

Holly Week Begins; Caroling Party Is Set

It may be a little early for Santa Claus, but the sophomore class was in a "holiday mood" for the opening of traditional Holly Week activities yesterday. Yuletide events will be held throughout the week, climaxing with the Holly Ball Friday night.

One of the most important events of the week according to John Ferris, class president and Holly Week chairman, will be the all-sophomore caroling party Thursday night.

"This is the only time during the year that the sophomore class will be able to unite for a single activity. We hope the entire class will turn out," Ferris said.

All sophomores are encouraged to dress in "warm" clothing and meet at the Navy Parking Lot at 7 p.m., Ferris added. After caroling at various campus points, the group will assemble at the Student Union Ballroom for refreshments, dancing and decorating.

Sophomore women will not be given 11 o'clock permission for the caroling party as in previous years. Margaret Tatko, AWS president, said late permission was not granted by the AWS legislature because of "too many tests this week."

The first all campus event will be a winter fashion show Wednesday at 4 p.m. in the SUB. "Silver Belles" is the theme of the show, and Holly Queen candidates will model.

Five Holly Queen finalists will be named by a vote of all sophomore men Wednesday during dinner. The final ballot will be taken Friday noon, and the queen will be crowned at the Holly Ball Friday night.

"Under the Mistletoe," will be the theme of the Holly Dance and general theme for all the week's activities, according to Gary Doty, Beta and Nancy Vosika, Alpha Phi, theme and wreath committee chairmen.

A special Holly week event will be the naming of eight outstanding sophomores. The winners, chosen for academic and leadership standing, will be presented at the fashion show Wednesday.

Pine bough holly wreaths were presented to all campus living groups last evening to signal the opening of the Holly week activities. Members of the committee making the wreaths were Pat Marcussen, Delt; Mike Allredge, Willis Sweet; Angie Arrien, Kappa; Jake Jones and John Dreps, Sigma Nu; Janet Childears, Tri Delt, and Norma Tipton, Alpha Gamma.

Working out the details for the caroling party Thursday are chairmen, Dave Shurtlett, Upham, and Barb Blair, Pi Phi. Committee members include Joan Miller and Linda Lewin, Alpha Gam; Jim Herret, Phi Delt; Sharon Stroschein, Tri Delt; Judi Tuttle, Alpha Phi; Jack McKelroy, Lambda Chi, and Janet Mae Donald, Alpha Chi.

Other members are Dave Pugh, Sigma Chi; Gary Loeffler, Upham; Jack DeBaum, Upham; Karen Leichner and Eleanor Unzicker, Alpha Phi; Tom Schmidt, Delt, and Tom Eisenbarth, Willis Sweet.

Bobby Rausted, Alpha Gam, and Harold Schilleff, Gault, are supervising the election of Holly Queen as chairmen of the queens committee. Their committee members are Tindaer Moeller, Theta; Idora Lee Moore, Kappa; Darwin Nelson, Sigma Nu; Roger Gambo, Teke, and Dan Barrett, Delt.

Schlesinger To Talk Thursday

Classes will be shortened Thursday morning to give time to the noted historian and Pulitzer prize-winner, Dr. Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., who will speak in Memorial gymnasium at 11 a.m. on how America's future is affected by the perils and prospects of abundance through the rise of productivity.

P.E. Honorary Will Sponsor Sports Dance

The 1st annual Sports Dance has been set for January 13th in the Main Ballroom of the Student Union Building. The dance will be an all campus dance with an admission price of $1.50 per couple.

The Esquires, a top band from WSU will provide the music. They will be accompanied by Shirley Mitchell, Theta, who had the lead in Lil' Abner and was a winner in the Blue Key Talent Show last year. Intermission entertainment will be provided by the well known "Ice Caps."

The dance is being sponsored by Phi Epsilon Kappa, Men's Physical Education Honorary of the University. The theme and decorations will center around winter sports, with a colorful ballroom atmosphere being planned. There will be a number of door prizes to be given away. The prizes will be such things as record albums, lines of bowling and free dinners.

Tickets are now on sale at the Physical Education Department office in room 203 of Memorial Gymnasium and can also be purchased from physical education majors who are members of Phi Epsilon Kappa.

The overall chairman for the dance is Dick Cooper, off campus. Other chairmen are: John Beckwith, Delta Sig, music; Gerry Brown, tickets; M. L. Gates, SAE, entertainment; Ron Zwitter, Delta Sig, publicity; Cliff Trout, off campus, refreshments; and Lee Shampman, Phi Delt, decorations.

Dr. Arthur M. Schlesinger, Jr., at Memorial gymnasium at 11 a.m.

Professor of History

On top of the many books he has written, Schlesinger, who is professor of history at Harvard, also contributes numerous articles to Life, Fortune, Atlantic Monthly, Harper's and Saturday Evening Post.

Kennedy Advisor

He was one of President-elect John F. Kennedy's advisors during the presidential campaign, and was also an advisor to Gov. Adlai Stevenson in the 1952 and 1956 campaigns. He has served in recent years as a consultant for the economic cooperation administration and the mutual security administration.

Prof-Student Smoker Slated

An informal faculty-student smoker will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the north ballroom of the SUB.

Presiding over the informal intellectual session are Dr. J. V. Foy, English Dept.; Dr. Guy Anderson, Bacteriology and Prof. Phil Peterson, Law.

This program is in answer to requests made to the Argonaut, by letter and Jason concerning the feasibility of Smokers.

U. ROTC Units Vie For Trophy

Any interested student and faculty members are encouraged to participate. Guest faculty members will form the core of the discussions which may range from sports to Chaucer.

This will be an excellent chance for students to meet members of the faculty on an informal basis without the usual "classroom tensions" underfoot.

E. Board Rehashes Accomplishments; Lays Plans During Meeting Saturday

The ASUI Executive Board took time out from its usual business last Saturday morning, and settled down to a three hour long rehash of accomplishments and plans with some success.

The opening hour of the meeting was devoted largely to a hodge-podge of new ideas and suggestions, with much of the discussion coming from board member Red Taylor.

Taylor, long an advocate of more recognition for the Idaho Indicator, "A publication designed to help high school students prepare for college years ahead," suggested ways and means of wider distribution of the student-sponsored pamphlet. After some general discussion the board moved into the area of public relations, calling Andy Jensen into the meeting.

Gets Storeroom

Jensen, the head of the public relations group, and previously laboring without the benefit of a permanent operating point, was given the board's sanction for use of the ASUI storeroom.

The big item from the meeting however, seemed to be official approval for the showing of the movie "Operation Abolition," a film devoted largely to the student uprising against the Un-American Activities committee in California last year.

In another field, one board member pointed out that some strange doings are taking place with regard to the cheating problem and English department's views on the subject.

According to the board member, a faculty committee is currently working on a program concerning cheating that is pleasing both the faculty and students. Oddly enough, no students are on the committee. The board heard the report without comment.

Foresters Slate Meeting Tonight

A general meeting of the Associated Foresters of the University of Idaho will take place this evening at 7:30 in Room 217 of the Forestry Building.

Featured will be a talk by Robert Olin, Director of Planning of Potlatch Forests, Inc., on the topic, "Radio as a Tool of Forest Management."

'Arg' Wins National Honors At Confab

On the basis of five editorials written by last year's staff members Bruce Wendle, Dwight Chapin, Jim Flanigan, and Neil Leitner; Sigma Delta Chi professional newspapermen judged Argonaut editorials best among those submitted by 67 contest entering colleges and universities throughout the country.

Results of the student newspaper contest were released last week at the SDX national convention and represented entries in four categories of writing: Editorials, Features, Straight News, and Sports.

The Argonaut picked up two other awards out of the 12 given in the four categories, three in all, more than any other entering student newspaper.

The paper won a second place in Feature stories, and a third in Sports writing.

The GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

"Go go, go—you gotta keep going till you get there and never stop."

That's one of the lines we remember from Jack Kerouac's "On The Road" and it pretty well conveys our impression of New York city, garnered during the Sigma Delta Chi convention held there last week.

New York is a city of people on the move, people going places in a manner indicating if they don't get there soon, something's bound to pop.

But who are we to condemn people who want to live fast. A taxi driver who took us from the Greyhound bus terminal to the Biltmore hotel remarked that he had lived in the city 30 years and liked it. His philosophy summed up; "It keeps you young—you're always going someplace, always on the move."

There's an almost frightening contrast between the type of people that we observed in the area and the type of people we associate with in the west.

For instance, almost everywhere we went we observed an uncanny preoccupation with liquor, and not so much by the students we ran into, which is what we would have expected, but by established professional people.

Alcohol seems to be a way of life in the east and nothing that we engaged in seemed complete without it. But if anyone had the audacity to refuse a drink, it was not forced upon him by any means. He was simply looked at somewhat askance as if he hadn't quite arrived yet.

It seemed like New Yorkers worked in two shifts to keep an equal number of people on the streets at every hour of the day.

Times Square at 2 a.m. in the morning looked the same as it had at 7 p.m.

We saw a lot of big men during the convention, and up close they didn't look any different from anybody else.

Nelson Rockefeller spoke to the group. So did Michael DiSalle, governor of Ohio. News commentator Douglas Edwards and editor and publisher of the Wall Street Journal Barney Kilgore were there.

Press secretary to John Kennedy, and the man most likely to take over James Hagerty's job, rotund, cigar-chomping Pierre Salinger argued about the fairness of the press in the presidential campaign with Nixon's press secretary Herb Klein.

These were communications men: the people who tell the public what they want to know about what is going on.

It's a somewhat awe-inspiring thing to see most of the major men in the mass media society gathered in one place, and realize that these men are responsible for what the public knows.

Their's is a powerful position to be in.

Last week we got a couple of interesting letters, one from an Ellen Morgan, and another from a Vivian Dieckamore.

These letters, both of which leaped upon our back with exceeding great jumps, had some adequate, if thickly laid on, points.

Miss Morgan aptly questioned the authenticity of a music follow story, which was one of the most fouled-up three paragraph blurbs ever to get through a copy desk. Needless to say, it had a few more errors than the average newspaper story.

However, it graphically and poderously illustrated one of the major flaws in news writing—writing in a hurry to meet an abrupt deadline: it is virtually impossible for the senior editorial staff, whose duty it is to quickly check the Argonaut before it goes to press, to catch all possible errors.

This particular story evidently had articulate readership. If we got letters for every error in every edition we would shortly run out of space.

Miss Dieckamore fervently cried out against favoritism giving some organizations more news space than is enjoyed by others.

Trying had to keep away from sarcastic invective, we

Students Think Gay Thoughts During Social Month—Dec.

December is a gay month; the scenery is grand, the weather is nice, you realize that you must use your Miami imagination, and the thoughts of the students turn to gay thoughts because December is a month of society. December is the calm before the storm, so to speak.

A typical example: "Hello Agnes? this is Max. Do you have any plans for the night of December 13?" "So what is the night of the 13th?" "Oh gracious, the night of the 13th is the biggest dance of the year." You hear this comment from every living group on campus when they have a dance.

Ask Again "Ok, I'll ask again, what is the night of December 13th?" "Oh come on, you know what the night of our Chaos-All-Over-Alpha Mud Turtle dance." "Oh well, wow."

"Gee Agnes, I'm sure glad you remembered, for a minute I thought my social status had fallen." "Max, about the 13th, after I had 'remembered' your dance I suddenly realized that the 13th is the night of our Chaos-All-Over-The-Place Dance."

"Gee, two dances the same night, I wonder how that slipped past the Calendar Committee." "I don't know, strange things are happening."

"Anyway, how about a date for that night? Maybe we could combine the two dances." "Max, I don't want to get your hopes up, let me check my social calendar and call you back, ok?" This seems to be a typical answer from some coeds also.

As the days dwindle down to a precious few, September, November, the words to the old favorite hit you like water being poured on a flat rock. This poor fellow had asked the girl way back in September! (ha ha, you thought he had asked in December, didn't you?)

"Hello Max? this is Agnes." "Agnes who? I don't think I know any Agnes." "Come on silly, Agnes, you asked me for a date a few weeks ago." "Oh Agnes! Well, this is an unexpected surprise."

"I don't see why it is such a surprise, I told you I would call you back after I had checked my social calendar." "You did tell me that but I got tired standing in the telephone booth eight hours a day."

Cuba: Businessman's Child

C. Wright Mills' article "Listen, Yankee"—the Cuban case against the United States—(Harper's Magazine, Dec. 1960), might well be titled "Listen, Father"—the children's case against their prosperous parent.

The Cuban relationship with the United States can be compared to a familiar family situation involving the hard-driving businessman who unconsciously assumes that he can substitute a pocketful of change for love and affection in his own family. With the United States as the "father of the free world," Cuba and the hungry-bloc as the "children," and the communist powers as the "bad little neighbor kids," the world stage assumes a familiar cast. Act one...

Father has been giving his children more and more pocket money these last few months in an effort to keep them quiet, out of mischief, and conforming to his own vague guidance. He hasn't had time to really get down and talk to them lately, but he's been buying them anything they ask for, so what more could they want?

At the same time, Father has become increasingly aware of the neighbors down the street, whose unruly brood is beginning to associate more and more with his children. Some of the children, in fact, had recently come home with bloody noses, sometimes complaining that that big bully, Red, had taken their dimes; or that Mrs. Red had said thus-and-so. It was just last week that one of his younger sons had asked Father why Mrs. Red had said Father was giving his children too much money and too few spankings.

But what really has Father upset now is Sister. She has openly defied Father; she ran out of the house early today, crying that nobody cares anything about her, and now she is talking to that bully, Red.

Father is very angry. He says after all he has given her, and still she messes around with those bad neighbor kids. He is going to send Sister to her room tonight without any supper.

Sister has said she doesn't care what Father thinks, because even an uncouth person like Red gives her more understanding than her own father. She says that all she wants is to be happy; she says she is tired of Father's raving about how much he has given her.

Sister says that all she wants is Father to give her love, understanding, and for him to show a sincere interest in her. Then she wouldn't have to talk to Red.

Exit Cuba. End, act one, Listen, Father.—L.T.

Class Officers Meet To Evaluate Past Programs, Consider Plans For Future

Last Saturday an all-day planning session was held by the newly elected class officers to evaluate past programs and to consider future projects being considered by each of the various classes.

Bruce McCowan, ASUI president, outlined the traditional responsibilities of each class and presented suggestions to the officers concerning this year's activities. He also explained the relation of the ASUI Executive Board to the class officers, pointing out that the Exec Board can make recommendations but does not control class officers.

One of the topics discussed was public relations and how the class officers could be implemented to carry the program out. Andy Jensen, Sigma Nu, outlined the program to the officers. A tentative suggestion made was to have the freshman class head a project to bring Argonauts home to student's parents.

The student leaders also discussed the selection of class advisors for the purpose of providing continuity from year to year as well as the improvement of student-faculty relations.

Other topics covered were meetings with WSU student leaders, the establishment of an old class officers' board to meet once a semester, and improvements upon present filing systems.

The various problems connected with the class projects were also discussed. Most of these projects are going to be subject to review.

Marking another Milestone

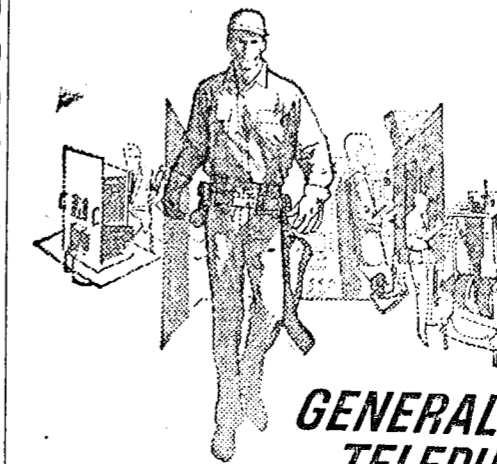

Rich in history and rich in promise, too—that's York County, Pennsylvania.

And the telephone company covering this prosperous and progressive community has recently become a member of the General Telephone family.

York's pattern of growth is typical of the areas Gen Tel serves in 31 states. Long famous for its fertile fields and well-kept farms, the county has enjoyed a remarkable industrial expansion since World War II.

Typical, too, of these growing areas is their growing need for more telephones. And that is where Gen Tel comes in with the experience to provide improved service and the willingness to invest in modern communications equipment.

This is just one of the ways we are working to supply more and better telephone service for a growing America—present and future.

Firesides Top Weekend; Gamma Phis; Thetas Sneak

By KARLA SIEVERT
Argonaut House Editor

Various living groups have put up their Christmas displays in the last week. Strains of carols can be heard, and the scent of pine is definitely in the air.

TRI DELT pledges spent Saturday in Potlatch gathering pine boughs and trees, and decorated the tree Sunday for the annual Christmas fireside. The theme of the fireside was "A Delta Christmas." Beta's hoisted holiday spirit with a Christmas serenade Wednesday evening.

The DELTS had their annual December dinner exchange with the Pi Phi's last Thursday night. After dinner everyone gathered at the Delt shelter and listened to the Delt quartet. The evening was terminated with a rock-n-roll dance. Dinner guests Sunday included Vivian Dickamore, Gamma cost, Upham. Mr. and Mrs. Phil Phi; and Rolfe and Ronnie Armagburt were guests Wednesday night. George Dickson, Gary Michael, and Bill Scholes reported that there weren't many Christmas trees around Robinson Lake.

The KAPPAS had their annual Christmas party in honor of the pledges and Moscow alumnae and children last Sunday. A fireside was held in the evening for Kappas and their dates. Chuck Lange, Fiji, was Santa Claus. Dinner guests Wednesday were Dawn Brunzell, Gamma Phi, and Mrs. Frank Adams, Twin Falls. The Betas serenaded last weekend to announce their dance. At the Christmas party, Mrs. J. J. O'Connell, housemother, was presented a Kappa mother's pin.

DELTA CHI's and dates had a terrific time at the Pirate Dance which was preceded by a crab dinner. Christmas is reported to be growing, and plans are set for a house Christmas party as well as exchanges with the Alpha Chi's and Kappas.

Firesides, serenades, exchanges, and sneaks have been keeping the THETA house busy. The Delt quartet, Lambda Chi pledges, and Betas serenaded recently. Last week the pledges eventually arrived in Pullman for a pizza party sneak topped off by a show and the CUB. Members entertained at a big-sister party following the pledges' return. The annual Christmas fireside was attended by approximately seventy Thetas and their dates last Sunday evening. The Christmas banquet is slated for next Sunday.

The PHI TAU's presented their annual Forty-niner Fling last Saturday, and it was deemed a great success by all who attended. Chaparones were Dr. and Mrs. R. Reed and Dr. and Mrs. Hans Sagen. Dinner guest on Sunday was Pat Finney, Kappa.

Faculty Recital Is Thursday

The first University Faculty recital of the year will be presented by four members of the music staff at 8 p.m. Thursday in the Music building recital hall.

LeRoy Bauer, violin; David Whisner, cello, and Steven Romano, piano, members of the Faculty Trio, will be heard in a number by Walter Piston, a leading American composer.

A sonata for violin and piano by Cesar Franck will be performed by Bauer and Romano. Warren Bellis, clarinetist, will join Romano and Whisner to present a "Trio" by Beethoven.

The recitalists are prominent in the University music faculty and have appeared in concerts throughout Idaho, Washington and on the

'Cradle Song' Proves Success For Idaho Drama Department

By SKIP JONES
Argonaut Drama Critic

Friday and Saturday nights' performance of "The Cradle Song" were an interesting and successful undertaking for the drama department.

Even though this play has received international acclaim, it is relatively unknown in this area. Its authors, Gregorio and Maria Martinez Sierra, have not gained a great deal of popularity in this country. Despite all of this, attendance was good and the audience's response was favorable.

The story deals with strong human emotions that are experienced by a strict order of cloistered Dominican nuns. A student portrayal of this type of situation would ordinarily be next to impossible; but the cast came through with flying colors.

Sally Wilbanks once again confirmed our opinions of her acting ability in her role as the Vicarress. She handled the part of the narrow-minded sister with all of the ease of a seasoned trouper. Miss Wilbanks was faced with a difficult role; that of an old woman who is opposed to any change in the established order and yet is completely won over at the conclusion of the play. It required her to keep up a false front and reveal the true emotions of her character gradually.

Nancy Davis, playing the part of Sister Joanna, carried a major part of the play. Miss Davis is a very convincing cast.

newcomer to the U of I stage. Although she appeared somewhat tense during the beginning, she quickly warmed up to her role and gave a convincing performance. The only fault that we might find with her acting is that she failed to allow herself to age as the play progressed through 18 years. We hope to see more of her work in the near future.

Ann Rosendahl, playing Sister Marcella, and Jo O'Donnell, playing Sister Maria Jesus, are both to be commended for their portrayals of two none too serious nuns.

Unfortunately, not all of the acting was as good as that mentioned above. The Doctor, played by Darwin Afdahl, was noticeably tense and sometimes impossible to hear, hence, losing some very amusing lines in his beard.

John Rowe, taking the part of Antonio, displayed a fine speaking voice; however, he seemed so intent on remembering his lines that he droned into a sing-song that somehow did not fit the role.

Edmund Chavez, of the dramatic department, delighted his audience with an extremely fine set, one of the best in the past two years. He also designed the costumes which gave a very realistic touch to the total performance.

In addition to all this, he found time to direct a group of relatively inexperienced students into a part of the play. Miss Davis is a very convincing cast.

GOLDEN FLEECE—

will merely point out that:

- (1) Skip Jones came to us and offered his services as a reporter to cover and criticize ASUI drama, which we gladly made use of.
- (2) We have printed just about all the information we have been able to gather about the Debate Squad, and the size of the headlines were limited only by the amount of information we had available at the time.
- (3) We will publish only those things about a group, generally speaking, which we can learn about a group, and
- (4) University organizations have a much, much better chance of getting regularly into print when they furnish us with material.

So far we haven't had student representatives from the University Symphony Orchestra or the University Debate Squad offer to keep us constantly informed, in good journalistic writing, and not public relations blurbs, of what their outfits were doing.

Not this: a student who studies drowsily no matter how much sleep he gets.

This! Perspicacious... sharp! NoDoz keeps you awake and alert—safely!

If you find studying sometimes soporific (and who doesn't?) the word to remember is NoDoz. NoDoz alerts you with a safe and accurate amount of caffeine—the same refreshing stimulant in coffee and tea. Yet non-habit-forming NoDoz is faster, handier, more reliable. So to keep perspicacious during study and exams—and while driving, too—always keep NoDoz in proximity.

The safe stay awake tablet—available everywhere. Another fine product of Groves Laboratories.

Montana Grizzlies Clip Vandals; Frosh Dump Yakima

Maren Hits For 25 Points In Idaho's Second Loss

By JIM HERNDON
Argonaut Sports Editor

Vandal center 6-8 Ken Maren's 25 point effort Saturday night was in vain as the Montana Grizzlies beat Idaho 67-55 in the Vandals' home opener.

Captain Bob O'Billovich led his Silvertip quintet with 15 points in a running battle which saw both teams using the full court press for the most part of the game.

Montana led at halftime 34-25. Co-captain Dale James got the first score of the game in the opening seconds with a driving layin.

Chuck White, 6-4, set up the play with a pass from mid-court. The Grizzlies fired back with three 30-foot jumpers, one by O'Billovich and two by guard Butch Hendricks.

A hook by Maren, Vandal center, tied the score 6-6, but Dan Sullivan, 6-5, Silvertip forward scored the next time down the floor to break the tie. Montana then ran up a 12-9 lead.

Maren again pulled Idaho back in the ball game with a jump shot from the middle of the key which narrowed the margin to one point.

Fast Break
Idaho grabbed the rebound after a Montana shot went astray and started the fast break. Vandal forward, co-captain Rollie Williams, fed the ball to White who scored to place Idaho ahead 13-12.

With 12:20 left in the first half Idaho hoopster James made a free throw to give the Vandals a 14-12 lead. This margin ended abruptly as Hendricks, a 5-10 Grizzly guard, scored two long jump shots in succession to place Montana in front for the remainder of the game.

Action in the second half started with James stealing the ball from a Grizzly back court man and then feeding the ball to Williams who was fouled. The rangy Vandal forward sank the charity throw.

Montana, not to be outdone, sank three baskets in a row to increase their lead to 43-31.

Idaho went into a full court press with 8:20 left in the ball game. Montana led 52-38. The press proved successful with the Vandals narrowing the lead to 10 points.

Closes Gap
Reserve Grizzly guard Ray Lucien broke through the Vandal defense with a jumper from the top of the key, but the Idaho quintet continued to close the gap.

Maren, again carrying the Idaho offensive lead, tipped in a basket with 4:00 remaining to cut the Grizzly lead to five points, 58-53.

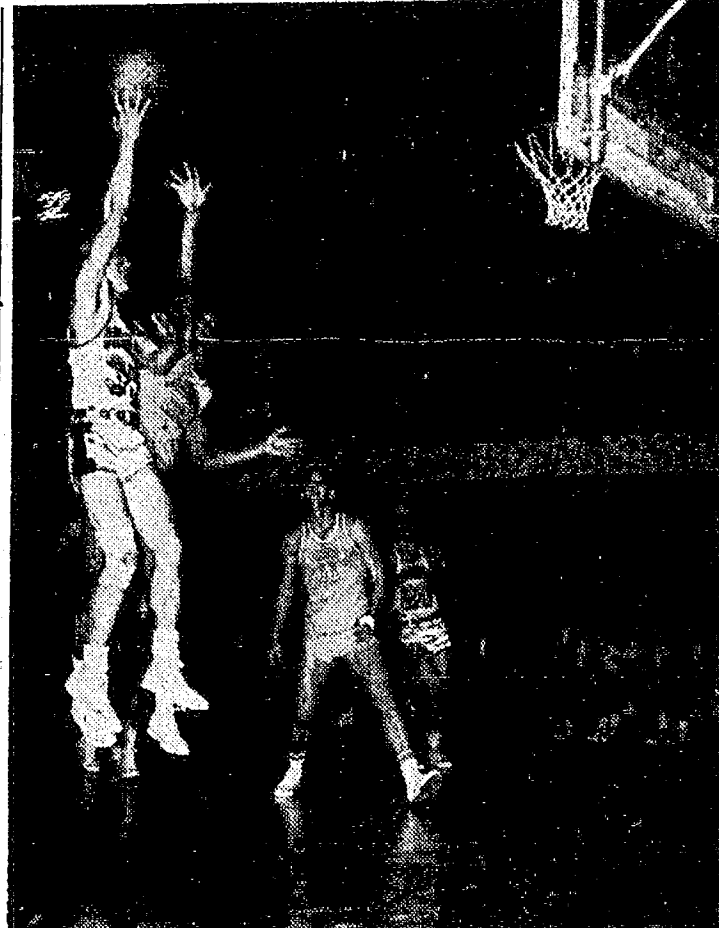

James then fouled Lucien attempting to regain possession of the ball as the Montana five began to stall. Lucien sank both free throws.

With 15 seconds remaining Montana held a 55-63 lead. A quick basket and free throw gave the Silvertips a 67-55 margin as the game ended.

Hot Shooting Vandal Babes Win First Game Of Season

The Idaho frosh pounded Yakima Junior College 79-67 here Saturday night to open their 1960-61 basketball season. Vandal Babes, Tom Whitfield, 6-5 forward, and M. E. Ross, each scoring 14 points, lead the Vandal assault. Dave Martin, Yakima forward, was high for the visitors with 17.

The Idaho Frosh ran up a quick, ten point lead in the opening minutes of the ball game. The lead dwindled, however, to one point, 35-34, as the first half ended. Martin had scored 10 points in the Yakima come-from-behind drive.

The Vandal Babes started the second half in a shooting mood. Jim Scheel, Idaho guard, scored with a jump shot which was followed on the next play by Whitfield baseline shot. Fred Crowell was next in the scoring with a free throw.

Martin then got into the scoring act for Yakima with a bucket and a charity toss. Russ Powers, Yakima guard, followed quickly with a basket scored on the fast break which tied the score at 39-39.

With 19 minutes left to play Whitfield made two free throws to put Idaho in the lead.

Yakima's Stuart Thompson then intercepted and tied the score on a fast break play.

Babes Lead
Joe Pettit, fouled by Thompson, scored a charity toss to again put the Vandal Babes in the lead by one point.

The score was 42-41 when the Babes broke loose with another

Vandal Finman Lose To Foes

By LARRY ROBY
Argonaut Sports Writer

The Idaho swimming team barely kept its nose above the water Saturday when it came face to face with the stiffest competition of the season in the Far West Relay Meet at Pullman. With only 16 points the Vandal finmen ranked in last place.

The University of Oregon gave the Washington swimmers a real scare when they nearly upset them. Washington garnered 82 points for first place and Oregon scooped in 76. Third place was taken by Washington State with 54, and Oregon State took fourth with 34 points.

The Washington team, which was highly-favored to win, did not have it in "the bag" until the final event. Out of the ten events, both Washington and Oregon won four firsts each. WSU won two firsts, both in diving events.

"We were surprised with the strong showing of Oregon," Vandal swimming coach Clarke Mitchell said.

"All the other four teams appeared stronger than they were last year, and a real tough dual season is in store for us," he said.

The only event in which Idaho placed higher than fifth was the 200-yard medley relay. They scored third in it. Dale Dennis, Chris Nyby, Paul Breithaupt, and Bill Stancer were the swimmers in this event.

SHULTON

DR. FROOD ON FINE ARTS

In which Lucky Strike's gift to the arts selects "The World's Greatest Masterpieces" and reveals all—in fact, more than all—that is known about each.

Early Rembrandt: That Rembrandt was born a genius is conclusively proven by this little-known masterpiece. This, his first known painting, astounded critics and made the name Billy Rembrandt famous throughout Europe. Believe it or not, Rembrandt created this masterpiece when he was two years old!

The Thinker: What is The Thinker thinking? This has been as baffling to scholars as the riddle of the sphinx and "Who's on first?" But now it can be revealed that this statue is actually a Roman warrior who had been asked, "Remember how great cigarettes used to taste?" When he failed to answer, "Luckies still do," he was turned to stone.

The Venus de Milo: Sculptured in the second century B.C. on behalf of a Greek pencil manufacturer, this great statue has won fame through the ages as the symbol of beauty parlors, bowling alleys, upholstery firms and reducing pills. Today it is used primarily as a vivid warning to small children who bite their fingernails.

Woman in Water: Here is the original of a great "lost" masterpiece which I was able to acquire for the ridiculously low price of $8,500. I mention this only to show what great bargains you can find in art if you know your subject. I determined the authenticity of this priceless original by proving that the small stain, upper left, was made by Renoir's favorite coffee.
