THE GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

This is a tribute. It is a tribute to the people whose combined efforts consistently put out this paper twice a week, mostly on blood, sweat and guts alone.

A newspaper is a funny thing: as one of our journalism instructors is wont to remark occasionally, "Of all campus activities, yours is probably unique in that you have something tangible you can say you have accomplished—you can pick up the paper and can say, "This is mine, I'm a part of it."

It takes a strange breed of people to put out a college newspaper — it takes a corps of dedicated, capable people, who have to know a lot about what they're doing, and haven't really had time to learn all there is to know about it.

They work for only a little glory and less pay. They work a lot longer than the average student realizes or even cares about and they have to try to get an education at the same time.

There's glory in newspaper work: there's the glory of seeing your own name in hard black print and the glory of looking at set-in-type stories and know that the story wouldn't be there if you hadn't done something about it.

This is the glory, and it's worth it. It's worth it because you're doing something you believe in and it's something you want to do.

It was not an easy job being Jason. But it could have been a lot harder. The editor is only the person who coordinates. The staff does the work. And while people may know who the editor is, they rarely know who backs him up. And the people who back him up are far more important than he is.

Jason had some good people working for him this semester. He had the best staff that he's ever seen connected with the Argonaut. People like, Randall, the big right hand. The hardnosed, never-give-up facts diggers like Townsend.

The go-go happy people like Lance and Hollinger. The dependable people, the ones who get things done, and to heck with what it takes like Stivers, Nelson, Herndon and Johnson.

Good, stable reporters who work for the satisfaction of writing and no loot, like Modie, Metcalf, Roby, McGuire, Jacobs, Hughes.

The people responsible for the most criticized and least appreciated part of the paper, the women's page: Buroker, All-gair, Spiker.

And the behind-the-scenes people, Davison's circulation staff and Ad men Anderson and Kloefer.

These are some of the people who are responsible for the Argonaut — they write what you read.

This is the final for the semester and this semester's Jason. The next one out will be Gary Randall's. He'll do a good job.

March Is Military Ball Date; Queen Votes Cast At Dance

By JIM METCALF Argonaut Staff Writer

The annual military ball will be staged a little earlier than usual this year because of scheduling complications during the late spring, which is usually when it is held.

Mar. 11 is the scheduled date for the Idaho ROTC cadets and their dates to head for the Memorial Gym for the annual all-campus dance. Another innovation this year will be the method of selecting the queen. Cadets will select the finalists in their ROTC classes as usual. But the voting for the queen will not take place until the night of the dance with only those attending the dance eligible to vote.

Dignitaries that will attend the dance will be major officers from each of the three branches of the service, President D. R. Theophilus, and Governor Robert Smylie. Gov. Smylie will be invited by a special delegation of cadet officers from each detachment.

Music for the dance will be provided by the 25th Army Band from Boise.

This Friday ends the contest being held to obtain a design for the programs for the dance. The cadet officer submitting the winning design will receive five dollars.

Victory Dance Set After February

What is described by sophomore propaganda-experts as a "romping, stomping victory dance" will be held February 17, following the Idaho-Oregon State basketball game.

Featuring the Crossfires from Pullman, the affair is slated to start shortly after the game, and run through until 12:30.

Attire for the dance, according to Richard Just, Phi Tau, publicity agent for the gathering, will be "jeans and sweatshirts, school clothes, or suits" for couples or single customers. "This one," he stated, "promises to be wild, fast, and furious."

On The Calendar

TODAY Helldivers will not meet again until Feb. 6, 1961.

CLUB SPONSORS PARTY The annual party sponsored by the Faculty Women's Club will be Feb. 3 at the Faculty Club.

FULBRIGHT—Plant scientist Dr. George W. Woodbury, head of the University department of horticulture, will teach his subject as a Fulbright lecturer at the University of the Andes in Bogota, Colombia. Dr. Woodbury will teach in Spanish.

Library Displays 30 Art Pieces George Woodbury Selected As Lecturer To Colombia

Sculpture, oil paintings, designs and wood block prints are among the art pieces by University senior students displayed in the University Library during the month of January.

Some 30 art pieces, selected by the art faculty, representing a cross-section of the many different techniques and media produced by art students at the university, are being shown.

ROTC Cadets Hear Longley

Last week, junior Army ROTC cadets heard Col. Cam Longley tell them that the Ordnance corps of the United States Army spends more than $3 billion annually in the interests of national defense.

Cadets were then studying various branches of Army activity, and the guest speaker was a visiting colonel currently commanding officer of Umatilla Ordnance Depot.

A career regular Army officer, Longley graduated from West Point in 1933 and has served principally in Field Artillery and Ordnance during his service career.

George Woodbury Selected As Lecturer To Colombia

One of the University's distinguished professors, Dr. George W. Woodbury, head of the horticulture department, has been selected as a Fulbright lecturer to Colombia.

Dr. Woodbury will lecture in Spanish on plant sciences at the University of the Andes at Bogota, Colombia. He will be on a 10-month leave of absence. When Woodbury leaves for South America on Jan. 27, his research and teaching duties will be handled by Dr. Richard Foley, assistant horticulturist at the Parma Branch station.

Dr. Leif Verner, professor of horticulture and former head of the department, will assume the administrative responsibilities.

In addition to teaching, Dr. Woodbury will do advisory work for the University of the Andes in the development of an agricultural training program at the school. He will be working through the committee on International Educational Exchange Service with the Department of State.

Dr. Woodbury is no stranger to South America. He was the chief advisor to the highly successful technical aid program executed by the University several years ago in Ecuador.

Other University professors have lectured in foreign countries in recent years. Dr. Erwin Graue, professor of economics, was a Fulbright lecturer to Turkey; W. W. Staley, professor of mining, taught

Research Work Cited By Group

A University professor's doctoral research has recently been cited as one of the most significant pieces of research done in the field of industrial arts education during the past several decades.

The American Council of Industrial Arts Teacher Education in its 9th yearbook, 1960 entitled "Research in Industrial Arts Education," has signified the doctoral thesis of Dr. William R. Biggam, Assistant Professor of Industrial Arts Education, as being one of 25 significant research theses contributing towards the improvement of industrial arts teacher education.

LIBRARY IS OPEN The Library will remain open Friday evenings prior to and during final examinations (Jan. 20th and 27th) from 7-10 p.m., said Lee Zimmerman, librarian.

Impressive Talents Mark Of Robert Shaw Chorale

The Robert Shaw Chorale, which will appear here on Jan. 29 in Memorial Gym, has made 13 tours of the United States. The group, founded in 1948 by California-born Robert Shaw, has made more than 100 records for RCA, has appeared with leading symphony orchestras and on innumerable radio broadcasts. Shaw has conducted such leading American symphony orchestras as the New York Philharmonic, the Los Angeles Philharmonic, the San Francisco Symphony, the Boston Symphony and the Cleveland Orchestra.

The program for the 1960-61 tour of the Robert Shaw Chorale and orchestra follows:

1. Signet Dem Herrn, by Johann Bach. It is a motet for double chorus, orchestra and organ, and is the most famous of Bach's motets, being regarded as one of the supreme tests of the abilities of choral groups. It was written in 1724.

2. The Sayings of the Saviour on the Cross, by Joseph Haydn, a solo quartet, chorus and orchestra. This is supposedly one of Haydn's own favorite among his compositions and exists in several versions: as an instrumental piece for large orchestra; with words and vocal parts added; and finally as a string quartet. It first received airing in 1788.

3. Jephthah, by Giacomo Carissimi. It is an opera-oratorio; soloists, chorus and orchestra, and is taken from the eleventh chapter of Judges and recounts the triumph of the hero, an Israelite general, over the Ammonites.

4. A Ceremony of Carols, by Benjamin Britten. Written for soloists, chorus, harp and orchestra, and consists of a series of carols written in 1942. Britten is British and the work is taken from Medieval carols. The whole work is framed by a Procession and Recession, with an interlude for harp placed about two-thirds of the way through.

At the time Otto was arrested, he was carrying two loaded .38 revolvers, and was driving a car equipped with a red light and a siren. He was dressed in dark blue pants with a gray strip on the leg, and wore a blue shirt and a dark blue tie, and a blue jacket.

Moscow police said they had been told that a student was impersonating an officer on the campus. They said the reports were received off and on during the past two years.

No wonder the U.S. isn't "sweet" on Cuba any more; we aren't receiving her sugar cane exports.

Student Out On $500 Bail

A University student was released on $500 bail today after being held on charges of impersonating an officer. He was released by Moscow Police Judge James Bennetts.

Fred Otto, who lives at 720 Deakin, was arrested early Sunday morning first on charges of disturbing the peace, and was held for $300 bail. The charges were later changed to impersonating an officer, and the bail was raised to $500.

At the time Otto was arrested, he was carrying two loaded .38 revolvers, and was driving a car equipped with a red light and a siren. He was dressed in dark blue pants with a gray strip on the leg, and wore a blue shirt and a dark blue tie, and a blue jacket.

SIC Agrees U. of I. Has Space Needs

The State Institutions Committee of the Idaho Legislature in general agreement with the pre-legislative Budget Committee and Gov. Robert E. Smylie on the building needs of the University, Rep. Carl Burt (R-Ada) reported recently.

In a report of the State Institutions Committee on their recent trip to the University, Rep. Burt, head of the committee, said that his group found there is a need for a Science Hall, furnace, and some classrooms.

The Science Hall, Rep. Burt said, was found to be very crowded, with expensive instruments being placed in small, overcrowded, and poorly ventilated rooms.

"The laboratories were very crowded, and the halls had to be used as store rooms, Rep. Burt reported. "In case of fire this could be very serious."

The legislator added that a new boiler and water filter are needed to take care of the University's increased load. His committee also took notice of the "old and originally temporary barracks buildings," being used for classrooms.

CUP Approves Peace Corps

Kennedy's Youth Peace Corps has been given a vote of approval by the University's Campus Union Party. The action was taken last Thursday at a CUP party meeting.

Declining the move as not remotely pertaining to an election, measure, CUP president Larry Hossner, Upham, said "We are boosting this mainly as a benefit to the University, and it should be aired, if only because many other Universities and colleges in the nation are already discussing it."

Basic plans of the Corps is to permit young people to live in a foreign land for a period of time, learning about that land and in turn, telling the people about American ideas.

Some elements decry the plan as a method of dodging the draft, but Hossner emphasized that the benefits gained from serving on the corps would be at least equal to those of serving in the service.

PHI KAPS IN TROUBLE

The local chapter of Phi Kappa Xi, national honorary, has found that their expenditures for the last month has exceeded their income by almost 50 per cent. An emergency meeting to discuss the setback will be held tomorrow night at the regular place.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

First Semester 1960-61

(Two and one-half hour examinations—three examination periods each day)

Regular class rooms will be used for the examinations unless instructors make special arrangements through the Registrar's Office. Examinations in courses comprised of lecture and laboratory periods may in most instances be scheduled according to the sequence of either. Announcement of time and room should be made by the instructor for all examinations. Rooms should be reserved in the Registrar's Office for "arranged" examinations in order to avoid conflicts. Instructors will announce to their classes rooms to be used for all sectioned classes having common final examinations.

Smylie from among judges, lawyers and law teachers to represent Idaho at the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

They have synchronized three uniform acts recommended by the NCCUSL to be presented during the present session of the Idaho Legislature. The following acts are being introduced:

Lawmakers Get Handbook

State legislators in Boise now have for their use a new handbook covering Idaho legislative procedure published by the University Bureau of Public Affairs Research.

Named "The Idaho Legislature," the booklet covers practically all questions new legislators are likely to need answers for from methods of voting to how a bill becomes a law. Covered also are the legislative procedures of both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

"For many years the members of the Idaho Legislature have felt the need of assistance in coping with the complex and somewhat archaic systems of procedure which the two Houses use to transact their business," said Governor Robert E. Smylie in a foreword to the booklet.

Dr. Robert J. Hucksorn, assistant professor of political science and the Bureau of Public Affairs Research staff are the authors of the booklet, Smylie said they were to be congratulated on the fine job they did in setting down the details of Idaho's legislative machinery.

University Claims New Organization

They got a new club at the University of Idaho.

This one is called "The Royal Order of the Purple Shaft" and is dedicated to avenging all those unfortunates who have been unceremoniously dumped by members of the feminine gender.

One luckless lass got her official invitation to join the fast-growing club this week, but swears she's innocent — "it was she who got shafted."

Shades of last year's "Loser's Club."

Mead Slated As Speaker

When Margaret Mead, noted anthropologist and world traveler, speaks in Memorial Gymnasium March 16 at 11 a.m., her talk is guaranteed to not be "old bones and old stones stuff," according to Alfred W. Bowers, associate professor of anthropology.

Dr. Bowers, who is a friend of Dr. Mead, says her talk, "Marriage: Its Individuality and Conformity," will be both timely and sparkling.

As a lecturer and scientist, Dr. Mead has traveled widely and observed the changing pattern in colleges and cities throughout the world.

Dynamic Speaker

"She has had wide experience in research and lecturing and is a dynamic speaker wherever she goes," Dr. Bowers said.

One of the best investments you'll ever make...

You know what you invest in advanced ROTC... two years of classroom time and outside study. But just see how handsomely your investment pays off.

First and foremost, there's the proud moment in Graduation Week when the gold bars of a Second Lieutenant are pinned on your Army uniform... and deep inside the warm sense of accomplishment at having made it.

There's immediate help in meeting expenses... a subsistence allowance of $535 for the two-year advanced ROTC course. Uniforms and military textbooks paid for. $117 for your six-week summer camp training, plus travel allowance. And when you're commissioned, a $330 uniform allowance.

You discharge your military obligation with the traditional rank, pay, privileges and responsibilities of an officer in the United States Army.

And later, when you're starting your climb up the civilian ladder, advanced ROTC will still be paying off. Success in the executive areas of business and industry comes earlier and more substantially to the man who can lead. Few are born leaders; but leadership can be learned. And advanced ROTC is a great place to learn it.

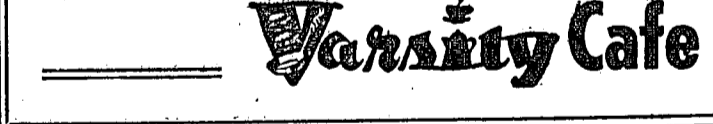

Talk with the Professor of Military Science at your school. Learn more about advanced ROTC. Ask particularly about the ROTC course in Leadership, with its practical experience in command responsibilities.

This! Perspicacious... sharp! NoDoz keeps you awake and alert—safely!

If you find studying sometimes soporific (and who doesn't?) the word to remember is NoDoz. # Hawks Best Freshmen In Overtime Periods

It took three overtimes, but they did it. The Columbia Basin Junior College Hawks avenged an earlier loss to the Idaho frosh and downed the Vandal Babes, 77-70, Saturday night at Pasco.

Earlier this month the Vandal Babes downed CBJC in Moscow. The two teams battled on completely even terms, scorewise, for the better part of 55 minutes, including 15 minutes of overtime play, before towering Waverly Davis and Bill Estep combined to put on a rush for the Hawks in the final minutes of the third extra period.

With 15 seconds remaining in the game, Idaho guard, Joe Pettit hit a field goal to put the Babes on in front, 51-49. The Hawks grabbed the rebound and with only 2 seconds showing on the clock, forward Larry Kincholee dunked in two points to tie the game, forcing it into an overtime.

First Overtime Not Enough Pettit once again started the frosh rolling when he scored another field goal in the first few seconds of the overtime. Tom Ballantyne made three free throws and Mattis scored two to give the Babes a seven point edge.

Columbia Basin got back into the game, however, and with only 1:32 remaining they knotted the score once again when guard Bill Estep hit for two, raising the score to 59-59.

Overtime number two started off when Idaho forward Jim Scheel scored with two free shots. Pettit, who was hot from the field swished two more and the Vandal Babes led by four. Bill Mattis scored two more from the free-throw line and the Hawks countered with a field goal. With the tied score 65-65, the Hawks stalled with the ball for one minute hoping to push ahead with a field goal in the last few seconds. They missed the shot, however, and overtime number three was about to begin.

Third Overtime Tells Story The Hawks dominated play throughout the third overtime. Idaho scored five points, while Columbia Basin popped in 12. In this final overtime, Ballantyne drew his fifth personal foul and left the game. The game ended with a 77-70 score.

Davis with 29 points and Estep with 17 made the difference. Idaho's best sharpshooter for the evening was Joe Pettit, who canned 11 of 13 tries from the field for a 22 point effort. Bill Mattis had 17 for the Babes. The defeat was the second in eight outings for the Frosh.

The next opponent for the Idaho frosh is scheduled for Saturday night when they go up against the Washington State Couababes in a preliminary contest to the battle of their big brothers, the varsity teams.

The Couababes presently hold a 24 record. Idaho frosh beat them 78-68 in a game played in Moscow earlier. Their other losses have been to Columbia Basin Junior College (twice) and Gonzaga.

Whitfield Out of Action Coach Anderson reported that big Tom Whitfield, who has led scoring and rebounding for the frosh, had dislocated his elbow in an activities class and would be out of action for some time.

Poor Hoop Record Is Result Of Several, Varied Troubles

The Idaho hoopsters have a 3-13 won-lost record and we believe it is time to talk about the fate of a losing ball club. Yes, we agree that we are approaching a delicate subject, and we still wish to air our views.

No one says much when the first couple of tallies are placed in the loss column, but when the number of losses begin to double and then triple the wins people begin commenting. This is true not only at Idaho, but all across the country.

You have heard the comments. Some of the common are that it is the coach's fault. "With that material he (the poor coach) has to work with he shouldn't lose any more than a couple games. . . maybe three at the most."

Or another common one; "the competition in this league is just too tough; we shouldn't be playing such power houses." You have heard them.

Another everyday accusation is that "the boys just aren't giving their best; or the other version—"those . . . guys just can't keep training." Yes, you have heard these accusations and also probably some that we have not mentioned.

Is the answer for Idaho's season to be found above? There has been no evidence of training infractions; neither could you say that the competition is "too" tough. The Vandals have played the same teams for a number of years and while the Vandals have not been a great power they were no push over.

The coach then? Well, no. Not entirely anyway. Coach Joe Cipriano came to Idaho with good recommendations. He was an outstanding star at Washington. He brought with him the fast break offense which he coached the Washington Frosh and had also used as a player. The players and the fans, alike, knew that if it was at all possible the fast break would be used at Idaho.

The Vandals, at times, have shown that they can play great ball and win with the fast-break. Early in the season the new system could be blamed, but not at this point of the game. Remember that the Vandals used a slower pattern-type offense last season? The returning veterans who formed the nucleus of this year's squad had to regress a season and learn a new attack.

What is the trouble then? We the BENCH feel that is a combination of things. Idaho had an outstanding personality in the person of Dave Strack. Many of this year's key players were developed under his coaching and found it hard to adjust under a new mentor's direction. Head college coaching is new to Cipriano. And experience is a great teacher (as this columnist knows from his writing experience).

We wish to go on record as saying that Cipriano has the potential and is gaining the knowhow to become one of Idaho's greatest hoop coaches. Yet, a coach and team must grow together. No, this year is not "down the drain," there is still nearly half of the season left.

Tests Halt Bowling Team's Activities

Fresh from a successful match in which they swept eight matches and moved into a three game lead over Gonzaga, the SUB bowling team will suspend play until after exams.

To date, the SUB keglers have been averaging around 180 pins per game and are bowling very well, according to Dick Rene, team captain. Jim Mayer's 182 average still leads the pack.

According to Rene, also SUB lanes operator, the SUB lanes will be in operation from 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. There will be no league play and all bowling will be open.

Win-Hungry Cage Crew To Meet WSU Saturday

The sinking Idaho Vandals with a 3-13 record hope to save the ship with a win against the Washington State Cougars Saturday at Memorial Gymnasium. This is the third meeting between the two clubs.

Idaho won the first 57-56 at Moscow and the Cougars tipped the Vandals 64-56 in the second at Pullman.

Last weekend the Vandals lost two games in the Willamette Valley. Oregon State beat Idaho 67-52 Friday night and Oregon edged the Vandals 67-63 the next night.

Track 'Season' Is Full Year Operation

By LARRY McBRIDE Argonaut Sports Writer

To the casual observer, track may seem to be a spring sport, but to Idaho cindermen, it is actually a sport which lasts the school year.

Coach Bill Sorsby has said: "In Idaho is keeping up with the rest of the schools in the sports world. This is just another example of how man wishes to be truly great, he must be willing to work at the sport year around. Some of the greatest names in the sport, Herb Elliot, Don Bragg, Parry O'Brien, and Ray Norton, for example, perform all year long, following both the indoor and outdoor circuits.

This trend is easily seen at Idaho. Dick Douglass has been leading the other distance men this fall. It has become practically a necessity for distance runners to compete in cross country, in order to be ready for the spring season.

Vandal sprinters and field event men have been working since the early part of December. Those athletes that participated in the indoor meet at Portland will be a few weeks ahead of the others at the start of the spring season, and in excellent shape. Therefore, conditioning will not be a major problem to cope with in the early part of the spring season.

Thus, it is apparent that track has become year around sport, and trend is evidenced here at Idaho, order to compete with Oregon, OSC, Washington, and WSU, we simply must start earlier than in the past. Track has expanded from a mere three month spring sport."

Washington State Hires 2 Coaches

Washington State announced yesterday the hiring of two assistant football coaches. Named were Ed Cody, 34, and Chuck Chatfield, 24.

Cody is the ex-defensive coach for the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League. He attended Purdue University and played professional ball with the Green Bay Packers and the Chicago Bears. Before accepting the job with the Raiders he was head football coach at the Santa Barbara branch of the University of California.

Chatfield is the former head coach of Sacramento City College. He played college ball at COP and was an assistant there before going to SOC.

No definite jobs have been released for the two coaches, although it has been announced that Chatfield will be co-ordinator of recruiting.

POOL WILL CLOSE

The swimming pool will be closed during final examinations starting Jan. 27 until Feb. 8, said Dr. Leon G. Green, head of the P.E. department.

Weekend Meets Evened Idaho Finmen's Record

An active Idaho varsity swim team evened its season record at 3-3 last weekend with meets against Central Washington College, Montana University and Washington State.

The Idaho finmen swept all eleven first place events in a meet with Central Washington Friday in the Vandal pool and came out on the long end of a 65-30 score. Competition was rough for the swimmers when they crossed the state line Saturday to meet Washington State and Montana University in a double-dual meet in the Cougar pool.

Washington State drubbed the Vandals, 66-27 and Montana U. walked over Idaho, 72-21. This was the second meet between the Cougars and the Vandals and the first between MSU and Idaho.

Last year Montana won both meets between the two schools.

Idaho swimmers sparkled in every event Friday when they dunked the Central team. Besides taking all first-places, the Vandals got their share of the seconds.

Even though the score was lopsided in Montana's favor Saturday the Idaho swimmers managed to take three firsts.

Coach Clarke Mitchell was pleased with the showings made by all his aquamen, but gave special praise to Al Hansen, Dale Dennis and Cliff Lawrence.

Hansen swept past the Montana entrants in the 200-butterfly event to take first place. Dale Dennis darted to a 100-free style victory. Lawrence, Idaho's only diver, won first in that event.

WSU Swimmers Strong Idaho didn't fair so well against the strong WSU swimmers. Dennis was the only Vandal to take a first-place. He did this in the 100-free style.

Roger Giles, the WSU swim captain set a new WSU varsity record in the 50 free style with a 23.6 time. Two brothers, Del and Gary Chase put the Washington State club in first place in three events. Del swam the 220 and 440 and captured first, while Gary took the honors in the 200 individual medley relay.

Idaho's free style relay men made their best showing of the year against the Cougars when they swam that event in 3:58.2. Jerry Zaph, Dennis, Chris Nyby, and Bill Stancer are the members of this relay.

Stancer broke his own 100 free style record by swimming it in 59 and 59.5 seconds — the first time he had swum it under a minute.

"I was very pleased with Dennis' time. He went the best of the year," Coach Mitchell commented about the excellent time set by Dale Dennis in the Washington meet. He swam the 100 free style in 55.5 seconds.

Tight scoring races going down to the wire were the order of the day for intramural basketball on Thursday's hardwood action. In League III, the Kappa Sig five beat a small hustling SAE quintet, 28 to 27.

In a game marred by temper flareups, the huskier Kappa Sigs wrestled the game from the sharp-shooting SAE's mostly on rebounding strength. Dawn Fannin, off the turf but not slowing down a bit, led the winners and the game with 15 points.

In the other contest, a real nerve-wracker, the still unbeaten ATOs came from being behind the entire game with only four minutes left to down the Sigma Nus, 33 to 32. Starting slow in their usual fashion, the Taus seemed confident they would take the contest.

Ex-signal caller Gary Farnsworth decided differently, however, as he put through 17 blistering points from the outside, keeping his team consistently out in front. But John Fox, with 3:30 left tied up the game with two tosses from the head of the key. A free throw put the League-leaders ahead, and they kept the lead to finish the game with a one-point margin.

On the more sedate side, the Betas didn't find too much difficulty in polishing off the Phi Gamma Deltas. Mires led the way for the winners with 14, contributing to the 41 to 27 bulge.

And Brown got hot from the field to give his Phi Delt five a convincing victory over the Delta Sigs, 48 to 36, as he hit seven big field goals. Right behind him by game honors in scoring was Por-

BOWLING

The ATOs took a series the easy way on Thursday night, as they took one from Shoup by forfeit, of course, 4-0. The Beta Bowlers went to 3 and 1 with the Fijis, as did the Deltas with the Sigma Nus.

However, Ron Farnsworth was high for the night with 204. His teammates, the Sigma Nus also hit for the high individual game, knocking over 867 of the sticks.

The Delta Sigs hit 283, for the high team series as they knocked over the Theta Chi squad, 4-0. Finally, Jack Kocker grabbed high series honors, summing up his scores for a 513.

8,000 Management Opportunities!

That's right. There will be 8,000 supervisory jobs filled from within the Western Electric Company by college graduates in just the next ten years! How come? Because there's the kind of upward movement at Western Electric that spells executive opportunity. Young men in engineering and other professional work can choose between two paths of advancement—one within their own technical field and one within over-all management.

Your progress up-the-ladder to executive positions will be aided by a number of special programs. The annual company-wide personnel survey helps select management prospects. This ties in with planned rotational development, including transfers between Bell Companies and experience in a wide variety of fields. Western Electric maintains its own full-time graduate engineering training program, seven formal management courses, and a tuition refund plan for college study.

After joining Western Electric, you'll be planning production of a steady stream of communications products—electronic switching, carrier, microwave and missile guidance systems and components such as transistors, diodes, ferrites, etc. Every day, engineers at our manufacturing plants are working to bring new developments of our associates at Bell Telephone Laboratories into practical reality. In short, "the sky's your limit" at Western Electric.

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors.
