Final Details Of IK Confab Worked Out

Last minute details for the IK national convention, co-hosted by Idaho and WSU, are being worked out this week under the direction of the national Royal King.

Idaho Duke Terry Mix, Phi Delt, and WSU Duke Chuck Rohrman have organized their respective chapters in preparation for the convention, to be attended by some 400 delegates from 11 western states.

Highlighting the convention will be addresses by Dr. C. Clement French, WSU President, and Dr. D. R. Theophilus, Idaho President, and welcoming speeches by the Idaho and WSU student body presidents.

Other convention highlights will be an outdoor barbecue sponsored by the Moscow Chamber of Commerce, an IK queen pageant, a convention banquet, and an all-campus dance sponsored by the IK's.

One of the main purposes of the convention will be to formulate plans for continued expansion in other western schools. Visiting the convention will be delegations from independent service organizations whom the IK's will try to draw into their fold.

Convention committee chairmen are Dean Grossenbach, Phi Tau, convention general chairman; Skip French, Phi Delt, public relations; and Barney Saneholtz, Delt, administrative chairman.

Subcommittee chairmen are: Bill Pressy, Phi Delt, courtesy and dance; Randy Litton, Beta, convention program; John Ferris, Beta, registration; Keith Gregory, Phi Tau, transportation; Garth Sasser, FarmHouse, and Kris Madison, DG, queens' pageant; and Ron Spencer, Phi Delt, marshalling.

Ex-officio members of the convention committee are Andy Jensen, Sigma Nu, public relations liaison, and Art Ekman, WSU, facilities liaison.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Campaign promises are likely to get some testing tonight, if things go according to plan. One of the planks, or understood plans in each party's platform, followed the lines of encouragement for local world-affairs and nation-affairs groups. United party in particular followed this line.

According to rumor from always reliable sources, one student group is going to test that promise by asking for real encouragement for a group he's interested in... the kind of encouragement you measure in dollars and cents.

If the Exec board, following platform plans, agrees to the appropriation it's almost a sure bet the request will be only the beginning of a long line. If they reject the encouragement request, some of these half or full fledged promises are going to look awfully silly.

Or the board could just say that money encouragement isn't what they meant.

Ramona Marotz Receives Citation

A University of Idaho co-ed has received a citation from The Pillsbury Company as an outstanding home economics graduate of the year. She is Ramona C. Marotz, Ashton, Idaho, who will receive her degree this spring.

Miss Marotz was nominated for the 1961 Pillsbury Award by Dr. Gladys I. Bellinger, Head, Home Economics Dept. and recommended by other faculty members.

Blood Drive Set For April 18-20

The dates for the annual Blood Drive this year are Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday, April 18-20, in the South Ballroom of the SUB.

The theme of the drive will be "Help Harry Hemoglobin." Blanche Blecha, Alpha Phi, is chairman.

Mary Joyce, Dance Win Miss U. Contest

The terror of a lone women listening to advancing footsteps was portrayed in an intricate and somewhat weird modern interpretive dance by Mary Joyce Rambo who brought home to the Gamma Beta Sorority house the Miss University of Idaho trophy — their third queen's trophy of the year — Saturday night.

Miss Rambo and first runner-up Patsy McCullough, also a Gamma Phi, brought added recognition to the sorority which has the Homecoming Queen and Sweetheart of Sigma Chi trophies.

The winners of the annual IK-sponsored pageant were dramatically revealed when a single spotlight swung across the stage to reveal the two Gamma Phis and second runner-up Jeanne Marshall, DG.

The three girls were chosen from five finalists picked earlier in the evening after the judges had viewed the evening gown, bathing suit and talent competitions of 10 semi-finalists picked in a preliminary last week.

Dana Andrews, Alpha Phi, and Pat Dunn, DG, were the other finalists.

Many spectators commented that the talent was somewhat better than in previous years.

Also competing to enter the Miss Idaho pageant were Judy Bonnell, Theta; Hayden Clark, Hays; Jackie McConnell, Alpha Chi; Paula Gussek, Alpha Chi; and Judy Tracy, Alpha Phi.

Judges were Mrs. Kirk McGregor, Rex Eikum and the Rev. Dean Holt.

Dean Grossenbach, Phi Tau, was general chairman. Committee chairmen were Bill Boves, SAE; Skip French, Phi Delt; John Ferris, Beta; Keith Gregory, Phi Tau; and Clarence Chapman, FarmHouse.

Master of ceremonies was Gub Mix, manager of KRPL, Bill Line, ATO, handled lighting. Entertaining during the lulls when judges were deciding were Dave Bell, Dennin Cleary, and Denny Abrams, all Phi Delt.

Russ Crockett, Delta Sig, was accompanist for the talent program.

Idaho Opera Workshop Set

Act one of "The Marriage of Figaro" by Mozart and "The Telephone" by Menotti will be presented by the University Opera Workshop at 8 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday in the Music Building recital hall.

Charles K. Sims, of the department of music, will be the musical director and Edmund M. Chavez, assistant professor of dramatics, technical and dramatic director.

The cast of characters include Figaro, valet to the count Almaviva, sung by Norman R. Logan, associate professor of music with previous opera experience here and the University of Southern California.

Other singing roles are played by voice majors in the department.

Chest Event Is Success; Prices High

A highly successful Campus Chest Auction Saturday netted $1,491 for charity through the sale of 27 living group offers of food and entertainment.

Lynn Hossner, off-campus, combined wisecracks with a smooth auctioneering patter as he gradually forced each bid higher in the annual event in the SUB.

Assisting Hossner in the tallying of the bids were his brothers Larry, off-campus, and Fred, Upham. High bid for the day was made by the Alpha Phis who bought the Phi Delt's steak fry in the Arboretum for $119.

Junior class president Terry Mix, Phi Delt, said the money from the project, sponsored by his class, will be distributed among such charities as the Red Cross, Elks Convalescent Home, North Idaho Children's Home, Idaho Crippled Children, CARE, UNICEF and Easter Seals.

Because the carnival traditionally held as part of Campus Chest could not be scheduled this year, the total amount of money raised was not as high as last year. But Saturday's auction netted some $200 more than last year's bidding.

Heading the auction committees was Katherine Koelsch, DG. Sharon Houck, Alpha Gam, is in charge of distributing the funds to charities.

Living groups who did not pay at the auction are to turn in the money to the ASUI Campus Chest fund in the ASUI office by April 21.

Bed-Pusher Boise Bound On Thursday

The Idaho Bed-pushers will depart for the Student Union Building for Boise this Thursday afternoon. They hope to reach Boise sometime Monday.

A 63 minute practice run from Pullman to Moscow last Saturday afternoon netted the crew's lukemium fund $25 from KRPL. So far, around $125 has been collected, the goal is $600. Dave Richey, Upham, spokesman for the group, said that most of the money has come from Moscow merchants and some from the sale of stocks.

The stock sells per share for 25 cents and the purchaser gets a certificate showing his ownership. Stock will be on sale at the SUB Wednesday, from 4:00 till 10:00 o'clock.

The bed itself is a single-decker mounted on bicycle tires. The plans are to keep the bed moving all the time. It will be pushed in one to three hour shifts with off-duty crew members resting in cars that will accompany the caravan.

If the caper succeeds, a new world's record for bed-pushing will be set of about 320 miles. The previous recorded record is 317 miles set by a group of Canadians.

KRPL and the Daily Idahoian have consented to assist with the publicity. Attempts are being made to obtain publicity at Boise and also with KHQ-TV and Life Magazine.

Dave Richey stated, "We would appreciate as much support from the students as possible. We feel that if we can get publicity through out the state our project will be a success."

The benefit dance, which was to be held last Saturday night at the SUB, was called off because the Program Committee did not meet, and, therefore could not authorize it.

Glenn Stoup, Argonaut News writer, will accompany the caravan.

EXIT, ARGONAUT! After a rash of long distance phone calls to the capitols of the world and consultation with leading foreign ministers late last night, the editors of the Argonaut decided that the pulse of the news was slow enough to permit cancellation of the next Argonaut Besides, it's Spring vacation.

State Governor Here After Vacation Break

Idaho's Governor, Republican Robert Smylie, will be the first speaker in the University's Public Events assemblies after spring vacation when he arrives on campus April 17.

The topic of his talk to a Memorial Gym audience will be "The Hours Grow Late in South America," and the speech will be at 11 a.m.

Last year, the Governor took a trip to South America with several of his colleagues, visiting some of the South American countries. It is assumed that he will pattern his talk after some of the experiences he had while he was there, and the effect of American influence, whether on the wane or rise, in South America.

Smylie, who has been mentioned in connection with running for the United States Senate when his current term as Governor expires, will probably attend a coffee hour

Atom Speaker Due Tomorrow

A nationally-known nuclear scientist and consultant with a talent for explaining complicated scientific matters in simple terms will speak at 11 a.m. Wednesday in Memorial gymnasium. Classes will be shortened as usual.

Dr. Ralph E. Lapp will inform a public events audience of problems, progress and possibilities of atomic energy.

Termed by his nuclear associates as "the one free physicist" since establishment of his own consulting service, Dr. Lapp remarks, "Were I in the AEC or the Defense department, I could not write or say what I believe must be told about atomic energy."

He explains that his work is always within the strict bounds of national security.

When he was on the Idaho campus in November, 1955, Dr. Lapp criticized the United States government for not keeping the American people informed on new developments in the atomic field.

The youthful scientist, author of numerous books, leader of the scientific group at both 1946 A-Bomb tests at Bikini, has been associated with many of the nation's top scientists—including the late Dr. A. J. Dempster, discoverer of U-235.

Dr. Lapp served as division director of the famous wartime Manhattan Project and during the postwar years was assistant director of the Argonne National Laboratory. He was appointed as scientific advisor to the War Department General Staff.

In 1947, he was made executive director of Dr. Vannevar Bush's Research and Development board. A year later he switched to the Navy department to head the nuclear physics branch of the Office of Naval Research.

"The Thinking Man's Band," Si Zentner and his orchestra, coupled with the talented and popular singer, June Christy, will appear at the Jr.-Sr. Prom April 29 in the Memorial Gymnasium.

Created from a group of top musicians in Los Angeles playing in the motion picture studios, the orchestra gave its premiere at the Hollywood Palladium to a fabulous record breaking crowd last year.

Zentner is considered one of the top trombonists in show business, and has sold background of band experience with such all-time greats as Les Brown, Harry James, and the late Jimmy Dorsey. Zentner was the featured soloist with "Dorsey's band."

"A Thinking Man's Band" was the title of his first album, followed by his Liberty recording of "Suddenly It's Swing" in early 1960 and "The Swinging Eye" in August of last year. Zentner has always eloquently spoke his opinion that dance bands should play dance music.

The acceptance of Si Zentner and his orchestra manifested itself recently when the disk jockeys of America voted Si the most promising band of 1960. His band was also the first Band of the Month on the NBC television network show "Saturday Prom."

Harry James' Vocalist The Jr.-Sr. Prom is tentatively scheduled to start at 8 p.m. and last till 12:30 a.m. June Christy, who sang for Harry James as his featured vocalist for many years, will sing intermittently while the band provides dancing music.

Home Ec Group Fix Special Robes

Bathrobes for eleven two- to six-year old boys of the Lewiston Children's Home have been completed recently by the advanced clothing class of the Home Economics curriculum.

These robes, made of bright, colorful terrycloth, constitute this year's project of an annual clothing drive sponsored by Phi Upsilon Omicron, Home Ec. honorary.

Home Ec. Club has contributed funds for the project this year.

Each year thirteen cotton dresses were made for girls between the ages of two and six.

The children and clothing articles are determined from suggestions given by Spencer B. Wheatley, Superintendent of the Children's Home.

Governor Smylie

The Trip was the second in two years that the Governor has been on. The previous year, he and a group of Governors went to Russia. He reported on the trip at a Public Events speech last year.

The Young Republicans asked him to take a different subject in the afternoon, and members of the group expressed a desire to ask him questions about the ISC-University of Idaho status, why the Southern Branch was not given a name change, why he vetoed the trading stamp bill, and if he expects to run for the Senate.

"There is no reason why there couldn't be an audience for the Governor," said Ike Griner, T&E, an officer in the Young Republicans.

UN President Slated To Be MUN Speaker

An address by Ernest K. Bohlen, president of the UN General Assembly, will highlight the Model United Nations sessions at the University of Oregon April 12-15, to be attended by 14 University students and their advisor.

Idaho delegates, along with advisor Capt. Edward Sayre of the AFROTIC and press secretary Herb Hollinger, Kappa Sig, will be delegation head Bob Moe, and Harold Schillreff, both of Gault; Dave Billow, Theta Chi; Clifton Elred, Willis Sweet; Bonnie McKay and Ruth DeKay, both Tri-Delts; Marlene Finney and Marla Tauscher, both Gamma Phis; Jim Bounds and Dalt Bithell, both Betas; Jerry Moore, off campus; Dave Tracy, ATO; and J. Longteig, Delta Sig.

The International Dance climaxing previous Model UN sessions could not be scheduled this year, due to Oregon's Junior-Senior Prom, April 14.

All convention delegates, however, will receive special invitations to the prom, which will feature Si Zentner's band. This same dance group will play for Idaho's Junior-Senior Prom, April 29.

Representing Liberia The Idaho delegation will represent Liberia, a member of the UN Security Council and of the Afro-Asian bloc. Because of Liberia's importance in the United Nations Idaho will play a stronger role than it did last year, when it represented Spain, a member nation of lesser importance in the UN setup.

The International Dance climaxing previous Model UN sessions could not be scheduled this year, due to Oregon's Junior-Senior Prom, April 14.

All convention delegates, however, will receive special invitations to the prom, which will feature Si Zentner's band. This same dance group will play for Idaho's Junior-Senior Prom, April 29.

SUB Movies To Continue Despite Loss; Kershnik, Stiles Lend Some Criticisms

By JIM METCALF
Argonaut Staff Writer

Despite a lack of an adequate advertising program, too many activities, and spring picnic-type weather, the SUB movie program is still supporting itself and even making a little profit.

This program which has been set up as a service to the students is not intended to be a profit-making endeavor. Any profit that is made goes into the general Student Union fund which helps support other SUB activities.

More Profit
The domestic or re-run films having been more profitable than the foreign films, and usually balance any loss that is present in the foreign film program.

It is not a small program, with $600 each year being allotted in the Student Union budget for this program. Approximately 16 domestic and seven foreign films are shown during the school year.

Looking to remedies for the poor attendance, Dick Stiles, Delta Sig, a member of the Student Union Board, and past member of the SUB Program Council, said that there are plans for the purchase of a marquee to be placed in the SUB in a prominent place.

Students will be reminded more often of the features currently playing, and attendance may improve.

Other Factors
Other hindering factors which can't be fought are the greater number of activities, especially in the spring, and the nice weather, both of which cut down attendance.

Both Stiles and Paul Kershnik, Delta Sig, chairman of the SUB film committee, agreed that lack of publicity was the main factor.

The facilities are as good as can be expected, under the present budget, but are being improved gradually. When the new addition to the SUB is built, the Borah theater will be remodeled and equipped with air-conditioning.

The film program will continue as is at least for the next year.

Obtains Films
The SUB obtains its films from a distributing agency which receives the films from the major film companies as year after their initial release.

The distributing agency reduces the films from 35 mm to 16 mm. The foreign films are, more expensive than the domestic films. These may be obtained as soon as they are produced but the cost lowers as the age of the film increases. A four-year-old film such as "Diabolique" costs $35 while a new film may run as much as $120. Since the SUB does not intend to compete with the theaters downtown, the audience for the films is a little different than the usual type of movie-goers.

Commenting on the type of audience for the foreign films, Kershnik said, "Curiosity is one of the main factors in drawing attendance; though there is a regular crowd who are genuinely interested in seeing foreign films."

In order to draw crowds to the domestic films, outstanding films are usually picked which will attract those who want to see it again, or those who missed seeing them the first time.

Keynote Speaker, Family Relations Confab Informing

One of the outstanding speakers at the 18th annual conference of the Pacific Northwest Council on Family Relations, was keynote speaker James A. Peterson, University of Southern California.

Peterson, who is with the Department of Sociology there, and is also a marriage counselor, former minister, and television star of an educational show on marriage counseling, came to the Idaho campus Thursday with some startling facts about marriage.

Speaking of the Los Angeles area, Peterson said 86 per cent of the people married in the last ten years have been divorced by now. Three per cent of the people in that area, he said, are happily married.

Peterson's talk, although treating a serious topic, sparkled with humor and anecdotes that thoroughly brought home his points. He presented an interesting theory on the relationship between working mothers and their children. Contrary to some opinion, he said, working mothers take more definite time out to be with their children than do many non-working mothers who take their children for granted.

He also noted that more women work whose husbands are in the $10,000-plus bracket than do wives of husbands making less.

Today's marriages face profound problems, he explained, due to the changing role of the wife. The husband still clings to the idea of a patriarchal family which in fact does not exist today.

New officers elected at the three-day meeting were Dr. John W. Phillips, professor of sociology, University of Puget Sound, president; Virginia Larsen, M.D., Tacoma, vice-president; and Miss Sylvia Lee, Olympia, secretary-treasurer.

Dr. Harry C. Harmsworth, Idaho chairman of sociology, said next year's meeting will be held at the University of Puget Sound.

ICE Head Thomas Questions New Bible

By LARRY ROBY
Argonaut Assistant Sports Editor

The New English Bible, a recent British modern translation of the King James version, will definitely find its share of readers in the United States; but one Idaho religious educator is pessimistic about its future popularity. Stan Thomas, director of the Idaho Institute of Christian Education here, said that "only time will tell" whether it will rival the King James and the Revised Standard Versions.

The New English translation is the second major interpretation since the King James version of 1611.

The RSV (Revised Standard Version) was a post-War II translation by American theologians and proved to be an "important landmark in Biblical scholarship," according to Thomas.

The RSV was an attempt by American Biblical scholars to translate the Bible into more modern language. It was successful, and the New English Bible is closely related to the American translation.

Archaeologists have recently unearthed tablets of the Armenian culture (that of Jesus) near the banks of the Dead Sea. The New English Bible contains much of the Armenian language, a definite asset. This "moves us closer to the way Jesus would have said things himself," said Thomas.

In most cases, Thomas said, the English version is more readable than the RSV. It has clearer sentence structure and the format is the same as any textbook one might pick up.

But Thomas was "amazed at the wordiness" of some of the New English passages. For example, the First Chapel of John in RSV says:

"In the beginning was the Word and the Word was with God and the Word was God."

The same quote from the New English Bible:

"When all things began, the Word already was. The Word dwelt with God, and what God was, the Word was."

Thomas, who teaches a number of college religious courses, noted that he had already incorporated the English translation into the list of other texts used in his Bible study groups. He said that student acceptance of the New English translation, which was released in America only two weeks ago, has been encouraging.

"They appreciate the stylistic clarity in the New English translation," Thomas commented. However, the J. E. Phillips translation, which is not an official translation, is perhaps the most widely accepted version by Idaho students, he said.

"The New English Bible seems to be a very significant contribution," Thomas concluded, "and it will be a substantial challenge to the RSV."

Extreme - Right

John Birch was an OSS man who died, violently, in 1945.

Since that time his name has become almost synonymous with unreasoning terror:

The terror evoked by an organization that is at best, extremist in nature, outlook, and method.

The John Birch Society is anti-communist, but then, so was the late Senator Joe McCarthy.

Anti-communist action is one thing—flagrant witch-hunting is another, and the two are interrelated in the name only.

The John Birch society was formed after the war by a man named Welch, extremely anti-communist, and extremely right-wing.

Birch was an Army Captain who was killed by the Chinese Communists 11 days after the Armistice, while on an intelligence mission in central China.

The Society has been under fire from some national magazines and newspapers, and even by some Congressmen, and has been accused of using Fascist tactics in its self-appointed task of fighting communism.

Possibly the largest damage that the Society has done has been to infer that men such as ex-President Eisenhower and CIA head Aileen Dulles were slightly less than patriotic—in fact the Society has referred to one high-ranking government official as a card-carrying Communist.

The greatest harm in a group like the John Birch society is that it tends to undermine the individual's faith in his government—because, like if you can't trust the big boys, who can you trust?

The methods that the outfit uses are disturbingly similar to the ones used by the Germans about 16 or so years ago. They seem to work on the theory that a man is guilty until he is proven innocent;

A rather strange one for the American society.—N.L.

Borah Foundation Informs People On World Problems

The University of Idaho's Borah Foundation is informing Idaho citizens about crucial world problems and taking a poll of their opinion concerning these problems.

This is done through participation in the Great Decisions program sponsored by the Foreign Policy Association-World Affairs Center. The FPA Center is a nationwide, nonpartisan, education agency.

This agency employs a staff of experts to write contrasting views on eight important foreign policy issues each year. They also gather basic background material and references for outside reading on the issues.

This material, along with several alternate proposals, is put into a kit which is available to any group of citizens.

Clint Grimes, executive secretary of the Foundation, has traveled throughout the state talking to community leaders and various organizations soliciting interest in this program. So far, groups in 21 different counties in the state are participating.

Topics this year are: "Deadlock Over Germany," "Soviet Challenge and World Leadership," "France and Western Unity," "Japan—Future of an Asian Ally," "UN: In Explosive Africa," "Arms Race in Jeopardy," "Arms and Survival," and "Blueprints for the World Economy."

The present series started five weeks ago and the groups are now discussing the fifth topic. Concerning the topic on France discussed recently, a strong majority of Idahoans were favorable to U.S. support of an economically and militarily-integrated Europe.

The Foreign Policy Association is a non-profit organization supported by grants and contributions. It was set up 43 years ago to better inform American citizens of world affairs.

The Board of Directors includes such people as Dr. Robert Bowie, Christian Herter, J. D. Rockefeller II and James Conant, former ambassador to Germany. In addition to sponsoring the Great Decisions program they provide information on the UN and foreign countries.

Borah Foundation has been participating in this program for five years. Grimes sends the results of the balloting on the issues both to the Foreign Policy Association and to Idaho Congressmen and Senators.

What's it take to make the right connection?

Plenty! Consider the problem. Western Electric manufactures the switching systems which connect some 60-million Bell telephones throughout the U. S. The average call over today's electromechanical system requires 420 relay operations. All together, this interconnecting equipment makes up the heart of what is, in effect, the world's largest machine.

That's where Western Electric and you come in. The switching equipment for this "machine" involves an enormous manufacturing job carried on by our plants throughout the country. Because of the size and service requirements involved, we require quality standards far exceeding those of ordinary manufacturing. The size of this job presents an unusual challenge to the engineer who may save the Bell System many thousands of dollars by even a small cost-reduction step.

While today's switching calls for a priority on engineering, tomorrow's will be even more exciting. For even now the revolutionary Electronic Central Office is under field trial and promises to remake the world of telephony. Future Western Electric engineers, working closely with their counterparts at Bell Telephone Laboratories, will concentrate heavily on developing manufacturing methods for this ECO equipment.

Your Western Electric assignments may cover many of our other responsibilities as the world's leading communications manufacturer. Perhaps you'll work on advances in microwave transmission, or even on satellite communications.

Joining Western Electric may well be your right connection.

Opportunities exist for electrical, mechanical, industrial, civil and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. For more information, get your copy of "Western Electric and Your Career" from your Placement Officer. Or write College Relations, Room 6106, Western Electric Company, 195 Broadway, New York 7, N. Y. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when the Bell System recruiting team visits your campus.

Jim Paulson Wins Contest

James Paulson, Beta, won the annual Air Power speech contest sponsored by the 9501st Air Reserve Squadron headquarters in Pullman.

Paulson was one of three advanced Air Force cadets entered in the contest from Idaho. Three AFROTC cadets from WSU rounded out the field of contestants for the event held Tuesday evening in the Wilson Compton Union on the WSU campus.

Each of the contest participants delivered a ten-minute speech on the subject "Manpower for Airpower." The speakers were to describe the subject in terms of Air Force utilization of manpower in an aerospace military operation.

The speeches were judged on originality, content, and presentation. Members of the 9501st Air Reserve Squadron served as judges.

Paulson received a gold wrist-watch for first place. He is a junior majoring in business and a Captain in the AFROTC cadet wing.

Other participants from Idaho were James Nasmyth, SAE; and Eugene Yada, off campus.

Theta Sigma Phi To Hear Ella Clark At Matrix Table

A writer of Northwestern Indian folktales will be the featured speaker at the annual April 29 Matrix Table banquet of Theta Sigma Phi, women's professional journalism fraternity.

Miss Ella E. Clark, professor of English at Washington State University will tell how a summer job as lookout for the United States Forest Service started her, almost accidentally, on a career of books and articles about Indians of the Northwest and Canada.

The Matrix Table will be held at the Moscow Hotel and will include prominent civic leaders, University administration, and faculty. Theta Sigma Phi alumni are also invited to attend, said Sharon Lance, president and a Kappa Alpha Theta journalism major.

Miss Clark has had her article on Indian folklore appear in such periodicals as the Journal of American Folklore; The Spokesman Review's Inland Empire Magazine; Western Folklore; The Sunday Oregonian; The Oregon Historical Quarterly; and the Montana Magazine of History.

"It all began in this rather indirect way," says Miss Clark. "When I was preparing to be a summer lookout for the United States Forest Service in June 1943, I was told fragments of an old Klickitat myth about Mt. Hood, Mt. Adams, and Mt. St. Helens. These three peaks I could see from my lookout station, and also Mt. Rainier."

"I found the myth when I returned to a library, and I tried to find one about Mr. Rainier — to tell when I showed color slides of the summer's experiences. Before I found one, I had uncovered so many interesting myths and legends from the Indians of the Pacific Northwest that I decided to make a collection of them."

Thus, from an effort to simply find narration for her pictures have grown books and periodicals. The University of California Press has published her "Indian Legends of the Pacific Northwest."

Prizes of $10, $5, and $2.50 will be awarded in each of four divisions: oil, drawing, water color, and photography.

No student will be allowed more than two entries in any one division. Entries will be on exhibit at the Student Union for a four-day period over the Mother's Day week end.

We want to impress the mothers on campus with an interesting and worthwhile exhibit.

Further details will be announced after the vacation.

Vandals Lack Depth, Long Ball For The Northern Division Play

Not long now—the first Friday after Spring vacation—the Vandals will face their first Northern Division opponent and start their 1961 season.

The Northern Division, the last of the Idaho athletic leagues, has always been a big thorn in the Vandals' side.

Oregon, Oregon State, Washington State, battle it out for the five-team league title. Idaho who has never won the title since the circuit's beginning in 1936, is usually found wallowing in the cellar.

The ND has been known to give baseball coaches extra gray hair, and this year look to be no exception for Vandal coach Wayne Anderson.

Last season Anderson finished his pre-season play with an exceptional good 14-2 record. However, the Vandal nine was firmly planted in last place of the Northern Division with a 3-11 mark the last week in May. Presently Idaho has a 50-50, 3-3 record.

Idaho's ND problem can be quickly summed up in two lacks—that of depth and power. The Idaho nine gets dumped in the ND primarily because they lack bench strength and the long ball.

Last season the Vandals did not have a home run hitter, or even one that frequently got the big extra base. Not that extra base hits are the most important aspect of baseball, but help in providing the big inning. And, so far this season no one has turned up as a fence buster.

Bob Vervaeke who has two doubles and two triples while hitting at a .348 clip is making a good attempt at it, however.

Two other potential power hitters, Chuck White and Andy Johnson, haven't hit their form yet. Johnson got his first hit of the season last Friday and White has three for 18 and a .167 average. White slapped the ball at a .456 pace for Skagit JC last season.

The other teams in the league usually produce a couple of fence busters and two or three .400 sluggers. Oregon State's Kim Bradshaw lead the Beaver's with 12 round trippers.

Last year's conference winner, Washington State, had Marv Marshbank and Hank Jarvits to wield the big stick last season. Both Cougar sluggers pushed the .350 plus mark. The Cougars are not likely to repeat this year unless coach Buck Bailey finds a third baseman to plug up the hot corner.

The lack of bench strength speaks for itself. Lettermen Ron Zwitzer and Terry Boesel can switch off at first, and the pitching staff of Steve Hinckley, John Dreps, Craig Freeman and Doug Allman, seems stable.

However, at third base, Mike Stowe is making his maiden voyage in college ball. Stowe's five runs-batted-in show that the Twin Falls sticker will handle the job all right.

But Stowe at third gives an indication of the over-all team depth. Behind every starter there is a player with a lot of drive and desire, but not much experience.

The outlook for the Vandals' this spring is not too dark a picture, however. Their potential is rated the best in past years, and the Idaho nine has a seven game pre-season slate to finish next week before league play begins. Time enough to iron out the rough spots.

NOW WHAT? — Idaho baseballers pack third base as a confused pair of Eastern Washington swatters try a run-down in last Friday's EWCE-Idaho baseball battle. The Vandal pair, which started out stealing third and home, wound up on third together. A bad throw sent the sliding Vandal home and his fleet-footed counterpart back to third base. ## Cinder Pair Hit By Leg Injuries

Track coach Bill Sorsby's hopes for a top-flight track season went at least part-way down the drain last weekend, as two of the "swiftest of the swift" were hit by muscle pulls and left lying by the track.

Ed Jacoby, Vandal co-captain, and Gary Michaels, cracker-jack quartermiler, both suffered leg injuries during the Far West Relays held in Pullman last weekend. The Vandals lost, and Michaels and Jacoby reportedly may be lost for the season.

All ranks of Vandal thinclds picked up cinder burns last weekend. The Frosh finished in a second place tie in the yearling division of the Frosh-Small College-JC trackmeet held Friday at Moscow. The frosh relay team set a new mile relay record.

The varsity tracksters got 14 points and finished last in the Far West Relays at Pullman Saturday. The University of Oregon won the meet with 75 points and Oregon State was second with 42½. Five meet records were broken in the afternoon contest.

The Vandals had their troubles. Co-captain Jacoby was running even with Washington's Bob Sanders at the 80-yard mark in the 100-yard dash when he pulled a muscle and pulled up short of the finish line.

Mile relay anchor man Michaels had similar troubles. Again Idaho was running even with the Huskies when Michaels developed a muscle pull 110-yards short of the wire. Washington finished second behind Oregon State's record performance of 3:16.9.

Frosh distanceman Paul Henden, running unattached, won the three mile run in 14:24.5, just three seconds off of Frank Wyatt's school record.

Other Idaho placers were as follows: Mike Mosolf, third in the broadjump with a 22 3/4; Larry Ferguson, third in the high jump with a 6-1 effort; Joe Davis, second in the discus throw with a 160-10 toss.

The 440 relay team of John Pasley, Phil Steinbock, Pete Luttrupp, and Phil Russell was third in 43.7. The 880-yard relay team combining the efforts of Steinbock, Luttrupp, Curt Fisher, and Pasley to take third with a 1:29.9. Fisher was third in the 220 low hurdles.

The Duck relay team clipped to a 41.7 finish, 5-10 of a second faster than Washington's 1958 time to set a new record in the 440 yard relay.

Missionaries' Golf Revenge May Come After Vacation

Powerful Vandal golf team again will resume its 1961 season action on April 18 as the Idaho swingers host the Whitman Missionaries in the first home match for Coach Dick Snyder's crew.

Whitman will be eager to upend the Vandals as the Missionary six are still smarting over the 25½-1½ pasting at the hands of Idaho March 20 at Walla Walla.

Rated to have one of the best links teams in school history, Whitman will be striving to fulfill this prediction and upset the Vandal squad in Idaho's home lair at the University course.

By virtue of their stunning triumph over Whitman and their sparkling victory in the Banana Belt Invitational March 23-24, Idaho ranks as the heavy favorite to capture the second match between the two schools.

Secret of the success of the Vandal power lies in the individual skills of its top lettermen six of Gary Floan, Don Modie, Robb Smith, Norm Johnson, Ray Kowallis, and Ray Schmidt.

Outfielder Bob Vervaeke started the Vandal scoring charge rolling twice Friday as the Idaho stickmen hammered out two victories over the Eastern Washington Savages, 3-2 and 8-5.

Spring vacation means the bats will be swinging fast and furious for the Vandal stickmen. The Idaho baseballers, put their even 3-3 record on the line this afternoon when they go up against the Gonzaga Bulldogs.

This will be the opener for the Spokane college team. Saturday afternoon Idaho hosts the Missionaries from Whitman College in a double bill affair.

April 11 the Vandals travel to Yakima for a double round with the Yakima Valley JC's. This club is vying for the top spot in Washington Junior College competition this year.

The Vandals wrap up their nine-game spring vacation week on the 15th with another double contest with the Columbia Basin JC Hawks. The Hawks dumped the Vandals earlier in the season.

Idaho hurler Denny Grant, started on the McLean Field mound for the Vandals. He limited EWCE to two hits in shutting out the Savages for four innings of the opener.

Darrell Woofler relieved Grant in the fifth and allowed two fifth inning hits to wrap the game up.

Townsend Victory A few wild balls flew from the mound in the second game, but Pat Townsend was credited with a victory.

First baseman Ron Zwitzer and catcher Ted Knivilla sparked the Vandal drive in the conclusion tilt.

The Vandals unloaded the bases for two runs in the second frame of the opening game. Vervaeke started with a double and scurried

Johnson went on to score and Mike Stowe ended the three run spree for the Vandals.

In the frenzy of the mounting Idaho total, EWCE pitcher Larry Hauff let five straight hits go by. After the Vandals had capitalized on the five hits, Hauff retired from the mound and Doug Morgan came Zwitzer and Stowe put the finishing touches on the 8-5 Idaho win. Zwitzer swatted a triple out deep into center field and Stowe, who walked earlier, scored on the play.

Do you think I should stop writing to her? Upset DEAR UPSET: Definitely not. There are all too few humorous poets writing today. DEAR DR.
