

10,500 View Football Game

A crowd of 10,500, one of the largest in ten years, witnessed the Idaho-Oregon State football game in Neale Stadium Saturday afternoon highlighting the 1960 Homecoming activities.

Bob Schumaker, Delt, general chairman, attributed the success of the weekend festivities to the excellent weather.

"I prayed to the Sun God every night for good Homecoming weather," Schumaker jokingly added. The warm weather and a colorful half time added spirit to the traditional game. More than 1,300 high school and University musicians, dressed in ornate band uniforms, sent strains of "Go Vandals, Go," "Here We Have Idaho," and "Battle Hymn of the Republic," echoing through the stadium. Warren Bellis, assist a n professor of music, coordinated the bands.

Other half time entertainment included the crowning of blonde Homecoming queen Celeste Jones, Gamma Phi, by Harold T. Nelson, president of the Idaho Alumni Association, Shirley Mitchell, Theta; Sue Rutledge, Kappa, Camille Shelton, Alpha Chi, and Sally Newland, DG, members of the Homecoming court were also introduced. Bruce McCowan, ASUI president, made half time introductions.

Rollie Williams, off campus, president of I Club, presented the traditional I Blanket to the outstanding Vandal Booster, John Cornelison, Moscow. Also honored at half time were John P. Knodle, Anaco, Venezuela, the alum coming from the longest distance, and John A. Platt, Class of 1897, the oldest alum. The half time gun also set off a cross country race between WSU, Gonzaga and Idaho.

Vandalettes, the University precision drill group, and the University marching band provided pre-game entertainment.

The Homecoming activities officially began with the Freshman women's pajama parade Friday night at 6 o'clock. A rally and fireworks display were also held at 7 o'clock at MacLean Field.

Approximately 72 entries participated in the Homecoming parade Saturday morning, according to parade chairman John Ferris, Beta, and Duane Allred, Delt. Winners of the mixed float competition were Kappa and Phi Tau, first; Gamma Phi and Lambda Chi, second, and Theta and Fiji, third.

Delts won first place honors in the single division for the second year in a row and second and third places were taken by Gault Hall and Chrisman Hall. Parade judges were Major Todd of the Army ROTC, and Mrs. E. W. Tisdale and Milford Peterson, both of Moscow.

More than 722 couples danced to Norm Thue's music at the Homecoming dance, "That Old Gang of Mine," in the Memorial Gymnasium Saturday night. Master of Ceremonies for the intermission was Jerry Garthe, ATO. Schumaker presented trophies to the float winners and the Delts, whose rally poster won first place. Miss Jones and her court were also introduced and the Six Bo's sang four selections.

Dance chairmen were Sue Rutledge, Kappa, and Lorin Butler, Gault. Other chairmen included Tindler Moeller, Theta, and Tony McFarland, Theta Chi, queens; Judy Westwood, Alpha Chi, judges; Ethel Steel, and Camille Johnson, Kappa, publicity; and Jim Okeston, Beta, registration.

Approximately 300 alumni registered for the Homecoming festivities, but there were many more attending, according to Jim Lyle, Alumni Secretary. A capacity crowd of 800 attended the evening alumni buffet and dance at the Moscow Elks, and 125 met for the Alumni brunch at the Moscow Hotel Saturday noon.

Lyle summed up the alumni views of the 1960 Homecoming by noting that many people enthusiastically praised the weekend activities. He added that, in his opinion, this was one of the best coordinated Homecomings since he has been at the University.

PETITIONS DUE

Class officer nominations accompanied by a petition must be in the ASUI office before Oct. 24. Also a reminder, the class elections are to be held Nov. 8, the same day as the general elections.

All-Campus Carnival Set For Friday; Organizations To Have Booth Displays

By DELORES HANSON
Argonaut Staff Writer

The annual "All-Campus Carnival" has been scheduled for Friday evening and will act as the grand finale for the freshman orientation days. The booth - jammed SUB ballroom will be open from 8 p.m. to midnight, informing inquisitive freshman and new students of the activities on the Idaho Campus.

However, added Vaughn Estrick Delt, and Nancy Trail, Kappa, co-chairmen, this is an all-campus event.

A list of booths has been compiled, Miss Trail said and construction will begin early Friday morning and must be completed by 7 p.m.

Estrick announced that a floor plan will be on display in the ballroom so organizations will know where to place booths.

"The map will have numbers on it," he explained, "that will correspond to a list of booths, which will be numbered also."

John Fitzgerald, ASUI vice-president, will be master-of-ceremonies at the intermission of the activities.

Students will dance in the booth-surrounded ballroom to music furnished by the Harry Grossman band from 9 p.m. till midnight.

Publication, pictures of activities, uniforms, and brochures will be available at the booths for the freshman and new students to study.

The Executive Board will set up a booth in one of the Ballrooms and explain the workings of student government on the campus.

The two student political parties, United and CUP, will also have representatives at the Carnival to explain the benefits of each party.

Booths planning to participate in the Carnival are: Phi Upsilon Omicron, home economic's honorary; Hell Divers; Alpha Lambda Delta-Phi Eta Sigma, freshman women's and men's scholastic honoraries, respectively.

Five C's, Panhellenic, IK's, Blue Key; Interfraternity Council, Gem of the Mountains, AWS, Mortar Board, Orchestria, 4-H Club, Sigma Alpha Iota, music honorary for women, Phi Mu Alpha, men's music honorary, Women's I Club, Curtain Club, Attic Club, and the Campus Union Party.

I Club, Women's Recreation Assn.; Spurs, Rodeo Club, Sigma Tau, and the Idaho Student Education Association.

Any other organizations wanting to participate are asked to contact Vaughn Estrick or Nancy Trail before Wednesday evening.

Beard Growth For Contest

The annual Dad's Day Beard Growing contest officially began yesterday with the announcement of the divisions of the fuzz growing competition.

Preliminary judging will be held November 9, with the final performance set for Nov. 11. An award will go to the house with the most men participating in the contest "to separate the men from the boys."

Prizes will be given for the "most unusual beard," including mustaches; and the healthiest beard; the "most appealing to the coeds' beard"; and the nicest collection of "peach fuzz."

In another part of the annual event, the barber shop quartet contest, there will be two divisions. There will be a trophy awarded to first place in both a men's and women's category.

Each quartet is allowed one accompanist. Each will sing two songs: one of barbershop style and one elective. The contest starts Nov. 12 at 6:30 p.m.

CHAPTER MEETS

The local chapter of Phi Kappa Xi will hold a closed debate this Friday.

Desperate Plea Made By Washer

A semi-anonymous note turned up on the Argonaut desk yesterday, voicing a desperate plea for help.

The note expressed the hope that SUB customers would, in the future, not stack their dishes in piles. According to their obviously - hastily written plea, the piles make a "big mess for dishwashers."

The plea, strangely enough, was signed simply, "A dish washer."

Ted Kennedy To Be Guest Of Democrats

The Young Democrats will kick off the Kennedy for President campaign today as the presidential candidate's younger brother, Ted Kennedy, pays a visit to the Idaho campus in behalf of his brother's campaign.

Kennedy will arrive at 4 p.m. He will visit with party leaders and interested persons until 7 p.m. The meeting will be held in the North Ballroom of the SUB.

Al Thieme, off campus, president of the Young Democrats, said Kennedy will make a speech and then answer questions.

The visiting of college campuses has become an important part of the campaign. Kennedy initiated the practice and has now expanded it to the entire west coast. He will pay a visit to the Washington State University campus prior to his visit here.

This will be Ted Kennedy's second visit to the campus, having been here about a month before the Democratic National Convention.

This visit was arranged by John Glasby, Boise, who is the head of the Idaho Citizens' for Kennedy committee.

'Miss Wool' Search Made

A search is underway on the Idaho campus for a girl between 5 feet 6 inches and 5 feet 8 inches in height to reign as the 1961 "Miss Wool."

Mrs. Myrill Heller, Hammett, will be on campus Oct. 21 and 22 to select the size 10 Miss to represent the Women's Auxiliary of Idaho Wool Growers at a national contest next spring.

The winning contestant will receive an expense paid trip for a week in San Angelo, Texas, April 16. A lightweight 100 per cent wool traveling dress will be given to her for the journey to the national contest.

Camille Johnson, Kappa, 1960 Miss Wool or auxiliary-representative Mrs. Harold Snow, Route 1, Moscow, will furnish particulars to those interested.

War Foundation Institutes New Format Inaugurates Visiting Lecturer Plans

Instituting a new format, the University's William E. Borah Outlawry of War Foundation will inaugurate a visiting lecturer program this month, it was announced yesterday by Clint E. Grimes, executive secretary of the Borah foundation.

"The new visiting lecturer approach will have more impact than the former day long conferences," said Grimes. "The speaker will be available for the entire week, rather than just one day."

First Lecturer under the new system will be Dr. Robert R. Bowie, director of the Center for International Affairs at Harvard University. He will deliver a major address at 11 a.m., Oct. 31, in the auditorium.

Bowie, a former director of the policy planning staff for the Department of State, will discuss themes concerning the military-strategic analysis of the U. S. position with reference to NATO, thearm control, the developing integration of European states, the economic development of new countries and the role of the Secretary of State in policy formation.

The Borah lecturer is presently taking part in the weighing of the role and responsibilities of the Secretary of State by the American Assembly now under way in New York.

Dr. Bowie will make numerous appearances during the week. At 4 p.m. on Oct. 31 in the Student Union, he will take part in a question and answer period concerning his morning lecture.

On Nov. 1, a seminar for military staff and other interested persons will be held on the military aspects of foreign policy and NATO at 4 p.m. in the Engineering building.

Annual Ball To Be Led By Anderson

LeRoy Anderson is not LeRoy Anderson, the Moscow Volunteer Fire Department has pointed out, although the two men have much in common.

LeRoy Anderson, they say, is one of the west coast's top trombonists and a popular orchestra leader. They explained that he will be supplying the musical sounds for the Annual Firemen's Ball in Memorial Gymnasium this Saturday evening, from 9 p.m. to 11 p.m.

LeRoy Anderson, however, is a popular composer-conductor on the east coast, often as guest-conductor of the Boston Pops Orchestra. He will not supply music this Saturday evening at the Annual Firemen's Ball.

Ticket sales in Moscow began last week for the ball. University living groups were contacted last night as part of the ticket sales promotion. Persons attending the dance without tickets may purchase them at the door.

SRA To Hold First Meeting

Living groups should elect representatives to the Student Representative Assembly within the next four days, said ASUI president Bruce McCowan, yesterday.

The first meeting of the SRA, scheduled Thursday at 7 p.m. in the Frontier room, will be devoted to specific comments by Executive Board members on the Board's Areas of Concern, and the "Students for a Better University" (see story page 1) will present the problems of bonded indebtedness and legislative appropriations.

Living groups are asked to elect one individual to represent their group to the best of his ability.

The representative will have voting power proportional to the number of students he represents.

Confab Given Responsibility

"It is an absolute necessity that you accept your responsibility for advancing education in this state," So charged D. R. Theophilus, president of the University, as he spoke to some 250 Home Demonstration council members who met on the University campus recently.

Theophilus was feature speaker at the first sessions of the 11th annual convention of the Idaho State Home Demonstration council. His topic was "Your Responsibility for Continuing Education."

Theophilus credited wives of college students with much of the inspiration that drives students to do the quality of work he said they were presently doing. At the same time he praised organizations of student wives for their efforts in cooperating with University officials in finding constantly improving ways of making their husbands' college efforts more effective and meaningful.

'No Politics' - Movement Key

By CARL BERRY
Argonaut Staff Writer

A sweeping new semi-organization, calling itself the "Students for a Better University" has appeared on the campus scene; however, its main purpose seemed to be promotion of the University itself, instead of any of its members.

The original brain child of Neal Newhouse, one time ASUI vice-president, the program originally took the position of a potential third party, but has revamped into an organization seeking the backing of both of the major campus political parties.

It will present a unified drive for the passage of legislative bills to insure the University of more money in the near future. A facet of this will be the passage of the Bonded Indebtedness Referendum, before the voters on Nov. 8.

The members of the Advisory Council are: Neal Newhouse, past ASUI vice-president; Bruce McCowan, ASUI President; Laird Noh, past ASUI President; Jim Golden, past editor of the Arg.; Charlotte Martell, and Ann Becker, past Exec Board members; Jim Mulleh, Exec Board member; and Gordon Chester and Sally Newland.

The need is for communication, said Newhouse. He stated that he had contacted many of the present student leaders, plus many of the old ones, now graduated, such as Laird Noh, and Jim Golden.

They all felt, Newhouse continued, that Idaho was a fine University, but there are certain problems:

1) That teachers salaries were lower than other Universities with which we want to compete.

2) The facilities are vastly inadequate; such as the TC2s and the Science building.

The feeling of these people, and others, now organized into an Advisory Council, was that the University of Idaho has much to offer the state in all capacities, and that the state should give them (the University) the very best in return.

They feel strongly about the Board.

AAUW Plans Annual Sale Of Used Books

By ALAN JACOBS
Argonaut Staff Writer

An opportunity to browse through a wide variety of used books will be provided this Thursday and Friday at the Western Store in Moscow.

The annual used book book sale sponsored by the American Association of University Women will be held next Thursday and Friday in the Western Store. This sale of donated books from 8 to 5:30 p.m. on both days affords students an opportunity to browse through books which will be sold for nominal sums.

The AAUW is a national organization for women college graduates, with the aim of helping to further the education and mental alertness of its members in particular and all women in general. It sponsors research and provides fellowships for college women, as well as encouraging high school girls to come to college.

AAUW emphasizes individual achievement because through it a person can be of more valuable service to society.

The local AAUW branch has monthly meetings of speakers and take part in study groups in international relations, literature, higher education, and photography.

The proceeds of the book sale will finance the activities of the Moscow branch and will help support the national organization, in its projects. Anyone caring to donate books may phone TU3-2811 or TU2-7621 and someone will call to pick up the books. Mrs. Phillip Buscemi and Mrs. Ralph Farmer are co-chairmen of this year's sale.

2) Inform the Alumni

a. By using the Vandal Booster groups already organized throughout the State, and having them publicize, not only Idaho athletics, but increased funds for the University.

3) The People of the State

a. To urge the students to contact their parents, friends and hometown newspapers.

b. The Advisory Council will write to every newspaper in the state in the form of letters to the editor, expressing their opinion for more funds, and the passage of the Bonded Indebtedness program.

c. To use available information from President Theophilus, and sent it throughout the State.

4) The Legislative Candidates, and Elected Legislators

a. A concerted effort to be sure that the members of the Legislature realize their responsibilities to their state university.

5) Cooperation with ISC

a. By the sending of an open letter to their student body, informing them of the committee's goals.

b. Also by informing the other State institutions who will be affected with the bonded indebtedness proposal.

6) The Use of Lobby Groups

a. Such as the AFL-CIO, Farmers Union and State Contractors Association, to further the propositions of the Student Committee for a Better University.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Some random shots at homecoming:

Generally speaking, we're not too gung-ho about football, but the showing Idaho made against OSC Saturday left little to be desired. To us, the score, as in many contests, didn't show the whole picture. Idaho had three tough breaks against them that might well have gone for touchdowns. Even then, it was a heck of a lot better than we did against the Beavers last year.

Many of the dyed-in-the-wool Staley haters even somewhat reversed much of their opinion after the final gun went off.

We think the items that really make the Homecoming parade are not the elaborate, multi-tissued extravaganzas of Scottie nappkins, wood and chicken wire, but the embellishments added by the comic touches.

Rarely have we seen anything as funny as the Kappa Sig United Nations Drill team. Heard a fantastic rumor, obviously unfounded, that the UN Drill Team was destined to march directly behind the Vandalettes. We'll bet that would have played havoc with the Vandalettes' morale.

The TMA "Gotta Get it Done," should have at least got an honorable mention for originality. Maybe we're short-sighted, but we can't remember anything like it in past years.

Also in the strange and unearthly category was the truck with many beer cases in the rear, and five Vandal-lovers cheering the team on over a TV set. The sign "We tried like heck, but we could not make it," or something like that, topped it off.

The Delta Chis and Betas and Eliot Ness and Al Capone was the other non-conformist treatment that caught our eye.

Warren Bellis had a heck of a job lined out for him when he tried to coordinate 1,300 high school kids in a football field formation, but it looked to us that he came through pretty well.

The twirlers for the University Marching Band need new uniforms. Those black jobs don't do too much for them. The band, itself could use some new attire. We hear they've had those yellow suits for the last 70 or 80 years.

One of the high points of the game was each and every time the announcer over the loudspeaker pronounced homecoming. Some how or other, it always came out "homecomin'" Guess he was trying to be folksy.

Bob Schumaker did a pretty fair job in an endeavor that is remarkable for amount of trivialities it entails. Except for one thing. We don't know who it was that was responsible for mechanics of the half time ceremonies of the Homecoming dance, but whoever it was obviously needed help, badly.

And, by the way, we put "Ducks" in Friday's headline on purpose. We wanted to see how many quick-thinking Idaho students there were. Well, we really did... didn't we, Mr. Herndon?

Arctic Geology Is To Be Discussed

Dr. Edward T. Tozer, member of the Geological Survey of Canada, will describe the geology of the Arctic Islands to Sigma Xi scientific honorary members Oct. 24 at 8 p.m. in the University of Idaho faculty club.

Tozer has spent a number of years in the Canadian Arctic Islands obtaining information on their stratigraphy and structural history.

United, CUP Parties Call All Students To 'Crash' Confab

Campus politics takes an unprecedented swing from party lines tonight, with an emergency, "crash" meeting called for all students, regardless of party affiliation at 8:30 in the Borah Theater.

The meeting, scheduled to air the reasons behind Neal Newhouse's plans for a third party, is intended to co-ordinate both CUP and United solidly behind bonded indebtedness and other issues affecting the campus as a whole.

The meeting will follow the CUP electoral college assembly at 7 p.m. at which CUP candidates for the coming ASUI class elections will be nominated.

Karen Stedfeld, United vice-president, stated that the joint meeting would not be run on a party-line basis but rather would delve into common meeting grounds for both parties.

Larry Hosner, CUP president, and Dan Slavin, United head, called the meeting after a top-level conference with Newhouse and other campus political leaders

What? A Parade Sans Floats?

Living groups, have you considered putting your money into something besides floats for Homecoming?

If you have, but lack a better use for it, witness this conversation between a young married student and his wife as they watched the parade pass in revue Saturday morning: "This is the biggest parade yet," the student was telling his wife.

"Some of the floats are really elaborate," she replied. "They must have cost a pretty penny."

"Well, yes, some did," the student said. "If these are running true to form, that big white one passing cost between three and four hundred dollars."

"No kidding?"

"Just the modest little float we entered with the _____ sorority last year ran us $80 apiece," he explained. "There was a limit of $75 then, but they didn't set a limit this year."

"They should spend the money for a scholarship or something," she said wistfully, probably thinking of their own meager budget. "That's too much to spend for fun."

"Look at those boys in dresses," she laughed. "I'll bet that didn't cost much."

Living groups, do you see how to use your money more constructively and still have your share of Homecoming memories?—L.T.

Vanguards - Vicious Vandals

The dictionary calls a vanguard as "The advance-guard of an army". We call them just plain tough.

Skip Stahley borrowed a page from LSU and the famous Chinese Bandits for last weekend's game, rolling in complete defensive and offensive units when the chips were down. It's been a long time since Idaho has tried anything like that, and for our money it paid off with a jackpot.

There's a way to spot a unit that wants to play real bad, the way that unit moves around before the play, the way they "stunt" before the ball snaps. The vanguards did just that last weekend, and even the all-powerful single wing of OSC had trouble with them.

The word is that many of the members of the vanguard unit aren't quite up to par on offensive assignments, at least not on the same level as the regular first string. This may be the case, but on defense . . . those guys are tough.

They should be tough. Knowing some of the ball players on that unit, it appears that Stahley picked out the roughest, meanest bunch the Vandals have. They may not be stars on offense, but they play a real fine brand of defensive ball.

You'll hear a lot of students call the vanguard unit a "gimmick." Well, maybe so. But what is wrong with a gimmick that holds the 17th ranked team in the country down for three quarters?

We hope to see a lot of the vanguards this year, for our money they rank as one of the most encouraging steps forward that Idaho football has taken in a long time.—G.R.

Dear Jason

This is the last series of letters the Argonaut will print on the legality or any aspect of, last Spring's ASUI election. Both sides have now been given ample space to air their discontents, so let us be at peace. The election cannot now be changed.—Ed.

Dear Jason:

Ann Becker's decision to "abstain" from voting on the election protest last year was sound and intelligent. As Bob Young stated clearly at the McConnell debate, Ann was one member of the United Party who exercised her brain.

However, I feel that the students have a right to examine carefully the honesty and integrity of Ann's fellow party members.

Let's take a look at the Exec Board Minutes for that meeting: Charlotte Martell, Forney, said: "unless we can answer the protest point by point we are not upholding the confidence the students have placed in the student government, because they are not satisfied with what has happened, and should have the right to do something about it."

Jack Macki, Willis Sweet, is quoted in the minutes, saying: "the Exec Board could not overlook the fact that seven persons had voted twice, and that a pessimistic attitude about student government has arisen. Therefore, I feel that the Exec Board is capable of allowing a revote."

Tafolla

Leo Tafolla, Upham, said: "it was one of the duties of the Exec Board to call a revote, because in Clause 7, under Section 2 of the Constitution 'the board is to perform all duties not herein delegated which are necessary and proper'."

What happened to the "excellent detailed and valid reasons" Ann claims were given by United Exec Board Members? Why are they not stated in the minutes of the meeting?

Why is Karl Bittenbender, Delta Sig, quoted as saying: "he had heard about the double voting," and in reply to a remark that the Constitutional irregularities should be overlooked, saying: "the Constitution should be upheld," yet vote against the protest?

Why did the Discipline Board take action against illegal voters if the election was legal?

State Precedent

Why did the Exec Board members ignore the fact that State elections have set a precedent for recalling illegal elections?

Why is the present Exec Board considering changes to the ASUI Constitution in regard to elections if Ann's fellow party members did such a responsible job?

Why is there particular concern to see that the Election Board carries out its duties according to the Constitution this year?

Why did one of the board members, highly esteemed by students and faculty, resign with the following statement: "I do not want to associate myself with students who are unable and unwilling to uphold the ASUI Constitution, and unable and unwilling to make decisions on their own based on ethical, moral, and logical reasoning."

Resignation

He stated: "Until Student Government recognizes its responsibilities to the student body and demonstrates the maturity required of executive leadership, then this thing called Student Government will remain ineffective and nothing more than a tool of the administration." He resigned on moral grounds, Ann.

Most of Ann's fellow party members were no more acquainted with the protest petition than she was. Why did they not follow her intelligent lead?

However, if the meeting debated this protest for three and one half hours as she claims, why could she not come to a rational decision? Perhaps, someone besides Bob Young has a slipping memory.

Ann's charges of lapse of memory, pseudo-intellectualism, and the comparison with an 18th Century dictator involve obvious contradictions and are in very poor taste.

Robert Plum

Dear Jason:

Ann Becker admirably displayed her gushing nobility in rushing to defend her fellow United Exec Board members. But, today, a lady on the proverbial White Charger is anachronistic, and undeniably ludicrous.

Still, I am forced to admit that a Lady on a White Charger, armed with a lance steered by perfidious rhodomontades, and with a bludgeon forged of incidious mendacities can be offensive. They have sent politicians to office. They have sent honest men to death.

However, Idaho students realize an illegal election took place last Spring, and that the ASUI Constitution was not upheld. Nothing more needs to be said.

Bob Young

PS Being a history major, Ann should have known better than to compare me to an "18th Century dictator." Even a "pseudo-intellectual" knows better than to make that mistake.

Dear Jason:

Last week, you said I made "wild" assertions that might have to be backed up. To save writing cramps around United circles, I want to present these facts, gathered from past issues of the Arg on file in the library.

These member organizations have had the following number of candidates on the United ticket since 1954:

Gamma Phi	10
Fiji	12
Sigma Nu	12

DG	13
Kappa	13
Delta Tau Delta	17
Beta	20

On the other hand, these living groups have gotten the following since 1954:

Alpha Phi	6
ATO	5
Alpha Chi	3
FarmHouse	3
Delta Sig	1
Teke	1
Alpha Gam	1
Phi Tau	1
Lambda Chi	0

Out of 157 candidates running on the United ticket since 1954, seven member organizations have had 97 candidates. The other 59 were divided between the other organizations in United, numbering 20.

I hear the Hossner Brothers have a "machine." A quick look at the above shows where the machine is.

Jon Kingman

You have made your point, Mr. Kingman. You have made your point very well.—Ed.

Male Football Fan Has Many Trials, Tribulations Attending Game With Date

Rah! Rah! Rah! Sis boom ba, Go get 'em Parakeets, Rah! Rah! Rah! The familiar sound of the energetic, fun-filled football game fills the air on that crisp, (actually cold) day. The first game of the season. Your best girl is standing beside you. She may not be the best looking, but she's got money. Rah! Rah!

"Get ready for the kick-off, honey," you say in your most athletic and prolific voice.

"Virgil, do you like my new nail polish?"

"Do I like your what? It's almost time for the kick-off."

"The what?" she asks in her most innocent and rich voice.

"The kick-off, what's the matter with you, don't you know football? Holy cow! Suddenly remembering what girl you are with, you grasp your head with horror.

"Honey, I'm sorry I yelled at you. We don't want to get daddy mad, do we." "The kick-off is how they start the ball game. Those men to your left kicked the ball to the men to the right. They will try to move the ball toward the men who kicked it to them. Undersand now?"

This only confuses you. You could have explained it better, but for her it was sufficient. In all the mess of yelling at your girl, Rah! Rah! and the soothing of hers and your spirits, the team has almost scored a touchdown.

Go team! Go team! the chant begins: Go team! Go team! you repeat the victory cry with the other milling thousands. With one quick glance you see that your afternoon is not going to be an easy one. What is she doing now? Watching the bugs scot around the stadium benches.

"What are you doing?" "Don't you know the team is about to score another touchdown?"

"Virgil, look at that little bug, isn't he cute?" "He runs so fast."

"Bugs! at a time like this! honey this is a football game not an entomology field trip! Come on, look at the ball game."

Roar! Touchdown! Oh no! while your back was turned for that short of time they scored a touchdown.

By this time you are a complete wreck, the team has scored a touchdown, your girl is tickling the little bug's stomach, the other "fans" sitting around you are snickering behind their hip flasks, why did it happen to you today. You thought you had screened this rich coed quite well, but you forgot one thing. Sports!! The only thing you did forget. Brace up old man, only three quarters to go. The very thought makes your mind turn to milk.

The time seems to go as slow as cottage cheese through a sieve. Finally the fourth quarter shows up. By this time the opposing team has scored a couple of touchdowns and the score is tied. The crowd is a teeming mass of protoplasm. Go team! Go team!

The very air is alive with excitement. The crowd is on their feet. Everyone except one person. No need to tell you, you have probably guessed. The girl? No.

The guy, Virgil. The poor guy is so shook up he just sits there babbling and brushing his lips. The girl? She is standing up cheering. Cheering for the football team? No. Cheering the American Society for Football Stadium Bugs. You don't think it is possible? It is possible.

The next time you go to a football game, try to pick out a person who you think is interested in football stadium bugs instead of the football game. After the game, go up to them and ask them point blank. "Are you interested in football stadium bugs?" If they just look at you and giggle and hold up a bug you know that they are. And if the person with this other person just stands there and babbles, you will have proved my point.

One more word for the wise. Fellows, screen your date before the game instead of right before the game. It might save you quite a bit of babbling.

1920's Were Raucous, Roaring, Wild; Teen-Agers Underprivileged Not At All

By STANLEY KRAMER
Argonaut Contributor

Those of us who achieved the uncomfortable status of teenagers during the 1920's would probably be regarded as underprivileged by today's breed of adolescents. We had no television. Movies were silent. Hi-Fi was Lo-Fi and radio existed without the help of disc jockies.

However, we did have all the exciting events of the roaring Twenties, and, in New York City, a large and lively assortment of newspapers to comment upon the wonderful nonsense. From the "cosmographs" of the Graphic I learned all about Peaches and Daddy Browning. There was the thrill of the Hall-Mills case. The News and Mirror recorded pictorially and revolution in morals as skirts came up and inhibitions fell down. I remember vividly the excitement that the newspapers generated out of the discovery of King Tut-Ankh Amen's tomb, the race to carry serum to Nome to end the diphtheria epidemic and the imprisonment of Floyd Collins in a cave in Kentucky. The inanities of marathon dancers and flag-pole sitters, and the exploits of rum runners and gangsters as reported in the daily press more than matched the synthetic thrills provided by today's diet of TV westerns and private eye dramas.

In 1919 the 18th amendment was casually passed after only 13 hours debate in the Senate. Looking back, I'd say the somber mood of immediate post war days was responsible for the quiet adoption of prohibition. But six months later, the temper of the time had completely reversed itself, and an explosive, devil-may-care generation screamed for whisky.

Alphonse Capone gave them what they wanted. The hip flask, the speak-easy, the locked parlor cabinet, the gin-filled tea cup became the only wet spots in a dry land.

Al Smith fought for an amendment to the 18th. He wanted to give every state the right to choose for itself: wet or dry.

It was left for F. Scott Fitzgerald to open the eyes of the nation to the pressing problem of the younger generation. Girls had lifted their skirts to a full nine inches above the ankle, shed their long, black stockings in favor of "sheers," smoked and drank in public.

The young man spent less time at home, more time rollicking down city streets and country roads in tin lizzies. Sons kept secrets from fathers, read Sinclair Lewis and E. E. Cummings.

As busy as the progressive book publishers or the illicit distillers were the laboratories of science. Hundreds of new machines and devices were invading the home and industry. Science gained monumental prestige.

People learned of the existence of atoms, hormones, vitamins, psychoses, neuroses, and reflexes.

Then a Tennessee high school teacher gave a lesson on Darwin's theory of evolution. The deed set off a chain of events that was to draw three of the day's greatest personalities to the small Southern town, hit newspapers in every corner of the civilized world.

In retrospect, I see the Scopes trial as not merely the story of a court case with a carnival aspect, but a trial of man's right to think.

Climaxed 20's

The Scopes trial climaxed the Roaring Twenties, but by no means ended it. The picture tabloids would still see soaring circulations with their stories of Capone's gangland, the "Exodus" to Florida, Lindbergh and the Spirit of St. Louis, and Walter Lippman's study of the morals of the times.

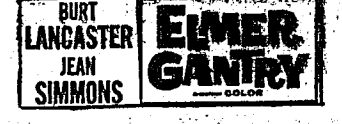

Then 1929, and the nation plunged from the heights of the mad era into the depth of depression. Economic collapse marked the end of our shimmering decade. The flapper age was wrapped in a shroud of sobriety and laid to rest.

But those who lived through them will never forget the times when American individualism was at its eight, intellectual curiosity poked into every nook and cranny, and hilarity was host!

Beavers Paddle An Improved Idaho Team

By JIM HERNDON
Argonaut Sports Editor

Rambling fullback Mike Sheeran crashed through the Oregon State defense in the third quarter from the three yard line to score the only Vandal touchdown in Idaho's Homecoming game last Saturday. The Beavers dumped the Vandals, 28-8.

Rangy Vandal Reg Carolan grasped a Sil Vial pass from the top of an OSC player's helmet for the two points after touchdown to give Idaho eight points. Dick Mooney ran the kickoff for the Vandals to the Idaho 13-yard line to start the game action. Two running plays and an incomplete pass forced Carolan to punt for the Vandals.

Held OSC In Check

Idaho, playing good defensive ball, seemingly held the Beavers in check. Tailback Terry Baker starting the play from the OSC 33 yard line rushed for two yards. Fullback Gene Hilliard attempted an end sweep on the next play and was thrown for a three yard loss. On the next play Hilliard passed eight yards to end Mike Youngquist. But the Beavers, three yards from a first down, were forced into a kicking situation.

Idaho took over the ball again on the Idaho 24 but the Beavers had the Vandals bundled up and obtained the pigskin on a 36 yard Carolan punt.

Then from the OSC 11 yard line seatback Baker became too much for the Vandals and ramrodded the Beavers to their first touchdown in seven plays. The score resulted from a single wing powerplay around the right side of the Vandal line. The points after touchdown were made by Baker with the same play, this time around the left end.

Vandals Lose Ball

Idaho lost the ball on downs at the Oregon State eight yard line as the first quarter ended.

The second quarter had barely opened when Baker shot a 49-yard pass to Amos Marsh to set up the Beavers second score.

Hilliard scored two plays later with a run up the middle from the seven. Beaver Chuck Marshall's rushing attempt for the PAT was stopped by a Jim Decko tackle.

Later in the same period an Idaho drive was broken up with a Beaver-Vandal exchange of fumbles. Galen Rogers dropped the ball which was recovered by Dick DeBisschop and in the next play OSC Hilliard fumbled with Jim Davidson recovering.

Halftime ended with the Beavers on the Idaho 19 yard line and leading 14-0.

Idaho Highlights

The third quarter held the highlights of Idaho's play. John Dahlen recovered a Beaver fumble and Idaho began a touchdown drive.

Sheeran entered the game and became the backbone of the Idaho attack. Sheeran's rushes through the middle gained the Vandals two first downs and a Vial to Dennis pass play set up the score.

The Vandals, worn out from the three previous quarters, were swamped by the charging Beavers. OSC scored twice early in the period.

Vial Fumbles

The first came on a Baker to Hilliard pass play from the 21 yard line with 13:20 left to play. The Beavers' last score resulted four minutes later when Vandal quarterback Vial fumbled the ball on the Idaho 18. Art Gilmore recovered and in three plays the Beavers were threatening on the Idaho nine.

John Kirby carried for the final Beaver score from the two and a pass play netted the extra points.

During the play of the game Vandal defensive back Bill White received a broken ankle.

OSC's Baker completed 10 of 15 aeriels to lead both teams in the passing department. Vial was high for the Vandals with 12 of 24 for 169 yards gained.

On The Bench

With JIM HERNDON.

Vandals As A Team Improves; Individual Players Prove Lax

Football at Idaho is not a lost cause, after all. Sure, the Vandals lost to Oregon State 28-8, but no Idaho lamb was led to a slaughter last Saturday. Against the Beavers the Vandals showed that they were not the same sluggish team that played Utah State in Boise just a week ago. Idaho was a new, improved team with spirit and fire.

Much of the team's improved play can be directed at several outstanding personal performances. Sil Vial, with his sling-shot arm completed 12 of 24 passes for 169 yards and did an excellent job leading the Vandals' offensive attack. Lanky Reg Carolan, seventh in the nation in the pass receiving department last week, should move up a few positions after his fine performance Saturday. Also, it should be noted that Carolan averaged 41 yards in punts during the game. Before it had been rumored that Carolan could not control his kicks, Mike Sheeran, who scored Idaho's only touchdown, seemed to spark the team. Sheeran has been injured for part of the season and had just returned to action for the Beaver game. Sophomore Galen Rogers also looked good in his first starting assignment.

The big spark, was the Vanguard defensive unit. The Vandals had a defense to be proud of for the first time this season. Play on this scale will win Idaho a few ball games this year.

Scene Changes

The scene this writer saw from the Bench was not just one of glory, however.

The fatigued team expression in the final quarter brought to this writer's mind the other view seen around town the night before the game. This was a scene of tactics that should have been dropped when boys leave high school and enter college. A scene which does not belong a game-winning picture. Certain members of the football team were in places and conditions the night before the Idaho-OSC game that did not help their play the following day.

Idaho hopes to have a winning team; every Vandal fan, this writer included, would rather see the Vandals win 28-8 than see Idaho on the 8-28 side of the score. People always blame the coach or coaching staff, or the weather when a team loses. But in this case how about certain individuals on the team? It takes a team in top condition not hung over to win in any league.

Forfeits Mar Independent Grid Play; Delta Sigs Meet SAEs For League Title

Only three games provided any action in the Independent leagues last night, with three out of six scheduled contests going into the books as forfeits.

Shoup Hall and Upham put on the top scoring display of the afternoon, with powerful Shoup pounding out a 22-0 win over the faltering Upham crew.

Shoup, champions in league IV last fall, put on the pressure early, aiming at a repeat of last year's action that found the Shoup crew in the semi-finals with Lindley Hall.

Willis Sweet 2 and Gault 2 put on one of two close tilts, with Willis Sweet finally coming out on top 6-0 after four tough quarters of football.

TMA 2 put the pressure on Lindley 2 in the other close battle, finally edging out a 12-6 squeaker over the Lindley club.

Forfeit action marred the rest of the play, with McConnell 2 taking a forfeit win from Upham 2, Gault Hall 1 winning by forfeit from TMA - and powerful Lindley Hall 1 picking up a forfeit win from Chrisman 1.

Delta Sigs Meet SAEs
Action in leagues I and II should be hot and heavy today, with the top battle of the afternoon in league I. Powerful Sigma Alpha Epsilon and darkhorse Delta Sigma Phi meet on field three to decide, for all practical purposes, the league championship.

The Delta Sig squad, neglected in early and mid-season mention, rates as the "Cinderella" squad of the season, sporting an unmarred record comparable to the SAE mark.

Some observers class the Delta Sig crew as one of the best organized squads of the season, trading class for potential turnout with the SAEs.

IM Meeting

Off the football scene, intramural director Clem Parberry called an intramural managers' meeting for 7 p.m. Thursday in room 109 of the Memorial Gymnasium.

In tennis action last night, K. Weatherbie of Willis Sweet downed W. Nyre of Upham, 6-3, 6-1; Kimble, Fiji, won a forfeit victory from Gesler, Teke, and Janson, Sigma Nu, took J. Boyd, LCA, 8-6 in the first set.

Teams from Gonzaga, Washington State, and Idaho were entered in this 3-way meet which was held in conjunction with the Homecoming game. As the gun ended the first half of the Idaho-Oregon State football game, runners from the three schools sped around the track and through the stadium entrance gates—the first leg of a charted 3 1/2 mile course.

Exactly 15:55 after the harriers left the stadium, the Idaho speedster Dick Douglas, crossed the finish line to take individual running honors for the day. Three WSU runners, Bentzon, Bertoria and Colpitts were next in line.

Coach Bill Sorsby lauded the efforts of two other Idaho runners who finished in the top seven—Gunter Amtrmann, and Nick Wetter, a freshman.

These same teams will hold another 3-mile meet Thursday on the Washington State campus. Sorsby said that these previous meets are only preliminary to the ones to come.

Individual results of the race are:
1. Dick Douglas — Idaho 15:55
2. Jan Bentzon — WSU 16:29

Swimmers Prepare For This Season

The 1960-61 edition of the Vandal swimming squad, coached by Clarke Mitchell is currently training under a weightlifting and running program, in preparation for their opening meet December 3.

The Vandal swimmers are using such equipment as wall pulleys, designed to improve stroking, dumbbells to develop strength and stamina, and physical exercises employed to develop arm strength.

The finmen are also under a running program developed by Mitchell to increase stamina for the distance swimmers.

The Vandals started light work in the pool yesterday.

Coed (admiring her engagement ring). "There's nothing in the world harder than a diamond, is there?"

Idaho male: "Yes, sweetheart—keeping up the installment payments on it."

"HOME SWEET HOMECOMING"

A great number of people have been asking me lately, "What is Homecoming?" but I have been so busy trying to find out why my new sports car leaks that I haven't had time to answer. I am now pleased to report that I finally discovered why my sports car leaks—I have been driving it upside down—and so I am ready today to turn my attention to Homecoming.

Let's begin with definitions. Homecoming is a weekend when old grads return to their alma maters to watch a football game, visit old classrooms and dormitories and inspect each other's bald spots.

The weekend is marked by the singing of old songs, the slapping of old backs and the frequent exchange of such greetings as "Harry, you old polecat!" or "Harry, you old porcupine!" or "Harry, you old-rooster!" or "Harry, you old wombat!" As you can see, all old grads are named Harry.

It is not just old grads who behave with such liveliness during Homecoming; the faculty also comports itself with unaccustomed animation. Teachers laugh and smile and pound backs and keep shouting "Harry, you old Airedale!" This unbecoming behavior is carried on in the hope that old grads, in a transport of bonhomie will endow a new geology building.

The old grads, however, are seldom seduced. By game time on Saturday their backs are so sore, their eyeballs so eroded, their extremities so frayed, that it is impossible to get a kind word out of them, much less a new geology building.

Even the football game does not improve their tempers. "Humph!" they snort as the home team completes a 101-yard march to a touchdown. "Do you call that football? Why, back in my day, they'd have been over on the first down! By George, football was football in those days—not this namby-pamby girls' game that passes for football today! Take a look at that bench—50 substitutes sitting there. Why, in my day, there were 11 men on a team and that was it. When you broke a leg, they slapped a piece of tape on it and you went right back in. Why, I remember the big game against State. Harry Sigafos, our star quarterback, was killed in the third quarter. I mean, he was pronounced dead. But did that stop old Harry? Not on your tintype! Back in he went and kicked the winning drop kick in the last four seconds of play, dead as he was. Back in my day, they played football, by George!"

Everything, say the old grads, was better back in their day—everything except one. Even the most unreconstructed of the old grads has to admit that back in his day they never had a smoke like Marlboro—never a cigarette with such a lot to like—never a filter so easy drawing, a flavor so mild yet hearty, so abundant, so bountiful—never a choice of flip-top box or soft pack.

So old grads, young grads, and undergrads, why don't you settle back and have a full-flavored smoke? Try Marlboro, the filtered cigarette with the unfiltered taste, and Homecoming will be a happy occasion and the sun will shine and the air will be filled with the murmur of wings and no man's hand will be raised against you.

At Homecoming time—or any time—try Marlboro's unfiltered companion cigarette—mild, flavorful Philip Morris... Regular size or king size Commander—a brand new and happy experience in smoking! Have a Commander—welcome aboard!
