Seven Students Will Participate In Research

Seven students at the University have been selected to participate in the institution's National Science Foundation undergraduate research programs this summer, it was announced by Dr. M. M. Renfrew, head of physical sciences.

Doing undergraduate research in chemistry will be Michael Olson, freshman electrical engineering major; Corder Campbell, junior premedical student; Norma R. Kelley, sophomore premedical student, and J. Curtis Sutton, agricultural chemistry sophomore.

Working in physics will be James Assendrup, junior physics major; Mark Hodgson, sophomore physics student, and Robert J. Parkinson, electrical engineering junior.

"The selected students will receive $60 per week for full time investigations of fundamental research problems during the summer period," said Dr. Renfrew, who has the administrative responsibility for the research program. "Students will continue to receive partial stipends for reduced activity during the following school year."

In physics, the students will work with Dr. J. S. Kim, assistant professor of physics, who is carrying out a major study of basic phenomena responsible for the northern lights. Students in chemistry will work under Dr. E. K. Raunio, professor of chemistry; Dr. P. K. Freeman, assistant professor of chemistry; Dr. J. H. Cooley, associate professor of chemistry, and Dr. Renfrew.

Departmental committees selected the students for the research programs on the basis of academic achievement and the professional goals which have led them to select careers in science, medicine and engineering.

YAF Picks Brown New Chairman

Students Able To Sign For Absentee Vote

Student supporters of congressional candidate Orval Hansen will hold an absentee ballot registration service for students today and tomorrow in the SUB lobby.

The Vandalers for Hansen committee will operate a booth from 3 to 5 p.m. both days to provide students with absentee ballots. According to Skip French, president of the organization, the group will also address and mail the forms home for students.

A notary public, Margaret Walker, an administrative assistant in the College of Education, will be at the booth to officially stamp the absentee ballot requests for students. Instructions on registration procedure will be supplied.

Manning the booth will be French, vice president Cliff Eldred and secretary Jon Harms.

Hansen, a University of Idaho graduate, is a Republican candidate for Idaho's second district. Hansen is opposed by four other Republicans in the primary race.

'Beacon For Mountain, Plain' Is Story Of U. By Rafe Gibbs

"Beacon For Mountain and Plain," the story of the University by Rafe Gibbs, director of the University publications, will be released June 1.

The 50-page book is based on the idea that the University is a beacon of light, guiding knowledge and illuminating the state.

Gibbs began work on this book about two years ago upon the request of Dr. Theophilus, president of the University. He granted Gibbs a year's leave for the purpose of research on this book.

Special Office
Although much of his time has been spent in his special office in the library, Gibbs says he has been quite a bit of an Idaho man in his faculty interviews. The book will be printed about two months ago, after he has worked on it for a year and a half.

Gibbs feels that his book differs from the usual series of about about universities in two respects. He has shown how the University was affected by depression and wars. In addition to this, he has also added many little anecdotes of the latter moment in the history.

1932 Is Beginning
The book begins with the opening of classes at the University in 1932. The second chapter deals with the beginning and end of the school. After that the events of the

Campus Quiet After Weekend; Many Events Held For Moms

The campus began quieting down Sunday afternoon as students began returning to the books after the fifty-third annual Mother's Day weekend.

The weekend's activities encompassed a wide range as Moms and escorts had their pick of entertaining events. In fact often there were several events occurring simultaneously. Activities started Friday evening as Heli Divers presented the first of their two weekend shows.

The Memorial Gym pool where the show was held was full for all three shows. The theme of the shows was "Follow the Sun." The 44 members of the swimming honorary gave ten numbers in hour-long shows with some numbers having only two members and others using the full cast.

Directors of the pageant were Everett Swendsen, Linda Engle, and Judy Libby.

Later that same evening the Spurs-sponsored song fest was held in the Memorial gym. Willis Sweet, Kappa Kappa Gamma and Phi Gamma Delta, and Forney Hall were the winners in the revitalized event which has not been held for two years. Julie Severn was chairman for the event. Five hundred and seventy-five students and mothers attended the event. Twelve living groups participated in the event. Eliminations were held prior to Friday night's contest.

Willis Sweet won the men's division with an original arrangement of "Rock-A-My-Soul." Beta Theta Pi was the other entrant in that division.

Forney Hall's Bluebirds of Happiness won over Kappa Alpha Theta's "Carnelot" in the women's division.

"Shoo Fly Pie and Apple Pan Dowdy" sung by the Fijis and Kappas won the mixed division. Runner-up was FarmHouse and Alpha Gamma Delta who sang "Afterglow." Other entries were Delta Tau Delta and Alpha Phi, and Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon.

Panel Discussion
Saturday morning the events turned to a slightly more intellectual tone as four members of the University faculty participated in a panel discussion on "Obligations and Responsibilities of Idaho to Higher Education."

Members of the panel were Dr. Donald Marshall, associate dean of the College of Agriculture; Dr. R. A. Postweiler, associate professor of economics; Dr. Boyd Martin, Dean of the College of Letters and Science, and Dr. John Green, associate professor of education. The panel was moderated by Kenneth A. Dick, University Financial vice-president.

The need for maintaining a first-rate educational program in Idaho was stressed in the discussion. Thirty-three persons attended the discussion which was held in the Music Building auditorium.

Silver Lance, senior men's honorary, sponsored the discussion.

Pressure Increases
Idaho will have sharply increased pressure put on its higher education facilities beginning in 1963 due to increased enrollments, said Dr. Postweiler.

The increased enrollments will place a substantial financial burden on the state, said Dr. Green, and "Finance in education sets the limits in quality and variety of services."

He said that when funds are limited, it is better to provide limited high quality service rather than extensive low quality service.

"The faculty in higher education is the most important single element in the quality of education," said Dr. Green, but we must compete in a national market for faculty, which requires money."

Dr. Martin said that the "youth of this state is the greatest resource of the State of Idaho."

Before we can give professional training to the youth, we must teach them to think, to know, to learn and to act intelligently, said Dr. Martin.

Dr. Marshall urged parents to prepare their children for college because "Too often the students entering college find themselves chronologically immature for a college education."

The rest of the weekend was occupied with athletic events, open house among the living groups, the May Fete, the orchesis shows.

Orchesis and Pre-Orchesis presented two shows Saturday evening. The theme of the show was "Rhythmic On the Move." Advisor for the group is Miss Gaydena Brown, assistant professor of women's physical education.

Forty students participated in the show which was held in the University Auditorium. Features of the show included "Technique of Movement," an insight into modern dance and "Rhythm in Space," a rhythm note study.

Eight other numbers were presented by the dancing groups. Thirteen events were scheduled for the annual weekend ranging from the intellectual to the athletic.

Government Is Good But May Be Improved

By JIM METCALF
Arg Political Editor

Organization of Idaho's student body activities compares favorably to other western universities though there are some improvements that can be made reported former and current ASUI presidents Jim Mullen and Ron Houghtalin on their return from the Pacific Students Presidents Association convention in San Diego.

Houghtalin reported that the action of last year's Executive Board turning down SUB Program Director Charmaine Fitzgerald's proposal for graduate assistants in the student government structure may be reconsidered.

He said that a great many schools reported having them and that it seemed to work out rather well. They would act as assistants to whomver holds the position of Program Director. He added that this would depend on how things went during the next few months.

Both Mullen and Houghtalin reported that, as was usual with this type of convention, the main benefit gained was from the informal conferences with student body leaders of other schools.

The convention is directed toward the informing of the new presidents on such topics as leadership and organization. Mullen added that he and Houghtalin received compliments from other schools on how Idaho runs their activities and they also received several requests for information on our judicial council, CCH, from such schools as the University of Nevada and New Mexico State.

The best speaker at the convention was former UCLA student body president and star athlete Rafter Johnson. He spoke on the program of promoting relations with international students at various schools.

Both Idaho prexies reported some dissatisfaction with the manner in which the convention was run. Mullen said that this was the second year in a row that a lack of organization was evident. He reported that some of the schools from the mountain states were considering organizing their own president's association if the situation did not improve. Houghtalin added that he was considering starting a similar association just within the state of Idaho for purposes of exchanging information, influencing the legislature, and improving relations.

He also complimented the manner in which Idaho runs their communications board as compared to other schools. In other schools the decision of who heads the various communicative bodies is either entirely up to the student governing body or has much more faculty control. He said he felt that this "lowered the continuity and efficiency of the body."

He also stated that Idaho had the best program of faculty recognition of any of the schools there, but added that he felt ours could be improved yet.

Idaho State College was making a bid for holding the convention at Sun Valley next year and both Houghtalin and Mullen tried to help them get this. Results are not known since they both had to leave early in order to return for the May Fete.

Adding one final point, Houghtalin added, "We aren't the only school that has traffic problems."

BSA Revives Old Honorary

Alpha Phi Omega, national service honorary for former Boy Scouts and Explorers, is being revitalized on a campus after a ten-year lapse.

The organization is being revitalized by Dewey Newman, head counselor, men's residence halls. Students who do not belong to other service organizations, and want to be of service to the campus and community may apply for membership.

The functions of Alpha Phi Omega will be to assist other Scout groups in the community.

Students Drink Large Amounts Of Coffee; Custom Has History

Coffee is one thing that most University students consume in large amounts, ranging on the average from one cup a day to perhaps six or eight cups, sipped or gulped between classes and often bought as a rationalization to keep from studying.

In our day, coffee drinking has become a custom well-liked and indulged in by many people. Nevertheless, it has not always been so.

Less than three hundred years ago this custom threatened to take the place of whiskey drinking among the reprobates and loose livers who enjoyed the mere wicked things of life.

"Syrup of Soot"
Feeling ran so high against coffee that those accustomed to more polite language referred to it as "Syrup of soot, or essence of old shoes, dashed with journals and the book of the news." We will not quote those remarks of the less polite.

When this berry was first introduced it was served in a form that few people would recognize today. It was made "as black as soot and served as hot as possible," in which form it was "good for the digestion and mirth."

Served By Slaves
At first this drink was generally offered at fashionable dinners by the nobility and in one instance was even served by Turkish slaves on their knees, a custom which no doubt would help in the introduction of many products.

This also gave it a certain appeal among the lower classes, who seem to have enjoyed coffee both for domestic as well as medicinal purposes.

Opposition to the drinking of this "black berry" came from all sides. Many of the unkind remarks came from those who could not understand why some preferred it to good "canary" as well as those who associated it with the idle and the curious.

Make Men Pygmies
One of the more interesting tirades against coffee is that of the Women's Petition Against Coffee written in 1674 which complained that this drink "made men as unfruitful as the deserts whence that unhappy berry is said to be brought; that the offspring of our mighty ancestors would dwindle into a succession of apes and pygmies, and on a domestic message (probably news of birth in the family) a husband would ston by the way to drink a couple of cups of coffee."

Panel Fulfills Need

The weekend just past seems to have been carried off successfully as all groups and organizations involved presented a "good show" for the mothers.

The May Fete was carried off smoothly and was the same impressive show it usually is. Nancy Yount and her spurs successfully revitalized song fest under the direction of Julie Severn. The event was well attended for Friday night and a good show was presented.

One of the most entertaining and informative events was probably the poorly-attended Silver Lance sponsored panel discussion on "Obligations and Responsibilities of Idaho to Higher Education."

Thirty-three people turned out to listen to University faculty members give their unrehearsed opinions on this timely topic. But the number attending the event is not the subject of this editorial. No one really expected too many more to attend than did because of the several other events scheduled at the same hour. And it must be remembered that visiting parents are here primarily to see their children and have a good time, not to be intellectually stimulated.

Yet there is need for some of this type of activity. It should be offered for those that care to attend. The main concern should not be the popularity of the event but rather the content.

Silver Lance fulfilled this need quite adequately with their discussion Saturday morning. The participating faculty are to be commended on their succinct remarks about our situation and problems. The event should be continued regardless of whether 33 or 100 people attend.—J.M.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

As Spring Review again is upon us, or should I say upon practically every freshman and sophomore male, a story in Friday's Argonaut has special significance. For those who have read the story or have an idea of what is under consideration, the age-old cry of compulsory ROTC is again heard.

Land grant colleges, of which Idaho is included, were established for many reasons one of which was the government would have a chance to provide military training for college-level students. For many years this has meant compulsory ROTC for freshman and sophomore males.

Now Congress has a proposal under consideration that would change this, even though the final say is still given to the University itself. Many colleges have not waited for any changes but have abolished compulsory ROTC. Washington State University has already joined these ranks.

Jason will not argue which is right—compulsory or non-compulsory ROTC—but would like to say that of the three services on the campus it seems that only one would like the compulsory ROTC to stay. Although I might be wrong, I believe that the Air Force is not a staunch supporter of the present program while the Army would like to see it sustained. Of course, the Navy has its own separate program much like that now under consideration by Congress.

Having gone through the program and presently a member of the advanced ROTC, I feel that it doesn't subject anyone unduly nor suppress anyone's freedoms. However, times are changing and if public sentiment is against compulsory ROTC then maybe it is time to change.

Maybe, if nothing else, the early morning drill could be changed to early afternoon or late morning for those of us who don't like to beat the sun up!—Herb Hollinger

Conflicts — A Problem

As mentioned in several other places in this edition, the past weekend was a success by most standards. There was however one flaw that was noticeable to those who were attempting to attend all the events on the schedule.

Mrs. Marjorie Neely, Dean of Women, called it the "busiest weekend of the whole year," and as far as sheer numbers of events, she isn't wrong. Thus the crux of the problem—with so many events, all of them worth attending, there were conflicts in the scheduling so that sometimes as many as four events were occurring simultaneously.

As a result possibly some of the events didn't receive the attendance they might otherwise have had. This is not an insolvable problem and perhaps Mortar Board, one of the co-sponsors of May Fete, one of the major events of the weekend, has come up with the answer.

It is rumored that they are going to recommend to the Executive Board that the ASUI assume the management and directorship of the weekend. This would make the weekend comparable to Dads' Day and Homecoming in that respect and seems to be a reasonable suggestion.

With the ASUI, specifically the Activities Council, probably, coordinating the events, things might run smoother and scheduling conflicts avoided.

This would not necessarily mean that any of the traditional activities be eliminated or even modified but would simply mean that one body would coordinate the activities instead of the eight that handled the various events this year. Without the supervision of a coordinating body there was bound to be conflicts due to lack of communications if for no other reason.

The Argonaut would support the rumored suggestion of Mortar Board and feels that is a step to make a good Mother's Day weekend even better.—J.M.

Coed Appears On Dean's List For Geology

For the first time since the Dean's List was established at the University College of Mines five years ago, a woman's name appears on it.

Sandra Clark, a junior in geology, was one of the three mines students who achieved better than a 3.75 grade average during the first semester.

She transferred last fall from Iowa State college to be with her husband, Allen Clark, who is a graduate student in geology at the University of Idaho.

The other two students in the high-average group were Donald Wilkins, and James Mackel. Other students honored for outstanding academic achievement are Orville Anderson, Richard Brumbaugh, Ralph Bingham, William Green, Brian Sack, Eugene Henry, Orville Hilliard, Ronald Reed, and Frank Lewis.

YAF To Print More Bulletins

The Idaho chapter for the Young Americans for Freedom voted recently to publish 500 more copies of the last issue of their publication, "The New Liberal," and to send them to other YAF chapters throughout the country. Those not mailed out will be sold to students on campus. They also decided to print a bulletin stating their position on Federal aid to education. It will be sent to all education majors on campus.

Phillip Coffman, graduate assistant in music, will conduct "Chorale and Alleluia" by the American composer-educator Dr. Howard Hanson.

Folk music of England and Latin America will provide the next selections — "Greensleeves," arranged by Alfred Reed, and the familiar "Malaguena" by Lecuona.

Two medleys of familiar music arranged for the University Band by conductor Bells will close the program. The first is a group of popular show classics and the second is a "Rhapsody of Idaho Music."

Mrs. Ethel Steel Visits Campus During Mother's Day Weekend

Ethel Steel, former President of the Board of Regents, is an energetic witty little lady who now helps her son, John Steel, operate a ranch at Parma, Idaho.

Mrs. Steel was the guest of the girls of Ethel Steel House during Mothers' Day Weekend.

When asked her age, Mrs. Steel quipped, "Don't you tell them I'm past 21."

Turtle Derby Said Success

The turtle trainers of the fifth annual Turtle Derby have all acquired hoarse voices combined with sore throats as a result of the extra enthusiastic yells of encouragement to their proteges.

Turtle trainer Janet Josephson, Gamma Phi, apparently had the strongest vocal chords as her turtle, Gamma Philer, broke an unofficial record of 17 feet in 1:06. Miss Josephson was awarded the turtle trophy and will reign for a year as the Phi Delt Turtle Queen.

Approximately 1000 attended the derby Saturday morning, according to Bob Blower general chairman. The $90.01 was taken in on bets, which will be donated to the Lewiston Children's Home.

The Alpha Chis were awarded the trophy for the best painted turtle and Hays Hall won a trophy for the best cheering section. The Pi Phis' Tinker Bell and the Alpha Gams' Faux Pas placed second and third.

A professor at one building that she visited during one of side trips commented, "You know, Mrs. Steel, you're the first regent who's ever been in this building."

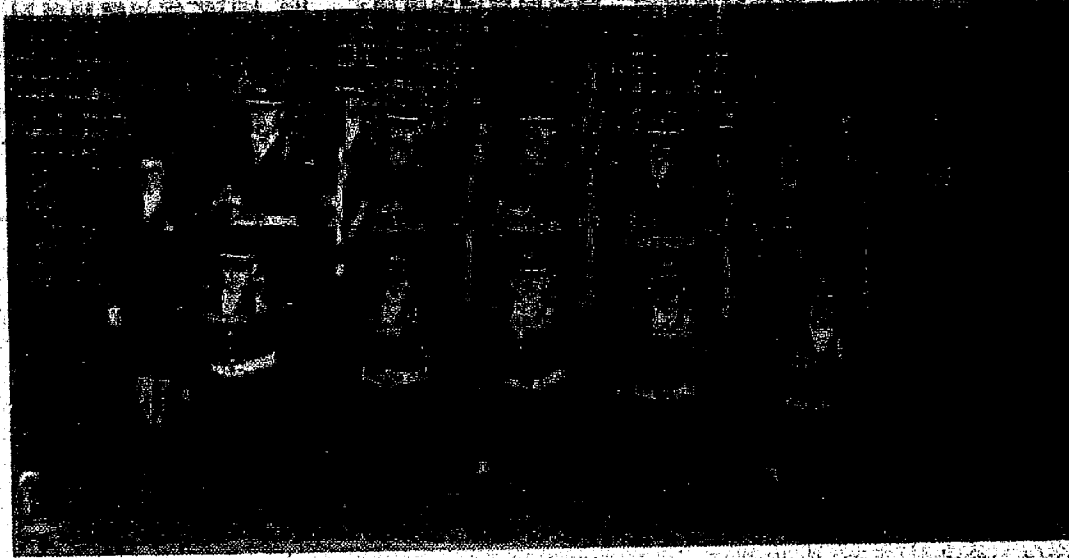

"My great interest was in the cooperatives because it was during the depression and the youngsters were broke and needed help," said Mrs. Steel.

Mrs. Steel was a member of the board when the original Campus Club was erected in 1936. That same year, Neale Stadium was built.

Her namesake, Ethel Steel House, the first cooperative for women, was dedicated to her in 1952. She commented that having to put three students in a room designed for two (which increased enrollments make probable next fall) "Isn't right. They can't study that way. There is just too much of a good thing."

"Mrs. Steel, followed by Maude Houston, are good illustrations of the service and understanding a woman on the Board can give to University women on campus," commented Kenneth A. Dick.

Army ROTC Drill Team Wins Over WSU To Take Drill Title

The Army ROTC drill team edged the Washington State Air Force marching squad for the first time in three years to walk off with first place honors at the annual Inland Empire ROTC Drill Team Assn. here Saturday. WSU Army, Eastern Washington Army and Gonzaga Army also competed in the event that took place in the Field House.

In addition to winning the first place trophy, they were also awarded the David's Award, donated by David's Department Store of Moscow, which is given annually to the champion drill team of the Inland Empire. A third award donated by Capt. C. A. Chappell, U.S. Navy (Ret), a former University Professor of Naval Science, in the shape of an Oriental Sword, was presented to them as the best drill team on the field between the University of Idaho and Washington State University.

Under the command of Cadet Lt. Garth W. Eimers, an ATO, and a junior in electrical engineering from Grangeville, the Army drill team has enjoyed a most successful year, according to team advisor, Major Harry Todd. They have taken part in the half-jime ceremonies of the Montana-Idaho football game, the Washington-Idaho basketball game, the Washington State University Drill meet, the Eastern Washington

State College Drill meet; the Pershing Rifles Northwest Regional Drill meet; and served as Honor Guard during the visit of Lt. Gen. John L. ## Mothers Took Top Billing On Weekend Social Whirl

Mothers filled top spot on the social calendar last weekend. The festivities included special dinners and smorgasbords for visiting mothers. Some living groups, however, did not spend all their time with mother.

The Lambda Chis cleaned up the building and grounds at the county Nursing Home, the Tri-Delta held a come-as-you-are dance for dates, and the Delta Chis elected officers. Also the Sigma Chis hosted Sig sisters and daughters and Lindley Hall presented hall awards.

Lindley's annual Spring dinner-dance was Saturday night. Awards were given to the outstanding freshman, sophomore, junior and senior: Dale Smith, Norman Kelley, Dave Brashears, and Bill Kindley, respectively at the banquet. The over-all award of the Outstanding Lindleyite was presented to Gene Novotny, who also received a trophy for his excellent work as intramural manager. Special award for Intramural Participation was presented to Frank Hoch.

After the banquet, attended by many mothers, an after-dinner speech, "How to be a successful executive," was given by Miss Betty Armstrong, university loan librarian. The Elk's Lodge provided the atmosphere for the dance with music furnished by the Moonlighters. Mr. and Mrs. William Shane, Dewey Newman, Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Green, and Dr. and Mrs. Miller, chaperoned.

Besides attending the campus events which were held last weekend, the 40 Alpha Phi mothers were honored at a special mothers' day dinner Saturday. Roses were passed out in the formal living room afterwards.

Sunday a smorgasbord dinner was served to mothers, fathers and special guests attending.

Last weekend the Lambda Chi pledges, initiates, and members traveled to the Latah County Nursing Home to clean the grounds and outside of the building. Afterwards the pledges and new initiates introduced the members 5-3 in the annual softball game.

Recent guests have been: Rex Williamson, Willis Sweet; George Benoit, Chrisman; Mrs. Helen M. Thompson and son, Mike; Sandpoint; Mrs. W. C. Hauck, Moscow; Mrs. Claude A. Wilhite, Twin Falls.

Vandals Fall To Rampaging Oregon State

Beaver's Home Run Blasting; Ira's Hurling, Sinks Stickers

The Vandal baseball team became the first victim on the Oregon State road trip when they fell 5-0 and 16-12 to the Beavers this weekend. The Vandal losses entrenched coach Wayne Anderson's club further in fourth place, as the Beaver's pair of wins pushed their ND mark to 8-1 and gave them a commanding advantage over pursuing Washington State and Oregon.

Stingy pitching by OSU ace Cecil Ira and catcher Dave Hayward's eighth inning home run sunk the Vandals in the opener Friday. The Beavers overcame an Idaho first inning lead, using the home run weapon to win Saturday.

Little Ira, the winningest Oregon State hurler, was superb. The little moundsman shut out the Vandals on four scattered singles. Dick Mooney was the only Idaho baseballer to pick up more than one safety as he singled in the fourth and ninth frames. Bob Vervaeke and Pete Mooney got the other two.

Vandal hurler Dave Sewright pitched a four hitter in his own behalf, but Hayward, whose homer came with two aboard ruined his performance.

The visiting OSU gang pitched up two tallies in the second. Gene Hilliard, an OSU footballer in the fall, got on via an error by third baseman Gary Riebe. Sewright got Dave Long out on a pop up, but walked Harry Demerest. Ira sacrificed the two along and set the state for shortstop Doug Stahl. He drove across both runners with a sharp single.

In the eighth, Stahl again singled, and Riebe's error put flashy center fielder Al Lehrer on base. Hayward then teed off on a Sewright curve ball and hit it over the scoreboard to end the day's scoring. Mooney led off the Vandal ninth with his second single and worked his way to second, but to no avail.

Good Crowd

In the second contest of the series, the Vandals stirred a fair-sized crowd as they took the lead. However, a 15 hit Beaver attack wiped out the effort.

Idaho paraded Pat Townsend, Denny Grant, Ralph Lawrence and Bill Huizinga to the hill, but OSU rolled along. Coach Ralph Coleman, Beaver coach for 31 years, got home runs from Stahl, Brian Bailey and Hilliard. Hilliard drove in three tallies, as did second baseman Dave Long.

White Homers

For the Vandals, Chuck White blasted a three run homer in the second, Jeff McQueeney and Mike Stowe each had two hits and RBIs, but it wasn't enough to ward off the 15 Beaver hits. OSU picked up four in the second, and three in the fifth and ninth frames.

Idaho started off with three in the first and added three more in the second. However, OSU took the lead for good in the fourth. Idaho made a last ditch effort in the bottom of the ninth, picking up five runs before Steve Clark who won the game in relief, was able to stem the rally.

Idaho-OSU Friday

Idaho 330 000 103—12 10 4
Cecil Ira and Dave Hayward; Dave Sewright and Jeff McQueeney. Winning Pitcher, Ira; Losing Pitcher, Sewright.

Idaho-OSU Saturday

OSU 041 123 203—16 15 2
Idaho 330 000 105—12 16 4
Dave Faulk, Steve Clark (1), and Dave Hayward. Pat Townsend, Denny Grant (4), Ralph Lawrence (4), Bill Huizinga (7), and Jeff McQueeney. Winning Pitcher, Clark; losing Pitcher Lawrence.

With intramural softball nearly over, four teams dominate the scene. In League III, Upham is on top with a 3-0 record, with Willis Sweet close behind at 3-1. In League IV, TMA2 is on top with a 4-0 record, closely followed by GH2 at 3-1.

In the Greek fray, defending campus champs ATO heads the pack in League I with a 6-0 mark and a two game lead over their closest rivals, Delta and SAE. The Fijis, with a 5-0 mark, top League II. The Lambda Chis hold second with a 5-1 mark.

Thursday, Lambda Chi won over Theta Chi 11-7. Once again, Ron Fairchild was the winning hurler for LCA. Campus Club delt Willis Sweet its first loss of the season when they triumphed 14-0. This game was in League III.

No-Hitter

Highlight of the day's play was a no-hit, no-run pitching performance by Fiji moundsman Dick Seeley. The Fiji club won over the Betas 8-0. Seeley has several shut out to his credit, but this was his first no-hitter of the year.

SAE kept winning with an easy 12-0 win over the Kappa Sigs. The contest was never close. Dan Ayars was the winning pitcher. Delta Sigma Phi won one from the Delta Chis in the closest (11-10) game of the day. Winning hurler was Gene Dunn. In the other game, the Phi Taus defeated FarmHouse 15-12 in a close one.

Netmen End Losing Streak

The Vandal tennis team broke a long nine match losing streak yesterday when they defeated the Gonzaga Bulldogs 6-1 in a match held on Ridenbaugh courts.

The Vandal netters' drought had been extended to nine straight by losses to Whitman Friday and to Eastern Washington College Saturday.

Coach Bill Logan's netmen had little trouble beating the Gonzaga crew. The Vandals won four of five singles matches and both doubles contests. All matches were over in straight sets.

Whitman Tough

Against the two other Washington schools — Whitman and EWC — the Vandals had all kinds of trouble. The Vandals fell 6-1 to powerful Whitman, as only top seeded Howard Sealey was able to win a match.

The score of the Eastern fray was 4-3. The Idaho team at one stage pulled up even at 2-2, but a win in the final singles match and the victory of EWC's number one doubles team sealed the Vandals' fate.

John Goodman was the last amateur to win the U. S. Open golf championship. He beat pro Ralph Guldahl by a stroke in the 1933 tournament at North Shore Golf Club in Glen View, Ill.

SLUGGERS — Outfielders Chuck White (left) and Pete Mooney connected for home runs in Saturday's slugfest with Oregon State. White's blast was his second in Northern Division play. It was Mooney's first homer of the year. Idaho lost both games with the Beavers, 5-0 and 16-12.

Idaho Takes Five Firsts To Win Bill Martin Relays

The University of Idaho track team out-distanced Saturday Central Washington College to win the annual Bill Martin Relays at Walla Walla. The Vandals, racked up their second straight triumph of the year, by piling up 103 points.

Central Washington was second with 70 points. Whitman was third with 39 in a meet that saw 11 new records established.

New Marks

Of the 11 new marks, three were set by the Vandals. The 880 relay team toured the distance in 1:29.4, thincled Dick Douglas won the two-mile in 9:30.3, and Curt Flisher broke the 880 record with a 1:15.2 clocking.

Whitworth's Denny Driskill picked up 20 of his squad's 39 points and was named the most valuable athlete of the meet. Driskill shattered the 440 record with a 48.5 mark and tied the 220 low hurdles mark at 23.1.

Besides the three new records set by Vandal tracksters, coach Bill Sorsby's club nabbed two more firsts. Reg Carolan in the shot and Joe Davis in the discus. The Idaho club also picked up a sufficient number of seconds and thirds to outdistance their rivals.

Central Led

With five events to go, Central Washington led Idaho by five points, 63-57. However, the Vandals stormed back to outscore Central 48-6 in these events and won going away.

Idaho's results: (entrants who won or placed):
Two-Mile: Dick Douglas 9:30.2; Paul Henden 9:45.5; Louie Olaso 9:53.9.

Black Triumph In Spring Tilt

The stage is set for next Saturday's final intra-squad football game at the University of Idaho following a narrow 14-12 win by the "Black" team over the "Whites" in Saturday's scrimmage.

Assistant coach John Easterbrook's Black team scored twice in the first half and held a commanding 14-0 lead before the White aggregation, tutored by line coach Dick Monroe, began to move.

Sophomore signal caller Gary Gagnon passed for two touchdowns to pull his club to within two points of victory. Gagnon set up the first one up with a 32-yard run.

Fullbacks Tom Morris and Mike Jordan capped Black team drives to put Easterbrook's team ahead 14-0 in the second quarter. Black quarterback Gary Mires booted both conversions successfully.

Mires had a big hand in both Black scores. The young field general set up the first score with a 35-yard jaunt. Jordan carried over from the two-yard line. Mires hurled a 42-yard strike to end Larry Stackler. Morris then banged over from the two.

Gagnon

Down 14-0 late in the first half, Gagnon and crew started rolling. Following his 32-yard scamper, Gagnon hit end Joe Chapman in the end zone to pull the White gang to within eight points. The kick was blocked by tackle Joe Craner.

Still not done, the White team got rolling again. Gagnon hit Ron Kulm with a TD strike to cut it to 14-12. With seven minutes left, Gagnon attempted a fake kick and was swarmed under back on the 12-yard line. The two-point try fooled no one. Most of the Blacks hit Gagnon when he tried to run from the fake kick formation.

Looked Good

"We looked pretty good out there at times, but there were a lot of mistakes, too," commented head coach Dee Andros. Andros left the coaching to assistants Easterbrook and Monroe while he and assistant Steve Musseau observed the action.

Andros had praise for guards Darwin Doss and Mike Baumann. He also was high on the work of his two punters who booted the ball four times for a 48-yard average.

"That Tom Nelson is one tackle who won't be in the defensive shield on punts," Andros said. "I want him kicking that football." Nelson had a kick of 55-yards into the wind. Sophomore Mike Rice had one of 45 yards.

"For the most part," Andros said, "It was a good balance of our sophomores and our lettermen working together as a spirited team."

The Vandals two starting fullbacks — Jordan and Nelson—were steady ground gainers during the full-game practice.

Babes Suffer Twin Losses

WSU's Couababes gained a revenge victory over the Idaho frosh this weekend when they dalt the Vandal Babes 10-5, 8-7 losses. The frosh team had beaten the Couababes earlier in a double header.

Coach Cliff Trout's bunch will try to again find the win trail Friday and Saturday. Friday the Babes host the WSU frosh in a revenge game starting at 3 p.m. The frosh journey to Lewiston on Saturday for a twin bill clash with Lewis-Clark Normal.

In both losing efforts against the WSU gang, the Babes outhit the Couababes, but to no avail. Don Soward had two doubles in the second contest and was the big gun at the plate, said Trout.

In addition, Dave Katsilometec and Tom Hoagland hit home runs, both coming in the first game.

First Loss

Tommy Haig lost his first game of the year. Don Soward was the loser in the other contest. Both had good control, according to the frosh mentor.

According to Trout, a rash of miscues sunk his team. "We made seeds of mental and physical errors," said Trout. He felt that their poor fielding performance definitely hurt the Vandal Babes.

Varsity, Frosh Golfers Win

Idaho's golf teams, varsity and frosh won matches Saturday. The varsity won their second straight with a win over the Washington Huskies. The Frosh defeated NIJC.

Wally Lowe was the medalist in the varsity contest, topping all linksters with a 69. Medalist for the frosh was Glen Johnson with a 72. The Babes are now 3-0 for the season.

Jim Herndon's On The Bench

PRETTY GOOD FOR IDAHO

Before every home match tennis coach Bill Logan loads his team and their equipment into his blue Nash, about a '51 vintage. Logan then chauffers his squad from behind Memorial Gym to the tennis courts across the street from Ridenbaugh Hall, where the Vandal netters have played their games this season.

Last year the Vandals used the courts behind Memorial Gym for their matches but this season Logan, for a couple of reasons, prefers the Ridenbaugh courts.

"People can drop in and watch the game easier over there," Logan explained yesterday while he was loading his car. "A little clapping when a good shot is made does a lot for our club."

According to Logan usually about 15 persons watch the matches regularly and sometimes the number almost doubles. People come and go Logan said.

"Usually Harris (Robert Harris) of the history department, and Hall (Leo Hall) of the English department, drop by," Logan commented. "Girl friends, parents and other relatives along with living group friends add to the spectators."

Yet to get a large crowd is not Logan's only reason for using the Ridenbaugh courts. These courts, put in last summer, are what is called in the tennis game "fast courts." That is, when the ball hits it has a quicker bounce and more spring than a ball would have on a "slow" court.

The theory is that a team, used to playing on fast courts, has the advantage over a squad which is accustomed to a slower court. Also a team can step down to a slow court easier than it can step up to a fast court.

Logan gives another reason for the change in playing areas—this time a factual one. The Ridenbaugh courts has four courts while the area behind the Gym has only three. Since there are five single matches included in a meet, all but one can be played in the first round at Ridenbaugh and the other singles match and the two doubles contests in the second round.

Behind the Gym, where there are only three courts, one doubles match was delayed while the teams were finishing singles matches.

Logan has been happy with the team's performance this season even though he believes they can do better. "We should have done better against Eastern Washington last Saturday," Logan said yesterday. EWC dumped the Vandals 6-1 taking one more match than they did earlier in the season when Idaho lost 2-5.

"But if we win today and tomorrow," Logan added, "and we should . . . that will give us four wins for the season . . . And that's pretty good for Idaho."

SEWRIGHT IS HOT BUT IRA HOTTER

Sometimes good is not good enough. Vandal pitcher Dave Sewright found this to be true last Friday afternoon. The Idaho right-hander only allowed four hits and one walk while striking out eight but he lost to Beaver chucker Cecil Ira, 5-0.

The little OSU (5-8, 146 pounds) left-hander also allowed four hits but kept them scattered over nine innings. However, Sewright who had a fastball and good curve working for him, couldn't keep the Beavers from bunching their hits and scoring some runs. He had two on in the second when Doug Stahl hit a single that scored two runs. In the eighth one of the Vandal right-hander's curves was too good and Beaver catcher Dave Hayward gave it a ride over the 320 mark in left field to score three runs.

Ira and Sewright, both known as fast workers, finished the game in an hour and 50 minutes.
