Houghtalin And Bowes Attend NSA Convention At Cd'A

Ron Houghtalin, ASUI president, and Bill Bowes ASUI vice president, attended the Friday session of the National Student Association meeting at Coeur d'Alene.

"It helped me get a better understanding of NSA," said Houghtalin. Houghtalin and Bowes will attend the National Student Congress at Ohio State University August 19 through 30.

About 80 students attended the three-day WSU meeting of the NSA. The meeting was sponsored by the Evergreen Conference Student Association and NSA. ECSA is composed of most Washington schools.

The National Student Congress has two purposes: to allow student leaders from the entire nation to meet and discuss mutual problems and to establish the policies of the U.S. National Student Association.

IFC Awards Banquet Slated Wed. Night

Plans are now being completed for the Inter-Fraternity Council awards banquet which chairman Bill Sullivan hopes will become an "annual rig." Eating exotic delicacies such as Chicken Parisienne will begin at 6 p.m. in the Middle Ballroom of the Student Union Building this Wednesday. A great variety of awards will follow the meal.

Five representatives from each of the members of IFC, plus each sorority president, will listen to Phil Reberger, ASUI Public Relation Director and MC for the fete, introduced by Gary Carlson, IFC president.

Carlson will present the awards which range from intramural weight lifting and ping-pong trophies to recognition of fraternity men and women tapped by Phi Beta Kappa.

The annual ROTC Spring Review featuring Army, Navy and Air Force cadets was forced inside Memorial Gym for the first time in three years Friday afternoon. The event was originally slated for Neale Stadium.

Brig. Gen. James M. Trail and President D. R. Theophilus kept the proceedings from losing any military air as they reviewed the 1,300 assembled cadets.

The following awards were presented: ROTC Gold Medal Award to the outstanding freshman, sophomore, junior and senior in each branch who has received the highest combined grade for scholastic achievement and aptitude during the current academic year.

Superior Cadet Ribbon Award to the outstanding Army ROTC cadet in each class based on military and academic scholarship and demonstrated qualities of discipline, courtesy and character; Idaho National Guard award to the outstanding member of the Idaho National Guard enrolled in either the first or second basic Army ROTC; Armed Forces Communications and Electronics Award to the outstanding electrical engineering graduate of each of the three branches.

Assn. of U. S. Army Award to the outstanding junior Army cadet based on interest, attention to duty, leadership and military grades; Prof. of Air Science Award to an Air Force cadet for the most effective public speech on air power; Prof. of Naval Science Excellence Award, an officer's sword to the outstanding graduating midshipman based on scholastic achievement and aptitude for naval service; Air Force Assn. Award to the outstanding Air Force graduating senior based on demonstrated leadership and scholastic achievement.

Reserve Officers Award to the outstanding junior Air Science cadet based on scholastic achievement, promotion potential and soldierly appearance and aptitude to the Naval student who had attained the highest scholastic average in his Naval subjects; to the graduating Army cadet who had demonstrated outstanding military leadership and performed exceptional services for Army ROTC.

Moscow Naval Reserve Award to the outstanding graduating Naval ROTC contract midshipman; Boeing award to an outstanding Air Force cadet in the sophomore class for academic achievement in his engineering course of study; American Legion Dudley Post Award to outstanding Army, Naval, Air Force graduating senior for overall achievement during summer camp; American Ordnance Assn. Award to the outstanding Army graduate assigned to the Ordnance Corps.

Daughters of American Revolution Award to the outstanding graduating midshipman who, by his leadership and officer-like qualities, has contributed most to the advancement of the University and Naval ROTC program; O'Connell Award to a Naval junior, sophomore and freshman who achieved the highest academic average in their final science class; U. S. Naval Institute Award to the graduating regular midshipman and graduating contract midshipman who have achieved the highest scholastic average while in the NROTC program; Marine Corps Award to the outstanding graduating Marine Corps candidate; and the General Dynamics award to a naval graduating midshipman and an Air Force candidate for scholarship and interest in aerospace activities.

The ROTC Gold Medal award was presented by Dr. Theophilus to William H. Stancer, San Bernardino, Calif.; Mervin Helloson, Idaho Falls; John I. Frostenson, Fairfield; Paul J. Anderson, Potlatch, all Army; Gunter Amtmann, Rancho Santa Fe, Calif.; Albert E. Whitehead, Moscow; John O. Butterfield, Moscow, all Navy; and Franklin J. Black, Moscow; Carl A. Schlecht, Burley; Marvin R. Davis, Burbank, Calif., and Donald W. Boston, Parma, Air Force.

Army Superior Cadet Ribbon was presented by Col. G. W. James, professor of military science, to Charles W. Lange, Jr., Coeur d'Alene; Clarence E. Chapman, American Falls; John E. Shaufelberger, Boise, and John W. Armstrong, Lewiston. The Idaho National Guard award was presented by Gen. Trail to Carl B. Goddard, Payette.

Other Winners
Winners of other awards were: Armed Forces Communications and Electronics award—Mont A. Swenson, Malad, Army; Riley M. Smith, Gooding, Air Force, and

Outgoing Communications Head States Reorganization Needed

JIM METCALF
Arg Managing Editor
A recommendation that the Department of Communications be placed at a higher echelon level (university-wide) or that the academic and service divisions be separated was made by Dr. W. W. Snyder, head of the department of communications, who has resigned recently.

In a statement to the Argonaut Dr. Snyder said, "The reason that I am resigning is that the department is misplaced administratively in my opinion. I base this on 15-years experience in communications."

In an interview yesterday, University President Dr. D. R. Theophilus replied: "We've evaluated this on several occasions and it has always been our opinion that we should maintain the present administration position of the department."

No Need to Change
Dr. Theophilus pointed out that a survey was made in 1958 when the department was created. He added that it was felt that there was no need at the present to re-evaluate it again or change it.

Seminar At SUB To Discuss King Bill On Old Age Care Rising Unemployment Costs

The "King Bill" before Congress and the rising cost of unemployment insurance are subjects of a seminar today in the Student Union Building.

The conference is under the sponsorship of the University; chambers of commerce of northern Idaho cities; the Associated Taxpayers of Idaho; Associated Industries, Inc.; Idaho Mining Assn., and the Idaho Retailers Assn.

Approximately 150 people are expected to attend, according to Gale Mix, ASUI General Manager. Sessions are open to the public.

Speakers will be national and state leaders of management and labor. Frank Hendrickson, General Manager Monsanto Chemical Company will talk on the objectives and attitudes of a private business on unemployment insurance.

Senior Soloists Will Perform With Symphony Orchestra

Senior soloists will perform with the University Symphony Orchestra in the third concert of the year Thursday at 8 p.m. in the University Auditorium.

Winners in the Greater Spokane Music Festival will be featured. Linda Smith, a soprano, won first in the Young Artists Division. Miss Smith has been offered a graduate scholarship to the University of Texas next fall.

Kelly Frizelle Bond, the other winner, was first in the Open Concert division. The pianist has been a winner in various sections of the festival the past three years.

A Mozart quartet will include Ralph Strobel, James McDowell, Robert Goranson, and John Rider. Strobel has been first obolst for the University Symphony Orchestra for the past three years.

About 200 Persons Attend One-Act Plays

About 200 persons attended the one-act plays presented Thursday and Friday nights.

The plays, which were written, directed and performed by students, were given at the U-Hut.

We "hope to" continue presenting student-written plays, said Jean Collette, chairman of the Dramatics Department, but it depends on whether the students support the plays.

Student-written plays were presented once before, several years ago. "I doubt that I'll ever write another play, but it was nice seeing something I'd done produced," said Vicki Seibert, author of "The Meeting."

Resumption Of SUB Building Depends On Union Confab

The resumption date of construction of the Student Union Building addition will probably depend on a conference to be held at Spokane tomorrow between representatives of the striking Carpenters Union and Associated General Contractors representatives.

Work has been halted since last Wednesday, when the beginning of the strike affected workers on the SUB project, as well as some 5,000 union carpenters in Eastern Washington and Northern Idaho.

ASUI General Manager Gale Mix said, however, that the strike probably won't put work on the SUB behind schedule. "We're running ahead of schedule, and we still plan to open the SUB game room Oct. 8 and the rest of the addition along in November," he stated.

Mix said that workmen had finished pouring all the second floor concrete slabs on the addition and were getting ready for workers to arrive from Caldwell and Boise to put roof-supporting steel girders and the roof in place when the strike was called.

BOOK FOR SALE

"Beacon for Mountain and Plain" the story of the University by Rafe Gibbs, can be ordered at the Student Bookstore now for $5 per copy. After June 1 the cost will be $6.

Arnell Shockley, a tenor, is a soloist with the Vandaleers. He will sing music from the works of Donizetti.

Warren Bells of the music faculty will play the bassoon with the Mozart quartet.

The University Symphony Orchestra will present music from "West Side Story" and the popular "Largo" movement from Dvorak's "New World Symphony."

Linda Kinney and Howard Ahlskog are co-authors of "The Hill," a satire on the University Administration. "Howie and I were pleased with the response to our play. As a satire, it was easy to do. The characterizations of the actors made the play."

When she took the job as Program Director it was defined as being (1) responsible for overall supervision of programs carried on in the SUB and act as an advisor to the Program Council; (2) responsible for detailed arrangements for all meetings and conferences held in the SUB; (3) responsible for programs of social education carried on in the campus.

This has been expanded in the last three years to the point where she is leaving a four-page report of her responsibilities for her successor.

She has also installed a reservation system for the use of Student Union facilities which was non-existent before, in addition to writing a guide for conference planners, advertising material for the SUB, and is currently preparing a booklet for committee chairmen.

Leaving the University at the end of this school year will be Student Union Program Director Mrs. Charmaine Fitzgerald.

She has been here since 1959. Her successor has not been named.

In the three years she has been here the Student Union activities have been expanded to where they are now handled by 15 committees where formerly there were only four. The SUB Program Council was instituted, no organizational body being in existence before. The Activities Council which was put in operation this year encompasses both Student Union and ASUI activities. Mrs. Fitzgerald assisted in the planning of onomics Education. She taught for a year in Lake Forest, Illinois before obtaining the Idaho job. She said she had no reason for coming west except the job. It paid less than teaching but she liked the challenge.

She came to Idaho in 1959 from Illinois. She graduated from the University of Illinois in 1958 with a Bachelor of Science in Home Economics Education.

She has also installed a reservation system for the use of Student Union facilities which was non-existent before, in addition to writing a guide for conference planners, advertising material for the SUB, and is currently preparing a booklet for committee chairmen.

She is enthusiastic over the new Activities Council, saying, "I regret that I am leaving because of the high quality of the student leaders on the Council." She and her husband are moving to Seattle. She does not plan to work.

In the three years she has been here she feels that the use of the Student Union has grown tremendously mainly because of the people who run the building, such as the cafeteria staff.

She closed the interview by adding, "I will miss the students very much."

Emphasis Is Needed

In the University Communications Department being deemphasized by the University Administration? Recent controversy points out a weakness in the department.

Two resignations in the past five months indicate dissatisfaction with the current situation and point out a need for some fast action.

The argument is basically that men in the Communications Department feel that there is a need to administratively reorganize the Department and put the service divisions such as audio-visual aids and the photo center on a University-wide basis rather than keeping it as a division of a department under the College of Letters and Science. The administration has felt that there is no present need for this change.

The Argonaut feels it cannot justifiably take a stand on this particular issue because of lack of knowledge of all the workings involved. However the controversy has brought one aspect to light. There have been two men resign from the Department this year. There are probably personality conflicts involved in their resignations, but this is something that has to be faced.

There is still one question—what is to become of the Department in the future? A department head and a chairman of journalism are yet to be hired. There is a definite need to obtain men in these positions who are qualified not only in education but someone who has also gained personal experience in the field. These men will also have to be of the personality type so that they will care to remain at the University long enough to provide the education the students in the Department need.

There is some pressure from newspapermen in the state for the University to hire a man who has the personal experience in the newspaper field to teach students the practical experience necessary to make them good newspaper men. In fact, the professionals say that if a choice has to be made, experience should be considered over education. Ideally, they should hire men with both experience and Ph. D.'s. But this is not always possible. The Argonaut agrees with the professional's advice.

There is definite need to strengthen the Communication Department if it is to be able to provide the necessary education.—J.M.

Reed To Head United Party

Dick Reed, SAE, was elected president of United Party Friday night. He replaced Dean Grossenbach, off-campus.

Other officers who were elected to lead the predominantly Greek political party were Bill Longeteig, Beta vice president; Mary Lynn Evans, Alpha Phi, secretary, and Gary Mahn, Sigma Nu, treasurer.

Bill Longeteig replaces brother J. Longeteig, who resigned earlier when his living group, Delta Sigma, broke with United and joined Campus Union Party.

Miss Evans fills the position held last year by Mary Winegar, Delta Gamma, and Mahn replaces Fred Warren, Sigma Nu.

James Peterson Wins Math Contest

James Peterson, a University freshman, has won first prize in the annual freshman mathematics competition it was announced by Dr. Hans Sagan, head of the mathematics department.

Chemical properties of Idaho soils will be discussed by G. C. Lewis, associate professor of agricultural chemistry, at an American Chemical Society student affiliate meeting at 7 tonight in Science Hall 110.

CLASSIFIEDS DO THE JOB!

Dear Jason:

How ironic indeed was the headline in the May 18th ARGONAUT in which Senator Church advocated the use of an open mind. The irony lies in the fact that the good Senator, who has not had an open mind for many years, told a campus composed of people who have ceased approaching problems objectively, how to do something which it is not equipped to do. It has been my experience that those who cry the loudest for objectivity and the hearing of all sides are generally the worst bigots. You doubt the veracity of this statement then may I suggest a study of the treatment accorded conservative students, who are, by the way, the only dissenters on this campus.

In theory it would be nice to freely select one's own work, but compulsory unionism, which the Senator supports, does not often make this possible. Perhaps Senator Church was merely using a slogan here in order to help us remain free.

How can I acquire and own property if the government continues to tax and oppress under the Senator's auspices? How can I know and maintain free speech when the Senator's party is silencing all dissent? Is this another slogan?

The best place to learn about communism is certainly not this University — where Keynesian sycophants extol the virtues of state intervention and revel in neutralism and anti-communism — but rather the place to learn is in the books and lectures of noted anti-communists or former communists.

Senator Church shows signs of the "McCarthyite" mentality. A phenomena characterized by a strong fear of dissent, when he attacks the so-called secret societies springing up around the country. I challenge Senator Church to name one responsible anti-communist group operating as a secret society. Furthermore, I challenge him to prove his recent statement that there are 200 to 300 John Birch Society cells functioning in Idaho. I rest assured that the Senator cannot answer either of these challenges.

Naturally I would expect a "liberal" Democrat to support the "trial and error" method of solving problems because, upon reflection, "liberalism" has been mostly in error. If one makes an error then one should not repeat the error when the same situation is again presented to him. This is the only foundation for the "trial and error" method, yet the fact remains that in Laos the "liberals" have still not learned the lessons of China, Cuba, French Indochina, Korea and Eastern Europe. There are better ways to progress, Senator, and perhaps you will open your mind in the next few months.

At the very least we can hope that the public events committee will use more discretion in the future. Sincerely,

Not Deserved?

Dear Jason:

Disputation over any event is most effective at a time when the event is foremost in people's consciousness. The following argument — concerning the selection of those receiving Outstanding Senator Awards — should have been directed to the Argonaut May 15. Although it arrives one week later may it still thrust some impact.

Should an individual be worthy of selection for this award because of a position which he has held, excluding the virtues of a reputable academic record? (Such records usually, by the way, are indicative of a person's perseverance, initiative, and self-respect.) Are we contributing to the standards of a University which constantly emphasizes academic excellence by honoring those who have not attained it? Does an executive position automatically acclaim for the person involved the quality of leadership? Must we be hypocritical and divorce a person's moral standards from the criterion of an Outstanding Senator? Are we maintaining the respect of the student body for a coveted award because someone lacks the initiative to exclude from the roster of Outstanding Senators the name of an individual who is undeserving of such an award — regardless of the position he has held — one which he may have obtained by some accident?

Name On File

THE GOLDEN FLEECE by Jason

Definitely something that had been rumbling beneath the surface is now boiling in the open. The controversial comments of Dr. Snyder as given on the front page of this issue form the brunt of the controversy.

Certainly this has a lot to do with the administration and the faculty but I feel that every student should also take an interest since this will directly affect the education of students in the near future. The journalism situation, which is most familiar to me, is in a particular upheaval although there seems to be some action being taken which will help.

Whatever happens I hope will benefit the University and the educational facilities of the institution. Sometimes, constructive criticisms are valuable in keeping institutions of higher learning abreast of educational improvements.

The literary magazine, the "I", hit the stands today and of course as a journalist Jason scanned it with a critical eye. However, as much as it is an innovation in campus publications, it still seems to have found a purpose.

Although certainly not professional calibre, of course neither is the Arg, it does provide an outlet for campus writers. This in itself is something that has been needed on the campus for a long time and I hope that it will continue to serve this need.

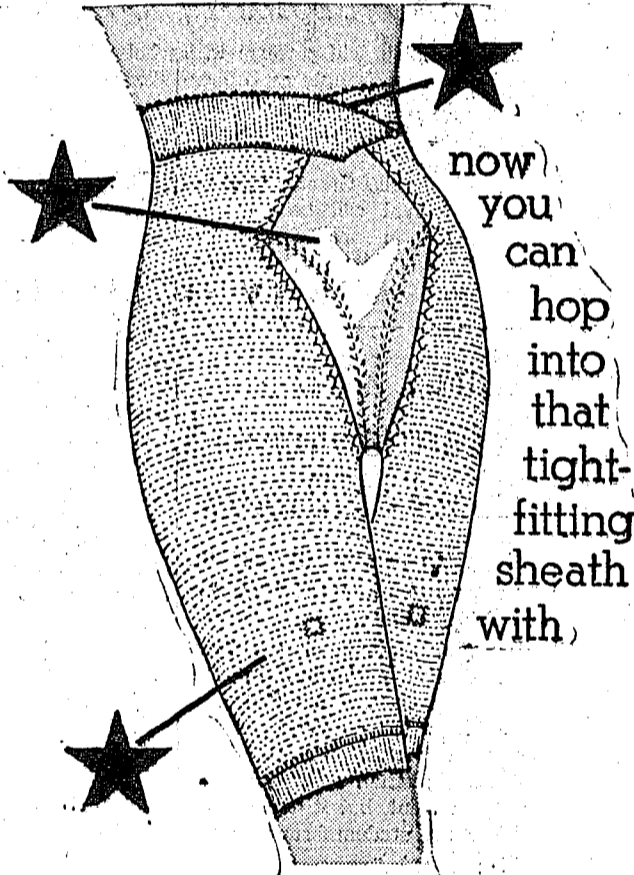

For 50¢ I think that every student should buy an "I" and scan it if for nothing else than to realize that Idaho does have some talent for this type of art.

Even though the Arg doesn't necessarily agree with the editorial policies of the magazine, Jason feels that in principle the magazine has found a purpose.

Betas, ATO's, Sig Nus Hold Cruises; Lindley Hall Elects

Despite the bleak weather, the Betas, ATOs and Sigma Nus managed to function successfully at Lake Coeur d'Alene and the Lambda Chis held their retreat at Blue Lake. The Alpha Chis held their initiation fireside, and the Delta Chis honored their sisters and daughters.

ATO'S CRUISE

The ATO annual cruise was held Saturday at Arrow Point on Coeur d'Alene Lake. A picnic was served followed by many other activities.

RENDEZVOUS HELD

The Alpha Chi initiates were honored at a fireside Friday night in "Riviera Rendezvous" style. A buffet was served.

At a pledge class banquet at the New Idaho Hotel, Mrs. Soderberg, housemother, was presented a gold charm in appreciation for her all-around graciousness.

Tuesday night blue and white figures seemed to loom from the walls as the Alpha Chi seniors were seized and given the annual tubbing. By the finish of the event the whole house had taken part, including Loren Butler.

Guests for the weekend were Peggy Heidel, Marian Standor and Judy Heidel, all of Castleford; Gloria Todd, Nampa; Cathrin Campbell and Eisle Wendle, Spokane; Rita Weber, Boise; and Barbara Beasley of Sandpoint.

SENIORS HONORED

Tri-Delta pledges and members honored the graduating seniors Wednesday with the annual senior dinner and fireside. Donna Kay Hamlet was chosen the most inspirational member and Karen Collins was chosen Outstanding Pledge by the pledge class.

A candle obviously meant for a pinning was passed last week but turned out to be the announcement of turn-about today. The Lambda Chis later challenged the "pledges" to a water fight.

Weekend guests were Joanne Ashenbrenner, Sacred Heart School of Nursing in Spokane; and Charman Standish, Sandpoint. Dinner guest Sunday was Bob Denney, Phi Tau.

ELECTIONS ANNOUNCED

Dave Brashears once again heads Lindley Hall for his second semester in the presidency. Other officers are: vice president, Dave Spores; secretary, Norman Kelley; treasurer, Charles Brandt; intramural manager, Charles Johaneck; hall reporter, Maurice Hoffman; social chairman, Gene Eyrud; scholarship chairman, Jacy Gibbs; senior representative, Ed Wood; Junior representative, Gary Van Stone; and Sophomore representative, Gary Tomita.

Guests during the weekend were Ron Smith and John Russell.

PHI MEMBERS TURNED PLEDGES

For eight and one-half months the members of Alpha Phi have wanted to be pledges. Finally the pledges gave in and announced it at a fireside last Tuesday. Thus, for one day members had the privilege of being pledges.

Exchange with the Phi Deltis and water fights with the ATO pledges were on the social scene this past week.

Receiving the Ivy Bracelet at dress dinner Wednesday was Katherine Seely for her services to the house.

Guests for the weekend were Vicki Harrison, Boise; and Francene Kirkland, Caldwell.

Kathy Miller was honored by an SAE serenade Thursday evening for her pinning to Jim Bell.

The Lambda Chis took their annual spring retreat this weekend. The terminal point was the Barbecue Dude Ranch at Blue Lake, east of Harrison, Idaho. Boating, water skiing, hiking, swimming and horseback riding were enjoyed.

Welcomed into Lambda Chi pledgeship recently was Dave Gregory.

Thursday night the pledges victoriously dualed the Tri-Deltas in a water fight.

SLIDES SHOWN

Bob Farrelly, world traveler, entertained Ethel Steel by showing slides of his trip to India and Russia. The slides were accompanied by a personal commentary on the trip and by refreshments.

Recent dinner guests have been: Joyce Itano, French; Jeanette Tenny, Sandpoint; Pat Brim, Kappa; and Don Fluharty, Phi Tau.

Wednesday night Ethel Steel and Lindley Hall participated in a dancing exchange.

SIGMA CHI'S ELECT Amie Frilling was elected as president of the Sigma Chi house Friday night.

His officers include pro-consul, Denny Wheeler; annotator, Grant Gibbons; magistrate, Jay Eubanks; tribune, Fred Freeman; chapter editor, Jim Faucher; quaestor, Steve Ball; historian, Don Fairman; and kustos, Chuck McFarland.

Mrs. Magnuson, housemother, was given a special serenade at her home.

HOUSEMOTHER HONORED

Sunday afternoon, Hays Hall was the scene of a tea given in honor of Mrs. Mary Postelick, housemother. Special guests of the tea were faculty members and friends of Mrs. Postelick.

Carolyn Beasley was honored last week by being chosen as the Girl of the Month for her work as song leader.

Hays Hall houseguests for the weekend were Charlene Parks, Boise; and Ann Clark, Oakley, both former residents of Hays; and Kendall Patton, Spokane.

SISTERS AND DAUGHTERS HONORED

The Delta Chis wound up the social season Sunday with the annual sister-daughter banquet. Guests attending were Kathy Thompson and Audrian Huff, Alpha Chi; Marie Trail, Alpha Gamma; Judy Frazier and Mrs. O'Connell, Kappa; and Louise Locke, Judy Bonnell and Lynne Holmes, Theta.

An impromptu tubbing was held by the pledges Saturday. The victim of the tubbing was Oz Nelson who recently gave away his pin.

DELTA GAMMAS HOST

Activities of Delta Gamma were hostesses at an informal tea May 14 in honor of Mrs. Daniel C. Hay who is a member of the National Delta Gamma Council and National Panhellenic Board.

Brothers and sons who attended the annual banquet were Dick Monahan and Duff McKee, Phi; Larry McBride and Steve Lincoln, Phi Delt; Doug Scoville and Gary Manville, Phi Tau; Butch Farnsworth, Waneck Stein, Sigma Nu; Jan Evans, Kappa Sig; Bill Martin, Pete Groom, and Breck Adams, Sigma Chi; Steve Fairley, Lewiston; Art Jones and Jim Kirschner, both off-campus.

A campus exchange with the Sigma Nu's was held at the "barn" this Saturday.

RASMUSON ASSUMES PRESIDENCY

The Kappa Sig's announced the election of new officers. They are: president, John Rasmuson; vice president, Ken Turner; and pledge trainer, Greg Hollinger.

The Moscow Opportunity school on May 13 was a busy place as the Kappa Sig's cleaned and repaired the grounds.

House guests for the weekend were Jerry Zaph, Edmonton, Alberta; and Clint Mowery, Moses Lake, Washington.

CONCLAVE HELD

The Idaho chapter of Theta Chi was host to 150 Theta Chis from all over the Northwest May 19 and 20 for the annual regional conclave. The delegates attended a workshop Saturday in the SUB, and a banquet was held that evening. Idaho's chapter collected two awards — one for the most improved Northwest chapter and another for runner-up in a song festival held Saturday afternoon. The annual spring formal completed the weekend.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT —

activities of the photo center and other comparable service agencies on the campus should be self-supporting. "Since this is a University-wide as well as state-wide activity, as are most of the services of the Department of Communications, it might be wise to separate all services from academic activities and place the former under the jurisdiction of a University official, such as Rafe Gibbs who functions on a University-wide basis. This would necessitate the duplication of facilities in order to perform the two separate functions — service and academic activities."

The report was dated March 2, 1962. Dean Martin prepared it after consultation with Bell and Dr. Snyder.

The men in the Communications Department, especially Dr. Snyder were quite adamant in expressing their opinions.

Instructor of journalism Walter Bunge had the following comment on the situation, "My concern is for journalism to become a dynamic area for teaching communications at the University and I am particularly concerned that the only two teachers with doctorates in the department resigned in the same year. There are communications weaknesses in the way the department is now set up. Perhaps an impartial University-wide committee could study the department and make cogent suggestions."

Applicants Screened Dr. Walter Steffens, academic vice president, was asked about the applicants for the new department head and for a new chairman of journalism to replace Dr. Granville Price, who resigned at the end of the first semester. He replied that the department head position would be filled in the near future. They have screened the applicants and have narrowed it down to two men.

After the Department head is selected they will screen applicants for the chairman of journalism position.

NEW LABORATORY — University language students will be able to learn foreign languages faster and better through the installation of a new language laboratory which stresses oral as well as written work. Conducting the session are Lawrence V. Cor (left), associate professor of languages, and Dr. William B. Hunter, Jr., head of the Humanities Department.

Language Laboratory Will Help Professors In Better Instruction Of Foreign Languages

A new language laboratory is "on the firing line" at the University. Its mission: helping professors teach foreign languages better and faster.

The laboratory on the third floor of the Administration building resembles the count-down room at Cape Canaveral. Twenty-four students wearing head phones view the instructor from 24 cubicles. In front of the student are volume controls, microphone and a space for books and notebooks.

In the front of the room, the instructor has an electronic console in place of a desk. Its many buttons and switches feed prepared lesson tapes back to the students. A battery of recorders behind the professor carries enough material to give students eight different language lessons at the same time. Unlike the fabled Cape in Florida, the countdown here is in French, German, Spanish, Latin, and Russian.

"Languages are an area of critical shortage," said Dr. William Hunter, Jr., head of the Humanities Department. "This is true not only in the military, but in business and education. We must be able to communicate with people around the world today in their native tongue. This circumstance places emphasis on the oral as well as the written language."

The battery of recorders will never replace an instructor, but will help him do his job better. This is the way it works: A student, who may have had a class in French earlier in the day, tells the instructor in the laboratory that he will be at cubicle 18 and would like to hear French I.

In a few seconds the instructor has flipped switches and piped the proper tape to the student cubicle. The student dons earphones and listens to the tape, prepared usually by a native of the country. The native says a phrase and the student repeats it. His response is recorded on another tape. A few minutes later, the student is able to compare pronunciation with that of the native when his response is played back. The student also follows with written material in the text.

"The system puts emphasis on oral as well as written work and will strengthen student facility with the language," said Dr. Hunter.

To Receive Certificates The 15 recipients of the Outstanding Teacher awards will receive a letter of commendation from the selection committee as well as a certificate of achievement from the ASUT body.

The plan of selecting the 15 outstanding instructors was created two years ago by Executive Board members James Macki and Neela McCowan, who set up the selection of the award recipients on a biennial basis.

REGENTS TO MEET

The State Board of Regents will meet in Boise, June 7-9.

Juniors To Select 15 Top Instructors

Fifteen University faculty members will be selected by the Junior Class to receive Outstanding Teacher Awards this week.

The 15 recipients will be chosen among faculty members in the seven colleges teaching undergraduate courses: Business Administration, Letters and Science, Forestry, Mining, Education, Agriculture and Engineering.

Junior class officers asked each of the deans to select several outstanding students from their colleges for a committee to make the primary selection of the faculty members. A committee comprised of two students from each college — except for Letters and Science, which had four — and Junior Class President Gary Carlson will make the final choosing.

Criteria Listed Criteria for selection of the instructors are the following: knowledge of subject matter; organization of course; presentation; stimulation of intellectual curiosity; assignments, examinations and grading; interest in subject; attitude toward students; interest in self-improvement and personal traits.

Because it was felt they teach under different circumstances, the ROTC instructors were not included for consideration in the top 15 but will be judged and recognized on a separate basis, Carlson said. Two ROTC instructors from each of the three cadres — Army, Navy and Air Force — will be selected for special recognition, the president added.

To Receive Certificates The 15 recipients of the Outstanding Teacher awards will receive a letter of commendation from the selection committee as well as a certificate of achievement from the ASUT body.

The plan of selecting the 15 outstanding instructors was created two years ago by Executive Board members James Macki and Neela McCowan, who set up the selection of the award recipients on a biennial basis.

REGENTS TO MEET The State Board of Regents will meet in Boise, June 7-9.

This year the junior class was requested to take over the project.

Coach Pleased With Session; Togs Stored

Black Team Wins Picnic Bowl; Scrimmage Ends Spring Play

Ben Keane, Vandal equipment manager, stored the football gear away Saturday where it will remain until August as last Saturday's full-scale scrimmage ended spring football for the Idaho grid-der.

Coach Dee Andros said he was pleased with the 20-day camp but noted that there was work left to be done before Idaho opens September 22 in Boise against Utah State.

In Saturday's fray the Idaho Black team took their second straight from the Whites by a 28-8 score.

"I saw some real good things out there today, but we've got some big tasks ahead of us. Our lack of depth showed up in the White team today when several players sustained minor injuries and weren't able to go full speed."

"We've got the beginnings of a good football team, a team with lots of spirit, but we've still got a lot of work to do."

The win for the Blacks gave them the "Picnic Bowl" title and earned them a picnic which is billed for Sunday with the losing White team acting as servers and clean-up crew. The Blacks scored a 14-12 victory a week ago in the first of the two-game series.

The Blacks, under Coach John Easterbrook opened the scoring in the first quarter when junior Tom Morris capped a sustained drive with a four-yard touchdown run. During the series quarterback Gary Mires used the running of halfbacks Clarence Kleber, Rich Naccarato and letterman fullback Mike Jordan. Key play, however, was a Mires to Larry Stachler pass good for a first down. Stachler is a senior letterman from Lindsay, Calif.

Solum Kicks
Second unit quarterback Loren Solum from Wallace booted the conversion to give the Blacks a lead they never lost.

Halfback Cary Smith stopped a white drive cold when he picked off a Mike Whiles pass on the Black 20 yard line.

Morris teamed up with Smith and Stachler to mount a second touchdown with Mires packing the ball the last two yards. Solum booted his second successful conversion to make the count 14-0.

Sophomore end Vern Leyde recovered his first fumble of the day to halt a White drive on the Black 28. The Black attack was halted however, when junior tackle Elery Brown crashed into the backfield to throw Mires for an eight-yard loss.

The Whites fell victim of another interception as Smith flagged a Gary Gagnon pass. Gagnon, junior quarterback, was hampered in Saturday's fray as he favored a bruised hip.

The Blacks turned the ball over to the Whites again as fullback Dale Meyer recovered a fumble on the 25-yard line. Whiles and Meyer moved the ball to the four. As Meyer crossed the goal line he fumbled and Leyde picked up the loose ball to halt another White scoring threat.

The Blacks took the opening kickoff of the second half and marched to the seven-yard line with a Mires to Smith pass the key play. Junior guard Denny Almuist nailed Mires for a six-yard loss and the Blacks tried a field goal from the 13. Junior end Alex Klidzjes crashed through to block Solum's kick.

Whites Score
The Whites marched to a touchdown with sophomore Joe Chapman's 30-yard run the key play of the drive. Meyer gained 11 yards to the Black eight. A penalty moved the ball to the four and Whiles ran in for the touchdown. His run for the conversion was also good to make the count 14-8.

However, Mires returned the kickoff to the White 25 and the Black marched in for its third TD with Jordan going the last three

Gary Mires Leads Team

Galen Rogers broke through to block Solum's kick and the score was 20-8.

Veterans Bob Ames, Darwin Doss and Mike Bauman began stacking up the defense for the Black as time ran out. Ames just missed an interception, but Doss nabbed the ball for a fumble recovery. A Mires to Smith pass moved the ball to the one-yard line and Naccarato carried over for the TD. Mires hit Smith for a two-point conversion to make the final count 28-8.

In the dying minutes veteran tackle Joe Cramer batted away another pass. Ames knocked one down and sophomore John Derne recovered a fumble for the Black. Mires closed out the game as he intercepted Whiles' desperation pass on the last play.

The Vandals will hold one more meeting before school is out then report for fall camp on Thursday, Aug. 30.

The term "babbling" refers to the time when a hunting dog is scouting and giving tongue but is not on the trail of game.

Tree frogs or tree toads have sticky pads on the tips of their digits which enable them to cling to smooth surfaces upright or upside down.

Lawrence Shuts Out Gonzaga

Baseball Season Ends Saturday

Idaho's baseball team, 2-0 winners over Gonzaga Saturday in Moscow, will close out the 1962 season against Washington State Friday and Saturday.

The Vandals face the Cougars Friday at WSU's Bailey Field. The Pullman clash is a nine inning affair starting at 3 p.m. Saturday, the Cougars and the Vandals move over to Moscow for a season's ending double header. First game is billed for 1:30 p.m.

Idaho and WSU stand 1-1 in the baseball version of the "Battle of the Palouse." The Cougars recently split with Oregon's Ducks, as did Idaho last week.

The Gonzaga clash was a tight contest all the way. Zag hurler Rich Beck and Ralph Lawrence hooked up in a pitcher's duel in the nonconference fray.

Chuck White was responsible for both Vandal runs. The Idaho rightfielder had a run-producing double in the sixth inning and stole home in the eighth.

For five frames, Lawrence and Beck threw nothing but goose eggs. In the sixth, however, the Vandals came to life. Bob Vervaeke singled, took third on White's two bagger, and came on in on shortstop Bill Hamilton's ground ball-error.

In the eighth, White got on via a single, stole second, went to third on a sacrifice and dented home plate with his daring steal.

Both pitchers hurled strong games. Lawrence limited Gonzaga to five hits in posting his shut-out. Beck had a seven hitter in his own right.

White and second baseman Fred Thomas led the Vandal attack with two hits apiece. Lawrence so effectively scattered the five Bulldog hits that no hitter had more than one.

Gonzaga's biggest threat came on the sixth. The Bulldogs got runners on first and second with one out, but Lawrence bore down before any real damage was done, getting Rich Belk on a pop up.

Frosh Baseball Team Loses To WSU In Season Finale

The frosh baseball team ended the 1962 season on a rather dismal note yesterday when they fell 4-0, 10-1 to the Washington Couababes at Maclean field. The losses were the third and fourth in a row for the Babes, who finished 4-10 for the season. Gonzaga swept a double header from the frosh 5-3, 6-5 Saturday at Lewiston.

Don Sower lost the first game yesterday. According to coach Cliff Trout, the Babes had several scoring chances go down the drain when runners were left on base.

"We missed some good scoring opportunities," commented Trout. First sacker John Utt was the Vandal Babes' hitting star in this class. The frosh sticker went three-for-three.

The Couababes pounded out 12 hits in winning the nightcap. In addition, stingy hurling stifled the frosh offense, as the Babes were able to garner but three safe blows. Tommy Haig was the losing frosh pitcher.

"They hit us pretty hard in that second ball game," said Trout. Down at Lewiston Saturday, the frosh had little better luck. A five-run uprising sunk Trout's squad in the opener. With the score 3-0 Idaho going into the bottom of the sixth, LCN struck hard, Warrior Bob Blessinger walked, and an error and another walk loaded the bases. Two more Vandal Babe free passes forced in two runs, and Tom Schotzko's single brought home two more. The fifth run was also the result of frosh walks.

Seven frosh errors in the second game gave Lewis-Clark Normal the win. The winning Warrior run was the result of three consecutive Vandal Babe errors.

Idaho scored a single run in the first and four big ones in the third. The four tallies made the score 5-3 Babes, but the Warriors tied up the game in their half of the inning. A single, two walks and an Idaho error did the damage.

In the disastrous sixth, the Lewis-Clark Normal scored its winning run without benefit of hit or walk. Three wild throws on one play scored John Blessinger with the decider.

Far West Fray Ends Golf Play

By JIM FAUCHER
Arg Staff Writer

The University of Idaho Golf team heads into its last match this weekend in the Far West Classic. This year the classic is being hosted by Washington State and is being played at Clarkston, Wash.

Those teams participating in the classic will be Oregon, Oregon State, Washington, Seattle University, Gonzaga University, and Idaho. There is still some question if the University of Portland will attend the two day meet. Eighteen holes of golf will be played each day. Each team will have a six man team. The best four scores from each team will count. Also included in the 36 hole classic will be an award for the low medalist, or the player from each of the participating teams which comes in with the lowest score for the match.

Good Chance
Coach Dick Snyder thinks that Idaho should have a fairly good chance of winning the match, but that the strong tee teams of the University of Oregon and Seattle University will be strong contenders for the title.

Idaho will be starting the same six men who have been going to the post. Playing his last match in college competition will be Robb Smith, captain and graduating senior. Wally Lowe, the second man on the team, will also be playing his last collegiate game. Others starting will be Bill Goss, Terry Gustavel, John Bowen, and Tom Sampson.

Coach Snyder said that he felt that the fine development of the sophomores on the team was due directly to the fine spirit and competitive attitude of Smith and Lowe. He said, "I am real proud of the job done by the sophomores on the team, and the terrific development they have made."

Webfoots Take Far West; Idaho Vandals Big Surprise

The Oregon Webfoots, paced by a record-performance by hurdler Jerry Tarr, walked off with their ninth consecutive Far West Track and field championship.

Oregon won with 98½ points. Seaside Oregon State garnered 65½, Washington State 39½, surprising Idaho 33½ and Washington 32.

Idaho was one of the big surprises of the meet. The Vandals finished in front of Washington for the first time in the history of the meet, and came close to defeating their Cougar rivals as well.

The winning Webfoots got a tremendous effort from Tarr, who toured the 120 high hurdles in 13.3 seconds to break the college record of 13.5. Tarr later came back to win the 440 hurdles with a 52.3 time. Oregon's other double winner was sprinter Harry Jerome who copped the 100 and 220. Jerome's mark in the 100 was 9.5.

In addition, the Webfoots picked up seven other firsts.

Several Vandals had important roles in getting those 33½ points. Big Reg Carlson had a second in the discus and a third in the shot. Dick Douglas had a fourth in the three-mile and a fifth in the mile. Paul Henden, running in the steep-chase for the first time this year, copped second.

The Vandals also got good performances from Pete Luttrupp and Dick Borneman in the 440 hurdles, Bob Johnson in the open 440, Ed Jacoby in the broad jump, Joe Davis in the discus and the Vandal mile relay team. The relay team was second, as was Luttrupp in his hurdles event.

An expected appearance by miler Dyrol Burleson failed to materialize. Burleson flew back from Los Angeles, where he had competed in the Coliseum Relays, but did not enter the mile or the 880, which he had been entered in. Archie San Romani, another of Oregon's crack milers, won the four lap event.

D. Mooney Named Senior Standout

Dick Mooney, baseball and football letterman from Weiser, was named the outstanding senior athlete in the University of Idaho at Friday night's annual senior banquet.

The award, made by The Daily Idahoian, is presented to the senior who receives the most votes from the Idaho varsity coaches. Last year's winner was Dale James, basketball ace.

Mooney lettered in football two seasons and will earn his third baseball monogram this spring. He is the co-captain of the Vandal baseball team for the second season.

CRAM COURSE NO. 5: SHAKESPEARE

Continuing our series of pre-final exam cram courses, today we take up the works of William Shakespeare (or "The Bard of Avon" as he is jocularly called).

First let us examine the persistent theory that Shakespeare (or "The Pearl of the Antilles" as he is affectionately referred to) is not the real author of his plays. Advocates of this theory insist that the plays are so full of classical allusions and learned references that they couldn't possibly have been written by the son of an illiterate country butcher.

To which I reply, "Fugh!" Was not the great Spinoza's father a humble woodcutter? Was not the immortal Isaac Newton's father a simple second baseman? (The elder Newton, incidentally, is one of history's truly pathetic figures. He was, by all accounts, the greatest second baseman of his time, but baseball, alas, had not yet been invented.)

It used to break young Isaac's heart to see his father get up every morning, put on uniform, spikes, glove, and cap, and stand alertly behind second base, bent forward, eyes narrowed, waiting, waiting, waiting. That's all—waiting. Isaac loyally sat in the bleachers and yelled, "Good show, Dad!" and stuff like that, but every one else in town used to snigger and pelt the Newtons with overripe fruit—figs for the elder Newton, apples for the younger. Thus, as we all know, the famous occasion came about when Isaac Newton, struck in the head with an apple, leapt to his feet, shouted, "Europa!" and announced the third law of motion: "For every action there is an opposite and equal reaction!"

(How profoundly true these simple words are! Take, for example, Marlboro Cigarettes. Light one. That's the action. Now what is the reaction? Pleasure, delight, contentment, cheer, and comfort! And why such a happy reaction? Because you have started with a happy cigarette—a felicitous blend of jolly tobaccos, a good-natured filter, a rollicking flip-top box, a merry soft pack. As Newton often said, "You begin with better makin's, you end with better smokin's." Small wonder they called him "The Swedish Nightingale!"

But I digress. Back to Shakespeare (or "The Gem of the Ocean" as he was ribaldly appelted).

Shakespeare's most important play is, of course, Hamlet (or Macbeth, as it is sometimes called). This play tells in living color the story of Hamlet, Prince of Denmark, who one night sees a ghost upon the battlements. (Possibly it is a goat he sees: I have a first folio edition that is frankly not too legible.) Anyhow, Hamlet is so upset by seeing the ghost (or goat) that he stabs Polonius and Bare Bodkin. He is thereupon banished to a leather factory by the King, who cries, "Get thee to a tannery!" Thereupon Ophelia refuses her food until Laertes shouts, "Get thee to a beanery!" Ophelia is so miffed that she chases her little dog out of the room, crying, "Out, out damned Spot!" She is fined fifty shillings for swearing, but Fortia, in an eloquent plea, gets the sentence commuted to life imprisonment. Thereupon King Lear and Queen Mab proclaim a festival—complete with amateur theatricals, kissing games, and a pie-eating contest. Everyone has a perfectly splendid time till Banquo's ghost (or goat) shows up. This so unnerves Richard III that he drowns his cousin, Butt Malmsey. This leads to a lively discussion during which everyone is killed. The little dog Spot returns to utter the immortal certain lines:

Alack, the play forsooth was sad and sobby,
But be of cheer—there's Marlboros in the lobby!

1962 Max Schulman

As the slings and arrows of outrageous finals loom closer, perchance the makers of Marlboro are not untoward to offer this friendly suggestion: Get thee to a library!

The GOLDEN FLEECE

By Herb Hollinger

It has become a tradition at the end of the college year for Jason to name certain individuals to the "Order of the Golden Fleece." Even if it weren't traditional, Jason feels that some type of recognition should be given to these particular individuals.

The "Order," as it is called, is not really worth much since there is no award, trophy, or prize; but it is merely a sincere "thank you" from Jason to several deserving characters.

Making the "Order" doesn't require top academic standards, all campus activities, etc., although all the named people could be included in these categories. They are graduating seniors and have helped particularly in providing Jason with interesting and exciting years. Without these people, Jason is sure that the Arg and his college career would have had little purpose.

Sharon Lance — First semester editor, Sharon is probably one of the most proficient journalists Jason has ever met. Tops in every field, Jason wished that every person he works with in the future is as sharp as Sharon. If one person in this university is going to succeed, then Sharon has the best chance.

James Mullen — Jumping into the ASUI presidency with much against him, Jim proved to be one of the most effective presidents we have ever had. Not every person would be willing to give as much time and talent to a job as did Jim. It has been a real experience to see Jim in action this year even though I didn't always agree with him. I can't help but think that Jim will again pop up in a prominent politician's role.

Gordon Powers — Once in a while there is a guy from your hometown whom you know will make a name for himself. Gordon is just that guy and has never ceased to amaze me with his talents. Always around when something important is happening and usually having something to do with it, Gordon should rate high on everybody's list of "Who to know."

Gale Mix — Not a graduating senior nor a student, Gale has certain qualities that are too numerous to mention here that qualify him. Just his quick response when asked for advice, his perpetual smile, and his sense of newspaper values have provided the Arg with immeasurable help. His kind words make a person feel like he has accomplished something.

Sally Jo Nelson — What can a person say about this Oregonian who worked for the Arg for four years, Exec Board member, president of her house, enviable GPA, etc.? She has definitely been my moral support this year. The kids that have her for a teacher will be receiving the finest in education.

Dick Stiles — "Cuddles" is one of those rare persons who seem to grow on you. As vice president of ASUI, Dick represented well the minority in student government. It is funny how you get to expect a smile from a person, but from Dick that smile is never lost.

Larry Hossner — Probably one of the sharpest gentlemen on campus today. Quick-witted and as close to a born leader as there is, Larry is recognized as a leader not only in CUP but in all campus politics as well. If you have never met the guy you are missing the chance to extend your knowledge.

Reg Carolan — Take athletic talent that never seems to stop and add a pleasant personality and you have Reg. Carolan's activities didn't end with sports, as everyone well knows. Idaho will never have to worry if it has athletes such as Reg representing the University. He does it well, and with all his heart.

Jim Okeson — I left Jim until last because it takes time to concentrate on what you want to say about this guy. Undoubtedly, one of the finest persons I have ever met, Jim seems to have that knack of being there at the right time and always with a pleasant word. Definitely the Navy is one better with "Otis."

Prof. A. Howe To Retire After 40 Years Here

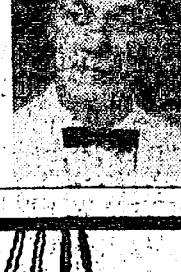

The most widely-respected man on campus, according to Dr. William Hunter, head of the Department of Humanities, will be retiring this year after 40 years of service to the University.

Arthur S. Howe, retiring associate professor of languages, said he has no particular plans for next year.

Howe received a B.A. in languages from William and Mary College in Massachusetts in 1911. He taught in New Hampshire and Massachusetts high schools until 1916, when he left for Puerto Rico.

Howe taught at Bayman High School in Puerto Rico for a year, and then joined the staff at the University of Puerto Rico where he taught languages until 1922, when he joined the staff at the University of Idaho. He received his M.A. from the University in 1925.

Dr. Boyd Martin, Dean of the College of Letters and Science, said Howe is "a wonderful teacher, with a fine pronunciation of Spanish, and a wonderful person with whom to work."

Gem Thanks

Dear Jason: Generally the co-editors of the Gem do not venture into public communications until the Gem comes out in the fall and they are safely off campus, but since this is the last edition of the Argonaut we feel that certain people on campus deserve recognition not only from us but from the campus as a whole for helping to put out the 1961 Gem of the Mountains.

Roy Bell, Arden Literal, and Glen Sprouse of the Photo Center top our list for dependability and cooperation. Roses go to Dana Andrews and Tom Eisenbarth, associate editors and section heads; Ann Yoshida, Julie Strickling, Virginia Cope, Evan Cruthers, Julia Gibb and Carolyn Vest. These heads and their staff merit a thank you for the time consuming work they have done and the lost Saturdays necessary to produce what we hope is a top yearbook for the Idaho students.

We would also like to thank the Argonaut, especially Sharon and Herb, for pictures, moral support and commend them for putting out a fine collegiate newspaper.

Voice Of Dissent?

Dear Jason: Again the campus voice of dissent, risking all for a noble cause, wields his mighty pointed wit against his ignoble, bigoted detractors and, calling the Hon. Senator close-minded, skillfully lays another chimera to restive rest. In doing so, our dissenter evinces a truly enviable scope of mind and a truly singular open-mindedness.

To superficial readers "McCarthyite" mentality might seem to be merely a strongly sensational epithet; others of lesser wit might take the brilliant shibboleth to be a slur. From those sycophants who impose a vicious form of martyrdom on our courageous dissenter (much abused), one can well anticipate a more radical assessment; they might go far as to intimate that the conservative offspring ungratefully deny their heritage and characteristically malign their progeny.

Lost Articles Need Owners

Many people believe in the old adage, "Finders keepers, losers weepers," but this not the policy of the Registrar's office, according to D. D. DuSault, registrar. According to DuSault, all unclaimed items are given to the Goodwill Industries at the end of the semester. Textbooks are given to the Student Bookstore to be sold. The money from these books is given to the Student Loan Fund.

Ag. Econ. Chooses B. Green As Pres.

Bruce Green was elected president of the Agriculture Econ misc Club last week. Other new officers are: Mike Conley, vice president; Jeffrey Lynn, secretary; Dennis Conley, treasurer; Gregg Hollinger, reporter; and agriculture council representative, Dennis Conley. Prof. John H. Weber will act as faculty advisor for the group.

NO MORE ARGS

This is the last Arg. There are no more damn Args until next fall. No more Args will come out until then. Obey.

One can even force the analogy they might draw; the posthumous purge of Stalin and Co. Or yet another enemy of Truth and Freedom (in that order) may suggest that a closed mind is preferable to blatant mindlessness.

Such ludicrous contentions hardly warrant comment, unless it be an ironic remark from one well versed in the dual arts of irony and the Agriculture economics course, we can always trust our indefatigable dissenter to rise courageously to the occasion with an epistle, ad hominem, displaying the usual febrile prowess and subtle penetration of his aforementioned versatile wit.

FINAL EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Second Semester 1961-62

(Two and one-half hour examinations—three examination periods each day)

Regular class rooms will be used for the examinations unless instructors make special arrangements through the Registrar's Office. Examinations in courses comprised of lecture and laboratory periods may in most instances be scheduled according to the sequence of either. Announcement of time and room should be made by the instructor for all examinations. Rooms should be reserved in the Registrar's Office for "arranged" examinations in order to avoid conflicts. Instructors will announce to their classes rooms to be used for all sectioned classes having common final examinations.

EXAMINATION DAY AND HOUR FOR CLASSES MEETING:

LESSON 8 - Becoming a specialist

Experienced girl watchers, for whom routine watching has lost some of its excitement, often become specialists. (This is definitely not recommended for beginners. However, it may be practiced as a change-of-pace by more advanced students.) They may spend an entire field trip concentrating on one part of a girl. This tends to step up activity, since it does not require that the whole girl be beautiful. For example, if you decide to specialize in knees, you watch only beautiful knees. (The doorman above appears to be an ankle specialist.) Whatever your watching specialty, make sure your smoking specialty is Pall Mall's natural mildness—it's so good to your taste.
