

South Idaho Fans To See Vandals Play

Raccoon coats and Idaho banners will be in order for the annual University of Idaho football game in Boise tomorrow. This is one of the few chances for Vandal supporters in the southern part of the state to watch the Idaho team in action.

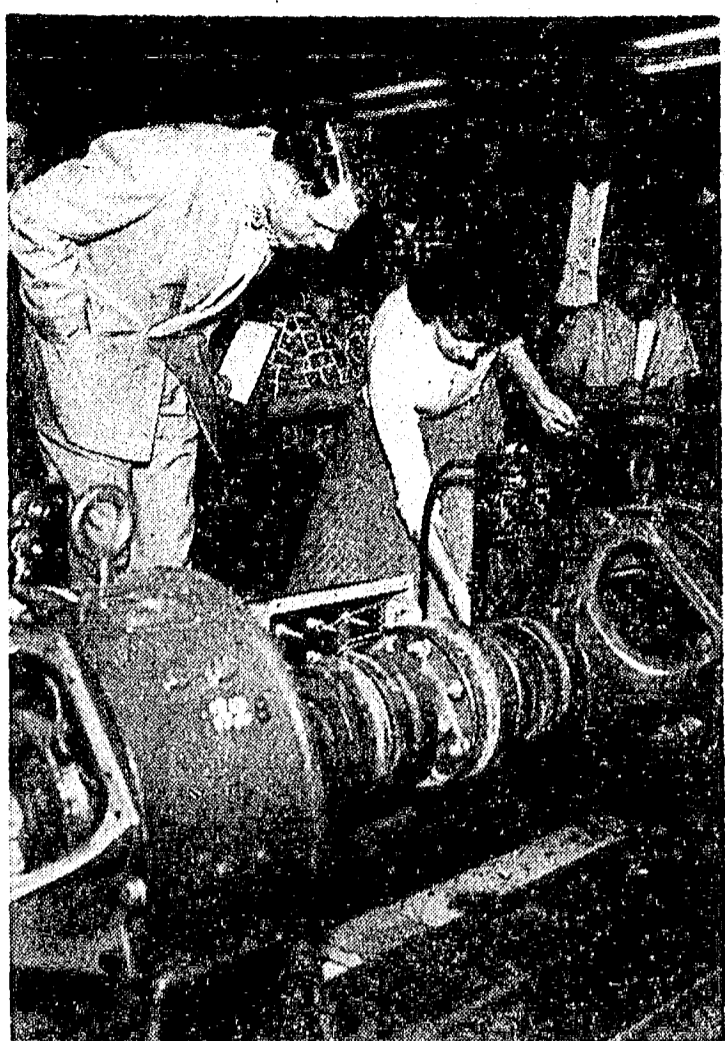

Alumni from the south, and there are a lot of them, will form the nucleus of the Vandal rooters at the clash between Idaho and the Montana State University at Bronco Stadium on the Boise Junior College Campus tomorrow afternoon at 1 p.m. (MST)

Idaho students began their annual migration to the capital city this morning for the weekend activities. Halftime activities under the sponsorship of the athletic department, will include drills by the University of Idaho Army ROTC drill team. The Cascade High School band will also perform at the intermission.

Student activity cards will admit U of I students to an open house at the Boise Elks Lodge after the game. The open house will honor both the alumni and the students.

A buffet lunch and dinner sponsored by the Boise Elks is also scheduled after the game.

A student-alumni dance beginning at 9:30 at the Elks Lodge will end the weekend of festivities.

LAB PARTY CONTEST — George Hespelt, assistant professor of electrical engineering, gives pointers to an Idaho coed in hooking up an electric motor in last year's Electrical Engineering Lab Party. This contest will again be part of this year's party set for this afternoon at the Kirtley Engineering Laboratory.

Electrical Engineer Majors Hold Kirtley Lab Open House

University students and faculty will get a first hand view of what electrical engineering majors study and create during the department's open house tomorrow from 1-5 p.m. at Kirtley Engineering Laboratory.

The displays will range from a Tesla Coil, capable of being charged with up to 200,000 volts and emitting strong electrical charges to a gun turret from a B-29 remotely controlled by electronics. Other displays will include a radio-TV exhibit, a stereo demonstration, a strobe light and an analog computer.

The open house is sponsored by the Student Chapter of the Institute of Radio Engineers and The American Institute of Electrical Engineers. The open house will be preceded by a party tonight for EE majors and their guests.

Highlight of the evening will be a contest between two instructors to hook-up an electric motor. Everett Bailey, engineering instructor, will be Master of Ceremonies.

No Arg Friday—Too Busy Eating

Due to the planned consumption of large quantities of turkey, cranberries and pumpkin pie, the Argonaut staff doubted yesterday that it would feel up to the task of putting out an Arg Friday.

Because of such essential activities as increased eating, sleeping and goofing off this weekend by the staff, and because many of them wish to take a vacation like everyone else, the next issue of the Argonaut will appear at neighborhood newsstands Tuesday.

Hall Macklin Attends Denver Music Confab

The University of Idaho will be represented at the 37th annual meeting of the National Association of Schools of Music by Hall M. Macklin, head of the Department of Music. He will attend the various sessions which will be held at the Denver-Hilton Hotel in Denver, Colo., next Thursday through Saturday.

In addition to being the official representative of the school, Macklin is also a member of the state's legislation committee. The University has been a member of the NASM since 1956.

The NASM has been designated by the National Commission on Accrediting as the responsible agency for the accreditation of all music degree curricula with specialization in the fields of applied music, music theory, composition, music therapy, musicology, and music as a major in liberal arts programs. Its deliberations will play an important part in music education trends in this country during the coming years.

Idaho Officials Receive Invites To Workshop

Kenneth A. Dick, financial vice president, and Dean David Kendrick of the College of Business Administration have accepted invitations from Governor, William A. Egan of Alaska, chairman of the Western Governors' conference, to participate as two of Idaho's delegates in the Third Regional Workshop on Higher Education to be held at the Sir Francis Drake hotel in San Francisco, Sunday through Tuesday.

They will join with state officials, leading educators, and representatives of business and labor from the 13 western states in exploring how the region's colleges and universities can contribute most effectively to the economic development of the West. The conference is sponsored by the Western Governors' conference, the Council of State Governments and the Western Interstate Commission for Higher Education.

In general sessions and small discussion groups, the delegates will identify the West's major economic problems, review what the colleges and universities have done for western economic development in the past and consider ways in which they can be utilized more fully in the future.

Earlier workshops on higher education, under the same sponsorship, were held in Denver, Colorado in 1958, and in San Francisco in 1960.

Mortar Board Regional Confab Will Be Held Here Tomorrow

35 Or More Are Expected

Approximately 35 student delegates and 6 advisors from out-of-state colleges and universities will spend tomorrow on the campus for the Region 15 Mortar Board Convention.

Mortar Board is a national senior women's honorary. Members are chosen for outstanding scholastic and leadership qualities. Idaho's chapter has 11 members and 3 advisors.

Schools attending the Saturday convention are Whitman, WSU, Montana State, and the University of Montana.

Theme of the day-long convention is "The Road Not Taken."

The conference will begin tomorrow morning with registration in the Student Union from 8 to 9.

Eleven other meetings will be held in the Music Building.

The opening assembly will be held at 9 a.m. with official welcomes by Marjorie Neely, Dean of Women; and Susan Rutledge, chapter president.

At 9:30 the convention will break up into discussion groups, which will last until noon.

The highlight of the meeting will come at 12:30 with a luncheon in the Student Union Ballroom. Key-note speaker is Mrs. Robert Hosack, wife of Dr. Hosack, head of the Department of Social Sciences. Rafe Gibbs, University Editor and Director of Information, will represent the University.

After the luncheon the group will once again divide into discussion groups. A general session will be called at 3 p.m. with LaDessa Rogers, an Idaho Mortar Board and AWS President, leading the discussion.

Regional Advisor Mrs. DeVleming, regional Mortar Board advisor, will address the closing session to be held from 3 to 4 p.m.

Idaho Mortar Board advisors are Dr. Fred Winkler, assistant professor of history and political science; Mrs. Hall Macklin, wife of Dr. Macklin, head of the Music Department; and Mrs. Ruth Boas, instructor in English.

Mortar Board members are Susan Rutledge, president; Claire Slaughter, Chris Dietz, Linda Smith, Marcy Whitten, Sharon Lance, Linda Lamb, Sharon Houck, Mary Decker, Sally Jo Nelson, and Miss Rogers.

Miss Smith and Miss Whitten are general co-chairmen for the convention.

'Streamlined' Student Judicial Council Is Unanimously Approved By E. Board

Executive Board Tuesday night unanimously approved a "streamlined" Student Judicial Council to be included in the revised ASUI Constitution proposal.

The ASUI has no Student Judicial Council at present, but operates through a series of overlapping student-faculty judicial committees.

Larry Hosner and Gary Michaels, who head the Exec Board Student Government Improvement committee, drew up the structure and presented it to the board.

Mullen Is Supporter
The idea of a student judicial system and council came into the open during ASUI elections last spring as part of United Party platform. ASUI President Jim Mullen is one of the main supporters and promoters.

Under the proposed structure approved by the board, a Student Judicial Council will have jurisdiction over all questions arising out of the ASUI Constitution or disputes in student government.

Appellate Powers

The council will also have power over all disciplinary matters referred to it by the Office of Student Affairs, and all traffic violations which are appealed from the Traffic Violations Office.

Student and campus organizations may also appeal any decision of PanHellenic, Inter-Fraternity Council and Residence Hall Council, provided the Office of Student Affairs, through whom all appeals must be routed, refers the appeal to the Council.

Decisions by the Judicial Council, concerning cases appealed to it, may be further appealed to a Student-Faculty Council, to the President of the University, and finally to the Board of Regents.

Council Members

The Student-Faculty Council will be composed of the Presidents of the ASUI, RHC, IFC, PanHell, AWS, the Deans of Men and Women, and five faculty representatives.

Under the proposed structure, cases deemed out of the realm of student authority by the Office of Student Affairs will remain under the jurisdiction of that office.

Hosner said this type of clause was needed so that emotional or personal problems could be adequately handled.

He added that the Office of Student Affairs has legal control over this type of problems anyway.

Six Members

The Student Judicial Council will be composed of six members from the junior and senior classes, appointed by the ASUI President with the approval of the Executive Board.

Rules and regulations to be followed by the Council are outlined in the University Code, and penalties will follow those prescribed by the University Code and past decision of the Men's Discipline Committee.

Praxy Must Approve
No recommendations by the council will be put into effect until they have been approved by the President.

Present Structure Differs

Under the present structure the bulk of disciplinary problems are handled by the Women's Disciplinary and the Men's Disciplinary Committees. Problems such as drinking in men's halls, and women's rules violations coming from PanHell, IFC and RHC, are handled by a Student-Faculty Council similar to the one provided in the new system.

Student Awarded Metal Scholarship

James Macki, Gault, a sophomore in metallurgical engineering, was awarded a $500 national scholarship by the American Society for Metals at an Inland Empire chapter meeting Tuesday.

The metallurgy department of the University's College of Mines was the recipient of a $50 award presented by the Inland Empire chapter for equipment and supplies.

Wood Products' Importance Is Expressed By Speaker

The importance of research in increasing usage of forest products was outlined at the University by Dr. Stephen B. Preston, head of the department of wood technology at the University of Michigan Tuesday.

Sponsored on campus by the Society of Wood Science and Technology as part of a tour to strengthen this field in United States and Canadian universities, he spoke to undergraduate and graduate forestry students and visiting professional foresters.

"A greater interest in wood science and technology is needed," he said, "as are research laboratories to help focus on problems confronting the industry."

Emphasizing the need for more technology, he said forest products developed through research are finding increased markets while products not affected by research are decreasing in usage.

He gave plywood, pulpwood, and particle board as examples of science and technology increasing the market for wood.

Dr. Preston said that although there is a marked increase in usage of pulpwood and particle board, which do not require high quality trees for raw material, there will always be a big demand for top grade material.

Per capita usage of lumber is 50 per cent less now than it was 50 years ago, he said. Per capita usage of plywood has continued to increase since its development.

Radically new uses must be found for wood, said Dr. Preston. Not only is it threatened by competition from outside materials, but it is hampered by competition from the inside.

IFC Sends 19 Delegates To Convention

Nineteen University of Idaho delegates left yesterday to attend the annual Northwest Regional Inter-Fraternity Council Convention this weekend at the University of Oregon at Eugene.

After registration and orientation tonight, the delegates will break up into discussion groups tomorrow to talk about such fraternity areas of concern as scholarship, public relations, and the IFC program.

Dr. H. C. Dubach, national scholarship chairman of Sigma Phi Epsilon, national social fraternity, will address a banquet tonight. A general business session will be held tomorrow also. Tomorrow evening the session will be concluded by a banquet at which a representative of the Federal Bureau of Investigation will speak about infiltration and the effect of Communism on college campuses.

Bud Mangals, IFC advisor at Oregon, will be in charge of the convention.

Green To Attend White House Conf.

Dr. Leon G. Green, head of physical education at the University, has been asked to attend a White House conference in Washington, D. C., Monday, it was learned yesterday.

Santa Will Visit Student's Children

A Christmas party — including a visit from Santa Claus — will be held for all children of married students Dec. 10 at 2:30 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

Married students are asked to call the ASUI office if their children plan to come so that an estimation of the number attending can be made.

Sophomore Week Committee Application Blanks Available

Application blanks for Sophomore Holly Week committee chairmen and members will be available Monday and Tuesday to all sophomores interested in participating in the events scheduled during the week.

The blanks will be available from each campus living group representative to Sophomore Extended Board starting Monday and will be picked up Tuesday after dinner. All committees are open for chairmen and members.

Holly Week, sponsored annually by the sophomore class, will be held this year during the week of Dec. 4 to 8. It will be climaxed by the Holly Dance, tentatively scheduled for Dec. 8.

Other activities during the week include a fashion show, the making of wreaths for each living group, picking of the outstanding sophomores of each college, caroling by the entire class, and the crowning of a Holly Queen.

Needed is an over-all dance chairman and chairmen and members for the following committees: band; decorations; cleanup, lighting and sound; pictures and intermission; programs, chaperones and invitations; publicity; outstanding sophomores; fashion show, queen, theme and wreaths; and caroling. All sophomores have been urged to apply for one of the various committees. Student living off campus who wish to apply may contact any of the class officers for application blanks.

Pi Gamma Mu Has Initiated Nine Students

Nine University students became members of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honorary, at an initiation and banquet Wednesday evening.

Those initiated were Ann Marie Gaffney, Hays; Douglas Hunter, Shoup; Sandra Bacon, DG; James Morfitt, SAE; and Leland Alkire, George Cook, David Glaser, Ken Kiyono and Brian Harris, all off campus.

Dr. R. E. Hosack, head of the Social Sciences Department, showed slides of Europe to members and initiates following the banquet. Pi Gamma Mu is a national social science honorary for students with a high scholastic rating who are majoring in political science, history, philosophy, sociology or economics.

Ag. Engineers Hold Confab; Idaho's Mays Elected Prexy

Reports by University student delegates to the Pacific Northwest Section meeting of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers were given at a meeting of the Idaho chapter Tuesday. Idaho was host of this year's meeting, which was held recently at Boise.

Reports were given by chapter president Art Lee, Jim Malone, Dean Kohntopp and Jim Mays, all off campus. Eleven Idaho students attended the conference. Lee served as sectional vice president and Kohntopp served as sectional secretary during the past year. Lee presided during the trophy presentation session of the convention.

Mays was elected president of the Pacific Northwest ASAE student branch at the convention, and Malone received second place in an annual research paper contest.

Delegates from five schools attended the convention: Saskatchewan University, Oregon State University, Washington State University, University of British Columbia and Idaho.

A film, "Profession with a Future," which dealt with the purchase of agriculture engineering and told of the varied jobs open in the field, was shown at the Tuesday meeting.

National-World Affairs Club Plans Cosmo Club Merger

So few students have attended the organizational meetings of the National and World Affairs club that the group is seriously considering becoming a committee of the University's Cosmopolitan Club.

The club, which is only a year old, will abandon everything but its projects and become a part of the Cosmopolitan Club if it can retain its $25 ASUI appropriation. The proposed merger will be presented at the next ASUI Exec Board meeting.

The NWA group chose to merge with the Cosmopolitan Club "because we have worked closely with them in the past and thought it would be mutually beneficial," according to club spokesman Harold Schillreff, Gault.

"They are primarily a social group and we are primarily political," Schillreff continued, "and we felt that these two benefactors would strengthen both organizations."

If the group should become part of the Cosmopolitan Club, it would function as a committee with a representative on the Exec Board.

"I think a merger between the two clubs will bring a respectable attendance at the meetings," Gil Singh, a member of both groups, said yesterday. "There will be no more duplication of international affairs as has been in the past," Singh said.

Schillreff feels that the goals of NWA can be carried out just as well in a committee organization as in a club.

Accomplishments of the NWA in its lone year of existence include the sponsorship of some prominent campus discussions. Last year the group sponsored discussions dealing with racial segregation, conservatism vs. liberalism and American intervention in Cuba.

Singh said.

Peace Corps Again

Letter From Abroad

Ed. Note: President Kennedy's Peace Corps has been both condoned and condemned extensively in the editorial pages of newspapers across the nation. Reprinted below is one such article which appeared in the Oct. 24 issue of the Wall Street Journal. The views presented in this column are not meant to express the opinion of the Argonaut editorial staff.

Dear Mother and Daddy:

As you know there was quite a thing stirred up about that girl's postcard and so the Peace Corps has asked us all to be extra careful about what we write home about.

Well, we've gotten around quite a bit in Africa and nowhere is it more beautiful than here in quaint, unspoiled Lower Insomnia. It's not like West Hartford at all—that is, it's not exactly like West Hartford any more than West Hartford is like Fairfield. But it's very nice. The first day I went with our P. C. group to talk to a certain tribe about democracy. The chief was very helpful and said that all his tribesmen were simply dying to learn about how representative government works. But when the chief himself heard how it works he got very angry and told us to leave. It was the funniest thing.

After that we went down to the local shopping center to see the native arts and crafts. You know how I've always loved arts and crafts, like that time in camp when I made those slippers for Daddy. Well, to tell you the truth, arts and crafts are a little different here. For instance they had these shrunken... er, what I mean is some of the things would make interesting conversation pieces, but we are going to try to teach the people to emphasize the functional, rather than the purely ornamental.

My girl friend, Hegira, has been sick to her stomach for five days but not because of anything she ate. She hasn't eaten anything since she got here. I think it's all in her mind myself. The riots at the airport just weren't that bad.

Dr. Eugene H. Rothstrom OPTOMETRIST Hours: 9-5:30 Tues. thru Sat. 522 S. Main, Moscow, Idaho Telephone TU 2-1288

A couple of days ago we drove out to Lake Typhus, which is an all-year-round summer resort. Everybody for miles around goes to the lake for a swim, and not only people. What I mean is that there is an abundance of animal life and sometimes the animal life goes swimming too. The lake gets pretty crowded but since we've been here no swimmer has died of drowning.

The Minister of Health and Recreation invited us to go swimming but I thought the lake was crowded enough with all those... all those people. Anyhow I had to stay with Hegira who fainted when she saw... well, I really don't know what made her faint but it couldn't have been anything. You know Hegira.

The natives are very informal about all manner of things. You might say they're not an especially clothes-conscious people. Oh, but don't misunderstand, they wear something all right. At least they seem covered enough when they stand still, but when they run...

No matter what you read in the papers' back home, Lower Insomnia is not going Communist. Some of the boys in the Corps said they don't think it's going anywhere. I asked some people here if they planned to go Communist and they shook their heads. And that means no. I did notice, though, that they shook their heads to any question. It may be that their English is spotty.

The students here are a lot like students back home. They have pep rallies when there's a big game coming up and even when there isn't. They have so much school spirit about everything.

It's even more remarkable when you find out most of the students don't even go to school. Hegira says it all sounds very progressive to her.

I don't care what they may do in other underdeveloped countries, but in Lower Insomnia they do not cook in the streets. These people prefer to eat their food raw—undoubtedly they realize how cooking destroys valuable vitamins and minerals.

The housing here is different from what we have in West Hartford. The cottages are smaller and more rustic. They don't have windows or floors or furniture. But it's almost always warm so why should they have floors? Windows are really unnecessary because the people would probably never bother to look out anyway. And without furniture you'd be surprised how much more room they have to move around in.

Tomorrow we start teaching the local folks about farming which I expect to enjoy. You remember how much I've always liked to take rides in the country and look at farms. Well, just imagine little me teaching how to make the land give forth its bounty, how to turn miles of trackless jungles into rolling fields of wheat, corn and grain.

In closing, let me say that the Peace Corps thus far has really been an enlightening experience.

Oh yes, please, tell Hegira's parents that she's all right. For some reason the Peace Corps won't let her write any letters.

Love, Penelope —Edwin A. Roberts, Jr.

BOARD TO MEET

The next meeting of the Board of Regents will be held at Boise Dec. 7-8. All material to be included in the agenda must be in University President D. R. Theophilus' office by Nov. 27.

Edit.-Nonsense

Dear Jason The ARGONAUT has been noted for good news coverage, good thoughts and good opinions. Is there now such a lack of this caliber material that the publication is forced to grope for allegorical nonsense like the M.B. editorial in last Tuesday's edition?

If M. B. feels there is a Greek-Independent split on this University campus, she is obligated to show us some factual evidence. There is a great difference between accusation and proof. I would ask her to show an example of a campus where living group relations are more compatible.

Perhaps such a nonsensical editorial would have gone unnoticed, if the adjoining "cartoon" had been omitted. It would seem that college students have enough intelligence to choose friends for themselves. Companions and dates are not selected by the pin they do or don't wear.

Articles and unfunny jokes like this are insulting to the students of the University. Personally, I am disappointed that our campus newspaper has to stoop to such drive. If M.B. can verify her backwoods accusations, the independent thinkers—wherever they live on campus, will remedy the situation.

Defends Stahley

Dear Jason Let's take a long, objective, intelligent look at Idaho football, find out what is wrong, and then take the necessary steps to correct the situation.

It is time that we stop kidding ourselves that a new coach is a cure-all for what ails the football program. For the last 30 years we have fired old coaches; hired new ones, and then settled back to our previous posture waiting for miracles to happen.

Coach Skip Stahley has come under fire this year from almost every direction. The Arg's Herb Hollinger wants Stahley to either resign or be fired. I wonder just how objective or well-founded the criticism of Mr. Stahley is. I say this not because I report to be an "insider" or have all the facts, but

Hide: Bombs Are Coming

Remember the typical old fruit cellar, filled with salted pork, sacks of potatoes and jars of apricot preserves? Today we still have the fruit cellar, but it's changed. Now it's walled with concrete blocks, and it's filled with survival kits, geiger counters and civil defense manuals.

Contrary to what might be thought by its sudden popularity, the bomb shelter isn't just another fad like the hula hoop. The hula hoop craze was caused by a desire for fun, but the bomb shelter craze is caused by panic.

Speaking in a professor's seminar during Dads' Day weekend, Dr. Boyd A. Martin, dean of the College of Letters and Science, warned that "the fear of Communism is going to be one of our greatest problems." He was speaking of the FEAR of Communism, not necessarily Communism itself.

Russia has many of us panic-stricken and baffled. First it makes a plea for peace, then it commits another act of aggression or again threatens war. Crises abound like feathers in a pillow fight. Strife in the Middle East is followed by trouble in Berlin, which in turn is followed by the explosion of a 50-megaton bomb. What do we do about it? We start putting up curtains in the fruit cellar.

What good will America gain by becoming panicky? How much protection will a bomb shelter provide if it's only about one-tenth as deep as the crater left by an H-bomb? After graduation we university students will have to help answer these questions as we step somewhat warily out into the unprotective world.

In the past, America reacted with indignation and defiance to Germany's or Japan's world-conquering plans. Nowadays, however, when Russia does the same thing as Germany or Japan did, America wonders how it can escape, not how it can counteract the threat of its enemy.

Neutral foreign countries also are covered by Russia's threats. In the heyday of German or Japanese aggression, these neutral nations would join the camp of the United States when bullied by an aggressive power. Today, however, they are afraid to defy Russia for fear that the Reds will be angry with them.

Must we give up already and accept whatever fate Russia has planned for us? Russia will hesitate to try to obliterate us if we're no more afraid of them than they are of us. And the United States, as the free world's supposed leader, won't win much support or respect among the smaller nations if it seemingly admits to Russia's superior strength.

But no; don't try to fight Russia; run for your fruit cellar. Why die out in the open when you can die contentedly with a jar of apricot preserves in your hand?—N. M.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

One of the letters in today's Dear Jason column takes issue with the editorial, "Feudin', Fussin' And A Fightin'," which appeared in the Nov. 14 issue of the Argonaut.

Jason welcomes letters in which the writer disagrees with opinions which are printed, and wishes to present his side to the public.

However, Jason feels that the writer of this letter, and other letters, are somewhat confused by the editorial policy of this paper.

Editorials which appear in the Argonaut do not reflect the opinion of the individual writer, but of the editorial staff, which includes all the main editors. Which side of an issue to be taken in an editorial is decided at a general staff meeting. Then a staff member is asked to write this general opinion into an editorial.

Neither does the Argonaut pick out a topic for editorial exploitation purely for its controversial qualities or because it may attract a lot of readers.

In this particular case, the editorial staff felt that a social split did exist on the campus, and the object of the editorial was to point up how ridiculous it is.

The Argonaut does not "stoop" for any editorial matter. If there is a problem which we feel could be improved or alleviated by our suggestions, then an editorial stand is taken.

When there is nothing meriting editorial comment, no editorial appears in the paper.

Defends Stahley

Dear Jason Let's take a long, objective, intelligent look at Idaho football, find out what is wrong, and then take the necessary steps to correct the situation.

It is time that we stop kidding ourselves that a new coach is a cure-all for what ails the football program. For the last 30 years we have fired old coaches; hired new ones, and then settled back to our previous posture waiting for miracles to happen.

Coach Skip Stahley has come under fire this year from almost every direction. The Arg's Herb Hollinger wants Stahley to either resign or be fired. I wonder just how objective or well-founded the criticism of Mr. Stahley is. I say this not because I report to be an "insider" or have all the facts, but simply as an interested alum.

To make my point, let's use an example of football fans, their team and their coach which occurred earlier this year on a mid-western campus. Anybody recognize the name Murray Warmth? He is the head coach at the University of Minnesota. Last year his team shared the Big Ten championship and was the Big Ten representative to the Rose Bowl. Currently, this team is undefeated in Big Ten play, and recently knocked Michigan, State, out of their number one ranking in the country by defeating them.

But in early September, Murray Warmth was hanged in effigy and fans were yelling for his resignation because of two early season setbacks. Now I ask you how sound and rational is this sort of action?

Skip Stahley isn't Murray Warmth and University of Idaho is not Minnesota, but football fans are football fans.

Skip Stahley has a good record at Idaho. This record becomes almost excellent when you compare it to other Idaho coaches' records.

Last year while serving as an ASUI officer, I was deeply impressed with Skip Stahley's sincere interest in the student body. He feels that the football team belongs to the students, and that it is an integral part of the University. This is truly an unusual attitude for a coach to have in this day and age. Many times Mr. Stahley has taken time to come before Executive Board to inform them of the Athletic Department's plans. Last year he took an entire evening to answer questions before SRA.

Mr. Stahley has been here for about 8 1/2 years. During this time he has worked hard to serve the University. The boosters have given him two new cars as bonuses for a "job well done." He is a good coach and a fine gentleman.

Perhaps, if after careful study it is decided that Idaho needs, among other things, a new coach, let's handle the thing sensibly. Why must we act in such a manner as to make a man feel that his efforts on behalf of the University have been to no avail. If Mr. Stahley leaves Idaho, let's realize the good he has done for Idaho, and let's let him know it.

This letter is by no means a "blueprint" to the Rose Bowl. Its purpose is simply twofold: One to get Idaho to face squarely our football problems, and second to try and prevent the merciless scuttling of another football coach in a pseudo attempt to solve our problems.

Let's do something POSITIVE about Idaho football.

Sincerely, John Fitzgerald ED. NOTE: Mr. Fitzgerald served as ASUI Vice President prior to his graduation last year. He also held numerous other elective and appointive student offices.

Closed Meetings, No, SRA—Maybe

Dear Jason,

Over two weeks ago on the afternoon of Tuesday, October 31, the Executive Board held an unannounced, special "closed" meeting in which it recommended the appropriation of $12,500 of the students' money for SUB furniture and $1,500 for a concrete "I" to be placed outside of town.

Upon hearing of this "closed" meeting, I wanted to know WHY it was necessary to recommend this appropriation under the cloak of secrecy? If the fund raising began in 1957-58, why is it necessary to appropriate money secretly when it seems it would have passed in an open meeting? Were they afraid the students were going to filibuster their meeting? Jim Mullen stated in the last issue of the Argonaut, "If we put everything before the students before acting, we would be hopelessly bogged down... I can rightfully understand this, but why were the ex-officio members excluded (Arg., KUOI, SRA, GEM, Public Relations) Could the reason the ex-officio members were not invited be that someone didn't want the students to know about it because the Board of Regents might not accept their recommendation and then it would appear that the students had no control over their school.

Not only were the ex-officio members excluded, but, among other questionable acts, the Exec Board members were not contacted until the last minute and they were not told specifically what would be covered in this meeting. When Jim Mullen was approached on the question of "closed meeting" he stated, "he would call a closed meeting an time he felt it necessary." The precedent is to have at least 24 hours notice to the press as is implied in the ASUI constitution in Article 11, Section 1.

The results of the "closed" meeting were finally announced two weeks after the meeting took place. WHY? ? ? I can see no answer, but as a student I would like to know.

I strongly feel that no amount of rationalization can ethically justify this type of thinking and action. As students become more cognizant of their political environment, it is clear that something must be done. It is also clear that if the student body of the U of I is to have a governmental group which adequately represents it, some sort of a representative body must soon be initiated. If we are to have no more repeated unethical actions by the Exec Board in the future, we must have a checking body.

May I suggest SRA. Sincerely, Robert Forman SRA Representative Lindley Hall

Ed. Note: Concerning Mr. Forman's reference to Article II, Section 1 of the ASUI Constitution. PBP Has Bronco Breakfast; Six Initiated Into Theta Chi

By ANN SPIKER
Argonaut Women's Editor

DG'S IN GROOVE
The Sigma Nu band played the "beat" for Club-45 at the DG Pledge Dance Saturday night while the participants kept "in the groove" in their varied attire.

SIGNS HAVE FIRE
Denny Wheeler recently "hot-footed" it out of bed to extinguish flames caused by a short in his electric blanket.

Nancy Yount, Sweetheart of Sigma Chi, hashed Wednesday noon in place of a scheduled hash.

Members accepted a challenge from the pledges and left them on the short end of a 6-0 football game Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Magnusson returned to the house Sunday following hospitalization.

FH HONORS SENIORS
French House honored its 12 seniors with a traditional fireside Wednesday night. Several underclassmen appeared as "typical coeds"—the tweedy type, the downbeat intellectual, the Jackie Kennedy type, the Ivy league type, and as "the girl who thought purple would be good this year."

A swami prophesied the future of each senior. Kris Allen Dietz read the senior will, each senior was given a demitasse and refreshments were served.

Midterm studying was done to the tune of hammering and sawing as workmen installed a new phone on second floor.

PHI DELTS HOST
Sunday the Phis were host to

Donna Morgan, Gamma Phi; Steve Norrell, Phi Tau; and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Myers of Salem.

Thursday evening the Phi Delt's held their first Daughter-Sister Banquet. Representatives from seven sororities were present.

GAMMA PHIS PRACTICE
A persistent group of Gamma Phis have been diligently practicing the art of the "Continental." Guests for dress dinner Sunday were Karen Graves, Hays; and Mrs. MacRae, Moscow.

FARMHOUSE HAS DANCE
Saturday night the men of FarmHouse and their dates traveled "North to Alaska" at a colorful pledge dance.

Intermission entertainment was of both the home-grown and "solicited" varieties. Included was audience participation in the First Annual FarmHouse Sawyerette Contest. Margaret Johnson, Tri Delta, won the title of "World's Greatest Sawyerette."

Dinner guests have been Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shane, Mr. Walter Sparks, Dr. and Mrs. Russell V. Winters, Mr. Owens, and Mr. Ralph Schaffer.

THETAS "ARGUE"
At the climax of a heated "argument" at dinner Wednesday night, Carlene Ringe and Sherry McGuire disclosed the date of the pledge dance, Dec. 1. Baffled pledges were instructed to "go primitive."

Among recent dinner guests were Gary Heidel, Gary Whitmore, and Ardell Shockley, off campus, who convinced the entire house that they will be the next campus singing idols.

KAPPAS SERENADED
Saturday morning the Beta and Kappa pledges had an informal party at the Kappa house.

Recent pinning serenades were held for Nancy Mitchell, pinned to Bob Boie, Sigma Nu; and Eugenie Newton, pinned to Fred Bergemann, Delta.

Pat Swan, Boise, was a weekend guest.

Tuesday evening dinner guests were Exec. Board members, Sally

Jo Nelson, Gary Michael, and Pete Kelly.

ESH HAS GUESTS
House guests for the week were Mrs. Effie Wright, Lewiston; Anita Phillips, Tacoma School of Nursing; and Mr. and Mrs. Fruecht-enicht and daughter Melanie, Payette.

During a FarmHouse serenade, Vern Kulm sang a solo for JoAnn Evans, in honor of their pinning.

PI PHIS BREAKFAST
The Pi Phi Ranch was the scene of the Bronco Buddy Breakfast Saturday morning. Members and pledges combined forces to put the event on for campus friends.

Serenades have been given by the Phi Tau pledges and the ATO's.

THETA CHI INITIATES
Dave Humphrey, Dennis Long-fellow, Ray McLaughlin, Bob Reynolds, Don Schuller, and Steve Wood were initiated into Theta Chi Nov. 6.

The pledge dance, "A Dream to Remember," was held Friday, Nov. 10. Guests of honor were Dr. F. Winkler and Mr. and Mrs. William Shane. Music was provided by the Gate-Swingers.

FORNEY CHOOSES
Chosen as Girls-of-the Month at Forney are Jeanette Thayer and Sharon Hopper, for the work they did in CUP.

Guests over Dad's Day Weekend were Nola Olson, Lewiston; Eldon Jones, Spokane; and Velma and Steve Crofoot, Mead.

Anne Hein, Charlotte Mohn, and Sunday dinner guests were De-Jerre Gross.

Friday evening was "Little Girl Night" at Forney. Each girl designed her own costume and made a "fancy" showing.

Japanese Set At Card Party

The Dames Club card party, featuring a Japanese theme, was held Wednesday evening at the Faculty Club.

Japanese lanterns hung from the ceiling, and the eight tables of bridge were decorated with a variety of colored tablecloths and napkins. The tally cards also carried out the Japanese motif, with Japanese writing on each one.

First prize for bridge went to Marilyn Winter with second prize going to Sylvia Metter. First prize for pinocle went to Juanita Spencer. Cake and coffee were served at the close of the party.

At the next meeting November 15, Mrs. J. B. Pattison will present a program on "The Middle East As Seen Through Afghanistan."

Sigma Xi's Sponsor High School Contest

Invitations will go out to 135 Idaho high schools this week urging students to register for the annual high school mathematics contest, according to Dr. Hans Sagan, contest chairman and head of the department of mathematics.

The contest, to take place March 8, 1962, is sponsored by the Mathematical Association of America and the Society of Actuaries. The enrollment deadline is January 15, 1962.

Cash prizes will be awarded to the three top mathematics students by the University of Idaho chapter of Sigma Xi, national research honorary. Prizes will be $25, $15 and $10, respectively for first, second, and third place.

Controversial Twist Is Slow In Gaining Campus Popularity

Starting in Philadelphia among the teen-agers a dance supposedly derived from some ancient tribal puberty rites has worked its way throughout the country and even up into high society. It has finally arrived on the Idaho campus but it's debut hasn't been too startling.

Only a small number of students are acquainted with the intricacies of the dance which resembles someone drying themselves off after a shower according to Chubby Checker, recording "star" whose record lolled in the top sales lists for a number of weeks by virtue of American teen-agers' enthusiasm.

No more than a dozen girls in any one living group would admit to being able to perform the dance which one observer said is "right out of the jungle."

The dancers do not touch each other during the dance and take hardly any steps, merely swaying the hips and using certain gyrations. The partners synchronize their movements working out their own individual variations.

The twist was originally written in 1958 by another recording artist, Hank Ballard. He is 27-years old and has been in show business for ten years. He claims he never got credit that he should have had for the Twist, saying, "I'm the originator, but Chubby Checker got the credit for it."

Ballard said he wrote the song when the Peppermint Lounge in New York, the big twist joint at the present, was just a two-bit saloon.

He said he was inspired to write the song after watching a group dance to one of his songs, the "Coffee Grind."

Ballard was irritated still saying, "I'm still mad because I was rushed right out of the picture. Hits are hard to write. I know Chubby real well and he thinks he did me a favor. But when somebody takes material from me, it makes me boil."

An article out of the Philadelphia Inquirer quoted Checker as saying, "People used to think it was dirty, but now high society has come along and cleaned it up for everybody."

This may explain why it hasn't

Idaho Develops Equipment To Measure Snow's Depth

Progress by the University of Idaho research department has helped end the days in this area when men braved cold weather and climbed to the top of mountains in the interests of science.

The amount of water in the area's rivers must be determined, and to do this, data must be procured on the amount of snow on the water sheds during the winter. Such snow surveys in the past were made by men on skis and snow shoes who would trek into mountain areas.

The problem has been solved by some new electronic equipment developed by the University of Idaho electrical engineering laboratory under the guidance of Dr. L. A. Beattie, G. G. Hespelt, and L. M. Maxwell, all associate professors of electrical engineering.

Information can be gotten much more readily with the equipment — it can even be obtained every minute.

The equipment measures seven qualities: total precipitation, moisture in the snow, air temperature, soil quality, percentage of ice to water in the snow, ground temperature.

These measurements are converted into impulses which may be read on an oscilloscope in the Campus laboratory. This telemetering equipment, though still being perfected, was first put into use last summer.

Hespelt expressed hope that the equipment would be manufactured by some company as there is a definite need for something like it all over the country.

The equipment is designed to operate for nine months without maintenance. The telemetering device is buried beneath the ground and is battery-powered.

Initiation Plans Formed At Meeting

This project was started in June of 1955 as Special Research Project Number 61. It is being cooperatively financed by the Corps of Engineers, Bureau of Reclamation, Washington Water Power, Soil Conservation Service and the Agricultural Research Service.

Plans for an initiation to be held at Moscow's National Guard Armory were discussed at a recent meeting of the University of Idaho Company of the Association of United States Army.

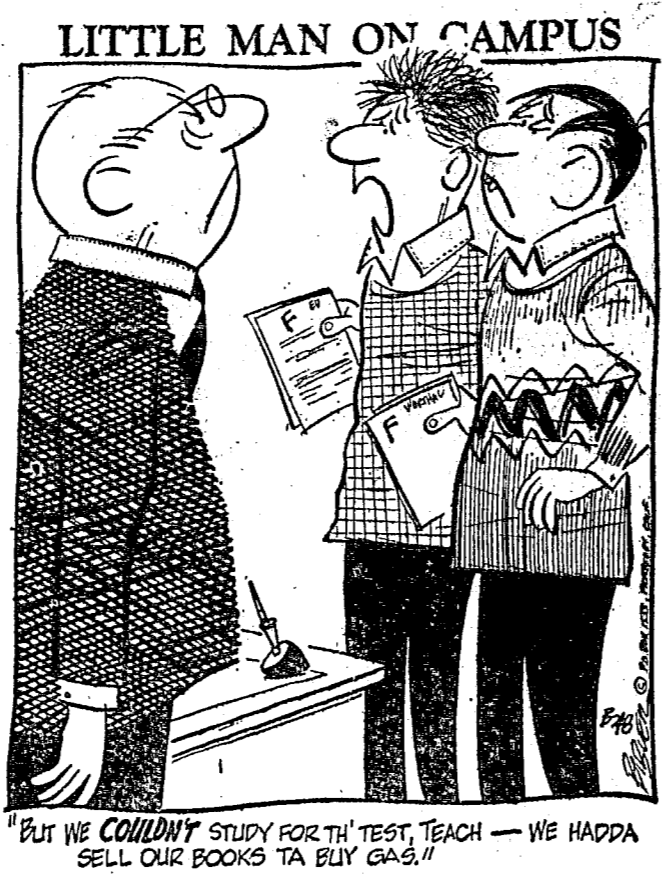

The AUSA initiation will be held Dec. 2 and will be followed by a banquet at the Moscow Hotel.

Jerry Boyd, Lambda Chi, was appointed at the meeting to handle news reports, and William Horn, off campus, was appointed to take charge of meeting announcements and reports. Mike McDonald, off campus, was selected as company photographer.

Capt. William R. Cashman Jr., AUSA advisor, showed color slides of Europe, which he photographed while stationed in Germany. Refreshments were served in the Student Union Bucket after the meeting.

HANSEL AND GRETTEL

The second ASUI drama production of the year, Hansel and Gretel, will be presented Dec. 8 and 9 in the University auditorium at 8 p.m. both nights.

Alumni Association Big Job; Idaho Comes Of Age—Lyle

This weekend as Idaho alumni gather at Boise for the Idaho-Montana State University football game, one of the first things many of them will do is look for the familiar face of Jim Lyle, alumni secretary for the University.

Traveling over 12,000 miles a year in organizing alumni, Lyle is well known to many of the 18,512 graduates of the University of Idaho. The organization he heads has a full time job acting as a service organization for graduates and former students.

One of their main jobs is collecting and disseminating information through publications such as the "Roundup," an alumni bulletin published four times a year. Over 14,000 are on the mailing list now.

A secretary spends 75 per cent of her time handling the correspondence emanating from the little office in the SUB. A major job is keeping track of all of these people and maintaining an up-to-date address file. Often the office works in conjunction with the sororities and fraternities on the campus in keeping track of graduates.

Lyle said he estimated that 65 per cent of the people on his mailing list were married, indicating that their correspondence was reaching 23 to 25 thousand people.

The office is supported mainly by donations from alumni. Also the function of his office is deemed important enough that he receives part of the budget money each year also.

Asked if more people could be contacted if they had a larger budget, he said yes, explaining that it sometimes takes a lot of digging to find a person's address and with the present budget the office can't hire someone to do as much of that as is needed.

Looking to the future, Lyle said that with the addition to the SUB

Polage-Robertson Take School Bids

Two University of Idaho students have accepted offers to attend Washington University medical school at St. Louis, Dr. J. J. Jolley, chairman of premedical and predoctoral studies, at Idaho, announced.

To attend Washington university, one of the top medical schools in the nation, are Chuck Robertson, off campus, and David Polage, Sigma Chi. Both students have exceptional scholastic records with Robertson compiling a near straight "A" average and Polage a "B" plus average.

IT'S LATER THAN YOU THINK!

All year long you've been promising yourself to go there. Now the semester is nearly over and you still haven't set foot in the place. Shame on you!

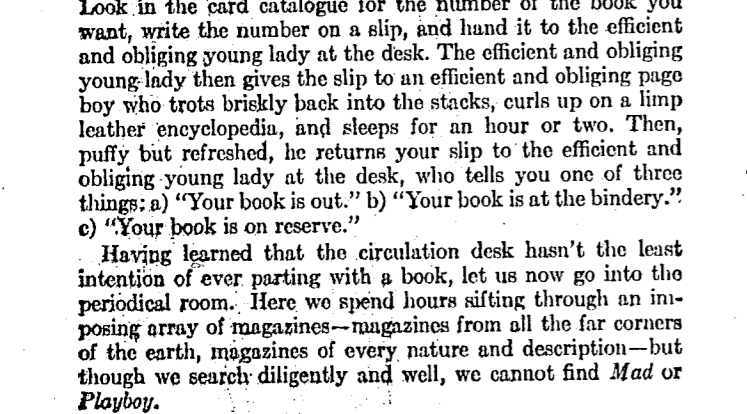

But it's not too late. Right now, this very minute, before you weaken, lift up your head and forward march to the place you have been avoiding ever since school began. I refer, of course, to the library.

Now here you are at the library. That wasn't so bad, was it? Of course not! Go inside. What do you see? A sign that says "NO SMOKING." Go outside. Light a Marlboro. Smoke. Go back inside.

Because now you are ready. Now your trembling resolution is rigid. Now your pulsing psyche is serene. You have been calmed by mild Marlboro. You have been soothed by that fine selectate filter, by that fine full flavor that dotes and pampers and caresses, that lifts the fallen, repairs the shattered, straightens the bent, unravels the knotted, rights the askew, and fastens the unbuttoned.

In the center of the library you see the main circulation desk. Look in the card catalogue for the number of the book you want, write the number on a slip, and hand it to the efficient and obliging young lady at the desk. The efficient and obliging young lady then gives the slip to an efficient and obliging page boy who trots briskly back into the stacks, curls up on a limp leather encyclopedia, and sleeps for an hour or two. Then, puffy but refreshed, he returns your slip to the efficient and obliging young lady at the desk, who tells you one of three things: a) "Your book is out." b) "Your book is at the bindery." c) "Your book is on reserve."

Having learned that the circulation desk hasn't the least intention of ever parting with a book, let us now go into the periodical room. Here we spend hours sifting through an imposing array of magazines—magazines from all the far corners of the earth, magazines of every nature and description—but though we search diligently and well, we cannot find Mad or Playboy.

Next let us venture into the reference room. Here in this hushed, vaulted chamber, we find the true scholars of the university—earnest, dedicated young men and women who care for only one thing in the world: the pursuit of knowledge.

Let us eavesdrop for a moment on this erudite couple poring over heavy tomes at the corner table. Hush! She speaks:

SHE: Whatcha readin', hey?

HE: The Origin of Species. You ever read it?

SHE: No, but I seen the movie.

HE: Oh.

SHE: You like readin'?

HE: Naah.

SHE: What do you like?

HE: Hockey, licorice, girls, stuff like that.

SHE: Me too, hey.

HE: You pined or anything?

SHE: Well, sort of. I'm wearin a fellow's motorcycle emblem... But it's only platonie.

HE: Wanna go out for a smoke?

SHE: Marlboro?

HE: What else?

And as our learned friends take their leave, let us too wend our way homeward—a trifle weary, perhaps, but enlightened and renewed and better citizens for having spent these happy hours in the library, Aloha, library, aloha!

The makers of Marlboro, who sponsor this column, could write volumes about another one of their fine products—the unfiltered King-size Philip Morris Commander—but we'll only tell you this: Take a leaf from our book. Enjoy a Commander today.

Vandal Booster Writes Letter To Column On Grid Controversy

One man's opinion is always based on what he feels is right. However, he does take into consideration what other people think, their arguments, etc., before he makes himself too outspoken.

Before I took the controversial stand on the Idaho football situation, I also had listened to other people and their opinions. The following letter is an example of what I heard and am still hearing. The letter explains itself. It is from a booster in Nampa.

"Dear Herb: "Although not an alumnus of Idaho, I have been a booster of Idaho football teams for the past 30 years and have traveled to see most of the home games at Moscow, many of them at Eugene, Corvallis and Seattle, and all of them at Boise. I have finally had it, as long as Stahley is at Idaho I wouldn't travel to Moscow, Boise, or for that matter, a block to see Idaho play, as I know how the game will come out; Idaho will play good ball the first quarter, after that the track meet starts.

"I know it is easy to second guess a football team, and want you to know that I, and I believe most of the true Idaho football fans, are behind you 100 per cent. I think you have a hard row to hoe . . . It looks to me as if he (Stahley) is one hell of a lot better salesman than he is a football coach.

"I see by the morning Statesman (Boise) that Stahley feels he has done a good job because he has six Idaho alumnus among the very good players on the various professional teams. I feel he has done a rotten job to have had these good men as well as a lot of others nearly as good and then only to be able to win 3 games in the last 26.

"I know it is easy to second guess a football team and if Stahley had all the good Monday morning quarterbacks playing for him Saturday afternoon he might win one once in a while, so I will stand and be counted with the others. Mr. Stahley has always cried lack of quantity and lack of quality when in truth the matter has been lack of condition. He doesn't believe in body contact during practice because he is afraid of injuries. Football players in condition don't run out of gas after one quarter, and they very seldom get hurt as you can see by watching the pros. I am sure it isn't lack of quality as Idaho has been able to not only hold their own but outplay some of the best in the country for one quarter.

"I think if Idaho is going to insist on keeping Stahley, that they should insist on booking one quarter games or change over to touch football, in which case he could get away from bodily contact altogether.

"In closing, note that he says he is doing the best he can. I don't doubt this but it isn't good enough. Keep up the good work."

Although I disagree on one point with this gentleman, I do believe that the letter is representative of many Vandal boosters in southern Idaho, as is this one from Nampa.

There are, no doubt, boosters who feel the opposite way. This is just one I felt should be viewed by the students of the University of Idaho, whether you agree in principle or not.

THAT HURTS — A loose ball in the Idaho backfield. The Idaho Vandal Babes eventually lost the ball on this fumble and the WSU Couababes recovered deep in Babe territory. However, they didn't score on that series of downs. Later in the quarter the Couababes managed to push over a TD and that won the ball game, 7-0, last Friday afternoon in a Shrine Crippled Children's "Little Battle of the Palouse."

Hockey Season To Close With Northwest Conference

The climax of the 1961 Hockey season will be the Northwest Field Hockey Conference, Nov. 17, 18, and 19. This year the Conference will be the result of the combined efforts of the University of Idaho and Washington State University.

Twenty-six schools throughout the Pacific Northwest have been invited; these include the University of Idaho, Washington State University, University of Oregon, University of Washington, Oregon State University.

Also included are: Western Washington State College, University of Puget Sound, Victoria College, University of British Columbia, Centralia Junior College, Central Washington State College, Clark College, Linfield College, Marylhurst College, Skagit Valley Junior College, and College of Idaho.

Each school is allowed to bring one team and seven substitutes, for a total of 18. Each school will play 3 games. The teams are matched according to the experience of the team members.

All of these games will be played at Pullman except one game which will be played Friday, Nov. 17, on McLean Field between the University of Idaho and an opponent yet to be named. Admission to all games is free and spectators are welcome.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT — Exec. Board

Any problems or conflicts arising from disputes in the ASUI Constitution or student government are handled by a different body, the Board of Arbitration. Composing the board are the University President, the ASUI President, and the Executive Board advisor. This group handled the disputed election for ASUI President two years ago.

Hossner, who was elected on the Campus Union Party ticket last spring, said he was opposed to the idea of a student judicial system during the campaign, and is still opposed to it, if the proposed system doesn't eliminate all the overlapping courts.

He noted, however, that this is a long range plan which must prove itself. The existing courts will not be thrown out until the new system becomes workable, he said.

"I am sure that the system will work with aid from the administration and as long as the Judicial Council members are high caliber students," he concluded.

University of Idaho SUB will highlight the conference activities. The theme is "Pennies from Heaven." After the meal, entertainment will be furnished by groups from the University of Idaho and Washington State University.

The climax will be the presentation of a song by each school. The song is usually to the tune of a popular song with words made up by each school concerning hockey.

Old Opponents—Somewhat Easier

The call has been for Idaho's Vandals to play an easier schedule in the forthcoming seasons. Upon investigation it was found that Idaho has played easier opponents "way-back-when."

Although the year is not given, the Vandals played Coeur d'Alene High School and defeated the Vikings, 22-0. The Vandals also played the former Albion Normal in southern Idaho and defeated them; however, no score is given.

Leaders Are Appearing In Volleyball League

League leaders are shaping up in all four volleyball leagues as the season grows older. The league leaders of last year are once again the formidable competitors for the Greek and Independent titles.

Here is the action of the past two days. League I: Kappa Sigma stopped Farnhouse, 15-6, 15-12. Theta Chi surprised a tough Phi Tau team, 15-13, 16-14. The ATO's had little trouble with the Phi Deltas, winning 15-6, 15-7. The Betas and Lambda Chis locked horns with the Betas coming out on top, 8-15, 15-10, 15-12. It was a close game all the way and it enabled the Betas to move into a tie with the Lambda Chis for 2nd spot.

The Deltas knocked off heretofore undefeated Delta Chi, in League II competition, to keep a three game winning record unscattered. The Fijis had little to worry about as they trounced the Sigma Chis, 15-1, 15-6.

Delta Sigma Phi fell before a tough SAE crew, 15-6, 15-6. The Tekes beat LDS rather easily, 15-2, 15-5.

TMA kept its slate clean in League III play, by taking Willis Sweet, 15-4, 15-3. This gives TMA a 4-0 record, tying it with Upham Chrisman 2 had little trouble putting away Shoup 2, 15-6, 15-8. And finally, Lindley 2 stopped a Gault 2 uprising to come out on top, 15-5, 6-15, 15-7.

Shoup and Chrisman had a see-saw battle going until Shoup lowered the boom. Scores were, 15-4, 7-15, 15-7. The game between Lindley and Gault got a little wild in the second match. Lindley, however, came out on top in the match, 15-7, 17-19, 15-4.

Upham Hall 2 leads the pack here in League IV with a 4-0 record. Their record remained intact with a 15-4, 15-7 victory over Campus Club 2. Willis Sweet 2 knocked off TMA 2, 15-0, 15-9.

Chrisman 2 had little trouble putting away Shoup 2, 15-6, 15-8. And finally, Lindley 2 stopped a Gault 2 uprising to come out on top, 15-5, 6-15, 15-7.

Last Night's Scrimmage Revealed Potent Offense

December 1, two weeks from today, opens another season for the Idaho varsity basketball machine and Coach Joe Cipriano seems to be bent on having the Vandals start out in a winning fashion. The head mentor has been working hard on the Vandals' offense in preparation for the Whitworth College opener here.

In an inter-squad scrimmage last night, the Vandal offense seemed to click brilliantly at times with veteran Chuck White providing a top offensive show. Rich Porter, flashy junior who in pre-season predictions was the man to watch, also showed real promise against a green-shirted second team.

Making up the rest of the grey-and that was flashy Dale James, Ken "Moose" Maren, sophomore Tom Whitfield, Lyle Parks, Gary Floan, and sophomore Jim Scheel. Maren and Scheel both looked good under the boards while Whitfield looks promising in the point-producing department.

Loses Big One
Having lost only one starter, but that was flashy Dale James, Coach Cipriano's squad will be a top contender but "Clip" notes that most of the teams Idaho will face this year will be strong with only one or two men on their starting five having to be replaced.

Vandals Break Old PSA Record

Idaho's 1961 football opponents ran up a new record against the Vandals by piling up a total of 337 points, which doesn't include the Montana game tomorrow.

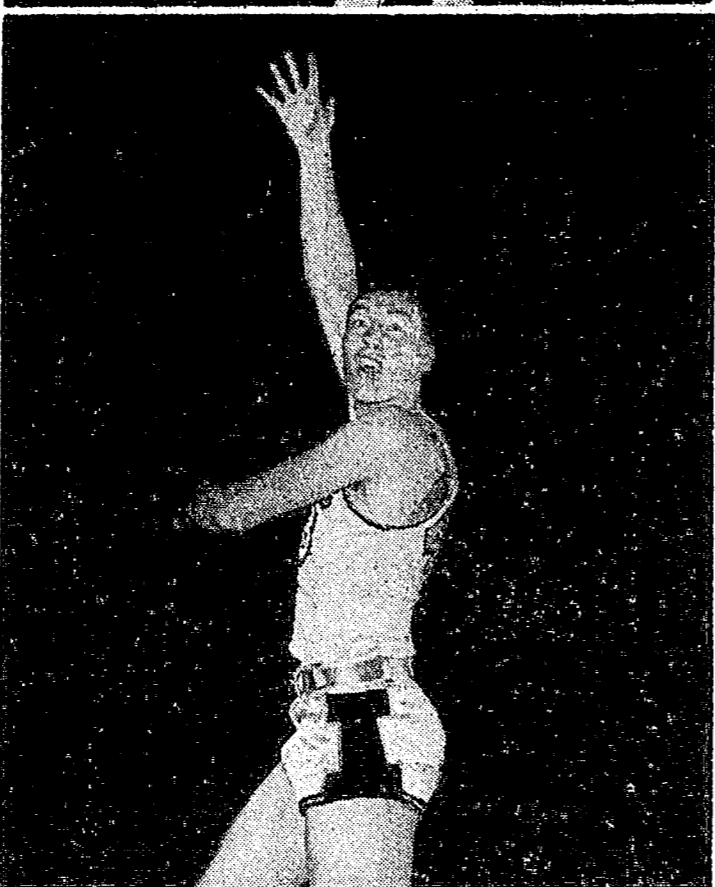

The former record for "Most Points Scored Against in One Season" was set in 1959 when Vandal opponents scored 293 points. Idaho played 10 games that year and scored 79 points in that season. The new record was set in 8 games this year with the Vandals racking up a total of 49 points.

games this year in comparison to the 10 Moscow battles last year. Cipriano thinks that this, plus not having an eastern road trip, may help give Idaho a boost in the winning column.

Although, generally, things may look good for the Vandals, there is one question mark at the start of the season at least. Versatile Reg Carolan, a veteran on the maple court as well as in football, is still in the grid suit and will not be able to turn out for basketball until football ceases. Whether the athlete can get into condition for the basketball opener remains questionable. However, Cipriano is looking for him to bolster the squad as the season progresses.

Idaho Looks For Second Win In Sat. Game With Montana U.

By Larry McBride
Arg Sports Writer

In the final game of the season, the Vandals journey to Boise for a contest with Montana State U. Montana lost to arch-rival Montana State, but the Grizzlies are expected to bounce back for the Vandals. Montana led, 9-0, after three quarters only to fall before the aerial arm of the Bobcats.

According to Wayne Anderson, who scouted Montana, the Grizzlies are a well-balanced team. They are probably more dangerous on the ground but can pass as well. Montana seems to have the knack of being able to turn to something else if one part of their attack doesn't go.

After playing teams with many variations all season, Idaho will now face a team with two formations—the single wing and the winged "T." The Grizzlies run all their plays from an unbalanced right line, regardless of the formation. However, when they are in the winged T, they will split an end; while in the single wing, the end is always tight.

Although Montana has but two formations to work from, they use a lot of innovations. For instance, the Grizzlies use the quick kick well. They have passed from punt formation, as well as out of the single wing. Idaho will have to be looking for a lot of surprises.

Seniors Dominate
Montana is a club dominated mainly by seniors with a lot of playing experience. In fact, the Grizzlies' backfield is an all-senior aggregation.

Playing in the Skyline Conference, Montana has played such teams as Utah, Utah State, and Wyoming. They smashed a good New Mexico team 40-6 in what has been their finest game of the season. The Grizzlies also handily defeated Colorado State U.

Heading the personnel list is senior back Bob O'Blivovich, described by many as one of the great athletes of the area. O'Blivovich last year beat the Vandals twice in basketball and once in football. He plays quarterback in the winged T, when the Grizzlies use the single wing. Bob plays blocking back and in that position he is probably Montana's best pass receiver.

Another man the Vandals will be watching is halfback Terry Dillon. At 6'1" and 180 Dillon is bigger than any Vandal halfback. Anderson described Dillon as "a strong powerful runner." He also has good speed. Dillon plays left half in the winged T but in the single wing plays the vital tailback position. Idaho can't forget Dillon's running mate Pat Dodson.

Big Line
Montana has a line that is as big as the Vandals'. Key man up front is center Gary Schwertfeger, the only Grizzly lineman that was a starter last year. This line has fair speed and good mobility. However it is not as strong as the line of last year which made Montana one of the leaders in pass defense. On the Vandal's side of the ledger Skip Stahley has drilled Idaho on defense all week. Over half the time has been devoted to this phase. Since the Vandals will be seeing the single wing for the first and only time Saturday, the defensive unit has been working against squads running such plays.

Offensively, Stahley is still looking for a way to put some points on the Vandal's side of the scoreboard. Time has been devoted to the aerial arm as well as the ground attack, which sometimes looked real good against Arizona.

Stahley indicated that Tom Morris would "see a lot of football" Saturday. Morris was selected by virtue of his play against Arizona last Saturday night.

Commenting on the coming game, Stahley said he would "go with what we've got as we've done all season," adding that "most everyone has played, and we'll do the same thing against Montana."

2 Weeks Until Swim Opener

Coach Clark Mitchell, carrying the largest team in his four year tenure as varsity swimming mentor announced yesterday his Vandals will open the swimming season, December 2. The meet will be held at Eugene, Oregon, and will be the Far West Relays.

Mitchell, with a turnout of 13, says he doesn't have outstanding boys, but added that with the increased numbers of members on the team, he hopes the intra-event competition will improve the times. The squad is young with only one senior, Chuck Sowers, and three juniors, Rob Giden, Greg Malcolm and Dan Belton. The 9 remaining swimmers are all sophomores.

The first home meets will be January 19 and 20, against Eastern Washington and the University of Alberta, respectively.

Mitchell listed men competing in individual events as follows:
Backstroke: Dan Belton, Larry Peterson, Ken Steward
Breaststroke: Greg Malcolm, Rob Giden
Butterfly: Dan Cole, Jim Cobble
Freestyle: Mike Free, Craig Wood, Walt Collins, Dennis Buhrmester, Chuck Sowers
Divers: Dick Henry

Vandal Babes Show Improved Season According To Goodell

The Vandal Babes losing 2 of 3 games showed much improvement this season according to Frosh Coach Bud Goodell.

The Vandal Babes lost their opener to Wenatchee J. C. Knights, 10 to 7 as a field goal in the closing seconds won the game for Wenatchee. The Vandals were trailing 7-0 when Leon Shaver ran a punt back for 63 yards and a score.

Outstanding for the frosh offense in their first game were Bob Hammond and Rich Naccarato, halfbacks, Joe Chapman and Mike Whiles, Quarterbacks as well as Max Leetzow who played the entire game, both offense and defense.

The following week the Frosh bounced right back and triumphed over the University of Washington Frosh by a score of 7-6. This was the second win for the Idaho Frosh in two years and the second win for the Idaho squad in the history of the battle of the two teams.

Idaho's touchdown came from a 65 yard TD jaunt by Quarterback Joe Chapman. Quarterback Mike Whiles alternated with Chapman to give the Washington fans a great show.

Two weeks later the Vandal Frosh battled the Couabes of Washington State in Neale Stadium before 1500 shivering fans for the first Shrine game.

WSU, in the middle of the third quarter, used the draw play to perfection and moved to the Idaho 3 yard line. Three plays later, the Couabes scored the winning touchdown.

Again Vandal Quarterback Joe Chapman and Halfback Bob Hammond racked up most of Idaho's 96 rushing yards.

Outstanding on defense were Rich Naccarato, Hary Allison, and Max Leetzow as well as the entire Idaho line in containing the Couabes backs.

Although many mistakes were made, much potential was shown.
