3 One Acts To Be Staged At U-Hut

Two performances of three modern one act plays will be presented Thursday and Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the U-Hut Studio Theater.

The plays are "Hello From Bertha" and "Mooney's Kid Don't Cry," both by Tennessee Williams; and "The Hitch-hiker," by Lucille Fletcher.

"Hello From Bertha" is directed by Doug Brown, off campus; and includes Sue Arms, Pi Phi; Kyla Thomas, Alpha Chi; Chris Reynolds, Hays; and Phyllis Harris, Gamma Phi.

Sally Willbanks, Pi Phi, directs "The Hitch-hiker." Included in the cast are Ken Radke, Sigma Chi; Coleen Custer, Alpha Phi; Lorenzo Nelson, Gault; Joe Basque, McConnell; Leah Byrne, off campus; and Jeanne Mazey, Kappa.

"Mooney's Kid Don't Cry," is directed by Bonnie Scott, Alpha Gamma. The cast includes Buzz McCabe, Phi Delta; Carole Hurley, Hays; Dijon Davidson, French.

Since the seating capacity in the Studio Theater is limited, students are urged to make reservations early by telephoning 6463 or stopping at the U-Hut office.

No admission will be charged.

Hobo Holiday Is Successful Limbo-Jazz-Movie Worthwhile

A limbo contest, Jazz in the Bucket, one of the best-attended SUB movies of the year, and a rather unattended record-hop with taped music, all combined to provide entertainment for those few students not attending other social functions Saturday.

The annual SUB Open House, entitled this year "Hobo Holiday," was generally considered worthwhile by the Student Union Board, stated a representative of that Board.

A limbo contest at 1 p.m. started the festivities. Doug Howard, Willis Sweet, was the champ of the day and Dave Kempton, Chrisman was second. The pulsating dance was done to the rhythm of Dave Bell, Phi Delta, and his drums. Both men were presented with record albums for their efforts.

The tables were then cleared out of the Bucket for a record-hop, but there was a definite lack of participation. Winding up the afternoon events was a performance by the Dave Trail quartet for Jazz in the Bucket.

Saturday evening approximately 300 students swarmed into the Borah Theater for the two showings of the John Wayne-type western, "The Searchers." The large attendance was possibly a result of the reduced rates for the film.

All day Saturday and Sunday special hobo-type food was served at the cafeteria with the specials of the day billed as "Bum-burgers," and "Hobo's Delight."

Credit Is Cut For Forestry

The Administrative Council of the University has approved a request by the College of Forestry for a reduction in the number of credits for graduation.

The regulation will reduce the number of credits for the 1961 Forestry Summer Camp to 8 hours and allow students who have summer camp to graduate with 149 semester hours.

Honors Given At May Fete, Plus Big Splash

Scholarships and honors will go to outstanding students during the annual May Fete Saturday at 2 u.m. in the Memorial Gymnasium. The May Fete program traditionally highlights Mother's Day Week.

The top fifteen graduating seniors will be announced by Dr. Donald R. Theophilus, University President, during the ceremonies which are co-sponsored by Mortar Board and AWS.

Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, and Silver Lance, senior men's honorary, will tap new members. Mortar Board will also present scholarship plaques to women with the highest scholarship in the freshman and sophomore classes.

Trophy Given

A trophy will be given to an outstanding senior woman in WRA. The IK's will award the Holy Grail and Outstanding Knight honors to two of its members. The Alpha Lambda Delta award will be given to an outstanding senior woman who was a member of that organization during her freshman year.

Margaret Talko, Gamma Phi, will reign as May Queen. She is retiring AWS president. The Spurs, sophomore women's honorary, and the University Singers and the University Band will perform.

Stedfield Chairman

Karen Stedfield, Kappa, is general chairman. AWS is financing the May Fete and Mortar Board is making arrangements.

Orchestra To Feature Solo Parts

Six music majors will appear as soloists with the University Symphony Orchestra in the orchestra's third and final concert of the year, Thursday at 8 p.m. in the University Auditorium.

The Concerto-Aria concert with student soloists will become an annual concert with the soloists selected by audition. For this first concert, conductor LeRoy Bauer has chosen the following students:

Sopranos Barbara Neely and Kris Madison to sing arias by Tschaiakowsky and Puccini; Lynn Schwindel, hornist, and Chester Peterson, clarinetist, each performing portions of Concertos by Mozart; DeLance Franklin, bass, to sing an aria from Verdi's "Simon Boccanegra," and Myrna Inghram to conclude the program with the performance of the first movement from Rachmaninoff's popular Second Piano Concerto.

Phillip Coffman, a graduate student in music, will conduct the Overture to Russian and Ludmilla by Glinka.

The orchestra will perform Symphony No. 8 in B minor (Unfinished) by Schubert.

The orchestra consists of about 65 members representing many different courses of study and more than 25 different communities. Tryouts are open to the entire student body, and regular University credit is granted. Qualified adults from surrounding communities also take part.

Each year the orchestra presents three major concerts, transcribes radio broadcasts in collaboration with the Radio-TV Center, and assists in the production of musical shows and operas.

The following seniors will be performing for the last time with the orchestra: Martha Banks, Georgia Finch, Chester Peterson, JoAnn Fingerson, Robert Newell, and Jay Thurmond.

Thursday's concert will be the first featuring student soloists, and it is expected to have great popular appeal.

The public is admitted free of charge.

SUB Chooses Committees

The students who will carry out next year's many Student Union programs will be selected tonight from interviews from 7 to 10 p.m. in Conference Rooms B, D, and E in the SUB.

Chairmen of 10 committees will be chosen to make up the SUB Program Council. Students wanting information on the committees should see Mrs. Charmaine Fitzgerald, SUB Program Director.

The following chairmen will be chosen: Music, SUB dances, Exhibits, Films, Hospitality and Seasonal Decorations, Calendar, Open House and Public Relations, Coffee Hours and Forums, Recreation and Game Room, and Budget.

ASUI Has 'Model Government' Say Officers After PSPA Meet

Less Apathy At U. of Idaho

By NEIL MODIE
Asst. News Editor

Four University delegates — the 1960-61 ASUI President and Vice President and their two successors — returned from the Pacific Student Presidents' Association convention in San Francisco Saturday with the impression that Idaho's student government has become a model for other schools to follow.

ASUI President Jim Mullen, off campus, accompanied by Vice President Dick Stiles, Delta Sig; former president Bruce McCowan, Beta, and former vice John Fitzgerald, Delta, commented that "the University of Idaho gained one thing from the convention—prestige."

Idaho Contributed

"The Idaho delegation was able to contribute substantially to all the discussions held, by virtue of the fact that many of the problems faced by other schools have been met and solved at Idaho," Mullen explained.

Some 250 delegates from 13 states and provinces in the United States and Canada attended the convention, which began Tuesday. Three other Idaho schools besides the University sent delegates to the convention. Some 75 schools were represented.

McCowan Led Discussion

Mullen added that another reason for Idaho's prestige at the convention was "the outstanding quality of the Idaho delegation, in particular Bruce McCowan, who did an outstanding job as a discussion group leader." McCowan, assisted by Fitzgerald, moderated a series of panels concerned with the relationship between academics and activities.

As delegate Stiles remarked, "It seemed that we were always in demand; we were almost serving in an advisory capacity."

Much of the convalescence discussion centered around student apathy, which Idaho's delegates felt was much more apparent at many of the other schools.

Higher at Idaho

Taking student elections as an example, Stiles said that "the average voting percentage in colleges in the Far West is somewhere between 25 and 35 percent." He added that the percentage at Idaho is between 60 and 65 percent.

What accounts for Idaho's less apathetic student body? "Actually, our administration is more interested in the students as individuals and takes more interest in us," Stiles felt. "I think this could be attributed to Dr. Theophilus' philosophy and administration."

More Commuters

Another reason for more apathetic student bodies elsewhere, Stiles felt, is that many other colleges have more commuters. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Liberals And Conservatives To Debate Tomorrow Night

By JIM METCALF
Argonaut Staff Writer

In keeping with a policy of informing students on national and international issues, the National and World Affairs Club will sponsor a discussion tomorrow night at 7:30 p.m. in the SUB Ballroom on "Liberalism vs. Conservatism."

Bob Scott, Delta Sig, President of the Club, said that in light of the recent controversy he thinks there is a need for this type of discussion.

The idea was originally proposed by the Campus Union Political Party. It was transferred to the direction of National and World Affairs Club because it would be more successful if free from any political affiliations, according to Glen Stoup, CUP representative.

Participants in the roundtable will be, for the liberals: Mrs. Haig Bosmajian, Capt. Ed Sayre, AF-ROTC detachment; and Dr. Fred Winkler, history department. Representing the conservatives are Lon Woodbury, off campus; Dr. R. A. Postweiler, economics department.

Guy Wicks, Associate Dean of Students, scheduled to debate for the conservatives, will not be present.

Scott emphasized that the purpose of the discussion is to inform students of the general concepts of liberalism and conservatism rather than to prove one better than the other.

Commenting further, Scott said, "In the April 10 issue of Newsweek Magazine the authors gave a thorough treatment of the growing trend toward conservatism, especially among college students. It is in light of questions brought out by the article that we are sponsoring the discussion."

In a few weeks National and World Affairs Club will sponsor a debate on "The Position of the United States on Cuba." Two foreign students have not been chosen yet and domestic students will be Ken Keller, off campus, and Justin Friberg, Delta Sig. Both Keller and Friberg have lived outside the United States.

Dedicated

"He is a very dedicated person and has a strong sense of values. You won't find too many people who are neutral toward him, they either like him or dislike him. He has a very forceful personality."

"At times his wife described him to me as being shy and retiring, and I could see where she got that. He was a hard man to get to know well, and it always seemed like he was holding something back, reserving something."

"It was typical of Commander Shepard to take a challenge and get the better of it. He also learned (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

Vandaleers To Present Concert Sun.

The Idaho Vandaleers, known throughout the Northwest for their outstanding choral performances, will perform before Idaho students and their mothers at May Fete, May 14.

The afternoon concert will be in Memorial Gymnasium at 3 o'clock. A program of varied music will have compositions ranging from sacred and secular music of the 11th century to numbers from modern musicals.

One of the highlights will be selections from Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess." Other selections will be "My Love One," "Let's Behold the Rose," Costeley; "London Street Cries," Gibbons; "Lamentatio Prima Tertii Dei," de Lassus; "Lobet den Herrn, alle Heiden," (Motet VI), Bach; "Praise to the Lord, the Almighty, the King of Creation," Lockwood; "Let Down the Bars, O Death," Barber; "Ballad of Green Broom," Britten; and "Song of the Open Road," Jojo.

Encore numbers will be songs from Gilbert and Sullivan's "H. M. S. Pinafore," spirituals, folk songs, and University of Idaho songs.

A special platform is being built in the center of the gymnasium to bring the audience closer.

Idaho Navy Officer's Wife Recalls Astronaut's Dedication

By NEIL LEITNER
Argonaut Associate Editor

Naval Lieutenant Commander Alan Shepard shot himself into a permanent niche in history Friday morning and Betsy Barton, wife of Commander Elbert Barton, assistant professor of Naval science at the University, thinks he well deserved the honor of being the first American into space.

"We knew the Shepards fairly intimately for about six months in 1958 when my husband taught at the Naval War College at Newport, R. I. Commander Shepard was a student there at the time," she recalls.

Command and Staff

"The College was a command and staff orientation course for lieutenant commanders and up who the Navy thought were capable of higher rank," she said. "We lived in close proximity to the Shepards for about a year and during the last six months we became fairly well acquainted."

"Commander Shepard is the type of individual who never seems to exhaust his energy," she said. "At the College, the very nature of the course study left little time for any of the students to do anything else, but Commander Shepard found time. I first met him when we were cast together in a play called 'Goodbye, My Fancy.' The play was a production of a little theater group at the college called 'Footlights.' Most of the people in the group were wives and men attached to the College; few of them were students like Commander Shepard."

Mrs. Barton produced a play program of "Goodbye, My Fancy" in which Shepard was described. The pamphlet doesn't say too much about him except that "in the role of Dingley, Commander Shepard is quite out of character for a young Navy pilot."

Mrs. Barton paused, poured a cup of coffee, and lit a cigarette with an inscribed Zippo lighter. She tossed it on the couch. It had a picture of a Navy jet on the outer cover.

Non-Flyer

"No, my husband doesn't fly," she said, in response to the obvious question, "Louise (Mrs. Shepard) gave that to us when Alan graduated from the college." The lighter was engraved "U.S. Navy T2V-1 Seastar" and had a tri-colored semaphore wave-off flag used on aircraft carriers, on the top. "It was partly due to our joint participation in the play," she said.

Mrs. Barton still corresponds with Mrs. Shepard and received a letter from her two weeks ago. "Mrs. Shepard and I were pretty good friends," she said, "and the last letter she sent me said she had gone down to Cocoa Beach at Cape Canaveral to be with her husband for about a week. Then she went back to Virginia Beach, Va., where she lives with her two daughters and a niece."

Mrs. Shepard was at her home in Virginia Beach when the Redstone went up.

"That was characteristic of Mrs. Shepard," Mrs. Barton said. "She always said that she didn't like to be around when her husband was going into action. She thought a woman's place was in the home, and that was the way she played it."

"Mrs. Shepard is a very interesting person," she continued, "She is a person who has a great sense of inner serenity, of inner security. You wouldn't think of her features as being exactly ravishing, but she is very beautiful. She has the radiant look of someone who knows what she has, and likes

The Day After Tomorrow

A father looks down on his young son who stands before him with bowed head. The father's hands are clasped near his mouth. "My son, he says, 'I am sorry you are going to live under Communism. It seemed to come so quickly. I didn't think their lies could win. I guess we were so busy with other things.' He concludes regretfully, 'Not enough of us spoke up for freedom when we had the chance.'"

"Though only an advertisement for the Freedom's Foundation, the doleful words above become less incredible with each passing year, as World Communism sweeps inexorably toward a decisive victory over Western civilization. And it is obvious the 40-year-old truculent religion is winning battle after battle in the Cold War. Cuba, Laos and South Vietnam are like the proverbial iceberg which discloses but a fraction of its mass. It is below, hidden and more treacherous, that the bulk lurks.

"It seemed to come so quickly." Communism hasn't sprung up overnight; however, its proliferation is sprouting out like a tropical plant and, unless a languid America arouses herself, it will strangle the whole world. We were like the hare who watched the tortoise, but we are no longer so smug. Communism is dedicated to win the race, and our defensive tactics seem inadequate in forfending its offensive strategy. If it seems to approach quickly, it is because our relative speed is sleepy.

"I didn't think their lies could win." We must divest ourselves of that naive idealism which contends that truth ultimately defeats mendacity and, if we have faith in our truths, Communism will succumb. This is nonsense; it is also dangerous. Lies have an insidious flexibility. Truth is limited by its very essence. We cannot hope to ally ourselves with the poor in the underdeveloped countries by mouthing pretty words and spending millions of dollars. Perhaps faith is sufficient in less mundane affairs, but our salvation from Communism will come by acts of sacrifice on the part of isolated individuals. It is knowledge and intellect that can save us. Ten thousand agricultural specialists working in backward countries are living truths unimpregnable by the grossest lies.

"I guess we were so busy with other things." We are so busy living like a nation of Bourbons we fail to recall the fate of that pleasure-loving family. We are so busy indulging in paltry pleasures that we do little more than deplore the shameful salaries paid to our educators. We are so busy trying to be like our neighbor, we lose the meaning of individuality. We know that the Communists too are very busy.

"Not enough of us spoke up for freedom when we had the chance." Freedom has become a right without any duties. It is taken for granted today. A free society requires diverse opinions and the right to speak out. But there are pernicious factions in this country that wish to silence any important dissent from the noise of conformity. Often a liberal is suspected of being anti-American by fanatical Rightists. Dissent is feared and then the dissenter becomes apprehensive. Even on this campus there are those who see anti-Americans under the tables in the SUB; they are the Name Senders.

"They were sorry" may be our epitaph. There is nothing dramatic here. We ARE losing to the Communist and will continue to lose, unless we awake to this desperate struggle. Perhaps we will wake in time and get our second wind in this race. But we'll have to get up early tomorrow, for the day after tomorrow . . . D.A.H.

Season's Last Tournament Won By Idaho's Debators

The Idaho debaters won their last tournament of the season by scoring a 5-3 win at the annual Whitman-Idaho-WSU (triangular) meet at Walla Walla last weekend. Whitman, the host team, was second with a 4-4 record and Washington State was third supporting a 3-5 record.

The triangular tournament is now in its 20th consecutive year, according to Debate Coach Dr. A. E. Whitehead, Head of the University Speech Department.

The Whitman Missionaries, who won the tournament for the third time, last year retired the old trophy. Idaho now has the first leg won towards the new trophy. A trophy is retired whenever a school wins the meet three times.

Roger Barr, Kappa Sig, and Ronnie Rock, off campus, teamed together for one of Idaho's two teams. Tom Lynch, Chrisman, and Linda Kinney, Forney, was the other Idaho team.

Two Students Receive Fines

Two University students received traffic fines in Moscow police court this week.

For the same violation William G. Shisler, 19, 908 Blake, was fined $10 and given 20 demerits Tuesday.

Dear Jason:

Recently, there has been considerable student interest in the merits of conservatism and liberalism. Proponents of both concepts have energetically defended their views and violently attacked those of the opposition. This verbal war has increased interest in the subject to the point that many students would like to know more about these complex ideologies.

The Argonaut has indicated in a former issue that a discussion on liberalism and conservatism should be held. The Campus Union Party has encouraged a forum along the same lines. The National and World Affairs Club has accepted the suggestions of CUP and the Argonaut and will sponsor a round table discussion on Conservatism vs. Liberalism on May 10.

It is encouraging to see so much interest from such varied groups on a subject that concerns the entire nation.

leges and universities have more commuting students, who naturally would have little time for campus life and activities.

Another field in which the delegates felt Idaho was superior was public relations. Idaho, Stiles explained, has a special Public Relations Department with a paid student chairman.

Mayer Speaks
Keynote speaker at the convention's opening banquet Wednesday was Dr. Milton Mayer, an outstanding journalist and lecturer whose articles have appeared in such magazines as Harper's, Life, Commonweal, and Readers' Digest.

Dr. Mayer told the delegates that they were doomed to a mercenary society and warned that many campus leaders become stagnant in later life.

In Stiles' eyes, the convention was of great value. Through conferences with administrators, faculty members and other student leaders, a number of problems of student government were solved, he stated.

Should Send Delegates
Although Mullen expressed dissatisfaction with the organization of this year's convention, he recommended that Idaho send a delegation to next year's convention.

"We can contribute valuably from our past successes to the future successes of neighboring institutions," he said.

Reflecting his delegation's feelings on the accomplishments of Idaho's student body, Mullen said, "University of Idaho students can and should be proud of their university community, because it stands head and shoulders above the majority of schools in the Western states in nearly all respects."

U.S. History And Psychology Are Walking Hand In Hand

The history and the use of psychology is a very fascinating and revealing subject of study. Throughout history this art has been practiced, and today we will delve into the history and the use of psychology. For the sake of space we will begin our study around the year 1900, and progress to the present.

1900 — The turn of the century! A new way of life! Progress was in the future! Fish and chips in every basket! Beginning with this year the proponents of psychology began their move in America. An organized underground movement began operations. Leaflets entitled, "What's In Your Mind," began appearing in the mailboxes. Corners of billboards were filled with thought-provoking statements like, "Roses are red, violets are blue, you have a mind, I do too." You must realize that this form of psychology was the earliest one. But it did get results.

1920 — By now it was very easy to see what the proponents were doing. They had come out of hiding and had established themselves on the ground. On almost every street corner there was a little shack which advertised via hanging posters, "Come in and set your mind at ease."

As we all know now, the 1920s were known as the "Roaring Twenties." You had best believe that there was a bit of psychology used in those days. This was the era of Elliot Ness and the provocative booze, the hoodlum and the big time, Speakeasies and bathtub gin. During these years, psychology really made the big jump. These gangsters realized what the proponents of psychology were trying to do and what they could do. Thus we get the term, "Persuasive psychology." With your mind at ease, you think a little bit more of your body.

1930 — These were the days of the CCC and the New Deal, the end of the depression. Psychology was really on the move. It had grown so much that students in college were studying courses which would make them profes-

Flipped On TV
It was 7:30 p.m. and Mrs. Barton reached over and flipped on the TV set. "Louise is going to come on tonight, and I'd like to listen to what she says."

The set showed Shepard's take-off and recovery. It then switched to Virginia Beach where a team of newsmen were interviewing Mrs. Shepard.

Mrs. Shepard was happy. She was smiling, and her three young girls surrounded her.

"I just knew it was going to be all right," she said. "Characteristic," said Mrs. Barton.

Betsy Barton is a woman who has come through a whole life attached to the Navy. Her father is a retired naval captain in the Supply Corps.

"The Navy is a relatively small unit," she said. "Eventually we may well run into Commander Shepard again." She took another cigarette, lit it with the Seastar Zippo, and added: "If he's still around."

Two approaches to the "man's deodorant" problem

If a man doesn't mind shaving under his arms, he will probably find a woman's roll-on satisfactory. Most men, however, find it simpler and surer to use Mennen Spray Deodorant. Mennen Spray was made to get through to the skin, where perspiration starts. And made to work all day. More men use Mennen Spray than any other deodorant. How about you? 64c and $1.00 per 1.6oz.

Products Of Class Are Available

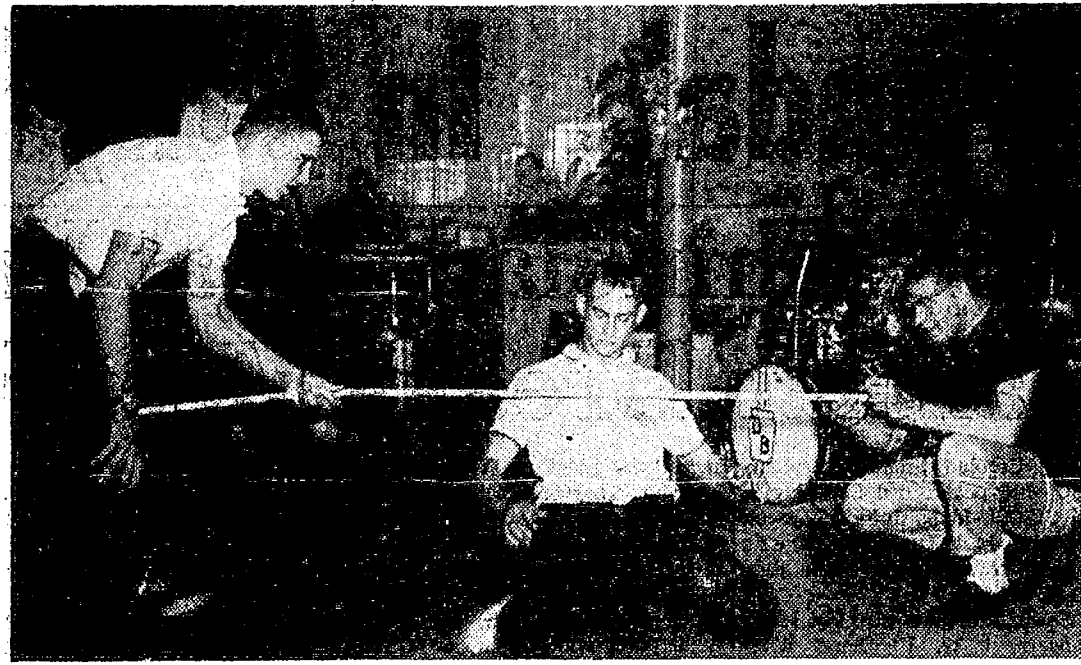

By IDONA KELLOGG Argonaut Staff Writer

Not all classroom work goes into files or notebooks. Some of it goes to your dinnertable, according to Professor R. H. Ross, Head of Dairy Science, and Leon E. Orme, Assistant Professor of Animal Husbandry.

Dairy and meat by-products of classroom and research work must be utilized somehow, explained the two professors, so the products are made available to faculty, staff, and students, usually at market price.

Dorms, living groups, and the SUB get first choice when meat is available, commented Mr. Orme. Meat that has been used for research work is sold in ground form.

The meat research consists mainly of testing for carcass composition and heritability of meat traits and quality.

Aid-To-Athletes, A Problem Idaho Gives "Legal NCAA" Aid

The athletic scholarship is generally considered the backbone of any athletic program. This seems to be true whether the university is in Idaho, Montana, Oklahoma, or California.

For, no matter what academic or social advantages a college has to offer, an individual with athletic abilities usually chooses the institution of higher learning that can "pay" the most for his services. The pay is in form of an athletic scholarship. Not all individuals sell their abilities to the highest bidder, it is true. But unfortunately many more do than don't

Has Problems

Skip Stahley

Needs Money for Recruiting

Colleges with large athletic budgets and a richly endowed scholarship fund have an advantage over the universities that do not. They had even a greater advantage before the NCAA stepped in and began to control the amounts of the scholarships.

The University of Oklahoma, who holds the longest collegiate football winning streak which extended over three seasons, owes its fine ball teams to its recruiting and scholarship programs. Subsidized by Oklahoma oil money, OU was able to draw the top high school players in the Oklahoma-Texas area. The other schools in the area, such as Texas, and Oklahoma State, could not compete with OU's big budget. Now, however, the NCAA has standardized the scholarships. Two years ago, Oklahoma drew a year's probation for making their grants too generous.

Idaho has never had the problem of giving too large a scholarship. Idaho's problem has been just the opposite from Oklahoma's—Idaho lacks money.

Under the direction of athletic director J. Neil (Skip) Stahley, Idaho gives what has been referred to as the "legal NCAA scholarship" to the top Vandal athletes. The maximum that can be received under this scholarship is board and room, out-of-state or in-state tuition, and books up to $45 per year. Also included is a job opportunity up to $15 per month.

Very few full scholarships are given, however. Again it is the lack of funds. Many Vandal athletes are given varying degrees of the full scholarship. One individual might get room and board, another might get his tuition paid, and so on. In this way the scholarship money that is available can be spread over a number of players in all sports.

The method of dividing the scholarships among many athletes has been Idaho's answer to the problem of combating the fund shortage. While certainly not the best solution to the problem, it will probably be with use for some time to come.

Other colleges, with similar money problems, have tried other methods. Montana State University at Missoula has limited their scholarship program grants aid equal to in-state-tuition.

Previously, some Grizzly athletes had received room and board, books, and other items. "The university (Montana State) must gain the interest of Montana High School students and get them to attend the University," Walter C. Schwank, newly appointed Grizzly athletic director, stated.

Vandal Gridders Hold Scrimmage Saturday

University of Idaho gridders went through their eyes Saturday under the watchful eye of a movie camera in the first filmed workout of the spring season.

The final score of the contest under game conditions was three touchdowns apiece, five of which were scored off sustained marches. The only long run of the morning was a 45-yard jaunt rolled off by sophomore Bob Ruby from Turner, Ore. Ruby intercepted a white pass and broke away for a TD for the black team.

"The players were a little tired," head Coach J. Neil "Skip" Stahley noted after the workout. "This is the third day in a row we've worked out this week. Bad weather forced us to delay Wednesday's practice until Thursday so things got bunched up a little."

The Vandals were operating without one of their first-line quarterbacks again Saturday. Mike Mosolf, letterman signal caller from Carmel, Calif., was on a trip with the Vandal track team. Another letterman, Rick Dobbins of Alameda, Calif., was still favoring a sprained hand, so Stahley got a good look at three first-year candidates.

Handling the signal calling chores were Gary Gagnon from Port Angeles, Wash., Phil Russell from Birmingham, Mich., and Gary Mires from Baker, Ore. Mires and Russell played for the Frosh two seasons ago and laid out last year. Gagnon led the '60 Frosh to a 2-1 record last year.

Some of the best gains of the day were turned in by Joe Renzi, a junior from Sacramento City College and letterman Gene Bates from Walla Walla, Wash.

More of the Vandals old stand by, the passing attack, was in evidence Saturday as new additions to the offense began to show. Idaho was still without its leading receiver, Reg Carolan from San Anselmo, Calif. Carolan is a member of the Idaho track team and is not out for spring ball.

The Vandals will run two more Saturday game scrimmages before the annual Varsity-Alumni game in Neale Stadium, May 27. Several Vandals now in the pro ranks, including Wayne Walker of the Detroit Lions have indicated that they will play in the spring contest.

OSC Thinclads Beat Vandals; Carolan Breaks Meet Record

Reg Carolan broke the Idaho-OSU shot put record Saturday in a WSU-OSU-Idaho three way meet, but the host Oregon Beaver team soundly trounced the Idaho thinclads, 107-23.

Washington State also lost to the Beavers, 91-39. Unofficial WSU-Idaho dual meet score was 73-58, with the Cougars coming out on top.

Idaho's only event winner, Carolan, put the shot 53' 4" to establish a new Idaho-Oregon State dual meet record.

Davis Is Third

His counterpart, Joe Davis, had his best shot-put day of his career, heaving it 48' 3/4". He took third in that event.

Oregon State's Steve Pauly was the only double-winner of the meet. He was first in the high hurdles in 14.7 seconds and in the javelin at 208 feet, 6 inches.

The Vandal relay team (John Pasley, Curt Flisher, Pete Luttrupp and Dick Borneman) clipped the heels of the Oregon State men all the way, but the Beaver runners edged them, posting a new record, 3:19.1. The Vandals, even though they were second, tied the old meet record with a 3:21.0.

Taylor Post 9:52.8

Rocky Taylor, competing in track athletics this year for the first time, ran his best two-mile, finishing third in 9:52.8.

Three Idaho hurdler-quarter milers, Flisher, Borneman and Luttrupp, are working on the 400 meter intermediate hurdle event, looking forward to the season-ending AAU and NCAA meets.

Bill Sorsby's varsity cindermen will participate in the Bill Martin

Invitational meet at Walla Walla Saturday. They end their 1961 season in two weeks at the Far West Championship Meet in Corvallis.

Second-Place Idaho Golfers Vie Cougars In Final Today

Once-beaten Idaho golfers face the tough Washington State Cougars this afternoon at the Clarkston Golf and Country Club in the final Northern Division dual meet for both schools.

Idaho currently ranks in second place in the league with a 2-1 record with WSU at the bottom of the standings with an 0-3 mark.

Should the Vandals triumph over WSU today and Oregon State topple Oregon this weekend, both Idaho and Oregon will tie for top honors with a 3-1 record.

Washington State earlier in the season fell heavily to Idaho at Moscow 2 1/2 to 5 1/2 and will be eager to get their revenge on the tricky valley layout.

Leading WSU will be the six swingers of Denny Johnson, Denny Duerden, Joe Hill, Mike Lefel, Jerry Crossler, and Sonny Meek.

Gary Floan, Don Modie, Ralph Smith, Norm Johnson, Ray Kowallis, and Ray Kowallis again will pace Idaho in the Vandal's drive for their seventh dual match win of the year.

Idaho golfers scored their second win over Gonzaga Saturday as the Vandals walloped the Bulldogs 13-2 at the University of Idaho course to run the Vandals' overall season record to 6-1.

Gary Floan captured medalist honors, shooting a brilliant four-under par 66. Other Idaho scores were Robb Smith 69, Don Modie 70, Ray Kowallis 72, and Norm Johnson 73.

Kermit Rosen and Mike Bowers paced the Spokane team posting scores of 73. Rosen and Bowers were followed by teammates Craig Gage at 74 and Randy Fosseen at 76.

Scoring for the match was: Individual Floan (I) 3 Bowers (G) 0 Modie (I) 2 1/2 Rosen (G) 1/2 Smith (I) 3 Leonard (G) 0 Johnson (I) 1 1/2 Fosseen (G) 1 1/2 Kowallis (I) 3 Leeds (G) 0

Smarting over their only defeat at the hands of Oregon the previous weekend, Idaho got back in the winning ways by crushing Oregon State 14 1/2 to 3 1/2 at the Moscow course last Friday.

The win put Idaho's record at 2-1 in the Northern Division play and placed the Vandals in second spot in the loop.

Bill Martin Meet Closes Out Frosh Thinclad Season Sat.

The Vandal frosh track squad is currently priming for the Bill Martin Invitational meet, scheduled to be run Saturday at Walla Walla. The frosh thinclads will be entered along with the varsity and will thus be competing against the varsity men from other schools.

For the frosh, this is the final meet of the season. Most of the small college teams in the Northwest are entered in this meet, with Eastern Washington, Central Washington, and Idaho being cast in the favorites role.

Helldivers Prepare For Weekend Water Pageant

Thirty top-notch Idaho swimmers, after a month-and-a-half of practice, jump into the Memorial Gym pool Friday and Saturday night to present the annual Helldiver's water pageant set to music.

This year's theme revolves around fairy tale and story book characters and is entitled, "Once Upon a Time."

The annual performance climaxes weeks of extensive work and planning on the part of Rob Tyson, water show director, and his assistant Judy Kempton. The group is advised by Miss Gaydena Brown, assistant professor of women's physical education.

Tryouts for the extravaganza were held in February and some members work hard to make a success.

According to Miss Brown, the group will hold nightly workouts in the pool the remainder of the week. A complete dress rehearsal will be held Thursday night.

Trucksters who will enter the meet are Paul Henden, mile and two mile; Ron Huff, 100 and 220; Nick Carnefix, a consistent winner all season, in the 440; Stan Hughes, Louie Olaso, in the 440; Nick Wetter, two mile; Olaso, 880 and mile, Bernie Rankinen, 880; Jerry Spencer, hurdles and javelin.

Al Phillips, 100 and the low hurdles; Jim Bousquet, in his favorite event.

Besides the spotlighted group water shows, there will be individual performances turned in by members of the swim team.

Cliff Lawrence, the only diver on the varsity swimming team will demonstrate various techniques from the board.

The Helldivers will stage two shows nightly—at 7:30 and 9:00 p.m.

Admission will be 35 cents for students (with activity cards) and 50 cents for adults.

This is the major activity sponsored by the University swimming group and it is the affair that all

WSU Hitters Tap Three Idaho Pitchers For 5-4 Cougar Win

The Washington State Cougars staged a come-from-behind-drive in the ninth to nip the Vandals 5-4 yesterday. The Idaho club plays at WSU this afternoon at 3:30.

The Cougars are now in third place in the northern division with a 4-2 record. The Vandals hold down the cellar with a 2-6 record.

The Vandals jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the first inning. Lead off hitter Dick Mooney was hit by a pitched ball. The Vandal second sacker then scampared to second on Cliff Trout's sacrifice and to third when Bill Johnson grounded out to short.

First baseman Terry Boesel drove in the other two runs with a triple after Bob Vervaeke had singled.

Smooth Sailing

Vandal pitcher Pat Townsend, who had only allowed five hits, had smooth sailing until the ninth with only one rough spot.

The rough spot came in the seventh when Cougar second baseman doubled to right center to score Cougar catcher Pat Crook.

Townsend ran into trouble in the ninth—the Cougars big four run inning. It happened quickly.

Crook led off for WSU with a home run over the left field fence and that was all for the Vandal left-hander.

Idaho baseball coach Wayne Anderson then brought Steve Hinckley to the mound. Hinckley never got out of trouble.

The right hander from Preston got the first man that faced him to pop up to Boesel at first. Hinckley walked the next man, however.

Then Cougar stickers Nick August and Marv Marshbanks hit back to back singles. Zeke Blocklinger, the man that had walked, had scored to tie the score and August had tallied to break it.

The Cougars added another run when Marshbanks scored on a wild pitch. Vandal Tony Burke came on for the Vandals to put out the flames.

Burke got Dwight Damon to hit to Johnson for the third out. The Vandals were active in their half of the ninth. Pitcher Burke walked after Ted Knivila had struck out.

Mooney Hitts Mooney lifted a single over August's head at second which moved Burke to third. Mooney went to second on Damon's throw to third in an attempt to catch Burke.

Burke scored when Trout grounded out too short. Johnson, with a 3-2 count, struck out to end the game.

Some fielding plays highlighted Vandal defensive play. Mooney orites, the high jump and the shot put; Butch Edmundson, pole vault; and John Mock, discus and the javelin.

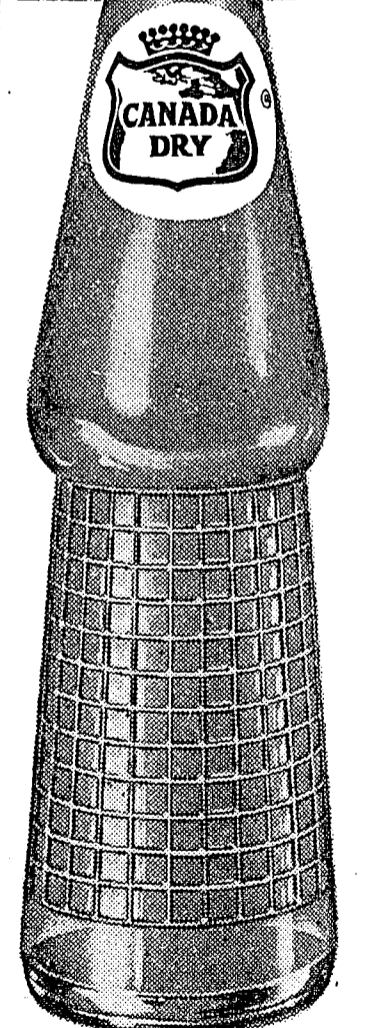

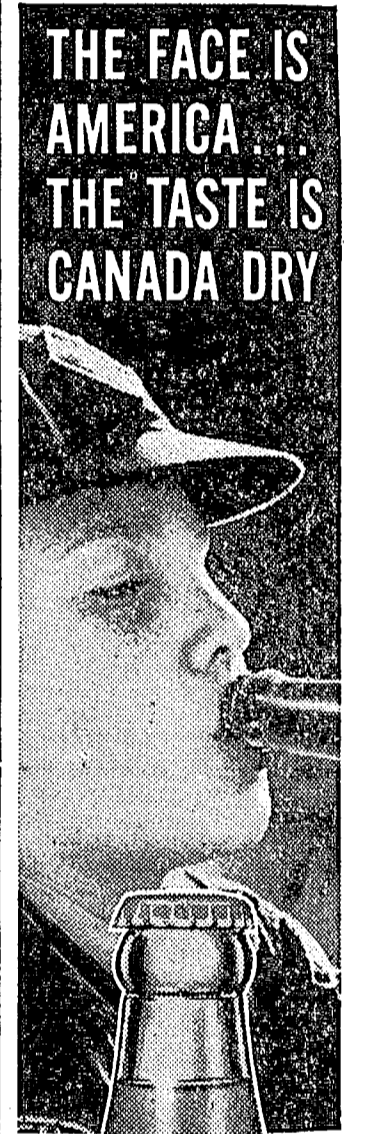

According to coach Bill Sorsby, only a couple of the men were working last week, so there is a lot of hard work to be put in this week, in order to be prepared for the Saturday meet.

saved a hit for Townsend in the fifth after a high hopper skipped over Boesel's head. Mooney came from second to grab the ball on the grass and fire it to Townsend who was covering first base for the out. Townsend did not give up his first hit until the fifth inning.

Tennis Team Wins First In Two Years

The Idaho tennis team gained its first win in two seasons last Saturday by defeating the Gonzaga University tennis team soundly. The final match tally was Idaho 5, Gonzaga 2. The team record now stands at one win and six losses.

"It was a long wait, but it was worth the effort," was the comment of Coach Joe Cipriano.

In beating the Gonzaga team, the Vandals lost only the second and third singles matches. Out of the total of five wins gained by the Vandals, only two matches went into the third game.

In singles play, Howard Seeley (I), defeated Mike Gross (G), 6-4, 6-0; Roger Coyle (G) defeated Bob Hansen (I) 4-6, 6-2, 6-3; Jim Caterina (G) defeated John Ferris (I) 6-1, 6-8, 8-6; Jim Paulson (I) over Dan Carrier (G) by default; and Larry Durbin (I) over Tim Underwood (G) 6-3, 6-4.

In the doubles, Seeley and Hansen (I) defeated Coyle and Caterina (G) 6-4, 6-2. In the last match of the afternoon, Ferris and Durbin (I) defeated Underwood and Gross (G) 6-0, 2-6, 6-0.

Saturday's win revenged an earlier loss to the Gonzaga team at Spokane, April 27.
