

AWS Election Is Thursday

Two junior English majors, both of whom have established notable records in campus activities, will vie for the AWS presidency at the general election Thursday. Both agreed in an Argonaut interview yesterday that there were no major issues, but pledged support for the extension of the "cultural improvement" program begun by this year's AWS.

Burley Wins Play Contest On Saturday

Burley High School won first place for the One-Act Play Festival competition Saturday on the University campus.

Under the direction of Mrs. Robert Riley, Burley retained its state one-act play title by obtaining the best play trophy, and the best actress and best supporting actress trophies.

Moscow High School won three of the seven trophies. Moscow won for the best comedy actress, the best supporting actress and the group under the direction of Stowell Johnstone also received the second best play award.

The only other award went to a Grangeville student for being the best comedy actor.

The festival was sponsored by the Curtain Club. It was the first one of its kind here and five high schools competed for the honors: Colfax, Moscow, Prairie, Cottonwood-Greencreek, Grangeville and Burley.

1000 Students Attend ASUI Play 'Volpone'

Approximately 1000 students attended the second ASUI drama production of the year, "Volpone," during the three-night stand last weekend.

Edmund Chavez, assistant professor of dramatics, said that he thought the audience received the play very well, and that all the comments on the production have been favorable.

"This was one of the best companies that I've ever worked with," he said. "The large cast, including many first-time performers, all did a good job," he added.

The complicated set, which had to be changed every other scene, was taken care of with no trouble as most of the changes were made smoothly.

Critique Held
A critique held in the Campus Christian Center, after the Saturday night performance by Dr. William Hunter, head of the department of humanities, was well attended.

The play, a satirical comedy by Ben Jonson, Elizabethan writer, was set in Venice. The many characters, dressed in costumes of the age made by Jane Ruckman, carried out a plot in which Volpone attempted to exploit the greed of others for his own gain.

Ben Jonson was a contemporary of Shakespeare. The production of his play was the drama department's biggest production of the year in terms of required preparation and size of cast.

The next play is "Secret Service," and tryouts are now being held for its cast.

DEADLINE MAY

University Has Bought Land

The University has purchased nine acres of land which fronts on Sixth street surrounded by University farms. The action was taken by the Board of Regents last weekend at Boise.

An old meat packing plant is on the land, one of the first constructed in the area. The land has formed an "island" of privately-owned land on University property for many years.

The land was purchased from Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Olsen and Mr. and Mrs. Everett W. Boyd, of Moscow. No sale price was announced.

Present plans of University officials call for moving farm buildings to other University land north of the Moscow-Pullman highway and utilizing the vacated property as a site for other campus construction.

DIRECTORSHIP OPEN
Applications for director of ASUI publication relations are now being accepted in the ASUI office according to Carl Berry, present public relations director. Thursday has been set as the deadline for making applications for this job which pays a salary of $25 a month.

Met Opera Tenor To Appear At Final Community Concert

Brian Sullivan, a Metropolitan Opera tenor, will be the artist at Moscow's final concert of the current Community Concert season Thursday at 8 p.m. at Memorial Gymnasium. Students will be admitted with their activity tickets.

Sullivan is a featured singer at all four of the country's leading opera houses. A Metropolitan Opera star since his debut there in 1948, he also sings with the San Francisco Opera, the Chicago Lyric Opera, and the New Orleans Opera Co., and has appeared with a number of symphony orchestras.

He is equally at home in the dramatic as well as the lyric roles of the tenor repertoire, and has appeared in many television operettas in addition to his stage performances.

"Looks Like Hero"
"He looks like a football hero and sings like a Martinelli," said a critic recently in summing up the attributes which make the brawny, handsome Sullivan a natural for operetta and grand opera.

Sullivan was born in Los Angeles, and it was in his last years of high school that he began to think of serious voice study. A student production of "The Pirates of Penzance" convinced him that he wanted singing as a career. At 21 he made his professional debut in an English production of "The Barber of Seville," and a few weeks later was invited to sing the same role in Italian opposite John Charles Thomas.

Brian Sullivan

Two Years With Infantry
After two wartime years with the infantry, he returned to a musical career which saw him in several musical productions before he was spotted by Metropolitan Opera scouts and asked to audition. He started rehearsals the same day. His crowded concert calendar allows his little time to spend with his wife and three children at their home at Manhasset, Long Island. When he is there, he devotes much of his time to gardening and to amateur carpentry. The Pullman Community Concert Association will present one more concert this season when the Seattle Little Symphony Orchestra plays there April 17.

Ireland Debate Team To Meet University Men

The University will be invaded by Ireland—University of Dublin debate team, that is—next Monday night.

According to Dr. A. E. Whitehead, chairman of speech, Idaho debaters will have a chance to match wits with a pair of men from the British Isles. The debate is slated for 8 p.m. in the Music Building auditorium.

"Idaho has had teams on this campus from Oxford, London, and Birmingham Universities for many years," Whitehead said, "but this is the first time that Ireland has sent a team."

Ronnie Rock and Richard Reid, both pre-law students and members of the Idaho debate team, will represent the University. Rock has debated for three years and Reid is a first-year man as a debater.

Dublin will be represented by Louis Courtney, a medical student, and Patrick O'Connor, captain of Dublin's debating team. Courtney was Regular Speaker at Literary and Historical Society for four years and has represented his debating society on numerous occasions.

O'Connor is a member of the Limerick Debating Society and also belongs to the team which won last year's all-Ireland Speech Festival.

The tour which the Irish speakers are on is sponsored by the Institute of International Education. The Irish team will engage in 40 debates while on tour. They submitted a list of 10 topics which they are willing to debate. Idaho chose: "This House deprecates the rise of trade unionism." Idaho will argue for the resolution.

Most Eligible Bachelor Will Reign At Ball

Who is the most eligible bachelor on campus? This honor will be given some junior or senior at the Rogues Gallery Dance, Mar. 30.

The idea of the dance originated two years ago as a climax for the festival of creative arts held each year on campus. This is the Student Union Building's only large dance and it is intended for both students and faculty. The dance has been proved successful on the part of the students. However, it is reported that in the past years there have been few faculty members in attendance.

A male king was added to the event to add interest. It was felt that since there was a Frosh King, there should be some recognition for an upperclassman established on campus.

This contest would also give girls a chance to vote in such a contest, as the male students so often have the opportunity to vote for queens.

Chairman of this year's Rogues Gallery Dance is Pixie Woolverton.

SUB Plans Open House

Plans for the spring open house of the Student Union Building are now being formed, Mark Brown, SUB publicity chairman, announced yesterday.

The affair is tentatively scheduled to start at 6:30 p.m., March 31, with a Jazz in the Bucket program. The open house will have the theme of "Spring into the SUB" and will be aimed at raising money for interior decorations for the new building.

Various organizations will be contacted by members of the committee, to contribute a carnival or bazaar type booth from which the profits will go to the new SUB. The booths will be located in the main Ballroom. In addition to the booths, a free movie will run continuously from 6:30.

SAI TEA ON SUNDAY
The Sigma Alpha Iota (national music fraternity) Tea will be Sunday.

Fulton Lewis Slates Visit; Debate Challenger Needed

Fulton Lewis III, the son of the radio commentator, Fulton Lewis, Jr., will be on the Idaho campus March 29. Plans call for the former House Un-American Activities research analyst to debate with any student, member of the faculty or Moscow citizen. His appearance on the campus is sponsored by the University Young Americans for Freedom.

But, according to Gary Bennett, president of the University's YAF chapter, the group has had little luck in recruiting debaters. Bennett said that the search for debaters has spread to Washington State University and Lewis-Clark Normal School at Lewiston.

If no one will accept Lewis' challenge to debate on the House Committee on Un-American Activities or "Resolved: That the United States should be out of the United Nations," the 26-year-old conservative will speak on either or both of the topics.

"This should prove to be a fine opportunity for certain students and faculty members who have often attacked the Committee to prove their points," Bennett commented.

Lewis will be remembered best on the campus for his narration of the controversial film, "Operation Abolition," which was shown on the campus last spring. He was in San Francisco when the riots against the House Committee on Un-American Activities took place in May, 1960.

He has spoken on more than 250 college campuses throughout the nation and has appeared recently on four national television programs. Lewis is also chairman of the Metropolitan Washington, D.C., Council for Young Americans for Freedom.

Further urging Idaho students to take the opportunity to debate with Lewis, Bennett said:

"The University YAF chapter does not feel that the principles of true academic freedom will be served if, after Mr. Lewis leaves, certain individuals attack his stand when they were afraid of doing so in a debate with him."

Janice Riemann Garners Prize

A University coed has won the prize for the highest grade average in first semester chemistry courses—a scant point ahead of two runners-up.

Janice Riemann, a biological sciences major, was awarded a copy of the "Handbook of Chemistry and Physics," contributed by the Chemical Rubber Publishing company, by Dr. Malcolm M. Renfrew, head of physical sciences at the University.

A sophomore, Miss Riemann has been active in campus affairs. She was tapped for Spurs, the women's service organization, and was selected a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman women's honor society for academic achievement.

Tied for second place, just behind Miss Riemann's mark of 94, were Brian Hill, a chemistry major, and Michael Olson, an electrical engineering major.

Professors To Give Second Lecture

The American Association of University Professors will present the second in a series of three lectures tonight when Jean K. Lauber, assistant professor of zoology will give her answer to the question, "Life on Mars?"

The lecture will start at 8 p.m. in Room 6 of the Home Economics building. Students and faculty members are invited to attend.

Peterson, O'Neill To Step Up As Two Officials End Terms

Two University officials with a total of 33 years at administrative positions at the school will step down from their posts July 1.

University Pres. D. R. Theophilus announced Saturday that effective July 1 the Regents had appointed Philip E. Peterson to replace Dean Edward S. Stimson as Dean of the College of Law and Frederick L. O'Neill to take over the registrar's duties from D. D. DuSault.

Both promotions were made to fill vacancies which will be created by the policy requiring heads of divisions to relinquish their administrative duties upon reaching the age of 65.

Peterson Now Professor
Peterson, 39, is presently professor of law at the University. A native of Galena, Ill., Peterson was an honor graduate in law from the University of Illinois in 1950, standing first in a class of 90 law students. In 1951 he was admitted to the Illinois bar. In 1952 he received a doctor of jurisprudence degree from the University of Illinois, and in 1958, an LL.M. degree from Harvard University with a major in taxation.

Before joining the University faculty in 1952 Peterson practiced law in Urbana, Ill. and taught law at the University of Illinois. He started at Idaho as an assistant law professor moving up to full professor. For the last two sessions of the legislature he has served as a consultant on taxation, helping to write the 1959 major tax revision.

Peterson is a member of the American Bar Association and the Idaho Bar Association. Also he is a member of the local bar, the Clearwater Bar Association, and is currently vice president. He was admitted before the Supreme Court of the United States in 1957. He also was admitted to practice before the Federal tax court and various other federal courts.

Member of Phi Kappa Phi
The newly-appointed law dean is a member of Phi Kappa Phi, Order of Coif (legal honorary) and Phi Alpha Delta (legal fraternity). He is married and has six children.

During World War II Peterson was a navigator of bombing planes in the Pacific theater with the rank of captain. He holds the Purple Heart, Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Air Medal.

Dean In '47
Stimson will become professor of law. The change in roles will end 15 years as dean of the College of Law. Stimson was born and raised in Columbia, Ohio. He received A.B., B.S. and A.M. degrees from Ohio State University and another advanced degree from the University of Michigan.

He was admitted to practice in Ohio in 1927; Missouri, 1933; Massachusetts, 1938; and before the United States Supreme Court in 1937. For a number of years he was associated with a law firm in Toledo, Ohio.

Journalists Will Appear For Meeting

Top newsmen from three Idaho newspapers will be among the speakers at the 16th annual invitational high school journalism conference on campus March 23 and 24.

About 350 Idaho high school newspaper and yearbook advisers and students will attend. The opening talk Friday morning will be given by Robert Hammes, editor and publisher of the St. Maries Gazette-Record. He will discuss ways of improving high school yearbooks.

Jack Scudder, editor of the Idaho Free Press at Nampa, will speak on high school newspaper problems. Scudder has spoken regularly at the University of Minnesota School of Journalism.

Idaho's 1962 Master Editor-Publisher, John L. Olmsted, of the Idaho County Free Press, Grangeville, will discuss means of making newspapers more exciting. A husband and wife team, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cheatam, Sandpoint, will speak on "Painting Pictures With Words," Friday afternoon.

The Friday night banquet will feature Howard Cleavinger, managing editor of the Spokane Chronicle. He has held this position since 1947.

Other features of the conference will be clinics and discussions Friday afternoon and Saturday morning on photography, sports writing, advertising, and means of improving yearbooks and newspapers.

As they arrive Thursday evening and Friday morning, the high school students will be greeted by members of the Argonaut staff, members of Sigma Delta Chi and Theta Sigma Phi, journalism honoraries, and by members of campus service clubs.

Outstanding high school newspapers will be presented awards Saturday morning.

Harder Named To Head IK's For Next Year

Eugene Harder was recently elected the Honorable Duke of the Intercollegiate Knights, men's sophomore service honorory, for the coming year.

Other officers include: Bruce Trowbridge, worthy scribe; Rod Higgins, chancellor of the exchequer; Derald Hurlbert, worthy recorder; Jay Ney, expansion officer; Jim Bounds, page trainer; Bill Longeteig, court jester; and Barry Nelson, horrible executioner.

Tonight, at the last official meeting of this year's IK's, interviews with prospective IK's will be held. At 7 p.m. an officer's meeting will start and interviews will begin at 7:30.

The first meeting of the newly tapped IK's will be held Wednesday, at 9 p.m. in the SUB. Officers will meet at 8:30 p.m.

State Food Dealer Clinic Opens Here

The Idaho Food Dealers Management Clinic opened yesterday on the Idaho campus. Twenty people from all over the state registered for the clinic which ends tomorrow.

The clinic consists of grocers and food storage people who are concerned with the problems of food administration and management.

David Kendrick, Dean of the College of Business Administration, is chairman of the clinic.

RECORDING STAR... Singing star Jimmy Rodgers will be the featured performer at the Sunday half of the Jr.-Sr. Weekend April 27-28. The Weekend begins Friday night with a formal dance and ends Sunday with a show with a cast of top professional entertainers.

Traffic Plus Inefficiency

In the past few years, when spring vacation finally rolled around, many students began their annual motorcar "buyin" and "swappin'" spree. Registration records show that following each of the last two spring vacations, students brought 125 cars to the campus that had not been previously registered.

This fact brings up the subject of the traffic problem due to the large number of pedestrians and cars on our comparatively small campus.

The laws and regulations governing students are all to be found in a three page pamphlet obtainable from Col. C. F. Hudson in the University Hut.

One of these regulations was recently made an election issue. Upon examination many other flaws were found in the present traffic system.

Three traffic tickets constitute a "strikeout" and any student with this many violations must go before the Men's Discipline Committee. Following this, a complete record of the violations is placed in an envelope which is placed in the student's permanent file. On this envelope is said "See Dean Decker." The point of all this is that it might be detrimental to a student's future employment possibilities. It doesn't matter whether the violations are for parking, speeding, or reckless driving or any such combination—the result is the same—such and such appeared before the Men's Discipline Committee.

Did you know that traffic tickets accumulate over a person's entire stay at the University? This is true even when a student leaves school for any amount of time, and then returns. A few years ago tickets were torn up at the end of each year, which seems only fair. But today they are "preserved" indefinitely.

Fines for all offenses begin at two dollars for the first and five dollars for the second. The two dollar fine is reduced to one dollar if paid within five calendar days. After the third violation, the offender is off to the discipline committee or the appeals committee.

There is a Traffic Appeals Committee. The function of this group is to listen to the pleas or excuses of students who come before it. If a student thinks his ticket is excusable, he should appeal it whether it is for the first or second offense.

Most students wait until the third ticket before going to the appeals committee, possibly because they do not know there is one. In the past six or eight weeks there has been only one student request to appear before the committee on the first or second ticket.

The committee, however, acquits very few students and leaves some doubt as to the necessity of its existence. Practically all this group does is to keep some students from appearing before the Men's Discipline Committee.

In the auto registration office one can find a rather large stack of tickets for this year which have been excused by that office. The contention is that since the excusing of tickets is done here, for what purpose exists an appeals committee?

Most parts of the University are run efficiently. For instance, the $10.00 dormitory room deposit fee, in cases where students owe money to the University, is returned with the amount owed subtracted. They have said this is the only practical way to work it.

When bills are run up, students should pay them. If they don't do this they should learn the hard way about this part of life. There is a possibility that students will be billed for something they think unfair and decide not to pay it. But then, the University already has the money.

Why then, if the University is striving to run so efficiently in one department, have they in another a Traffic Appeals Committee without reason for existence, that wastes both faculty and student time.

What can be done is to adopt some other system? At Texas A and M students aren't allowed to have cars on the campus. A student caught in the act is given demerits. So many demerits are paid for in laps around the athletic field. This idea, of course, is a little far out for our situation. It would also deprive the administration of a good deal of money. Last year approximately $2600 in traffic tickets were given out.

In the state of Idaho a demerit system is also used. When a person receives 60 demerits he is notified by the state. If he gets 75 he is called in to talk with a court official. Upon reaching 100 demerits the license is taken away.

The beauty of this system is that a year from the date of the first demerits, if the license is taken away, the same amount of demerits given are removed. So if 30 demerits were given in the months of January, February, and March and 10 in April, the driver would lose his license. It would be regained in January on the date a year from the first demerits were given. Then there would be a total of 70 demerits and the license would be returned. The number would likewise be reduced to 40 in February, if no more demerits were received.

At the University of Washington, so many tickets constitute a loss of 10 grade points from the students grade average.

Whether the methods outlined here are suitable for dealing with the University's "traffic regulations" problem or not, it is evident that something must be done. That something could be a combination of the systems presented—tailored to the needs of our campus. —D.G.

Law Students Practice

Guilty Verdict Returned In Mock Murder Trial

A jury composed of Idaho and WSU students returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree of the defendant's young son against D. David Dreary, in mock court action at the University of Law Saturday.

The verdict was somewhat of a surprise because the attorneys for the defense, law students Thomas G. Nelson and Dan Van Thiel, had entered a plea of insanity, claiming Dreary was a paranoid schizophrenic (form of psychosis in which the patient tends to be violent.)

the University of Toledo College of Law. During World War II he was special assistant to the Attorney General in Washington, D.C. Following the war he became professor of law at Syracuse university, New York, and left that position in 1947 to become dean of Idaho's College of Law. He has done extensive writing in law journals, and is internationally-known authority on the conflict of laws.

Former Sales Rep

O'Neill, who will move up to registrar, is a native of Alma, Kan. He was graduated from Kansas State Teachers College with a B.S. degree in commerce, and has done advance work at the University. During World War II he served with the army. Prior to joining the staff here as assistant registrar in 1954, he was a sales representative of General Foods Corp. at Seattle.

DuSault, who will become a consultant to the registrar's office, has devoted most of his life to service at the University. Born in Hotchkiss, Colo., he moved early in life with his family to the Hagerman Valley in South Idaho. He was graduated from the University in 1923 and immediately went to work as a chemistry teacher. He also did advanced studies and received a master's degree in chemistry. Thousands of alumni know him as a chemistry teacher, because he taught in the scientific field for 21 years.

Upon the retirement of Miss Ella Olesen in 1944 as registrar DuSault was named her successor.

Keep Aspirins — Colds Still Here

Hold on. Don't put those aspirins away yet! According to Dr. James C. Davies, associate University physician at the Infirmary, there is still quite a flood of ill students reporting daily to the infirmary.

Although the influenza epidemic appears to be over, the current complaints are coming from students with serious sore throats.

These sore throats are usually worse than the common cold and the period of recovery is longer. So beware. Wet feet and cold weather are taking their toll, even if it is now March and spring is just around the corner.

Addressing the group at a banquet at 6 p.m. at the New Idaho hotel on "Modern Democratic Government's Challenge to Education" was Prof. Brewster C. Denney, associate director, School of Public Administration, University of Washington. Idaho Sen. Henry Dworshak, who was to address the committee, was not able to attend.

Wednesday morning, Prof. E. W. Tisdale, associate director of the forest, wildlife, and range experiment station of the University, will speak on the role of universities in education and training for resource development.

Dr. Rojland R. Reid, head of the University department of geology, headed a panel discussion on how the schools can best meet training needs. Panelists include Dr. W. E. Foltz, head, department of agricultural economics, at the University; Prof. Warren Starr, department of agronomy and and John Faucher, senior law student, alleged that Dreary had intended to poison his cancer stricken wife, but instead his five-year-old son drank the oxalic acid that was mixed with a soft drink.

The trial was the first of four scheduled for this spring in which law students act as prosecution and defense attorneys before Phillip E. Peterson, professor of law. The action which could have been mistaken for actual proceedings by a casual observer, started four weeks ago when the participants were informed that a murderer had been committed.

Innocent Plea Entered

A plea of innocent was entered by the defense attorneys in a justice court arraignment. A preliminary hearing then established that a crime had occurred and that Dreary was suspect.

A few legal motions between the justice court arraignment and the transfer to district court were prepared by the student lawyers. A plea of innocence was entered again in district court and a trial date was set.

The trial opened at 8 a.m. Saturday. Witnesses called were: Dr. Bart Bledso, a pathologist, played by Ernest Williams, a graduate student in entomology; Sara Slater, a nurse, played by Mrs. Robert Galley; Peter Pincher, a policeman played by Ralph Hagedt, a graduate student in accounting; and Dr. Homer Sapiens, a psychiatrist, played by Les Fisher, a graduate student in psychology.

Dr. Sapiens was a witness for the defense, who attempted to prove the accused was mentally ill. A jury of students from the University and WSU deliberated from 2:30 until 4:15 p.m. before announcing the verdict.

Students wishing to be members of a jury in future mock trials should have their living groups send a list of names to Prof. Peterson.

Law Students Are Named To Honor Roll

Sixteen University College of Law students have been named to the college's honor roll for first semester performance. It was announced today by Dean Edward S. Stimson.

Top scholar was J. Dennis Faucher, who had a grade point average of 3.73 out of a possible 4.0 or straight "A". Donald Duff McKee, Jr., a first-year student, with a grade point of 3.57, received a refund of his out-of-state tuition fees. Out-of-state students who compile a 3.33 or better grade point receive the refund for that semester.

Other honor students with grade averages of "B" or better were seniors James W. Derr, Thomas G. Nelson, Jerry A. Quane, second-year students Richard F. Helfel, Robert J. Koontz, Anthony A. Nelson, Kenneth D. Randall; and first-year students Dean L. Pontius, Glen Utzman, Ronald P. Rainey, David Eismann, Merlyn W. Clark, Joseph L. Davis and Larry D. Hansen.

First Results On 'Decisions' Discussions

Results of the first opinion ballot in Idaho concerning questions outlined in the University of Idaho Borah Foundation's "Great Decisions" community discussion groups on foreign policy were announced today by Clint Grimes, Borah Foundation executive secretary.

The first ballot covered Vietnam, one of the eight topics in the series of community discussion programs in Idaho and across the nation. Results of the ballots are passed on to Congress and the Department of State.

About 25 per cent of those balloting felt the U. S. should follow its present policies in Vietnam. Nearly 22 per cent felt there should be an increase in U. S. military aid to South Vietnam, short of armed intervention. Another 25 percent felt the U. S. troops, if necessary, to prevent the Communists from taking over in the area.

"Very few of those balloting, only about five per cent, indicated that defense measures should be left entirely to the Vietnamese or other Asian powers," said Grimes. "About ten per cent proposed that Red China be threatened with massive nuclear attack unless Communist intervention ceases."

Concerning the type of aid projects which the U. S. might promote in the area, about 25 per cent preferred that aid be concentrated on short-term projects which bolster rural economic development and security. Fewer felt that the U. S. should concentrate on long term economic development projects.

Long Awaited Spring Strikes Idaho Campus

The snow began to disappear about the middle of last week and the mercury in the thermometer rose higher and higher each day finally reaching above 60 last weekend as students got their first real taste of spring.

The tennis courts were busier than they had been for some time last weekend as were those places of business in Moscow which sell beverages. Saturday also happened to be St. Patrick's Day.

It was a weekend of tennis playing, riding in topless sports cars, sun bathing, washing cars, drinking beer and little studying. But yesterday the skies turned gray again as students returned to class with their "unfamiliar" books under their arms. Perhaps it's just as well.

More is probably yet to come though, as the grass is getting greener, the trees are regaining the foliage shed for the winter, and the mud is drying up.

Other traditional signs have shown up too — the first track meet was last weekend and soon all spring sports will be in full swing. Work on the Student Union Building additions seems to be progressing at a faster rate as the temperature rises and the skies get bluer.

After a night of dancing Saturday evening in the SUB students returned their coffee and coats, with the girls in their spring dresses. The sophomores and freshmen were able to refresh themselves Friday afternoon as they pulled each other into Paradise Creek at their annual tug-of-war.

All in all it was a good weekend as spirits rose and grade-points dropped.

The GOLDEN FLEECE

by Jason

Jason's proposal for revising the ASUI elections seems to be either too complicated for students to understand or else is dying for lack of interest. Probably it is dying for lack of interest since there hasn't been any discussion on the subject.

It could be that the system wouldn't work and then again it could be that apathy has captured the hearts of Idaho students already, only two weeks after the election. A cry of disgust is heard every year by dissatisfied groups on-campus about the results of the election and that something should be done about it.

Maybe this year it is the dissatisfied groups that are no longer dissatisfied. Anyway, Jason will refrain from explaining his proposal any more unless interest either pro or con is expressed

The ASUI Exec Board and the Drama Dept. should be given a gold star! Not for anything political, for a change, but an innovation in high school-University relations. The first of what is hoped to be an annual event, the ASUI Drama Festival was held Saturday with about a half-dozen high schools participating.

From all indications the Festival was a resounding success and the high school students certainly enjoyed themselves. Of course, the Moscow weather added a great deal.

There is a great potential in a program such as this and the Argonaut hopes that it will continue to be successful and grow each year. There was only one high school from southern Idaho and this is where more recruiting is definitely needed. Incidentally, that school, Burley, won the top honors in the Festival.

Speaking of high school students, the annual journalism conference is scheduled for this weekend. Always an interesting and successful high school draw, this year's will be a critical point in the future of Idaho's journalism department and the Arg.

If these high school students are impressed with the facilities, capacity, and progress shown by the University, then Idaho will continue to pull really sharp journalists for 1962-63. This applies not only to the journalism department but also the student body.

It is hoped that the event will again be a tremendous and successful undertaking. Although the journalism department is without the services of long-time chairman Dr. Granville Price, Mr. Bunge will surely keep the high standard of the conference that has been set in the past.

CADY ON COMMITTEE
Dr. L. C. Cady, Dean of the Graduate school at the University, has been elected to the executive committee of the Western Association of Graduate Schools, it was learned here today. The association is composed of 52 graduate schools in 13 Western states, including Hawaii and Alaska.

of 2 a.m. permission, Miss Dalton said she could see no need for more than three late permissions a semester.

"There aren't enough activities around the campus that would require more hours," she stated.

Commenting on the work done by this year's AWS officers, Miss Dalton said the cultural forums initiated last fall helped considerably to encourage more participation by the women as a whole.

She noted that in the past AWS activities have been restricted to interaction between AWS officers and living group officers. Most women had little or no contact with the organization, she said.

Miss Moore said the purpose of AWS should be to give University women a fuller college experience through varied activities. AWS's prime purpose is not to restrict University women unduly, she added the "caliber of University women is so high" that present rules are ones they would naturally impose on themselves.

Both Miss Moore and Miss Dalton will hold posts in the AWS organization next year as the candidate receiving the most votes will be named President, but the runner-up will receive the vice-presidential position.

AWS polls will be open from 8:45-4:15 p.m. Thursday. All voting will take place in the administration building.

In 'Shamrock Twist' Spotlight

FROSH ROYALTY... Andrea Anderson, Pi Phi, and Jack Morris, Sigma Chi, were picked by their fellow classmates as the Frosh Week King and Queen. They were crowned at the dance Saturday night climaxing the annual week-long slate of activities. (Cecil Stellyes photo)

'Shamrock Twist' Ends Frosh Week; Sophomores Defeated In Tug-Of-War

The class of 1965 wound up their week's activities Saturday night in the SUB as Andrea Anderson, Pi Phi, and Jack Morris, Sigma Chi, were crowned Frosh king and queen at the annual Frosh dance.

The dance, the Shamrock Twist, was an informal "stomp" which climaxed such activities as the annual frosh-sophomore tug-of-war, a treasure hunt, and pretty legs contests.

The frosh were again triumphant in the tug-of-war Friday afternoon as the sophomore class traditionally got pulled into Paradise Creek.

Heather Sanders, Gamma Phi, was announced as having the prettiest legs in the freshmen class in the contest Friday afternoon. Barry Holloway, Kappa Sigma, won the Most Masculine Legs contest.

The Demons from Spokane furnished the "twistin'" music at the dance Saturday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Gale Mix, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Decker were the chaperones.

The deans of the various colleges selected what they believed to be the outstanding freshmen in their schools. The winners were awarded certificates at the dance.

Those named were: Donna Leverton, Letters and Science; Paul Gravelle, Bruce Bevan, Engineering; Ward Parks, Business; and Judy Ritz, Education.

Kappa Alpha Theta won first prize in the house decorations contest publicizing the week's activities.

Rings 'N Things

PENNINGS Penny Sewell became the first Theta initiate to announce her pinning when she stepped out from a circle of freshmen at dress dinner last week to blow out a candle and reveal her Eclectio pin. She is pinned to Chris Rich of Wesleyan University. Helping Miss Sewell was Dorothy Van Lebensels, Alpha Gamma.

RUTHERFORD-MALCOLM A St. Patrick's day theme was used to announce the pinning of Donna Rutherford, Hays, to Greg Malcolm, Phi Delt. A bed check was used as an excuse to arouse Hays Hall coeds for the passing of a shamrock-decorated candle.

PRIOR-GIBBS Alpha Chis dashed out the doors at the sound of the fire alarm for an unexpected fireside last week. After a candle decorated in white roses had gone around the room, Kay Prior stepped out of the shadows to claim it and announce her pinning to Chris Gibbs, Sigma Chi.

MILLER-BELL Val Hoff revealed the pinning of Kathy Miller, Alpha Phi, to Jim Bell, SAE, at a fireside Wednesday night. A tapered candle wrapped in yellow daffodils was passed.

PATTON-HOLTBY Lynne Patton, Hays, announced her pinning to Ralph Holtby, Shoup, by passing a white candle encircled by ivy and sweetheart roses at dress dinner Sunday.

BARTOSH-KOPKE A "serious" house meeting was called Sunday evening by Judy Olson at the Delta Gamma house. The meeting turned out to be a fireside announcing the pinning of Bobbie Bartosh to Bill Kopke, Sigma Nu, at Auburn University.

CLARKE-DREPS Annette Thornton, Alpha Chi, ended the mystery of the burning candle Sunday at dress dinner by announcing the pinning of her little sister Pam Clarke to Joe Dreps, a Delta Chi at the University of Washington.

ENGAGEMENTS GOULD-WHITE An Easter bonnet "blown in by a March wind" was used by Crystal Gould, Ethel Steel, to announce her engagement to Bill White, off-campus. No wedding has been set.

CHRISTENSEN-JOHNSON Karen Christensen, Theta, claimed a nosegay of small red rose buds surrounded by sprays of ivy at dress dinner Wednesday to announce her engagement to Lance Johnson, Beta. Candy was passed after dinner.

USSR Says No To Debate Plan

A plan which would have brought the University of Idaho and the University of Moscow (Russia) together in a debate match has been rejected by the Soviet embassy.

The Soviets had been challenged by the Idaho contingent early last fall to debate: "Resolved: that the Democratic system of government is superior to the communist system of government."

The proposal was first made Sept. 15 by Tom Lynch and Linda Kinney.

A recent letter to Lynch from Frank G. Siscoe, director, Soviet and Eastern European Exchanges Staff, informed him that the debate had been definitely refused.

"I regret that this proposed project on which you have spent much time and effort has not been accepted although, you will recall, the prospects for acceptance were never very great."

Several national magazines had been notified of the proposal and were going to cover the event if it had been accepted.

Lynch said that Rafe Gibbs, University Publications Director, has stated that he felt the challenge had been favorable to the University because of the publicity it had received.

He went on to add, "We wanted to challenge the Russians for the benefit we both could have received, but we also realized that it would be advantageous to the University because of the favorable publicity we would receive, and probably what is more important is that it shows we definitely believe that our political system is superior to the Soviet's system."

Idaho Trackmen Set 4 Records, But WSU Cougars Take Meet

BACKBOARD BANTER

by Neil Modie

A Few Records Bit The Dust

For the Vandal basketball team, this was a year for breaking records or breaking into "top ten" statistics. It looks like a few more will be broken next season, too.

The name of Chuck White appears in quite a few statistics as a result of the work he did this season. He led scoring with a total of 468 points for an even 18-point-per-game average. Added to the points he made last year, the junior forward's varsity career total is 818, fifth among all Idaho scorers. White will be around next year, too.

Gary Simmons, of course, is the all-time Idaho top scorer, having made 1065 points from 1956 to 1958. But even if White falls into a slump or, say, just goofs off next season, he'd still only need to make a little over half as many points as he did this year to take away Simmons' title. And White isn't much of a goof-off.

Rich Porter could break Simmons' record next year, too. His 397 points this year bring his career total to 625, ninth among all-time scorers. He dropped into a temporary slump the latter part of this season, but if he makes 44 points more next year than he did this year, he, too, would surpass Simmons' mark.

Big Ken Maren established himself as one of Idaho's top ten scorers this year, also. The senior's total of 759 points puts him in seventh place.

White's name shows up in a few other stats, too. He broke the old record for free throw attempts with 209 tries, and his 160 scored barely broke Simmons' record of 159.

The list goes on and on. Maren is second in all-time Vandal rebounding with 648 grabs in three years. The record is 791. He's also third in free throws with 273 and third in field goal accuracy with a 38 1/2 percent over three years.

Next year looks like a pretty fabulous one for the Vandals. With White and Porter still around, the team could have Idaho's highest and second highest all-time scorers, and Coach Joe Cipriano is praying that Gus Johnson, a sensational Boise Junior College star, will be heading for Vandal land next year. He might break records, too.

Idaho's Vandal track team broke two varsity and two frosh records Saturday in a Cougar-dominated Washington State University Indoor Invitational meet.

Although no official points were tabulated, WSU unofficially totaled 169 1/2 points, well ahead of the Vandals' second-place effort of 58 points. Thirteen schools from Idaho, Washington, Oregon and Montana entered the meet, in which six records were set altogether.

Idaho's mile relay team broke a 23-year-old record in a wire-to-wire battle with the strong Montana State University team. WSU's squad was a close third.

The Vandal quartet composed of Bob Johnson, Dick Borneman, Nick Carney and Curt Flisher set the relay record, which hasn't fallen since 1939. Anchor-men Flisher of Idaho and Phil Dwight of Montana State ran only inches apart with Flisher edging Dwight in a near dead-heat. Both teams were timed in 3:23.4.

Douglas Sets Record

Vandal junior distance-man Dick Douglas ran a swift mile and a half in 6:48.7, setting a new meet record in so doing. Douglas dualed with Skyline Conference record holder Gary Wojtowick of Montana State University. Both men passed the mile mark in 4:34, with Douglas pulling away at that point to win handily. Sophomore distance runner Paul Henden, just rounding into condition after injuring a foot, finished fourth.

Other Idaho varsity placers were Jerry Pressey, sophomore from Twin Falls, in the highs and the lows; Joe Davis, senior from Bellevue, Wash., fourth in the discus; Reg Carolan, senior from Tahoe Valley, Calif., second in the shot; and Curt Flisher, second in the 1000-yard run.

Idaho frosh athletes had a field day on records, with two meet records and three school records broken. Pole vaulter Dave Rambeau of Placerville, Calif., broke meet and school records in the vault, with a top of 13 feet one inch. Rambeau also won the high jump at an even six feet. Ron Albright of Lapwai placed second to Rambeau in the vault at 12 feet six inches, and Larry Nelson of Moscow was second in the high jump.

Max Leetow of Los Altos, Calif., also set meet and school records in the discus, with a throw of 151 feet 9 1/2 inches. Mickey Rice placed second with a good 146 feet 1/2 inch throw. Rice, from Riggins, and Leetow are both footballers.

The third school record was set by another football player, Darrel Rich. Rich threw 50 feet 1 1/2 inches. Weightmen Reg Carolan and Joe Davis graduate this year and it appears that the void formed by their departure will be filled by Rich, Leetow, Rice and discus thrower Roger Divers of Cottage Grove, Ore.

Graham Wins

Another frosh winner for Idaho was Bill Graham of Hermiston, Ore., who won the javelin with a throw of 165 feet nine inches. Graham hurt his arm on his winning throw, however, and it appears that he'll be out of action for at least a month.

Colleges and universities represented in the meet were WSU, Idaho, Whitworth, Montana, Montana State, Central Washington, Eastern Washington, Eastern Oregon, Portland University, Whitman, Willamette, Puget Sound and St. Martin's.

Some 250 athletes competed in the meet. It was held in the WSU fieldhouse and was witnessed by some 2,500 spectators.

This coming Saturday the frosh and varsity teams again move over to Pullman for meets against Whitworth, Eastern Washington, and Washington State. This meet will begin the outdoor season.

Golfers Ready For Opening Of Spring Play At Clarkston

Vandal golf coach Dick Snyder opens the 1962 season with one returning letterman and a flock of sophomore newcomers to varsity play, but yet several rays of hope. His boys have but a week to get ready for the opening of play March 23-24.

To meet a schedule described as "the most ambitious ever worked out," Snyder can greet but one hold-over from last year's team which posted a 6-2-3 mark. The returnee is Robb Smith, a two-year letterman from Twin Falls. With the team greatly lacking in experience, Smith will have to carry a heavy load. Snyder describes the season as "a rebuilding one, at least for the early stages," adding, "We have a lot of good men coming up, but only time can tell which ones adapt to the jump up to varsity play."

Snyder will draw from ex-frosh performers Bill Ballantyne, Forde Johnson, Terry Gustavel, Bill Goss, Tom Sampson, John Bowen, Oz Nelson, and Jeff Taylor. In addition, he expects Wally Lowe and Brian Quabeck, two men who did not play last year, to be out.

Snyder reminded all hopefuls to pick up and fill out athletic participation forms.

The links mentor is prepping for the opener March 23-24, the Clarkston Invitational. The Vandals will be up against Washington State, Whitman and Gonzaga. According to Snyder, "all of them will give us trouble."

FROSH BASEBALL MEETING
A meeting for all prospects for frosh baseball will be held tomorrow at 7 p.m. in Room 109 of Memorial Gym. Frosh Coach Cliff Trout has announced.

The black marlin rates as "top trophy" among big-game fishermen who travel far in the hopes of playing a thousand-pound specimen on hook and line.

RECORD BREAKER — Vandal freshman Dave Rambeau pole vaulted 13 feet 1 inch Saturday to break meet and school records at the Washington State University Indoor Invitational Track meet. ## Baseball Nine Plays First Game At Lewiston Tourney

The Idaho baseball team opens the 1962 season Thursday when it tangles with Montana State in the first round of the Banana Belt Tournament in Lewiston. The Vandals will unveil the results of nearly a month's practice at 10 a.m. on the Bengal field diamond.

In preparation for the tourney, coach Wayne Anderson sent his charges through a day-long heavy session Saturday at Lewiston. The Vandals had infield, hitting and pitching drills, climaxed by a 13-inning scrimmage in the afternoon. Anderson had a first group consisting of an infield made up of Mike Stowe at first, Dick Mooney at second, Gary Reibe on the hot corner, and Fred Thomas holding down shortstop. Bob Vervaeke, Herb Dehning, and Pete Mooney were in the outfield. Anderson indicated that such a combination could start Thursday.

According to the mentor, Dave Sewright's pitching, and a heavy barrage of hitting, led by Dehning's five for six, highlighted the scrimmage.

Round Robin System

The Banana Belt is run on the round robin system, with each squad playing a game against each other team in the fray. The best win-loss record will determine the tourney winner. Others in the action include Gonzaga, Montana State, Montana and Washington State.

According to Anderson, the rest of the tournament has the Vandals playing Gonzaga at 1 p.m. on Harris Field at Lewis-Clark Normal. In addition, the club plays twice on Saturday, meeting MSC at 10 a.m., and WSU at 1 p.m. Both these contests will be played on Bengal Field in Lewiston.

Little is known of the strength of the opposition, but Anderson added, "they won't know much about us, either." All three teams could give the Vandals trouble.

Hitters Most Improved

Going into the tourney, Anderson feels that based on the work Saturday at Lewiston, "the hitters may be a little ahead of the pitchers," and that "we may hit the ball this year." He feels that the squad is about as far along at this stage of the year as can be expected.

Anderson feels he may not have a squad with as much speed as last season's, but it may hit better. He added, "They are anxious to get going."

The varsity tutor now has pitcher Fred Crowell and outfielder Chuck White in tow, following the conclusion of the cage season. White might be a starter Thursday. Jeff McQueeney is expected to get the nod at catcher.

Walleye fishing on the Delaware is increasing. Even now these fish are caught in better-than-average numbers, ranging from six to eight pounds.

Ping Pong is now going into its third week, and many players have fallen by the wayside.

In Wednesday's action, Vernon Helt, Gault, won over Delta Chi's Dave Mullaley, 21-15, 22-20; Walt Bird, Theta Chi, eliminated Pat Noonan, Delta Sig, 21-10, 21-17; Gerald Gordon, Campus Club, squeezed out a 21-13, 19-21, 21-14 win over Lambda Chi Dick Stanton, and Frank Hoch, Lindley, sidelined Don Harshman of Gault 21-14, 23-21.

George Evans, Chrisman, beat Gary Vandiver, Delta Chi, 21-14, 21-7; the Phi Delt's Bill Martin continued winning as he took Everett Svendsen of the Phi Taus 24-22, 21-17; and Tom Prescott, Delt, sidelined Richard Hurlburt from Theta Chi 21-10, 21-12.

In doubles, the ATO squad stayed in the running with a 21-17, 21-23, 21-14 conquest of the duo from Chrisman; the Delt's sidelined Gault 21-19, 20-22, 23-21 in a close one; and LDS took Sigma Chi 21-16, 21-11.

Thursday in the singles fray, Steve Marshall, SAE beat Popo Mustafa, Willis Sweet, 21-17, 25-23; Dave Heck, Kindley, sidelined Frank Benson of Shoup 21-15, 21-19; Stan Hui, TMA, defeated Jim Barrus, LDS, 21-18, 21-15; and Mike Reidy of Delta Chi eliminated Jim Barnhart, Delta Sig, 21-19, 17-21, 21-14.

Our future is in the hands of men not yet hired

At Western Electric we play a vital role in helping meet the complex needs of America's vast communications networks. And a career at Western Electric, the manufacturing arm of the nationwide Bell Telephone System, offers young men the exciting opportunity to help us meet these important needs.

Today, Western Electric equipment reduces thousands of miles to fractions of seconds. Even so, we know that our present communications systems will be inadequate tomorrow; and we are seeking ways to keep up with—and anticipate—the future. For instance, right now Western Electric engineers are working on various phases of solar cell manufacture, miniaturization, data transmission, futuristic telephones, electronic central offices, and computer-controlled production lines—to name just a few.

To perfect the work now in progress and launch many new communications products, projects, procedures, and processes not yet in the mind of man—we need quality-minded engineers. If you feel that you can meet our standards, consider the opportunities offered by working with our company. In a few short years, you will be Western Electric.

Challenging opportunities exist now at Western Electric for electrical, mechanical, industrial, and chemical engineers, as well as physical science, liberal arts, and business majors. All qualified applicants will receive careful consideration for employment without regard to race, creed, color or national origin. For more information about Western Electric, write College Relations, Western Electric Company, Room 6206, 222 Broadway, New York 38, New York. And be sure to arrange for a Western Electric interview when our college representatives visit your campus.
