Two, Maybe Three, Class Hopefuls Out Of Race Because Of Grades

The effects of the new activity eligibility rule passed by last year's ASUI Executive Board affected last year's class officers and has again come into play this election.

Campus Union Party has had to replace two of its nominees, and United Party will not have a name on the ballot for sophomore class secretary.

Bruce Trowbridge, Delta Sig, candidate for junior class vice president, and Sherri Bruce, McConnell, candidate for sophomore class treasurer, both CUP candidates, were declared by the Registrar's Office to be ineligible. Both missed the required 2.2 grade point average by hundredths of a point.

CUP has gone ahead and replaced them with their runners-up in the convention. Randy Benson, Kappa Sigma, and Susan Iverson, Ethel Steel House, will replace Trowbridge and Miss Bruce, respectively.

United's candidate for sophomore class secretary, Mary Lou Levi, Tri-Delta, was also declared a hundredth of a grade point short. The party is contesting the decision with the Academic Council, which meets tomorrow at 4 p.m.

Despite whatever decision the Council makes, her name will not appear on the ballot, since they were printed yesterday. If she is declared eligible she will only be able to run for the office on a write-in basis.

United Party officials declined to comment on what the party would do if Miss Levi were declared ineligible, saying they would know by Friday what their course of action would be.

Due to the lateness of the names being turned in for the ballots there will not be any absentee voting, ASUI General Manager Gale Mix said yesterday.

Elections will be Nov. 6, in two weeks. Last year, because of the eligibility rule, all the freshmen class officers were relieved of duties after the first semester. A committee was appointed by the Executive Board to handle their duties.

These procedures place the student's name on the voter registration rolls in his home county and assure him of receiving an absentee ballot. Once the student acquires the ballot it must be notarized and returned by regular mail. The completed ballot must be in the hands of the county recorder by Nov. 6. Typists at the SUB will fill out envelopes and postage will be furnished, French said.

U.N. Week To Feature Undergrads

Observance of United Nations Week at the University will bring together on the platform for the first time three new students from different countries in Africa.

The students will speak and answer questions on experiences in their own countries and impressions they have gained in the United States at a forum open to the public at 4:10 p.m. today in Conference Room A of the Student Union Building.

The students are Faustinus Kayiwa of Kampala, Uganda; William Kawamba, Majaliwa, Northern Rhodesia, and Ignatius Eze, Adazi-Awka, Nigeria. Professor William Tenney of humanities will be chairman of the forum.

This forum will be preceded at 3:10 p.m. by another, also open to the public. Subjects to be discussed will be "The Fate of Berlin" and "The Problem of Cuba." Participants include Professors William Lewis, political science; E. Malcolm Hause, history; John Coates, languages (world-traveled as a member of the British Foreign Service); and Robert Hosack, head of social science, who will serve as moderator.

The African students, all at the University on scholarship programs, have come here to receive training so that they can help in the development of their respective countries. Kayiwa, who is majoring in physics, has taught in a secondary school in Uganda, but stated that he wants to study in America "where the sciences are so advanced. I will teach school again when I return, and also the farmers in the villages."

Eze is dedicated to helping raise the economy of Nigeria through better use of its forests. He studied basic forestry at the School of Forestry in Ibadan, and now is enrolled in the College of Forestry.

Kawamba is majoring in geography. He said that he came to the University of Idaho "because I want to gain the very good qualities I have seen in the few American teachers who have taught me in Africa." He, too, plans to teach in his home country.

Folz To Go To Ireland

To aid in establishing a research program in agricultural marketing in Ireland, Dr. William E. Folz, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at the University, has been granted a nine months' leave of absence. Dr. Folz will be on leave from Feb. 1, 1963, to Oct. 31. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Folz, law librarian at the University, who was granted a similar leave.

In Ireland, Folz will serve as a research specialist and consultant at the Agricultural Institute, which is located in Dublin and is part of the National University of Ireland. His services were sought by the government of Ireland through its scholarship board. Arrangements were made with the cooperation of the U.S. State department.

A member of the Idaho faculty since 1935, Folz has become a widely known authority in his field. During World War II, he was granted leave from the University when he was called to Washington, D.C., to serve with the Office of Price Administration.

2 Queen Hopefuls Maybe Ineligible

MINUS TWO — All but two of the Idaho coeds pictured above will be definitely in the running for the title of 1962 Homecoming Queen, to be crowned Nov. 10. Kathy Bryson, French, and Darlene Edmiston, Forney, have been unofficially disqualified by an academic requirement; their eligibility is to be decided upon for sure this morning. In the front row are (left to right) Alyce Joy Taylor, McConnell; Jo Milholland, Hays; Nancy Yount, Gamma Phi, and Pat Mathoney, Alpha Phi; second row: Miss Bryson; Lynda Knox, Alpha Chi, and Jeanne Marshall, DG; third row: Miss Edmiston; Sherry McGuire, Theta, and Joan Miller, Alpha Gam; top row: Millie Staples, Ethel Steel; Donna Kay Hamlet, Tri-Delta; Emily Bamesberger, Kappa, and Nadine Naslund, Pi Phi.

The eligibility of two Homecoming queen candidates who were unofficially found below the 2.2 grade point average requirement will be decided upon this morning by F. Lee O'Neill, University Registrar, Dean Charles O. Decker of student affairs, said yesterday.

The two are Kathy Bryson, French House candidate, and Darlene Edmiston, candidate from Forney Hall. If the two are found ineligible, they will be replaced by other candidates from their respective houses, Janet Orr, Homecoming queen committee chairman, said yesterday. Decker, who stressed that the finding was still unofficial until confirmed by the registrar, said that he had been given the list of 14 candidates shortly after noon yesterday and gave it to Marjorie M. Neely, dean of women, who checked the girls' eligibility. No precautions were taken in advance of choosing the girls by the houses, Decker said. The queen will be chosen by another ballot in men's living groups the Wednesday before Homecoming and will be crowned by Larry Mills, Boise, president of the Idaho Alumni Association.

Despite Tardiness, Names On Ballot

By JIM HERNDON Argonaut Associate Editor A certified list of eligible United and Campus Union Party candidates reached the ASUI president late and the names went on the Nov. 6 campus class election ballot.

Though not before ASUI President Ron Houghtalin was forced to make a decision interpreting the year-old ASUI constitution.

Houghtalin decided that the ballot would contain the party candidates' names even though a Registrar-approved list of the candidates' grade eligibility was not given to him until after Oct. 16, the deadline date under the ASUI constitution.

"It took a long time and much serious thought to make the decision," Houghtalin said. "But the ballots had to be printed and I didn't feel I had the power to call off the election."

The ballot will contain a blank spot on the United Party slate. Mary Lou Levi, candidate for sophomore class secretary, was declared scholastically ineligible. She plans to petition the Academic Council but the decision will not be known until later this week and too late to have her name placed on the ballot, Houghtalin said.

Another potential candidate had hoped his name would appear on the ballot. Jan Evans had planned to run for senior class president. But now he's not sure.

"It's harder to run on as a write-in," he said.

Evans, who advocates a class commissioner with the duties of president, vice president, secretary and treasurer, took his petition to ASUI General Manager Gale Mix yesterday. But Evans did not have his grades affirmed by the Registrar.

Absentee Ballots "We have to get the ballot to the printer or we can't have an election," Mix said. "We won't receive the ballots in time for absentee voting as it is."

Absentee Vote Will Be Urged By GOP Club

Sound trucks will call all student voters to the Student Union Building Wednesday and Thursday for absentee registration. The event, sponsored by the Young Republicans, will take place from 3 to 5 p.m., according to Skip French.

Students may register to vote by mail and apply for an absentee ballot from their home county by filling out one of the three forms offered: two for absentee registration, one for those who have already registered but have not sent for their ballots.

These procedures place the student's name on the voter registration rolls in his home county and assure him of receiving an absentee ballot.

Once the student acquires the ballot it must be notarized and returned by regular mail. The completed ballot must be in the hands of the county recorder by Nov. 6. Typists at the SUB will fill out envelopes and postage will be furnished, French said.

Marine Corps Birthday Ball Is Planned For November 9

The Marine Corps Birthday Ball will be held at the Elk's Temple Nov. 9.

The Marines are now looking for Marines, ex-Marines and future Marines. Contact Maj. R. E. Campbell or Gunnery Sgt. B. B. Chapman of the Naval ROTC staff for more information.

Rotc Seniors Awarded DMS

Three Army ROTC senior cadets have been designated as Distinguished Military Students by Col. G. W. James, professor of military science and Dr. D. R. Theophilus, University president.

The cadets are Cadet Col. Clarence E. Chapman, Cadet Lt. Col. Donald L. Neil and Cadet Maj. Stanley R. Falls. The awards were made on the basis of academic excellence, leadership and a high degree of military proficiency.

THE GOLDEN FLEECE

by Jason

For want of a little timely checking up, five Idaho students who have been thrust into the campus limelight probably will be suddenly and embarrassingly jerked back out of it.

Two of them, both Campus Union Party candidates for class offices in the election Nov. 6, already have been; they were found to have below the 2.2 grade point required for eligibility and have been replaced by other candidates. A United Party candidate's eligibility is also doubtful for the same reason, but she is petitioning Academic Council.

The same problem has befallen two candidates for Homecoming Queen. After being nominated by their living groups, an unofficial check of their grades by Mrs. Marjorie Neely, Dean of Women, found their grades to also be below 2.2. Their fate will be decided for sure this morning by the University Registrar's Office.

The queen candidates were chosen by their living groups, and their names were naturally publicized. The office seekers won nomination by party convention or primary election, organized campaigns and painted and tacked up posters; their names, too, were naturally publicized. And NOW, after all that, they're suddenly dumped; they're embarrassed by having the campus learn that they can't run because their grades are too low.

To say that this embarrassment, this wasted time, this needless effort could have been avoided is a pretty simple conclusion. Why wasn't it avoided? Why didn't the living groups or the Homecoming Committee check with the Registrar BEFORE the girls officially became candidates? Why didn't the political parties make SURE the office seekers were eligible before they were picked for the ballot?

Now new candidates will have to replace the old ones. The new Homecoming queen won't be hurt much because the contest has barely begun and there isn't much campaigning involved. But the two, and probably three, class office hopefuls who are sent into the campaign as substitutes will have to fight hard to overcome their disadvantage of a late start. And all the new candidates, whether seeking a queen title or a class office, might have to suffer the penalty of being thought of as second-stringers—people who wouldn't be running if the first choices had made it.

The unnecessary damage is done now, though. It's done, but it didn't have to be.

'Faultless Logic?'

Dear Jason,

Argonaut readers were treated recently to a wonderful example of the depth of thinking which we hope is not characteristic of the average University student. Reference, of course, is made to the "Commie Twist" letter to the editor from George L. Benoit in the Oct. 12 issue of the Argonaut.

The intense preoccupation with vital world problems is indicated in this brilliant example of nonsense. With a keen eye the author has pinpointed a major psychological warfare weapon which threatens to undermine our whole Western way of life, if not disgruntle a number of lovers of classical music: that's the matter of popular music ruining our moral fiber.

The Arg reader is also treated to some faultless logic in this article. Yes sir. The author of the letter must assume that a decadent Yankee item, popular music, is received by the Communists, criticized by Pravda, and somehow fed back to us in its original form to further our moral destruction.

The Arg reader should be heartened to learn that there is at Idaho an authority eminently qualified to judge the merit of modern

Four Year LCN Would Hurt U of I

Criticism of a proposal to make Lewis and Clark Normal School a four-year college came from Richard Fahrwald, Republican candidate for the state legislature last Saturday.

He was replying to his Democratic opponents George Brocke and Lester Clemm who had publicly endorsed the idea.

Fahrwald said "Sufficient appropriations for Idaho's higher educational institutions are hard enough to come by without dividing the pie any more."

"The University of Idaho has been forced to turn away students this fall because of lack of housing, classrooms and instructors. Would this situation improve if part of the biennial appropriation for the University found their way to the Lewiston school?" he asked.

Primitive Man Lived In Idaho 10,000 Years Ago, Is Report

Small, migrant bands of primitive men lived and hunted in southern Idaho as early as 10,000 years ago.

This fact was established in a report released by the Idaho Bureau of Mines and Geology based on archaeological and geological research in the Browns Bench area, southwest of Twin Falls near the Idaho-Nevada border. Single copies of the report, titled "Primitive Man on Browns Bench — His Environment and His Record" may be obtained from the bureau at the university in Moscow.

Dr. Alfred L. Bowers of the University and C. N. Savage of the Idaho Bureau of Mines wrote the report illustrated by photos and drawings of some of the 22,159 stone and pottery specimens recovered from the principal digging site.

Recovery of abundant stone artifacts of many types and ages and in various stages of completion establishes the region as an important artifact-working area of primitive man. With his rude economy, ancient man found in this locality an ample supply of raw materials suitable for shaping into useful implements.

Site A Classic

"The site, at the headwaters of Cedar Creek, is a classic, for it represents perhaps one of the first places in the state where man began extensive exploitation of Idaho's non-metallic mineral resources. It has also yielded an abundance of some of the oldest artifacts yet discovered in Idaho," the report states.

Initial archaeological surveys and tests of sites in this area were made during the summers of 1957 and 1958. In order to assess the full effect of geologic history and local rock materials upon the cultural development of man in this region, the Bureau of Mines conducted an investigation in 1959. Also during the summer of that year, a field party from the University, jointly financed by the National Science Foundation and the University, carried on an intensive study of the area, exposing 78 to 90 inches of culture-bearing deposits.

popular music. Can the reader imagine any other place where he could be sardonically questioned for turning on some light music in the afternoon? No indeed. We are well endowed with cultural guidance. Throw away that copy of Music Quarterly and read the Arg.

It is fondly wished that American music taste could be tuned solely to the classics, as the author of the letter seems to think is the pattern in Russia. In this manner, the American public would be relieved of the terrible choices between classical, semi-classical, traditional, jazz and popular music. Wouldn't it be great fun to lie around and listen to classics all day? We might even turn the Star-Spangled Banner into an aria.

Boosters Boosted

Dear Jason,

After attending last week's Vandal Booster meeting, we noticed a few things that we felt deserve some attention:

1. The absence of any member of the Argonaut sports staff.

2. No members of the faculty were present.

These booster meetings also give the students a chance to see the films of the previous week's Vandal game. There is no charge for the film, which starts about 8 p.m. each Tuesday in the Moscow Hotel. Students are also welcome at the dinner at 7 p.m. President Bob Paine has offered a free dinner to the student who brings the most students to a booster meeting.

We also feel that the Argonaut could give more publicity to the boosters since, in fact, the students should have the most interest in the Vandal teams.

Grain Men Schedule

Grain elevator operators and grain handlers from throughout Oregon, Washington and Idaho will converge on campus Oct. 25 for the ninth annual Grain Sanitation Short Course.

The two day open meeting will be held in the Student Union Building.

Insects, what they look like, where they come from, the conditions they like and the current research about them will be discussed in detail by specialists from around the Northwest.

State inspector representatives from each state will be present to explain their offices' duties. Leland Fife, director, division of plant industry, Idaho Department of Agriculture, will discuss state inspectors' duties as seen by the state office.

The conditions in elevators responsible for FDA closure will be explained by Merrill D. Sather, executive secretary, Pacific Northwest Grain Dealers' Association.

Aeration Systems

A panel of grain elevator managers from each state will discuss aeration systems in relation to cooling grain and moving fumigation gas in the grain mass. Another manager will report on vacuum systems and sanitation.

University agricultural engineers will join the Moscow Fire Department chief to discuss grain elevator fire hazards in relation to grain sanitation.

Still another session during the two-day short course will deal with rodents, their habits and control.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT — Ballots

and Bill Bowes, ASUI vice president.

Section 2, Clause 1 of Article V, of the ASUI constitution explaining nominations and election procedures states:

"A. The names, positions, and eligibility of all candidates shall be submitted to the ASUI president no later than three weeks prior to the election date."

Since constitution was available only in the proposed revised form which was printed last spring, the political party heads asked Bowes what the rules were.

Bowes interpreted the constitution to mean "That a list of the candidates had to be into the ASUI president and the Registrar by the three-week deadline."

Both party presidents said they "didn't check the Constitution" even though the list was their responsibility.

Was Two Weeks

A check of previous years' Argonauts show that a certified nomination list was due in the ASUI president's office two weeks prior to elections. Bowes decision conformed with the old ASUI Constitution. The names were given to the Registrar last week and received yesterday.

But Mix said the law was changed in the new Constitution to allow for printing time.

Houghtalin had to decide whether to follow the letter of the constitution's wording or allow a blank ballot to be printed.

More Problems

He decided that "a blank ballot would create more problems than it would fix."

"The new law will be followed to the letter in the future," he said. "But I believe it is in the student body's best interest to allow the names to be placed on the ballot."

Houghtalin pointed out he had considered the extra cost to the ASUI if another election was called and the work involved in the Election Board if a write-in election was held.

Mix and Houghtalin added that the United and CUP slates were okayed by the Registrar in time to be printed. But Evans' candidacy had to be confirmed by the Registrar.

"Until the Registrar approves Evans' grades, we can't touch him," Mix said.

Stats Show Future Growth And Building Needs For U.

Preliminary findings of the Stanford Research Institute, authorized last year by the Board of Regents to do a study of higher education in Idaho, indicate that more and more Idaho students may be attending Idaho institutions.

A very large increase in enrollment is expected in 1964 and this may lead to policies less favorable to out-of-state students, according to Dr. Phil Sorenson, a member of the research institute.

He went on to predict that the percentage of students leaving Idaho may drop from about 30 per cent to around 17 per cent by 1975. Their findings indicate that 14,000 students will graduate from Idaho high schools in 1975, which will mean that almost 7,000 will be seeking admission to Idaho colleges and universities.

Idaho State College has almost doubled its enrollment in the past 11 years. The University has increased by 44 per cent in the same period.

Of all Idaho students who go to college 37 per cent last year went to the University and 25 per cent went to ISC. The percentage of Idaho students going to Moscow has dropped from 48 per cent in 1955 Sorenson reported.

On the basis of his figures the predicted resident college enrollment in 1964 will be 8,830 students.

These figures will be used by the Board in deciding what extent the building programs on the various institutions will have to be to meet the demand.

Coeds Will Speak To 4-H Members

Janet Sprenger and Sue Wiley will present a talk to the 4-H Club members tonight at 6:30 p.m. in Student Union Building conference room A.

The coeds will discuss their trip to the 4-H Club conference last April.

Miss Sprenger and Miss Wiley spent a week in Washington, D.C. Their trip was oriented toward the improvement of 4-H programs.

...for a life of pride and purpose

Among the young people being graduated from college in these times, there are some who think and feel—perhaps a little more deeply than the others—about the world we live in, the future we face. They ask, "How can I make my career really meaningful? More than just personally rewarding?"

And many of today's most successful young people are finding a fulfilling answer to these questions as officers on the Aerospace Team... the United States Air Force. They can tell you that no career could better combine the opportunity for achievement—and the deep inner satisfaction of knowing that they are helping preserve the very future of America.

How can you become an Air Force Officer?

If you are a college senior and not currently enrolled in ROTC, Air Force Officer Training School provides an opportunity to qualify for a wide variety of career fields. The graduate of this three-month course receives a commission as a second lieutenant. As the Air Force continues its technological advance, officers with college training will move into positions of increasing importance.

For full information—including the opportunity to earn graduate degrees at Air Force expense—see the Air Force Selection Team when it visits your college, visit your local Air Force Recruiting Office, or write: Air Force Officer Career Information, Dept. SC210, Box 805, New York 1, New York.

Music Professors Receive Idaho Concert Responsively

The Music Building recital hall accommodated a full crowd—about 350 persons—Friday night at the concert for the Musicological Society, according to Agnes Crawford Schuldt, program chairman.

Mrs. Schuldt described concertgoers as "highly enthusiastic" and responsive.

The Northwestern Musicological Society meeting Friday and Saturday was attended by faculty members from nine schools, according to Mrs. Schuldt.

Concert In Three Parts
The concert was divided into three parts. The first part featured an antiphonal instrumental choir, the second combined the Vandaleers and instruments in church-type music, while the third featured chamber music played by an instrumental ensemble.

An antiphonal choir is one in which two separate choirs answer back and forth — when combined, they give a stereophonic effect.

According to Mrs. Schuldt, this 16th century music is among the first to employ stereo effects.

The instrumental choirs each consisted of eight faculty members and students. They performed Sonata pian e forte.

Vandaleers Perform Motet
The 60-member Vandaleer choir was divided into three sections. They performed a group of three motets by Giovanni Gabrielle. Two of the motets utilized two sections of the Vandaleers and was very advanced in this type of music. Walton sang several songs, accompanying himself on the harpsichord.

The harpsichord is the closest we can approximate the lute, Mrs. Schuldt said.

The Northwestern Musicological Society meeting on campus last weekend was attended by nine schools, including the University of Washington, University of Montana, Washington State University, Central Washington State College, Eastern Washington State College, Whitworth College, Northwest Nazarene College and Portland State College.

Students were welcome at the conference, but invitations to out-of-staters were sent to faculty members only, according to Mrs. Schuldt.

The Vandaleers attempted to approximate the effect Gabrielle got in St. Marks Church in Venice, Italy, in the 16th century.

Chamber Music By Bach
The final number by the ensemble group was chamber music by Bach. Ensemble members included Marian Frykman, associate professor of music, harpsichord; Eleanor Mader, Pullman, violin; Warren Bellis, assistant professor of music, flute; and Phyllis Everest, Pullman, cello.

Glen R. Lockery, professor of music, conducted the Vandaleers. The other groups did not have conductors, according to Mrs. Schuldt.

30 Attend Meetings
Friday afternoon and Saturday meetings were attended by about 30 faculty members from the Northwest; Mrs. Schuldt said.

Henry Eickhoff, Eastern Washington College of Education, read a paper on the forms used by Bach in his concertos and toccatas.

He tried to show how Bach combined the two and analyzed one long work of Bach's. He illustrated his talk on the organ, faculty member D. E. Hill, assisted by soloist Marvin Bloomquist, discussed the changing taste in American church hymns in the 19th century.

Hill said that during the 19th century, hymns were simplified and popularized to make them easy to learn. The camp-meeting type of hymn was often brought into the more formal church service to the detriment of taste, according to Mrs. Schuldt.

Hymns of 19th Century
Prior to the 19th century, hymns had more strength and character; they were more lyrical and complex, he said.

Nan Carpenter combines her doctorate in musicology from Yale and her English teaching profession by writing music books, said Mrs. Schuldt.

Professor of English at Montana State College, Nan Carpenter discussed "Music in the Medieval Drama." She described medieval music in drama as that of a single vocal line — just melody, without harmony.

Musical parts of plays were supported with instruments, but none of the instrumental parts were written down.

Walton Discussed Late Songs
Charles Walton discussed late songs of Queen Elizabeth's time. He said that England was then the European leader in music, and was very advanced in this type of music. Walton sang several songs, accompanying himself on the harpsichord.

Donne Schedler, Theta, announced her pinning to Bill McDonald, Beta, at a recent fireside. The seniors sang "Beta Sweetheart" and chocolates were served.

COUGHLIN - BROWN

The pinning of Karen Coughlin, Alpha Chi, to Ellery Brown, Sigma Nu, was revealed as Cay Powell blew out a passed candle recently.

GROVES - SOKVITNE

Judy Groves, Tri Delta, played corpse to surprise her sisters with her pinning to Paul Sokvitne, Delt, at the big-and-little-sister fireside Monday evening.

ELLIOTT - RICE

Pall Mall Presents - GIRL WATCHER'S GUIDE

HORN-RIMMED BOOKSTACKER

CAMPUS TYPE III

The Bookstacker serves the cause of classical literature in various ways. Perhaps the least of these is in keeping the rows of books properly aligned and the jackets free of dust.

Her most important contribution is in improving the environment for study, enhancing the halls of learning with her own classical form. Many a college man has discovered a previously unmet craving for knowledge simply because he received his copy of Homer from the hand of a deep-breathing redhead who sighed, "I think Homer is the most!" Yes, it pays to take a good look at the classics now and then.

Among cigarettes, Pall Mall is a classic—famous length, fine tobacco... no flat "filtered-out" flavor, no dry "smoked-out" taste. Try Pall Mall and see!

Pall Mall's natural mildness is so good to your taste!

So smooth, so satisfying, so downright smokeable!

Larry McBride's SportShop

With mid-season here, a football progress report might be in order.

In Dee Andros' first public appearance last spring, the optimistic Idaho coach said, "We could win four games next year." With five down and four to go, Andros and his team are slightly behind schedule.

Idaho is currently sporting a 1-3-1 record. The Vandals have squeaked by Idaho State, tied San Jose State, lost to Montana State University and Montana State College by two and three touchdowns, and have been blasted by Utah State.

It was during the first half of the schedule that the Vandals were supposed to have the best chances for wins. Most of the pre-season forecasts that this writer saw had the Vandals besting Idaho State, Montana, Montana State and San Jose State. The record shows Idaho with a 1-2-1 mark for their predicted "winning Saturdays."

We feel that two factors are probably behind the upsetting of the pre-season plans. First, Idaho's opponents were much stronger than everyone expected. Montana was regarded lightly. The Grizzlies had lost their first three games when the Vandals hit town. Montana had an explosive offense lying dormant, and no one was giving it much attention. Unfortunately for the Vandals, however, it came to life the weekend they were in Missoula.

With Chon Gallegos and his pass-catchers gone, San Jose was not expected to have much. The Spartans seemed to be proving the experts correct as they lost their first four games.

However, San Jose played a real good second half against Oregon the week before Idaho's game, and the men were possibly overlooked. Also, the Spartans had come up with a transfer quarterback who was capable of throwing for a .667 average. He also could throw in a driving rainstorm, and Idaho had to score a last-gasp touchdown and stem a final-minute San Jose drive to escape with a 12-12 tie.

Montana State is probably the most amazing of all. So small a school that they weren't even mentioned in some pre-season magazines, the Bobcats had been using good defense and powerful offense to gain a 4-1 record when Idaho showed up in Bozeman, Montana, Saturday. We all know what happened there.

Second, we feel that the Vandals have not "jelled" as yet. They have had to learn and adjust to a new system, and this takes time. Also, the Idaho team is inexperienced. The four seniors, 19 juniors and 26 sophomores who comprise the Vandal varsity have had to learn by their mistakes. Unfortunately, those mistakes have been very costly.

The rough part of the schedule, the part that the "experts" say will be murderous, looms ahead. Idaho will play in order, Utah, Arizona, Oregon State, and Washington State.

The forecasters had the Vandals losing these four games. Their predictions for the first half of the year were far from correct. Let's hope they continue being wrong.

Even though the football team is having its troubles, the Idaho cross-country team is off to a flying start. As of now, the Vandals have won their first two meets of the season in a somewhat convincing fashion.

"Washington State will be one of our biggest threats," Idaho coach Doug Basham warned before the season started. The Vandals have defeated the Cougars on both occasions.

Paul Henden has been amazing for the Vandals. Last Thursday, Henden finished a good 40 seconds ahead of the field and easily won the first meet as well. Basham thinks the British harrier is far ahead of his 1961 pace.

Oddly enough, Idaho has been winning despite sub-par performances from Dick Douglas. Douglas has been hampered by an injured ankle and has not been able to really cut lose.

We just can't see this continuing. Douglas' ankle will heal and the Idaho harrier will be dueling with Henden, just as he did last year.

Probably the biggest surprise in the young season has been the fine showings of junior runner Nick Wetter. No one heard much about Wetter his first two years here, but he has been a real point-getter so far.

If Wetter and the rest of his teammates continue their good efforts, if Douglas shakes his injuries and if Henden keeps running well, the cross-country men could have the kind of season Basham optimistically spoke of back in September.

Gagnon Tops Passing Stats

Gary Gagnon, the little pass master from Port Angeles, Wash., moved further in front in the total offense department for the Idaho Vandals as he pushed his mark to 296 yards, 249 of it by passing.

Fullback Galen Rogers continued to lead the rushers with a total of 193 yards in 54 carries for a 3.5 average. Sophomore Rich Naccarato and senior Ron Kulm remained in the second and third spots. Naccarato, former John Rogers of Spokane guard, has a total of 139 yards and a 3.5 average. Kulm the fourth man in the backfield (along with Gagnon, Rogers and Naccarato) is the top rusher with a 5.9 average on 22 carries and 131 yards. Kulm also leads in kickoff and punt returns.

Rookie Vern Leyde held his pass catching lead with 7 grabs for 177 yards and two touchdowns.

Mickey Rice, carrying the ball for the first time this season, rolled up 16 yards in three cracks and scored a touchdown. He also punted for 43 yards-per-try, to increase his average to 35.6.

Montana State Defeats Idaho, 33-15

MSC Punt Returns Hurt, Idaho Snowed Statistically

Idaho's Vandals, stunned by the passing of Ken Christson and Bill Mulcahy and dazed by several Bobcat punt returns, fell to the Montana State College 33-15 Saturday.

A thrilled Homecoming crowd of 7,400 watched their home town favorites score two quick touchdowns and then sat back and watched the Vandals fail to get back in the ball game. The contest was played at Bozeman, Montana.

Betas, Sig Nus Win Crowns

The Sigma Nus and the Betas won the titles in leagues three and four last Friday, and will meet for the Greek championship tonight on MacLean Field.

The Betas easily downed Sigma Chi 15-0, while the Fijis played the role of a spoiler defeating the Kappa Sigs 7-6. The Kappa Sigs had been tied with the Betas before Friday's action.

The Phi Deltis forced a playoff for second place by beating the Tekes 13-0. The playoff was to be held last night. The Tekes were pushed into a tie for 7th with the Deltis, who lost 0-8 to LDS, providing for more playoff action.

Record Perfect

Sigma Nu plastered Delta Chi 25-0 to finish regular play with a perfect 7-0 record. The SAEs kept their hold on second place by blanking the Phi Taus 18-0. In a game that decided third place ATO scored a 24-12 victory over the Lambda Chis. Theta Chi beat Delta Sigma Phi by a forfeit.

The SAEs now await the winner of the Phi Delt-Kappa Sig game. Playoff games cannot be scheduled until the preceding games are completed. The teams involved will be notified by the intramural department. The campus intramural championship game is slated for Thursday evening on MacLean Field.

Lindley Undeclared

Lindley Hall moved one step closer to an undeclared season with a forfeit win over Shoup Hall. Gault Hall continued to hold on with a 13-0 win over Willis Sweet last Thursday. Going into yesterday's action there were ties for third and fifth places in League One. Upham Hall moved out of the cellar with an 8-0 win over the Campus Club. Chrisman defeated TMA's hopes of a second place finish by a first down.

In League Two TMA 2 continued its narrow margin over Lindley 2 by means of a forfeit win over Chrisman 2. Willis Sweet moved into third place with a penetration victory over Gault Hall 2.

Some games are definitely scheduled for tonight. They include: field 1, Sigma Nu vs. Beta Theta Pi; field 2, Independent Championship; field 3, Sigma Chi vs. Lambda Chi Alpha; field 4, Phi Kappa Tau vs. Phi Gamma Delta; field 5, Delta Chi vs. LDS.

Alternating two seemingly equal quarterbacks, Montana State passed for three touchdowns. With five minutes gone in the game, Mulcahy hit end Gordie Schabs for six points. Christson hit for two more as the Bobcats completed 14 of 21 aerials.

The Vandals, who had pretty well contained punt returns in previous contests, failed to do so at Bozeman and it was disastrous. An 85 yards punt return by Mulcahy broke Idaho's back, and two others put coach Dee Andros' team in bad positions.

Montana St. pushed to an early 14-0 lead and the Vandals were never able to catch up, although they did manage to narrow the score to 14-7 at one point.

Montana, by winning, pushed its season record to 5-1. The Vandals now stand 1-3-1.

With the score 14-0 Montana State in the first period, Idaho struck for its first score. A bad center on a punting situation gave the Vandals their opportunity. Kicker Mulcahy was swarmed under on the 25 and Idaho scored five plays later. Gary Mires, back in action after an injury, carried it over from the three. John Siath's extra point effort was good.

MSC Scores Again However, this was as close as the Vandals could get as the Bobcats scored once again to take a 20-7 lead into the dressing room at halftime. A 25 yard pass from Christison to halfback Terry Mero did the job.

Neither ball club was able to score during the third quarter.

Montana scored once again in the opening minutes of the fourth quarter to go out in front 27-7. Christison passed six yards to halfback Gary Alley for the TD. Fred Turner's conversion was good.

Idaho took the kickoff and went 69 yards in seven plays to score. Sophomore halfback Mickey Rice went 12 yards to take it in. Starting quarterback Gary Gagnon passed to end Vern Leyde for a two-point conversion.

Montana State ended the day's scoring with eight minutes left in the game. Mero scored on a one yard plunge.

Statistics Hurt

Statistics heavily favored the Bobcats. Montana State rolled up 307 yards rushing and 205 yards passing as compared to the Vandals' 158 and 97. Montana State completed 14 of 21 passes; the Vandals went 10-20. In addition, the Bobcats picked up 28 first downs to Idaho's 12.

This week's action finds Idaho playing University of Utah Saturday at Salt Lake City, Montana State will head to Wichita, Kansas to play Wichita.

LEAGUE THREE Final Standings

CAGE SEASON ON HORIZON — These two Idaho Vandal basketball players started their second week of practice this week. Tom Whitfield (44) and Wayne Meyer are shown here. Both juniors are battling for playing roles this year.

Cagers Starting 2nd Week; Vandals Battling For Spots

Idaho's basketball team begins its second week of practice with several tight battles developing for positions, according to head coach Joe Cipriano.

Currently out for the 62-63 Basketball squad are these men: Rich Porter and Lyle Parks, seniors; Fred Crowell, and Bill Mattis, junior. Terry Hensen, Chuck Kozak, Nelson Levias, and Ed Telefont, sophomores, are pressing for guard positions.

Senior Chuck White, juniors, Tom Whitfield, Jim Scheel and M. E. Ross, sophomores Nelson Levias, and Don Sower are battling it out for forward positions.

Post position is being fought over by junior Wayne Meyer, and sophomores Tom Moreland and Larry Rasmussen.

Returning letterman include Rich Porter, second highest scorer; Chuck White, highest scoring junior and sophomore in Idaho history. Lyle Parks, great rebounding guard; Tom Whitfield and Jim Scheel and junior letterman Bill Mattis, the only sophomore to letter last year, should give the team added strength.

Coach Cipriano hesitated to say who's looking good because as yet there haven't been any team drills. However, the whole team is working hard, and in a few weeks should be in great shape. "They're working hard in practice and we're looking forward to starting our team offense next week," commented the basketball mentor. Basketball season opens December 1, and the Vandals initiate their season with a game against Long Beach State on December 3.

In addition, the frosh squad is also holding drills. Frosh practices are being held in conjunction with the varsity.

The Vandal Babes are reported to have several potentially fine candidates out for the squad, but it is too early to get a good picture.

Idaho Babes Eye Opener On Friday

The University of Idaho freshmen football team is preparing for their first game of the 1962 campaign. The Vandal Babes seem to have more depth this year than in the year's past, reports Coach Bud Riley. The key position this year is the competition for the quarterback position. Coach Riley is still considering two men for the starting position. These men are Gary Peters and Buz Gill.

WSU, OSU, Utah On Top

The Washington State Cougars continued their winning ways Saturday when they came from behind to beat Indiana 21-15 in an intersectional cliff-hanger. A 50 yard pass play from Dave Mathieson to All-American end Hugh Campbell with 1:18 left to play was the difference.

Twice the Cougars had to battle back from deficits to gain their win. The visiting Indiana team dominated almost every statistic except the all-important final score.

Campbell was all alone when he snagged his game-winning aerial on the ten yard line. Campbell also set up a Cougar score with another catch.

Big George Reed scored two TDs for WSU. Hoosier standouts Woody Moore and Marv Woodson scored the pair of Indiana touchdowns. Indiana had six runners in double figures, with Nate Ramsey leading the way with 56 yards in 13 carries.

Baker Leads OSU Over at Corvallis, Oregon, All-American candidate Terry Baker was leading Oregon State to a whopping 40-6 win over an out-classed Pacific University team.

The talented Beaver quarterback threw four touchdowns, passes, three to national pass-catching leader Vern Burke.

In less than two periods of action, Baker rushed and passed for 186 total yards to challenge the leaders in the total offense department.

The 6-4, 188 pound Burke caught five aerials for 112 yards, and a two-point conversion to boot.

In a span of 12 minutes the Baker-Burke combination had pooled talents for three scoring plays. The stunned Tigers were never in the game after Baker and Burke went to work.

OSU coach Tommy Prothro sent in his substitutes with six minutes remaining in the first half.

Utah Wins The surprising Utah Redskins battled favored New Mexico to a 7-7 tie. The tie cost the Lobos an opportunity to clinch a tie for the Western Conference title.

New Mexico missed a field goal try and Utah blocked another attempt. The game ended as Redskin Roy Jefferson missed a 30 yard field goal try.

Finally, Wyoming added to Arizona's woes with a crunching 31-8 victory. The Wildcats were never in the game against fellow-WAC member Wyoming.

RECEPTION RECORD Reg Carolan, now playing for the San Diego Chargers, holds the season record for number of passes caught. Carolan nabbed 33 in 1960.

After their first scrimmage of the year Riley said, "The boys are picking up their offense and defense very well." The offense Riley referred to is full of speed and strength. Heading the speed is young halfback Charlie Jenkins. Jenkins has that speed which Riley said, "Idaho fans haven't seen for sometime, and they will see lots of it in the near future."

Jim Runyon Hurt One injury of the frosh team which may hurt them is that of starting tackle Jim Runyon. Runyon is being plagued by a bad right leg, according to the frosh boss.

Riley recently announced the tentative starting lineups for the first game for the Vandal Babes. Starting at the center position will be Tom Walton; Dave Triplett and Jerry Campbell, guards; tackles, John Biesen and the questionable Jim Runyon; and Jack Bryant and Bob Bassett, ends.

In the backfield will be Charlie Jenkins, halfback; Phil Harvey, fullback; and Bill Scott, wingback. As mentioned before, the competition for the quarterback position is still in the fighting stage, as Gary Peters and Buz Gill are competing for the signal caller position.

UW First Game The Vandal Babes are preparing for their first game of the season against the University of Washington frosh team. The game will be in Moscow on Oct. 26. "We have not had a chance to scout the Washington team as yet," said Riley, "and I doubt if we will get a chance." The Idaho Frosh team will have to "play it by ear for a while in the game," said Riley.

The freshmen will try to extend their winning streak over the University of Washington rookies to three games when they host the Pups at Neale Stadium.

The Vandals Babes have won the last two games and will paint for number three and their second winning season in three years.
