back from their setback to edge the Whitworth JVs, 75-64.

Nebelsick hit 48 per cent of his floor shots to pace the Babes with a 26-point total, followed by Floan and Karl Sorman with 18 and 16 points respectively.

The young Vandals controlled the game from the start, being in danger only once when Whitworth came within four points on the dead-eye accuracy of Denny Spurlock.

Bears, Trojans Share Top Spot

Defending champion California climbed into a two-way tie for first place in the Pacific Coast Conference as Oregon State pushed the University of Southern California to one side of the conference ladder.

The Beavers outgunned the Trojans 61-53 Friday night to temporarily throw the race into a three-way tie for first, then lost to UCLA by a 73-62 margin to leave the Bears and the Trojans alone in first place.

In other Friday action UCLA downed WSC 68-41 and California stopped Washington 55-44.

Saturday night WSC lost to USC 73-67 and Washington fell to Stanford 51-49.

Former Idaho Cinder Ace Remembers Vandal Wins

Behind the counter of the Nest works a white haired, quiet man so many people know only as "Tommy." This soft spoken gentleman bears a distinct resemblance to the lithe, powerful track captain he was in past years.

Tommy (his real name is Tom Mathews) was an outstanding trackman for the University of Idaho from the years 1902 through 1907. His letter was earned during his Freshman year on a team that didn't even have a coach.

In those days, the seven men that composed the Vandal track squad trained for their events on the lawn in front of the Administration building. When the meets were held the team competed on the horse track at the old fair grounds, now occupied by the International-Harvester building.

Although the University supported the tracksters on their out of town meets, the boys did not have any uniforms to wear.

"We furnished all our own equipment," Tommy recalled, "but all of us had shoes."

In comparing today's athletics with those of his time, Mathews said he thought that "the athletes of today have better equipment, are better trained by better coaches, and they also have better facilities on which to run their events."

"In my time, nobody thought a four minute mile would be run," Tommy continued.

Idaho had no coach in the years 1919 and 1920 so Mathews took over the reins as their squad, taking three of the boys from the 1920 squad back east for Olympic try-outs. One of the three made the squad.

Career Highlight

One of the highlights of Tommy's career was the dual meet with Washington State College. In this contest Tommy placed second in the 880 and won the mile race. He was also on the relay team that won first place.

May fifth, 1905 saw Tommy finish third in the 880 and garner a second place in the mile. Later during the season he placed second in the 880 and nabbed first in the mile run during a meet held with Whitman College at Walla Walla. — G. W.

Vandal Skier Breaks Leg As Injuries Trail Bryhn

Letterman skier Jorgen Bryhn suffered his fourth injury in four years Saturday, fracturing his left leg at Mt. Spokane during Vandal ski team practice.

"It was wet snow," Ski Coach Tom Anderson stated, "The going was really foggy and rainy so we were skiing real slow. Joe fell going over a bump after he lost an edge at low speed. It didn't look bad at first, but Joe knew his leg was broken."

Bryhn was brought down from the hill, given morphine and transferred to a Spokane hospital for immediate treatment. He is expected to be brought to the University Infirmary tomorrow.

The injury-plagued Norwegian skier fractured the same leg last year in January in the first meet of the season. Earlier Bryhn suffered a broken nose three years ago while skiing, fractured an arm two years ago and finished up with his broken leg last season.

"His break last year was more severe," said Anderson. "This year he has a spiral fracture just above the ankle which the doctors class as a simple fracture."

Never Healed

"His leg never did really heal up," Anderson went on, "but we couldn't talk him out of skiing this season."

The loss of Bryhn, out for this season and possibly next as well, left Anderson with a weakened team.

"We're in bad shape after losing Joe," Anderson said. "It'll be interesting to see what we can do the next meet."

Idaho Finmen Slate Meet

Thoroughly rested after a three-week layoff, Idaho finmen sight in for this weekend's home opener against Eastern Washington College of Education to be swum in the Memorial Gym Jan. 16.

"We don't know much about the Cheney team," Swim coach Clark Mitchell stated, "They do have at least one good swimmer in Grayson Hand who is reportedly a backstroke artist."

The thin Vandal swimming team was thinned still farther recently with the announcement that Al Ray, sophomore finman, would not compete this semester.

"It leaves us with seven swimmers and two divers," Mitchell said, "It's lucky for us we don't have more than one relay in a dual meet."

Ski Club Sets Meeting Day

The University of Idaho ski club announced yesterday that there will be a ski club meeting at 7 p.m. Thursday in the Student Union Building. The room number for the meeting will appear on the SUB bulletin board.

The announcement stated that upon payment of $1.50 in dues, those becoming members will be able to secure reduced rates for lodge accommodations and the tow lift at Rosslund, B.C., where the club plans to go following the completion of finals.

Cars will leave each night of final week according to the statement, and will return after semester break.

Following the start of the second semester the ski club plans to sponsor dances, ski movies and weekly bus trips to Mt. Spokane.

mates with games of 200-205-205-226 for a total of 836. The WSC squad also had the high team game of the day, scorching the maples in a terrific 1,067 game total.

George Young rolled a 241 one game mark for top single game honors for WSC. Jim Gilbertson led Gonzaga with a 714 total for four games.

Earl Hall paced the Idaho bowlers with a high single game total of 231 pins and rolled a four-game total of 788.

The highlight of the match however, was E.W.C.E.'s Von Heyn's 269 single game effort. Von Heyn led the Cheney-based bowlers with 758 for four games.

Loss Revenged

In a practice match after the regular conference competition, Idaho gained at least partial vengeance for two earlier losses to Gonzaga by defeating the Spokane team 2,709 to 2,570 in a three game match.

Idaho Bowlers Join WSC In Inland Empire Victory

Bowling Conference Set For Local College Teams

Local organized bowling competition was initiated Sunday at the University of Idaho with the formation of the Inland Empire Intercollegiate Bowling Conference.

The conference is made up of Idaho, Washington State College, Gonzaga and the Eastern Washington College of Education. The four schools have competed with one another in bowling previously but not on an organized basis.

Competition will consist of weekly four game matches, with total pins for the four games determining the winner. Bowling will be conducted under the rules and conditions of the American Bowling Congress.

A traveling trophy is to be purchased and will be retained on a yearly basis by the school having the best win-loss record in the previous year.

Each school will compete in nine four-game matches this year with the matches to be bowled at the host school each Sunday at 1:00 p.m.

The bowling conference is to be conducted through the Student Unions of the member schools and will not be a varsity sport, nor connected with the college athletic departments in any way.

Gary Randall's SIDELINES

You might say that all of last weekend was a "Bad day at Black Rock," only it wasn't one bad day, it was two pretty sad evenings, not at Black Rock, but in California and here at Moscow.

This corner realizes how easy it is to jump on the bandwagon when the Vandals are winning, and how doubly easy it is to fall off when they lose and this corner further realizes that two losses won't necessarily insure Idaho of a second division berth so let's look at facts.

In the first place Idaho has played four conference games, with one, lost three. Washington State, supposedly facing one of its more dismal hoop years, has also won one and lost three, and the University of Washington Huskies, supposedly facing one of its brightest basketball seasons in years, rounds out the three-way cellar tie with a won one, lost three record. So Idaho isn't alone on the bottom rung of the ladder.

In the second place before the season even started Idaho coach Harlan Hodges predicted this would be a tough season, with all conference schools tougher than last year. After four games it seems likely that that is reasonable, and the second prediction made, that the top team in the conference would lose at least three games, allows Idaho the top spot if they win all twelve games left on their schedule.

So, given that three teams share the cellar spot, and that Idaho still has a good chance, what do we come up with?

Sad Evenings

The first thing we come up with is that Idaho had a lousy night against Stanford, the second thing is that Idaho had another lousy night against California.

For any team in the PCC to consecutively miss breaking forty points two nights in a row is at best, discouraging.

Friday night Idaho hit 18.5 of field goals attempted in the first half, then improved their average only slightly the second half.

Against California Idaho showed signs of improvement the first half, trailing 33-25 at the end of the first period, then went on to score but three field goals the entire 20 minutes of the second half. Added to eight free throws the floor shots brought Idaho to a total of 39 points, again under the 40 mark.

Now, we can stand with the assumption Idaho isn't any better than that, which is not encouraging, or that they had two off nights, which is also not encouraging if it should happen often.

In fact, nothing is encouraging.
