Coveted National Fellowship Garnered WSU To Present By Dr. Huckshorn In Political Science

One of the most sought after fellowships in the field of political science in the nation has been won by Dr. Robert J. Huckshorn, assistant professor of political science and associate director of the Bureau of Public Affairs Research at the University.

The young Idaho professor has been awarded one of two National Committee fellowships to serve with the Republican National Committee in Washington, D.C. The fellowship is co-sponsored by the National Center for Education in Politics, formerly the Citizenship Clearing House, and the Republican National Committee.

National Chairman, Representative William Miller of New York.

Similar Award

A similar fellowship was awarded to Dr. Robert C. Spencer of St. Michael's College, Jerico, Vt., to serve with the Democratic National Committee.

Purpose of the fellowships, now in their fifth year, is to give the political science professor a close familiarity with the internal workings of national parties and to give the National Committee the benefit of any advice and research aid which they may desire. The Arts and Sciences division was created two years ago to help identify Republican-oriented faculty and staff members of colleges and universities throughout the country and to devise ways of securing their active participation in politics.

Candidates for ASUI offices got down to business at last night's ASUI-sponsored debate and smoker as they made accusations and refutations for 2 hours.

The Executive Board's responsibility to the students and KUOI were the main topics of debate as a few basic differences in policy emerged from the debating.

United Presidential candidate Gary Carlson opened the debate by elaborating on his party's platform and enumerating what his party has done for student govrnment in the past.

together on a high school all-star team. After high school the two players bumped heads against each other in college, with Andros playing for Oklahoma and Monroe at Kansas. "I've followed Dee's coaching career closely ever since," Monroe said.

Monroe, a bachelor, has as one of his first tasks to find a With a minute left before the gun place to live; he's anxious to get settled in his new job. "I'm very happy to be here," he said, stretching his arms and looking around the athletic department office. "I know it's a challenge, but it's an opportunity, too.'

ISC Was Enthusiastic, Too

Idaho students were plenty enthusiastic, and maybe even impolite when the Idaho State College basketball team came the Bengals had taken a 67-60 lead. impolite when the Idaho State College basketball team came here a few weeks ago. But Idaho State students were even more so when the Vandals went down there last weekend. The Bengals had taken a 67-60 lead. Chuck White then sank two quick field goals, and an Idaho free more so when the Vandals went down there last weekend.

The Vandals, ASUI President Jim Mullen and ASUI Pub-throw resulted in the final score. lic Relations Chairman Carl Berry were treated to a bit of ISC enthusiasm in the form of a 400-student mob Thursday

At about 11:15 p.m., the mob came to the downtown hotel where Mullen, Berry and the team were staying. The "rally" got a bit out of hand, with the ISC students pelting the hotel windows with snowballs. After Pocatello police hauled off four of the students for disturbing the peace, the crowd left.

The demonstration irked Mullen. He had seen Sports Editor Tom Morrison's column that day in Pocatello's Idaho State Journal. Morrison told of the rowdy attitude of the Idaho students when ISC played up here and said "garhad been thrown on the basketball floor. He concluded that if any sportsmanship is to be shown in competition between the two schools, "apparently Idaho State will have to lead the way.

Mullen phoned Morrison during the wild rally at the hotel and indignantly informed him that the ISC stubody wasn't doing a very good job of leading the way to sportsmanship and gentlemanly behavior.

In Friday's Journal, Morrison recalled the last line of his previous day's column, and added: "I was wrong. Both student bodies will have to display a better relationship for the rivalry and conduct themselves like ladies and gentlemen and show some of the sportsmanship both teams can dis-

Idaho State went whole hog for the game in other ways, too. Big "Beat the Vandals" buttons were selling like mad among the students. Last Hope Of Winning Season

Idaho State's Bengals settled a score with the Idaho Vandals, made the King Spud trophy ownerless, and lessened the Vandals' chances of earning better than a break-even season record last Friday.

Idaho Athletic Director J. Neil (Skip) Stabley said yesterday that a proposed third basketball game between Idaho and Idaho State this season would be "just about impossible."

The suggestion for the game was made Friday by State Rep. Carl R. Burt (R-Ada), who said a group of southwest Idaho residents is looking into a possible post season game between the schools. Each school has won one game against the other this

But Stahley said the contest would have to receive approval from the NCAA, since both squads have completed a 264 game schedule, the maximum approved by the NCAA. The athletic director added that such special permission would be extremely difficult to obtain, since other schools might also want special post-season games.

Stabley said that although the third game probably couldn't work out this year, the idea has promise for future years.

IM MEETING

An intramural manager's meeting will be held today at 4:30 p.m. i Room 109 of Memorial Gym, according to intramural director Clem 6 Parbrery. Schedules will be handed table tennis. Dates will be set for spring golf and the track meet.
